Livestock Sales To Re-open Sept. 4

Auction Ring Is Ready; Many Buyers Expected

Advertising is going out this week, announcing the reopening of the Muleshoe Livestock Auction on Thursday, September 4. The ring has been completely overhauled during the summer, and there are ample facilities for handling several hundred head of livestock.

The livestock auction will be under the same management as last season, with E. J. Killough as manager, and M. A. Gibson, bookkeeper. W. D. Wanzor will again be on the job as auctioneer.

The management stated today that pens had been reserved for some eight hundred head of animals and the opening day is expected to draw one of the largest crowds ever seen at the ring. Buyers from Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona have sent word that they will be here to purchase some of the excellent beef which is raised in this county.

Representatives of Cudahy Packing Co., of Fort Worth and Los Angeles have wired that they will be on hand, as they are always in the market for good beef.

Bequet also sent word that he would be here for the opening day, and every mail brings letters from country about the sale from buyers in the corn belt. Probably one of the biggest buyers is Joe Swartzman, of Albuquerque, N. M., who has wired that he will be here on September 4.

Stockmen say that this has been one of the best seasons in years, as grass and water are plentiful and cattle are in fine shape. Prices are good and bidding is expected to be brisk, according to buyers.

Completion Near On New Home

Harry Jesko, long time resident of this section, is just completing one of the most modern country homes to be found anywhere in West Texas. Built of brick, the home has six large rooms, bath and complete basement.

It is the only home in Bailey County with fluorescent lighting throughout. Floors are of hardwood, and heating is furnished by a large hot water system.

Mr. Jesko came here from Indiana in 1908, and became one of West Texas' most prominent farmers and stockraisers while witnessing some of the hardest years yet known to the west. Through hard work and good management, the Jeskos are now able to enjoy a well deserved season of the good things of life.

Building material for the new home was furnished by Higginbotham-Bartlett, and the electrical work was done by Dave Coulter.

HARVEST 100 CARS WHEAT

HALE CENTER — Hale Center's wheat harvest, just ending, produced 100 carloads of new wheat, grain dealers report.

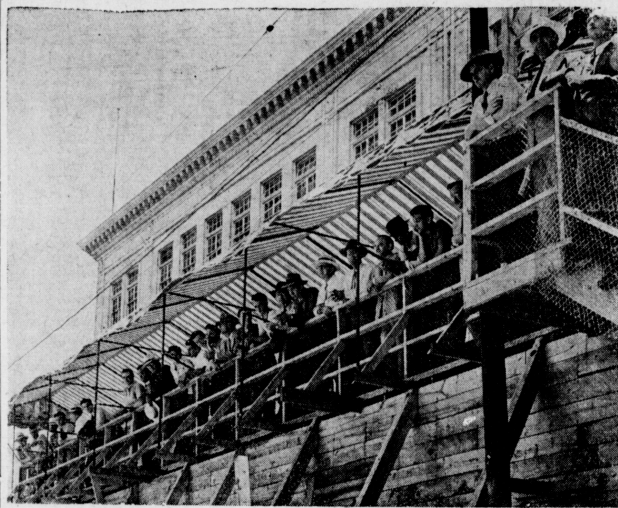

Buy Defense Bonds.

WHEAT INDEMNITY CERTIFICATES PERMITTED AS LOAN COLLATERAL

Certificates of indemnity issued to farmers as payment of wheat losses, may be used as collateral for wheat loans, according to Lonnie Arnold, chairman of the Bailey county AAA committee.

"With loan rates higher than the present market value, it is to the advantage of insured wheat farmers to place this indemnity wheat under the loan," the AAA official continued, "and in taking the loan they not only retain possession of the wheat but are in position to sell if the price goes up."

SIDEWALK SUPERINTENDENTS' CLUB GROWS

Shows Will Be Given, Interest Of Agriculture

Bailey county citizens interested in the progress of agriculture will have the privilege of again seeing a full picture show Friday and Saturday, consisting of a series of agricultural pictures and comedies, Sam T. Logan, county agent said today. The occasion is being sponsored by the agricultural agencies of Bailey county.

Three out of four executives in the steel industry started at production jobs in the mills and worked their way up.

Journal Force Made Honorary (?) Members Of Club

If the new Mercantile National Bank Building at Dallas is not a super super-structure it won't be for lack of advice. The "Sidewalk Superintendents' Club" now has a membership of 17,000 and is growing daily.

When excavation work started recently, crowds lined the grand rails to watch. As usual, watchers were liberal with advice to the engineers. Just like old maids and old bachelors, who can always tell how to bring up kids, the spectators, who had never built a 30-story building in their lives, found everything wrong.

However, it was all done good-naturedly, so bank officials decided to make the folks comfortable. "If they want to watch, they'll watch in comfort," said R. L. Thornton, president of the bank. So the stands pictured above were erected, and membership cards in the Sidewalk Superintendents' Club issued.

Even The Journal force has been made honorary — or maybe original — members. With such expert advisers, the building should stand forever.

Scout Leader To Visit South Plains

Dr. James E. West of New York City, who has succeeded to the position of "No. 1 Boy Scout of the world," will visit Lubbock October 23, according to definite notification received at South Plains Council headquarters.

The simultaneous announcement was made that Lubbock has been selected as a scene on that date of the Western Scout Training Institute for Boy Scout leaders in West Texas and New Mexico.

Dr. West, whose official title is "chief executive of Boy Scouts of America," is to serve as a faculty member at the one-day institute and will be speaker at a night banquet to which all friends of Boy Scouting will be invited.

Plainview H'way Open To Traffic

After being closed to traffic for several weeks, State Highway 28 was opened to travel last week-end.

Following a heavy rain several weeks ago, a low place on the highway, about two miles north-east of Muleshoe, filled with water, and a lake has been standing on the road since.

Recently the water receded enough to permit highway employees to use graders and trucks in making temporary repairs on the road. Several truck loads of gravel and dirt were dumped at the worst places, making it possible for traffic to cross.

Several hundred feet of pavement was ruined by the water.

Industry's defense production job is equivalent to the task of building five Panama Canals a month.

Bailey County Fair Will Not Be Held This Year

It was definitely decided last Friday by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce that there would be no Bailey county fair this year. This decision was arrived at due to the fact that there is not a suitable building in town available for display of the many products which are generally brought in. This is particularly true of livestock, and to date, all buildings are in use and will be throughout the fall.

It was also decided to start work on securing a site and making arrangements for a permanent building for an annual fair. The buildings would be for all purposes of interest to the town and county, such as 4-H Club shows, machinery displays, and meetings of county citizens where ample room is needed.

A committee was appointed to work with the agriculture committee in perfecting plans for this project, and the aid of all who are interested is earnestly solicited. Bailey county has been holding one of the best community fairs on the Plains for the past several years and it is regrettable that it is impossible to hold one this year. However, it was also stated that delay of crops due to excessive rainfall would make it virtually impossible to arrange desirable exhibits for September.

County Agent S. T. Logan of the agriculture committee, stated that it was intended to arrange an exhibit for either the Tri-State fair at Amarillo, the Lubbock or State Fair at Dallas. He pointed out that the dates of these fairs are in October, which would allow ample time to get up a fine display of Bailey county products, and would give us some excellent advertising.

County 4-H Club Girls Attend Encampment

Last Wednesday, 21 4-H Club girls, the Home Demonstration Agent and three sponsors left for a two-day encampment at Ceta Glin Canyon. They returned home Thursday afternoon after a grand time, with a determination to do better, 4-H Club work next year.

It is hoped that all 4-H Club girls will hear of the encampment with all its entertainment, fun and educational value, and begin making plans now to attend next year. The program is a continuous round of stunts, games, swimming, hiking, demonstrations and eating.

It gives the girls an opportunity to meet club girls from other parts of the district, make new friends and learn what other girls are doing in their work.

Those who attended the encampment from Bailey county were:

Jennine Whittington Onetta Dray, Ruth Shaw, Helen Ruth Penney, Opal Ball, Claudine Trapp, Doris Jean Bearden, Emma Ruth Stindler, Zelma Hennington, Charline Alexander, Melba Dearing, Dorothy Dearing, Joyce Shegag, Peggy June Cummins, Gemma Sue Vernon, Betty Ann Hill, Virginia Kennedy, Mrs. B. Sufficient liquid soap is bought annually by the Pullman company to fill a swimming pool 40 feet long, 30 feet wide and 8 feet deep.

Firemen Ask Citizens To Aid By Observing Certain Rules

Members of the Muleshoe Fire Department have requested us to ask the general public not to park cars near a fire when the company is called out. There has been no little amount of confusion at fires, and the boys have been hampered in their work, due to spectators driving right up to a fire and leaving their cars, or driving over fire hose. There have been times when a fire truck could not even get to a plug because of parked cars which the occupants had left.

This is something that is entirely uncalculated, and is easily the cause of excessive damage which could have been avoided. Then, too, there are those who are not members of the fire company who persist in catching the truck when it makes a run and in attempting to help. The boys say that the offered assistance is appreciated, but that such attempts to help constitute a hindrance.

Most all these things are done thoughtlessly and with no intention to hamper the company in its work. However, it is now time to eliminate these things which might, at any time, be the cause of thousands of dollars loss to someone. Let the fire boys handle the fire fighting. To date they have done a very good job, and they know what to do if you will only let them.

Student Enrollment To Begin On Sept. 5; Classes Meet On 9th.

Lounge Room At City Hall Is Open

Chamber of Commerce officials announced this week that the lounge room at the City Hall is now open to the visiting public, and invite all women of each community to come in and make themselves at home when in town.

Comfortable chairs have been put in the room and magazines will be furnished each week so that women may while away the time while waiting for friends or relatives to finish shopping. Writing material also will be available for those who wish to write letters and other conveniences will be furnished as soon as possible.

Citizens of Muleshoe who have magazines, chairs or tables which they would like to contribute are asked to bring them to the City Hall.

Sept. 6 Set As Date For Farm Loan Meeting

Sept. 6, 1941 has been set as the date for the annual meeting of the Western National Farm Loan Association. President George Bolton announced following a meeting of the association directors in the farm loan office at Muleshoe.

The annual get-together this year is expected to be a large and important conference of land owners of Bailey, Permian, Lamb, Cochran and Deaf Smith counties. Mr. Bolton said. The meeting will be held at the high school auditorium in Muleshoe, starting at 2 p. m. Details will be announced later.

Committees in charge are planning to make this year's meeting one of the best in the history of the association which began making Federal Land Bank loans in the above-mentioned counties in 1919, President Bolton said.

Noel Woodley, Muleshoe, secretary-treasurer, heads the program committee. The board of directors will serve as the attendance committee, including Geo. Bolton, Farwell, D. C. Stovall, Muleshoe; Fred E. Kepley, Farwell; B. T. Hendrickson, Farwell, and Ray Griffiths of Muleshoe.

DISTRICT RALLY TO BE HELD IN LITTLEFIELD OCTOBER 18 AND 19

The Young Fellowship league of the Methodist church will hold its district rally in the new Methodist church in Littlefield, which is now nearing completion, on October 18 and 19, it was announced this week.

J. B. Sharp, son of Rev. Jim H. Sharp, pastor of the Littlefield church, is president for this section, and stated that big delegations from Lubbock, Plainview and other points would attend.

It is estimated that attendance will reach the 300 figure.

TEXAS UTILITIES REDUCE RATES IN LITTLEFIELD

As announced by the Texas-New Mexico Utilities company, Wednesday of last week in Littlefield, a reduction in commercial rates is being accorded to all commercial users in that city.

The new rate is effective on all current consumed since last bills were received.

This new rate is said to amount to an average reduction of more than 22 percent, according to the company officials.

A recent survey of industrial executives showed that 77 percent were church members.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Julian Lenau returned the first of the week from Pueblo, Colo., where her father, W. L. Koen, has been ill in a hospital for the past several days. Although somewhat improved, Mrs. Lenau stated that he was not doing so well. They hope to bring him back to his home in Clovis the last of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and family, and June Wagon, left last Friday for a trip to Grand Canyon and other points of interest in the deep West. "Commissar" Johnson, who is not only the leading West Texas wheat raiser, but a recognized authority on international affairs, Democratic boss, prognosticator of the woes of the world and general fixer-upper for this territory, stated he would hold a secret session with some of the highest national leaders when he got to the big canyon. He hopes the session is not held down in the bottom of the chasm and the walls fall in.

Weather Forecaster Johnson was sporting a brand new Pontiac sedan when he left, which he admitted violated his prohibition tenet, but stated that a personage of his standing had to put on "a little dog" once in a while.

Aviation Cadet Training Calls To Young Men

Young men with 60 hours of college work, age 20 to 26, inclusive, unmarried and with no dependents, now have the opportunity of training as aviation cadets. The new War Department program of 30,000 pilots a year offers to qualified young men the finest instruction in the world in the operation of aircraft.

Aviation, in its infancy and regardless whether one stays in the service or returns to civil life, there will always be a growing need for trained pilots. During their training period, young men, as aviation cadets, receive $75 a month, room, clothing, medical attention and a $100,000 life insurance policy with the premiums paid.

Graduating after seven and a half months of training, they are commissioned, 2nd Lieutenants in the Army Reserve, with the opportunity of three years active duty with the United States Army Air Corps. Pay while on active duty ranges from $205 to $245 a month. Upon completion of active duty they will receive a cash bonus of $500 a year for each year of such duty.

Should the young man not have the required 60 hours of college work he will be given the opportunity of passing a mental test covering the subjects he should know.

All eligible young men or young men who think that they might be eligible for aviation cadets are asked to write or call at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Lubbock, Texas. It is expected that an aviation cadet board will be in Lubbock on or about the 23rd of August to save any applicants the expense of going to Fort Bliss or Fort Sill for their examination. All applications must be completed before arrival of the board. Birth certificate, transcripts of college credits, and three letters of recommendation must accompany application.

Summer Is Good Time To Prepare Soil For Winter

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 20—Summer is a suitable time to prepare the soil where shrubs and trees are to be planted in the winter. According to Saddle Hatfield, Extension Service specialist in landscape gardening, shrubs should be cleaned of weeds, plants, spaded carefully, and utilized with barnyard manure and leaf mold. This material should be thoroughly mixed with the soil.

Before adding the fertilizer, it might be well to remove a portion of the soil because building up of the shrub bed will cause the water to shed off and thereby may deprive it of needed moisture. Miss Hatfield says. It is well also to shade the beds very deeply because they will not be disturbed after the shrubs are planted. Keeping the beds clean cultivated until winter also helps make the soil better for growing plants. Advance preparation helps to insure good growth in shrubs and trees when they are put out.

Retail Stores To Sell Defense Savings Stamps

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Defense Savings Stamps soon will be on sale in retail stores throughout the country.

Secretary Morgenthau announced the extension of Defense Savings Stamps sales to retail outlets everywhere after a meeting of the Treasury Department on August 12, when executives of associations representing more than a million stores pledged immediate participation of their members in the Defense Savings Program. Stamps will go on sale shortly in department stores, grocery, drug, variety, furniture, hardware, and all other types of retail outlets.

At the meeting the retailers endorsed full participation in the "Retailers for Defense" Week. Secretary Morgenthau and Treasury officials project the plan for initiating the nation-wide store effort. The Secretary expressed his appreciation of the cooperation extended by the retail organizations, saying:

"The Defense Savings Program is gaining momentum every day. The splendid spirit shown by the retailers of the nation in putting their associations behind the sale of Defense Savings Stamps is having a stimulating effect in advancing the whole program. It is another indication of the American determination to proceed wholeheartedly toward success in our national defense effort."

Selectees Display Pride In Giving Place Of Birth

A trait of human nature which takes pride in one's birthplace is recognized by the Selective Service System. Local Selective Service offices pointed out today in commenting on a ruling from National Headquarters that any foreign born registrant whose native country has been conquered, or otherwise taken over by another nation, may ignore such change of government in answering questions concerning his nativity.

The officials said that some foreign born registrants, in filling out their questionnaires, have assumed that they were compelled to give the name of the conquering or occupying nation as the country of their birth. This has been particularly distasteful to those whose native lands have been victims of the Axis powers, he stated.

"This assumption," officials said, "is wrong and registrants who have previously given their nationality as that of the dominating or occupying country rather than that of their subjugated native country may, upon request, have their local board amend their records as to nationality."

By way of example, a Czech filling out his questionnaire since the conquest of his country by Germany does not have to designate his birth country as Germany. He may record it as Czechoslovakia.

The provisions of the ruling also apply to natives of Austria, although the German annexation of Austria was officially recognized by the United States.

NO SHORTAGE FORESEEN

Uppmost in many million American minds right now is this question: "What effect will defense priorities have on the supply of goods for civilian use?" At this time, it is impossible to give an exact answer to that question. According to the statistics from Washington and the industrial centers, it looks like we're going to have enough of all the necessities and many of the luxuries of life to keep us going in comfortable style. There will be shortages in some lines, but there will be no grave disruption of the American economic system or the American standard of living, unless some unlooked for calamity occurs. A lack of some important materials will make the use of substitutes necessary according to the experts. These substitutes will be generally adequate in quality and reasonable in price. Here is how the outlook shapes up at this writing:

CLOTHING: NO serious shortage in sight, though there is none too much leather on hand, the light of military needs. Prices will probably go considerably higher for shots and suits. In the case of lower price goods, quality may have to be lowered. Within a few months silk stockings are expected to entirely disappear from the market. Nylon and rayon is not enough nylon and rayon to supply the demand. However, new types of cotton stockings are being developed and are said to be excellent.

AUTOMOBILES: It has not been decided to what extent production will be cut. It is estimated that 1942 output will be at least 25 percent under the level established in 1941. It will be necessary for dealers to make larger profits per unit, so trade-in values will be lower. The expected government excise will take up the price of new cars substantially. There will be little chromium trimming, and there will be no aluminum for plating, etc., after present stocks in carmakers' hands are exhausted.

OIL: The industry's capacity to produce is far beyond any demand that can be forecast. Britain has created something of a transportation problem in the field. Main shortage is along the Atlantic seaboard, where some rationing may be put into effect. In the foreseeable future, there will be no lack of petroleum in other parts of the country.

HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCES: Heavy cuts in production will be made to conserve metals for military purposes. In the case of washers and refrigerators, the cuts may be as high as 50 percent. However, the cut will be made, as in the case of automobiles, on the basis of 1941 records sales. So, for some time to come at least, production will be close to normal levels. It is reported that the substitutes being used for aluminum and nickel are satisfactory. Higher prices are to be expected.

FOOD: No shortage of any food is anticipated. If rationing of certain foods, such as in the past war, is imposed, it will be very limited in extent.

HOUSING: In certain areas, notably those which contain many defense industries, there is a very grave shortage, and rents are soaring. This is one of the toughest problems the country has on its hands now.

ELECTRIC POWER: Shortages exist in a few areas. The Federal Electric Power Authority has a policy which has prevented much private expansion. The utilities, however, are now planning an ambitious development program, and are confident of their ability to meet the demand. In most of the country there is plenty of juice for both industrial and household needs.

WHAT it all adds up to is that we will have less non-military production of a good many commodities — but the pinch will not be anywhere near so severe as scare rumors might lead you to anticipate. It is generally believed that the average price level will go ten or fifteen percent higher, and most government experts do not seem to feel that any danger of real inflation has yet appeared. Great hopes are

by JAMES PRESTON

Many Washington observers have interpreted the hearings by the special Senate committee investigating the old-age pension situation as a prelude to strongly backed proposed legislation along this line at the Townsend Plan.

Sitting at the committee table when the investigation began was Dr. Francis Townsend, founder of the Townsend Plan.

Senator Downey, Democrat of California, made it clear at the outset that his attitude was not of a judicial nature, and many spectators thought he demonstrated this by reading into the record a prepared speech assailing the operation of the present Social Security Act.

His attitude in the House is a bill (H.R. 1945) which if enacted would provide a minimum federal old-age pension of $30 a month for every citizen over 60. An attempt is being made to bring it to the floor by means of a discharge petition. Signatures of members are being gathered. A majority would be required. Already 170 members have signed.

TIMES DO NOT CHANGE

Thomas Jefferson said, "I served with General Washington in the Legislature of Virginia before the Revolution and, during the time of the American Revolution, I never heard either of them speak ten minutes at a time, nor to any but the main point, which was to decide the question." They laid their shoulders to great points, knowing that the little ones would follow.

THOSE WHO KNOW THE PHILOSOPHIES

Those who know the philosophies of the factions within the defense set-up in Washington are not in a hurry to make a change in their private jobs to become dollar-a-year men for the defense emergency, believe in individual initiative. They have seen private enterprise produce the highest standard of living in the world.

By CHARLES DIDWAY

EDWARDS

Although the family name Edwards is common in Wales, it is not preponderantly Welsh, claiming England as the country of its origin.

The name Edward means "blessed keeper" from "ead" (happy, blessed) and "weard" (keeper). Edward has been a favorite name for English kings. It becomes Edward in French and Edward in German.

FOX

The use of Fox as a family name is thought to have originated from the practice in early days of naming a man from the nearest inn-sign.

GRAHAM

Ancestors of the Graham family probably were known more for their traveling than anything else in early days.

HOLT

Occurring also in combination with many other place and family names, Holt is of English origin, meaning a "small hill."

SMOKY YEARS

CHAPTER XVII

Shoshone Wilce, riding with Jody Gordon through the same hundred-roper trail which screened Bill Roper and Tex Long in their aid on the Little Dry, found himself the most bewildered and the most unhappy of men.

He could have refused to guide Jody Gordon on Bill Roper's rendezvous; he thought it improbable that Jody Gordon would have been able to locate the rendezvous alone.

The alternative he had chosen offered no greater prospect for a long and happy life. Lew Gordon would go wild as a wounded silvertip at the disappearance of his daughter; and every King-Gordon cowboy in the country would be scouring the brakes after Shoshone's trail.

Jody believed now that the split between Lew Gordon and Bill Roper was the basis of inconceivable disaster—not only immediate and personal, but far-reaching in its import to the cow country.

Separated, Lew Gordon and Bill Roper were mutually destructive; Lew Gordon was probably right that Bill Roper's savage attacks upon the Thorpe interests were the cause of Thorpe's heavy reprisals upon King-Gordon.

THE STORY SO FAR:

the opposition of his sweetheart, Jody Gordon, his father. After wiping Thorpe out of Texas, Roper conducted a great raid upon the vast herds on Thorpe's Montana ranches. Thorpe and Jody had disappeared, he left his men

Now Shoshone Wilce reached out to catch her bridle reins, and they stopped. She started to ask what the matter, but checked herself. Wilce had become tensely watchful, and she saw that he was listening.

After a moment or two of utter stillness, Wilce whispered "Wait a minute," and pushed his horse slowly forward into the dark. For a little while as they moved away from her she could see the tall black silhouette of his horse against the pale moon, but soon this blurred with the darkness and was lost.

Growing impatient at last, and a little uneasy, Jody moved her pony ahead after Shoshone. There was a moment or two of panic, in which it seemed that she had lost him altogether in the dark; but her pony knew where the other was if she did not, and presently brought her alongside.

Shoshone Wilce was sitting perfectly motionless on his horse, staring ahead into a darkness to which the snow gave a curiously deceptive luminosity that did not aid the eye.

"I don't like this so good," Shoshone said. "What's the matter?" "No lights."

They moved ahead a little now, Jody holding her pony beside that of Shoshone Wilce. Shoshone moved his horse forward twenty paces, and

The man called Jim appeared to consider intently his eyes on the other's face. "I ain't so sure," he said after a moment.

"You talk a fool," the younger man snapped at his superior. "Look what we got. We got the law back. You see you ain't in Ogallala, and another one in Bandera."

The older man shifted his eyes to his partner. "Queerer turn of the cards," he said, "I ever seen in all my born days."

The younger man's voice was sharp and strained. "Jim, we got to get her out of here, and get her out quick!"

"We got every chance of nailing our man, right here, any hour. But don't ever think we'll nail without a hell of a sharp fight. Suppose you get hurt in the fight, or gets loose and loses herself, we run out of luck some other way. The quicker we get her out here—"

"That's all," the younger man said. "What's the reason we can't?" "We got the bear by the tail! She's dynamite so long as she's here. I grant you that. But what if we leave her go? She warns Roper off. Then what do we do?"

The younger man's eyes were keen with a repressed excitement. "Jim—you figure she come to meet Bill Roper here?"

"She didn't come here by accident," the older man said with conviction, "any more than you or me. And she sure didn't come here to throw in with us."

A swift panic struck Jody with the shock of a blow in the face. If Jim was right, he could hold her here—literally as bait with which to draw the man whom it was his mission to kill. If Shoshone Wilce had got clear, and could reach Roper's main shabang, after working as soon as the best ponies of the raiders could bring him, or, failing to locate Roper, Shoshone Wilce might even bring her father—and Roper's main shabang, after working regard to Lew Gordon she could only surmise.

"I'm getting sick of this," Jody told Jim Leathers. "You owe me a horse; there can't possibly be any arguments about that. I'll have to ask you to rope a pony and bring him to my saddle—and I'll be on my way!"

Slowly Leathers shook his head. "You won't give me a pony?"

"I'm afraid—you'll have to wait until your friends come, lady."

For Jody Gordon's white flash of anger there was no outlet whatever. She turned away to hide from them the furious tears that sprang into her eyes. She took off her sheepskin coat and flung it on the table, for the room was very hot; but because her fingers were still chilled to the bone she put on her gloves, tucked them in her belt, and went to the shallow fireplace to hold out her hands to the flames.

They went on talking now in the drawing, well-considered speech of the trail, long pauses marking every interchange. Whatever else they might think of her, they evidently did not consider that she implied any necessity to secrecy.

"If Roper—" "If Roper—" the younger rider said thoughtfully, "this side rider of hers has got loose and meets him, so that Roper might see her up against—that might be all right. But with medicine, Jim. If he's got his war-riders with him—"

"I've missed hooking up with Roper twenty times when I thought I had. Jim Leathers said, 'I'd sooner meet up with Roper on any terms than carry back the word that I fell down.'" and set out for the home of Lew Gordon, a man who was once his partner. But now his enemy, Jody Gordon had set out to locate her father with a great failing, she set out with Shoshone Wilce.

lowered Roper to be led into the little cabin at which she had hoped to find Bill Roper.

The shack in which she now found herself was a cramped make-shift place, intended only as a shelter for boys, storm-caught while riding the northern limits of the Fork Creek range. A single lantern hung from a roof pole; and now, by its yellow light the two men studied her with an unconcealed amazement.

"By God," said the older of the two, "it's a girl, all right!"

The other man, tall enough so that the door at his back looked small, was much the younger of the two—the face of a man who even in youth had learned an effectiveness in action upon which he could well rely. He spoke sharply.

"Jim! We got to know who this is! That Lew Gordon's girl?"

"Good Lord Almighty! I believe you're right!"

"It's her, sure enough!"

"So you know me?" Jody said. "I've seen you in Ogallala, and another one in Bandera."

The older man shifted his eyes to his partner. "Queerer turn of the cards," he said, "I ever seen in all my born days."

The younger man's voice was sharp and strained. "Jim, we got to get her out of here, and get her out quick!"

"We got every chance of nailing our man, right here, any hour. But don't ever think we'll nail without a hell of a sharp fight. Suppose you get hurt in the fight, or gets loose and loses herself, we run out of luck some other way. The quicker we get her out here—"

stopped again for a full minute; then ten paces more.

Jody said, "What in the world—"

Wilce seized her arm and silenced her with a quick shake. Then suddenly—

An inarticulate oath marled in Shoshone's throat; he snatched at Jody's rein, whisked her pony. His own horse came straight up on its hind legs as he span it at close quarters.

"Get going!" he said between his teeth; and brought his rostral down across her pony's flank in a snapping cut that made it plunge ahead. She heard the rip of steel on leather as Shoshone's gun came out. Then the silence of the night exploded with happenings that were incredible.

Two guns smashed out in a swift flurry of detonation. A queer whistling grunt was knocked out of Jody's horse. It dropped from under him and the ground struck upward with stunning violence.

For a moment Jody struck lay motionless, her cheek buried in the cool snow. She was aware of further firing, and more than one running horse, and she tasted blood from a cut lip; but at first she was unable to think.

Someone said, "Well, we got one of 'em, anyway."

"Haul him inside."

"Look out now. Bud—no funny business." The voice was unknown to her, as was the figure that now loomed over her. Suddenly the man jerked forward to peer at her more closely.

"What the—Hey! It's Calamity Jane, or somebody!"

Jody Gordon struggled to her feet, shook herself as angrily as "You fools, are you crazy? Bill Roper will kill you for this!"

There was a moment's silence, and she sensed rather than saw that they were looking at each other.

"Bill Roper," one of them repeated. "She says she's looking for Bill Roper!"

"Lady, you better come inside!"

Dazed and shaky as the fall of her killed horse had left her, Jody Gordon still appeared the most self-possessed of them all as she alighted. Her swift glance chilled Jody at the thought of meeting Bill Roper face to face again after so long a time. She tried to imagine what she was going to say to him, and was completely unable. She wondered how he would look, and whether he would be glad to see her.

It was the first time she had been to dinner with them, and they smiled indulgently as she sipped a whisky and soda. "I've never touched it in my life," she explained. "Why not try it?" urged her host. "See if you like the taste." She blushed and shyly consented, and he poured her out a mixture which she delicately raised her lips. "You've given me a rich," she cried, "you've given me a rich."

Toby's Comedians To Be In Muleshoe Thursday, Aug. 28

Announcement has been made in Muleshoe that the original Toby's Comedians will be here for a three night engagement starting Thursday night, August 28, under the auspices of the American Legion.

This show is not to be confused with shows of similar titles, as it has positively never before appeared in Muleshoe. The company is headed by Billy "Toby" Young, comedian, who has surrounded himself with a young, capable and clever cast. All new plays will be presented during the Muleshoe engagement with the very best of vaudeville interspersed between the acts. The tent theatre is said to be brand new, water-proofed and air-conditioned, which is an innovation with a traveling tent show. No doubt this new show will be greeted by large audiences.

Simple Drill Is Ordered For CCC

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Training in marching and simple formations according to Army infantry drill regulations was ordered Saturday for the 200,000 men of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Disclosing the order, James J. McEntee, director, said the CCC boys would not be given guns, and declared, "This is not putting the corps in the military establishment."

"The purpose of the instruction," he explained, "is to strengthen and broaden the basic health and physical training programs provided in CCC camps for all enrollees. The corps training will better fit the boys for service in the Army if they are inducted or volunteer, and likewise will better equip them for jobs in defense industries."

The whole idea of the mass drill, he added, "is to spruce these kids up."

New Mexico To Stage Blackout

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The first statewide blackout in the United States will be conducted in New Mexico September 12, F. H. LaGuardia, civilian defense director, said recently.

The blackout will be conducted to test plans and establish a basis for training and co-ordination of public and volunteer defense workers. Results of the New Mexico test will be made available to other states. LaGuardia designated Col. William W. Sterling of the Eighth Corps Area to represent him at the test.

Plans for the blackout have been worked out by the New Mexico State Council of Defense with the assistance of the American Legion, the Red Cross, police and fire departments and many civil organizations.

Mayor R. L. Brown spent Sunday visiting friends in Plainview and Lockney.

Muleshoe Soldier Makes A1 Cook

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal. Aug. 20—A soldier who is going to be mighty handy around the home when his training program is over is Private First Class Robert L. Hicks, Co. I, 115th Medical Regiment, of Muleshoe, Tex.

The soldier has been given the coveted certificate from the School for Bakers and Cooks at Camp San Luis Obispo, after an intensive two months course in cooking.

Private Hicks is now qualified to "pull a shift" in a company mess there, cooking all three meals including meats, pastries, and other dishes. He is also qualified to supervise kitchen sanitation and personal hygiene of his crew, translate bare recipes into proper quantities for numbers to be fed, and spread it on the tables all hot and tasty.

The Bakers and Cooks school here was conducted by Lieut. Alvin Crocker, under supervision of Major K. K. Pettibone, commander of the Bakers and Cooks School of the Ninth Corps Area.

Lesser Prairie Chickens Prosper

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 20—While practically the entire 1941 Attwater prairie chicken crop on the coastal prairies of Texas was lost, the Lesser prairie chickens of the Panhandle are prospering this year, according to word received by the executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission from biologists and game wardens.

Floods wiped out the nests and the young Attwater prairie chickens and the loss of an entire crop of birds will be sorely felt. The Attwaters face a precarious future due to the fact more and more of their range is being placed in cultivation by rice growers.

The Lesser chickens of the north Texas plains not only cropped a big crop of young birds, but increased rainfall has resulted in much more food and cover for them. There will be no open season in Texas on prairie chickens for at least five years, a law having been enacted by the last Legislature continuing the closed season until 1946.

Law Sone And College Featured

An article concerning Texas Wesleyan College, Fort Worth, and its president, Law Sone, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sone, appears in the annual educational number of "West Texas Today," official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

According to the article, President Sone and his staff and faculty last term conducted a very successful golden anniversary jubilee year which saw records broken in both enrollment and scholarship.

The article included a picture of President Sone. His parents, after several years residence in Muleshoe, moved to Canyon July 1.

Excess Wheat May Be Turned Into Free Wheat

Excess wheat under 1941 marketing quotas may be converted to free wheat this fall, Lonnie Arnold, chairman of the Bailey county AAA committee has announced.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has provided that wheat equal to the amount by which a producer exceeds his allotment for the following year, measured in terms of his normal yield, or the amount his next year's actual production falls below the normal yield of his allotted acres, may be marketed without penalty.

In clarifying this statement, Arnold assumed that a producer with excess wheat has a 100-acre wheat allotment and 10 bushels per acre normal yield. If his planting were reduced to 80 acres next year, he would be entitled to release 200 bushels of excess wheat from storage as soon as the seeding was completed and the acreage measured. When producers seed acreage equal to their entire wheat allotment and actual production falls below the normal yield, the corresponding amount of excess wheat would be converted to free wheat at the time the wheat crop is harvested.

Under present wheat marketing provisions, farmers with excess wheat may store the excess, secure it by bond or money in escrow and be eligible for a government loan at 60 percent of the regular loan rate on the excess or deliver it to the Secretary of Agriculture for relief purposes. If the excess wheat is stored, either in warehouses or on the farm, warehouse receipts or a bond or money in escrow for the amount of the penalty is deposited with the county AAA committees. These deposits are the producers' assurance that none of the excess will be sold, fed or marketed or disposed of in any other way, and as long as the excess wheat is stored, no marketing penalty will be due.

Loans on excess wheat, which are made at 60 percent of the regular loan rate after the payment is secured by bond or money in escrow, may run to April 30, 1948. If farm-stored wheat is delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation in settlement of the loan, the borrower may collect 12 cents a bushel storage allowance. Delivery of the wheat in payment of the loan, however, is considered marketing and calls for payment of the penalty unless a release is secured, the AAA official pointed out.

Farmers who wish to sell or feed their excess may pay the marketing penalty of 49 cents a bushel on the amount of the excess wheat if they wish to be free to market or feed their entire wheat crops.

Every wheat farm has a wheat marketing quota, and the only wheat that is subject to penalty when marketed or otherwise disposed of is the smaller of the actual or normal yield on the acres in excess of the farm's acreage allotment.

Both boys drowned while swimming in a ground tank near Mangum, Okla. It is not known how the drowning occurred as no one else was at the tank at the time. Schuster was said to have been able to swim, but not very well. Young Kerbow could not swim, it was reported.

The Schuster youth had only recently received an airplane pilot's license. He had been attending school at Mangum. The double funeral services were conducted Sunday with a large crowd of relatives and friends present.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO (From files of Aug. 20, 1926) The management of the Muleshoe fair have been busy this week getting out their catalogue, windshield stickers and other advertising. The dates have been set for September 17 and 18.

O. B. Robinson and family of Mangum, Okla., arrived in Muleshoe last Wednesday and visited with his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Robinson for a few days. On Sunday they left for Throckmorton, accompanied by his son and wife and Ira Robinson. They are going to hold a family reunion there.

Ray Griffiths and family returned the first of the week from Snyder where they have been visiting for several days.

T. H. Chandler, who lives about six miles south of Muleshoe, near Mill Switch, started loading Tom Watson melons from his patch of over 300 acres this week. The melons that are going on the market at this time weigh from 40 to 50 pounds.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From files of Aug. 20, 1931) Earth tremors, the first felt on the Plains during the past 25 years, were distinctly noticeable in Muleshoe last Sunday morning about 5:30 o'clock, and reports coming in during the early part of the week indicate the quake was general throughout the west and southwestern area of Texas and in the eastern part of New Mexico.

Under the direction of Engineer David Anderson and Pilot Delma McCarty, considerable improvement is being made on the topography of Main street this week with the new county tractor-grader recently purchased by the Bailey county commissioners.

Miss Zenobia Brock of Lazbuddy and Mr. Marvin Wimberley of Muleshoe, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony Saturday, August 15, in the home of Rev. Montanan at Clovis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wollard and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Underwood of Post, left Saturday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will attend the Rural Carriers' convention and visit Lee Wollard.

FIVE YEARS AGO

(From files of Aug. 20, 1936) Paul Bros., prominent ranchers of Bailey county with headquarters located about three miles south of Circleback, have just completed the largest trench silo yet built in the county. It is 180 feet long, nine feet deep and 11 feet wide, holding about 250 tons of silage.

Mrs. Happy Wagnon of the Longview community, who is reported to have accidentally received full force of a 22 caliber rifle bullet in the calf of her leg while removing the gun from their automobile, is said to be doing nicely.

Mrs. D. Warner of the Baileyboro community received word Friday morning of last week of the death of her father who passed away at Frederick, Okla.

WARDEN SAVES FISH FROM WATER MOCCASIN

A fairly big bass may still be alive today and growing to a size where it will give some fishermen a lot of sport because a game warden came along just after a huge water moccasin caught the fish and started swallowing it.

Working a stream near Temple, the warden came upon a huge snake well up on a bank. The snake had evidently worked itself up on the bank after catching the fish. The warden, unable to reach the snake because of overhanging branches, shot the reptile twice before it released the fish. The funny one worked its way back to the water and swam off.

"That was the only time I ever needed my gun in all the years I have been with the Game Department," the warden said in reporting the affair.

He: "When I see you smile, Miss Buffum, I want to say 'Come to me!'"

She: "Why, sir, I hardly know you, you must be a regular Don Juan."

He: "No, Miss Buffum — I'm a dentist."

The number of cars loaded with revenue freight in the first half of 1940 was an increase of 10.6 percent above the same period in 1939, and 18.8 percent above 1938, but a decrease of 11.2 percent below 1937.

He: "I'm a bank examiner." She: "Well, I'm no bank."

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

BY SUSAN THAYER

They were lined up three deep at the stocking counter clamoring for supplies of silk or nylon stockings large enough to last six months or perhaps longer.

As one woman near me said, "There's no telling what will happen and the only way to be sure is to have plenty on hand."

To be sure of what I wondered? Of comfort? There was a time, and not so many decades ago, when men wore cotton stockings to keep their ankles warm and dry, and there is no threat of a cotton shortage.

To be sure of smartness? If a few hundred well dressed women begin wearing cotton stockings this fall or winter, they'll soon be smart enough to suit the rest of us. Or if they should prefer to go bare-legged or wear socks as college girls do, why this will be "the thing" to do.

Perhaps before long we'll be looking back on the silk stocking era with that tolerant smile we used when looking at pictures of hats worn in our mother's youth!

An acceptable good looking substitute for silk stockings will be available if the need for it arises, just as substitutes for aluminum, as now being used, there's only one thing that matters these long summer August days. That is to keep ourselves at maximum efficiency as we concentrate on defense production — as we build the armaments that will resist America strong enough to resist any possibility of attack. If the Southern Wildlife. Safe In-deer! F. V. Benbow, game protector for Avery county, North Carolina, writes: "One day last spring I checked 43 licenses and one deer. I called on a man who was fishing to check his license. He said that he owned the land and called to his wife who was sitting on the bank, and she said, 'She pulled it out from under her apron and began to show it to me. I asked her why she had the deer here on the creek bank and she replied that she thought I would be along and she did not want to take her husband to jail for fishing.'"

Angler's Dictionary REEL — A coffee mill invented by Satan to snarl up at critical times, thereby inducing profuse profanity.

FISHING LINE — An expensive piece of string. It snarls, gets snagged, and is guaranteed to break at the right time, thereby creating the alibi for a "whopper" that always gets away.

"WHOPPER" — A term used to describe all fish which get away. Associated words are "Whale," "Junker," and "sockdolager."

CREEL — The distinctive item of a trout-fisherman's uniform. A fragile wicker basket in which to hide a worm can, carry a fly book, lunch, etc. Occasionally used to hold small trout.

WADERS — An effective means of carrying water from the stream to a convenient log. Guaranteed to keep the feet hot in summer and freezing in cold weather. "Waders" hold more water than "boots," and are preferred in putting out campfires.

FLIES — A feather imitation of nothing-ever-seen, with very fanciful names, and the favorite food of house moths. Flies are principally used to decorate fishermen's hats and bushes along the stream.

BOAT — A leaky tub, with a tomato can for balling, and a pair of mismatched oars. Antique boats command a high rental.

PLUGS — An instrument for removing trash, old shoes, brush and sunken logs from streams, lakes and ponds. Unusually effective at snagging overhanging limbs, your pants, river bottoms and hly pads. Comes in thirty thousand different forms, sizes and shapes. Designers fondly think of them as lures for fish but they are much more effective in hooking the fishermen.

New Cars Reflect Business Booms

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 20—Shiny new cars are multiplying on Texas roads, as business booms and incomes rise, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Already in 1940 Texans have bought 42.4 percent more new passenger cars than in the first seven months of 1939. Bureau records show, while July registrations reached the highest in history for that month — 14 percent above July, 1939.

Commercial car registrations also climbed — up 34.8 percent for the period January 1 to August 1 as compared with the same period last year, and up 20.6 percent for July as compared with July, 1939.

BLIND QUAIL FINALLY DIES

How a quail survived as long as it did while blind is puzzling a north Texas state game warden. The bird, although it had been blind for a long time, as evidenced by the fact that it had two dry holes in its head where its eyes had been, was fat. It must have been weeks since the bird lost its eyesight. The question is how had the bird fed extensively enough to keep fat and how it had avoided flying into something and killing itself. It finally met its end by colliding with the parked car of the game warden.

Cook the "WATERLESS WAY" on a Westinghouse Electric Range

Close control of heat is the secret of successful "waterless cooking." And that's why the flexible heat of a modern ELECTRIC Range gives the most perfect results. You can have any heat from low simmer to a quick boil and maintain that heat at constant temperature for as long as you want. Vegetables cooked the "waterless" way are more delicious, more healthful.
