PAPER WORK JUNGLE

The post office and civil service subcommittee of the House for two years has been investigating the problem of excessive paper work and red tape in the federal government. It has finally submitted its report in a 220-page document entitled "The Federal Paper Work Jungle." Main conclusion: The public is getting fed up with government forms, records, directives, reports and the like.

It shouldn't have taken two years to come to that conclusion. And it is ironic that an attack on lengthy government reports would be submitted in one 220 pages long.

Among the subcommittee's recommendations is a suggestion that federal agencies need to do a better job of public relations to explain to the public why the government needs so many reports. That, of course, will require even more paper work.

Another suggestion called for a tougher policy against the generation of new paper work by federal agencies. To accomplish this, the subcommittee believes it will be necessary to set up at least three new agencies—one to deal with federal reports, another to handle federal-state reports and another to look into forms which the government requires small businessmen to fill out. Naturally, these three new agencies will generate new paper work of their own.

Looks as if the problem may get worse instead of better.

Philosopher Considers Crowded City Dilemma

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River takes a side look at the cities this week. Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper which blew against my back door and I had to pull down anyway to see out—I know where that loose board is on the step but I like to see it before I put my foot on it—70 per cent of the U.S. population now lives in or near big cities.

As you can see, this leaves 30 per cent in small towns and the country, which is all right with me, as it's not the percentage that counts, it's the quality, and when it's not the quality, it's the distance apart, which sometimes is nearly the same thing.

But the most important thing about the article was its statement that in 40 years all these big cities will double in population.

I don't see how the cities can stand it. I never heard of solving the problem of over-crowdedness by crowding in more. What I mean is, go into any big city and try to imagine it with twice the traffic snail it has now.

Furthermore, I saw a television report the other night showing one block in one city with 1600 people living in it. You try to picture 1600 people living on one block in Sonora and then multiply that by a few more blocks and while I don't know what you'd come up with, it's not for me. I like my fellow man, but not that many that close.

I understand that the main purpose of most big cities is to keep growing; any time a census report shows one has gained in population its newspapers come out with big headlines, but it seems to me the cities may be carrying this too far. If they all double in size in 40 years, they'll be building highway loops half way around the country just to by-pass them, and a man in the country wanting to get to another spot in the country will have a choice of driving 200 miles to get around one or losing a week trying to go straight through.

I don't know that there's anything that can be done about this, or should, but it's a problem I intend to watch from a distance.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Sonora Tots Attend School

By Lee Ann West

Children seem to be having all the fun these days, especially at Mrs. Bob Painter and Mrs. Jerry Hopkins' nursery school. Fun and constructive play are the main activities of the nursery school which is held three days a week in the First Baptist Church basement.

Mrs. Painter and Mrs. Hopkins, who are particularly equipped to teach children of nursery age due to the fact that they have had a good deal of experience with their own, say that their goal at the nursery school is not to educate but rather to teach the children to get along with and cooperate with others.

Also Mrs. Painter and Mrs. Hopkins try to bring out the individual in each child through a period of free play. They teach the children to participate in the nursery activities, too.

At the beginning of each session the children recite the pledge of allegiance while being led by fellow nursery members. Then a child will be called upon to give a morning prayer. Mrs. Painter said that the children decidedly prefer giving the prayer themselves.

Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Painter say that they were inspired to begin a nursery school by Mrs. Rodney C. Dowdy, wife of the Baptist pastor. Mrs. Dowdy also helps with teaching aids.

The children have been studying a unit on community helpers. One week the nursery had a post office and a postmaster and the next a policeman. The children take turns being the officials. Other units that will follow will be on the grocery store and the hospital.

Each day the children indulge in a variety of games and play ranging from outdoor free play (when the weather permits) to marching in a rhythm band indoors. They sing old songs and learn new ones, finger paint, listen to stories, participate in stories, and have a show and tell period when they bring something from home to show to the other children. Mrs. Painter and Mrs. Hopkins believe that this encourages the children to share their belongings with others.

If punishment has to be prescribed for an over-enthusiastic child, it is nothing more than a long sit in the corner. The children have rules of which they are aware and they must obey. For instance, during outside play there are definite boundaries beyond which the children must not stray.

The nursery school members include Susan Schwiening, Pat Wade, Greg Tedford, Linda

Treated Pine Fence Posts Last Longer

Quality fence posts consistently give the lowest long-run fence costs, according to W. A. Smith, Extension forestry specialist at Texas A&M University.

Smith says results of tests in Texas and other states indicate pressure-treated pine posts have an average cost of about 2 cents per year of service compared to a cost of about 6.5 cents for untreated pine and untreated post oak. Heart cedar posts cost an average of about 3 cents per year of service.

"Treated pine posts have a higher initial cost, but they can be expected to last an average of about 25 years," Smith said. "Lower cost, untreated pine lasts only about three years and untreated post oak lasts about six years."

Smith's estimates are backed by research of railroads and experiments in Texas and other states. Here in Texas, a 14-location study conducted by the Texas Forest Service has been underway since 1952.

At the end of ten years, the Texas tests show that only 47 per cent of the untreated posts were sound compared with 93 per cent soundness for the treated posts.

Texas A&M University's Livestock and Forage Research Center, McGregor, which is cooperating in the test, recently was forced to remove 100 of 400 test posts to make room for a road right-of-way.

Analysis of the pulled posts indicated mountain cedar with lots of heartwood and pressure-treated pine posts outlast non-pressure-treated pine posts. These are the three kinds of posts being tested at McGregor.

Another part of the test involves a comparison of the serviceability and holding strength of staples. Cedar posts held staples best and the penta-treated pine posts have the greatest tendency to crack and allow the staples to pull out.

Smith said the mountain cedar posts should last about three more years at McGregor before decay and insect damage will begin to make them unserviceable. Pressure treated posts can be expected to last there for a total of 30 years.

"The McGregor tests give a good average for the state," Smith said. "In the drier areas of West Texas posts tend to last longer, while in East Texas they have a shorter life."

Mountain cedar posts have been good buys in the past, Smith said, but they should have at least two-thirds heartwood for good durability and these are becoming difficult to find.

"Stockmen, particularly in East Texas, should examine the mountain cedar available to them," Smith said. "Many times unscrupulous dealers sell mountain cedar that has less than half-inch of heartwood."

The forestry specialist says persons buying pressure-treated posts should ask for a guarantee of treatment according to the specifications of the American Wood Preservers Association. This will insure six pounds or more of preservative per cubic foot of wood.

He said such posts can sometimes be purchased for as little as 55 to 60 cents per post when bought in volume.

Tax Officer Lists Filing Requirements

A Federal income tax return must be filed by every citizen or resident of the United States, including minor children, who had gross income of $600 or more in 1964, William C. Bryan, Administrative Officer of the San Angelo office of Internal Revenue Service, reminded today.

However, a calendar year taxpayer, who is 65 or over, is not required to file unless his gross income in 1964 was at least $1,200, Bryan said.

Document No. 5107 which furnishes more detailed information on this subject is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

Teen Scene

By Carol Hopf

Sonora High had several students attending various meets out of town last week. Mr. Boyd took a group to Trinity University's Speech Festival. Irene Davis, Cindy Galbreath, Carol Hopf, Carla Whitworth, and Gary McGilvray all went on the San Antonio trip. Although none of the group got into the finals, they learned a lot.

Also, the volleyball team participated in a tournament in Ozona. By the way, the girls placed on the first team are Irene Perez, Janet Johnson, Brenda and Linda McCutchen, Gina Badillo, Eliee Chavez, Lupe Leija, and Lilia Perez.

Our track team also went to Ozona. Boys who scored points were Bill Elliott, Mike Wuest, Mike St. Clair, Jerry Shurley, Eddie Howell, Benjie Perez, Pat Brown, and Noe Chavez.

We were sorry to hear that Bill Glasscock was hospitalized with the flu. Glad to hear that he got out. Sad to hear that he now has the measles. We wonder when we shall hear that Gail Espy has "caught" either illness. Cleve T. Jones, Jan McClelland, Johnny Fields, Charlie Howell, Vance Everett, Johnny Merck, Sherry Eustace, and Gil Allison were some of the college kids who came home last weekend.

Peggy Grobe and Barbara Holland went to San Angelo to take their writing sample, English composition, and Spanish achievement tests last Saturday—how about that?

Now that six weeks exams are over again, the senior class has been advised to start working on their research papers.

Sonora's track meet will be held this weekend. Everyone try to be out there to cheer our boys to a victory.

Among the guests at the Fling Ding dance from Eldorado were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. John Murr.

Main Dish Magic
A wonderful casserole for casual entertaining uses cooked rice with cooked chicken or turkey, chicken broth, sliced celery and mushrooms. Color note can be added with chopped pimiento. Bake and heat in a moderate oven for 40 minutes.

Toast bread, spread with deviled ham and top with a poached egg and cheese sauce. That's a presto-quik main dish.

Tuna Souffle takes on speed if you use heated cream of celery soup with a can of flaked tuna and fold 4 beaten egg yolks, then the stiffly beaten whites. Bake 50 to 60 minutes in a slow (300°F.) oven.

How about a three-in-one salad for a hot day? Three lettuce cups on a plate will hold shrimp salad, cottage cheese with plum tomatoes and orange sections with rosy strawberries.

'Our Children and Theirs' Is Guild Topic

"Our Children and Theirs" was the subject of the program led by Mrs. Bill Gosney at the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild Monday night at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Gosney discussed the problems of training children to cope with the world of the future, and she reviewed some of the characteristics of other cultures. Assisting Mrs. Gosney were Mmes. J. L. Stead, Gus Redman, Ellen Ray, W. I. Joy, John T. King, and Autrey Bridges.

In the business portion of the meeting Mrs. Bridges reported on the annual conference Guild held recently in Kerrville at Mount Wesley. She also told of visiting Hill Top Village, a retirement center in Kerrville.

Mrs. Herman Smith, Woman's Society of Christian Service coordinator, reviewed the use of the prayer calendar.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By the Rev. Allen G. Roe, Pastor, First Methodist Church

Someone has said "every Christian should be a photograph of Christ." To that we agree, but we all know that we cannot be photographs of Christ unless we reflect his character, his mind, and his compassion.

The Scriptures tell us about those who strive to do what the Christ would do. "I was hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

When we reflect the mind of Christ, we do errands of mercy as the Christ did. The Gospel writers tell us that "Jesus went about doing good" and someone has said that "we just go about."

It is helpful to know that Jesus said that we can do what he did, but we must have his spirit, his compassion, and his desire to minister rather than to be ministered unto.

The Christian religion is active good will, or good will in action. If we serve the needy we serve ourselves and our Lord. If we "do it not unto our brethren" we do it not unto Him.

The Christian religion has not been tried and found wanting. It has been found difficult and has not been fully tried.

This Lenten season is an excellent time to deny ourselves and take up a daily cross. As we move toward the Easter Dawn we should go the second mile and strive to complete our photograph of Jesus Christ as the Lord of our lives. Invite others to accept the Christian life through prayer, Bible reading, giving, witnessing, teaching, and searching for the will of our Heavenly Father.

Officers Selected by Hospital Auxiliary

A slate of officers was announced for 1965-66 at the Hospital Auxiliary meeting March 8 at the fellowship hall in the Methodist Church.

Elected officers were Mrs. J. F. Howell, president; Mrs. Vernon Cook, vice-president; Mrs. Rodney Dowdy, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Potmesil, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Wade, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. E. Eldridge, parliamentarian; and Mrs. A. W. Awalt, auditor.

Mrs. Alvis Johnson presided in the absence of Mrs. Howell, president.

Mrs. Allen Roe discussed mental health and what the community could do to help mentally ill people. The auxiliary then viewed a film on mental health.

Mmes. O. G. Babcock, Thomas Morriss, and Vernon Cook served those attending coffee, punch, and cookies.

Others who were present at the meeting were Mmes. Myrtle Sellman, C. A. Tyler, Clifford Fehl, A. P. Wright, Paul Boland, W. K. Regeon, C. W. Taylor, J. E. Eldridge, and T. C. Bassham.

Riding Grace Time Can End in Lapse of GI Insurance

Veterans with GI insurance are urged to drop the habit of "riding the 31-day grace period" following overdue premium payments, the Veterans Administration said this week.

Such a resumption during 1965 can save hundreds of policies that otherwise will lapse, according to P. J. Mims, manager of the VA Regional office in San Antonio. Experience proves that waiting for the grace period too often results in forgetting the deadline, and allowing policies to lapse, Mims pointed out.

Older veterans and those with disabilities should be especially careful since they may not be able to obtain other insurance except at much higher rates, he added.

Art Winners Announced At Student Show Here

Artwork by Sonora students was displayed and winners of the show were announced at the meeting of the Sonora Woman's Club Thursday, March 4, in the club building.

Judge of the show was Mrs. John Mallard, an art teacher in the San Angelo public school system. Commenting on artistic creations by young people, Mrs. Mallard said that through art the student is able to develop taste. Art can give a child an escape from a world in which he is being pressured to conform. Through art, a child can really be himself, Mrs. Mallard stated.

Mrs. George Brockman was chairman of the art show, sponsored annually by the Woman's Club.

In the high school division of the show Tim Brown won first place; Wayne Dietz, second; and Weldon Pentecost, third.

Junior high winners were Cleveland Nance, first; Bill

Thompson, second; and Ellis Pentecost, third. Honorable mentions were awarded to Dick Bundy, Taylor Jones, Arturo Gonzales, Patti Richardson, Trouba Teaff, and Annette Emroyer.

Maria Elena Mata's painting received the first-place ribbon in the elementary division, Yvonne Perez received second, and Juan Perez, third. Rick Street, Melinda Earwood, Janet Pope, John Schnase, Jeannine Hemphill, Nola Guerra, and Maggie Galbreath received honorable mentions.

Pre-school winners were Kim Steed, first; Susanne Renfro, second; and Day Hicks, third. Honorable mentions were awarded to Suzanne Dillard, Marcus Perez, Jimmy Black, Bernice Castilleja, David Pfeister, Renee Rousselot, Rex Martin Lowe, and Mason Shurley.

In the crafts division Jim Fish won first place with his coffee table designed to display arrowheads. I. Gonzalez' gun case and Wayne Dietz' manikin won honorable mentions.

In the business portion of the meeting conducted by Mrs. Armer Earwood, president, the group elected Mrs. Harold Schwiening Jr. and Mrs. Fred Maxey as new members of the club.

Mrs. Robert Pfluger announced that Miss Lynda Rhea Allen, Miss Wool of Texas, and Miss Becky Crouch, Miss Mohair, will model wool and mohair fashions at the club's style show and luncheon to be held April 1 in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church. Tickets for the event will be $3 each.

The group also discussed the Heart of Texas District Convention to be held here March 22 and 23.

Hostesses for a "Greenwich Village" luncheon were Meses. Jimmy Hugh Harris, Rex Cusenbary, Albert Everett, and Jerry Hopkins.

The Fling Ding—that unique Sonora party—has flung, and once again almost everyone seemed to enjoy the dancing, visiting, looking at the decorations (which were indeed striking), and people watching.

Following are a few overheard remarks—some of them overheard over and over again:

"This is the first time I've ever had my hair ratted, and it's driving me crazy!"

"Isn't this a marvelous party?"

"Oh darling, it's so wonderful to see you! It's been ages. I haven't seen you since... since last year's Fling Ding."

"Aren't the decorations beautiful?"

"Have you smoked your annual Fling Ding cigarette yet?"

"Have you seen the cocktail?"

"In just a minute it's going to get noisy in here."

"Have you seen the pigeons?"

"Have you seen my husband?"

"Have you seen the buffalo—he's the one wearing a lei."

"Ooohh, what a gorgeous gown."

"You're number 16 in line."

STRONG CHURCHES

Make STRONG COMMUNITIES

You've been speeding, and you get a ticket. You don't like it, but you know you've been wrong. With little or no argument, you pay your fine.

You've been staying home from church on Sundays for one of a dozen reasons. Maybe you like to sleep late. Maybe the minister in your church preaches dull sermons. Maybe you don't consider yourself the church-going type. Whatever your alibi — nobody's going to come after you.

This is a summons you'll have to serve on yourself. For an infraction of God's law is something that can't be ignored. Until you declare yourself guilty, you will be deliberately shutting yourself off from the greatest fellowship in the world. No judge in history has ever pronounced a sterner sentence.

Sunday	Psalms	66	8-20	The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Conservation: Our Best Insurance

(Editor's note: Following is the essay which won second place in the high school division of the annual contest sponsored by the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District.)

By Barbara Treas

The year, 2001 A.D., was dry and the land was stripped of its beauty. As I looked around, all I saw was erosion and the dust flying everywhere. Even my beautiful flower garden, that I planted as a teenager, was bare of its beautiful colors.

Throwing small stones, as I walked across the field to the creek, I began to think how it was to run across the field and have picnics on the banks of the creek when I was a child. In those days, the field was green with beautiful grass and the creek was filled with crystal water.

Tears began to roll down my cheeks as I remembered my childhood, with beautiful surroundings and lovely parks to play in. My child had none of these wonderful and beautiful places to go to. She had no idea what it was like to have a picnic by a beautiful falls, of what it was like to pick fresh flowers for our home.

I could not understand why we, as a country, had been blind to the fact of conservation. Another fact I could not understand was why our fathers had neglected to insure our families a better supply of natural resources.

Our fathers had bought life insurance and the many other types of insurance; yet they neglected the most important insurance of all—conservation.

We now have the money left by the insurance but we have very few natural resources and a country bare of its beautiful sites. If they had only taken time out to invest some effort, time, and money into conservation we would be living in as beautiful a world today as our fathers did before us.

JACOBY LAMBS WIN PLACES AT HOUSTON STOCK SHOW

The Jacoby brothers, Mark and Scott, who are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jacoby, brought home two placings from the Houston Livestock Show recently.

Mark's lamb placed 20th in the finewood division and the brother's lamb placed 22nd in the Southdown category.

Among out-of-town guests at the Fling Ding dance were Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton of San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Smith of San Antonio were in Sonora last weekend for the Fling Ding dance.

Henry Burkett of San Angelo was a guest at the Fling Ding dance.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"No, Mr. President"

It seems reasonable enough. Congress, debating a proposed new law, has doubts about its constitutionality. Why not simply ask the Supreme Court for an advisory opinion? Sooner or later, the Court (sitting only a block away) will have to decide the question anyhow. Why wait for a long drawn out test case? Why put a law on the books, and enforce it only to find out years later that it was unconstitutional all the time?

But the Court would refuse to give Congress an advisory opinion. It would also refuse to advise the President, if he wanted to know—for instance—whether he had the power to issue a sweeping new executive order. Both Congress and the President would have to take their chances, without any guidance from the Supreme Court.

The Court's hands-off policy dates back to a famous exchange of letters in the summer of 1793, between the nation's first President and the nation's first Chief Justice. George Washington, trying to stay neutral between warring France and England, wanted an advisory opinion on 29 points of international law. But John Jay, speaking for the Court, sent a polite reply that amounted to "No, Mr. President." And ever since, the Court has insisted that its job is to decide cases, not to give advice.

This reluctance has been criticized. No doubt it would be useful to know, right away, if a proposed law would be unconstitutional. Delay in finding out can cause major complications. Thus, by the time the Court threw out the National Industrial Recovery Act in 1935, more than 1,000 government agencies were already set up and hard at work.

But the advisory opinion has perils. It could put the Court too close to the legislative or executive process, too close to politics. It could blur the lines of separation between the three branches of government.

Perhaps more important, an advisory opinion is only a theoretical answer to a theoretical question. It is formed without the sharpening, clarifying effect of an actual conflict. It is formed without the clash of argument between parties having a personal stake in the outcome. It is not the law's way of reaching a decision.

In a few states, the courts do give advisory opinions to the local legislature or governor. But even there they do it sparingly, in only a few special situations. Most legal authorities feel that, as a matter of general policy, John Jay's "No, Mr. President" was the wisest answer.

Doctor Devises Test To Find Sex of Child

By Elizabeth Stewart
Women's Medical News Service

Dr. W. J. Rawlings, of Melbourne, Australia, may be on the way to devising a simple, practical test to determine the sex of children before birth. He has discovered that the amount of the hormone, pregnenediol, found in the urine of the mother seems to give a clue to the sex of the baby she is carrying. Working with 245 pregnant women, the doctor found that twice as many more boys than girls were born to mothers with high hormone excretion rates, and that many more girls than boys were born to those with low pregnenediol levels.

It will be a while, though, before the tests can be made widely enough to be of real significance. Until then, there's not much to do except what mothers, fathers, grandparents and friends have always done: Wait, guess, and make sure baby has some pink, some blue in its wardrobe!

Change baby's diaper as soon as possible after it is soiled.

Dr. Hans G. Keitel, of Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa., reached this conclusion after a series of 20 studies designed to determine how best to prevent diaper rash. Creams, lotions, ointments, powders, sprays, all were tried under Dr. Keitel's supervision. Of these, powders were the most effective.

But best of all, the doctor found, was prompt changing of diapers. If, in addition, reasonably soft diaper material is used and non-porous diaper covers made of plastic or rubber are avoided, the problem of diaper rash will usually be kept under control.

When a child born today reaches the age of 35 there will be twice as many people (at the present rate of population growth) in the U. S. as at his birth.

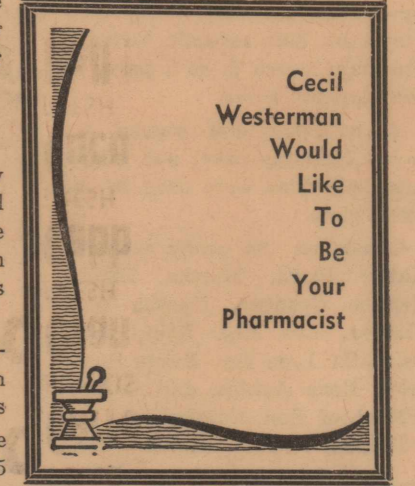

The world's population in mid-1964 stood at an all-time high of just over three billion, and is expected to increase by more than one billion in the next 15 years. Put another way, the rate of 60 million people a year—larger than the total population of Great Britain.

Concern over the population explosion and its consequences recently led the American Medical Association to adopt the following policy: "There should be no restraint on the physician concerning the dissemination of birth control information, and as with other forms of quality medical care, such information should be equally available to both private and clinic patients."

Texas consumes 4.9 billion gallons of gasoline a year, ranking third behind California and New York.

One-fifth (2,936) of Texas wells in 1963 were "wildcat" wells, which seek new fields. Only 19% found oil or gas.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

By Art Dotson

Another Use For Magnet
When refinishing ultra-deluxe items like a gun stock or rod rack, run a magnet over the surface before varnishing. It will pick up every last trace of steel wool used to smooth the surface. Excellent Fire Starter
To make an easy starter for a campfire, soak a charcoal briquet in turpentine and wrap it in aluminum foil. It burns hot and lasts a long time.
Storing Minnow Seines
Use old newspapers to keep your minnow seine from rotting while in storage.
Carefully but loosely wrap the seine in an old newspaper. Paper will draw off the moisture. Mildew then never has a chance to attack the net fibers.

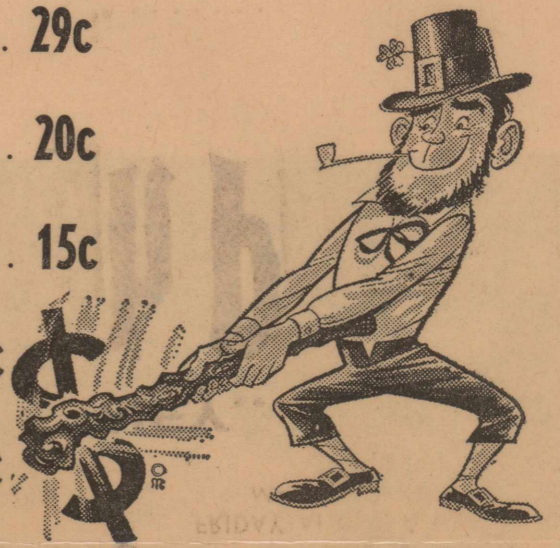

Save on all your sporting goods when you buy at the Gulf Restaurant and Discount Center.
