STATE TAX BOARD.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 5 1914.
Geo. J. Trainer, Tax Assessor,
Sutton County.

Dear Sir,—I am enclosing you herewith a copy of the resolutions adopted by the State Tax Board on January 3, 1914.

The State Tax Board is going to make a determined effort to secure compliance with the law governing the assessment of property, and earnestly requests your cooperation in such effort.

With best wishes for your success in your work, I am

Very truly,
A. L. LOVE,
State Tax Commissioner.

Whereas, in a great many counties in this State the assessed value of property for taxation for 1913 was grossly under the reasonable cash market value thereof and so far below its true value as to indicate a flagrant violation of the law governing the assessment of property for taxation; and

Whereas, it is the duty of the State Tax Board to investigate into and aid the enforcement of the revenue laws concerning the rendition and assessment of property for taxation; and

Whereas, the systematic and gross undervaluation of property for assessment for taxation in any county works an injustice and hardship upon the counties where property is fairly assessed in accordance with law;

Therefore, be it resolved by the State Tax Board that said Board will do all it legitimately can to enforce the law governing the rendition and assessment of property for taxation and will report to the Attorney General of the State of Texas any case of flagrant violation of said law which may come to the knowledge of said Board during the year 1914 in order that suit may be brought by the Attorney General against such officer or officers so offending, as provided by Article 7574 of the Revised Statutes of Texas, 1911.

Resolved, Further, that the State Tax Commissioner be and he is hereby directed to mail to each County Tax Assessor and County Judge in this State a copy of these Resolutions.

I hereby certify that the above and foregoing instrument is a true and correct copy of the preamble and resolutions adopted by the State Tax Board on January 3, 1914, as set out and shown in the Minutes of said Board, on pages 242-3 of the Minute Record of said Board.

Witness my hand, this January 5 1914
A. L. LOVE,
Tax Commissioner of the State of Texas.

Wonderful Cough Remedy

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Edison Penn. writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lungs troubled quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all members of the family. 50c. and $1.00. All Druggists or by mail H. E. Bucklen & Co. Philadelphia or St. Louis.

PRECIOUS METALS IN TEXAS.

Precious and semi-precious metals, consisting of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc produced in Texas in 1912, had a value of $269,798, which is $38,798 more than the output of the previous year. The most important of these minerals is silver, valued at $249,731, or 93 per cent of the total. The actual production of silver in 1912, compared with that of 1911, shows a decrease of 18,327 ounces in quantity, but an increase in value of $24,802, due to the increase in price from 53 cents in 1911 to 61 1/2 cents per ounce in 1912.

The first discovery of silver in Texas is said to have been made more than a half century ago, but the first mining recorded by the United States Geological Survey was in 1885, when 169,342 ounces with a value of $181,196, were produced. Since that date up to the present time, nearly eleven million ounces have been mined, with a commercial value of $7,372,000.

The value of other precious and semi-precious metals produced in Texas in 1912 is: Zinc, $16,422; lead, $2,939; copper, $119, and gold, $63.

TEXAS SECOND IN QUICKSILVER.

More than a million dollars worth of quicksilver was produced in the United States in 1912, according to a recent report of the Geological Survey, and a large portion of the output came from the Texas mines. The principal quicksilver States are California, Texas and Nevada, and they rank in the order mentioned. The Texas output is 3,320 flasks, valued at $154,413, according to the latest reports.

Prior to the discovery of quicksilver in Brewster county, California furnished practically the entire output of the United States. With the increased production there has also been an enlargement of its uses and during the past thirteen years the functions of this mineral have practically doubled. The Texas product is consumed mainly in the manufacture of explosive caps, drugs, electric lighting and other scientific apparatus and in the recovery of gold by amalgamation.

HIS SOLITARY JOKE.

Stonewall Jackson Spring It on a Military Institute Class.

Stonewall Jackson was a man of gentle and kind nature, but not remarkable for the possession of a sense of humor. Therefore there is cherished and venerated at the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, where Jackson was professor of physics for ten years before the war between the states, the memory of a single small plaything perpetrated by him in the lecture hall. It was in the early fifties, a period when the electric telegraph, still a commercial infant, was rapidly spreading throughout the country.

Professor Jackson once told a class of military institute cadets that he had seen a lightning bolt strike a tree in the distance. "I was sitting in the lecture hall," he said, "and I saw a lightning bolt strike a tree in the distance. I was sitting in the lecture hall, and I saw a lightning bolt strike a tree in the distance."

Stonewall Jackson once told a class of military institute cadets that he had seen a lightning bolt strike a tree in the distance. "I was sitting in the lecture hall," he said, "and I saw a lightning bolt strike a tree in the distance."

"Because the mountains between are full of iron ore deposits, and they deflect the electric current," suggested one cadet.

"That is not the reason," replied Jackson.

"Because the air currents caused by river and hill twist and turn the electric current away," suggested another.

Professor Jackson shook his head.

"No, sir, that is not the reason." One cadet after another essayed an explanation. All were mildly rejected. At length a youth detecting a ghost of a smile behind the solemn countenance of his preceptor shot at a venture.

"I should say it is because there is no electric wire between Lexington and Staunton," suggested the young man.

"That is right, sir," exclaimed Jackson, smiling broadly. "We will now proceed with the day's lecture."—New York Post.

Dean Swift Dies Again.

In the process of expansion press telegrams often undergo a wonderful transformation, says Chambers' Journal. Some years ago the first three verses in the Lincoln handicap were Ob, Dean Swift and Rosate Dawn. A press agency in London wired the result to an Australian paper as follows: "Lincoln Ob Dean Swift Rosate Dawn." The subeditor who was in charge had never heard of the Lincoln handicap, and for some time puzzled vainly over the mysterious message. Finally he came to the conclusion that "Ob" must stand for obit, the Latin word expressing a death notice. He accordingly turned out the following paragraph, which duly appeared in print: "We deeply regret to announce the death at Lincoln of the celebrated Dean Swift, the author of that favorite hymn, 'The Rosate Hues of Arly Dawn.'"

Confessed Their Poverty.

Among all the elics that changed ownership in a Browning sale in London the only things that could bear the name of jewelry were the husband's, not the wife's—a ring or two, sleeve links, studs and such trifles. Mrs. Browning probably never owned a jewel—a little cheap gold brooch, but nothing more. She did not live to share her husband's better prosperity, and her own habits as maid and wife were frugal. A passage in the letters records the misgivings of the lovers, each of whom supposed the other to be accustomed to some degree of luxury. At last Browning had the courage to tell Elizabeth that he was extremely poor, and she, delighted, told him that the whole dress she was wearing cost something very small in shillings.

Coleridge's Cloudiness.

There is Mr. Ellis Yarnoll's reminiscences. "Wordsworth and Coleridge," a very amusing story of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, whose thoughts were sometimes too profound even for poets to follow. Wordsworth and Samuel Rogers had spent the evening with Coleridge, and as the two poets walked away together Rogers remarked cautiously: "I did not altogether understand the latter part of what Coleridge said." "I didn't understand any of it," Wordsworth hastily replied. "No more did I!" exclaimed Rogers, with a sigh of relief.

Kaffir's Courtship.

The Kaffirs are a very light hearted people and do not worry about the future. As soon as the girls have finished their work they may take up the igubu, which is an elementary musical instrument, consisting of a tambour fixed to a gourd, and march across country twanging the string with a little piece of wood. The instrument, as a rule, gives but one note, but to the girl's sweetest such music is "the food of love."—World's Work.

A PRIZED RECORD.

Original Muster Roll of "Captain A. Lincoln's Company."

None of the records of the treasury department is more highly prized than the original muster roll of "Captain A. Lincoln's company" in the handwriting of that famous man himself. It was a voluntary company organized by Lincoln in 1832 to serve in the Black Hawk war. Lincoln as an army officer was the same painstaking, careful and orderly man that he was later as president. He kept the muster rolls of his company himself, and nowhere can a neater and more complete account be found.

Although more than eighty years old now, the roll is wonderfully well preserved. The paper is of poor quality, but the handwriting is still legible and distinct, not a single error having been made in the copy. The record has been bound together along the edges, and where it has been folded constant handling has done considerable damage to it.

The interesting document is headed: "Muster Roll of Captain A. Lincoln's Company of the Fourth Regiment of Mounted Volunteers, Commanded by Brigadier General Samuel Whitesides. Mustered out of service of the United States at the mouth of Fox river May the 27th, 1832."

The roll shows that Abraham Lincoln was the captain and that he was enrolled with the rest of the command on April 21 at Richland, Sangamon county, Ill. At the foot is Lincoln's certificate as to the correctness of the muster roll at the time of muster out. The only other handwriting on the document is that of Nathaniel Buckmaster, inspector and muster officer, certifying to the accuracy of the roll of Lincoln's company.

A Persistent Friend.

Mr. George Weir, an English actor, in his early days appeared one night in the role of Hamlet in an improvised theater at Stroud, in Gloucestershire, and suffered much embarrassment from the demonstrative attentions of an enthusiastic former schoolfellow, who sat in the front of the tent and kept up a running comment on the performance. "That be Gargy Weir," exclaimed the admirer. "I know Gargy! I used to go to school along with him." After many expostulations the interrupter was turned out, and all went well until the audience was hushed to deadly silence while Hamlet was going through his soliloquy. Then suddenly a still, small voice came cheerily from the back row of seats, "Gargy, I be in again!"

Power of the Whale.

If the whale knew its own power it could easily destroy all the machinery which the art of man could devise for catching him. It would only be necessary for him to swim on the surface in a straight line in order to break the thickest rope, but instead, on being struck by the harpoon, he obeys a natural instinct, which, in this instance, betrays him to his death. Not having an air bladder, he can sink to the lowest depths of the ocean, and, mistaking the harpoon for the teeth of a swordfish or a shark, he instantly descends, this being the manner of freeing himself from these enemies, who cannot bear the pressure of a deep ocean, and from descending and ascending in small space he thus puts himself in the power of the whaler.

Frederick the Great.

Frederick William I., father of Frederick the Great, was a most brutal old fellow, treating his son almost as badly as they treat the exiles in Siberia. Unable to endure such barbarity on the part of his father, Frederick resolved to run away and seek refuge at the court of his uncle, George II. of England. Ready to assist him in his attempt were his two young friends, Lieutenants Katte and Keith. By the imprudence of Katte the secret was found out, and Frederick was placed under arrest. Keith escaped, but Katte was tried by court martial, sentenced to death and executed. Frederick also was sentenced to death and would have been shot but for the earnest expostulations of the kings of Sweden and Poland.

Before Going Elsewhere.

"Good morning, Mr. Highprice!" greeted the friend, entering Mr. Highprice's furniture store. "I saw your ad. in the newspaper saying that you would be pleased to have your friends call in on you before going elsewhere to buy, so I thought I'd call."

"Very good!" returned the appreciative Mr. Highprice, rubbing his hands. "Now, what can I sell you?"

"Nothing. I told you I was going elsewhere."—Pearson's.

How The Weather Bureau Forecasts Storms, Frosts and Floods

Many people have an idea that there is something mysterious and occult about the work of the Weather Bureau in forecasting the coming of storms, frosts and floods.

The forecasters watch the region of low barometer which is the storm center around which the winds blow.

When weather disturbances are reported, the forecasters know from experience about how long it takes them to reach our Pacific Coast, and then how long after they will reach the Atlantic Coast.

Unexpected conditions may delay storms or divert them from the straight track just as a refrigerator car may be thrown off its schedule or be slipped by accident on a wrong road.

To keep tabs on cold waves that come into the United States from Canada and Alaska, the Weather Bureau studies the Canadian weather reports.

The same business like system used in tracing the track of a storm is applied in determining the arrival of frosts.

Flood forecasts are made in much the same way. Information as to the amount of rainfall at the head waters of streams that cause floods are covered by telegraphic reports sent by local observers.

Worms The Cause of Your Child's Pains.

A foul disagreeable breath, dark circles around the eyes, at times feverish, with great thirst, cheeks flushed and then pale, abdomen swollen with sharp cramping pains are all indications of worms.

Close Quarters.

The proofreader on a small country daily was a woman of great precision and extreme propriety.

On the following day the reporter found on his desk a frigid note asking, "which is the west end of a boy?"

It took only an instant to reply: "The end the son sets on, of course."

Soft Shelled Pecans in the South

Being a pecan lover, for more than fifty years in one place in Texas, I have learned much from experience, and added largely to experience by observation and from the experience of other horticulturists my neighbors.

To illustrate, last year in my travels I found a hard headed old east Texas farmer who was sure coming out of the wilderness some years back he began budding pecans on his property, which gave him bearing trees ahead of the nursery trees.

Try this plan, brother, if you can get the wild trees to transplant, and don't expose the roots to the sun or air.

Congress Asked To Prohibit Movement of Ticky Cattle Beyond The Quarantined Area.

The Secretary of Agriculture has recommended that Congress repeal the provision in the law of 1884 establishing the Bureau of Animal Industry which permits the shipment of cattle from the Texas fever region by rail to market for slaughter.

The Secretary's recommendation is to prohibit the interstate movement of tick infested cattle. Since the eradication of the ticks has been shown to be entirely practicable, there is no longer any good reason for allowing the shipment of ticky cattle outside of the quarantined area.

Under the proposed change in the law cattle could be shipped interstate from the quarantined area only after they had been dipped or otherwise freed of ticks, or when snipped they would be free from quarantine restrictions.

It is believed that this change would be of great advantage in promoting the eradication of the ticks in the south and also in protecting the territory already freed.

Frost Bites and Chapped Skin.

For frost bitten ears, fingers and toes; chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skins, there is nothing to equal Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

James William McKee. Our community was shocked last Tuesday when the word was passed around that Wm McKee had quietly passed away.

For a good many years his home had been at Ozona but of late he has been making his home with his oldest son, Jack W., the print manager of our local telephone exchange.

In his departure, he leaves his widow who is at present with their two daughters, Mrs. P. H. Perner and Mrs. J. P. Dyer at Tregre, Mexico.

The late Mr. Rochefort was asked one day during his periods of exile in England he had learned to speak English.

"No," he replied. "But you could have done so?" he was asked. "Yes, but I did not want to."

TRAVELING IN LAPLAND.

Concerning the experience one undergoes while traveling in a Laplander's pulka a writer says: "The Laplander's pulka is a very curious conveyance. It is a canoe shaped wooden sledge and very difficult to manipulate."

It is a canoe shaped wooden sledge and very difficult to manipulate. Before a Lapp can take a drive the reindeer has to be caught. Harnessing is a strenuous performance, as the creature is usually wild with fright and plunges and kicks considerably.

FANGS OF HUNGER.

Contractions That Sound the Call of the Empty Stomach.

When the stomach is empty it at once begins a series of contractions. It is these that give us that empty feeling, that sensation, not of pain, but of yearning, which we call the pangs of hunger.

ORIENT ROAD HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION.

Company Will Build South of San Angelo in Accordance With Charter Requirements.

San Angelo, Jan 22
That the financial difficulties of the road will be settled shortly, thus again placing the line upon its feet, was the consensus of opinion expressed by the officials of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient at the regular annual meeting of its stockholders and directors held Wednesday morning in the general offices of the road here.

E Dickinson of Kansas City, president of the entire Orient system, Al Dickinson of Wichita superintendent of the Kansas division, and John A. Eaton, general solicitor of the road at Kansas City were in attendance at the session, arriving Wednesday morning in President Dickinson's private car, No 200, which was attached to the rear of southbound passenger No 1, which reached here at 10:50 a.m.

The directors elected officers for the Texas division of the company which are: E Dickinson, president; N. J. O'Brien, first vice president and general manager; M. L. Merz, second vice president and treasurer; H. S. Garratt, third vice president, general attorney, secretary and general claim agent; R. P. Parker, chief engineer; J. H. Ross, auditor; J. A. Eaton, general solicitor, James P O'Donnell, traffic manager and freight campaign; W. L. Karnes, assistant secretary.

All matters present at Wednesday's meeting were optimistic over the future prospects of the line, it being the general belief that the road would soon be placed upon a firmer basis, where upon work already outlined could be carried to completion. This would include the placing of the roadbed in better condition, the securing and operating of first-class equipment and the enlarging of the yards and shops of the line, the latter of which would have a direct bearing upon this city.

One of the requirements of the charter granted the road by the state, and which was discussed, is the construction of ten miles of tuck on the Del Rio extension within one year and ninety days after the adjournment of the last legislature, and the construction of twenty additional miles each year until the line is completed. Thus the company has until July 1, 1914 to comply with this requirement which the officials of the line Wednesday state they intended doing.

This extension, when completed will enable the company to operate trains into Del Rio through the towns of Christoval, Eldorado and Sonora. The track has already been laid a distance of approximately one and one-half miles to the Middle Concho, where a large steel bridge has been erected.

Bird Phillips the south Crockett county ranchman was in Sonora Thursday shipping horses to Brady.

Wes Bryson was in from the ranch Tuesday. Wes had just received a letter from Jim Alford of Beebee Arizona, in which he stated that Pierce Keetoa died about a week ago.

Mr and Mrs Chas Seiver entertained at 42 Friday night those present were: Mr and Mrs John Sims, Misses Francis Seiver, Maggie Pfeister, Wynona Grimland, Carrie Karnes, Messrs Los Adams, Less Adams, Lewis Sturt and Arthur McDonald.

As part of the Frisco trail from Sonora to Menard goes through Schletcher county the shippers are trying to find a new way through to Menard. This they find difficult because of the many small ranches near the line of Menard who will be ruined by the herds passing over them.

Dr. Foster B. Crutcher and son in law Ben Worley and family of Fort Worth, arrived in Sonora Monday. The doctor is a graduate of Vanderbilt Medical College, University Nashville Medical College, and comes to Sonora to open up a sanitarium. He is specialist on all chronic diseases.

Stockmen in Crockett county cannot ship live stock from Brant unless inspected and free of ticks. The cattlemen are now trying to influence the "Powers" to let them through. At last accounts Mr. Waddell said it was beyond his power and the probability is that the shipment will have to be made through Menard. This will bring the cattle through Sutton and south of the Frisco trail.

Judge Gerald Eoad.

Waco, Jan. 21.—Judge G. B. Gerald, a prominent resident here for forty five years, died this morning. At his request his body will be cremated in St. Louis and the ashes will be scattered on the Gulf Mexico. Gerald was a Confederate veteran, former member of the legislature, postmaster, county judge and editor of Brann's Iconoclast after Brann's death. In a pistol duel sixteen years ago he killed J. W. Harris, managing editor of the Waco Times and his brother, W. A. Harris.

POINTS IN PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The chief points in the President's message to Congress are: 1. Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directors of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial companies and public service bodies.

2. A law to confer upon the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads henceforth are to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improve transportation facilities. The President made it clear that the property of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected.

3. Definition of the "many hurtful restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.

4. The creation of a commission to aid courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business conform with the law.

5. Provision of penalties and punishments to fall upon individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.

6. Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting powers of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted to one corporation.

7. Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in Government suits and providing that statute of limitation should run only from the date of the conclusion of the Government's action.

Wm Evans, banker and stockman of Menard was in the Sonora country this week looking after business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart visited San Angelo last week where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stewart.

Leo Callan of the Menard Messenger was in Sonora for a few hours this week enroute to Del Rio on a visit.

The ranchmen of the Sonora country have so far had the best of range conditions and their feed bills have been almost nothing and they are figuring how much more will go the income tax fund because of this saying.

W. L. Aldwell returned Wednesday from Fort Worth and Dallas where he met with a committee of bankers from St. Louis who were urging the establishment of a regional bank in St. Louis. He enjoyed the trip as he learned more details of the new currency law.

U. J. Burrows, President of the Peoples State Bank of Centrahoma Ok., and L. E. Spalding a capitalist of Abilene, Texas, were in Sonora several days this week prospecting for ranch property. They were the guests of J. E. Grimland.

The truck service has been good this week. The trucks have to leave San Angelo by the 7 mile bridge and come into the Sonora road from the Knickerbocker road at Christoval. This roundabout way is made necessary because of the condition of the Sonora road in Tom Green county.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Cotton, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

ENGLAND TAKES THE LION'S SHARE

First in production, first in consumption and last in manufacture.

A Mistaken Scientist.
Sir George Biddell Airy, British astronomer royal, told the pioneers of the first Atlantic cable that it was a mathematical impossibility to submerge the cable to the necessary depth, and if it were possible no signals could travel through so great a distance. Sir George was also asked about the possibility of making Big Ben, the great clock in the tower above the houses of parliament, so trustworthy that it would not lose five seconds a day on the average. He replied that no clock exposed to the weather could run with so small an error. The late Lord Grimthorpe, however, said he would guarantee that degree of exactness, and by designing his quartz movement he produced a timepiece that is never five seconds out with the observatory at Greenwich, to which it signals its time each day, and on most days is dead true.

Carlyle's Interest in the House.
Carlyle's interest in domestic details, as shown by his letter about taking the house at Cheyne row, was always fairly well continued. He would on occasion find relief for one of his moods or take a pleasure in sweeping down with a broom and water the path and flagged yard of his "bedquilt of a garden." Nor did he disdain personal concern about the furniture. One of the most vivid little notes to his wife, preserved in the Carlyle collection at Chelsea, is the scrap of paper dated Dec. 24, 1839, in which he scribbled Christmas wishes to his wife and "the promise of a wash-stand" as his Christmas gift to her.

Being Awake.
Moral reform and improvement are the effort to throw off sleep. Why is it that men give so poor an account of their day if they have not been slumbering? If they had not been overcome with drowsiness they would have performed something. The millions are awake enough for physical labor, but only one in a million is awake enough for effective intellectual exertion, only one in a hundred million to a poetic or divine life. To be awake is to be alive. I have never yet met a man who was quite awake. How could I have looked him in the face?—Thoreau.

Mexico's Oldest Theater.
The oldest theater in Mexico, and indeed the oldest on this continent, is the Teatro Principal of the City of Mexico. There is nothing particularly distinctive about its architecture to testify as to its antiquity, however, for its two stories of repaired facade covered over with lurid posters corresponds in general style to the other playhouses of the city. Then, too, there is a certain animation about the crowds that pass in and out the entrance that is somewhat misleading to those on the outlook for the relics of the past.

OUR PYMY EARTH.

Compared With the Sun It Is as a Pea to a Tw Foot Globe.

A dime held in arm's length from the eye will mch more than cover the entire disk of the sun. If it were placed at the exact point of coincidence an its diameter and distance from the eye accurately measured it might be used as a means of determining the sun's diameter, its distance being known. The foremost philosophers of long ago would have been appalled at the true statement of both the sun's distance and its size.

The sun's diameter is about 866,000 miles. It's bewildering to be assured that would take 1,300,000 earths to equal the sun in volume. If the interior of that truly glowing globe were hollow and the earth were placed at its center with the moon revolving about it at its usual mean distance of nearly 240,000 miles there would still exist a vacuity between it moon and the enclosing shell of the sun of nearly 200,000 miles. This is perhaps the most graphic and impressive illustration possible of the sun's colossal bulk. We must note, however, that the density of the sun is only about one-quarter that of our planet, so that it would weigh only as much as 330,000 earths. In very round numbers the sun's weight may be stated at two-trillion tons, which if expressed in figures would require almost as many ciphers as a newspaper line can accommodate.

A very comprehensive illustration of the earth as compared with the sun is to represent the latter by a globe two feet in diameter and the earth by a dainty pea. And yet the little pea weighs more than six quintillion tons. As to the solar surface, it is some 12,000 times that of our planet. Yet the sun, when compared with its true peers, the stars, is not only not of extraordinary size, but in all probability is only to be ranked among the medium self luminous bodies which sparkle in "heaven's chon vault." And because of its spottedness it has a place, although a humble one, among the "variable" stars.

How It Feels to Freeze.
Freezing to death is preceded by a drowsiness which makes the end painless, the body actually feeling warm and going comfortably to sleep. Experiments have been made with animals to show just how freezing to death proceeds. In one of these experiments, in which the animal was placed in a temperature of from 125 to 150 degrees below zero, the breathing and heart beats were at first quickened, the organic heat of the body actually rising above the normal, which is 98.6 degrees F. This showed a sudden and intense effort on the part of the functions to preserve the body's temperature. Then violent heart action gave out suddenly, and death came when the temperature of the body dropped to 21 degrees F.—Popular Mechanics.
