

CINDERS

By John T. King

William A. Bond narrated an Alaskan hunting movie Tuesday for the Downtown Lions Club. He had films on both a polar bear and a walrus hunting expedition and dropped these comments along the way:

Polar bear spotting is conducted from the air, and his group flew out about 150 miles to begin looking for tracks. When found, the tracks are followed until they produce a bear or until the tracks disappear. When a bear is found in a suitable location, one plane goes down for the kill while a second plane stays in the air, landing after the kill.

Eskimo dogs are working animals and perform by voice commands, even to left and right directions. But they won't stop once started. An anchor is used when it's time to halt. (Bond explained that a sled ride behind these animals is the roughest ride he had ever taken.)

Bear hides are washed by dipping them into water through a hole chopped in the ice. Drying is performed by throwing snow on the fur. Snow freezes the water, and it can be brushed off.

When going over thin ice with a boat, walk with both hands on the boat. When you break through, spring into the boat. (Bond had doubts about this with his 28 pounds of clothing to protect him against the 20-degree weather, but explained that he nearly jumped over the boat when he felt the ice give.)

A Sonoran called Wednesday at 6 a.m. to tell a Sutton County election judge that he had made history. There had been a reluctance the night before to issue partial results of how the national election was going on in Precinct 1.

Said the caller: "You may never go down in history books, but you're famous. I knew how California voted before I knew which way Sutton County went!"

A lady walked in the office last week and said that she thought the Sonora merchants should be praised for their custom of closing for funerals. She explained that recently in another town there had been a funeral and because of the custom there for businesses to remain open, a good friend of the deceased was unable to attend the funeral because of work.

Several weeks ago Lester Conally walked in the office and placed a classified ad. "Don't put in an address or phone; everyone here knows me."

Well everyone here that I've met DOESN'T know Lester. If you're out there, Lester, tell us so that we can direct our want ad readers!

A man took his daughter on a trip to New York. They went to one of those plays that made father blush a bit.

"I'm sorry, Dorothy, that I brought you here," he said. "This is hardly a play for a girl your age."

"Oh, that's all right, dad, it'll probably liven up some before the end."

Whether you check your shooting time by the stars or by the orthodox sources, better not let your pal in West Texas, say Midland-Odessa, provide you with the opening time for a deer shoot, especially if you intend to do your shooting around the Beaumont area.

On the best available authority—the U. S. Weather Bureau—the sun rises much later at Midland-Odessa and the official shooting period, beginning a half hour before sunrise, is 36 minutes later in the West Texas area.

Precisely a half hour before sunrise at Midland-Odessa on November 14, the deer opener set for most regulatory authority counties was 6:45 a.m. Half hour before sunrise in the Beaumont area was 6:10 a.m. on the same date.

Owls Outlast Broncos In Final Grid Battle

By Gary McGilvray

The Sonora Broncos ended their 1964 football season on an unhappy note as they were defeated in a rough-and-ready football contest by the District 8-A champions, the Big Lake Owls.

Both teams put up a great defensive stand in the first quarter, and there were no scoring threats.

The second quarter, however, found the Broncos going 73 yards for a touchdown on a drive

Open House Draws Over 100 Visitors At New Building

Over 100 visitors attended open house Sunday at the new West Side Lions building, the Lions' Cage, on West Main.

Raul Favila, president of the 27-member civic organization, said that the building project had been underway about a year. The building has a lobby leading to the main meeting hall and a kitchen separated from the meeting room by a counter and folding panels. The floor is natural wood, and walls of the lobby and meeting room are of paneled wood.

Dedication was held November 10 with District Governor E. J. Grindstaff of Ballinger attending.

Claudio Flores is vice-president of the organization and Abelino Sanchez Jr. is secretary. Billy Gonzales is treasurer.

sparked by the passing of Bill Elliott. The quarterback threw two key passes, once to Mike St. Clair for 32 yards and later on a vital third-down play that covered 17 yards to Eddie Howell. Elliott scored on a one-yard plunge. The conversion attempt failed.

Immediately after the Sonora touchdown Big Lake drove 47 yards for a TD with Don Childs crossing into pay dirt. The extra-point try was blocked.

After the Broncos received the kickoff for the second half, they traveled 71 yards for a touchdown. This time, however, they were under the direction of Bill Glascock as Elliott received a bone bruise late in the second quarter and was out of the game.

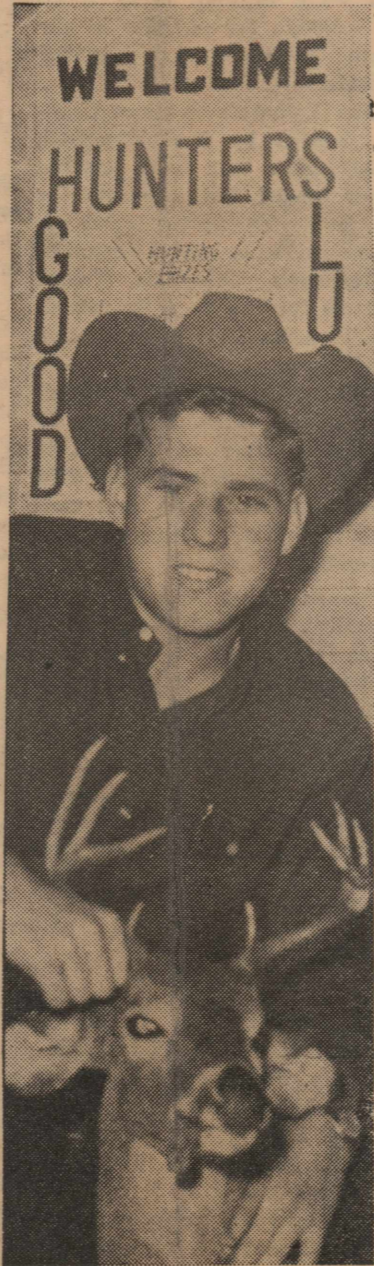

The score was earned on a four-yard run by Jerry Shurley. Two extra points went on the scoreboard when Glascock completed a pass to Roy Glascock, end.

The Owls then lowered the boom, scoring 30 points in the last half of the game to defeat the Broncos by a score of 36-14.

Big Lake will play Van Horn in Big Lake Friday at 7 p.m.

Final standings in District 8-A are as follows:

Ozona	6	2	0
Eldorado	5	2	1
Iraan	5	2	1
Sonora	5	3	0
Rankin	3	5	0

LOCAL HUNTER'S PRIZE—Joe Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hut Moore, was the first local hunter to bring a deer into Sonora Food Locker Saturday. The prize for his eight-point buck shot on the Alfred Schwiening ranch was a free processing job and a box of homemade cake and candy.

Bountiful Hunting Seen on First Days

"It looks like a big one," said Bob Johnson, manager of the Sonora Chamber of Commerce, Monday commenting on the opening of the 1964 deer and turkey hunting season in Sutton County.

Despite the warm weather, some wind, and drizzle that would tend to keep animals from stirring most hunters were reported to be bagging fat game. Johnson reported that more deer were brought in on Saturday, the opening day, than on the first day of any previous hunting season here.

Nolan Johnson, game warden, also said that the hunting seems to be going very well. He noted that almost all the game seems to be in top condition. "Even the old bearded hens are fat," he said.

He said that most hunters seemed to be satisfied, and he had talked to several who had gotten animals with handsome heads. "Violations have been at a minimum so far," the game warden also noted.

the quail-hunting season, which began November 14 and closes January 31. The game warden says that there are few quail in the county. Limit is 12 per day, 36 in possession.

G. A. Wynn Elected County Attorney

Newly elected county attorney for Sutton County is George A. Wynn, who has been serving in the office since February 10 when he was appointed by the County Commission to fill the unexpired term of Jerry Shurley, who resigned the office January 31.

Wynn was elected for a four-year term in the November 3 general election even though neither his name nor the office appeared on the ballot. No candidate had announced for the post.

MRS. THOMAS A. MORRIS killed this black buck antelope recently 12 miles north of Rock-springs in Edwards County. The Hal (Boss) and Charlie Peterson Foundation imported the animals about 12 or 14 years ago, but this one was raised on the ranch. Her husband plans to have the head mounted and gloves made for both him and his wife from the hide. This is the same type animal Charles Schreiner showed films of at the pre-hunt party November 9.

NO OTHER WAY

One of this country's leading pharmaceutical houses recently made available to physicians a new drug which has brought about complete or partial remissions of acute leukemia in a high percentage of children receiving it. Its efficiency was studied in six research centers. Among 95 patients in whom it had an adequate trial and evaluation, 39 per cent had complete remissions of the disease and 30.5 per cent partial remissions. The remaining 30.5 per cent showed no response.

At present, the drug is approved for use only in cases of acute leukemia in children. And back of its introduction is an important story—a story, indeed, which is doubly important because of attacks made on the pharmaceutical industry.

This drug, an alkaloid, has its origin in the periwinkle plant. Processing costs are very high because so little of the active alkaloid is found in the plants. Depending upon the yields of various shipments, it takes from 10 to 15 tons of plants to produce a single ounce. It is said that never before has a medicinally useful alkaloid obtainable in such minute quantities been commercially produced.

So the drug is provided at a cost calculated to yield no profit to the company. Moreover, unless there is a chemical breakthrough which will solve the cost problems, says a company announcement, "it is doubtful that we will ever recover the financial outlays we have made in researching and developing this new anticancer agent."

This is not a unique case. Numbers of drugs, infinitely valuable to those who need them but highly restricted in use, are sold by the producers without profit or at a loss. On top of that, much costly research inevitably comes to nothing. The widely-used drugs must bear these costs—there is no other way.

Hunters Requested To Give Buckskin To Aid Patients

"If you bag one—bag it!" deer hunters are reminded by Mrs. T. C. Campbell of Abilene. "At least bag the hide," she pleads, "as we're begging every scrap of buckskin for patients in our state hospitals and special schools."

The Volunteer Services Council, headed by Mrs. Campbell, once again will have donated hides tanned and distribute the leather among the 28,000 patients in Texas mental hospitals, tuberculosis hospitals, and schools for the mentally retarded. It is used in rehabilitation projects.

"Throw a handful of table salt on the hide, let it drain, 'bag it' in heavy paper and send it to Austin Taxidermist Studio, 2708 South Lamar, Austin, and we'll do the rest," explains Mrs. Campbell.

"Mark the shipping tag 'charity', and most motor freight lines will haul hides without charge. If hunters request, locker plant operators will send in hides," adds the Council leader.

"The 28,000 Texans in the hospitals and schools join me in saying 'we hope it's in the bag' for every sportsman," said Mrs. Campbell.

Firing of Red Editors Interests Philosopher

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-ranch on Devil's River this week discusses a sidelight of the situation in Russia.

Dear editor:

When it comes to knowing what has taken place in Russia, I don't know any more about it than Washington, London, Paris or Mr. Khrushchev did, but there is an aspect to it that has got me to thinking.

As I understand it, Mr. Khrushchev got fired, and I have no feeling about that. He got the job in the first place by getting somebody else fired.

But there was a side effect that interests me. Right after Mr. Khrushchev was fired, according to the account I read in a copy of a newspaper the next day, the editors of the two main Russian newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia, were fired too.

Can you imagine a situation where, if the Sutton County government got turned out of office, you would be too?

What would happen to this country if, every time we elected a new president, all the editors got fired?

I can see the people around here the day after election scratching their heads and saying, "Well, I see we got a new administration in Washington. Wonder who's gonna be the next editor of the Devil's River News?"

And also, while I know what they do with ousted dictators in Russia, what I'd like to know is what do they do with ousted editors? This makes for very interesting speculation, but not around here, naturally.

Personally, I have no suggestions along this line, but I have a notion that regardless of who was elected you'll still be on the job. Under our system, firing is confined mostly to college football coaches.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

REMEMBER WHEN?

"If you're under 40 you won't remember your grandmother straining her back over this old fashioned washing apparatus. It's hard to believe that a washing machine like this actually existed and yet this 1905 model was the first one put on the market. In only 59 years, washing machines have improved to the point of complete automation. All the modern young housewife of 1964 does is put the clothes and detergent in her automatic, press a button, set a dial, and forget it. Isn't modernization remarkable?"

Animals infested with the parasites usually are restless, eat less, do not have good feed conversion and have a rough, coarse appearance.

Sprays recommended for controlling lice on beef and non-lactating dairy animals include Ciodrin, coumaphos (Co-Ral), methoxychlor, malathion, dioxathion (Delnav), lindane, Ruelene, carbaryl (Sevin), ronnel (Korlan) and toxaphene.

Irritation induced by lice on sheep and goats causes the animals to rub or bite themselves. Thus wool or mohair may be pulled out or become matted or low in grade.

A thorough spraying, immersing or dusting is suggested for ridding sheep and goats of these pests. Coumaphos (Co-Ral), DDT, dioxathion (Delnav), toxaphene, Diazinon, malathion and ronnel (Korlan) are effective controls, says Newton, but should not be used on milk goats. Lindane, as well as methoxychlor, is specified for use on milk goats.

For the blood-sucking lice occurring on horses, the entomologist suggests chlordane, coumaphos (Co-Ral), dioxathion (Delnav) and toxaphene.

In using insecticide formulations, Newton stresses the importance of following the manufacturer's recommendations and observing all safety restrictions.

More detailed information on the control of lice and other external parasites is found in Extension publication, MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," available at the county agent's office.

WESLACO VISITORS

Mrs. J. E. Penick of Weslaco is visiting with her daughters, Mrs. Clarence Valliant and Mrs. Lucile Barnhart. Also visiting the Valliants for the opening of hunting season Saturday and Sunday were their sons, Don and Edward and a party of friends from Seminole. The hunting at the Valliant ranch was termed successful as three deer were taken.

Cut a tomato—one for each serving—in wedges but leave them attached. Fill the spaces with seasoned grated cucumber. Top with cream cheese and a dollop of salad dressing or sour cream. Nice for luncheon.

Season Opens for Geese and Other Game

Bullets and scattergun shot have begun pelting the air in Texas as a variety of targets became available as of October 31 and November 1, said J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Your family deserves the benefits of the JACUZZI WHIRLPOOL BATH.

For more information or for a home demonstration, call BILLY GREEN WATER SERVICE, Phone 2-1571.

Statewide wild geese became legal game October 31, and sandhill cranes were fair prey in a limited West Texas area also on October 31.

The big game season kickoff was set for November 1 in two deep South Texas counties—Lassalle and McMullen—and in one east Texas county—Freestone.

Quail also gets into the line of authorized fire as of November 1 in the two south Texas counties.

Meanwhile, the north zone dove season ended October 30, and the special archery deer season opening October 1, closed on October 31. The south zone dove season which opened September 26, continues through November 24 except in counties that had a whitening season. In these counties closing date is November 20.

The main big game season and quail season opens in regulatory counties east of the Pecos on Saturday November 14. The counties covered by state law have legal deer hunting opening Monday November 16 and quail shooting beginning December 1. There are some local variations which should be checked with game wardens, said Phillips.

Goose hunters were cautioned that the duck season does not open until November 25.

Teen Scene

By Carol Hopf

This weekend was a big one for many reasons, but the main one seems to be the fact that hunting season began. The weekend started with the pep rally Friday when Peggy Grobe was presented as the Football Sweetheart for 1964. Maxie Delrie and Bill Elliott honored her with a spray of carnations. The cheerleaders, Allison Espy, Peggy Grobe, Irene Davis, Susan Allison, and Brenda McCutchen, entertained with a cute skit. The senior football players were introduced and given gifts. These boys are Bill Elliott, John David Fields, Maxie Delrie, Mike St. Clair, Roy Glascock, Arturo Sanchez, Pat Brown, and Ismael Gonzales.

Those home from college for the game and opening of hunting season included: Charlie Howell, Tom Ed Glascock, Jan McClelland, Debbie Cooper, Joyee Hearn, Cleve T. Jones, Katherine Adams, Billy Sam Chadwick, Wade Stokes, Jimmy Frank Richardson, Gil Allison, Johnny Fields, Johnny Merck, and several others.

The first deer reported shot was by Joe Moore.

Diana Black spent the weekend in Del Rio.

Retakes were made Monday—what happens if these pictures are also bad??

Every one is preparing for exams again, and of course the time has slipped away again. The school year is one-third over! That sounds good, but there is another side to that—we have two-thirds more to go.

Basketball practice has started again, and there is a good bunch of boys to play and cause us to look forward to a good season.

The band members who are seniors received their band jackets Sunday afternoon. They are Jimmy Wilson, Barbara Holland, Frank Neely, Carla Whitworth, Kay Campbell, Karen Davis, Dick Hardgrave, and Ted Wheelis.

From the High School Library Shelves

By Smith Neal
"Remember These Things" by Paul Harvey Abrandt, known to all as Paul Harvey, is the kind of book that never makes the "best seller" list, but it is also the kind of book that, once one has read it, he returns to it again and again.

This book is so "unpopular" that it is not even currently in print. The copy in the Sonora High School Library had to be ordered from a "rare" book dealer of Chicago, at a cost of $7.50.

The book was published by The Heritage Foundation, Inc. in 1952 and includes an introduction by Eddie Rickenbacker.

The book is a compilation, arranged by John M. Pratt, of Harvey's newspaper, radio, and television commentaries. The commentaries are grouped under nine headings. They include such headings as: PROSPECTS FOR TOMORROW, SOURCE OF STRENGTH, SEEDS OF DESTRUCTION, OUR GREATEST NEED, and STRICTLY PERSONAL.

After reading these commentaries, it is easy to see why the American Legion presented Paul Harvey its first National Award for "militant Americanism and outstanding broadcasts."

Within the texts of his various commentaries, we find such statements as the following:

"We wanted 'security.' And they gave us chains. And we are secure."

"Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who are not nearly good enough . . . so they can have grandchildren that are smarter than anybody's."

To a class of graduating seniors Harvey said: "In some ways the smarter you are . . . the more it hurts.

But don't worry.

You are not nearly so smart as you think."

In another commentary he said: "I think I know where it was we all lost touch with the truth.

It was when we moved to town . . . and left God behind. We chopped down the trees and suddenly we were, ourselves, like 'cut flowers.'"

Speaking for the publishers, John M. Pratt said: "This book is offered as an instrument to aid in maintaining and strengthening the framework of America's Priceless Heritage—its free institutions."

Stephen Vincent Benet said that "when Daniel Webster stood up to speak, stars and stripes came right out in the sky . . ."

It is doubtful that such an astounding thing will happen when Paul Harvey speaks, but when one reads his commentaries, or when he hears them, one is proud that he is an American—a U. S. citizen who is proud of his heritage; and he wants, somehow, to help keep that heritage alive for many generations to come.

STRONG CHURCHES

Make STRONG COMMUNITIES

OLD ENOUGH!

Not old enough for a novel, a dictionary, an encyclopedia.

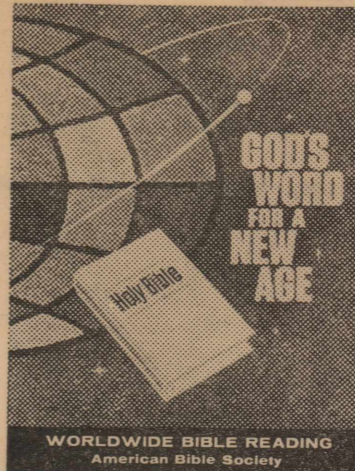

But old enough for the Bible!

For in these very years before she fully understands its truth, a child learns to respect God's Word. Reverence is born. A sense of the importance of religion develops.

The passages must be short... and sensibly chosen. Childish but searching questions must be answered. Mother and Dad will soon discover that explaining Truth to their child deepens their own comprehension.

Take advantage of a parent's most sacred privilege. Introduce your child to God. Make the Bible part of the family. Participate in and cooperate with the Church's program of religious education.

A child grows spiritually whose parents grow spiritually!

Enumerators Begin Calls on Ranchers For 1964 Census

Enumerators for the 1964 Census of Agriculture started calling on ranchers of Sutton County November 9, D. C. Langford, county agent, said this week.

Enumerators are local men and women hired temporarily by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, to count the commercial farms and ranches in the communities where the enumerators live.

The purpose of the visits is to collect census questionnaires that ranchers in the county have been filling out since the forms were mailed to all rural box-holders several days ago. Farmers and ranchers were thus allowed a period of time to consult their 1964 business records and fill out the forms before the enumerators came calling. The purpose of the questionnaire is to furnish needed, up-to-date information on U. S. agricultural production and resources.

During the visits, enumerators will also review forms and assist ranchers in completing the answers to any questions that the ranchers were unable to answer. Filling out the form is required by the Census Act.

Car ferries on Lake Constance charge according to the length of the car.

The Devil's Workshop

An Idle Mind Column

By Della King

"At long last," reports Texas Parade Magazine, "the stringy, ugly, evil-tempered Texas Longhorn cow is going to be a registered, pedigreed breed."

"Thirty-six ranchers in seven states have formed the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association." Interestingly enough, the president of the Association is Charles Schreiner III of Mountain Home, the sportsman and owner of the Y-O Ranch who was the speaker at the Annual Pre-Hunt Party here last week. It seems that Schreiner, who has been concerned with exotic animals from around the world, is also interested in the Texas Longhorn.

Texas Parade notes that Schreiner's grandfather was an early-day rancher who sent thousands of Longhorns up the trails to market.

Last week we printed several creative writing efforts of students of Smith Neal, Sonora

High School English teacher.

Following is another piece of writing from that same homework assignment, this one a short, short story with an unusual twist.

LIKE VERY LOUD THUNDER
By Ray Glasscock

For the first time he felt the cold, strong wind. As he stretched his legs to get his blood moving, the bad news of the day before again entered his mind. It had happened again this year. More and more of his people disappeared. These incidents were accompanied with a noise like very loud thunder. His wife had just arrived from his brother's valley with the news.

His mind returned to the present for the moment as he tried to decide where to eat this morning.

After the decision his mind went back to his recollections. He remembered the last time that he had seen his brother. He remembered the argument that had taken place. His brother said that his home had better places to eat. He remembered how his argument about the disappearances fared. He could not make his brother understand that the safety of his valley outweighed good food. He remembered how his valley had never had any incidents like his brother's valley.

He recalled how he was his brother's pride in that he was the largest male of both valleys. Now his brother was gone.

He shuddered from the cold. He noticed that there was no one other than himself drinking the cool water. If he had not had his mind in the past, he would have certainly noticed the strange odor about him. Suddenly the water in front of him jumped up. Then he heard a very loud noise, Ahhhhh! He felt the worst pain of his life go through his neck. As he fell to the ground, warm blood gurgled out of his mouth and nose. His body jerked about with the convulsions of death. As two creatures approached, his eyes glazed over.

"John! Look at that!"

"It is a fifteen point buck if I ever shot one."

Marine Recruiters List Delay Program

The local Marine Corps Recruiters, SSgt. Don Guenther and SSgt. Otis Milligan, are offering qualified young men between the ages of 17 and 28 a chance to step off the new year of 1965 by enlisting in the Marine Corps 120-day delay program.

In this program, the young man enlists now and picks a day in the beginning of the New Year of 1965 to go on active duty. This time at home counts toward the first pay raise, the first promotion and is part of a young man's military obligation.

Also the Marine Recruiters state there are a few vacancies open for aviation guarantee billets. In this program, a young man is sent to Memphis, Tenn., after completion of boot camp and enters a screening program to determine which school in the aviation field he will attend. This is a written guarantee for 4 years.

Anyone that is qualified and interested should contact the Marine Recruiters, SSgt. Guenther and SSgt. Milligan, at 601 Colorado St., Austin, or call collect to GR 66411 Ext 425.

In addition to Hartman, the all-day program will also feature talks by Roy Rockenbach, Chief, Market News Service; Everett B. Harris, President, Chicago Mercantile Exchange; Dr. O. D. It's the Law in Texas

'Not Responsible For Lost Articles'

Watch Your Hat, Coat

The sign over the coat rack read: "Not responsible for lost or stolen articles." John glanced at it as he hung up his coat and hat and then turned to assist Jean, his wife, in taking off her fur coat. He put it on a hanger beside his own. The two of them drifted casually down the corridor into the dining salon and were assigned to a table by the hostess. The lunch was exceptionally good and both were hungry. The minutes flew by. John glanced at his watch, "Golly, it's almost 1 o'clock. Better get going." But when they got back to the coat rack, Jean's fur coat was gone.

"I'm sorry, sir," said the manager, "but we are not responsible for lost articles. We put up the coat rack for the convenience of our patrons, but that sign you see makes you responsible for your own hat and coat. I'm awfully sorry, but we just can't watch everybody's possessions."

Sign Not Factor

The fact is that in the case of Jean's fur coat the restaurant would not be responsible for its loss even if there had been no sign. One who takes off a garment and places it on a coat rack, as one would do in a restaurant, retains the power of surveillance and control over it himself.

Ordinarily, under such circumstances, the operators of the restaurant have no responsibility toward the customers' belongings because they have not knowingly received the exclusive possession and dominion over them.

The case would be different, however, where the coat had been delivered to an employee in a checkroom. In such event, the management would probably be responsible. So, also, in cases where a customer checks valuables with a bathing house proprietor, or with a hotel desk clerk, or leaves his automobile with the parking lot attendant to be parked and stored for him, those receiving possession of the customer's property have the duty to use proper care to see that the customer's property is returned.

Connally To Speak At TS&GRA Meeting In Dallas Dec. 11

Governor John Connally will be a featured speaker at the 49th Annual Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association convention in Dallas, December 9 to 12. The Governor will address the Annual Membership Banquet, Friday night, December 11.

A wide range of speakers and subjects has been planned for this annual conclave of ranchmen from virtually all parts of Texas. Discussions will range from estate and income taxes to streamlined methods of feeding lambs to get them onto the consumer's dining room table faster and cheaper; from wildlife and predatory animals to the intricacies of world trade.

General sessions of the TS&GRA will be December 11 and 12, ending with election of new officers and directors.

The meetings are open to all sheep and Angora goat producers. Headquarters will be the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

"Some of the problems currently of most interest to ranchmen," said Vestel Askew, president, "are meat and wool imports; the coming expiration of the National Wool Act under which incentive payments are made; estate tax appraisals on speculative values."

Take Along Pencil On Hunting Trip

Have you deer hunters thought about a pencil or pen and a string or some plastic tape to properly tag your deer?

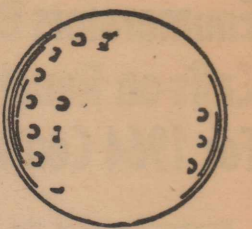

Parks and Wildlife Department officials point out the first operation is to fill out the back side of the deer tag on your hunting license, punch out the date of kill and attach it securely to the game. It is the hunters' responsibility to carefully check tags so they may be fastened as to ranch and date of the kill.

Place the filled out tag on an antlerless deer or a spike between the knee and the foot. (Spike bucks are not legal in some counties.) Wrap a string or a piece of plastic tape around the tag and you are ready to go. Be careful in handling not to damage the tags causing loss or mutilation beyond recognition. If transparent tape is used, wrap the tag with the number on the outside so it may be read without unwrapping.

It is unlawful to use the same deer tag on more than one deer or to use a deer tag not issued to the user.

A total of 400,000 signs and markers is needed in Texas to give information to motorists.
