RED CROSS ROLL CALL ISSUED HERE

National Defense Program Calls For Increased Services

"The mobilization of man power for national defense will demand increased Red Cross services to the armed forces of America," Mrs. Alvis Johnson, chairman of the Red Cross Chapter declared today, in reviewing the necessity for a successful Roll Call. These services, she pointed out, stem directly from the Congressional Charter of the American Red Cross which is a mandate to every local chapter and branch of the organization.

Fortunately, Mrs. Johnson added, these services are so well organized nationally and locally that they are capable of rapid expansion. Cost of the necessary extension of activities on behalf of service men will be met, as in the past, from membership contributions. This year the American Red Cross conducts its Roll Call from November 1-30, he said.

"The War Service of the American Red Cross has representatives at 77 field offices and hospitals, contacting the various elements of the armed forces at some 800 points. In the past year more than 53,000 soldiers, sailors marine and coast guardsmen or their families were aided in solving all kinds of problems arising from economic, illness and social causes.

This Red Cross activity is based on a recognized medical principle that anxiety, fear and other temporary mental disturbances tax the morale of able-bodied men and retard recovery for the sick. The removal or mitigation of the cause of such worry by the Red Cross is definite contribution to recovery from illness.

An announcement has been made by Clay Atchison, county agent, that all AAA work must be completed by November 30. Anyone desiring further information is invited to call the office at 185.

safety for men engaged in hazardous work and the maintenance of higher individual and group morale.

The war service personnel in the field could not function without the aid of 3,700 local chapters and 6,600 branches of the American Red Cross. The vast area covered by the chapter set-up is the main reason why the Red Cross today is in a position to render service to our country's defense forces.

With a new urgency bearing down upon it, the war service also continues to carry on its program for disabled veterans of past wars, Mrs. Johnson said. The individual cases of 140,000 U. S. Veterans or their dependents came under Red Cross care in chapters last year. In regional offices of the U. S. Veterans Administration and in Government hospitals, Red Cross workers dealt with the problems of 58,000 exservice men or their families.

The entire program is operated for the benefit of every American. Citizens can help by joining the American Red Cross November 11, or by renewing their membership from last year.

LT. AND MRS. HINES VISIT

Lt. and Mrs. Lum Hines, who have been stationed in Kansas the past four months, spent the weekend with Mrs. Hines' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Halbert. They were enroute to El Paso, where they will live for three years.

Mrs. Nannie B. Wilson returned from San Angelo Wednesday.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

For the first time in history of the United States, a President has been chosen to serve a third term. The final count showed that President Roosevelt commanded all but 63 of the electoral votes. The popular count, however, was much closer.

Much of Red Cross Money Used Locally

Every penny over fifty cents which you contribute to the Red Cross stays here in Sonora and is used to aid those who are in need. Since January, 1940, twelve families have been helped. Groceries, clothing, medicine, hospitalization, and other means of assistance have been given. The Chapter purchased lifebuoys for use at the swimming pool this summer. Also, a loan closet has been secured and supplies purchased to be used when necessary in case of illness in families unable to purchase certain articles.

A total of $126.66 has been spent locally since January, 1940.

Your generous contributions are greatly appreciated and will be carefully expended for the benefit of those in need.

Mary's Brother, John Tells Of German Parachuter's Fall

This story was written by John Stamper, Mary Stamper's fifteen-year-old brother. The reader can easily see that John is having the time of his life—in spite of the war—Ed.

Dear Ma,

So sorry you should have got a bit fretful, but I can't alter the post-office. Well, I think it's worth a stamp to tell you what happened this morning. The sirens went at 1:15 while I was calmly attempting to decipher Cicero's Phillipic Oration No. II, and nothing whatsoever happened until about 5 to 12. And then I heard what sounded like a bunch of Spitfires at a great height; on arrival in the garden, I could tell it was something big, and so I remained there, hoping against hope to see something worth seeing. I didn't have to wait long, however, as a couple of white puffs suddenly appeared about two miles away toward Hamworthy (and beyond). The next minute I found myself staring at a formation of seven-teen heavy bombers (German, of course). Then a group of ten, and then another ten, and blow me if a formation of thirty more didn't appear out of the clouds! By this time I was pretty frantic, and looked around in despair for some Spitfires. None were forthcoming, and all I could do was wait in hope. A few minutes later there was a heaven of a lot of machine gun fire from the back of the house, but I missed all that. Mrs. Sanders and I were both in the front porch now simply bubbling over with excitement, when a huge Heinkel III appeared over Constitution Hall. It had a little thin white trail of smoke coming from it, and every now and then a belch of flame mingled with black smoke issued from its port engine. It was about 600 feet up, and gradually losing height. I was jumping up and down and shouting "He's down—they've got 'im—e's down." He continued to belch smoke and then when he was about over Sandbanks, two white things fluttered over the side, and became two parachutes. The plane turned right over, and crashed out of sight down at Branksome Chine. Three Spits did a victory roll over the spot and the excitement was over—for 30 seconds. I dashed up into my bedroom to see if there was anything to see, and I could hear the Spits still doing their stuff, when suddenly a terrific noise suggested a Spit in a power dive. Boys at

DUE BACK NEXT MONDAY; STATE QUOTAS SET UP

General J. Watt Page, state director of Selective Service, announced today that the estimated net quota for Texas for the remainder of the fiscal year (which ends June 30, 1941) is approximately 33,213 trainees. The estimated quota up to and including February 28, 1941, is approximately 16,959.

General Page pointed out that for the present the estimated net quota for each local board will be pro-rated on a percentage basis according to the number of registrants in each county.

The maximum number of men, to include February 28, 1941, have been estimated for Texas by period: One call in November, not earlier than November 19, 1,573 men; one in December, probably between the first and tenth, 575; three calls in January—the first 2,077, the second 5,535, and the third 2,499; one call in February, 4,700.

The periods and quotas have been worked out to conform to the program of the War Department for completion of housing facilities, hospitalization and supplies to take care of the increase at the various camps and stations. The figures on quotas are only estimated. After a national quota basis has been established, adjustments will be made from time to time, depending upon the number of men placed in Class 1-A, and the number of men joining the armed forces by entry other than through the Selective Service.

State Selective Service Headquarters will issue calls on Local Boards for the actual number of selectees required not later than ten days before the day on which the first men to fill the call are to be inducted.

ALIENS REPORTED REGISTERING AT 50,000 PER DAY

The Department of Justice today announced that the Alien Registration Division had received 1,386,679 completed registration forms through noon of Friday, September 27. This total represents receipts from 27 registration days and an average of 51,300 registrations per day.

Earl G. Harrison, Director of Registration, expressed satisfaction at the way the completed blanks continue to pour in. The director also took occasion to point out that the postal officials in the field were doing a careful and accurate job in conducting the actual registration.

"Our daily average of completed forms received," said Mr. Harrison, "is now 51,300. This is 15,300 daily forms above 36,000 average per day which we estimated should be maintained in order to complete registration of the estimated total number of aliens in this country at present.

"As the forms come in and are counted, they are immediately checked to make certain that they conform in each instance with the law. We were unable to give the local postmasters and their assistants much time in which to study the regulations before registration started. It is therefore a source of satisfaction to us that comparatively few of the forms received by us need to be returned

Sutton County registrants whose order numbers are 1 to 25 inclusive, were mailed questionnaires Tuesday night by Leo Brown, draft board secretary. They are to be filled out and returned not later than Monday.

According to Mr. Brown, any registrant who has received a questionnaire and who seeks a deferred classification, may by Monday submit proper affidavits to the board. He may submit them in the questionnaire or separately. However, the failure to take advantage of this right may constitute a waiver to such right. An advisory board has been set up for the benefit of those who want advice in filling out their questionnaires.

Another point the local draft board wishes to stress is the fact that registration cards may not be transferred, as the registrant changes his mailing address. The reason for this is that the order numbers have been assigned. However, changes of mailing addresses must be sent to the local draft board office of the registrant's home district.

Other news regarding conscription included a visit to the local draft board last week by Lt. Col. John R. Bannister, Manpower Division, Quartermaster Corps, and the arrest of a Sutton County Mexican who had failed to register October 16.

MARFA POSTMASTER

Albert Logan, nephew of Joe Logan, Sutton County Commissioner and rancher, is acting postmaster at Marfa. Mr. Logan is a native of Bell Hollow, Sutton County.

Board Named By Governor O'Daniel

Announcement was made today by Governor W. Lee Daniel of his recommendations for the appointment of members of the twelve Selective Service Boards of Appeal for Texas.

The state is divided into twelve Board of Appeal areas, each having approximately 70,000 registrants. Each board is composed of five members representative of the activities of its district, including one member from labor, one from industry, one physician, one lawyer, and one member from agriculture.

It will be the duty of the board to review any decision concerning the classification of a registrant by any local board within the area of the board, and to affirm, modify, or reverse the decision, provided that an appeal has been filed with the local Board. The decision of a Board of Appeal will be final, unless modified or reversed by the President.

"These patriotic Texans are contributing a distinguished service to their State and Country," Governor O'Daniel said, "and will receive no compensation for performing this important phase of the selective service program."

Unity A Patriotic Necessity

Most of the presidential ballots had been counted Tuesday night when a man not heard from in politics during the past four months stepped to a microphone in New York City. He said what everyone in the nation—Democrats and Republicans alike—had been thinking all evening. He asked us to forget our differences, forget the heat and passions that were part of perhaps the most hotly-contested presidential election in history, remember the United States, and remember that both Democrats and Republicans are necessary to have the United States we live in.

The man was James A. Farley, former party chairman, former Postmaster General; a man who knows many men—and a bitter man, for Farley left the party in Chicago rather than back the third term. Yet the man who had probably had a greater difference with his party than any other citizen, saw the need for unification and knew that unless every man threw out his prejudices, the situation would be a serious one.

He knew that one of the greatest causes for the downfall of France was the fact that the various political interests which were at odds before and during elections had not been sufficiently welded together after the ballots had been counted.

Realizing this, Farley came out of political obscurity to call on citizens of a great sporting nation to be good sports. With foreign affairs as they are, with the nation working day and night and agreeing to higher taxes in order that it may defend itself successfully, it will take all the common sense and sportsmanship those citizens can muster to make the country an impenetrable fortress.

The example has been set, not by a national hero, but by a plain American who had every reason in the world to remain in the oblivion he had chosen, but left it to bring the nation a message that he thought would help all the people.

Read Your Insurance Policy

Many a joke has been made concerning the long provisions, usually printed in small type, in life insurance policies.

Those provisions aren't put there to bewilder you. They are, instead, put there to protect you, and most of them are specified by law. Their purpose is to make the life insurance contract absolutely definite and specific. There's no guess-work involved, no vagueness.

Read your policy, and understand exactly what it provides. If you have difficulty interpreting the legal phraseology, ask your agent to explain it to you—that's one of his jobs.

Only if you understand your policy perfectly, can you be sure you're getting precisely what you want and need.

The Firemen of London

The "Battle of Britain" has brought to the notice of the world a new kind of war hero—the firemen of London.

These men aren't benedicted. They don't march about to the playing of martial music. Individually, few of them are known. But the fact that London still exists is largely of their doing. They take the most extreme risks calmly and without fanfare, in the line of daily duty. They go for days on end without sleep or rest, battling the fires the enemy's great bombs create. A considerable number of them have died at their posts, that others might live and the seat of the Empire be saved.

Here in our own country there are no bombers to devastate our cities, no long-range guns to blast at our homes and industries and national monuments. But, all over the nation, firemen are doing a peace-time job that should be given far more recognition than it usually obtains. There has been many a jest concerning easy-living firemen, sitting about in their comfortable stations, talking and yarning and playing cards. But isn't funny when an engine crew must enter a burning building that may collapse into an inferno of flame any minute. It isn't funny to have to fight a great fire when the temperature is twenty below zero and the spray from the nozzles turns at once to ice. It isn't funny to put on masks and asbestos suits and try to control an oil fire generating thousands of degrees of blazing heat.

The fire department is any town or district's first line of defense against an enemy that is as destructive as war. And a first-class fire department is any town's best investment. The fire-fighters of London are making the headlines with a service that is as vital in peace as in time of battle.

I Give You— TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

When a man has given thirty-five years of whole-hearted and distinguished service to an institution folks connected with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram feel that his birthday calls for a little celebration. So when James R. and, as they broke into applause, into the news room the other afternoon after his customary stroll around the block between editions, the eyes of the reserved but genial editor widened as he saw 150 of his associates assembled and, as they broke into applause, the pink countenance of the modest editor grew pinker.

Congratulatory telegrams were read; then Amon G. Carter, the publisher, made a talk of appreciation. Record, as he saw the faces surrounding him beaming with affection, found it necessary to run his handkerchief over his perspiring brow, and incidentally, over his eyes, too.

The publisher handed a basket of roses to the gracious and charming Mrs. Record, after which there were gifts for the veteran editor, among them a scroll signed by his co-workers and the margin was embellished with Record's favorite expressions, "How much rain was there?" since rain is always the biggest news in West Texas; "Whose phone is that ringing?" and "Be sure to get both sides."

Called on for a speech, Record could only say, "I can't say anything except thank you."

Bob Blake of the Taft Tribune found this somewhere:

"If a feller's been a-straddle Since he's big enough to ride, And had had to sling his saddle On most any colored hide— Though it's nothin' they take pride in, Still most fellers I have knowed, If they ever done much ridin', Has at different times got throwed."

Ever hear of "rock wool"? This rambler never had until a few days ago when E. H. Whitehead, alert and capable manager of the Temple Chamber of Commerce, mentioned the material and added that a big plant was located right there in Temple. As the name indicates, the product is a wool-like substance and is manufactured from lime rock. It is an insulating material. S. R. Edwards, president of the Edwards Insulating Company, remarked, paraphrasing Mark Twain: "Everybody talks about the weather—but we do something about it."

Placed inside the walls of houses and other buildings, rock wool makes them cooler in summer and easier to heat in winter. A thickness of less than four inches is equal to 117 inches of concrete or 56 inches of brick wall so far as insulation is concerned. The fluffy, fine-spun material also is fire-proof as Edwards demonstrated by holding a lighted match to a handful.

In many sections of the United States, almost all new homes are being insulated and existing houses, when remodeled, also are thus improved. The Temple plant, (and Edwards though young, is a veteran in the industry and supervised construction of the machinery—employs twenty-two workmen besides the office personnel and the sales force; and this industry is growing steadily.

Here's a real antique for the "old joke" contest: A little boy who was having supper at a neighbor's house was asked, "Will you have some molasses?" He replied, "How kin I have mo' lasses when I ain't had no lasses yet?" And my Cousin Frank's favorite (and only) joke is, was, and (I fear) will be: I have a goat without a nose. How does he smell? He smells awful. (So does that jike.)

This—and—that:

Who says that poetry is dead? Lark-in-May is the name of a Dallas grocery store . . . And the name of the school page in the Frost Enterprise is "the Frost Bite" . . . Juke-box addicts are giving a big play to "New San Antonio Rose" . . . a soft-drink flavor has been given a new kind of beer, the idea being that it won't leave the tell-tale aroma on the imbiber's breath . . . and now they've brought out tooth-picks in flavors—and in pretty colors, too.

Health Officer Warns Motorists Against Monoxide Poisoning

To minimize the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning during winter weather, motorists are urged by Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, to check up on how the exhaust systems of their automobiles are working, and search for defective connections and leaks.

"Colder weather will soon be here, and it will be necessary to drive in closed cars. Carbon monoxide may seep inside from leaky connections, and overwhelm occupants of the car," Doctor Cox warned.

He said that "warming up" a car in a closed garage is the greatest cause of carbon monoxide deaths. Leaks from manifold connections, cracked manifolds, defective mufflers, leaks from loose muffler connections, and leaks from hot air heaters or connections are potential sources for release of carbon monoxide and should be checked, Dr. Cox pointed out.

"Pay particular attention to those items and remember that proper carburetor adjustment causes minimum production of carbon monoxide and that the highest proportion of this gas is produced by an idling motor."

The State Health Officer said that headaches which occur during long drives may be an indication that carbon monoxide is leaking into the car. "Sleepiness, dizziness, fatigue and in extreme cases, paralysis, are symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning. Truck drivers on long drives are particularly vulnerable," Dr. Cox stated.

Carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless and tasteless. When it is in the air it gives no sign of its presence and is taken into the blood instead of oxygen. Suffering or collapse result from lack of oxygen.

The same carbon monoxide produced from exhaust gas of cars may also be a by-product of the incomplete combustion of fuel in homes, whether the fuel be gasoline, wood, coal, gas or oil. Such incomplete combustion is usually brought about by using heating apparatus improperly adjusted or constructed. Periodical check-ups of heating equipment and connections should be made to forestall any possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning.

NURSES WILD, TAME FAWNS

A doe on the H. J. Bussa ranch in Bandera County has defied civilization in order to continue nursing one of the two fawns born to her this year and yet also nurses the wild one, a member of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission reports.

One of the doe's fawns was picked up in the woods by a ranch hand several months ago and taken to the ranch house. It was not long before the mother appeared, jumped the fence of the enclosure where her baby had been placed, and nursed it. She has continued to do so daily ever since. She returns to the woods immediately after nursing the fawn held in captivity and nurses her other offspring, which is extremely wild. The captured fawn is very tame.

Not only does the mother deer continue to defy civilization in feeding her tame fawn, but any time a dog gets anywhere near the wild fawn she gives battle.

BRIGHT IDEAS
IN BRILLIANT CRYSTAL

Beautifully expressing a technique to which Rembrandt and Whistler devoted their lives, "Master-Etchings" faithfully follow the methods of these great masters.

This subtle combination of art and crystal is truly the most gracious of all decorative themes for modern table settings, and most flattering for evenings of vivid entertaining.

A single accessory piece, a dozen goblets, or a complete table service — let your budget be your guide. But little or a lot, Fostoria "Master-Etchings" are always lavish gifts.

Fostoria's newest design, christened Willowmere, is illustrated above. This is but one of many "Master-Etched" open stock designs in our extensive displays. We invite you to see them.

Motorists Are Paying For New Roads

Since Modern highway construction really began in the 1920s the motorists have contributed multiplied millions to the construction of a system of state and national highways. This is as it should be and the motorist should take proper pride in the realization that the individual and collective tax dollars he has so willingly poured forth over the years have built a system of highways that will form the basis for effective service in the existing emergency. It is a matter of regret to most highway users that millions of dollars of their tax money has been diverted in the past from highway construction and that they are not able to present to the nation a system of highways that is adequate for all national needs.

"As the situation stands now, however, the highway system is not adequate, by any stretch of the imagination, to serve the every day needs of the people. This inadequacy becomes the more glaring when the demands that are being made on the highways by national defense efforts are considered.

"Congress, although it performed a disservice by reducing the appropriation for highways for the next two fiscal years, recognized the value of a good highway system to the armed forces and directed that the federal money be used in the construction of projects on state highway systems that were regarded by the proper defense agency as vital to the strategic movement of the Army. The War Department engineers made a national survey and delineated approximately 75,000 miles of highways in the United States as having strategic military value. Of this total, there are some 6,375 miles in Texas.

"When the Texas Highway Department was sounded out as to whether it would cooperate in making surveys and preparing plans and specifications for construction of a portion of the military loop around San Antonio connecting Fort Sam Houston with Camp Bullis and Stanley, it said 'yes' without hesitation and had field parties in action within two days. Similar requests for help in connection with proposed military highways at Corpus Christi, Palacios and Fort Bliss met with the same enthusiastic response.

"The impression was that, being purely military roads to serve military purposes and training areas, they would be paid for from national defense funds made available by Congress to round out all phases of total defense.

"This picture, however, now has become confused. It has come to the attention of The Texas Good Roads Association that pressure is being exerted on the Texas Highway Commission to finance the construction of these purely military roads from diminished federal aid funds to be matched with funds derived from state tax sources. These roads are not even a part of the Texas highway system. They would have little or no value to normal civilian traffic, with such additional costs as are necessary to meet purely military access roads designed to serve exclusively federal army and naval establishments.

"The Association in its recommendations expressed the opinion that 'the expense of providing an adequate system of national defense roads is primarily the obligation of the federal government and that expenditures for such a system are proper charges in a defense program.'

Agricultural products from 2 1/2 million acres of the nation's land went into the manufacture of motor vehicles in 1940. Automobiles currently on the market each use an average of 90 pounds of cotton and three and one-half pounds of wool and mohair.

New York heads the list in motor-vehicle registrations with 2,655,733 automobiles and trucks in operation. California runs a close second in the registration race with 2,606,590 motor vehicles. And not far behind is Pennsylvania with 2,054,787 cars and trucks.

Sonora High School Keeps Good Standing

The Sonora High School has credits. These credits have been obtained by competent instruction under close supervision of the deputy state superintendent working with the state department. The credits in the various subjects approved each and additional credits ask for will be granted if the entire school is satisfactory. If a credit is lost the president of the school board and superintendent receive official notice immediately. All of the reports received from the state department have been published for the past several years. Sonora High School has not lost a credit due to unsatisfactory work in its history, according to the records on hand.

Excellent work, prompt delivery and good workmanship. The Devil's River News.

WHAT GOES ON IN THE SCHOOLROOM

Chemistry class is a class composed of boys only. The chemistry pupils have made many interesting experiments thus far this year and learned just lots of things that they never dreamed of before. Among those things that they have experimented with are oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, and many other interesting elements and compounds. Every pupil has presented some pretty wild ideas and theories. Some of them are pretty practical though.

The Algebra class has so far accomplished much in the way of learning to work out x plus y and other impossibles of the algebraic world. The algebra class is very interesting at times and then it can be very hard and make you think Mr. Lightfoot is trying to get you to work the impossible but you soon discover that it can be worked.

Many people wonder just what a high school boy or girl studies in an English course. There are various ways of organizing English courses but here is what the Sonora students study for a period of nine months.

Since the State Department requires four and one-half months of grammar and four and one-half months of literature we measure up to that standard by doing nine weeks of grammar and diction at the beginning of the year then eighteen weeks of literature. The freshmen and sophomore courses of literature are varied, being made up of short stories, lyrical poetry, narrative poetry, essays, drama, orations and novels. The third year students study about the same classification of literature but by American authors. The fourth year students work entirely with the literature of England. This leaves nine weeks in the spring when all students are given grammar drills in sentence structure, paragraph structure, theme writing, oral reports and class workbooks material.

Besides this regular course there are additional requirements in reading of six approved books, six acts of drama and at least fifty pages of poetry. The minimum memory requirement is one hundred lines of selected poetry. In addition to these outside requirements every high school student spends at least two days each month in class studying The Readers Digest.

Oh! I forgot, our courses all carry examination requirements.

Bookkeeping class is one of the most interesting classes in school. Everyone who takes bookkeeping will verify this story. In bookkeeping you learn to budget, balance, and "put two red lines below

Politics and How

Through the halls, in the school room and on the campus, we have heard nothing but politics for the last month. Everyone seems to be able to find a sparring partner or in plain English, someone who was for Willkie or Roosevelt, whomever they were for and had some fierce arguments. After every argument, the ending words are, "I'm for Willkie," or "Wilt with Willkie." Roosevelt proves to be the most popular by a large majority. At the present writing of this I am uninformed as to who won, but you can bet I'll know as soon as it is announced by merely going to the history room.

PERSONAL

Jamie Trainer and Kelso Locklin went to San Angelo Friday evening with Mr. Sharp. They returned Sunday afternoon.

"Notice"

We have noticed at the games played at the new stadium that many of the fans have formed the habit of following the boys and girls up and down the sidelines. We have been requested to ask you to please use the grandstand and do not pace up and down the sidelines since the grass planted along them will begin to show wear and tear from shuffling feet.

This Monday is the last game to be played here this year and we are expecting a record crowd so please remember what we have said and don't have to be embarrassed. Since this is to be on a holiday the patrolman will be on duty to keep traffic clear so don't hold back thinking "I would love to go to the game but I'm scared someone will tear up my car."

"GET IN THERE"

Looking through the files of The Devil's River News the other day we ran upon a poem written in one of the first copies of "The Broncho" as it was then spelled and since it had such good results then, we would like to present it to you:

The school's getting started
 In the most approved style.
 It'll be snappy and peppy,
 It's gonna be worth your while.

The news is really newsy:
 The jokes are simply grand
 And the snappy sports columns
 Are going to beat the band.
 We've got a sure-enough editor
 That sure knows her stuff
 The staff is getting warmed up
 —But gang, that's not enough.

You've got to get behind us
 And boost us to the sky;
 Remember it's your high school;
 —Don't just shake your head and sigh.

We really are so busy,
 We don't see how we can
 Just you get right, and show
 —You'll back 'em to a Man.
 —Marlamont Kampe

Two Students Withdraw from S.H.S.

We are very sorry to hear of the withdrawal of two of our high school pupils this week. Jack Sawyer and Jack Burleson.

Jack Sawyer withdrew to move to San Angelo where he will enter high school there. We hate to see Jack go since he was one of our most apt pupils. Jack entered Sonora school last year and proved to be a very good pupil and it so happens that last week Jack tied for Lion, one of the greatest honors one can have bestowed upon himself in high school. Jack was classified as a junior and was a member of the football squad until he suffered a collarbone fracture several weeks ago. Jack was also a member of the Press Club for awhile. We hate to see you go, Jack, but know you will get along fine in San Angelo.

Jack Burleson also withdrew last week to work. We hate to see you go because we sure looked forward to your being on that football lineup next year, Jack.

S. H. S. Band Gives Concert

Friday afternoon at assembly the high school pupils were entertained with a band concert by the Bronco Band under the direction of S. L. Sharp. The band played a variety of music. The ten pieces they played were:

Westward Ho Overture
 Military Escort March
 Dancing Tambourine Katcher
 Washington and Lee March
 Tea for Two Vincent Youman
 Brown Cheering Song March
 Man I Love George Gershwin
 Old Grey Mare March
 Stout-Hearted Men Romburg
 And last of all, the piece which all but made tears come into the eyes of the audience, the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner." I believe the band played it better that it has ever been played in the high school auditorium.

Sonora Schools To Have Many Holidays

Holidays that the Sonora Public Schools will observe were announced Tuesday. The first one will be on November 11, Armistice Day. The next will be November 21, 22, the New Thanksgiving. Then comes the one that we look forward to more than any other. December 20 to January 6, a grand total of 16 days of no school, for Christmas holidays. Any other holidays will be announced later.

Nov. 11 Ozona vs. Sonora—Be There

Monday, November 11, concludes the 1940-41 football season for the Sonora Broncos. The Broncos have fought a hard fight through every game they have played this year. Although they have had hard luck they have kept the crowd on edge every minute.

We are sure Monday that the Sonora Broncos will be victorious over the Ozona Lions. BE THERE!!!!

H. E. Pupils See Demonstration

The girls of the three H. E. classes were fortunate in having with them last Friday morning Miss Eudora Hawkins of Abilene. Cooking with less water and heat was explained and proved to the girls by Miss Hawkins. Oven and thrift cooker meals were prepared. Afterwards the girls were served small quantities of the food prepared. Miss Hawkins was assisted by Miss Simmons.

"FLASH"

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning Mr. S. L. Sharp underwent a tonsilectomy. Dr. Tester performed the operation. Mr. Sharp remained at the office until late Saturday afternoon, then stayed in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Marshall Huling. Mr. Sharp returned to Sonora Tuesday, and is well on the road to recovery.

ALBERT MURRAYSonora Coach

Mr. Albert Murray, or Coach, is this week's teacher. Last week weeks in the grade school, then last teacher on the high school faculty, but due to an error of our own, we had omitted our Coach. Coach was born in Ozona, Texas, one of our neighboring towns, but received most of his schooling in Alpine. Coach entered Sul Ross State Teachers College in Alpine in 1933 and graduated in 1938. He majored in science and physical education. Coach first taught in Fabens, Texas. After teaching there one year he came to Sonora, where he first taught for a few weeks in the grade school, then was transferred to high school. Coach teaches all the sciences offered in school besides being coach of all the high school sports.

This week concludes our high school teacher of the week write ups. Next week we will present the first grade school faculty member, Mr. J. M. Montgomery, Elementary School principal.

Hallowe'en Topped Off With Dance

Sonora High School had its first big "blow out" Hallowe'en night in the Gym. The students danced to music furnished by the new recording machine. There were many good dance records and several novelty dances, such as "Ten Pretty Girls." "Put Your Little Foot," "Schottische" "Little Brown Jug," "Herr Smith." Some were dressed in a queer costume. They were Clayton White as the "Green Fly;" Betty Taylor as "Gypsy;" Nancy Christy, "Hula Dancer" and was it short! Margie Crowell "Drum Majorette;" Sidney Awalt, "Mexican Senor;" Gene Wallace, "Cowboy." There were many more in costume but the above gives the general idea.

Some students came in couples. Some were: Clayton White, Nancy Christy; Gene Wallace, Margie Crowell; R. C. Luckie, Edith Mae Babcock; R. W. Wallace, Betty Taylor; George Wallace, Jamie Trainer; Glen Richardson, Nell Hale; O. L. Richardson, Gwen Wyatt; Wilfred Berger, Betty Lou Shoemaker; Eugene Alley, Marjorie Reba Nesbit; Don Nichols, Flora Jean Hildreth; James McMillian, Jerry Meckel. If we have left out any couples, remind us.

The room mothers, Mesdames Hub Hale, Henry Wyatt, Libb Wallace, J. D. Wallace, J. W. Trainer, Ralph Trainer, Alvis Johnson, Jim Luckie, J. V. Alley, Joe Berger, O. L. Richardson, John Nesbit, served punch, sandwiches and cookies. The dance broke at eleven o'clock and I don't think everyone went straight home like good boys and girls should.

Car Accident Claims Miss Henderson, School Inspector

Miss Kathryn Henderson, deputy state superintendent of the San Angelo district, was accidentally killed last week in an automobile accident near Brady. She was returning from a visit with the rural schools of McCulloch county. Miss Henderson had been connected with the state department several years and was serving her third year as deputy state superintendent of Sonora schools. Miss Henderson was competent, understanding, and educational, having spent many hours in the school room studying the problems connected with the school. She served Sonora very faithfully and she was an inspiration to those who knew her.

The students and faculty join together in expressing our deep sorrow for her untimely death.

Girl Scouts Have Candy Sale

At a meeting of the Girl Scouts Monday afternoon it was decided to make candy and sell Tuesday. The girls got together Monday night in groups of twos and threes and made candy which was sold Tuesday afternoon at a gross profit of $3.55. The money is to be used to purchase uniforms.

A bulletin entitled "More Facts About School Lunches," available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, explains briefly the provisions under which state welfare agencies may make surplus foods available to schools for lunches for needy and undernourished children.

James, did it come out on, "She loves me?" Was your face red or a deep purple?

Betty, was it an egg or an orange Hallowe'en night?

Jamie, what did George do to you that night that you had to leave so suddenly?

Who was going around and round the box cars Hallowe'en night?

You say that you sis see a light in his window Hallowe'en night Jack Lindsay.

Did anyone notice the sign "For Sale" propped up against the gym door. We wonder if anyone made an offer.

That cactus plant sure did make me homesick for Mr. Cha. What say we buy that "Willkie fan" some GOOD stationery, Miss Annie?

I do believe you would make a good South Sea Island dancer, Nancy.

I'm sorry if I had you worried about me letting it out, Mr. Sharp, but it wasn't that kind of a bug.

Clayton, were you nearly buzzed down by the time the dance was over?

Wayne, are you really scared of armadillos? Is he, Harold?

Bo, that sure is a pretty country car that James D. brought you to school in Tuesday morning.

We want to make a correction. We discovered that Betty just ain't a Willkie fan.

Reckon Miss Milstead thought we were dumb, Miss Annie, when she caught us laughing in the hall Tuesday.

Yes, Marjorie, you must always stir pull candy to make it good (for having rock fights with.)

R. C., do you think those potato chips you sowed out in Johnson's will come up?

"Holy Mackerel, it's eleven o'clock, I gotta go home."

Cowboy Club Has First Outing

Sunday afternoon the Cowboy Club had a picnic supper out at Johnson's ranch. Entertainment was provided by chasing armadillos, which proved to be very entertaining as long as the armadillos didn't run down cliffs that you couldn't see the bottom of. Hot dogs and cold drinks were served as refreshments after scaling down into a place we couldn't get out of without packmules.

This is the first outing the club has had but you just watch them shine in the weeks to come.

Monday one of our old school members returned to attend our school. J. H. Cartright entered school in the Sophomore Class. J. H., who played left end at Sonora last year, is unable to play football this year, but watch him shine next year.

Do You Know Texas?

By A. Garland Adair
Curator of Patriotic Exhibits,

MEMORABLE PASSAGE: "One of the greatest needs in America today is for men who are honestly interested in good government." The Bryan Daily Eagle.

EDUCATIONAL: According to L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, the Physical Restoration Program for Crippled Children, which is administered by the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education, is a vital part of the broader program of equalizing educational opportunities, for by physically restoring crippled children, they are enabled to take advantage of our educational facilities.

BIOGRAPHICAL: H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling is a delegate from the Tenth Congressional district to the national convention of the Democratic party. While he was Department Commander of the American Legion of Texas, with intelligence and high patriotism he guided the endeavor of that organization in its sponsorship of the Texas Memorial Museum, probably the outstanding state-wide community service project sponsored by the American Legion in the United States. Soldier, business man, public-spirited, and a pure patriot, his has been a colorful career and his varied experience and knowledge of world affairs make him a safe delegate to a convention where none but true Americans should be found.

INSPIRATIONAL: The re-election of Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi as National Committeewoman from Texas is a source of pride and an inspiration to citizens in every section of the state. She is noted for her great heart, her philanthropies, and her brilliant mind. Her service to her party has been outstanding. When the world hears: "Remember the Alamo," Texans everywhere also "Remember Clara Driscoll."

HISTORICAL: Editor J. J. Starkey of Kerrville states that Kerr County and its county seat, Kerrville, were named for James Kerr, "first American settler on the Guadalupe River." He adds that "As the legislative act which created the county directs" these names were decided upon and that "The Act creating Kerr County and naming the county seat was passed in January 1856 and signed in the same month by Governor Elisha M. Pease." Mr. Starkey will soon publish "The Story of Kerrville" in which the history of Kerrville will be brought down to date.

Q. What are the sources of income of the University of Texas?
A. From the state, through legislative appropriations, from land endowment and oil; from gifts and bequests; and from student fees. Two-thirds of the total is from legislative appropriations. This amount is the smallest in the United States per student in a major university.

Q. What does the Texas University spend per year per student?
A. About $204. (This figure is only one-half that spent per student by most of the leading universities.)

Q. What is the height of the Buchanan Dam, located between Llano and Burnet on the Colorado River?
A. Height of dam, 140.5 feet; length, 11,000 feet; acres covered by lake, 23,000; shoreline around lake, 92 miles.

Q. Tell me about the Alamo Monument at Austin.
A. After the completion of the capitol building in 1888, the twenty-first legislature made an appropriation for the erection of an Alamo Monument to be placed in the capitol grounds. It stands at the right of the main entrance fronting Congress Avenue; the design, which is a combination of the arch and monument, was selected by a commission composed of Colonel S. H. Darden, J. M. Swisher and H. B. Andrews.

Built of Texas granite, the monument is 19 feet square, rising two feet above the ground. Upon this are placed the large rock-face marginal bases about three feet square, which support the four massive polished pillars, each seven feet long and two feet three inches square; these pillars support four arches composed of but four pieces with the keystones;

TEXAS HIGHWAYS INADEQUATE TO SERVE MECHANIZED ARMY OF TODAY

AUSTIN, November 5 — Great efforts are being expended by national defense administrators to provide our growing Army with sufficient motorized equipment to give it the flexibility of action so necessary in modern warfare. The up-to-the-minute American infantry division will have sufficient lorries to transport the men swiftly from one point to another, either to repel invasion or to strike a damaging blow in a surprise attack. The ammunition and food for these troops, the heavy field guns and tanks, the field kitchens, field hospitals, and operating rooms, all will move over the highways. In fact, the Army, like the bulk of the citizenship of the United States, has become an Army on wheels.

"Well and good," applauds Chas. E. Simons in an article, 'Down the Defense Road' in the November issue of Texas Parade. "But what is being done," he pointedly questions, "to provide the United States with the highways necessary to serve civilian and army requirements?"

"Highway construction in Texas is financed from two sources, state funds and funds appropriated by the Federal government.

"The state funds are derived from the state gasoline tax and the motor vehicle registration fees paid by each individual motorist. These taxes are heavy. They represent a direct contribution on the part of the Texas motorist to a highway system being constructed for his benefit and the money expended by the state in this work cannot be regarded as a grant or as charity. It is something he is paying for, and he is entitled, by any yardstick, to full value for the money he expends.

"The federal aid highway funds are appropriated from the federal treasury. The bulk of the federal funds are matched by state funds to carry on the highway program. And the motorist is paying dearly for the pitifully small amount of money that is appropriated by the federal government for highway construction. In fact, beginning with the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1940 the motorist will pay annually to the federal treasury in gasoline lubricating oil, sales, and other excise taxes on motor vehicles and automotive products approximately $465,000,000 based on the present rates of taxation. In return, the highway user is graciously allowed by a benevolence to unite in a beautiful dome, on each corner of which is left a projection of suitable size to receive bronze statues. The capstone is engraved "A. D. 891", the date of erection.

One year's subscription to your home town weekly newspaper will be paid for any memorable passage accepted for publication in this column. Send in your "Memorable Passage" to A. Garland Adair, University Station, Austin, Texas.

I'LL TUNE OUT THE ALKA-SELTZER ANNOUNCEMENT

Don't—THAT'S THE MOST IMPORTANT THING YOU'LL HEAR TONIGHT

"When statements about Alka-Seltzer are made over the air, please, please believe them."
Mrs. Oma Catherine Jones

MILLIONS suffer less from Headache, Acid Indigestion, Distress of Colds "Morning After" and Muscular Fatigue because they have heard—and believed—Alka-Seltzer radio announcements. To these millions, the relief obtained by the use of Alka-Seltzer is worth far more than the genuine enjoyment they get from the broadcasts.

The most important parts of our radio program, both to you and to us, are the commercial announcements. Once you have tried Alka-Seltzer we believe you will agree with us. But try Alka-Seltzer because it is an unusually effective medicine not because you enjoy the radio programs.

WHY ALKA-SELTZER IS SO EFFECTIVE
The pain-relieving analgesic in Alka-Seltzer is in complete solution, ready to ease the distress as soon as you swallow it. The pain-relieving action is made more effective by alkaline buffers. The alkalinizing elements in Alka-Seltzer reduce excess stomach acidity.

Get Alka-Seltzer the next time you pass a drug store.

TEXAS OUT-O'-DOORS

EYES OF SOME INDIANS ARE LIGHT PINK

Commenting on the movie director who asserted that "nobody ever saw a light-eyed Indian," and required a well-known actor to mask temporarily with a brown fluid to play the part of an Indian chief in a colored movie, the Better Vision Institute points out that there are relatively more light pink, albino eyes among Arizona and Mexico Indians than in most any other racial groups.

"Albinism is a condition where the normal pigment of the skin, hair, and eyes is lacking. The condition has been found in most races," says the Institute. "Generally albinism occurs in about one in every 10,000 persons, but investigations indicate that the condition is far more prevalent among Arizona and Mexico Indians than in any other human groups."

"Eyes of the albino are pink, the color originating from the blood flowing through the retinal vessels. The color diffuses through the transparent tissues of the eye in front of the retina."

"Of course, a pink-eyed Indian isn't a typical Indian," says the Institute. "But such an Indian is possible — even outside the movies."

NEW DEVICE RECORDS EYE MOVEMENTS OF PILOTS

A new device which automatically records the movement of the head and eyes of student air pilots recently has been perfected for use in training planes, according to Better Vision Institute. By having a record of the visual reactions of pilots in flight, it is expected that instruction and grading of pilots will be facilitated.

ODD EYE-PROTECTORS

Artistic eye-screens were once worn in western China to protect the eyes against snow and high winds of the mountains, according to the Better Vision Institute. They were woven from the long, shaggy hairs of a yak to a length of seven inches and a width of three. They were tied behind the head, with a loop at the top and a tassel at the bottom.

MORE DEER AND TURKEYS

AUSTIN, Nov. 6—Not only will hunters have more deer and turkey to hunt in the sections which have been popular for years, but should the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission continue to get as good results the next few years as have been attained this season on eleven deer and turkey areas set up as Pittman-Robertson game restoration projects, Lone Star State nimrods will have many more sections in which to shoot gobblers and bucks.

Reports reaching the Game Department indicate a larger crop of deer and turkey throughout all the ranges in the state. Ideal weather during the spring and early summer months made possible the survival of more young turkeys and deer. Nesting in South Texas was a month late due to the continued drought in the early months of 1940, but that section will also have a large crop of young deer and turkey.

The Game Department has obtained under lease or co-operative agreement eleven large areas of land totalling more than 15,000 acres. These are scattered throughout the state. Deer and turkey or in some instances, deer or turkey were planted and have thrived. Game managers report large increases in game on practically all of the areas and an increase on each of them.

The areas include sections planted with grain and other plants upon which deer and turkey thrive. Area keepers hold the predators at a low level.

From these areas game is expected to spread and it is considered likely that more than 400,000 acres of Texas land will be restocked as a result of deer and turkey moving in. Turkeys have been found as far as eight miles from the point where they were released.

DEFENDS MOURNING DOVES

Mourning doves have been accused of pulling young corn, especially after it has just shot up out of the ground. However, investigations by Game Department biologists have shown that the mourning doves do very little, if any harm to young corn. Not a grain of corn was found in any of the crops of fourteen mourning doves taken in and around the corn fields in Robertson County in April and May. Croton, Johnson Grass and a variety of other seeds were found. Farmers had claimed a depredation.

RACCOONS HELP COYOTES

Raccoons in Motley County have, in at least one instance, helped an enemy of theirs, coyotes, to get meals. A state game warden, after hearing noises in a wild turkey roost of tall cottonwood trees, investigated and found raccoons in the trees. The turkeys took flight. At least two of them were caught by coyotes after being forced off their roost by the raccoons.

Biologists believe, and can prove that practically every bird, or animal has a place in the balance. Mother Nature attempts to maintain against the influences of man's depredations, but in this instance they have recommended control of the number of offending raccoons.

Topography and geography of Texas make rural line construction much less expensive than had been expected in early surveys at the time the REA was created.

Registered in the United States is 71 per cent of all the passenger cars operated on earth. The world record for motor vehicles registered was broken in 1939 with 45,027,000 automobiles and trucks in use; the figure represents a four per cent gain over 1938.

In 1932, only 40 per cent of the nation's livestock went to market on highways. By last year, Department of Agriculture studies of 67 major markets showed that 62 per cent of the cattle and 68 per cent of hogs went to market in motor trucks.

ENGLISH BOY
school say it was about 100 feet high when it pulled out, and it was directly overhead of our house. Golly! It kept diving down, throting up, cutting out and in general making as much noise as it could. I began to wonder what happened to the pilot, and on looking out of the front window for the fourth time, I actually saw the Spit diving straight at No. 34; he pulled out at less than fifty feet with a kind of shrieking whistle, together with a puff of black smoke. And then, just to make sure that we didn't get bored, a parachute floated down about forty yards away. I got down those stairs faster than I've ever done before. I whistled to Mrs. S. standing dumbfounded in the doorway, tore out of the garden, through a share plot of land in the houses opposite, in between a wire fence, up the railway embankment, and on the the actual lines. By this time the bloke had landed, and was being attended to by a dozen soldiers, home guards, etc. I got within a few yards of him but the soldiers weren't so keen. Of course there were a lot more people up on the line, and so they didn't want too many people killed by trains passing. I could see that his uniform was a kind of pea-green colour, and so that was a weight off my mind. The next thing was to discover whether he still breathed the light of day—or whatever poetical people say. The soldiers said he was very dead long before he reached the ground. Ugh! in Orchard Avenue, too! He was all crumpled up in a heap on the very lines. This news got around, and consequently when I got to school, I was greeted by the news that a German had landed on the lines, was running along, a train came down the slope, and ran right over his head. Vivid descriptions of how his head came off, as well. They took him away on a stretcher, covered completely up

Red Cross To Begin Sewing, Tuesday
The Red Cross will have its sewing headquarters on the second floor of the Roy E. Aldwell home. A few machines have been lent to them but they need a few more, so if you are not using your machine and would like for the Red Cross to use it, get in touch with Mrs. Joe Tranier. Sewing will begin Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and everyone who is interested may meet at the Aldwell home. Thirty American circuses and some 300 carnivals now utilize motor vehicles in numbers ranging from several units to whole fleets. The first big circus to be completely motorized, about a decade ago, estimated that for each month it was on the road it saved $20,000 in operating expenses by using motor trucks. with his own parachute. By the way, the Spit was diving at the bloke to attract people's attention to him. Altogether three planes came down over Poole way. Another pilot (German) fell from 200 feet, and his para. failed to open, thus causing rather a mess in the road. One of our boys was on duty — being a Warden—and he witnessed the rather unpleasant spectacle. This was at Upper Parkstone. What a day! Well, I hope I've filled in all the details. Maybe for your benefit I should say that over seventy planes crossed from N to S going straight out to Sea! Phew!

ALIEN REGISTRATION
to the local post offices for correction or further information." Mr. Harrison also announced that this week the first large batch of receipt cards were mailed to registered aliens as evidence of their compliance with the Alien Registration Act of 1940. He estimates that by the middle of November at least 50,000 receipt cards will be mailed daily to registered aliens. "Although the receipt card carried a special warning of the necessity for the registered alien reporting within five days any change in his permanent residence address," said Mr. Harrison, "the fact that he does not receive his receipt card for some weeks after he has registered does not relieve him of the obligation to report any interim change of permanent address." Mr. Harrison also pointed out that the card itself carries directions that it should be returned to Washington if found by anyone but the rightful holder, or if the person named on the card departs from the United States, becomes naturalized, or dies.
