Eugene Willmann, district chief for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, reports an employee of the Brown Ranch near Bergheim, Kendall County, went "fishing" under his house with a live mouse for bait and caught an obstinate rattlesnake.

After all efforts to dislodge the rattler had failed, Lechlow trapped a mouse and baited it on a small fish hook, all attached to a long fishing line. By next morning, Lechlow had his "limit".

Triumphant Indians Go to Astrodome

The Indians, Little League baseball team who won the season title recently by defeating the Colt 45's, were treated to a victory trip to the Astrodome in Houston to see the Cincinnati Reds play the Houston Astros last weekend.

Dr. Charles F. Browne, host of the excursion, Harold Schwiening Jr., and Mike Wuest, all coaches of the winning team, and John Bell, who helped out during the season, accompanied the team on the trip. Jesso Cook, assistant coach, and Paul Browne also went on the outing. The team stayed at the same hotel where the Cincinnati Reds stayed and they not only met several of the players, but also received autographs from some of them. They saw Joe Nux Hall, the pitcher who won the game the night before.

Before leaving Houston, the team members were escorted to the ship channel. Dr. Browne explained that many of the boys had never seen a boat larger than a row boat, and when one of the players saw a large freighter, he exclaimed, "My gosh, that's all one boat!"

On the trip back to Sonora the group made a stop at the San Antonio Zoo and Brackenridge Park.

Sonora Chamber Backs Close Route Of Interstate 10

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted Tuesday to back the proposed close northern route of Interstate 10 as the most economically beneficial to Sonora. The route, which passes through parts of the golf course and airport, will allow traffic easy and close access to Sonora.

Directors generally expressed views that Sonora's distance and visibility from Interstate 10 would determine to some extent how much of the traffic stopped to use Sonora's business facilities.

Also discussed were the 1965 hunting program, Christmas program and the Sonora Diamond Jubilee.

Rex and Ben Cusenbary, Dick Black, Henry Greenhill, Jack Mackey, John King and Bob Johnson Sr., manager, were present.

More Stockholders Added to Jubilee

Added to the list of stockholders in the Sonora Diamond Jubilee Corporation this week are Mrs. Robert Rees, Missy Brown, Lee Chastant, Dr. W. T. Hardy, Mrs. L. E. Johnson Sr., Sonora Veterinary Clinic, J. T. Pemick, and George E. Allison.

PASSING SEASON

The seasons of the year run their course swiftly. No one knows that better than our tens of millions of youngsters. For the summer vacation is already over half gone, and the beginning of the next school year approaches swiftly.

Many, perhaps most, will return to school with a feeling of regret. Summer vacation, with all its sports and many-sided attractions, is fun. It's only human nature to wish it could continue forever. But, for all of the labor-saving progress that has been made, we still live in a world in which work and knowledge are essentials. And the advances of science and technology have vastly increased the kind and amount of education that is needed if the young person is to have a successful and rewarding career as an adult. Little room is left for the uneducated and half-educated. Those who lack at least a high school education face a tough road ahead. And college training is of necessity demanded by more and more employers.

Nowadays, stress is laid on physics, mathematics, the chemical arts, and other of the sciences. But the boy or girl who learns only a trade or profession is but half a person. The finished student must have at least a fair working knowledge of literature, the other fine arts and economics. It is in this last classification that the schools, in too many instances, seem to have failed. Too many graduates leave the halls of ivy with an insufficient understanding of this country's economic system and the system of representative government it supports, which together have protected the individual's liberty and made this nation great and powerful. Lack of understanding of the political and economic heritage by which we live is a most serious weakness in a world torn by conflicting and angry ideologies.

Let the student return to school with a will. And let his school properly prepare him for a constructive place in the world he will enter as an adult.

And if there be any Hill Country student who might be contemplating dropping out of school this fall before graduating, let him give serious second thought to his decision.

There's no point in deliberately handicapping oneself for the years ahead. This is precisely what the school dropout does to himself.

$30,000 French Home Costs $15,000 Here

Samuel S. Talbert, Ph. D. Chairman, Dept. of Journalism University of Mississippi

A home which sells for $15,000 in Texas or Iowa would cost $30,000 in France. It would cost $20,000 in Italy.

The difference in cost of homes in southern Europe and the United States can be traced largely to efficiency in construction techniques.

Semi-automated home building was made possible by mass demand for good, new housing. Creation of this demand has been a major accomplishment of local newspaper advertising during the past 15 years.

"Today, I can sell a $20,000 home to people who would not consider paying more than $7,000 for a house in 1950. It wasn't the money; it just took people a long time to realize that they could enjoy the benefits of the more costly investments," one of the nation's leading home builders asserts.

"Of course, advertising was essential—big, hard-selling advertisements, week after week, year after year," he added. "That advertising has helped us to change the face of cities. It has provided thousands of good jobs."

It is notable that the advertising and promotion which guide the home construction boom in America was 80 percent local newspaper advertising.

No other medium could present to all potential home buyers details on plans, lots, construction, and financing, with maps, photographs, and illustrations.

The marble quarries at Carrara, Italy, have been worked from early Roman times to the present.

NOTICE OF BUDGET HEARING THE STATE OF TEXAS) COUNTY OF SUTTON) CITY OF SONORA) TO THE TAX PAYERS OF THE CITY OF SONORA: The City Commission of the City of Sonora, Texas, will meet at 8:30 o'clock A. M. on Monday, August 16, 1965, at the City Hall for the purpose of considering the Budget for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1965. Act of God
Ask an atheist what is an act of God and he will say: "Nothing."
Ask a fundamentalist and he may say: "Everything."
But in law, the phrase "act of God" has nothing to do with religion. The law sits in judgment only on the acts of man. Calling an event an act of God is merely the law's way of saying it is not an act of man.

Card of Thanks

We appreciate the thoughtfulness of our friends, neighbors, and loved ones for the nice food, floral offerings, cards, visits, and kind words of sympathy during the illness and loss of our loved one. May God bless all of you.

The family of Jesus Urias 1nc46

This distinction can be important indeed.

Suppose, for example, that a bolt of lightning strikes a tree in your back yard, toppling it onto the neighbor's garage. Obviously you did not hurl that lightning bolt. Nor could you have prevented the harm it inflicted.

Having played no role in the event, you are not legally liable for the damage. "Act of God" is a good defense.

But suppose the tree fell not only because of the lightning but also because it was badly rotted. Although you had known for some time that it might fall, you had neglected to take any precautions.

Surely, if God caused the lightning in the first case, He caused it in the second case as well. But now your own negligence played a key role in the outcome. Therefore, "act of God" is not a good defense. You could be held liable.

When should a force of nature be foreseen and guarded against? There is no easy answer. Thus, the precautions fair to expect in a tornado belt might be unfair to expect in an area where tornadoes are unknown. A careful person makes due allowance, under all the circumstances, for the likelihood that nature will kick up a fuss.

Most act of God cases involve weather. But not all. In one instance, a farmer sued his neighbor for crop damage caused by water leaking from a drainage canal. The neighbor replied: "My canal did leak, but only because of holes dug by gophers. Since I didn't cause those gophers to dig, I am not to blame. This should be considered an act of God."

But the court held that, even if the digging could be called an act of God, gopher damage was common enough to have been foreseen and prevented. The court might well have reminded the defendant of Milton's admonition in "Paradise Lost": "Accuse not Nature! She hath done her part; Do thou but thine!"

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

Catfish Bait—Phew!

Stink bait always is good for catching catfish. Here is a new way to prepare a batch that really will blast them out of the water.

Fill a pint size mason jar 3/4 full of worms. Leave in hot sun for about a week.

When the worms have stewed long enough to make a thick oil, separate the oil from the resulting sediment and pour into a smaller jar.

When ready to bait up, dip little hunks of sponge in this oil and attach sponge to hooks.

You'll be delighted. Not at the aroma, but at the way the big fellows go for this concoction.

ACCENT ON HEALTH Feel Require Care, Must Last Lifetime

Your feet must last a lifetime, and if you've been sight-seeing, hiking or just walking a lot lately, you're probably quite conscious of this fact.

Just because your feet are the lowest extremity of your body doesn't mean that they deserve to be mistreated. Far from it. If your feet are to last a lifetime and serve you well, they require good care.

If you can heed the findings and suggestions by researchers and physicians before you have difficulty with your feet, you'll be way ahead.

According to a recent study, three times as many boys as girls have mild to severe skin problems with their feet. The researchers related that fact to the girl students' tendency to take off their shoes or slip their heels out of their shoes when sitting in classes or elsewhere. The girls also wore lighter and lower shoes than the boys. Both of these habits tend to minimize excessive perspiration of the feet.

Perspiring feet are moist feet, and moist feet provide an excellent environment for the growth and multiplication of the organisms which contribute to disease of the feet.

Although the locker room has long been considered the culprit of foot infections, research shows that fungous disease of the feet is probably not spread by such exposure.

Roe-ving Around

By Grady Roe

I recently returned from a trip to Austin, where I visited my brother and saw some sights. Two sights I saw were a blonde, and a red head, but I had better not go into that. Austin is quite a town. In case you don't know where it is, it's close to San Marcos.

I was lucky enough to be there one evening when a rock and roll group gave a concert. The Beachboys (some may call them the bleach noise) played one evening in a big building that someone had knocked over and put seats into. I went with some friends, and we had pretty good seats. However, I noticed that some of the kids around me must have been bothered by mosquitos, because they kept jumping up and down and swatting their hands together and pulling their hair out and screaming every time one bit them. I could hardly hear the singers. Anyway, these guys must have really needed the money they got by singing, because they all were too poor to afford even a hair-cut. A bunch of policemen were all around, and I guess it was to protect the audience from the group.

On another evening, I went to a coffee house. It was really way out. Way out on some street, that is. As soon as we got there a lady who looked like her hair had been caught in a meat grinder, came over and asked what we wanted. The place was dark, and she scared me, so I said, "I want out of here!" I went ahead and ordered the kind of drink everyone else did. When I got it, I decided that it was made out of old coffee grounds. Some fella asked me to pay him a cover charge, and when I told him that I was perfectly fine and didn't need any cover, besides, I'm not about to spend the night in a place like that, so why do I need cover, he pointed at the door and asked me to close it from the outside.

Then, on the way back home, I saw an opera at a theater near Ingram. It didn't make any sense. The lady star must have had a terrible stomach ache, because she kept walking around wailing and such. At the very end, she killed herself by jumping off a tall building. I think that a guy told her to drop in, and she took it literally.

So, I saw plenty of sights. But, Carolyn and Mary Lou, the blonde and the red head, were the only ones I saw that I understood. The rest of the trip is even more confused, so I will refrain from telling it. Thus, as the cat said when his end was run over by a train, "That's the end of my tale".

SONORA Diamond JUBILEE

July 26, 1965

To the People of Sutton County:

The time is near, in fact three weeks off, and our Diamond Jubilee program progresses from the planning stage into the finale stage. My, how much there is to do, and it's wonderful in knowing how many qualified and willing helpers we have.

I am a little amazed in knowing that so many of our children of the pioneer families haven't rushed in and bought stock in this corporation. I hope no one is waiting to be asked. We need to sell some $100 stock certificates, some 50's, some 25's, as well as 10's and 5's. In regard to published list of purchasers, Geo. E. Allison reminds me that he was one of the first and his name wasn't mentioned. Then Bob Johnson tells me that J. T. Penick was one of the first and his name wasn't mentioned. The list is being double checked now to be sure all buyers get full credit.

I ran across Robert Halbert the other day and he says the sky is the limit for this is the one and only 75th birthday the town and county will ever celebrate. Knowing the need for beef he volunteered a 600 pound fat polled hereford steer in lieu of a $100 stock purchase. We do need more beef to go with the Spanish kid and lamb. Gene Wallace, Herbert Fields, and their committeemen will gladly accept your contribution.

Glad to see the bar back in the Favorite Saloon building. The Gully Cowsert family was nice to let us use this antique. It is supposed to have come from Fort McKavett and from Fort Mason originally—must be over 100 years old.

In the parade and downtown celebration we do need some specialty acts, acts in which local characters make fools of themselves. This always goes over big and we do have the characters.

We are happy in knowing some high school classes are planning big doings on this occasion. I met with the class of '31 last Thursday. They plan an entry in the parade as well as a party at the Harva Cooper home. Other classes are working, and we hope to see many class reunions during this party.

We hear of many people coming to Sonora during the week Aug. 15-21, and of many citizens inviting friends and relatives. I would like to see guests in every home in Sonora, not bad enough to volunteer to wash dishes, however. And we are having some competition, for Camp Wood is having their fourth annual Old Settlers Reunion on the 21.

It's wonderful to have so many ladies volunteering their time at the Jubilee office. Drop in and give them your suggestions that this Jubilee might be the best planned and executed public event ever held in Sonora. See you shortly.

Sincerely,
 Buzzie
 (H. V. Stokes
 General Chairman
 Diamond Jubilee Corp.)

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

The Rev. Rollin Polk, Rector St. John's Episcopal Church CALLING—This is a word having meanings found both in the Old and New Testaments. We read of how Abraham was called to go into a new and strange land. This was more than a decision, for Abraham responded to an outside "voice". He and Israel believed it was from God. We discover four senses of this word (kalein in Greek) in the Bible:

1. To be called by name. The Israelites were called 'my people'. Jesus said that peacemakers were to be called 'sons of God'. When a person or a people is called by name, we have an advanced development of personal relationship formed, and the one being called in such a way is considered important and precious in his sight.
2. To be summoned to a task or a reward. Remember how the householder was called to take care of the vineyard. God calls us to do something in his name.

3. To be invited as a guest. The New Testament account of the wedding feast tells us of God's desire to have his people gathered together with him in a perfect fellowship.

4. To be summoned as to a court. God's will is that we account to him how we have used the life he has given us. He alone is our judge. Facing up to him allows us to see ourselves clearly, having the true pattern to square with.

God's call does not come to us because we deserve it, witness Jacob, Paul, and many others. He calls us out of his very love for us. Because we wish to be accounted worthy of the call which has already come to us, we wish to respond by showing love for him and by being obedient.

The message is very clear, but most difficult!

Puffy has a problem. She's much better at climbing trees than she is at getting down again. Usually someone has to get a ladder and bring poor Puffy back to earth.

People share Puffy's problem. Their fears are forever driving them to do what they can't undo. They run away from reality only to wish they hadn't. We have even coined the idiom "up a tree" to denote the dilemma of a situation from which we cannot free ourselves.

With people, it takes more than a ladder to solve the problem.

Through the centuries men have found Faith an answer to fear. Our churches cultivate courageous Christians. For with confidence in God comes confidence in ourselves.

The man who knows he's never alone doesn't run away.

J. A. Takes Long Look Into Space --- Sees Little

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River holds firm to his backward view of outer space, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

Understand, sending a television camera 135 million miles through space to take some pictures of Mars and then getting the pictures transmitted back to earth is a brilliant feat, and while I couldn't tell much from the pictures, still you can say the same thing about some television shows originating here on earth, nonetheless I continue to stay sort of unexcited about outer space.

What I mean is, I'm in favor of man's exploring, but he's got a lot of odds against him.

Take Mars. Scientists have already discovered, according to Mariner's messages, that there's not enough oxygen there to keep a man alive.

Now I suppose we could overcome that, if we wanted to populate the place, by getting some company to go into the Mars oxygen-manufacturing and distribution business and equipping everybody with a meter to calculate his monthly breathing bill, think what you could make off of of athletes and Congressmen, and I figure that's one bill practically everybody would pay and the company would have very few occasions when it had to disconnect a man's supply for lack of payment, a thoughtful person would just naturally put it ahead of his television or car installment, I'd like to have some stock in that company myself, but you might run into stubborn people who'd argue, why go to Mars and pay for breathing when you can do it free here on earth? This of course wouldn't include the people who go to the Mediterranean to see the sun set when they could stand in their own backyard and see the sun setting.

Well, anyway, so we rule out Mars as a serious prospect for sub-dividing and tackle another one. As I understand it, there are literally billions of planets out there and the hunt could go on forever. Eventually, way out on the other side of the universe, if the universe has any sides, we might find a planet with life on it.

Well, what would we do with it? We've already got a planet with life on it and we ain't doing too much with it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Novel Fish Pond Touts Celebration of Jubilee

By Lee Ann West

A lovely and novel sight in Sonora these days is a unique fish pond in the backyard of the Rev. Arno Melz' home.

The Rev. Mr. Melz constructed the delightful concrete pond himself and surprisingly enough remarked that the project only cost a little over $10.

The pond is a miniature of the United States, with goldfish and lily pads inside. Naturally, the great state of Texas is clearly outlined.

To the north of the U.S., Mr. Melz marked Canada with a Royal Canadian Mounted police station, which he admits serves a dual purpose. The police station also covers the pump that would otherwise be an eyesore to the appearance of the pond.

At the south of Texas, he has appropriately marked Mexico with a Spanish couple. Also in "Mexico" is a cactus growing through the concrete.

The pond is backed by a stone waterfall that is lighted with red lights at night. Mr. Melz collected the stones from various parts of Sutton County.

And in keeping with the order of the day, Mr. Melz has placed a sailboat in "Texas", and a sign on the sail reads, "I'm sailing for the Diamond Jubilee at Sonora, Texas, August 15-21."

Forts Are Top Attractions for Tourists

Despite unusually prolonged spring rains, attendance at tourist attractions across the state rose 14 percent during the first half of 1965 over the same period last year.

The Texas Tourist Development Agency, which took the mid-year survey, said 14 million visitors were counted in the first six months by 18 attractions and state parks. The count was 12 million during the first half of 1964.

Attractions that keep a record of the out-of-state portion of their attendance told TTDA that segment of their business was up nearly 25 percent in the first half.

Although attendance-cutting rain was mentioned frequently by reporting attractions, particularly those oriented to the outdoors, a dry July was said to be producing visitors by the drove.

In fact, most operators mentioned brisk early July business as heralding a second half even brighter than the first six months.

Largest single increase the first half was reported by the Fort Davis National Historic Site in far West Texas. Although still undergoing restoration, the historic frontier fort attracted 48,612 visitors, nearly 16,000 more than in the first half of 1964 for a 48.8 per cent gain.

Supt. Michael Becker told of TTDA his June business alone was 59 per cent greater than the same month last year.

Significantly, another storied military post at the opposite end of the state accounted for the second largest increase during the period. The Old Stone Fort at Nacodoches, deep in East Texas, recorded a 46.3 per cent gain with 12,553 visitors.

Texas Economy Reaps Over Half Billion From Business of Out of State Visitors

More tourists traveling by automobile entered Texas last year than in any prior year in history.

During 1964 automobile visitors to the State added the impressive total of $525 million to the Texas economy. This was more than enough to rank the visitor industry high on the list of the State's most important sources of revenue.

In addition, the Texas Tourist Council estimates that nearly 2.5 million visitors came to Texas by commercial carriers, adding more than $150 million to the total spent for tourist services.

The Texas Highway Department's annual survey of out-of-state visitors shows 11,757,000 tourists came to Texas by automobile in 1964. The length of the average visitor's stay was 5.6 days and he traveled 1,020 miles while in the State.

Last year the average party consisted of three persons. Average cost per day per person was $7.97, while the average cost per party was $23.91. Expenditures per person were up 12 cents per day from 1963.

The Texas Highway Department has long recognized the importance of the travel industry to the State's economy. Through its Travel and Information Division it strives to bring visitors to Texas in ever-increasing numbers by publicizing the State's attractions and providing information and descriptive literature to prospective visitors. Last year the Department serviced 704,000 inquiries for the traveling public.

Eight Travel Information Bureaus are operated by the Department at key point-of-entry locations and in the rotunda of the State Capitol in Austin. These information centers played host to 492,000 visitors last year, of which 225,000 were from out-of-state and 267,000 were Texas residents.

The hospitality centers provided visitors with current travel information, descriptive literature on points of interest, State Highway maps, information on scenic and historical attractions, special events and state parks. Current road condition information is also available to the highway traveler at the centers.

During 1964 the Texas Highway Department received via mail and filled 212,000 requests for all types of information about the State. Some 18,000 of this total were coupons received by the Texas Tourist Development Agency as a result of its media advertising program.

Data covering out-of-state automobile travel to Texas in 1964 were collected and analyzed by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department. The sample included nearly 10,000 Texas visitors traveling by automobile.

92% FAVORABLY IMPRESSED
Comments contained on the completed survey forms indicated nearly 92 per cent were favorably impressed with the Lone Star State. Things impressing Texas visitors most were: Texas Highways, Texas, Texans and Texas Highway Department Tourist Information bureaus.

Others of the thousands of comments related to vacation sites, prices, size of the State, Texas attractions and recreational facilities. Only 8.2 per cent of the total comments were derogatory in nature.

An estimated 37% were visiting Texas for the first time. Over 52% of the total visitors to Texas last year were here for vacations. Some 30% were visiting family and friends and 18% came to Texas for business reasons.

Motels were a heavy favorite for overnight accommodations with 58 percent selecting these roadside facilities. Of the remainder, 20 percent were housed in private homes, 7 percent stayed in hotels, 7 per cent camped out and 6 per cent had their own trailer accommodations. Two percent of those polled reported no preference.

EVERY SEGMENT BENEFITS
Businesses catering to the basic needs of the traveler are the first to feel the impact of the tourist dollar. However, every segment of the Texas economy benefits as this income spreads throughout the state in a demand for services, supplies and labor.

A recent study of the Texas visitor's expenditures indicates the travel dollar is spent as follows: automobile 30c, food and
