VOCATIONAL CLUB TO HOLD FAT STOCK SHOW SATURDAY

LIONS WIN ATTENDANCE CUP AT MEET

TWENTY-TWO LIONS OF THIS CITY ATTEND GROUP 23 MEETING

The presence of twenty-two Sonora Lions at the quarterly meeting of Group 23 Lions Clubs, composed of San Angelo, Ballinger, Bronte, Elorado, Ozona, Sonora and Sterling City, took the loving cup for out-of-town attendance yesterday in San Angelo. The Sonora Lions chartered a large bus and rode into the "Queen City of the Conchos" growling and wagging their manes and tails.

E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo delivered the welcome address and was responded to by Group Chairman W. E. Caldwell of this city.

Lions Club activities reacting to the betterment of their respective communities were reported by the various district representatives. Ballinger was selected as the next meeting place.

Sonora, Ozona, Sterling City and Ballinger clubs were represented at the business session, following the luncheon. It was said to have been the best district meeting ever held in West Texas. Sonora's report was excellent and revealed that the Lions of this city have been very active and are accomplishing things worthwhile.

President J. D. Lowrey, after much time and patience, unwrapped the cup awarded to Sonora. With Lion President Lowrey sat next President W. E. Caldwell, and Group Secretary H. V. Stokes.

Troy White and V. J. Glasscock were the boys who tooted the bugles and did credit to themselves and added much to the attention attracted by the Sonora delegation.

Those from Sonora who were present: Pres. Lowrey, Past President and Group Chairman W. E. Caldwell, Group Secretary H. V. Stokes, John Eaton, W. R. Barnes, Joseph Trainer, Izzy Leaman, Rev. P. Neal, Frank Knapp, Rev. O. McMillon, Raymond Barker, Bill Gilmore, E. S. Long, O. G. Abcock, Tom Davis, F. O. Harrison, Paul Smith, J. M. Puckett, H. Carson, Gene Bailey, George Smith and M. A. Wilson.

Lee Aldwell's Polo Team Is Winner

Em Johnson and Sheriff Hutcherson See Rainbows Defeat Sam Houston Indians

Lee Aldwell's Rainbows, of San Angelo, defeated the Fort Sam Houston Indians, 16 to 13, in the final game of the eighth annual southwestern circuit polo tournament on Harrison field at San Antonio Tuesday. Lee Aldwell, of Sonora, prominent ranchman and sportsman, accounted for four of the Rainbows' goals passing through the uprights. Aldwell is captain of the Rainbows which team was sponsored by he and Gillie Gilmore of San Angelo. Riding with Aldwell and Gilmore were Charley Featherstone of Wichita Falls and A. D. House of Fredericksburg.

Sheriff F. W. Hutcherson and Em Johnson, foreman of the Aldwell Bros. ranch south of here, witnessed the game, and said it was one of the best they had ever seen.

IRS. J. W. MAYFIELD IN SANTONE CLINIC

Ed Mayfield and his wife carried by mother, Mrs. J. W. Mayfield, to Central Clinic in San Antonio last Thursday. It will be necessary for her to remain there for possibly a month or longer before she can return to Sonora. Her husband accompanied her and will remain with her until she improves. It is hoped that she will soon be able to return to Sonora in an improved condition.

City Park Now Under Construction

Woman's Club Starts Work That Will Culminate in Beautiful Recreational Park

Plans for a city park which have been under consideration for some time by the Sonora Woman's Club, are beginning to take form as evidenced by constructive work now being done by the club.

A park site has been obtained from the city on a location just north of the new Texas Company filling station, and immediately east of the foot bridge on Concho street. It is thought this location will be ideal when all plans have been completed. It is close-in and of easy access to both automobiles and pedestrians, and is a most desirable place for children to congregate and play.

After securing a suitable site the Woman's Club set aside the sum of $125 with which to start preliminary work, and, according to Mrs. W. E. Caldwell, president of the club, a sufficient sum to carry the work to completion will be raised through a variety of benefits and by public donations. Mrs. Caldwell states that Sonora citizens are falling in line with the movement and are being very liberal in donations of time, labor, material and money. It is the aim of the club, the president said, to refrain from resorting to public subscriptions as a means of financing the project, but not a single donation will be turned down, however small and insignificant it may seem a use can be found for it.

According to Mrs. Hi Eastland, chairman of the club improvement committee, the following work has been completed: A plot of ground 182 feet in length has been cleared and rock wall placed around same; native trees have been trimmed and $25 worth of shrubbery set. Two swings and a number of seats have been provided and several flower beds laid out. Plans have been made for a pavilion. Mrs. Eastland said, and roofing for same has been donated by the Lydick Roofing Co., of San Angelo. The pavilion will be 14 feet square and is estimated to cost around $300 when completed. The ladies are asking for donations of lumber, cement and posts. Concerning the permanency of the stone wall laid around the park, Mrs. Eastland stated that R. A. Halbert has agreed to donate the labor and cement sufficient to bind the stones together, making a solid rock border.

The pavilion, swings and benches are to be painted a uniform color, and boys of the Sonora High School have agreed to paint the bodies of all trees within the park. The ladies are in hopes the city or county will follow their lead and repair and paint the foot bridge which crosses the draw at the end of the park.

President Caldwell states that the city and county will be requested to deepen the draw through the park, and also arrange to drain intersecting streets in such manner as to divert the heavy flood waters, thus protecting the park site as much as possible against this destructive element. It is the aim of the club, at some future date, to turn this draw into a wading pool for the kiddies.

Upon completion of the park pavilion a formal opening is to be held the date of which will be announced later.

The Sonora Woman's Club park activities is the opening wedge to a bigger and better playground

"HOWLING TOWEL"

The latest thing in Sonora is a "Weeping Towel" for Calamity Howlers.

The editor has received a Weeping Towel from O. P. Schnabel, San Antonio, who is putting them out with his compliments to help boost prosperity in San Antonio and Southwest Texas. The instructions which accompanied the towel, were to hang it in a conspicuous place. The wording of the towel is as follows:

WEEPING TOWEL
(For Calamity Howlers)
Compliments of
O. P. Schnabel, Manager
Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co.
114 Auditorium Circle
"O. P." says:
"If the Boys must Howl,
Just hand them this Towel."
"The next time a 'Calamity Howler' comes into your office to tell a long tale about everything's gone to the dogs, don't let him mess up your desk and rugs with his crying, or use your shoulder to weep upon—

"Hand him this towel and tell him to 'move on' as you are too busy boosting prosperity for your city."

Schnabel has distributed over 1,400 towels and has received hundreds of letters congratulating him on his move to run "Old man depression into his hole."

A prominent minister asked for two towels to be hung in his church. A Dallas dentist requested one for his dental office so the patients could read it while he was working on them. Numerous sales managers have requested towels for their salesmen. Requests have come from as far east as New York City and as far west as San Francisco, California.

W. L. Aldwell in Critical Condition

Doctors Have Little Hope for "Father of Sonora" With Weak Heart

W. L. Aldwell, president of the First National Bank, and often referred to as "The Father of Sonora," is in a very critical condition at the St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Worth, according to word received here by relatives. A weakened heart, caused by poisons developed after operations and from a broken thigh bone, is said to have resulted in his doubtful condition.

With Mr. Aldwell are his sons and daughters and wife. Roy telephoned his wife yesterday that doctors had little hopes for his recovery, but this morning another message said he was improved, and physicians were more hopeful. Mrs. Aldwell and son, Lea Roy, leave this afternoon for Fort Worth to be with Mr. Aldwell.

The venerable banker and former ranchman broke his right thigh bone last June in a Fort Worth hotel when he stepped on a magazine and fell. He has visited Sonora since and was able to get about on a crutch.

It is hoped that Mr. Aldwell will soon be on the road to recovery and be able to fill his post as president of his bank here.

VISITOR LIKES SONORA

C. M. Oliver, of the Canadian Mill and Elevator Company of El Reno, Okla., was here this week on business. While here Mr. Oliver paid The News office a most pleasant visit. He is well pleased with Sonora as a distributing center, and declared that better roads would be worth a great deal to the city. Mr. Oliver sold to Hall Bros. Feed & Grain Company an order of flour which is being retailed by Hamilton Grocery and Piggly Wiggly.

Mr. Oliver played first base for the Dallas Steers in 1910 and was sold to the Giants. His salary with the latter team was $12,000 per year, but the loss of an eye kept him from playing under the big tent.

movement, and citizens of Sonora who are endowed with a spirit of civic pride will no doubt align themselves with the club and help in putting over this worthwhile project.

Lions Endorse Park Movement

In Sympathy With Efforts of Sonora Woman's Club to Beautify City Environs

Twenty-seven Lions went on record Monday noon as favoring the park movement instituted by the Sonora Woman's Club some time ago. It was brought out that Sonora needs a close-in park, one where out-door events can be held and where its citizens can while away spare monotonous hours on Sunday afternoons and holidays. The Lions Club signified its willingness to cooperate in any capacity called for by the Woman's Club.

The club entertained five visitors as follows: Eddie Hunter, Abilene, representing the K-B Milling Co.; Sam and George Edward Allison, ranchmen; Cecil Allen of the First National Bank, and E. R. Lawrence, vocational agricultural teacher of the Sonora High School.

There not having been a program prepared the club utilized the time in discussion of the trip to the group meeting in San Angelo, a write-up of which appears in another column of this issue.

Priest Will Open Eldorado Grocery

Buys Stocks of Groceries From Eldorado Firms; Will Take Charge Today

O. F. Priest, who established the Sonora Cash Grocery here and sold to A. B. Shoemaker, has purchased grocery stocks in Eldorado from A. T. Wright and E. W. Brooks. Mr. Priest has leased the front end of the Wright building which is now being remodeled for an up-to-date cash grocery. He will take charge of his new business on the last of this month.

Mr. Priest will move his family to Eldorado, and has rented the J. A. Cope residence.

BAPTIST LADIES WILL SERVE LAMB TO LIONS

Lamb will be served to the Sonora Lions club next Monday at their regular noon-day luncheon by the Sonora Baptist ladies, it was announced the first of the week.

The Lions have been lending their assistance to the "Eat More Lamb" club in advertising lamb meat.

Sonorans Buy Hereford Cattle

McKnight & Logan's Hereford Sale at Carrizo Springs Was Very Successful

McKnight & Logan's big Hereford bull and heifer sale at Carrizo Springs Tuesday attracted a large crowd. It was the first registered Hereford auction sale to be held in Dimmitt county and 44 bulls and 23 heifers were sold under the hammer by Col. Earl Gartin of Greensburg, Pa., and Col. Roy Barker of Hereford.

The bulls averaged $150 and the heifers averaged $75. The top bull went to Henry Hagelstein of Winter Haven at $305, while heifers were sold to Lehmann Brothers of Eagle Pass and to Elizabeth Williams of Carrizo Springs at $100 each. Virgil Powell of Menard bought nine bulls and B. B. Dunbar of Carrizo Springs was another large buyer.

Hi Eastland and Byron Newby of Brackett purchased three young bulls at fancy prices. Two of the animals will be placed on the Eastland Sutton county ranch and one on the Kinney county ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Sim Glasscock, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vander tucken, E. C. Garvin and Miss Ealeen White were among Sonorans who attended the sale.

Jack Wardlaw's Father Is Buried

N. J. Wardlaw, 76, Former Runnels County Resident, Buried in Ballinger

Ballinger, Feb. 26.—Funeral services of N. J. Wardlaw, 76, were held at Ballinger this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Wardlaw of Glen Rose, father of Jack Wardlaw of Sonora, died Wednesday afternoon in a Dallas hospital. He also was the father of L. J., former Sonora lawyer and ranchman.

Mr. Wardlaw, a native of Arkansas, came to Texas 41 years ago and settled on a farm in Runnels county. He farmed there until he retired and moved to Glen Rose. Mr. and Mrs. Wardlaw recently celebrated their fifty-third wedding anniversary and his death was the first in the family, in which there are nine children.

He is survived by his wife and nine children, C. B., Newt and L. E. Wardlaw of Del Rio; Jack of Sonora; L. J. Wardlaw, Ft. Worth; Mrs. Eddie Dillingham and Mrs. Maggie McCamey of Dallas, and Mrs. Ione Osborne, Carrizo Springs.

Jack and wife and Mesdames Birdie Rutledge and Josie McDonald of this city attended the funeral.

12 MEMBERS ATTEND DRAMATIC CLUB MEET

Twelve of the thirteen members of the 13 Dramatic Club were present for the regular meeting Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gilmore. Joe Berry gave a report on the selection of the next play which will be given for the Baptist ladies in April.

After the business meeting the members enjoyed a weenie roast.

58 HEAD STOCK TO BE SHOWN BY MEMBERS

Members of the Vocational Agricultural Club of the Sonora High School, will hold their annual fat stock show at the high school Saturday afternoon, beginning between one and two o'clock. There will be 58 animals on exhibition, divided as follows: 17 calves, 14 goats, 27 lambs, the lot to be judge before being taken to the fat stock show at Fort Worth.

E. R. Lawrence, vocational teacher, stated that the home show this year would be larger in point of numbers, but in his opinion would not surpass that of last year. He said that while competition at the Fort Worth show this year would be keen, he felt sure Sonora boys and girls would be in the winning again this season.

At the fat stock show last year Sonora's vocational club won $291 in cash prizes, scoring two first prizes in carlots of fifteen for calves under one year old; 1 second place in group of five, with 13th and 14th prize being awarded the Sonora class. In the goat entries a Sonora lad won third and fourth prizes on Angora kids.

The entire lot of baby beeves shown last year was sold on the Fort Worth market, bringing 16 cents per pound. It is thought that at least one Sonora buyer will be in the market for Sutton raised baby beeves and will attend the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show in March for the purpose of bidding in a few head of the home-grown calves.

Mr. Lawrence said the Vocational Agricultural Club members with livestock, will leave Sonora Monday. The fat stock show will begin on March 7 and continue through the fifteenth. He stated that the trip will be financed this year in the same manner as last year, and publicly thanks the Sonora Lions Club and S. E. McKnight, prominent ranchman of Sutton county, for donations of $50 each to be used for trip expenses.

A large number of Sutton ranchmen and citizens of Sonora are expected to attend the preliminary judging here Saturday afternoon, Mr. Lawrence said, and he sends out a special invitation to everyone interested to attend. The entire class with all show animals will be at the school building all day Saturday and visitors will be welcomed at any hour of the day. Judging of livestock will begin between the hours of one and two o'clock, Mr. Lawrence said.

Jim Saunders, herdsman for the C. A. Broome ranch near San Angelo, will judge the livestock. Mr. Saunders acted in the same capacity last year. His awards were very satisfactory all the way 'round.

MRS. FRENCH WEDS BIG SPRING MAN

News leaked out this week that Mrs. Ethel French and C. A. Gregory, of Big Spring, were married in Christoval on the fifteenth of this month, the Rev. S. J. Estes, Methodist pastor of Christoval, performing the ceremony at his home. The wedding had been kept a secret and was announced the first of this week.

The bride has been residing in Sonora for about two years and is well known here, having operated the Kirkland Hotel since its opening about a year ago. She will continue in the hotel business.

Mr. Gregory is a contractor and has the contract for the work on the Roy Aldwell residence.

They will make their home in Sonora. Their many friends wish for them much happiness and prosperity.

FOURTH DOCTOR IS NOW LOCATED HERE

Sonora now has four medical doctors. The fourth one is Dr. Dickie, medical doctor and chiropractor, formerly of Rocksprings, who is located at the Geo. J. Trainer residence.

FIELD-TRACK MEET HERE MARCH 21

Sonora's fourth annual track and field meet, sponsored by the Sonora Lions and Sonora Chamber of Commerce, will be held here March 21, it has been announced by Athletic Coach L. Joe Berry of the Sonora High School. More than 100 high school athletes from eighteen towns are expected to participate in the meet which will be held in the Sonora Park, a mile north of the city.

Only class B schools will be eligible for awards. Del Rio and San Angelo will run exhibition races.

Sonora will have some stiff competition in retaining the Senior loving cup. However, it is thought that she will have excellent chances in winning again. Ozona was given the permanent award last year in the Junior events, having held the cup for three successive years.

Louie Trainer and Pete Taylor will be relied upon to bring the bacon home for Sonora. Trainer will enter the 100 and 220 dashes and low hurdles for the same distance. Trainer has stepped the 100 yards in 10.2 seconds, and indications point to as much or more speed in the coming meet here.

Taylor is expected to show some real speed in the 440 race and also the low and high hurdles. Dwight Kring, who is no snail, will run the 220 and 440 races.

Ticket sales will start on the 14th, all-day tickets to be had at 75 cents.

Superintendent White is anxious that everyone attend this meet and will appreciate all efforts to help make the meet a big success—the largest in the history of Sonora.

OPERA—Deems Taylor, American composer, has had another play produced in New York. That doesn't mean much to most people. Grand opera is a form of musical entertainment which appeals to only a comparatively few people, with highly developed musical tastes. One reason is that the theme of grand opera is always tragic. Most of us prefer so-called "light" opera, which is tuneful and amusing.

To be accepted by any of the world's great opera-houses, of which there are not more than a dozen, is however, a great triumph for any composer. For only musical compositions which are purely original in every phase and bar can pass the rigid tests. Few composers of popular music are original. Nearly all of them rework old musical themes, most of them originally composed by the composer of grand opera.

It is said to cost Otto H. Kahn, patron of the Metropolitan Opera in New York a quarter of a million a year to make up the company's losses. When Mr. Kahn passes, unless some new "angel" with a taste for musical and a bottomless purse comes to the front, grand opera in New York will be a thing of the past. It will continue in Europe, where opera is supported by the taxpayers' money.

CHAPLIN—The funny little English Jew who has for years been the world's most popular entertainer, has proved once more that, in the hands of really competent artists, pantomime is as effective as words. Charley Chaplin's new picture is a "silent" film, one of the kind that needs no translation to make it intelligible to everybody, whatever language they may speak. Long ago Chaplin began to discard "titles" from his pictures, relying on the action alone to tell the story. And he has a larger following and has made more money than any other figure in the pictures.

There was a time when it seemed as if the movies would make it necessary for actors to learn the art of expressing emotions by action, but the talkies have dispelled that hope. It is so much easier to do it with words, but also much less effective. It takes a real artist to be a good pantomimist, and except for Chaplin and W. C. Field I think of no first-rate pantomimist playing either on the stage or in the pictures.

SILVER—Forty years ago the dominant political issue in the United States was whether we should put silver on an equality with gold as the basis of money, by coining silver without restriction at the ratio of sixteen ounces of silver to one ounce of gold. That would have given silver a stable price in the world's markets of $1.25 an ounce, or thereabout, gold being worth about $20 an ounce.

Only once has the price of silver reached the ratio of 16 to 1. That was in 1919-1920, when for two years the price ranged between $1.25 and $1.34 an ounce on the London market. Early in February this year silver was sold in London and New York for 26 1-2 cents an ounce! The principal reason for this is the establishment of the currency of India on a gold basis, in 1926, leaving in the hands of the Indian government some five hundred million ounces of silver bullion to dispose of, of which only about a fifth has found a market.

There is not enough gold today to meet the world's needs as a basis of money. There was a long period, after the gold discoveries in the Rand and Klondikes, when there was more gold than was needed. Probably the present situation will revive the movement for bimetalism. But in time we shall measure money values neither by silver nor gold but by the average supply and demand of commodities and labor.

DEATH—The automobile death toll for 1930 has been compiled, and it is a terrifying record. 32,000 Americans were killed in motor accidents, an average of almost a hundred a day. Nearly a million others were injured, 962,325 to be exact. The total number of automobile accidents reported for the year was 835,250.

These figures mean only one thing—reckless driving. Not fast driving, necessarily, for one may drive recklessly at 20 miles an

WILL NET GROWER FIFTEEN
AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
POUND ON MOHAIR

Following a four day conference at Washington between directors of the National Wool Marketing Corporation and members of the Farm Board, Judge Roger Gillis, president of the Co-op organization, returned to Del Rio Sunday night to announce an agreement between the two units had been reached regarding advances to be given mohair and wool growers.

Judge Gillis registered neither satisfaction nor displeasure over the sums fixed but stated his organization had obtained the best arrangement possible under circumstances surrounding the conference.

Results of the meeting are summed up as follows:

The Farm Board has fixed the amount of advance on mohair at 20 cents for old hair and 30 for kid hair, landed in Boston.

Hold 1930 Mohair

This rate of advance will net the grower in Texas 15 cents for old hair and 25 cents for kid hair. The board agreed to hold off the market at the present time the 1930 mohair now on hand until the spring 1931 mohair is disposed of. Then the Farm board proposes to deduct from the selling price of the 1931 mohair 10 per cent of such sale price, such deduction not to be hour. Turning a sharp corner at even that speed is reckless driving. Almost half of the deaths occurred when a car struck a pedestrian. Sometimes it was the pedestrian's fault, of course. A quarter of those killed were crossing streets in the middle of a block. Less than a quarter of the deaths occurred from collision with another car.

The pitiful thing about the figures for 1930 is that the number of children between five and ten who were killed in motor accidents was nearly doubled during the year.

Two things may help this useless slaughter. Every state should require a license after an examination, before anyone is permitted to drive a car. And every person convicted of reckless driving should have his or her license revoked, and in aggravated cases be sent to prison without the option of a fine.

less than three cents a pound, to create a reserve fund with which to cover possible loss on the 1930 mohair.

After this reduction the Farm Board will remit the balance of the proceeds from the sale of the 1931 mohair to the grower.

This was determined after a four day session between directors of the National Wool Marketing Corporation and the Farm Board.

"It represents," Judge Gillis said Monday upon his return to Del Rio, "the best arrangement possible to be obtained."

When Judge Gillis reached his office here Monday morning it was to discover large numbers of wool and mohair men of the Del Rio district awaiting him, eager to obtain information pertaining to accomplishments and the ultimate outcome of the Washington conference.

Growers Optimistic

In some quarters, a note of optimism seemed to prevail concerning the outlook in both industries, many opining rock bottom had at last been hit and that the commodities, after months of irregular uncertainty, could not possibly sink lower in market price.

Last week's clean-up report indicated that shortly wool now on hand would be cleaned up and that as the demand increased after wool on hand had been disposed of, the market price could not keep from sky-rocketing on a small scale.

The incline is expected to be slow but steady, it is understood.

In the meantime, several shearing outfits are active in the Del Rio vicinity and the first car of mohair has been reported. Del Rioans driving through Val Verde and Kinney counties Sunday reported many herds of sheep and goats seen along the highways had been shorn of their spring crops and reported activity pointed to the shearing season to get underway in full bloom within a short period.

Some ranchmen are a little skeptical about shearing too early, it was reported, fearing a heavy freeze might strike and wreak severe damage and loss to their flocks.

Those accompanying Judge Gillis to Washington for the conference included Judge C. C. Belcher and Horace Fawcett, Del Rio, and Sol Mayer, San Angelo.—Del Rio News.

Everett James was a visitor in Ft Stockton this week, the guest of Brother Barton.

The county's new road maintenance machine has arrived and will be put to work immediately.

$50,000 Cigarette
Contest Under Way

A contest offering fifty thousand dollars in prizes has been announced by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, makers of Camel Cigarettes, with special announcements in practically every newspaper in the United States. Eight days are allowed for submission of essays, the contest closing at midnight on March 4.

Prizes will be awarded for the best answers to the question: "What significant change has recently been made in the wrapping of the Camel package, containing twenty cigarettes, and what are its advantages to the smoker?" Answers are limited to two hundred words in length, must be written on one side of the paper only and are to be mailed to the contest editor, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

First prize is twenty-five thousand dollars, with second and third prizes of ten thousand dollars and five thousand dollars. Numerous smaller prizes will also be awarded. Judges of the contest are Ray Long, president of the International Magazine Company and editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine; Roy Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, and Charles Dana Gibson, internationally known artist and publisher of Life Magazine.

The contest is part of what advertising experts declare is one of the most intensive advertising campaigns ever staged. Practically every daily and county seat weekly newspaper in the country will be used as well as college periodicals and financial newspapers. This campaign is to be followed by an aggressive advertising drive through newspapers, magazines, radio and outdoor display.

My Best Girl

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Seventh Installment

She had begun by laughing, boldly. But she had sobered, to listen to him, lashes wide, lips slightly parted, little felt hat pushed back to show a film of gold across her earnest forehead. The color had ebbed from her face, and putting her elbows on the table, she had covered her face with her hands—those small hard, red hands that Joe found so infinitely pathetic.

"God help me, it's that way with me now, Joe!" she whispered, not meeting his eyes.

They walked back to the store in absolute silence.

One night in early February, it chanced that at the Merrill table there were dining but three men: George Howard Merrill, president of the entire chain of stores, his trusty righthand man and general manager, one Frank Flint, and the son of the house, Joseph Grant Mackenzie Merrill.

The last named was included in the party merely because he happened to be in the house, with no dinner engagement and because a wild rain was falling. George Merrill cared no longer whether his son and heir came or went.

Yet he had blindly idolized his son.

That young Joe had shown a lamentable indifference to society, and had flunked in college, after disposing of a small fortune in various idiotic, if not actually harmful ways, had been a bitter blow to the father's honest, hard-working pride.

Since, however, he was actually living, they had begun, for the first time in his twenty years, to permit him, in their disgust and disappointment, to find his own level.

So that on this particular evening upon seeing three places set at the family board, his father, scowling, interrogating the butler, merely shrugged when the answer was that the third place was for Mr. Joseph. "Oh, he don't matter!" said Geo. Merrill. "We want to talk business. But Mr. Joe's all right. He won't hear a word we say!"

"I wish he would," Frank Flint, a big, rosy, silver-haired man, said politely. "We want that boy in the business, some day."

Mr. Merrill responded simply: "Frank, I don't know what he's doing, or what he wants to do! They are too much for me, nowadays. He's busy about something—it won't last. But while it keeps him out of mischief—or out of jail—"

"I'd be glad enough to have him get interested in the Mack. If he seems to catch on to anything to night as we talk, Frank, see if you can draw him out."

"Sorry to be late," said Joe, at this point, coming in.

"You're not late," his father assured him ungraciously. Sometimes in the course of the last few years, his disappointment in this boy has risen almost to actual hatred. But just of late, ever since, in fact, that terrible scene when his mother had called him a "commoner, without one single gentlemanly instinct in his mind or soul," and when he, his father, had shouted at Joe that he was no better than a pickpocket, there had seemed to be a tired change in the boy.

"Tired, Joe?"

"I beg pardon?"

"Say you look tired, my boy. Research—" said George Merrill, with a wink for his general manager.

"Nope. Yes, I am a little tired. Not much," Joe said unsatisfactorily, falling upon his soup.

Then Joe said mildly, in a pause: "You say that it's the ruined stock that costs in the Mack Stores—not the labor. I've thought of that. It seems to me that every day enough collars and writing paper and candy and toys and socks fall on the floor and are trampled to set up a separate branch!"

"Where'd you get this, Joe?" asked his father.

"I went into—Number Seven, I think it is," Joe said.

"On Eighth?"

"About there."

"That's Number Seven. Good for you! I hope you got service," said Flint.

"They have a great staff there," said Joe.

"That's a good store. That's a good store," Flint agreed.

"What occurred to me," Joe said leisurely, "was that you—we, I might say—could handle all that small stuff very much better with an automat."

"That's an idea, Joe, but unfortunately it's not practical," his father said genially, comfortably.

Then his eye and the eye of his general manager met.

"Why isn't it practical, Frank? It works all right on the food—they're opening nickle-in-the-slot places all over town," George Merrill said. "They're practical."

"We-ell—" Frank Flint hesitated. Joe broke in:

"Take the whole back wall of a store and handle the five and the ten-cent stuff there. Let 'em drop pennies for their spoons and soap and ink, pencils and can openers and hairpins. You could have a girl there to change their money—"

"I'm not at all sure, Joe," said his father explosively. "I'm not at all sure that you haven't given us an idea."

"I could look into that, Mr. Merrill," Flint said. "It might—catch on, Mr. Merrill. It would be an exclusive Mack feature, you know."

"Frank, the more I think of that, the more I suspect that—there's—something—in-it," George Merrill, drawing his words portentously, said slowly. "When could you see Burke?"

"Take that up with him, will you, Frank? Find out who makes that machinery. We might as well look into it, anyway."

Joe wanted to keep that look in his father's eyes, that proud, vindicated look that said: "This boy of mine isn't—such—a—fool, after all!"

An hour later, he was reading in his room when his father came, rather shyly, rather awkwardly in. The boy had taken the trouble to come upstairs, Joe reflected, gratified.

"Joe, seen that girl who sings that 'Mouse-trap' thing in the Revue?"

"Yes, sir. Saw it opening night."

"I've got two seats." George Merrill displayed them depreciatingly. "I was going to take Flint," he said.

"I'd like to see that darn show again," Joe said.

Fifteen minutes later, they left the house together. It was the first time Joe Merrill had gone to the theatre with his father since the day of his fourteenth birthday treat.

"I passed along that idea of yours about having an automat for the notions, to one of the heads," Joe told Maggie. "I took the credit for it, too!" "What made me feel rotten was that I didn't say that you had thought of it first."

"Oh, well, we sort of worked it out together, that day we were at the automat," she said, anxious to reassure him.

"Worked it out together nothing! You began it, it was entirely your idea."

"But what's the difference, as long as one of us gets the credit?" she asked innocently.

Joe could only laugh uncomfortably.

When he went downstairs an hour later, he managed his own way through the moving river of the departing employees of the Mack, and found himself beside her.

"Why so fast, Maggie?"

She raised blazing eyes to his.

"How dare you speak to me! You ought to be ashamed to speak to me! I hate you!"

"For heaven's sake, what's the matter?" Joe stammered, aghast.

But she went quickly on, shabby little untidy head held high, and disappeared in the crowd before he could catch her again.

Joe walked briskly toward his car, got into it, and drove toward Goat Hill.

"My gosh, I never saw her like that before! I wonder what the deuce I've done," he kept saying aloud as he went.

The dinner was at the club tonight; it was for pretty little Katrina Fairchild, Millicent, next to Joe—was beating powder into her rather coarse-pored, colorless skin with violent jerks of her elbow.

Everyone in the room was bitterly bored: guests, waiters, musicians. Millicent asked languidly:

"When are we going to announce it Joe?—Don't interrupt me, Marion," she said to another girl, who leaned across the table for a hysterical confidence. "I'm proposing to Joe Grant."

"It can't be done. I tried it myself, didn't I, Joe?" said a third girl, handsome and big.

"I don't seem to remember that, Carol," Joe said, eating. "But some night when I've had too many cocktails one of you girls will get me, and that'll be that."

There were shrieks of laughter, and then the conversation suddenly died, and nobody could think of anything to say.

Conversations were entirely personal, usually first-personal at that.

"My dear, I—well, I—well, if you ask me—I couldn't—I told mother—I—she and I—but it isn't as if I—exactly. I couldn't—I simply—if you could have seen me—"

FORD COMFORT

Every new Ford is equipped with four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers

ONE of the fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue. No matter how long the trip, you know it will bring you safely, quickly, comfortably to the journey's end.

The seats are generously wide, deeply cushioned and carefully designed to conform to the curves of the body. Every new Ford has specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. These work both ways — up and down. They absorb the force of road shocks and also provide a cushion against the rebound of the springs.

Other features that make the new Ford a value far above the price are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of fine steel forgings, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, Rustless Steel and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

In addition, you save many dollars because of the low first cost of the new Ford, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

TEXAS TRAILS
(By Harry Williams)

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 26.—They got a gent out in Eagle Pass who is sho' taking the joy out of the lives of Eagle Pass fishermen. (And, maybe, an Eagle Pass fisherman ain't entitled to no joy.) This gent is named Moore, the Rev. J. S. Moore, to be explicit (and if the truth MUST be told), and what he says he is trying to do is keep his Eagle Pass fisherman friends from going to purgatory—ultimately.

The system of Brother Moore is very primordial—he takes along a leetle pair of pocket scales (for gosh sake, somebody tell us why they call scales a pair) and, when one of his fisherman friends says

I got one tucked away here in the basket that weighs six and a half pounds, why Moore, he pulls out the scales and sez gimme that fisha minute!

After all is said and done, why it is very very noble of Brother Moore, and he will doubtless save a lot of 'em. Still, in the first place, how did he ever come to imagin an Eagle Pass fisherman was worth saving?

The county clerk of Real county, named Geo. W. Field, left his home base, Leakey, and went over that grand, scenic road of Camp Wood. And he took something along with him that set the Camp Woodians all a-gog and a-flutter.

In fact, chances are that is why the county clerk went over to Camp Wood in the first place—to set 'em all a-gogin' and a-flutterin'.

What Field took to Camp Wood was a monster turnip. It weighed 11 3-4 pounds. The measurement around the thing was 26 inches—morein' two whole feet.

There was a riot in the streets of Camp Wood which started when they beheld their beloved postmaster, Jim Gray, a-crying like his heart was broke. They wanted to lynch the county clerk for hurtin' Jim's feelin's, but Jim stopped 'em. He said no, he like to have 'em hurt now and then, anyway.

When he was a kid he went to some school over at Lampasas where three times a day, he sez, he had to eat turnips and corn bread.

The Big Idee the county clerk had was to induce all the Camp Wood folks to move over to Leakey, and Jim, he was willin' to go, only he wouldn't have any postoffice of his own to run then. And finally the Camp Wood crowd took the turnip away from Fields and told him he ought to be ashamed going around trying to make folks dessatisfied with their own turnips that-away!

When you got a guy whipped, why be goin' around and rubbin' it in on him, they axed him.

Scattered around here and yan in Texas we got some peach trees which look all right and everything, which bloom and start a crop of peaches growing and then after the peach grows awhile, why, it just turns in and shrivels up. Specialists call this condition a disease, and strange as it seems, they gave it a regular horse-sense name, towit, as follows: "Phony peach disease." Still, they may have a Latin name long as a string of spaghetti hung onto it and got it laid away somewheres.

But the specialists, they don't know how the disease happens or how it is transmitted. But they do have one good idea. They are by that like the frontier folks were by Injuns. Kill 'em out.

So J. M. Del Curto (Swedish descent) of the state department of agriculture, says his outfit intends to destroy the few trees which have been discovered in Texas.

If any you folks got a peach tree which sighs a note in the spring with a grand flourish and then don't pay off in peach-time, you better take the tree under suspicion.

Oh, if they could only find a way to grow a spare-rib flavor into these new, wonderful, luxuriant, "Tasty greens" they got out at Carrizo Springs!

Been reading about those "Tasty greens" which a man named Diller (A. B.) has raised out there at that burg. Been reading in the Javelin about them, and bet that little item in the paper was writ by the Madame Editor, too, for no man could have described a head of greens like that.

The greens grow in a great big head, somewhat like a mustard, and the plant combines the flavor of turnips and mustard. Leaves are immense, and after they have been taken off, why, the stalk may be cooked like it was asparagus—and et just like it was asparagus—and probably being what the Madame editor of the Javelin also meant.

And they grow more greens to the square yard (or acre, as for that than any other "greens" that is out trying to make a reputation.

If it ever gets to where us poor town folks can have a square yard of such greens out by the garage and have all the greens we can eat all the time, why, more of us will be able to pay our taxes, maybe.

Two old friends of the late Geo. Reed of Goliad, fell to reminiscing of him and his days and times. Men always do that when an old compadre is gone—it seems to soothe them to fondly and gently recall stories of him.

One of the friends was reminded of how their departed friend once missed a bear completely, and he took several swift shots at it. He never was a good shot, they said, at least, not what you call an expert shot.

But he brought the bear into camp, anyway, even if he couldn't hit it with a gun.

Seeing the bear get away to safety after all the futile shooting, Reed threw down his gun, leaped into his saddle, and gave chase. As he rode after the fleeing bruin he unloosed his lariat.

And by and by he brought the captive bruin into camp.

That happened in the Davis mountains when he was a young chap.

There may be a dandy little race on here in South Texas during the next 30 to 60 days, says Dick Arnett, Jr., Fort Worth, Texas, and St. Joe, Mizzoo.

Dick is speaking of the cattle business, him being a poor boy who took up cattle buying in his early youth and never had no other chance in life.

The race may be a falling market on the one hand, and growing cattle on the other.

South Texas cattle are browsing on wonderfully good ranges and putting on weight rapidly, day by day, on and on. But the money per pound they may bring on the market may be getting less and less, day by day, on and on.

The race would be: "Can the market take it off faster than the range can put it on."

The State of Texas
County of Sutton
Before me, the undersigned authority, on this day personally appeared Mrs. A. J. Smith, county treasurer of Sutton county, who being by me duly sworn, upon oath, says that the within and foregoing report is true and correct.
Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 10th day of February, A. D. 1931.

County Clerk.

My Best Girl—

"Marjorie, did you see Mrs. Madison?"
"My dear—wasn't that terrible!"
"Oh, well, my dear, if she would bring that impossible girl—"
"Well, exactly!"
More lip-red, more powder, more cigarettes.
"Of course, mother felt dreadfully about it."
"Well, but, my dear!"

"Well, exactly—that's what I said to mother."

"Listen, Maggie, you can't keep this up. Sooner or later you'll have to make it up with me and tell me what the trouble is, so why not now?" Joe pleaded.

She was in the hardware department, and was attempting to straighten up the counter. When she heard Joe's voice, close beside her, she brought her proud little chin up with a jerk, her cheeks crimsoned, and her tone was cutting, if a trifle shaky, as she said: "You broke my heart. But it doesn't matter. Please get out of my way."

Joe was honestly staggered. "How, in the name of St. Pete, did I break your heart?"
"We'll not—" she was being magnificent—"we'll not discuss it," she said.

"We will discuss it," said Joe. "I haven't done anything, and I object to your acting this way!"

"Oh, no—no!" she said in a low, trembling voice, shaken with anger. "Oh, no. You didn't take Paulo Younger to lunch, and pay for her lunch, at our place—at our place!—and then walk with her, and stroll around the streets with her, and have all those horrible girls at the lampshades making fun of me, and saying that Paulo had gotten you away from me."

"Now, listen, Maggie—that's utterly ridiculous. In the first place, I went in, alone, alone—to have my lunch at the Old South Tea Room—but I swear to you I went in there with no more idea that Miss Younger was lunching there than you had! I saw her at an empty table—the place was packed, and, naturally, I sat with her."

"Oh, naturally!" Maggie said, trembling, beside herself.

"Well, would you have me cut the girl?" Joe asked, warming in his turn. "I sat with her, and later I paid the tip, twenty-five cents, and our bill for two sixty-cent lunches. There! If I'd known that you expected me to ask permission—"

"I'll never," she gritted between her teeth, "I'll never speak to you again!"

She had finished her task now, the hardware counter was in order, and went down to the girls wash-room, washed her hands and, after a while, her tear-swollen eyes in cold water and wiped them on the soggy lengths of the exhausted roller towel.

WHY NOT TAKE A LESSON FROM THE HEN

Did you ever stop to think—that hard times mean nothing to a hen? She just keeps on digging worms and laying eggs, regardless of what the newspapers say about conditions. If the ground is hard, she scratches harder. If it's dry, she digs deeper. If she strikes a rock, she works around it. But always she digs up worms and turns them into hard-shelled profits as well as tender broilers.

Did you ever see a pessimistic hen? Did you ever know of one starving to death waiting for worms to dig themselves to the surface? Did you ever hear one cackle because times were hard? No, not on your life! She saves her breath for digging and her cackle for eggs!—Selected.

EVERY STATE NOW HAS SOME ANGORAS

If you are accustomed to think of the Angora goat as one of those queer "fuddin animules" that you would have to go abroad to see in his native habitat, it may come with surprise to learn that there are more Angora goats right here in the United States than in any other country in the world, and that consequently this country leads the world in its output of mohair, the fleece of the Angora.

The year '49 which saw the great gold rush to California also was the occasion for the entry of nine inconspicuous immigrants, the first Angora goats to be brought into this country. Evidently they found their surroundings congenial, for they flourished and multiplied and sent for a lot of their relatives to join them, until now there are fully three and a half million of these useful creatures here, clearing off the brush land, increasing grain yield, and at the same time producing a total clip of 17,000,000 pounds of mohair yearly. Every state in the United States has at least a few members of the family, but the great bulk is centered in Texas, Arizona, Oregon, New Mexico, California and Missouri.

Mohair or Angora fleece must not be confused with wool. Mohair is even stronger than wool, very lustrous and, due to its structural difference, much easier than wool to keep clean. Mohair has many uses for clothing, draperies, rugs and other domestic applications but by far its most significant uses are for furniture and automobile upholstery, for which it is made up into a pile fabric called mohair velvet or sometimes velmo for short. Twelve million yards of this fabric are in use in passenger trains today, due to its extreme durability combined with pleasing appearance and fadeless dyes, while over a hundred million yards, it has been estimated, are on the highways in the form of automobile upholstery.

The skin of the Angora is used for making gloves, while the meat, called chevon, is much like lamb or mutton. But, of course, by far the most important use of the Angora goat is its mohair fleece which you probably rest on every time you take out your car.

Cause of Man's Downfall

For many centuries it was supposed that the apple was the fruit which Eve, under the direction of the serpent, ate and gave to Adam to eat in the Garden of Eden. This view is no longer held, many more tropical fruits being suggested as the probable fruit of the garden, among them the pomegranate.

from the essential simplicity of the dress. To the home dressmaker it makes a strong appeal because it gives finish to the dress at little or no expense.

The bertha collar shown here shows one of the new sorts of self-trimming. It consists of an arrangement of small flower-shaped pieces cut from the material of which the dress is made, and applied to the light-toned gorge-ette that fashions the bertha. In this case each little flower device is attached by means of a tiny crystal bead or nail head, but in some cases they are simply applied with an invisible stitch in the center without the bead or nail head.

As shown here the flower designs are strewn irregularly over the bertha. More often they are arranged in two or three rows along the lower edge.

Cedar Hill vs Junction

Here we come with the victorious Cedar Hill girls basketball team again. Once more they have proved their valor by winning in a score of 8-10. Junction came about two o'clock Saturday evening, all pepped up and with good intentions, but all in vain.

At the end of the third quarter the score was 6-8 in favor of Junction, which caused a sad commotion among the Cedar Hill crowd.

Most of our crowd kept their faith in the team which proved worthy later. Junction's team was very nice the defeat, and we can also say a good word for their referee.

The people showing their appreciation of the team by giving a box of candy were Asa Hallum,

The Devil's Dream
(By W. E. James)

Jerusalem has its wailing wall,
The Devil its wailing towel:
Now barring none, all may come
And howl, and howl and howl!

DO IT NOW

The Devil's River News' sanctum sanctorum, is now adorned with one of the latest issues of the famous "howling towel." This instrument has a purpose to serve and is now awaiting the appearance of the first chronic howler. If you want to howl, and just must howl, come down to the News office and do it on our howling towel.

CLASSIFICATION

There are several species, grades or degrees of howls. Howls for a new city park, for street paving, for more and better sidewalks, are the kind of howls one can tolerate, and if the howling be long and loud, some attention may be paid and the mournful sounds bear much fruit. But the kind of howls for which our towel is a panacea, are those emanating from chronic howlers and covering everything from hard times to weather conditions, or the low price of living and the high cost of dying. These are those for whom the towel is intended and the ones invited to smother their cries in the folds of our wonderful fabric. You will find it conveniently hanging on our office wall, take it, bury your mug in its dark recesses and howl to your satisfaction.

SOME EYES

Pansy eyes—Madonna eyes—blue with long curling lashes; eyes that dance, eyes that fairly spill happiness as pools of crystal water spill sunlight.

SOME ERROR

Newspapers, unlike other professions, have a hard time covering mistakes once they creep into print. Mistakes are sometimes due to ignorance of facts or figures, and sometimes to plain, unvarnished ignorance. But whether they be "sins of omission or commission," all mistakes are regrettable and frequently hard to explain.

"A PRINCE THERE WAS"

In the write-up last week, the Dreamer inadvertently omitted the name of one of the prominent characters, that of Jodie Trainer. The error was one of pure omission and without any thought whatever of slighting a friend. Trainer's name should have appeared in the paragraph mentioning the leading roles, along with that of Joe Berry and Miss Bernice Stokes. The character portrayed by Jodie was one entirely foreign to those played heretofore and suited his temperament to a superb degree. Trainer has appeared in most every play put on in Sonora the past few years, which is a compliment to his ability as an actor.

Two-Gun Ike says: "If I wuz a minister and belonged to the Li'n's Club of Sonora, I'd object to being called a Li'n preacher, by heck."

HAROLD SCHWEINING IS BACK FROM TEMPLE

Alfred Schweining returned Sunday afternoon from Temple where he had been with his son, Harold, who had been at the Scott & White hospital for pleurisy treatment. Harold is much improved, but it is thought that he will have to return in about three or four weeks for further treatment.

After several weeks' stay in Mineral Wells, Mrs. Clara Murphy returned to Sonora Sunday night. Mrs. Murphy had been in the city for several weeks taking treatments for pleurisy, and says she is feeling much better. Her many friends hope she has fully recovered.

CITATION

The State of Texas.
To the sheriff or any constable of Sutton county—greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Henry Evan Sindorf, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return date hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, of general circulation which has been regularly published for one year, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Sutton county, to be held at the courthouse thereof in Sonora, Texas, on the third Monday in March, 1931, the same being the 16th day of March, 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 12th day of February, 1931, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 769, wherein Tena Siler Sindorf is plaintiff and Henry Evan Sindorf is defendant, said petition alleging that on or about the 13th day of October, A. D. 1924, in Union county, New Mexico, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, and they continued to live together as husband and wife until about the month of August, 1930, when, by reason of cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of defendant toward plaintiff, she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon him, since which time they have not lived together; that during the time they lived together as aforesaid, she was kind and affectionate to him, but defendant, unmindful of his marital vows, shortly after their marriage began a course of harsh, unkind, cruel and tyrannical treatment toward plaintiff, which harsh, unkind, cruel and humiliating treatment and conduct continued and grew worse until plaintiff abandoned defendant; that defendant abused and harassed plaintiff in such a manner as to humiliate plaintiff and cause her such mental anguish as to make life unbearable, such treatment was so cruel and harsh to plaintiff and she suffered such great anxiety and mental anguish she was forced to, and did, permanently abandon defendant, but that such marriage relation between them still exists; that defendant's actions and conduct toward her generally were and are of such a nature as to render their living together insupportable and unbearable. And plaintiff prays for judgment dissolving said marriage relationship.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Sonora,

Texas, this the 12th day of February, A. D. 1931.

(Seal) J. D. LOWREY,
Clerk of the District Court of Sutton County, Texas.

Issued this the 12th day of February, A. D. 1931.
