PLAINS AREA HAS ITS OWN PRIVATE WATER SYSTEM INDEPENDENT OF ANY OTHER SECTION AND INEXHAUSTIBLE

That the Plains are of Northwest Texas has its own private water system separate and largely apart from that of surrounding areas, is the opinion of water engineers seen to be arriving at as they follow up careful investigations of this section. There is every indication now, according to these engineers, that the water supply of this section is quite independent of any outside water source.
 The moisture provided by rain and ground. Experts say these sands hold enough water to supply the region's needs for thousands of years—if no more water were added.
 However, they admit in the same breath, that too many irrigation wells can be put down in a given scope and with excessive pumping for crops, the supply may eventually be sucked out from the substrata.
 The storage is sealed below by impervious earth. The water can't escape and mineralized water can't get in.
 There couldn't be any simpler natural water system than the area south of the Canadian river and east of the Pecos. Sandhills in the west part over in the vicinity of Melrose and Portales, New Mexico, and in other sections including vicinities of Dimmitt and Haling Center. Otton and Muleshoe, are the so-called catchment areas. Rainfall on the sand and loose soils goes into the ground to the water bearing sand below.
 The water sands are some 200 feet thick, from 50 to 150 feet from the surface. They hold water in amounts varying from 20 to 40 per cent of their volume. On the edges of the underground sea, the sands are "pinched out."
 It is conceded by some of the engineers and veteran well drillers that on the North Plains there is a possibility of some moisture water flowing into that section while there are some experts who contend the South Plains gets some of its supply from deep underground strata which have been eroded by gale by earthquakes letting the water come up through the red beds to supply and impregnate the upper sand strata and become available for rising quantities for human use. Still others declare there is no foreign water coming into this area south of the Canadian river, which is in no way connected with underground sands or any other porous stratum and effectively cuts off any outside water. Surface lakes as catchment basins are also said to be valuable in maintaining underground water levels.

 So far as known it was in 1910 that this underground stratum of sheet water was first tapped in the Hereford community when D. L. McDonald drilled the first Plains irrigation well. Since that time, hundreds such wells have been sunk, striking the heavy flow at from 50 to 150 feet depths. Less than a quarter of a mile south of Muleshoe the water crops out of the ground, while in other parts of the Blackwater valley, now known to have once been an old river bed, an average of 100 feet depth is drilled to strike the stratum of water and which, when punctured by the drill, rises more rapidly to the surface that the drill can be withdrawn. Stockmen of this area, plenty of windmills on their ranches which have been running perpetually, some have never been turned off since they were installed 15 or 20 years ago, they have never needed any pumping shortage, and are only sopped when wornout valve leathers have to be renewed.

OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF PUBLIC OPPOSES SIT-DOWNS, SURVEY SHOWS JOHN LEWIS AND CIO NOT FAVORED

New York.—The U. S. public is overwhelmingly against John L. Lewis and the C. I. O. and sit-down strikes are highly unpopular among all walks of life, including factory workers, according to a survey made by Fortune Magazine and published in their current issue. At the same time, the great majority of Americans favor responsibility for labor unions, the survey shows.
 On the question of sit-down strikes, 74 per cent of those interviewed disapproved and thought they should be stopped, only 16.9 per cent favored them, while 4 per cent were indifferent and 3.5 per cent did not know what they thought on the matter.
 In the factory labor class a total of 59 per cent believed the sit-downs should be stopped. Making up the small minority favoring sit-downs were 14.1 per cent who gave their O. K. provided "labor does not carry them too far," and 2.9 per cent who said the technique should be used whether legal or not.
 "Evidently then," says Fortune, "William Green was conspicuously right when he declared that public opinion will not support sit-down strikes. What he said went for three out of four people. He might have gone further and made a more sensational statement that factory workers themselves oppose sit-down strikes and still been correct, for there are 59 per cent of them agreeing with the executives that sit-downs should be stopped, and only 6.2 per cent who propose that labor should use them whether they are legal or not.

 Of those questioned, 29.8 per cent favored the A. F. of L., while the C. I. O. polled only 10.8 per cent. Against both were 17 per cent, 24.7 per cent did not know which they preferred, 11.3 per cent were indifferent.
 Among those who favor one of the rival union organizations the line up is nearly three to one with the A. F. of L. against the C. I. O., the survey showed.
 Regarding the question of union responsibility, almost three-quarters of those questioned favor the provision of means of enforcing union liability for contracts

Bailey Co. Women Improve Homes And Plan For Canning

Women Resettlement clients and affiliates are making extensive plans for canning summer foods for winter usage, according to Miss Eunice Florence, director of the Bailey county office, who further states that 60 per cent of the pressure cookers now on hand in the homes where she operates were either bought this year or access to their use was recently acquired.
 An allowance of 2,400 cans is scheduled for Bailey county Resettlement clients, and of this total already 376 dozen quart jars have been bought.
 Miss Florence says practically all gardens of her clients are in flourishing condition, especially where windmills have been utilized for irrigation purposes. Numerous families are making every effort possible to "live at home" this year by canning and curing everything they raise or obtain.
 Many of these clients have made commendable improvements in brooder and chicken houses and several new ones have been constructed.
 Record books, furnished by the department at Washington, wherein records of income and expense of farm and home operations may be kept, are being used by many families, and proving valuable, Miss Florence said.
 Three girl clients, using scrap lumber of various kinds and refrigerator boxes have made or improved closets for demonstration work in 4-H club activities. Approximately 20 families have prepared all or a part of their houses at no expense whatever but for the wall paper. Six kitchen sinks have been installed in kitchens, water piped into others and much other improvement of various kinds, has been done, she said.

IMPORTANT FARM MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE THURS. AFTERNOON
 A representative of the Grange, a national farm organization, will be in Muleshoe this afternoon (Thursday) to meet with farmers of this section at two o'clock in the district court room, according to announcement of W. C. Taylor, county farm agent.
 All people, including farmers, stockmen and business men are urged to attend the meeting.

OIL NOTES

Reports from the oil test well drilling in lease 700 south of Butte to the effect that sulphur water has been encountered and drilling stopped pending further orders from high officials.
 Just how much sulphur water is in the hole appears to be uncertain. Tuesday morning, the sulphur water was reported to have raised 2,000 feet in the hole.
 Oil has been struck at two points in this well previous to the present depth. When only a few hundred feet down there was a "rainbow" showing and then at 4,400 feet considerable oil shale of about 27 feet was encountered.
 While no official report of activities in this well is available, it is the general opinion if company officials do not give orders to continue the hole on down to the 5,300 contract depth, the bit will be pulled back and development be made at and below the 4,400 foot level, which is reputed yield between 200 and 400 barrels daily.
 Formation in this well is said to be running very high, about 300 feet higher than the Canyon well previously drilled in Cochran county, and it is the unconfirmed opinion of various oil men that a shallow oil pool may be found farther north in Bailey county.
 The Enochs well, in the south part of Bailey county is reported to have been sunk about 200 feet deep the first of this week, although no definite information as to progress is available at this time.
 Some lumber and pipe are said to have been hauled to the drilling spot for the McCaskey test on figure four ranch. This well it is said will be located two and a half miles due south and a little west of the Henry Hanover place, probably in section 14.
Heaviest Snowfalls
 Heaviest snowfalls are found on the western flanks of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade ranges, which have an average of thirty-five feet each winter. Record fall was in 1906 when seventy-five feet fell on Mt. Tamarack, near-Alpine City, Calif.

Several Injured In A Three Car Wreck On St. Highway Saturday

Last Saturday night about 10:30 o'clock on State Highway No. 7, about one-half mile northwest of Mulshoe near a culvert crossing the highway, a Plymouth coupe, said to have been driven by Walter Noble of near Lazbude community, collided with a Chevrolet sedan said to belong to H. L. Clark, and alleged to have been driven by one Bill Terrell.

While these two cars were still in a state of entanglement, a model A Ford car said to have been driven by David Border, came down the highway, the driver failing to observe the previous congestion of auto wheels and other machinery in time to make a quick stop, participated in the mix-up.

Several of the car occupants are reported to have been more or less seriously injured. One of the Clark girls is said to have received a cut about six inches long on the left side of her forehead, requiring eight stitches from a surgeon's needle to close, while the two other Clark girls were badly bruised and received skin abrasions.

The Terrell boy received a dislocated shoulder and scalp injuries. A man by the name of Brock received a lacerated and mashed nose, cut lip and other minor injuries. The Border boy escaped with slight bruises.

Christianity's Success Christianity's old and original success was won by warm-hearted and quite practical comradeship.

Business conditions in Portales, N. M., have become so good recently that citizens and business men have been asked to leave their cars at home so farmers and other customers may have parking room.
