Mideast scene still vivid to world

JERUSALEM (AP) — The scene of a year ago is still vivid in the mind. Anwar Sadat, leader of the Arab world's most powerful nation, architect of the Mideast's most devastating war, is standing at the mahogany dais of Israel's Parliament, his words electrifying the world.

"You want to live with us in this part of the world. In all sincerity, I tell you we welcome you among us with full security and safety. I declare it to the whole world, that we accept living with you."

More than one hardened politician wiped a tear from his eye as Sadat, and Prime Minister Menachem Begin smiled and clasped hands under a picture of Theodor

Herzl, founder of modern Zionism. The applause, delayed a minisecond by shock, thundered.

The peace Israelis thought was only weeks away still has not come. Why has it been so elusive?

The answer is in the speeches of Begin and Sadat on that day, Nov. 19, 1977, in the Knesset.

"You have to give up once and for all the dreams of conquest," the Egyptian president said. "Expansion does not pay. To speak frankly our land does not yield itself to bargaining. It is not even open to argument. None of us accepts ceding an inch of it."

Replied Begin: "No, sir. We took no foreign country. We came back to our homeland and the bond between our people and this country is eternal. It was created in the dawn of humanity. It was never broken."

Today peace talks are bogged down in such diplomatic and legal terms as "linkage" and "timetable." But the snag boils down to one unanswered question: Who owns the West Bank of the Jordan River?

Sadat, speaking for Arabs, says the West Bank is conquered Arab land. Begin, steeped in biblical history, says the West Bank is part of "Eretz Israel," the land

God gave the Jews.

"The world still does not realize it, but Begin is not going to give up on the West Bank. It is part of his religion. That is his bottom line," says one Begin aide.

The West Bank, 2,270 square miles of low mountains, fertile valleys, deserts, the Judean wilderness of the New Testament, the Jewish kingdom of Judea and Samaria of the Old Testament, part of the 7th century Moslem conquest, battleground for Crusaders and empire-builders.

It was part of the Palestine mandate given to Britain in 1922 and fell to Jordan in the first Arab-Israeli war when the mandate ended in 1948. Israel captured the West Bank in 1967 and began building Jewish settlements to establish a claim to the disputed zone.

Today 700,000 Palestinians live in the West Bank under an Israeli military government. About 5,000 Israelis live in about 50 settlements.

Begin and Sadat agreed Israel should relinquish the Sinai Desert that Egypt lost in 1967. But they could not agree on the West Bank, and Sadat said he would not sign a separate peace with Israel. The problem was how to proceed toward peace without resolving the West Bank question.

Israel proposed a plan for Palestinian autonomy. Military rule would be replaced by elected Arab bodies. Jewish settlements would remain and Israeli troops would take defensive positions to ward off attack.

It was not until the September summit at Camp David with President Carter and Begin that Sadat accepted a modified autonomy plan. He agreed the Palestinians would rule themselves for five years, but then the question remained — who owns the West Bank?

Camp David produced a compromise. Sadat believed that with American help Israel could be persuaded to accept Arab sovereignty in the West Bank in five years. Begin said he plans to reassert Israel's claim.

Malaysia backs off on threat against ship

PORT KLANG, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia backed off Saturday from its threat to tow a rusty ship crammed with 2,500 Vietnamese refugees into international waters, allowing France, Canada and the United States to try to find havens for them.

Representatives of the three Western nations met Saturday with Malaysian authorities in the capital, Kuala Lumpur, to discuss what to do with the stranded people aboard the freighter Hai Hong, most of them ethnic Chinese who fled southern Vietnam.

France and Canada have offered to take some of the refugees, but it was unclear what commitment, if any, the United States has made. The American quota of 25,000 Indochinese refugees for 1978 has been filled.

The U.S. Justice Department has said Attorney General Griffin Bell will meet with congressional leaders to discuss expanding the quota by 2,500.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Michael Brown said in Kuala Lumpur that no American commitment had been made, although U.N. refugee officials in Geneva said Friday the United States had agreed to take some of the refugees.

Widespread sickness was reported Saturday on the 30-year-old, 1,500-ton coasting freighter, which has barked in the tropical heat since it anchored off this west Malaysian port 11 days ago. The Red Cross was buying medicine locally and had government permission to take it to the ship.

The refugees reportedly bought their way out of Vietnam with the complicity of officials there, paying a Hong Kong syndicate $5 million for the cruise. They left Vietnam Oct. 14.

Because it was a commercial venture, Malaysian authorities decided, the passengers are emigrants, not refugees. The Malaysian government, refusing to accept them, had said the ship would have to leave after repairs were made and supplies put on board.

But government officials said Saturday they would not force the ship out to leave, and they sent security officers aboard to fingerprint and register the refugees.

"The ship itself looks pretty bad. It is rusting in many places," said Associated Press photographer Jeffrey Lloyd Robbins, who evaded a police cordon in a speedboat Saturday to get a closer look.

Robbins said the teeming decks were covered with tarpaulin shelters.

Malaysia already has about 40,000 refugees from communist Indochinese countries awaiting resettlement, and the number increases by about 1,000 a day.

Preparations continue for parade

Approximately 30 entries for Tuesday's Thanksgiving-Christmas Parade have been registered with the Chamber of Commerce, and there's still room for more.

The Chamber has announced that it will continue to take entries for the parade until noon on Tuesday, even though the Nov. 14 deadline has passed.

The parade will form at the Coronado Center Parking Lot at 2:30 p.m., and will move out promptly at 3 p.m., going down

S. Hobart through downtown and disbanding at the corner of Cuyler and Craven.

Prizes of $100 for first place, $50 for second place and $25 for third place will be presented to the winners of the Individual or Family Group Division.

The Decorated Bicycle and Motorbike Section will receive prizes of $15 for first place, $10 for second place and $5 for third place. A Riding Club Division, consisting of any mounted riding club, will also be included with a plaque to be given to the winning organization.

A traditional favorite, Santa

Claus, will be featured in the parade with the rig of the Cabot Machinery Division. (Note to parents: Santa will leave the parade at the Cuyler St. underpass because it is too low for him to get under, so if your children want to see him they should be stationed north of the underpass.)

Here are the parade entries so far:

Non-Commercial Division — Pampa Satellite Center, Pampa High School Drama Class, Gray

County Association for Retarded Citizens, Pampa Jaycees, OEA Club (High School), Leisure Lodge and Meals on Wheels; Muscular Dystrophy, Salvation Army, Pampa Chapel of Apostolic Faith, Gray County Emergency Team, Girl Scout Troops 60 and 37, Cub Scout Packs 422, 418 and 498, Browne Troops 44 and 209, and Boy Scout Troop 5.

Commercial Division — Hi Steppers Twirling Corps

(Borger); Gymnastics of Pampa, Bicycle-Motorcycle Division — Phillip Matthew, Puffy Bear (Police Department); David Bolch, Burl Bynum, and Ronnie Niccum.

Family Entries — Covered Wagon Team by George Batum; Thanksgiving theme float by Debra Dawley and Linda Belknap; Peddle Car by the Raymond Watson children; and a float by Drew and Trent Watson.

also receive first, second and third place plaques. A prize of $50 will be presented to the winner of the Individual or Family Group Division.

The Decorated Bicycle and Motorbike Section will receive prizes of $15 for first place, $10 for second place and $5 for third place. A Riding Club Division, consisting of any mounted riding club, will also be included with a plaque to be given to the winning organization.

Decision not in haste

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's decision to improve civil defense programs, carries none of the overtones of urgency that characterized the nation's initial nuclear war preparations in the early 1960s.

Following reports of major Soviet civil defense preparations and the release of a National Security Council study, Defense Secretary Harold Brown recommended that this year's $97 million appropriation for civil defense be nearly doubled next year. He also called for an administration plan to spend approximately $1 billion over the next five years to home evacuation plans.

In this climate of fear, U.S. civil defense flourished as never before or since.

Many Americans built their own backyard fallout shelters, and several hundred million dollars were spent identifying public and private buildings as havens against fallout and stocking them.

Four years ago, the civil defense approach swung from refuge in fallout shelters to the development of plans to evacuate people from some 400 "high-risk" target areas in a period of tension preceding a possible nuclear war.

Civil defense officials estimate 70 million lives could be saved by evacuating people from these urban and industrial target areas to lightly inhabited communities in the countryside.

President Carter approved that proposal for submission to Congress, although some State Department and U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency officials reportedly feared, a stepped-up civil defense program could unsettle the Russians at a time when the goal is supposed to be soothing tensions between the two superpowers.

The present atmosphere cannot compare with the tensions of 1960 and 1961. The Russians had threatened to kick the Western allies out of Berlin; the United States mobilized 150,000 military reservists, and Americans began worrying about the possibility of nuclear war.

Explosion hurt children

BOKCHITO, Okla. (AP) — Authorities Saturday tentatively blamed an explosion at a foster home here that injured 11 persons, including 11 children, on methane gas from a backed up sewer line.

Bryan County Deputy Sheriff John Bord said Saturday the state fire marshal is blaming the Friday explosion at the home of Jerry and Martha Haislip on methane gas that accumulated underneath the floor of the house.

The explosion was originally thought to have been caused by leaking propane gas tank at the home.

One of the children, Sherri Haislip, 8, remained in a semi-coma in the intensive care unit at Texoma Medical Center in Denison, Texas.

A hospital spokesman said Saturday the girl, who suffered a head injury, was in stable condition. The spokesman said vital signs were "stable."

Three other children hospitalized at Bryan County Memorial Hospital in Durant were reported in good condition, hospital administrator Michael Pugh said Saturday.

Ashley Foster, 2 months old, Jamie Haislip, 6, and Brent Haislip were admitted Friday, all suffering from broken bones and lacerations.

All the others were treated and released Friday at the Durant hospital.

Martha Haislip said she was in the kitchen cooking at the time of the blast.

"I really don't know what happened," she said. "I was cooking supper and it just made a great big noise" and then the whole house just started coming apart," she said.

Boyd said the explosion blew out the floors and roof of the structure. He said there was nothing left of the kitchen and living room. The deputy said the house consisted of one central structure with several rooms built on to it.

"I don't know what we'll do because we don't have any money or anything. We're just thankful that we're all alive. I'm sure the Lord will help out," Mrs. Haislip said.

Most of the injured, who ranged in age from a two-month-old child to a 32-year-old, were treated for cuts and contusions released from a hospital in nearby Durant.

Bobby Newland, one of the injured, said he was watching television when the blast occurred about 4:15 p.m.

"There was an explosion and bodies were flying everywhere," Newland said.

Authorities said the Haislip family is licensed to operate a foster home for youths between 13 and 18 years of age.

Besides the damage to the structure, all of the furniture in the house was destroyed. Mrs. Haislip said.

SPS has been named outstanding electric utility firm in the United States. The electric company was chosen by a panel of judges who cited SPS's strong financial performance achieved "in the face of a difficult fuel situation." (Pampa News Photo by Rick Oncken)

SPS named outstanding electric utility firm

Southwestern Public Service Co. received "Electric Light & Power" magazine's Outstanding Electric Utility award for 1978 at a luncheon at Amarillo Friday.

SPS currently serves approximately 275,000 customers in a service territory of over 45,000 square miles, located in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, eastern New Mexico, and Southwestern Kansas.

The selection of SPS as EL&P's 10th annual recipient of the award was based upon the company's ability to cope with the "seemingly insurmountable obstacles which confront all electric companies nationally," according to EL&P Editor Robert A. Lincome.

SPS was chosen for the honor by a panel of judges on the basis of its financial performance in the face of a difficult fuel supply situation, its efforts to solve the fuel problem and its success in bringing order to the rapid growth in its service territory.

SPS, which was virtually 100 percent fueled by natural gas, made a decision in 1972 to convert to low-sulfur Wyoming coal. In August 1976, the company brought on line the first of three 350-MW coal-fired units.

The second unit went into service in mid-1978, and the third is due for completion in 1980. As a result, SPS has gone from a situation where the company had practically no coal generation in mid-1976 to approximately 25 percent coal generation this year. By 1985, the company expects to generate approximately 75 percent of its kWh from coal.

"Significantly, the utility designs and engineers its own plants and has been able to hold the cost of new units to a level well below the national average," Lincome said.

Good morning

News in brief

Pampa's forecast for today is partly cloudy and cooler, with the high in the mid-50s.

Open house set today

Pampans are invited to attend a special open house at the Genesis House for boys and the Genesis girls today.

The open house will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at 612 W. Browning and 321 Starkweather. Although the boys and girls that live in the houses will not be present the Genesis board of directors will conduct tours through the homes.

ANGIE RICHARDSON, head cheerleader at Pampa High School, was crowned Homecoming Queen at the beginning of Friday night's Harvester game.

Woman escapes injury

CANADIAN — Mrs. Lena Durant of 1312 South Main miraculously escaped serious injury early Thursday afternoon in a one car roll-over seven miles south of town at the Y.

Mrs. Durant was in route to Eampa to visit her granddaughter when the mishap took place.

DPS Officer Bill Nichols of Canadian said the accident occurred when Mrs. Durant apparently lost control on a sheet of ice on top of the overpass. The car went into a spin, struck the guardrail, and flipped over on its top. The car burst into flames and Mrs. Durant had to crawl through a window in order to escape.

Chamber elects new head

Nan Ezzell and Gary Minyen became the new president and vice president of the 1979 Canadian Chamber of Commerce at the annual election recently at the Canadian City Hall.

She became acting president in September after the resignation of Phil Harris, and is the first woman to be elected to the chamber presidency.

Minyen operates his own accounting firm in Canadian.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

An electrifying warning

Meeting the ever-increasing demand for more electrical energy calls for much long range planning on the part of the industry. There has been a slowdown in the various steps leading to the construction of new plants at nearly every state: from planning to completion.

The battles over construction of new plant facilities has inhibited the normal efforts toward expansion. Nuclear and coal-fired projects have been hampered by fanatics, overkill regulations and problems of obtaining sites.

Large as the problems of expansion now loom, they could be small compared to doing nothing at all to increase electrical power for the future.

A new study by Data Resources Inc., an economic forecasting firm, shows that if enough new power sources don't reach at least the blueprint stage within the next few years, the economy could be in for a sharp slowdown. This could result in the loss of many jobs as industry fails to keep pace with a growing population.

The study looks at the possibility of a heavy slowdown of nuclear plant construction. The costly harassment of plants now in the process of construction is making the future dim for nuclear power.

And the turn to coal-fired plants has been plagued with governmental regulators from the coals mines to the transportation of the coal and then to the plants themselves as busy bureaucrats ply their trade of making every move of the industry more and more costly.

If the growth of either or both of these sources is held back, the forecast sees a long slide into a bleak economic future. It says, for example, that the nation's gross national product would be growing at a rate of only 2.8 percent a year by 1985, below the rate of 4 percent that many economists say is needed for job openings to keep pace with needs.

Dr. Thomas A. Vanderslice of General Electric says that in order to meet energy needs by 1985 the United States will need about 300,000 additional megawatts of electric power. Half of that, he said, will come from equipment already on order for plants that are being built.

The rest, Vanderslice says, will require 78 new plant sites with most of these in the South and Midwest. These areas would be the hardest hit by an energy-short economic slowdown. Plans for the plants have to be finished within the next few years in order to get them built by 1990.

Otherwise, Vanderslice maintains, power reserves will slide to 13.1 percent by 1985, below the "save" level of around 20 percent and well under the 24.5 percent reserve level he says the nation would have if the coal and nuclear plants were built.

The industry is ready, willing and able to keep pace in the production of electric power. But it cannot properly serve the needs of the people if it continues to be hampered by demonstrations, overzealous government regulators and ill-considered court actions.

If the people fail to get the power they need in 1985, who will get the blame when blackouts occur? It will be the utility industry, for by then the demonstrators and bureaucrats will fade into the woodwork.

Before (or after) the flood

A recent incident could be called "a blueprint for bureaucratic expansion at the local level." Its culmination was a lesson in how common sense can prevail.

Residents of a small community asked city officials for a couple of footbridges to be built across a creek so that their children could have easier access from home to school and return.

The city parks director thought he had a better idea. Build them wide enough, he said, to handle vehicles in emergencies. Other officials expressed a desire for structures heavy enough to withstand flooding. Others warned that horses won't cross a wooden structure that give too much.

Soon steel structures were envisioned and these thoughts were moved to drawing boards. Steel could not be burned by vandals it was said. Then it was mentioned that federal matching funds might be available, if the project gained stature.

The need to please Army Corps of Engineers was brought up. It has classified the creek as a navigable stream, though the creek carries only about four inches of water during the school term.

A consulting firm was brought in to map the creek channel, conducted stress analysis surveys and drew up blueprints.

Engineers came up with a $100,000 plan for the two bridges, but finally lowered their sights to a $50,000 figure. At this point a carpenter, ex-teacher and self-appointed watchdog of city purse strings came on the scene. He strolled into the city council meeting and reminded the members that the whole idea was just to build a couple of simple wooden footbridges.

The sensible citizen said the bridges could be built for about $2,000 each. At this point it appears that the city will have the bridges for very near $4,000 in construction costs. But it has already spent about $8,500 for the more extravagant plans of its official family.

Even at that, the $8,500 wasted plus the $4,000 to build the footbridges will save the community taxpayers $37,500 from the projected "lower" cost promulgated by the local bureaucracy.

Just a bit of common sense injected at the right time and place by an aware taxpayer saved him and his fellow citizens a tremendous amount of wasted tax money.

There are thousands of examples of wasted tax money at every level of government. What is needed today is millions of concerned citizens who will make it their business to watch their tax spenders and bring common sense to the forefront of all governmental activity. Which, come to think of it, might be a contradiction in terms — common sense and government.

The carpenter we mentioned is George Pramenko of Wheat Ridge, Colo. May his tribe increase.

A Kim Philby in the CIA?

(National Review) Interested in the theft and sale to the Soviet Union of one of the CIA's three copies of the manual for the "Big Bird"? That's our instrument for verification of Russian performance under the terms of SALT.

Well, it happened — a 23-year-old clerk named William Kampiles did it after working only eight months last year at CIA.

How could the manual have been missing for ten months before being missed? Could a young clerk have pulled it off without higher-level help? Is there a Kim Philby in the CIA?

Does anybody care? How about Senators

Church, Stevenson and Bayh? In any case, thanks to William Safire for highlighting the theft and its implications in his column. Let's hope it comes to the attention of Senator Moynihan, who recently remarked:

"It is now the case that on balance we indict more intelligence officers than we do spies. As a liberal, I tell you that the day will come when it will be looked back and asked, 'For what purposes did the men of this political generation make it impossible to resist Soviet espionage in this country, and why did they do it?' and God, we will have a lot of explain."

IRS judges Paul Stout 'enemy of the people'

By ROBERT L'EFFEVRE

Paul Stout, aged sixty, is an enemy of the people.

This was proved in Lombard, Illinois, recently where Paul went to trial and was convicted. He was given a year in the federal penitentiary with a possible second year if he doesn't mend his ways. The ways that need mending relate to his outspoken opposition to the IRS and income taxes as they are presently gathered.

In short, Paul Stout says things the IRS doesn't like to hear. For that crime, accompanied by his failure to file a form 1040, he is now languishing in prison and trying to raise money for an appeal.

I am quite sure that Paul is guilty of exactly what the government accused him of doing and saying. He didn't file a form 1040. And he spoke up in newspaper columns and on radio indicating his dissatisfaction with the way the money in the country has been debauched and debased by government manipulators.

Of course, as we all know, this is a free country. You have freedom of speech and of the press. Everyone knows that you are absolutely free to say anything you wish in support of the American system of government, of the American system of taxation, in support of the IRS and in favor of all that it does. What could be freer than that?

Paul didn't understand about freedom. He thought he had freedom to disagree. Now where did he ever get that idea? Heresy is not tolerated by the American government and, most especially, it is not tolerated by the IRS.

I feel a kind of sympathy for Paul. I think he is very brave. Also, I think he is not entirely gifted with wisdom. He actually imagined that a court would listen to what he had to say and weigh the evidence in terms of principles.

It appears the court heard what he had to say. But, to a person with a slightly suspicious nature, it would appear unlikely that the court would ever reach a conclusion in favor of Paul's position. After all, the judges and the entire court system are all supported by the Internal Revenue Service and its ability to get the money. So Paul was actually asking the judge to forget the source of his paycheck and reach a decision based on what Paul believes to be true. Besides, who says that Paul's opinions about what the law says have any validity?

Paul was basing his defense upon his belief that the law has defined a "dollar" as "42 2-9 dollars per fine troy ounce of gold" (see 31 United States Code 449) that the dollar is the standard unit of value (31 United States Code 449) that the dollar is the standard unit of value (31 United States Code 314) and that all forms of money (including federal reserve notes) are supposed to be maintained at par with the dollar as so defined (31 USC 314).

But Paul's belief as to what the law says and means has no validity. The court and only the court may decide what should be believed about any law. Only the court can read and only the court can understand. We all know that.

Paul also seemed to believe that there are no dollars as defined presently in circulation. Nor is anything else being circulated that is convertible to dollars at par. Therefore, it was Paul's belief that he had not received any dollar income during the year or years requiring form 1040 filing. And if he had not received something, he didn't think he had to report on what he didn't get. Or so he says. But this is obviously in error. I don't mean to say that Paul's reasoning was in error. His reasoning appears to be sound enough. Where Paul failed to do his homework was in presuming that somehow the court would listen to his argument and then conceivably rule in his favor. Paul simply had not done his homework in this area.

Like so many other people in this country, Paul actually believed that he had a government that is of, for and by "the people." No bigger piece of political razzle-dazzle has ever been uttered. What we have is a government of by and for the government. And if Paul had taken the time to discover what he was up against, he would have been well advised to refrain from arguing. He was bound to lose. And while one can admire his courage, his honesty, his principles, one can only weep at his naivete.

I learned my lesson long ago. When I am confronted with a bully who is bigger and more ruthless than I can possibly be, I shut up. There's no point in arguing. I may have reason and truth on my side, but my enemy has the muscles. And in any barbaric age, force wins and reason yields. This is what Paul, for all his sixty years, hadn't learned.

Paul's problem, as to so many others have learned to their cost and with increasing bitterness, is that he imagines government is actually an instrument designed to serve him and other honest human beings. This has never been and never will be. Government personnel, including judges, are like any other people on earth. They want a profit. And they have a splendid device for getting it. They have the taxpayer, herded into various groups, docile and bleating, paying whatever is demanded by the government. Does anybody imagine for a minute that government personnel will do anything to disrupt that relationship? The government is on top. You and I are on the bottom. And everyone in government is going to do his best to keep it that way.

Guilty until proven innocent

A former president of Abbott Laboratories, George Cain, once startled a stockholders' meeting by describing all the problems the company was having in a country he identified as "X."

After he had recited the long list of arbitrary, dictatorial rules, regulations and restraints — the frightful unnecessary cost of trying to operate in a country where the ruling bureaucracy was frequently in conflict with itself — stockholders were indignant.

Why didn't the company give up, get out, stop even trying to do business in a country where it was not appreciated?

After his stockholders were thus unanimously aroused, President Cain revealed that "Country X" was the United States.

You could have heard a pin drop. Cyclamate, a chemical sweetener, was used for years as a substitute for sugar in soft drinks, candy and other foods. Diabetics became particularly dependent on cyclamate as a sweetener.

Then in 1970 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) banned the use of cyclamate, saying that laboratory test indicated it might cause cancer in animals.

In the years since we have learned a great deal about such lab tests. For one thing, that, if administered in massive doses, almost anything will kill a mouse.

In late 1973 Abbott submitted to the FDA the results of two new studies which indicated that cyclamate was entirely safe for human consumption. For three years the FDA reconsidered the evidence, then, in 1976, decided it would not allow cyclamate to be returned to the market.

Cyclamate is a minuscule fraction of the Abbott company's many products, but by now the company had decided to determine the "why" of this government policy if only to anticipate similar edicts banning other products.

So Abbott submitted results from 100 separate studies, affirming that cyclamate was safe; that diabetes sufferers need it as a sugar substitute.

But in early November of this year, the Food and Drug Administration came back with the doggonest ruling ever.

In essence, it is now true that there is no evidence that cyclamate causes cancer — or any other physical ill.

But — the product may not be put back on the market. The government ban stands — because the company "has not proved that it does not cause cancer."

No responsible researchers are any longer saying that it DOES cause cancer. But the FDA says: "Where is the proof that it does not?"

I'm told that FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy was surprised and embarrassed by this decree from one of his department's own administrative law judges and that he, Kennedy, will review the decision.

But if this federal ban is upheld — if any product must "prove itself harmless" — I don't know of any that can. Certainly aspirin cannot.

Teachers flunk

Dear Editor:

I read with interest your comments in Sunday's News about the recent acts of vandalism in Pampa, and I agree with you wholeheartedly that we should take immediate and vigorous steps to curb such activities. For a long time Pampa has been a clean town, one comparatively free from violence. It has been a pleasure for me to live here and to bring up a family here. I hope that we can keep our city a decent place in which to live.

Of particular concern to me, however, was the vandalism directed against Mr. Andy Andrews, vice-principal of Pampa High School. It was cowardly behavior on the part of the participants and could have caused serious harm to Mr. Andrews or to innocent members of his family. We don't need that sort of thing in Pampa, and it could be stopped if the Board of Education, which says again and again that it wants discipline in our schools, would take a firm stand NOW against those involved. But rumor has it that the Board, at first apparently eager to take decisive action in support of their publicly stated policy, is now dillydallying, especially since they have learned with more certainty the identity of the offenders. If we can judge, moreover, from past performances of the Board, they will find some legal technicality to hide behind and will do nothing to support the administration and the teachers at the high school. If they do, the forces of destruction in our community will have won another victory, and discipline at our schools will go begging for yet another year.

Editor's Note: The Board of Education has only limited control in matters that happen off of school property.

Energy and the constitution

As the energy bill winds its weary way through the halls of Congress it is becoming increasingly apparent that the hassle will not end with the president's signature. States without known reserves of natural gas, and some which focus on exploration, are demanding that all gas, including that used within the producing states, be placed in a "national market pool."

This would give federal agencies the control over both interstate and intrastate marketing of gas. Energy Secretary James Schlesinger is backing this stand. The United States Constitution gives no such power to the federal government. In fact it forbids it, for it specifically reserves to the states powers not granted to the federal government.

The arrogation of control over the production, distribution and pricing of gas not shipped beyond state borders will not stand the test of constitutional legality.

A proviso within the Constitution states, "The Congress shall have power... to regulate commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several states... The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

The administration and members of the Congress seem to have decided that the politics of the day must now take precedence over the Constitution. They do not anticipate that the petroleum industry will mount a challenge on constitutional grounds.

The politicians voice the belief that immediate greed for profit the bill offers will forestall a court challenge. We doubt that this belief is well founded.

From our soundings we gather that there may be many who will challenge federal agencies taking control of gas which is not shipped across state lines. It is not in interstate commerce and federal agencies have no business taking over control of this gas.

The gas is held within the states of production for residential and industrial uses.

Within those states it is the cleanest fuel for the production of electric power. And citizens will probably resent federal control over intrastate use.

There has been a lot of praise for the compromise energy bill, but we have never expected much from Congress or the energy bureaucracy. They have not addressed the basic causes of our energy problems and it is doubtful they ever will.

So far we have a new energy agency which was set up with a 10 billion dollar budget and it has not produced one pint of oil or one BTU of heat from gas (petroleum gas, that is).

It was the regulations set up by the federal government which created the problem leading to an energy crisis. More regulations will not effect a cure. In fact, real gains in solving our energy problems will be solved by private enterprise in spite of federal intervention, not because of it.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1978. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the World War I Treaty of Versailles, signaling an era of American isolationism.

On this date:

In 1493, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Puerto Rico.

In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty, adjusting issues left over from the Revolutionary War.

In 1831, the 20th American president, James Garfield, was born on a farm near Mentor, Ohio.

In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

In 1935, the Chinese ordered military conscription to meet Japanese attacks on the China mainland.

In 1969, the second manned landing on the moon was made by the U.S. Apollo 12 astronauts, Charles Conrad and Alan Bean.

Ten years ago: One of Africa's most prominent revolutionary leaders, President Keita of Mali, was overthrown by young army officers in a bloodless coup.

Five years ago: New York stock prices suffered their sharpest drop in 11 years as investors feared a recession due to cutbacks in Middle East oil supplies.

One year ago: President Anwar Sadat of Egypt arrived in Israel on his first peace mission to the country and received a warm welcome from principal political leaders.

Jury to get case

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — The trial of a West Texas doctor charged with attempted murder of his mother is expected to go to the jury Monday.

Dr. Milton Rains, 51, of Littlefield, Texas, could get 2 to 20 years and a fine of up to $10,000 if he is convicted.

He is accused of trying to smother her with a "mask" of tape and tissue over her face and nose, in what some say may have been an effort at a mercy killing.

Rains said he moistened some tissue paper so it would soothe his mother's chapped lips and used some tape to hold it in place. Nurses at Johnson County Memorial Hospital walked into the room and pulled the tape loose, apparently after it had been in place just a short time.

His mother, Bertha Brown, died last month of cancer in a Cleburne nursing home, three months after the July 29 incident that led to charges being filed against Rains by his brothers.

Two pathologists had testified Thursday for the defense, saying the tape and tissue on Mrs. Brown's face could not have suffocated her.

District Attorney John McLean called the chief medical examiner of Dallas County and the director of respiratory services at Johnson County Memorial Hospital to the stand Friday.

Their testimony was just the opposite. They said considering that Rains' mother suffered from cancer, low respiratory rate and a heart condition and was heavily sedated.

They said it would have caused death within 10 minutes.

Defense motions for a retrial were denied twice Friday. The defense said television crewmen who filmed the jury outside the courthouse early in the week created undue pressure on the panel.

Police officers offer program on rape attacks

The Pampa Police Department has prepared an 18-minute slide presentation on rape prevention entitled "You—The Potential Rape Victim."

The presentation, produced locally by the department, offers advice on rape deterrence and treatment. It includes taped messages from Police Chief Richard Mills, Dr. W.P. Beck and District Attorney Harold Comer.

Showings of the presentation in the community are available free upon request to the police department.

WHAT ARE STUDENTS at Pampa High School up in smoke about now? The massive flames are only a scene from the bonfire that was held recently as part of homecoming festivities. Ann Jeffrey was this year's Miss Flame and had the honors of lighting the bonfire.

Buster Brown dies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — John Clifton, purportedly the last survivor of a series of midgets who played the role of Buster Brown in promoting shoes, is dead at the age of 89.

Clifton died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He toured North America for 12 years with a trained bulldog, chanting: "I'm Buster Brown. I live in a shoe. This is my dog Tige. He lives there, too."

Clifton, as Buster Brown, would don a Lord Fauntleroy jacket, blond wig, red beret and knickers and, with Tige, would entertain as many as 1,000 children at a time in whistle-stop performances on store roofs and in theaters promoting Buster Brown shoes.

Clifton's wife, Selecta, was interviewed by the Austin American-Statesman.

She said Clifton was the second midget to play Buster Brown. They were married in 1925. Then Clifton quit his job and the couple moved here. They opened a Buster Brown sandwich shop and then a dry cleaning firm before going to work for state agencies.

He was 52 inches tall and weighed 80 pounds. His wife was 40 inches tall and weighed 65 pounds. They met in Clovis, N.M.

The Cliftons were publicized years later when they had a midget daughter, purportedly a medical first. "We're pituitary midgets and our smallness isn't hereditary," Mrs. Clifton said.

Medical experts were said to be even more amazed when Myrna, the Clifton's daughter, and her husband, Clarence Swenson, who played a little person in "The Wizard of Oz," had two midget children, as well as a normal-sized girl.

"Third generation midgets are unheard of," Mrs. Clifton said.

The 14-member clan, including four normal-sized great-grandchildren, celebrated Clifton's birthday Dec. 25. Her husband dressed in his original Buster Brown costume.

"He saved it all those years," she said.

VOE STUDENT OF THE WEEK is Virginia Soto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Soto of Pampa. Soto works for Cabot Corp. in the micro-film department and plans to continue working after she graduates from Pampa High this year.

Committee investigates judge

DALLAS (AP) — A city council committee and police officers are investigating a Dallas municipal judge who allegedly fixed more than 20 traffic tickets for members of a prominent family, the Dallas Morning News said in a copyright story Saturday.

The newspaper story said Judge William H. Bennisson admitted suspending several tickets, but denied any wrongdoing.

Mayor Pro Tem Bill Blackburn said, "I am having a meeting of my municipal courts committee Monday morning. Judge Bennisson has requested the opportunity to meet with us."

Blackburn said the situation involved matters "of a serious nature," but declined further comment until after the Monday meeting.

"I have never 'fixed' a ticket for anyone," Bennisson said. "I have suspended a lot of tickets for a lot of people. I probably have suspended more tickets than any other judge here."

"I've never taken any money or gifts...I have never been accused of doing anything wrong in my life. If I have used bad judgment, I can't fault that. But bad judgment is not a crime."

Bennisson said he has a reputation of "having a fairly good heart. Maybe that's the problem."

The newspaper said the investigation was initiated two months ago by Administrative Judge Michael L. O'Neal, who became interested in the suspension of a fine in one traffic case handled by Bennisson.

The case involved a member of a widely-known Dallas family.

Behind the Scenes

with
Pampa News Managing Editor
Greg Hardin

WE WANT EVERYONE to turn out Tuesday for the Chamber of Commerce Thanksgiving-Christmas parade. There has been a lot of work put into preparations for the parade by the Chamber and those entering floats in the annual event. We hope that everyone will show their support for Floyd and the other fine people associated with this year's introduction to the Christmas season.

WE HOPE THAT EVERYONE attends the open house today at the Genesis House. We are certain that if the people of Pampa could see just how much these children need their donations then everyone would be more than happy to donate to the project. We understand that a tour will be given through the house but no children will be at the home during the time of the open house.

IT IS OUR UNDERSTANDING that a local Pampa church has plans to purchase property for a new building. When we find out all of the details we will pass them along. We want to offer our services to any of the churches in and around Pampa that have worthwhile projects going on.

LAST WEEK we talked a great deal about vandalism and since last week's column learned more about vandalism in Pampa. We have been interviewing several young people from Pampa and have discovered their feelings run a little different than most. Several young adults told us that they liked the idea of their cars being painted with shoe polish because of peer pressure. "It is cool to have someone shoe polish your window. It means you are in the group." Vandalism, no matter how innocent can be costly, and in some cases even fatal. We think that the young people of Pampa could find a more rewarding pastime than painting their friends car windows.

TODAY IS THE BEST DAY to start regular attendance at the church of your choice.

Mickey Mouse celebrates birthday

BY RUTH LANDA
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — His whiskers betraying not a trace of gray, Mickey Mouse, a timeless hero, returned Saturday to the scene of his debut 50 years ago.

In celebration of Mickey's birthday, about 2,000 men, women and children jammed mid-Manhattan's Broadway Theater, where exactly a half century ago America's favorite rodent appeared in "Steamboat Willie," the first sound cartoon.

Mickey, spiffy in tuxedo and tails, made a guest appearance accompanied by cast members of "The Wiz," which is currently playing at the theater. Stephanie Mills, who plays Dorothy, led the party guests in singing Happy Birthday.

In the lobby, Mickey was greeted by smiling children perched on their parents' shoulders — some screaming "Mickey, Mickey" and some sporting mouse ears that bobbed over the crowd.

Willie, "Plane Crazy," "Mickey's Service Station," "The Band Concert" and "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" were among the features of the Mickey Mouse 50th Birthday Extravaganza.

Mickey arrived in New York aboard the "Mickey Mouse Special." On Friday, he was in Washington as the guest of honor of President and Mrs. Carter and their 11-year-old daughter, Amy.

In agriculture

By JOE VANZANDT
County Extension Agent
 A National Farm Summit to examine the important issues confronting the nation's agricultural economy will be held at Texas A & M University, December 4th-6th.

The conference, which will center around the work of five task force groups, will be sponsored by Texas A & M University and the Agricultural Council of America.

Major issues to be addressed at the national meeting, termed a "Symposium on Economic Problems of Agriculture," include prices, income, international trade, production costs, nutrition and food quality safety, and agriculture's role in government decisions.

The various task forces began work this summer to develop reports for consideration at the national meeting. The Agricultural Council of America, a non-profit organization formed in 1973 to promote better understanding between farmers and consumers, has called upon top level leaders to develop the format and approach to the summit.

Among featured speakers will be John Connally, former Texas governor and Cabinet member, and U.S. Senator Robert Dole of Kansas.

Persons interested in participating in the conference are urged to preregister as early as possible, as only individual registered and badged may attend sessions. The registration form also includes information for requesting housing.

Texas A & M University has the nation's largest College of Agriculture, and its faculty includes nationally and internationally respected scholars in agricultural economics and related disciplines.

For more information about the conference, interested producers and other leaders are asked to contact Dr. Bruce Gardner or Dr. James Richardson, professors in agricultural policy, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A & M University, College Station, Texas 77843. They can be reached by telephone at (718) 845-5221.

STRONG HOG PRICES
 Market hog prices should continue strong according to Dr. Ernest Davis, Livestock Marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, through the third quarter of 1979, although production is expected to increase. Pork production this year will equal that of 1977, and production in 1979 should be up 5 percent. Barrow and gilt prices should average between $49-52 per hundred weight during the first quarter of 1979 and around $48-51 for the second quarter.

FARM PRODUCTIVITY AND FARM-CITY WEEK
 The contribution of agriculture and its role in the total economy of Texas and the nation should be recognized during Farm-City Week, November 17th - 23rd. Agricultural efficiency and productivity continues to increase. Output per manhour of farm work has increased 30 percent from 1970 to 1976 compared to 10 percent for non-farm business. Cash receipts from Texas agriculture should total about $8 billion in 1978. This should add some $30 billion in overall economic activity.

IRRIGATION DEMONSTRATION
 During the Farm Tour which was held about a month ago in the McLean vicinity, Leon New, Area Extension Agricultural Engineer - Irrigation, made some measurements on Clyde Brown's irrigation well.

As a result of the measurements, Leon believes that by repairing the pump, Clyde will be able to increase efficiency enough so that he can pump about 250 gallons per minute against 30 pounds of discharged pressure for approximately 55 cents per hour.

That is about what Clyde is currently paying to pump about 110 gallons per minute. In that situation, a pump repair job will enable Clyde to more than double his irrigation well output. We plan to make more measurements next spring after the repair work has been done to verify how much improvement was accomplished by the repair work.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Former astronaut Neil Armstrong will have to keep his wedding band off his ring finger, but his wife isn't likely to complain.

The first man to walk on the moon left the hospital Thursday with his left ring finger reimplanted after it was torn off in a freak accident last Friday.

His surgeon said micro-surgery was an apparent success, but it could be eight months before it's known whether Armstrong will regain complete sensation in the finger.

LONDON (AP) — Sylvana Suarez is on top of the world. The 19-year-old Argentinian beauty was crowned Miss World 1978 Thursday night at London's Royal Albert Hall.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — The pay is modest and job security is low, but Indian leader Russell Means begins work Monday aiding Indian constituents of Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D.

The job is part of a prison work release program for a leader of the 1973 takeover of Wounded Knee. He is serving a four-year sentence at South Dakota State penitentiary on charges of rioting.

"If Means were not politically controversial, he would have routinely found an employer as other prisoners do," Abourezk said Thursday. "He is being denied the opportunity because he is politically active and that seems unfair to me."

Means will be paid $3.54 an hour for an eight-hour day but the wages will be sent directly to prison officials.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Merle Oberon, star of "Wuthering Heights," "Desiree," and "The Divorce of Lady X," was reported "very well" following heart surgery at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, says a spokeswoman for the actress.

"She's progressing very well," Virginia Bohannon quoting Miss Oberon's doctor on Thursday. "She's alert and bright."

Texans income below normal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — In comparison with the rest of the nation Texas is below average in per capita income but it is catching up, reports the Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"While in 1971 the per capita income in the state was less than 90 percent of the national average, it has climbed steadily since then," said a report by Charles P. Zlatkovich and Rita J. Wright. "In 1973 the per capita average income in Texas was 92 percent; in 1975, 95 percent, and in 1976, 97 percent."

In 1976 the average per capita income in Texas was $6,201 and that for the nation $6,396.

The report said that Midland was the most prosperous metropolitan area in Texas with a 1976 income level of $7,701. The Midland area ranks ninth among all metropolitan areas in the country. Houston is ranked 12 nationally with $7,617, and second in the state. The Dallas-Fort Worth area is third in the state and 36th in the nation with $7,096. The next five metropolitan areas in Texas, in order of per capita income, are Galveston-Texas City, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange and Odessa.

The Brownsville-Harlingen-

San Benito, Laredo and McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg areas rank last among Texas metropolitan areas and also have the lowest levels of all metropolitan areas in the nation, according to the bureau. The per capita figures for the three were $3,825, $3,575, and $3,338, in that order.

When per capita income is figured by county, the most prosperous part of Texas includes some of the state's largest counties with the least population, the report said. Loving County with less than 200 residents, came out with an average income of $15,710 for 1976. Kennedy County, home of the King Ranch, ranked second with per capita income of $10,624.

Two Panhandle counties, Roberts and Carson, ranked third and fourth in income level with $9,629 and $8,640.

Harvest operations slow down

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Harvest operations have slowed down considerably across the state due to recent rains the past week. But the rains also brought needed moisture, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The sorghum harvest is about complete in the High and Rolling Plains and Far West Texas, and cotton harvesting is just getting into full swing, said Pfannstiel. Some harvesting has also begun in the Rolling Plains and West Central Texas, he said, but most farmers there are awaiting a killing frost before gathering their crop.

Harvesting is about complete over the remainder of the state except for a few peanuts, soybeans and pecans. Peanut harvesting continues in parts of the Rolling Plains and Central and East Texas while soybeans are still being harvested in Northeast and Southeast Texas and the Coastal Bend. Yields and quality of both crops are varying widely, but generally production is down, Pfannstiel said.

Pecan harvesting continues to increase over Texas. While most nuts are of good quality, the crop will be short this year due to the season-long drought.

Harvesting of sugar beets continues active in the High Plains while the sugar cane harvest is increasing in the Rio Grande Valley along with the harvesting of citrus and fall vegetables.

Small grains, ranges and pastures continue to suffer from lack of moisture over a big portion of the state, resulting in poor grazing conditions for livestock, noted Pfannstiel. This has brought on an increase in supplemental feeding and has kept cattle moving to market at a steady pace.

Ranchers over the state are ready for the invasion of deer hunters with the season at hand.

Reports from district Extension agents showed the following conditions:

PANHANDLE: Sorghum is almost in, but cotton farmers are awaiting frost before harvesting. Wheat looks good but needs moisture. Cattle continue to move into the area to graze wheat and crop stubble.

SOUTH PLAINS: The grain harvest is complete, but most of the cotton crop is still in the field and harvesting has been halted by rain. Sugar beets are about half in. Wheat is doing well and ranges are in good condition.

ROLLING PLAINS: Most of the cotton crop is still out as farmers are awaiting a killing frost. Peanut harvesting is 50 to 90 percent complete. Pecans are being harvested in a number of counties. Most small grains need rain.

NORTH CENTRAL: The short soybean crop is about 75 percent harvested. A few peanuts are still being cut, yields are also short. A poor pecan crop is being harvested. Some small grain planting continues, and some fields are being replanted due to poor stands caused by dry weather. Cattle are being fed due to poor grazing.

NORTHEAST: Rains will help small grains and fall grazing, but more is needed. Some wheat and oats are dying due to dryness. Harvests are complete except for a few soybeans and pecans with poor yields. Some cattle feeding is under way.

FAR WEST: Open weather is needed for the cotton harvest. Good moisture has allowed small grains to make excellent growth and boosted range forages. Livestock are in good to excellent shape, with calves showing good weights. A build-up in the coyote population is causing increased predator control efforts. Ranchers are generally ready for the deer season.

WEST CENTRAL: Soil moisture remains short despite rains. Cotton farmers are still awaiting frost before starting harvests. Sorghum is still being cut, with below-average yields. Pecan yields are fair to good.

CENTRAL: Good rains should help small grain crops and boost fall grazing but more moisture is still needed in most counties. The peanut harvest is nearly in, with yields and grades generally good. The short pecan harvest is about 40 percent complete. Cattle feeding is active due to poor grazing.

EAST: Scattered rains should boost small grains and winter pastures. Harvest is about in except for a few fields of peanuts and a light pecan crop. Grazing is short, with many cattle still moving to market. Prices continue good.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Rains should boost small grains and fall grazing. But the soybean harvest has been slowed. Pecans are being harvested in several counties. Most cattle are in good condition.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Good rains fell in some counties and should help small grains. Some harvesting of peanuts and pecans continues; yields of both crops are generally short. Livestock are generally in good condition, with market prices continuing good.

SOUTHWEST: Pecan harvesting is at the halfway point in most counties. Quality of the crop is generally good to excellent but yields range from short to good. Livestock are generally in good shape, with grazing good. Most ranchers are ready for the deer season.

COASTAL BEND: Rains have delayed the second rice cutting and the soybean harvest. A short pecan harvest is about 60 percent complete. A good supply of cucumbers is moving to market. Livestock are in good shape; marketing remains steady.

SOUTH: Sugar cane harvesting is in progress along with increased harvesting of citrus.

In 1899, only three horses competed in the Kentucky Derby.

Weekly oil report

By MAX B. SKELTON

AP Oil Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — D. Truitt Davis and I. Frank Pitts are a couple of Texas independent oil operators who say the petroleum industry has no need for presenting a united front on all its many controversial issues and problems.

They say competition among its various segments is the key to the industry's strength and survival.

Pitts has just succeeded Davis as chairman of a group formed a year ago to advise the American Petroleum Institute, oil's largest trade group.

The Independents Advisory Forum resulted from some criticism API had become too preoccupied with major company problems. Formation of the advisory group was designed to strengthen input by independents.

"It's not our purpose to reach accord on all issues, but rather to improve understanding and broaden our concern so as to avoid actions which unnecessarily infringe on others," said Davis, an Abilene independent.

Pitts, a Dallas operator, said he agrees.

"If leaders in all segments become more attuned to the legitimate needs of others, we will have made a giant step toward minimizing government interference in our affairs," Pitts said.

Davis said all oilmen have a fundamental unity of purpose in the sense they want the industry to function efficiently and profitably in providing national energy needs.

"But I've never fully subscribed to all the pleas for industry unity issued periodically by one industry voice or another," he said.

"Our diversity is after all fundamental to our survival as a free enterprise operation. If oilmen ever really got together on purpose and plan, or fully agreed on politicians and parties, I suspect we'd be quickly ground to bits by the political forces which have other motivations."

Pitts said the different segments of the industry are fiercely competitive even though they do not have many fundamental differences.

"Each segment has its unique role to play and our competitiveness sometimes leads to screaming at each other," he said. "But it's because we are competitive in a constructive sense that we succeed in getting energy products to American consumers at prices far cheaper than they would otherwise be available, and in quantities far exceeding those on which we could count under any other structure."

"The real impression we need to leave with the general public is we are truly competitive, able and willing to provide consumers with energy resources at costs far less than would be provided under any alternative economic system," Davis said.

He said the purpose of the advisory group was never to stifle dissent within the industry based on genuine difference of objectives.

"This is a part of the competitive fabric of our industry and motivates each segment to compete in providing ample products at reasonable prices," he said.

"Competition is the best and ultimately the only protection the consumer has. It must be fostered and not thwarted. And we must lose no opportunity to demonstrate to consumers the virtues of the free enterprise capitalism."

Special day given to several

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Dorothy Petty has been Mom each Thanksgiving — to hundreds of teen-aged Air Force basic trainees spending a disheartening first Thanksgiving away from home.

Mrs. Petty, a 53-year-old widow, has cooked Thanksgiving dinner in her home each year since 1971 for more than 100 basic trainees, who are among the 80,000 per year trained here at Lackland Air Force Base.

This Thanksgiving will be no different, as Mrs. Petty has already begun preparing the 300 pounds of turkey and chicken, 50 pounds of rice, eight tubs of dressing and "I don't know how many pies, cakes and salads."

"I found that there are many of these boys and girls who are lonely, away from home for the first time," said Mrs. Petty, who has worked with military personnel for 34 years as an Assembly of God missionary. "Many of them are very lonely and homesick."

"I just can't stand the thought of them sitting in the dorms or barracks on Thanksgiving. Last year a young man told me he was in a hurry to get back to his barrack. I guess he thought the day was going to be boring," she added. "But by the time he left, he hugged me and said it was one of the happiest days of his life."

Lackland officials, perhaps remembering what it is like to be a frightened young recruit in a "strange city" for the holidays, are asking San Antonio families to invite 5,000 basic trainees into private homes for Thanksgiving dinner.

Last year, 2,500 trainees were invited by San Antonians to share the traditional turkey and dressing.

Mrs. Petty plans to entertain 150 on Thursday, including about 100 trainees from foreign countries. She had 135 last year and has entertained about 100 each Thanksgiving for the past seven years.

The groceries for the feast are purchased with church and individual donations. Local businesses also aid Mrs. Petty, who says she already has 70 pounds of food in her freezer.

"I want to give them a home atmosphere and keep them out of a bad environment. Thanksgiving and Christmas are really when they're the loneliest," Mrs. Petty said of the trainees.

"One year, I was living in a trailer house and I had 75 in that trailer. We put chairs outside and prayed it wouldn't rain. It didn't," she said.

Mrs. Petty had a house near Lackland for several years, but is now living in a small apartment. If she doesn't acquire a house by Thanksgiving, she will use a local church for this year's dinner.

"I prefer a home. We need that homey atmosphere," she said. "Every home should have one of these young people for Thanksgiving dinner, especially people who don't have children. They just don't know the joy it brings until they've tried it."

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Johnny Barefield, rookie linebacker for the St. Louis Cardinals, majored in fashion design at Texas A & I.

The flamboyant Barefield, who likes to call himself "Dr. Doom," has a pair of white ostrich boots and he wears a quarter in one ear because he considers himself one of the Wonders of the World.

However, during a 1978 NFL game in his rookie season, Barefield removed the quarter. There was an electric storm in the area and he didn't wish to attract any lightning bolts.

Students receive honors

Two Gray County 4-H members were honored at the District 1 4-H Gold Star Award Banquet Saturday at 6 p.m. at the INN, 601 Amarillo Blvd. West, in Amarillo.

Gold Star winners from Gray County were Berklee Brainard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Brainard and Robbie Cochran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mar Cochran.

The pair will be among 37 youths to receive the Gold Star honor.

To qualify for the Gold Star Award, a 4-H'er must be at least 13 years old, have completed at least 3 years of club work and be currently active in 4-H.

The award is to stimulate winners toward higher achievements and to encourage other young people to participate in the county 4-H program.

Travis first grade girls to enter Girl Scout family

In a candlelight ceremony, Monday, Nov. 20 at 2:40, at Travis School, Troop 44 will have investiture. Seventeen first grade girls will be invested into the Girl Scout family.

Investiture ceremony is held to welcome them into Girl Scouts for the first time. As part of the ceremony the girls will make the Girl Scout Promise and wear their uniforms for the first time.

In the candlelight ceremony three large candles stand for the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise. Ten smaller candles stand for the ten parts of the Girl Scout Law. Each girl says a part of the Girl Scout Law or Promise as she lights her candle.

The girls will receive their Brownie Girl Scout pins from their leaders, Mrs. Carla Barker and Mrs. Linda Collins, at the ceremony. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Step by step; she beat system

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are laws against telling adoptees who they are and where they come from. And there was Becky Bright, who thrived to know. So Becky took on the system and step by step defeated it until she was in full possession of her self. The final, moving triumph came 8,000 miles away from where she started her quest.

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — From the air, she remembers, the nubby canopy of the jungle looked like a field of broccoli back home. It seemed to stretch forever.

She had hoped to freshen up with a quick shower at the next to last stop, Brazzaville. But she overestimated the amenities of the African bush. She settled for an orange drink, with ants in it, instead.

It had been an exhausting flight: over 8,000 miles. She had had to look in an atlas to find where she was going. At least she had a return ticket, issued to her, Rebecca Bright, Becky.

That had not always been her name.

Becky Bright was not Stanley or Livingston, but her flight to the Dark Continent was no less a voyage of discovery, an arduous, painful voyage into herself. She and her husband, Rod, an industrial factory worker, were not unhappy with their lives. They have been married nine years and are upwardly mobile in the California sun. They live in a comfortable ranch house with their two children, Trevor, 4, and Shannon, 3, on a quiet street of neat lawns, skateboarding kids, and two-car garages, filled.

There is a large, oval mirror in the Brights' front hall. Becky would often pause before it while going about her household chores. Why long, black hair, not blonde? Why dark eyes and not hazel?

The mirror would give no answer. And there are laws against telling adopted people who they are, where they come from.

When Becky speaks of her parents, she means John and Vivian MacRae. He is a tall, affable golfing ex-paratrooper who is head of the psychology department at San Jose State. She is a Phi Beta from the University of Kansas. They live in Los Gatos not far from the Brights. They adopted Becky in Topeka when she was six months old.

Topeka is not the real place of her adoption. In the rest of this account, names and places, except for the New York and the African setting, have been changed to protect the persons' privacy.

The MacRaes were given only the barest details about their new daughter. She was illegitimate, born Nov. 2, 1951 in a hospital in Topeka. The mother had named her child Karen Marie. The agency gave no further names and parted with a bit of advice: the child should be told she was adopted as soon as she could comprehend it.

MacRae, who was writing his doctoral thesis on intelligence tests given adoptees, had no doubt this was the proper thing to do. "Sooner or later a child is going to get curious where it came from and will be resentful if it finds out later it's been lied to."

The MacRaes renamed their baby Rebecca, a family name. When she was 3, they moved to San Jose. Becky was raised in an atmosphere of love and wisdom, fishing trips with her father, camping in the Sierras.

But as she grew older, Becky would fantasize about her birth parents. "Every adoptee wants a wealthy doctor father, a beautiful mother. Then I'd get furious. My mother had had a son. Then me. What kind of woman would just go around having babies and leaving them? Then Mom would say: 'No, she put you up for adoption because she loved you. She wanted a better home for you.' Vivian's humanity would prevail.

Yet there was still the face in the mirror. It was Becky's but also Karen Marie's. "Don't hide me," she was to write in a letter.

In most jurisdictions of the United States, however, that is the result if not the intent of laws governing the nation's 5 million adoptees. Concealment is best for all concerned. Someone knew the answer to Becky's questions and was keeping it a secret.

In 1969 Becky married Rod, a schoolmate. When pregnant with Trevor, she was thinking of her birth mother. "Other mothers-to-be fill out long forms with their family medical history. Mine just had a line through it. I'd had some problems with pregnancy. Were they hereditary? I didn't like not knowing."

She wrote two letters. One to Topeka asking for a birth certificate for a Karen Marie born Nov. 2, 1951, no last name, no hospital. The other a note left on the MacRae's pillow.

"I love you," it read. "I just want to find out who I am."

On January 18, 1977 Becky got a letter from a Minnie Weiss of the Kansas Bureau of Vital Statistics. "The record of your birth was closed at the time of your adoption. We are sorry."

"I don't take kindly to 'no,'" Becky was to say. "I was asking about myself, and they say 'no.' So the war was on."

There were more than 150 million Americans in 1951. On the face of it, the odds of finding her mother were insuperable. She had but three clues: a first name, a date and a place.

Unarguably her mother had been in Topeka on Nov. 2, 1951.

Topeka was a logical place to start. She placed a classified ad in the Topeka paper. No answer. She wrote letters to officials in Kansas.

"I soon learned people just don't answer letters," she took to the phone. Phone bills rose to over $100 a month. Rod forbore.

Sometimes she would impersonate the secretary of a law firm, picked at random from the Yellow Pages, inquiring on behalf of a client. She tricked Minnie Weiss, the clerk who had given her her first "no," into giving her the name of the hospital she had been born in by posing as a student doing research on Middle West birth rates.

"Devious? I was loving it. I was beating the system."

It was not beyond possibility, of course, that someone out there would put humanity above legality.

It came in July 1977 after seven frustrating months of calls and correspondence. Rita Schmidt of the foster care unit that had custody of Karen Marie for a time wrote as had so many others:

Becky's mother had been born in Wichita in 1926, was orphaned at age 8 by an auto accident and graduated from a hospital as a nurse in 1947. "Described as a beautiful young woman, your mother was 5 feet 3, had brown hair ... She married the son of a prominent family in 1947 and moved to 34a New York (college) ... The New York experience was not happy for your mother ... As a result she fell in love with your biological father, a graduate student from Bolivia. She obtained a divorce in 1951, never telling (her husband) of her pregnancy."

"I think Mrs. Schmidt was going way beyond the rules," Becky wrote and thanked her.

She tried to track her father, but was overwhelmed by the number of New York schools and Bolivian students. Then she tracked her mother through a nursing school in Topeka through the alumnae office.

"I phoned a woman there who sounded real nice and told her I was looking for an aunt who had graduated in 1947 and all the rest I knew."

The nice lady said she'd ask around and call back. She did. Months passed, as Becky followed other leads. She called the alumnae office again.

"Oh, I'm so glad you called," said the nice lady. "I had lost your address. The name you're looking for is Linda Graham."

Becky now had a name. She was no longer an adoptee seeking the forbidden. She was a family member asking for public documents.

A letter and check brought her a copy of Linda Graham's certificate of marriage in 1947 to a Nelson Coatesworthy Murray Jr.

Washington briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A teen-aged girl who ran 2,000 miles from Minneapolis to Washington "is living proof that people with epilepsy are normal and can be extraordinary in their accomplishments," says the director of the Epilepsy Foundation of America.

Jack McAllister made the comment Thursday after 17-year-old Patty Wilson finished a run that began more than four months ago. "I wanted people to know that epileptics are normal people with normal lives," the young woman said in explaining her long-distance run.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Individual states and the utility industry should make better plans to cope with energy emergencies themselves and depend less on the federal government, according to a government report.

The General Accounting Office said Thursday that "federal involvement should be kept to a minimum" in dealing with energy shortages. "We believe the best energy emergency management can be effectuated at the state and industry level," the GAO report said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration officials say they hope to get several concessions in return for their decision to consider making direct contributions to a common fund to help protect Third World countries from severe fluctuations in market prices.

Administration officials said Thursday they would consider the request from the Third World "Group of 77" conference in Geneva. But they want assurances the fund will not be used for development projects that would overlap with the work of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund. And they want some control by the industrialized countries over the way the fund's money is spent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coast Guard Commandant Adm. John B. Hayes is being ordered to review the Coast Guard's shipboard training program in the wake of a ship collision that killed 11 men.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams ordered Hayes to assess, among other things, the number and type of training ships, the source of training instructors and procedures concerned with at-sea instruction. The order stems from an incident in which the Coast Guard cutter Cuyahoga collided with a freighter and sank in Chesapeake Bay Oct. 20, killing 11 of the 29 men aboard.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of National Public Radio says public broadcasting recognizes its "weaknesses" in supporting minorities.

"We know we can do more," said Frank Mankiewicz in response to a new study which says a vicious cycle exists to exclude minorities from public broadcasting.

Diners more than eateries

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Book Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Several times a month John Baeder hops into his car and goes hunting for diners. To Baeder, they're more than eateries, they're subjects for paintings.

"I'm obsessed with diners," Baeder says. "Diners are my life. Diners are sort of isolated and unique and I guess I am too. And they are totally American. I see them as temples."

"A diner is sort of like a mother, sort of warm and tender. For the past six years, Baeder has painted more than 100 scenes of diners — many displayed in his new book, called, logically enough, "Diners." When he isn't painting them he's out looking for them and taking pictures of them. He paints from the pictures he takes.

"They're part of our social culture, our background," he says. "I have to preserve them, they are rapidly being torn down. The fast food places, the superhighways, urban renewal are putting them out of business. Obviously I can't afford to buy them all and start a diner museum. The only way I can preserve them is to paint them."

"I think of myself as not just an artist but as an archaeologist and preservationist. Being an artist actually is rather secondary in a way."

"People tell me about some," Baeder says. "but I'd rather find them myself. My greatest addiction is going to a small town I know nothing about in hope of finding a diner."

Baeder works in an apartment in New York City, crowded with pictures of diners and diner memorabilia, like an old framed menu which offers, among other things, "Lam Stew 25 cents."

EARLY START
KIMBERLY, South Africa (AP) — Kimberly has started to campaign to save the "City of Diamonds" from the prospect of extinction when its famous diamond mines close in an estimated 20 years.

Mayor Ron Bauser lists textiles, furniture and motor industries as ideal new industries for the city.

Walking restlessly as he talks, Baeder explains he left his job as an advertising agency art director in 1972 "because I wanted to paint. It was one of those things everybody talked about and nobody did anything about."

He began painting from postcards he had collected that "involved the roadside — its motels, diners, gas stations. Then I started doing just diners. What I do is called photo-realism, but I don't like labels. I call it representational painting because so much my love goes into a painting that comes out alive, always moving."

Baeder says he has cut down his painting time to 10 to 12 hours a day from 16 to 18. Although he feels compelled to paint diners, Baeder allows "that I don't go out of my way to eat in them. Some have excellent food, some are just so-so."

But petty discrimination, the kind most resistant to government decree, still apparently persists. "There are many small things," says Mayeri. "They don't treat us with respect once they know we are Jews. If you go into an ice cream store you won't have any trouble being served. But if you watch carefully, you will notice your dirty dishes are washed separately from the others, and three times. They consider us unclean."

Mayeri lives with his wife and three children in a 100-year-old building amid a cluster of humble structures near Esfahan's old bazaar. The house has no bathing facilities and the family must use the public bath at Julfa, a quarter on the opposite side of town where many of Esfahan's Armenian Christians live.

Most members of the Jewish community are cloth merchants, like Mayeri. They worry about recent anti-government demonstrations in Iran. The Mayeri family plans to emigrate to the United States soon to join his oldest daughter and her husband and his brothers.

"Our lives depend on the Shah and the royal family. I am certain of that," Mayeri said. "We call the Shah Kyrus the Second because he has seen Jews all over the world and knows we are no danger. We are hard-working and loyal. But I am afraid of what would happen if the government and monarch were ever overthrown. I want my children to live without fear."

Esfahan's Jewish community worships at the 10 synagogues in the city and gather together on special occasions. On the Jewish New Year, hundreds flocked about 19 miles to an ancient Jewish cemetery to camp out amid granite tombstones.

Thomas Edison patented an electrical voice recorder in 1868.

Most of the women wore Western dress, but others wore the traditional Iranian "chador," the head-to-toe veil. Star of David pendants hung from many necks.

As they sat amid a clump of trees near a gently flowing stream, about a dozen Moslem children from a nearby village stood watching them from a distance, silent and expressionless.

"I have many friends who are Jews," one Iranian said. "But they are such a dirty people, especially the poor ones."

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

November 20, 1978
Without expending too much energy, an abundance of good fortune will come your way this coming year. You'll have to guard against being so complacent that you let these grand chances pass you by.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll make a favorable impression on those you deal with today if you're expansive and friendly, rather than aggressive. Don't come on strong. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your 1979 copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You've got more going for you today than you may realize. If you take things in stride and don't allow yourself to get uptight, good things can happen.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep your friends out of your commercial affairs today. You'll fare better if you can separate your social life from that which is strictly business.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may get angry if those you are attempting to help don't understand or appreciate what you're trying to do. No need to be irked. They'll soon get the picture.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This should be an extremely productive and rewarding day for you. Going in with the wrong attitude, however, will severely diminish your possibilities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Maintain control at all times today, because you have a tendency to overindulge in too much of the good things. Moderation is a must.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you don't expect everyone else to have the deep compassion you feel for others, you'll be able to laugh it off today when a close pal does something unkind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your first ideas will be your best ones today. Heed any inspiration you get and don't let coworkers lead you astray.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Material opportunity is all around you today. However, don't foolishly feel you have a free license to spend extravagantly or become wasteful.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're reasonably lucky today, but that does not include what you may be trying to do for others. Dame Fortune is granting favors only to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Put that optimistic attitude you have today to practical use. Don't let it block out your common sense. All will go well if you remain level-headed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Chances are you'll be mingling with influential or prominent individuals today. Be yourself. You don't have to put on airs in order to get along with them.

Sandies take district title

By JOE BLOBAUM
Pampa News Sports Editor

Although they had no way of knowing it at the time, the Amarillo High Sandies captured the District 3-AAAA football title here Friday night with a 23-8 conquest of the Pampa Harvesters.

By virtue of a 7-7 tie between Caprock and Palo Duro Saturday afternoon at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo, the Sandies will represent the district against 4-AAAA champion Plainview when the state playoffs begin Friday.

A strong defensive showing by Amarillo and an error-plagued Harvester kicking game were two of the main factors in Friday's outcome.

Pampa Coach John Welborn, who probably led the Harvesters for the final time in the homecoming loss, said the Sandies got big plays when they needed them.

"I guess they out-hossed us in some places," he said while scraping the mud from his shoes into his office trash can. "We sure couldn't move the ball inside of them very much."

Pampa wound up with just 50 yards rushing for the game, although quarterback Rick Dougherty lost nearly that much while being sacked four times.

The teams battled to a scoreless draw in the first half, mainly because the Harvesters recovered two Sandie fumbles and intercepted a pass. Amarillo drove to the Pampa 13 on its first possession, but a fourth-down pass fell incomplete and was nearly intercepted by Kerry Adair.

The Harvesters took over and marched to the Sandie 28, only to have their drive fizzle on Marty Painter's sack of Dougherty at the Harvester 38. Brad Elliott recovered Mark Mathiasmeir's fumble on the next play, but neither team came close to scoring until AHS mounted a drive from its own 28 with 6:32 left in the half.

Quarterback Russel Allen hit Mark Isaacson with a 35-yard pass to get things going and the Sandies picked up two more first downs before Dwayne Avery caused and recovered Allen's fumble at the Harvester 16.

Three plays produced a loss of a yard for Pampa, and a two-yard punt off the side of Dougherty's foot gave Amarillo possession at Pampa's 17 with 1:26 to go. But on third and 11, Harvester linebacker Clifford Anderson came down with a pass that was batted around in Pampa's end zone and returned it to the 4 to kick Amarillo's final threat of the half.

But the second half saw Pampa defenders dropping like flies, and Welborn's crew was forced into a patchwork defense.

"We sure ended up with a makeshift defense," Welborn said. "Whoever was healthy was trying to play a little defense. It's bad when you have some injuries and not much depth."

As a result, Amarillo took a 16-0 lead before the Harvesters got on the board. Midway through the third quarter, Mathiasmeir (the game's leading rusher with 134 yards on 18 carries) broke a trap play for 66 yards to the Pampa 12. Five plays later, he burst over the left side of the line for the game's first touchdown.

It took less than two minutes for the Sandies to get on the board again. Faced with a fourth and 18 from their own 12, the Harvesters punted — or tried to. The center snap sailed over Dougherty's head and out of the end zone for a safety and a 9-0 AHS lead.

The Sandies took the ensuing free kick and marched 41 yards in six plays to score their 16th point of the quarter. Isaacson had a 19-yard run, a 26-yard pass reception and bolted nine yards for the score with 1:36 left in the period.

Pampa got its only score following another Avery fumble recovery, this time at the Harvester 14. Helped by a pass interference penalty and hampered by a clipping violation, the Harvesters used 11 plays to cover the 86 yards to paydirt. Rudy Roland covered the final 14 yards on a pitchout with fullback Doug Kennedy leading the blocking, and Steve McDougall made a juggling catch for the two-point conversion.

The score brought Pampa within striking distance, but the Harvesters got no closer than the eight-point deficit. Amarillo's final touchdown drive covered 40 yards in eight plays, with Mathiasmeir going the final four yards over his right guard with 1:47 left.

The loss dropped the Harvesters to 3-7 for the season and 1-3 in district play. Amarillo will enter the playoffs with a 5-5 slate.

Mizzou upsets NU

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Running back James Wilder scored four touchdowns to set a Missouri record and lead the Tigers to a 35-31 upset victory over second-ranked and Orange Bowl-bound Nebraska Saturday.

Wilder sealed the Huskers' fate, and dimmed NU's hopes for a national championship, when he barged 4 yards to score with 3:42 remaining in the game to cap a 74-yard Tiger drive. The march was highlighted by a 33-yard pass from Phil Bradley to Kellen Winslow.

The Tiger triumph also took the lustre off the performance of Nebraska's back Rick Berns, who scored two touchdowns and rushed for 255 yards, to become the University of Nebraska's all-time leading ground gainer.

Vaughn just misses state meet

LUBBOCK — For the second straight year, Jana Vaughn just missed qualifying for the state cross country meet here Saturday as she finished 11th in a regional race. Her time was 12:41, four seconds better than her effort in 1977, and her 11th-place effort was the high point of the day for Pampa's runners.

The top ten individual finishers won automatic spots in the state meet.

The Harvester boy harriers, who qualified as a team for the regional meet, came nowhere near qualifying anyone for state.

Donnie Braswell led Pampa's runners with a 64th place finish in the field of better than 110. His time was 10:47, better than a minute behind winner Dennis Conway of Lubbock Monterey, who zipped over the course in 9:36.

Pampa's other finishers were Joe Murray, 66th in 10:48; Robbie Gee 85th in 11:04; Mike Wheeler 102nd in 11:34; Neal Braswell 107th in 11:59; and Jenny Combs 113th in 13:12.

Irish in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Cotton Bowl officials announced Saturday 10th-ranked Notre Dame has accepted an invitation to play the Southwest Conference football champion in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

The host spot has been all but clinched by No. 6 Houston, which needs to win only one of its two remaining games against Texas Christian and Texas Tech to win the bowl berth and at least a share of the SWC crown.

"Notre Dame was offered the invitation and they accepted," said John Thompson, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association.

Notre Dame, 8-2, has been on a winning streak since losing its first two games to Missouri, 3-0, and Michigan, 28-14. It will be Notre Dame's fourth Cotton Bowl appearance in the last nine years. The Irish lost to Texas in 1970, but defeated the Longhorns in 1971 and 1978.

Notre Dame still must face No. 5 Southern California next week to complete its regular season schedule.

Follett stops McLean

FOLLETT — McLean jumped to an early lead, but Mike Freeman led a Follett charge as the Panthers roared back for a 46-20 football victory here Friday night.

Chuck Pierce caught Tommy Eck's first-quarter pass and raced 80 yards for a touchdown and Rex Morris scored on a 31-yard dash to give the Tigers a 14-0 lead after the first period of play.

But Freeman scored on a one-yard plunge and threw a 60-yard bomb to Kirk Steinberger to give Follett a 16-14 advantage at halftime.

The Panthers quickly upped that margin to 38-14 in the third quarter as Scott Hughes took a 20-yard scoring strike from Freeman and Freeman talked on runs of 29 and 65 yards. He added a 52-yard gallop in the fourth quarter to complete

Follett's scoring before Morris took a 14-yard pass from Eck to account for the final margin.

Follett rolled up 469 yards rushing and added 80 through the air, while the Tigers picked up 327 yards in an offensive show. Follett finished at 5-4 for the season and 3-3 in District 1-B. The Tigers had a 1-5 league mark and were 2-8 overall.

Perryton shuts out Wildcats

PERRYTON — Ricky Stiles, Jay Hedgpeth, Kyle Beasley and the rest of the Perryton Rangers proved to be too much for Canadian to handle here Friday night as Perryton recorded a 39-0 victory in the season finale for both schools.

Quarterback Stiles connected on eight of 12 passes for 137 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Hedgpeth scored once and rushed for 104 yards and Beasley ran for two TDs and passed for another as the Rangers recorded an easy District 1-AA victory.

Perryton wound up with 362 yards total offense for the game, while the Wildcats were limited to three first downs and just 86 yards for the night.

Carey Swinney and Danny Bishop caught TD passes of 17 and 49 yards from Stiles to give the Rangers a 12-0 lead at halftime. Beasley's two rushing touchdowns and Hedgpeth's score gave the Rangers 20 third-quarter points, while Kory Holmes caught Beasley's three-yard toss for the final TD in the fourth period.

Perryton finished the season at 4-5-1, including a 3-1-1 district mark. The Wildcats finished at 5-5 and 3-2 in league play.

Tech clips SMU

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech turned two interceptions and a fumble recovery into an early 16-0 lead and then held off two furious scoring bids by Southern Methodist in the closing minutes to take a 19-16 Southwest Conference victory Saturday.

The Raiders' Bill Adams kicked field goals of 31, 53, 31 and 29 yards as Texas Tech took its fifth straight victory and raised its record to 6-3 for the year and 4-2 in SWC play. SMU led 4-5-1 and 3-4.

Phil Weatherall scored Tech's only touchdown with a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter, but fullback James Hadnot again powered the Tech offense, gaining 160 yards in 31 carries to set a Tech record for a season.

Mustang quarterback Mike Ford, who was intercepted five times, directed SMU to two touchdowns in the second quarter to cut the lead to 16-14 at the half.

He hit Gary Smith on a 12-yard scoring pass and Emanuel Tolbert on a four-yard touchdown toss. Tolbert's catch set a conference record of 11 TD receptions in one season.

Another interception set up Adams' final field goal on the first play of the fourth quarter to put Tech ahead 19-14.

SMU recovered a fumble by Hadnot at the Tech seven with 5:52 to play, but SMU's Charles Lewis fumbled it right back to the Raiders on the very next play. T. D. K. Perry returned a punt 1 to the Tech 18 to give the Mustangs another scoring chance with 3:45 left in the game.

Ford promptly hit Tolbert at the seven for a first down. Three plays later, on fourth and two, the Raider crowd burst into pandemonium as Tech noseguard Jamie Giles dropped Ford at the seven.

However, the Raiders were called for holding on the play, giving SMU still another chance, this time from the one yardline. But safety Ted Watts stopped halfback Darold Turner cold at the line of scrimmage and the Raiders took over.

Tech then took a safety with 55 seconds to play, and after taking a free kick Watts intercepted Ford at the Tech 32 to nail down the victory.

In 1951, Jay Handlan of the Washington and Lee basketball team took 71 shots in a single game against Furman and made good on 30 of them.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

November 20, 1978
Without expending too much energy, an abundance of good fortune will come your way this coming year. You'll have to guard against being so complacent that you let these grand chances pass you by.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll make a favorable impression on those you deal with today if you're expansive and friendly, rather than aggressive. Don't come on strong. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your 1979 copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You've got more going for you today than you may realize. If you take things in stride and don't allow yourself to get uptight, good things can happen.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep your friends out of your commercial affairs today. You'll fare better if you can separate your social life from that which is strictly business.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may get angry if those you are attempting to help don't understand or appreciate what you're trying to do. No need to be irked. They'll soon get the picture.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This should be an extremely productive and rewarding day for you. Going in with the wrong attitude, however, will severely diminish your possibilities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Maintain control at all times today, because you have a tendency to overindulge in too much of the good things. Moderation is a must.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you don't expect everyone else to have the deep compassion you feel for others, you'll be able to laugh it off today when a close pal does something unkind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your first ideas will be your best ones today. Heed any inspiration you get and don't let coworkers lead you astray.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Material opportunity is all around you today. However, don't foolishly feel you have a free license to spend extravagantly or become wasteful.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're reasonably lucky today, but that does not include what you may be trying to do for others. Dame Fortune is granting favors only to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Put that optimistic attitude you have today to practical use. Don't let it block out your common sense. All will go well if you remain level-headed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Chances are you'll be mingling with influential or prominent individuals today. Be yourself. You don't have to put on airs in order to get along with them.

Sandies take district title

By JOE BLOBAUM
Pampa News Sports Editor

Although they had no way of knowing it at the time, the Amarillo High Sandies captured the District 3-AAAA football title here Friday night with a 23-8 conquest of the Pampa Harvesters.

By virtue of a 7-7 tie between Caprock and Palo Duro Saturday afternoon at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo, the Sandies will represent the district against 4-AAAA champion Plainview when the state playoffs begin Friday.

A strong defensive showing by Amarillo and an error-plagued Harvester kicking game were two of the main factors in Friday's outcome.

Pampa Coach John Welborn, who probably led the Harvesters for the final time in the homecoming loss, said the Sandies got big plays when they needed them.

"I guess they out-hossed us in some places," he said while scraping the mud from his shoes into his office trash can. "We sure couldn't move the ball inside of them very much."

Pampa wound up with just 50 yards rushing for the game, although quarterback Rick Dougherty lost nearly that much while being sacked four times.

The teams battled to a scoreless draw in the first half, mainly because the Harvesters recovered two Sandie fumbles and intercepted a pass. Amarillo drove to the Pampa 13 on its first possession, but a fourth-down pass fell incomplete and was nearly intercepted by Kerry Adair.

The Harvesters took over and marched to the Sandie 28, only to have their drive fizzle on Marty Painter's sack of Dougherty at the Harvester 38. Brad Elliott recovered Mark Mathiasmeir's fumble on the next play, but neither team came close to scoring until AHS mounted a drive from its own 28 with 6:32 left in the half.

Quarterback Russel Allen hit Mark Isaacson with a 35-yard pass to get things going and the Sandies picked up two more first downs before Dwayne Avery caused and recovered Allen's fumble at the Harvester 16.

Three plays produced a loss of a yard for Pampa, and a two-yard punt off the side of Dougherty's foot gave Amarillo possession at Pampa's 17 and 1:26 to go. But on third and 11, Harvester linebacker Clifford Anderson came down with a pass that was batted around in Pampa's end zone and returned it to the 4 to kill Amarillo's final threat of the half.

But the second half saw Pampa defenders dropping like flies, and Welborn's crew was forced into a patchwork defense.

"We sure ended up with a makeshift defense," Welborn said. "Whoever was healthy was trying to play a little defense. It's bad when you have some injuries and not much depth."

As a result, Amarillo took a 16-0 lead before the Harvesters got on the board. Midway through the third quarter, Mathiasmeir (the game's leading rusher with 134 yards on 18 carries) broke a trap play for 66 yards to the Pampa 12. Five plays later, he burst over the left side of the line for the game's first touchdown.

It took less than two minutes for the Sandies to get on the board again. Faced with a fourth and 18 from their own 12, the Harvesters punted — or tried to. The center snap sailed over Dougherty's head and out of the end zone for a safety and a 9-0 AHS lead.

The Sandies took the ensuing free kick and marched 41 yards in six plays to score their 16th point of the quarter. Isaacson had a 19-yard run, a 26-yard pass reception and bolted nine yards for the score with 1:36 left in the period.

Pampa got its only score following another Avery fumble recovery, this time at the Harvester 14. Helped by a pass interference penalty and hampered by a clipping violation, the Harvesters used 11 plays to cover the 86 yards to paydirt. Rudy Roland covered the final 14 yards on a pitchout with fullback Doug Kennedy leading the blocking, and Steve McDougall made a juggling catch for the two-point conversion.

The score brought Pampa within striking distance, but the Harvesters got no closer than the eight-point deficit. Amarillo's final touchdown drive covered 40 yards in eight plays, with Mathiasmeir going the final four yards over his right guard with 1:47 left.

The loss dropped the Harvesters to 3-7 for the season and 1-3 in district play. Amarillo will enter the playoffs with a 5-5 slate.

Mizzou upsets NU

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Running back James Wilder scored four touchdowns to set a Missouri record and lead the Tigers to a 35-31 upset victory over second-ranked and Orange Bowl-bound Nebraska Saturday.

Wilder sealed the Huskers' fate, and dimmed NU's hopes for a national championship, when he barged 4 yards to score with 3:42 remaining in the game to cap a 74-yard Tiger drive. The march was highlighted by a 33-yard pass from Phil Bradley to Kellen Winslow.

The Tiger triumph also took the lustre off the performance of Nebraska I-back Rick Berns, who scored two touchdowns and rushed for 255 yards, to become the University of Nebraska's all-time leading ground gainer.

Vaughn just misses state meet

LUBBOCK — For the second straight year, Jana Vaughn just missed qualifying for the state cross country meet here Saturday as she finished 11th in a regional race. Her time was 12:41, four seconds better than her effort in 1977, and her 11th-place effort was the high point of the day for Pampa's runners.

The top ten individual finishers won automatic spots in the state meet.

The Harvester boy harriers, who qualified as a team for the regional meet, came nowhere near qualifying anyone for state. Donnie Braswell led Pampa's runners with a 64th place finish in the field of better than 110. His time was 10:47, better than a minute behind winner Dennis Conway of Lubbock Monterey, who zipped over the course in 9:36.

Pampa's other finishers were Joe Murray, 66th in 10:48; Robbie Gee 85th in 11:04; Mike Wheeler 102nd in 11:34; Neal Braswell 107th in 11:59 and Denny Combs 113th in 13:12.

Irish in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Cotton Bowl officials announced Saturday 10th-ranked Notre Dame has accepted an invitation to play the Southwest Conference football champion in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

The host spot has been all but clinched by No. 6 Houston, which needs to win only one of its two remaining games against Texas Christian and Texas Tech to win the bowl berth and at least a share of the SWC crown.

"Notre Dame was offered the invitation and they accepted," said John Thompson, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association.

Notre Dame, 8-2, has been on a winning streak since losing its first two games to Missouri, 3-0, and Michigan, 28-14. It will be Notre Dame's fourth Cotton Bowl appearance in the last nine years. The Irish lost to Texas in 1970, but defeated the Longhorns in 1971 and 1978.

Notre Dame still must face No. 5 Southern California next week to complete its regular season schedule.

Tech clips SMU

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech turned two interceptions and a fumble recovery into an early 16-0 lead and then held off two furious scoring bids by Southern Methodist in the closing minutes to take a 19-16 Southwest Conference victory Saturday.

The Raiders' Bill Adams kicked field goals of 31, 53, 31 and 29 yards as Texas Tech took its fifth straight victory and raised its record to 6-3 for the year and 4-2 in SWC play. SMU fell to 4-5-1 and 3-4.

Phil Weatherall scored Tech's only touchdown with a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter, but fullback James Hadnot again powered the Tech offense, gaining 160 yards in 31 carries to set a Tech record for a season.

Mustang quarterback Mike Ford, who was intercepted five times, directed SMU to two touchdowns in the second quarter to cut the lead to 16-14 at the half.

He hit Gary Smith on a 12-yard scoring pass and Emanuel Tolbert on a four-yard touchdown toss. Tolbert's catch set a conference record of 11 TD receptions in one season.

Another interception set up Adams' final field goal on the first play of the fourth quarter to put Tech ahead 19-14.

SMU recovered a fumble by Hadnot at the Tech seven with 5:52 to play, but SMU's Charles Lewis fumbled it right back to the Raiders on the very next play. Then D.K. Perry returned a punt 32 yards to the Tech 18 to give the Mustangs another scoring chance with 3:45 left in the game.

Ford promptly hit Tolbert at the seven for a first down. Three plays later, on fourth and two, the Raider crowd burst into pandemonium as Tech noseguard Jamie Giles dropped Ford at the seven.

However, the Raiders were called for holding on the play, giving SMU still another chance, this time from the one yardline. But safety Ted Watts stopped halfback Darold Turner cold at the line of scrimmage and the Raiders took over.

Tech then took a safety with 55 seconds to play, and after taking a free kick Watts intercepted Ford at the Tech 32 to nail down the victory.

In 1951, Jay Handlan of the Washington and Lee basketball team took 71 shots in a single game against Furman and made good on 30 of them.

Follett stops McLean

FOLLETT — McLean jumped to an early lead, but Mike Freeman led a Follett charge as the Panthers roared back for a 46-20 football victory here Friday night.

Chuck Pierce caught Tommy Eck's first-quarter pass and raced 80 yards for a touchdown and Rex Morris scored on a 31-yard dash to give the Tigers a 14-0 lead after the first period of play.

But Freeman scored on a one-yard plunge and threw a 60-yard bomb to Kirk Steinberger to give Follett a 16-14 advantage at halftime.

The Panthers quickly upped that margin to 38-14 in the third quarter as Scott Hughes took a 20-yard scoring strike from Freeman and Freeman tallied on runs of 29 and 65 yards. He added a 52-yard gallop in the fourth quarter to complete

Follett's scoring before Morris took a 14-yard pass from Eck to account for the final margin.

Follett rolled up 469 yards rushing and added 80 through the air, while the Tigers picked up 327 yards in an offensive show. Follett finished at 5-4 for the season and 3-3 in District 1-B. The Tigers had a 1-5 league mark and were 2-8 overall.

Perryton shuts out Wildcats

PERRYTON — Ricky Stiles, Jay Hedgpeth, Kyle Beasley and the rest of the Perryton Rangers proved to be too much for Canadian to handle here Friday night as Perryton recorded a 39-0 victory in the season finale for both schools.

Quarterback Stiles connected on eight of 12 passes for 137 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Hedgpeth scored once and rushed for 104 yards and Beasley ran for two TDs and passed for another as the Rangers recorded an easy District 1-AA victory.

Perryton wound up with 362 yards total offense for the game, while the Wildcats were limited to three first downs and just 86 yards for the night.

Carey Swinney and Danny Bishop caught TD passes of 17 and 49 yards from Stiles to give the Rangers a 12-0 lead at halftime. Beasley's two rushing touchdowns and Hedgpeth's score gave the Rangers 20 third-quarter points, while Kory Holmes caught Beasley's three-yard toss for the final TD in the fourth period.

Perryton finished the season at 4-5-1, including a 3-1-1 district mark. The Wildcats finished at 5-5 and 3-2 in league play.

Mustangs romp past Booker for crown

"Our defense was the key," Wheeler Coach Joe Allen said in the wake of the Mustangs' 54-7 thrashing of Booker in what was supposed to be a showdown for the District 1-B title Friday night. None of the Kiowas could disagree.

The Mustangs, defending state champions and owners of the state's longest current winning streak (28 games), shut down the Booker offense completely in the first half. In fact, the Kiowas never got moving until the final quarter.

When they scored their lone touchdown of the game against Wheeler's reserves.

Brent Guy, Booker's leading ball carrier, was limited to 18 yards in 14 carries, and Allen said that statistic was important.

"We thought that was the key to beating them, stopping Guy, and we did it," he said.

Kent Vise got things rolling for Wheeler in the last minutes of the first quarter when he picked off the first of his three interceptions on the night and ran it back 45 yards for a touchdown.

"Penalties and fumbles hurt us early and kept them in the ballgame," Allen noted. "But the defense played well enough to keep them in a hole until we started to move. Vise's interception got us going."

After the slow start, the Mustangs picked up speed and were going at a full gallop by halftime, by which time a 28-0 lead had been mounted.

Sam Schafer, plagued by injuries earlier in the season, caught a 37-yard aerial from Myron Jolly for Wheeler's second score. Jolly tallied on a three-yard sneak and Benny Baker scored the first of his three touchdowns on a 25-yard run to account for the team's 21 second-quarter points.

All-State running back Marvin Grimes opened the third quarter with a seven-yard dash to the end zone. He finished with 107 yards on 15 carries to take the individual rushing honors for the game. Baker picked up 98 yards on 12 attempts, including touchdown runs of five and three yards later in the third quarter.

A 64-yard screen pass from Rich Brown to Jimmy Ryan completed Wheeler's scoring. A six-yard run by Brett Maxfield accounted for Booker's only touchdown.

Tom Christner had nine tackles to lead the inspired Mustang defense, while Mike Lee accounted for eight stops and Grimes got in on seven. Baker recovered three fumbles as the Kiowas committed nine turnovers.

"That's the best overall defensive game we've played," Allen said, noting that the Mustangs would need a similar effort next week in the first round of the state playoffs against Valley.

"They have an outstanding running back in Darrell Dowd and a big fullback," Allen said. "They've got an outstanding backfield and a big, good line. It'll be a tough ball game."

The Mustangs and Patriots will collide at 7:30 Friday night in Memphis. Valley is unbeaten and has been tied once, while the Mustangs will enter the game at 9-0. Booker finished its season at 7-3 and had a 5-1 mark in district play.

Pampa swimmers dunked

Amarillo High completed a three-day domination of Pampa's athletic teams Saturday morning with a pair of dual meet wins over the Harvester swimming teams.

Following the pattern that produced wins for the Sandie volleyball and football teams Thursday and Friday nights, AHS racked up a 57-19 win over the Harvester boys and a 39-25 victory over the girls.

"We had some setbacks in that our times weren't totally there," Harvester Coach Mike Eckhart said. "We should be swimming our best in our own pool."

"But I wasn't totally disappointed. We had some good performances from the Raymond girls (Cindy and Lisa), the girls on the 200 medley relay team and from Mark Lehnick and Chris Alexander."

The Raymond sisters captured a pair of first place finishes apiece, while Lehnick and Alexander provided the only first place finishes for a depleted boys team.

Eckhart added that his team, idle until the San Angelo Invitational Dec. 8-9, will go into "intensive training," with practices that could total as much as 3 1/2 hours per day.

Results from Saturday's meet:

Rejuvenated Cowboys to host Saints

DALLAS (AP)—As if the New Orleans Saints needed any more adversity, they have to play the suddenly rejuvenated Dallas Cowboys at home Sunday—a team they've beaten just once in eight tries.

It's a National Football League homecoming game of sorts for Saint Coach Dick Nolan, a former player-coach under Tom Landry before Nolan left for the top jobs at San Francisco and now New Orleans.

Nolan uses the Landry flex defense and the two coaches are good friends.

"I try to confuse him when I talk to him," jokes Landry. "I try to give him a lot of false keys."

Nolan couldn't have been any more confused than he was after Sunday's 20-17 loss to Atlanta in which the Falcons scored a last second touchdown on a batted pass.

"That's the hardest way in the world to lose one," said Landry.

Nolan said "It was one shot in a million."

The Saints are 5-6 and if they should upset the 12-point favorite Cowboys it would mark their winningest campaign ever in the NFL. The most games New Orleans has ever captured is five.

Dallas is 7-4 and locked in a race for the National Conference Eastern Division flag with the Washington Redskins. The two teams play Thanksgiving Day for what could be the division championship game.

The sold-out Saint-Cowboy game in Texas Stadium will feature the NFC's No. 1 quarterback, Archie Manning of the Saints, against No. 2 Roger Staubach of the Cowboys.

Nolan said Manning has been especially effective this year because "he is running when he has to, not because he wants to."

New Orleans has beaten two Super Bowl quality teams—Minnesota and Los Angeles. The Vikings and Rams have beaten Dallas this year.

Dallas is riding the momentum of a club record offensive outburst against the Green Bay Packers in a 42-14 slaughter that was even worse than the final score.

"It's the best thing that could have happened to us," said Landry. "We needed a game like that for our confidence. We kept hearing a lot of negative things and we were starting to believe it. Not only were we reading it in the newspaper but I was hearing it at the grocery store."

Landry said he has been seeing a lot more intensity in Cowboy practices.

"Our offensive line has been really attacking the defense, for example," he said.

The only Saint victory against Dallas was at Tulane Stadium in 1971 when the then rookie Manning led the Saints to a 24-14 upset.

Hogs accept bid to Fiesta Bowl

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Quarterback Ron Calcagni scored three touchdowns and guided Arkansas on two long scoring drives Saturday as the 13th ranked Razorbacks beat Texas A&M 26-7 and accepted an invitation to play in the Fiesta Bowl.

The Fiesta Bowl is Dec. 25 in Phoenix, Ariz.

A&M accepted an invitation to play in the Hall of Fame Bowl on Dec. 20 in Birmingham, Ala.

Arkansas trailed 7-0 less than two minutes deep in the game, following a 56-yard kickoff return, a 29-yard pass play, and a pass interference penalty. After that, A&M did not cross the Arkansas 35 until the fourth quarter.

Calcagni's first touchdown, a tough 8-yard run, came four plays after William Hampton recovered a Curtis Dickey fumble at the Aggies 28.

The next two times Arkansas had the ball, it moved 86 and 62 yards to Ish Ordonez field goals and a 13-7 halftime lead.

On A&M's first play of the third quarter, Arkansas cornerback Vaughn Lusby intercepted a deep pass and returned it 19 yards to the Arkansas 32 and a face mask penalty moved it to the 17. Four plays later, Calcagni tucked it up inside tackle and scored from the 3.

A&M failed on two fourth down opportunities in the fourth quarter. On fourth and one from the Arkansas 22, Dickey was knocked down for a 1-yard loss by Jim Howard and Jim Elliott. Moments later on fourth and five from the Arkansas 36, Mosley lost 23 yards when pressured by Jerry Saxton and Brad Shoup.

Ben Cowins, who gained 74 yards on 17 carries, established an Arkansas career rushing record of 3,361 yards.

Cowins broke the record on a 29-yard run that started the scoring drive that put Arkansas ahead. Twice on third and eight, Calcagni connected on big pass plays. The first was for 14 yards to a leaping Robert Farrell. The second was for 12 yards to a wide-open Donny Bobo.

Calcagni got the next drive going with a delay pass to Micheal Forrest that netted 18 yards. In the drive Calcagni carried twice on third down and got the first down both times.

Arkansas is now 7-2 for the season and 4-2 in the Southwest Conference. A&M is 6-3 for the season, 3-3 in the SWC, and 2-1 under new Coach Tom Wilson.

WT schedules student special

CANYON — A Panhandle Student Night, admitting all students high school age and younger for 50 cents, has been announced by the West Texas State athletic department for the Buffaloes' season-ending game against New Mexico State Nov. 22.

Tickets for the student night will be sold at gate six of the Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium on game day. The WT-NMSU game begins at 6 p.m. and is the "Thanksgiving Special," slated the day before turkey feasts across the country.

There will be no advance sale of the special tickets.

New Mexico State will be seeking the Missouri Valley Conference championship against the Buffs. The Aggies are 4-1 in the loop and a win against West Texas would give them undisputed possession of the league title.

NMSU is led by David Spriggs, one of the nation's top passers and total offense leaders. Only Steve Dils of Stanford has accounted for more total offense than Spriggs (2,466 yards to 2,369).

Duke ranked first in preseason poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Duke's Blue Devils are the nation's No. 1 college basketball team in The Associated Press preseason poll for 1978-79.

Last year's runners-up to the Kentucky Wildcats in the NCAA finals, the Blue Devils made it to the top of the poll Saturday on the strength of 38 first-place ballots and 918 points.

The Atlantic Coast Conference power established a formidable lead over UCLA, the No. 2 team with 764 points. The Bruins were given eight first-place ballots by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The defending national-champions Wildcats lost four of their top six players and were dropped to No. 11 by the voters, picking up no first-place ballots and a total of 199 points.

Notre Dame, one of the Final Four in last year's championship round in St. Louis, will start the season ranked third. The Irish collected one ballot for No. 1 and 685 points.

Louisville and Kansas, the only other team to collect a first-place vote, followed in the voting. Louisville landed the No. 4 spot with 492 points while Kansas gained the No. 5 position with 429 points.

Texas, winner of last year's National Invitation Tournament, gained the No. 6 ranking with 390 points, followed by two Big Ten teams, Michigan State and Michigan. Michigan State was accorded 348 points for No. 7 while Michigan was close behind in No. 8 with 342.

Syracuse, with 243 points, and Indiana, 210, finished out the Top Ten.

After Kentucky, the remainder of the Top Twenty included, No. 12 North Carolina State, No. 13 Southern Cal, No. 14 LSU, No. 15 Rutgers, No. 16 North Carolina, No. 17 San Francisco, No. 18 Marquette, No. 19 Alabama and No. 20 Nevada-Las Vegas.

Arkansas, the other member of last season's Final Four which lost stars Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph, was given honorable mention in the voting.

Last season's final Top Twenty poll, taken before the NCAA finals: Kentucky, UCLA, DePaul, Michigan State, Arkansas, Notre Dame, Duke, Marquette, Louisville, Kansas, San Francisco, New Mexico, Indiana, Utah, Florida State, North Carolina, Texas, Detroit, Miami (Ohio) and Penn.

Britten closes career with big performance

GROOM — Jigger Britten closed his football career at Groom High School in grand fashion Thursday night, rushing for 100 yards and having a hand in all three Tiger touchdowns in a 20-0 conquest of the Berger junior varsity.

Britten hit Neil Wieberg with a 14-yard touchdown pass on a fourth-and-goal in the first quarter, ran for a 14-yard score in the second period and ripped off a 31-yard run in the fourth quarter as the Bulldogs completed their campaign with an 8-2 record.

"He's been our best passer all year," Coach Russell Roberts said of his senior standout. "But he's too good a runner and blocker to use at quarterback."

Britten, who got his 100 yards on just 15 carries, put the icing on the cake after his first touchdown run by taking an extra-point pass from Gary White.

Sophomore fullback Dwain Weller, meanwhile, picked up 93 yards on 24 carries against a stout Bulldog defense.

"I did not expect their three down people to be so big," Roberts said. "They brought three that were bigger than anyone we have except (Mitch) Bralley."

"They shut us down inside," he continued. "They ran a slant that messed us up until halftime."

when we talked about it." Despite a problem with fogged eyeglasses, Bralley accounted for 12 tackles in his final game for the Tigers.

"It's the first time he's really had to fight," Roberts said of the 230-pound lineman, who has little trouble with most Class B opponents. "But he got after it well."

Junior linebacker Vince Britten led Groom's defense with 15 tackles (four unassisted), which helps explain why the Bulldogs got just five first downs and 80 yards total offense. Groom, meanwhile, racked up 13 first downs and collected 259 yards total offense in its season finale.

Serrata scores 50

ALICE, Texas (AP) — Alice High School tailback Arnold Serrata's 50-point performance set an official schoolboy scoring record Friday night as his team trounced Robstown, 66-0.

Serrata only gained 36 yards rushing, but those 36 included paydirt runs of 2, 4 and 6 yards. He also caught touchdown passes of 34, 36, 25 and 75 yards, ran the opening kickoff back 87 yards for a score and caught another pass for a two-point conversion.

Serrata broke the record of 49 points shared by Kenneth Hall of Sugar Land (1953) and Chris Weemes of Idalou (1964).

Jiggs Ray of Pilot Point scored 75 points for his school in 1937, but official records have been kept only since 1950.

GOLDEN ERA

by Thomasville.

At the turn of the century, American furniture designs exhibited a special ambience of livability and charm. The ideal of comfort and tranquility was seen in the late Victorian, even Edwardian designs. These designs illustrate the perfect blend of sophistication and cultural history that brings the warmth and beauty of nostalgic furnishings into the mainstream of today's eclectic room settings. Mirror accents on these pieces are etched for authenticity. Several cast aluminum pieces are finished in a matt black tone to achieve the look of wrought iron so popular for ornate fences and balcony trimwork in earlier times. For this Golden Era collection, Thomasville chose rustic pecan veneers and oak solids. The mellow fruitwood finish is distressed to provide the look of prized antiques. Hardware includes a white knob with brass finished backplates, a period brass bail design and finger-grip pull. Here are exciting designs of yesterday, yet beautifully stated for today's life styles.

PINEAPPLES in the garden are signs of welcome to visitors.

DRESSING ROOM CHANDELIER hangs from beneath a skylight in the dressing room of the master bedroom suite. It reflects into a mirror at the end of the suite.

JOHN GRESHAM AND ALLEITH CURRY standing in front of a 19th century rouge marble topped table from Belgium. The piece was originally gold, but gesso was applied for the Curry's entrance. The mirror is styled after the Louis XVI period. In the living room there are signed candle sticks of the same rouge marble. The brass lamp's height can be adjusted and has a candle snuffer as pictured.

Dreams do come true

Eighteen months - knocked down walls - John Gresham, a Dallas designer, voila, Alleith "Al" and Bob Curry turned 1126 Charles into a very special home.

In December of 1976 the Currys contacted Gresham and plans began the following February for remodeling and decorating.

Plantation shutters, French doors leading from the bedrooms and family room to the bricked yard, vases changed to lamps, special porcelain fittings on cabinets and sinks, a master bedroom suite that looks like eternal spring, a plate from China, a Santos from the Philippine Museum made into a lamp, Brunswick and Fils fabrics, floors made in New York, silk drapes and Toile wall paper are just a part of the dream.

The Curry's daughter - in-law, Sue, came to Pampa from Fort Worth and spent more than a week upholstering the bathroom walls.

The back yard, isn't a yard. It is a patio made of more than 500 bricks from the old junior high school. The Currys had stored a large amount for years at his place of business waiting for the right time to use them. The time came and more bricks needed to be tracked down. More of the school bricks were purchased in Lefors and from individual owners.

The appointments and furnishings that were not purchased came from the homes of Mrs. Curry's mother and two aunts. She had been saving them in the attic. As Sue Curry described the attic, "we call it the great warehouse in the sky." It still isn't empty.

The Curry's home is warm, friendly, and beautifully decorated.

It is a dream come true.

OUT"

Rotary Foundation

BY PAMTUREK
Pampa News Staff

Cassandra Sweet is one of this year's recipients of a Rotary Foundation Education Award. She will travel to Turkey.

Miss Sweet chose Turkey because she is fluent in the language and is interested in the Middle East. She was an American Field Service student to Turkey 1974-1975.

After graduation from Texas Tech she plans to live and work in the Middle East or Europe. This year's winner plans to graduate in May of 1979 with a bachelor of science degree in international trade.

She competed against 92 other applicants.

The other winners from Rotary District 573 are one from Canyon and three from Amarillo. Miss Sweet is extra special to local Rotarians as she is from Pampa. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Sweet.

The educational award which Miss Sweet received is one of the three programs of the Rotary Foundation. This past week was Rotary Foundation Week.

The Foundation was formed in 1947 upon the death of Paul Harris, the founding father of Rotary. A living memorial was established to Harris' and Rotary's ideals of international understanding.

The recipient of an educational award must be an outstanding student as well as being able to act as an ambassador. The student may be an undergraduate or graduate. This year the Rotary Foundation has given 582 graduate fellowships, 89 undergraduate scholarships, 51 technical training awards and 93 teachers of the handicapped. New to the program this year are journalism awards.

The costs covered by Rotary are: round trip transportation, registration, tuition, other school fees, incidental living costs, limited educational travel, and if necessary language training.

Another program of the Foundation is group study exchange. In the spring of 1977, a group came from London to Pampa.

The group for study exchange consists of five young businessmen and professionals. They are accompanied by an appointed representative. The entire group is hosted for six weeks by the clubs in the receiving district. That same district is responsible for mapping out their itinerary. The average cost of each team is $9700.

This year over $100,000 will be spent on special grants. These grants are selected educational or charitable projects. An example is the Rotary clubs in Ontario, Calif. and Trujillo, Peru. They are providing supplies to a Peruvian school serving as a day care center and specializing in the training of teachers of exceptional children.

CLUB NEWS

Xi Beta

Xi Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi viewed the movie "The Incredible Bread Machine" at their Nov. 13 meeting. Penney Oncken presented the program on culture using the film to show how today's culture is effected by the intervention of government.

Hostesses for the meeting were Nancy Brogdon and Ann Loter.

Plans were made to send Christmas cards to shut-ins in the U.S. and Canada.

Special education teacher at Austin School, Ruthia Morgan, explained the purpose of her job. She teaches a class of trainable mentally retarded students. She was given a box of grocery items to use in her classroom.

20th Century

Twentieth Century Club met November 14 in the home of Mrs. Jerry Gardner with 15 members present. Mrs. Jerry Carlson, president, presided over the business session. A resignation from membership was accepted from Mrs. Jim Olsen who is moving to Clovis. It was voted to make a donation to Meals on Wheels and it was announced that aluminum cans were being collected to help finance the Special Olympics, collection points being in several places.

A mini-book review "Return to Thieves" by Allan Drury was given by Dorothy Neslage and Elsie Cunningham led the group in "Hobby Expressions" with each member telling of hobbies. The next meeting will be November 28 in the home of Mrs. Dick Stowers.

Rho Eta

Rho Eta, chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, had its regular bi-monthly meeting in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Monday, President, Eitavie Michael, presided.

Martha Porter was elected to represent the chapter as Valentine Sweetheart during the February Valentine Ball.

Service projects conducted by the chapter thus far include: multiple sclerosis, donating toys and linens to the Pampa Day Care Center and preparing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

Social activities for the chapter included: the area convention in Vernon, and the Fall Fling-Disco Dance at M.K. Brown Auditorium.

CASSANDRA SWEET - winner of this year's Rotary Fellowship education award. She will travel to Turkey and study for one year.

Preceptor Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi

The Preceptor Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Ardith Keathley. Prior to the business meeting, Pat Lee, Carol Carpenter, and Betty Shaeffer received the preceptor ritual.

During the business meeting Ardith Keathley was announced as being Preceptor Chi's sweetheart.

The social committee reminded the members of the chapter chili supper Nov. 17 at Janie Davis' home. It will be a couples party.

Preceptor Chi will have a joint meeting with Upsilon Chapter so they can attend the chapter's Christmas bazaar.

The meeting was closed and refreshments served.

Las Pampas Garden Club

Las Pampas Garden Club met November 2 at the home of Mary Ann Boehmisch with Patsy Rogers furnishing the refreshments. There were sixteen members and two guests present.

After the business meeting, there was a plant workshop, using the plants received last year at the Christmas party.

The next meeting will be at the home of Helen McKinley on December 7, 1978.

SPAS SPURN

LONDON (AP) — John Nunn, secretary of the British Spas Association, has turned down advice from the British Tourist Authority on how to revive ailing "healing waters" resorts.

By HERB PROBASCO
Omaha World-Herald
CRETE, Neb. (AP) — Eight-year-old Susan Manley says she's never given a thought to what life might have been like growing up in her native Korea.

At 11 months, she came to Lincoln as the adopted daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Manley, and she is now in her senior year at Crete High School.

She works as a nurse's aide at a Crete nursing home and is planning a career as a teacher of the blind.

Susan is not reluctant to talk about her heritage, but it's obvious that she doesn't think of herself as anything but Nebraska-variety American.

Her mother confirms this and adds that Susan's married brother, Kelly, also born in Korea, feels the same way.

"This is home. This is where they belong. They don't think of themselves as anything different," says Phyllis Manley.

She quickly added that the children had known other Korean-born children and had had the opportunity to learn informally about Korean culture.

But the children have never taken a great interest in anything Korean, she said.

"Kelly once told me: 'You think about this (things Korean) more than I do.'"

Susan and Kelly are less than a year apart in age. Each was left in the city hall in Seoul by their Korean mothers, said Mrs. Manley. Twice a day, Harry Holt, of Holt International Children's Services, would go to city hall to pick up infants for adoption, she said, adding that Kelly and Susan were among those infants.

Kelly was brought to the United States in 1960 and Susan in 1961, Mrs. Manley said.

Holt, who with his wife Bertha began the international adoption program in 1955, visited the Manleys in 1964, only a few weeks before his death in Korea. He was on his way to place an infant girl with a family in South America when he stopped in Lincoln, where the Manleys at that time were active in a group of families with adopted Korean children.

Susan Manley says she has known prejudice, mainly when she moved back to Lincoln with her family from Scottsbluff.

Her mother confirmed that there have been instances of name-calling, both with Susan and Kelly and with two younger adopted girls, Joy and Becky. But the children have always been encouraged to forgive, Mrs. Manley said.

Their lack of interest in things Korean may be due to the fact that Susan and Kelly's father is deeply into frontier American history.

Bob Manley is a former history professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and was later chairman of the social sciences division of Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff.

For most of his career, he has combined teaching with music, accompanying his talks on American history with an ever-present guitar.

He now heads SRI Media Productions, a Lincoln firm that produces audio-visual materials on histories of Nebraska and neighboring states.

He and his wife have four other children, not adopted, who are grown.

Early this year, the Manleys moved to Crete and exchanged country life for a house in town "where things are that they (the three girls) enjoy doing."

For Susan Manley, that's where life is. And it is of little consequence that as a fragile Korean infant she was a part of a unique chapter in international human relations.

Of a possible trip to her native land, she said, "It would be nice to visit some day."

EAT SLIM AWAY FROM HOME:

Plan ahead to eat slim at meals away from home. Whether eating in restaurants, fast-food establishments, cafeterias or a friend's home, eat only the amount of food that you can afford calorically. Many Americans are eating meals away from home on a regular basis due mainly to rising consumer incomes, continual increase in working wives and a demand for family eating at a modest price.

An awareness of restaurants and types of foods served can help when planning for these meals away from home. Select a restaurant that serves a variety of lower-calorie foods. One which features salads and broiled meats would be a better choice than one featuring gravies, sauces and rich desserts.

Some fast food restaurants, which account for 26 percent of the away-from-home eating market, save time, but may cost the average consumer more calories than he or she can afford. For example, a three-piece chicken dinner at a well-known fried chicken restaurant may contain 830 calories — this count includes the fried chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, coleslaw and a roll. The extra crispy chicken contains even more calories — 950 for the three-piece dinner. Three slices of a thick crust pizza contain around 600 calories compared to about 490 calories for the thin crust pizza. Quarter-pound cheese hamburger on a bun provides about 520 calories; french fries, 210 calories; and chocolate milk shake, 364 calories. Two pieces of batter-fried fish provide about 431 calories; three hush puppies, 134 calories; and coleslaw, 133 calories.

MINERAL WOOL INSULATION
Mineral wool insulation — made from waste coal-ash slag — may be one answer to the insulation shortage consumers now face. If so, it might also save manufacturing energy and consumer dollars, as well. Rock wool, a mineral wool insulation, is now made of wool-rock, a sandy limestone — or it is made from iron-ore blast, a furnace slag.

Production processes for this use energy to melt the material, and that is a major cost factor for mineral wool insulation. Then the melted material is spun into wool insulation. However, in the future, it may be possible to avoid the melting step. Future processes would take molten coal slag from the bottom of boilers — at electric power plants — then mix it with an additive such as limestone and then spin it into a wool insulation product.

Since the coal-ash slag already would be molten, there would be no need for the expensive, energy-using melting process. This future process still must be tested further, but it promises to give consumers more mineral-wool insulation at a lower cost. At the very least, it may ease the insulation shortage.

CRANBERRIES
Looking for a special stuffing for your holiday turkey? Make it of cranberries; you can use them to make an interesting stuffing sure to please your family and guests.
You can make a Cranberry-Bleu Cheese Stuffing for a 10 pound turkey with 2 cups of coarsely chopped raw cranberries. Sprinkle 6 tablespoons of sugar over the cranberries and let stand. In a separate bowl, combine 3 quarts of $\frac{1}{2}$ inch toasted bread cubes, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup crumbled Bleu cheese, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper, and 12 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine. Toss lightly with cranberries until blended. You'll have about 12 cups of stuffing. (If you decide to serve a broiler, half this recipe will fill a five pound bird.)
You also should have plenty of cranberries for fruit salads, breads, sauces, jellies, pies, pudding or whatever holiday treat you plan to prepare.

Even at the first Thanksgiving, New Englanders served cranberries they gathered growing wild in bogs and marshes. Today Massachusetts, New Jersey, Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin cultivate most of our cranberries.
You can buy fresh cranberries from September through December (that's prime time for holiday feasts). New Jersey and Massachusetts are the first major suppliers to begin marketing cranberries, with harvest progressing to Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin. No matter where they come from, the berries your grocer supplies will vary in size and color. However, for best quality, select plump, firm berries with a lustrous color.

• To prolong the life of your carpet, use door mats at all entrances to absorb soil and moisture. Use a good carpet pad, particularly on stairways. Move heavy furniture occasionally to avoid excessive crushing of the carpet nap. At least once a week (more frequently in high-traffic areas), give your carpet a thorough vacuuming.

What's up in turkeys?

Just in time for Thanksgiving, Boston Magazine has made its first annual "Turkey of the Year" awards. Among the winners were:

Miss America Kylene Barker: For naming as her role models Jackie Onassis and "the girl next door." ("Not from any neighborhood we'd like to be associated with.")

Kent State University's trustees: For rejecting as "too violent" a proposed memorial to students killed during the school's 1970 antiwar protest.

Cleveland Mayor Dennis Kucinich: "He actually fought to be mayor of Cleveland."

Hyden, Ky.: For naming its new recreation center after Richard Nixon — and inviting the former president to dedicate the facility in person.

"Punk" Tom Hansep: For slapping his mother and father with a $350,000 lawsuit for "malpractice in parenting."

First sister Ruth Carter Stapleton: For allowing her picture to appear in friend Larry Flynt's Hustler magazine. ("What next — a Miz Lillian center-fold in Modern Maturity?")

Postmaster General William Bolger: For his plan to expand the ZIP code to nine digits.

Actress Faye Dunaway: For refusing to attend the premiere of her new film, "Eyes of Laura Mars." ("We wish that we had, too.")

Henry "da Fonz" Winkler: For proposing to his new wife while she was in the bathtub — and then publicizing it. ("Heey! That's class with a capital K, Fonzie.")

Decathlon champ Bruce Jenner: For admitting that he really does eat Wheaties.

And tennis star Martina Navratilova, a member of Boston's defunct World Team Tennis squad, received a turkey simply for saying she would rather live in Dallas than Boston.

 1/4 cup chopped celery
 1/4 cup water
 1 chicken bouillon cube
 1 orange, unpeeled
 10 slices raisin bread, cubed
 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 7 to 8 pound capon
 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
 Orange Glaze

Orange Glaze
 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 1 teaspoon cornstarch
 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
 1/2 cup orange juice

In small saucepan, combine brown sugar, cornstarch and seasoned salt. Gradually stir in orange juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils.

Check liquid, adding water if necessary. About 10 minutes before cooking time is up, add jelly. Cover and complete cooking. Just before serving, gently stir in grapefruit sections.
 Yield, 6 to 8 servings.

Braised Red Cabbage with Grapefruit
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup grapefruit juice
 2 1/2 pounds red cabbage, shredded (3 quarts)
 1/4 cup currant jelly
 2 grapefruits, peeled, sectioned

In heavy 4-quart saucepot or Dutch oven, combine butter, sugar, salt and grapefruit juice. Heat until butter is melted. Add cabbage; mix well. Bring to a boil cover. Reduce heat to very low. Simmer 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

 You may find, as we do, that there's usually another dessert besides pumpkin pie needed at Thanksgiving. To fill the bill this year, you might enjoy offering a luscious Apple Ginger Roll. It's a great combination of flavors!

APPLE GINGER ROLL
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon each ground allspice, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg
 3 large eggs, separated
 1-3rd cup sugar
 1-3rd cup molasses
 1-3rd cup butter, melted
 1/4 cup hot water
 Confectioner's sugar
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped and slightly sweetened
 Apple Filling, see below
 Toasted walnut halves for garnish, if desired
 Oil a 15 by 10 by 1-inch jelly-roll pan; line with wax paper cut to fit the inside of the pan exactly; lightly oil the paper. Thoroughly stir together the flour, soda and spices. Beat the egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in the sugar until thick and ivory color; add the molasses and beat to blend. With a spoon, gently and gradually stir in until blended the flour mixture, then the butter and hot water; do not beat. Beat the egg whites until stiff; fold in. Turn into the prepared pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until set - 12 to 15 minutes. Place pan on a wire rack to cool for a few minutes. Cover cake with a damp cloth; refrigerate for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove the cloth. Put a little confectioner's sugar in a sifter and dust the cake with it. Turn out on a sheet of wax paper about 10 inches longer than the jelly-roll pan; peel off the paper the pan was lined with. Trim the cake edges. Spread with the whipped cream, reserving some for a garnish; sprinkle with the Apple Filling. Roll up the cake from the long side, using the paper to aid you. Garnish the top with the reserved whipped cream and, if used, the walnut halves. Makes 8 servings.

APPLE FILLING: In a skillet saute 2 medium apples (pared and finely chopped) in 2 teaspoons butter. Stir in 1/4 cup raisins, 1 tablespoon light or dark brown sugar and 1/4 cup dark rum or brandy. Off heat, stir in 1/4 cup chopped walnuts. Let stand about 30 minutes for the apples to absorb the flavorings.

MARINATED VEGETABLES
 An Italian-style hors d'oeuvre that we find is always a big success.

1/2 cup water
 1/4 cup olive oil
 1-3rd cup cider vinegar
 1 medium onion, minced
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 cups thinly sliced pared carrots
 3 medium or large green peppers, seeded and cut into 1-inch squares
 1 pound mushrooms (whole if small, halved if medium, quartered if large)
 5-ounce jar roasted sweet red peppers, drained and cut in strips

In a large saucepan bring to a gentle boil the water, oil, vinegar, onion, garlic, salt, pepper, carrots and green peppers; cover and simmer for 5 minutes; add the mushrooms and basil and simmer, covered, for 3 minutes. Cool. Stir in the red peppers. Chill to allow flavors to blend, but bring to room temperature before serving on small plates with cocktail forks. Makes 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 quarts.

Genesis Houses to host open house

The Boy's Genesis House at 612 W. Browning and the Girl's Genesis House at 321 Starkweather will have an open house from 1-4 p.m. today.

The teen-agers will not be in the homes at the time of the tours. Board members will give the guided tours.

The newest addition to the houses is the recreation court at the boy's home. The court will be used for tennis, basketball and volleyball.

Genesis House began when Lois Still was serving on a 'hot line' that Pampa had in 1971. She had been talking to a young girl on the phone and Still had the girl move into her trailer with her. "Before the evening was over I had two and by the end of the week I had 5 (teenagers) living with me."

The homes are run by community contributions of money, volunteer help and labor.

The boy's house opened in December of 1975 after being remodeled. It had formerly been St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church's rectory.

More than 250 students have passed through the doors of the two homes. Approximately 200 girls and 50 boys.

The teenagers are kept very busy. They are responsible for keeping their rooms straight, washing their own clothes and helping with the maintenance of the homes.

Genesis House occupants are not allowed to twiddle their thumbs. They are there to change their life patterns through guidance and work.

Each summer they have a garden and freeze their own vegetables. This winter they have two freezers full of their own home grown vegetables.

The houses are open to the public today so that Pampa citizens can better understand what goes on at Genesis House.

CARE Cards Aid Needy Families

NEW YORK (AP) — A way to send holiday greetings to friends, relatives and business associates while at the same time helping needy families over the globe is offered by CARE, the international aid and development agency.

"By sending CARE cards this year, you will help the poorest of the poor around the world not just to survive, but also to work toward self-support," said Frank L. Goffio, executive director.

Names and addresses with a contribution for each, should be sent to CARE, Dept. HOL, Box 570, New York, N.Y. 10016, or to any regional office. Goffio said the cards, notifying recipients that the sender had made a contribution to the organization in his or her honor, would be sent to you promptly. Or, if you wish, the cards will be sent directly to the persons being honored.

Goffio gave examples of what the donations could accomplish: $5 serves 100 children a daily bowl of nourishing hot cereal for an entire school week; $10 gives 2,000 children a glass of fortified milk; $15 provides a full week's training for a student nurse; $25 furnishes basic agricultural tools to a subsistence farm family.

Advice

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am studying for the ministry. My father (now deceased) was also a minister.

Some years ago my father read a letter from the pulpit that he had clipped from your column. I was a very young boy then, but I recall that it made a big impression on me. It had to do with a 13-year-old boy who didn't want to go to church with a bunch of hypocrites.

Can you find it and run it again? Thank you.
DAILY READER

DEAR READER: Is this it?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old, and my parents force me to go to church every Sunday.

I hate going to church because I see people there who I know are drunkards, gossipers, liars and cheats, and they are right there every Sunday saying their prayers and singing the hymns. I don't have any respect for hypocrites and our church is full of them, my own parents included.

I am only 13, so maybe my opinion doesn't count, but I don't see any sense in my going to church with a bunch of hypocrites.

ONLY A BOY

DEAR ONLY: Christ became a man at 13, and you are not too young to become a man either. One goes to church to learn about the Bible and the word of the Lord, although God dwells in one's heart, and it's not necessary to go to church to communicate with Him. And as for the hypocrites you see in church—what better place is there for them to be?

A church is not a museum for saints. It's a hospital for sinners.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a telephone operator for a rather large and busy company. We have two nice young fellows who do a good job. But they could do better if their wives would quit calling them at work so much.

I can understand emergency calls, but these wives call up to say, "We got a letter from your mother—should I read it to you?" Or, "Guess what the baby said today?"

Abby, I know both these wives and I wouldn't hurt their feelings for the world, and I certainly wouldn't say anything to their husbands, and if you print this, they may get the hint. Besides, it's not fair to call a person at work to just gab about nothing on company time.

VERMONT READER

DEAR READER: Your point is well taken. And may I add that when a man comes home from work and asks his wife, "What's new?" it gives them something to talk about.

DEAR ABBY: When a lady comes to your table at a restaurant and is offered a chair but refuses, saying she is going to stay only a minute, then stands there talking, how long should a gentleman remain standing?

R.R.R. IN S.F.

DEAR R.R.R.: Two minutes. If she's still standing and talking, sit down. She's no lady.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Laaky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Ask Dr. Lamb

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife has been under a doctor's care for several years for diabetes. Recently, while packing to move to another city, she had a dizzy spell. The paramedics were called and responded quickly. When they found out she was a diabetic, they gave her huge amounts of orange juice, believing she was going into shock.

Later, at the hospital, our family doctor examined her and stated that she had suffered a heart attack. Now we are puzzled as the only symptom she experienced was dizziness. She did not experience any pain whatever.

My wife doesn't have any previous history of heart disease. However, she is overweight. She is on a weight-reducing program and taking medicine for a heart condition. Is it possible for someone to have a heart attack without pain?

Friends think we should consult another physician to be sure the diagnosis is correct, but with the cost of medical care, we hesitate to incur additional expense.

DEAR READER — There are a lot more silent heart attacks than you would guess. Probably as many as one out of three heart attacks are not associated with the classic pain that is usually described with a heart attack.

The attacks may be painless, or whatever discomfort does occur is so minor or so vague that the person doesn't recognize that anything serious is wrong. A person may just feel weak and, later on, it may be found that the cause for the weakness was an unrecognized heart attack.

We know this on the basis of repeated electrocardiograms (electrical tracings of the heart) and from post-mortem studies from people who have no history of having had heart attacks.

As a matter of fact, in a survey my colleagues and I did on the U.S. Air Force flying population, we found a reasonable percentage of the pilots who had experienced heart attacks did have the silent form.

Your description of your wife's dizzy spell is rather limited, but if you really meant "dizzy" in the sense of faintness, that can be caused by a heart attack and it may be the only indication of the heart attack. That's one reason why when a person faints, and there doesn't seem to be any reason for it, it is a good idea to take an electrocardiogram along with the rest of the evaluation.

Diabetics, and that includes diabetic women, are more prone to have heart attacks than non-diabetics. In fact, women during childbearing years seldom have a heart attack unless they are diabetic, have high blood pressure, or kidney disease leading to high blood pressure.

To give you more information about heart attacks I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-10, Heart Attack, Myocardial Infarction, Angina Pectoris. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Regarding the wisdom of giving orange juice to your wife, it is clear that the paramedics felt that she might be having low blood sugar, or an insulin reaction. Whenever a patient is dizzy, or whenever a diabetic shows signs of faintness or shock, and it is impossible to know whether it is diabetic coma (too much sugar) or low blood sugar, the better choice of action is to give the sugar or orange juice until the patient's condition can be definitely determined.

All in all, it sounds like your wife has received good attention for a difficult disease with its complications.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Hogsett

In the First Presbyterian Church of Brunswick, Georgia, on October 8, Mr. Dan Thomas, Minister, performed the double ring marriage ceremony of Miss Nancy Jean Grace of Brunswick, Georgia, and Mr. Danny Burton Hogsett of Arlington, Texas. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jean Krauss Grace of Brunswick, and Mr. Robert Grace of Nebraska.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Derrel B. Hogsett, West of Pampa. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hogsett, 712 S. Finley and Mrs. Beulah, York Franks, 1236 Hamilton of Pampa.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Kennie Russell and Jerry Harrison was the vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Daniel R. Grace, of Brunswick. She wore a gown of white cotton voile featuring a flounced bodice accented with cluny lace. Cluny lace was repeated on the full tiered skirt. Her tiered veil of illusion was trimmed in cluny lace and attached to a Juliet Cap. She carried a white satin Bible topped by a bouquet of sweetheart roses and daisies. Her "something old" was a gold locket given to her groom's mother, Mrs. Jean Hogsett, by her grandmother Addie Love.

The locket was worn by Mrs. Hogsett and also by her daughter, Cynthia Price at her wedding. The "something new" was her bridal gown, the "something borrowed" was a wrist watch borrowed from her mother; that Mrs. Grace wore at her wedding. The something blue was her blue garter.

Mrs. James Garnett of Montreal, Canada, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. Steven Price of Flint, Michigan, sister of the groom; Mrs. Bill Terry of Macon, Georgia; Mrs. Daniel Grace of Brunswick, sister-in-law of the bride; and Miss Terri Krauss of Brunswick, cousin of the bride. They all wore off-the-shoulder gowns of seafam chiffon, featuring a ruffled bodice, fitted waist and long, full tiered skirts. Each carried a nosegay of daisies and carnations.

Jim Gaddis of Arlington, Texas, served as the groom's best man. The usher-groomsman were: Steve Gleason and Dusan Taborsky of Arlington, Tex.; Danny Grace and Richard Krauss of Brunswick, Georgia. They wore black tuxes.

Mrs. Jean Grace, mother of the bride, wore a mauve polyester crepe floor-length dress with a draped neckline. Mrs. Jean Hogsett, mother of the groom wore a floor-length dress of polyester organdy with long full sleeves on the white shirtwaist bodice. The skirt was covered with leaves and flowers of autumn colors. Both wore an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained the guests with a reception at Crane House on Jekyll Island, Ga. The bride's guest register was kept by Mrs. James Hite of Danville, Calif. Assisting in serving were: Miss Pat Riley of Macon, Ga.; Mrs. James Manning, Miss Joan Brown and Miss Susan Drzymala and Mrs. Bill Wallace, all of Atlanta, Ga.

Out of town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Derrel Hogsett, his grandmother, Mrs. Beulah York Franks of Pampa, Texas, and his sister and family, Dr. and Mrs. Steven R. Price, Christine, Kathrine, and Steven II of Flint, Michigan.

Prior to the wedding a bridesmaids' luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Gibson Riley and Mrs. Richard Krauss at the Krauss' home. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Derrel Hogsett, hosted a rehearsal buffet at the Holiday Inn's Plantation Room. A Texas theme was used, with a centerpiece of steer horns, a longhorn steer, a Hereford bull, and a pumping oil well flanked by Texas flags. Texas flags were placed on each of the tables.

A wedding trip with stops in Panama City, Florida, New Orleans, and Natchez, was taken on their way to their new home at 712 Briarwood Blvd., in Arlington, Texas.

A reception honoring Danny B. Hogsett and his bride will be held in the home of Mrs. Dona Cornutt, 1313 Duncan, Pampa, on the evening of Nov. 18 from 7:30 to 9:30. All friends and relatives of the newlyweds are cordially invited to come by during the evening.

Untold Tut story

TUTANKHAMUN: The Untold Story. By Thomas Hoving, Simon & Schuster. 384 Pages. Dozens of books have been written about the discovery of King Tut's tomb since Howard Carter dug up the site in Egypt's Valley of the Kings more than half a century ago. There would seem to be little new to say.

But Thomas Hoving comes up with several surprises in "Tutankhamun: The Untold Story," based mainly on previously unpublished information in the files of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

According to ex-Met director Hoving, the full story of the discovery is not entirely a noble and triumphant tale. It's full of intrigue, secret deals, covert political activities, skulduggery, self-interest, arrogance, lies, dashed hopes, poignancy and sorrow.

Hoving contends Carter's own published report about the first examination of the tomb was far from the truth. The account, Hoving says, is highly deceiving.

"It is a lie," Hoving writes. "What actually occurred had little of the restraint that Carter imparted to it in his official account."

Carter reported officially that he and three others—including his benefactor, Lord Carnarvon—looked into the tomb Nov. 26, 1922, flashed their light on several gold objects then reclosed the hole to await the arrival of an Egyptian government inspector, as required by law.

On the contrary, according to Hoving, Carter and his friends

'At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK
The First Lady of Candidness has done it again.

Betty Ford has done for facelifts what the YWCA did for belly-dancing. She has given it respectability.

But, as I was telling my friend, Mayva, the other day, "What's so bad about wrinkles? My goodness, they're beautiful! They give you character and depth."

"I couldn't agree more" said Mayva. "Wrinkles are the jewels awarded survivors."

"That's beautiful, Mayva," I said, "but be fair! We're lucky. We haven't aged like our friends. I mean some of them look like an unpeeled radish."

"Don't I know it," said Mayva. "Florence uses that cream to erase bags under her eyes. The other day she erased her entire face."

"Oh Mayva," I laughed, wiping tears from my eyes. "I wouldn't believe we'd spent so many years together, you look so young. Sometimes, I forget about your neck."

"What about my neck?" asked Mayva, sobering up.

"You've said yourself every time you look into a mirror it reminds you to defrost the chicken."

"I never said that! At least I don't have laugh lines that I can plant winter wheat in."

"I'm not laughing," I said evenly.

"I can never tell," she said coolly.

"Mayva, at least my whole body isn't suffering from erosion."

"EROSION! I never thought I'd hear that from a woman who wore ponytails until she was 35 just to pull back the extra skin around her face."

"I never did that!" I said defensively.

"You tied your hair back so tight that every time you opened your mouth, your eyes blinked."

"You always told me my face was interesting," I said.

"I said the same thing about the Pyramids."

We sat in silence. Finally, I said, "Face it, Mayva, we've got a lot of fat that doesn't fit anymore."

"I know," she said. "It seems like one morning I got up and during the night everything had fallen. I looked like someone slammed a door while I was baking."

"I'd consider taking a tuck here and there," I said.

"I know, I'd like to look like anyone's sister just once before I go. Incidentally, what happened to wrinkles are beautiful and create character and depth? The jewels that are awarded survivors?"

"That's before we got them. Incidentally, I wonder what Betty Ford did with what she didn't want?"

SPECIAL OCCASIONS
Special occasions like this month's Thanksgiving Day add spice to our lives, and they offer a reminder that the special occasional piece can be the one single decorative touch that turns an ordinary room into a special one.
In other words, you don't have to think only in terms of major pieces of furniture to effect big changes in a decorative scheme. A smaller, not-too-expensive piece, such as a distinctive occasional chair, can be just what the decorator ordered!
The occasional chair should be small enough to move around easily, to "pull up" for conversation or extra seating wherever it is needed. But it should also be striking enough, because of its beautiful lines, style or just because it is different, to create an extra focus of attention.
Other occasional or accent pieces can produce the same effect. Remember that occasional pieces can also serve varied purposes. The chair can serve as a desk chair, for example. The small chest can provide needed storage, function as a lamp table, or offer a setting for displaying a collection on top.
When it comes to special occasional pieces, you'll find much to please you when you browse through our furniture collection... quality furnishings by America's finest manufacturers, beautifully crafted for lasting value.

SOUND COUNTRY

The Emmies have at last made their way to their new owners: Wayne Caluger, assistant director of engineering for WSM, Inc., who received a production certificate, remote supervisor Gaylon Holloway and videographer operator Butch Smith, both of whom received a brass Emmy trophy. Opryland Productions, a television production company based in the Grand Ole Opry House, has access to all Opry House facilities plus two mobile remote units that are available to travel across the country to shoot commercials, television shows and special events.

When Perry Como recently played a concert engagement in the environs of New York City, RCA Records used the occasion to throw Perry an anniversary party for 35 years of continuous association with RCA Records.

'Mr. Nashville' Chet Atkins flew up from Nashville for the occasion and Robert Summer, President of RCA Records, was the host. Perry was given a 35-year commemorative plaque (which had been produced in Nashville by Atkins). It was Perry's third Gold Album award.

Looking back at Pampa

The United Way Fund Board of Directors met yesterday to formulate plans for workers to report their collective reports, so that they would know where they stand. The goal for United Fund for this year is $45,150.

Pampa area rancher, Claude Carruth was named general superintendent for the annual Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show.

Opposition arose about the idea of whether Pampa should join the Canadian River Municipal Authority.

Wedged women's shoes with an open toe and a strap going across the foot are very stylish now. The shoe is advertised for $12.95.

1963
U.S. Representative Walter Rogers informed the Pampa Daily News that his bill providing $11 million for recreation and facilities at Sanford Reservoir has passed the House by a roll call vote of 282 to 30.

Vice President and General Manager of Sinclair Oil Company Fred Palmer, pointed out to an audience in the Starlight Room at the Coronado Inn some of the problems in the oil industry concerning taxes, federal control of natural gas prices had renewed efforts to expand federal control within the industry.

The new Dunlap department store, which is currently under construction has announced the opening of a branch post-office.

Opposition arose today to the proposed 10 percent increase in Pampa's general gas rate. A petition to grant a delay of the hike went into circulation until an election could be called to determine the will of the people.

Three pounds of hamburger meat is advertised for 98 cents by a local grocery store.

Out of a total of 127 miles, Pampa has 97 miles of streets in residential areas that need improvement. A special city commission meeting has been scheduled to finalize the street paving program.

Pampa High School Choir will perform the musical "Showboat" this week. The proceeds from the show will go to help finance the choir and band trip to the Los Angeles Rams - Baltimore Colts football game in Los Angeles.

1973
Pampa wants the federal government to grant money to help bring the city's sewage treatment up to state standards.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce is planning a meeting to discuss how the energy crisis may affect the Texas Panhandle area.

Clements expected to stir up critics

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — George Steffes, the Californian in charge of helping Bill Clements make the switch from private citizen to governor, predicted Saturday Clements will be a "very active" stir up critics.

Steffes said Clements "is going to want to — if at all possible — meet personally with all the Legislature" before the session convenes in January.

"Bill deals with people personally, and he is certainly planning on doing that with the Legislature," Steffes said on the weekly radio show, State Capitol Dateline.

The Legislature includes 150 House members and 31 senators, as well as Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Clements, a wealthy Dallas businessman, shaded Attorney General John Hill by approximately 16,000 votes out of 2.3 million votes cast on Nov. 7 to become Texas' first Republican governor in over 100 years.

He has already had over 300 invitations to speak, Steffes said.

He said one of the first things that caused Clements' campaign to go so well was that Clements "never doubted for a second that he could become governor of Texas." He knew he could win and he passed that "right down the line" to his supporters.

Steffes said the fact that most Texans had not heard of Clements' name when he began the governor's race "probably made Mr. Hill most over confident."

Clements' victory, too, said Steffes, could be attributed to the feeling of the average Texan that Clements was not a politician. "They see him as one of them," Steffes said.

Steffes also was in charge of California Gov. Ronald Reagan's transition office in 1966, and he said he came to Texas to help Clements because Clements is a friend Steffes said, however, he would not join Clements' staff after he takes office in January.

Asked what kind of governor he expected Clements to be, Steffes replied.

"He'll be dealing with controversial issues, and it goes without saying that you're going to have problems. The only time you don't have problems is when you're not doing anything. He's going to be a very active governor, so there will be people criticizing him as well as people backing him."

Steffes also described Clements as "decisive," "direct," "very colorful," "very persuasive" and "very outspoken."

"There's going to be a lot of interest in what he has to say," Steffes predicted. "I obviously think he's going to make an outstanding, an excellent governor. He will be very good for this state. I think the thing he wants most in this world is to be remembered as a great governor of Texas because he loves this state so much."

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: For years, while playing endless second fiddle to Mary Tyler Moore on her TV show, gruff Ed Asner dreamed of finally starring in his own series. At last it happened. Asner took his character of the harassed newsroom boss to "The Lou Grant Show." The dreams are now a nightmare. "The Lou Grant Show" is running. Ed Asner's once-happy life. Confirms the 49-year-old actor: "I find I'm now very erratic. I lose track of people and things I've done and said. My psychiatrist tells me it's a sign that I am emotionally overextended, a victim of events." The strain is showing in Asner's 19-year-old marriage, which already has survived many crises, but Asner's wife Nancy has been through all this before and vows to stand by her man. Asner says, "I know I should be grateful for getting the chance to be a star at an advanced age, and in some ways I am. But damn it, I feel like I'm carrying concrete blocks on my back. Making the transition from second banana to top banana when you are almost 50 is a true killer." If the "Lou Grant Show" drains him so completely, why doesn't he push for shorter hours and longer vacations? "It's the old fear of being this year's big star—and next year's gas station attendant or cab driver," he explains. "I suppose that's unrealistic now, since I'm well-established by anyone's standards."

INSIDE THE TUBE: Mention the perfect TV wife and mother, and there's a good chance Florence Henderson's name will pop into mind. Henderson, the mom on the "Brady Bunch" series, says the "image" has caused her a few problems and some marriage proposals have come her way. In fact, one persistent admirer once flew to California armed with a picture brochure of engagement rings. "He had seen her wave a rose at the audience on 'The Hollywood Squares' and was certain I was waving at him," she told me. "Fortunately, he never found me." Pop superstar Tom Jones is one of three richest entertainers in the world but there is one world he has yet to conquer—movies. Jones, 38, is correcting that oversight with a TV film called "Pleasure Cove," co-starring Joan Hackett. "They ask me why I'm spending two months in the movie grind when I could be making 10 times as much doing concerts," Jones reflects. "Well, the truth is that my heroes have always been Frank Sinatra and Elvis Presley—men who graduated from singing to motion pictures and became even bigger successes. "I don't need the money. I need the challenge." Today's note on how tough it is to be rich: "Wonder Woman" Lynda Carter wants to sell the $400,000 diamond necklace and earrings her husband Ron Samuels gave her not so long ago. She wore 'em to the Emmy show, you may recall. Well, now she's found out what Liz Taylor knew a long time ago: "It costs me $1,000 just to take them out of the vault," Lynda moans. "Insurance costs are so high!"

TV BACKSTAGE: Talk about town is that a publisher offered Farrah Fawcett-Majors a cool million for her autobiography and that she turned him down—because at this point in her life she's not prepared to talk about a number of highly personal things. Susie Coelho, Sonny's gorgeous girlfriend, has recently done some redecorating around the old Bono household. From what we hear, out went everything that ever belonged to Cher. About time. Sonny and Susie have been together a long time now. Well, at least through one more Cher marriage and divorce. Astonished diners gave a big hand when Angel Cheryl Ladd walked over to the piano player in the lounge of the Bel Air Hotel and warbled some pop tunes. Metromedia Producers Corporation and Merv Griffin have agreed to a deal whereby 30 of Merv's TV shows will be taped in the Big Apple annually.

TV COMPUTING SERVICES, INC.

FRANCO NERO as Baydr Al Fay, Olivia Hussey (front) as his rebellious daughter Leila and Anne Archer as his wife Jordana, star in a four-hour special movie presentation of Harold Robbins' powerful contemporary novel "The Pirate," to be broadcast Tuesday, Nov. 21 and Wednesday, Nov. 22 on CBS-TV.

The "Mercur Galant," published in 1672, was the first general interest magazine. It was concerned principally with gossip.

To the People of Pampa and Gray County:

Thank you for your support and consideration during my campaign. It was a real pleasure renewing old friendships and making new ones the past 14 months.

Congratulations to Mr. Whaley on his victory, and my best wishes go with him as he travels to Austin for what will be an extremely difficult session of our legislature.

I spent a great deal of time in Pampa this last year and have grown to really love the community and its people. I intend to always keep a close relationship with you.

Yours for a better Texas,
Bill Hale
