Post office to reduce schedule

The Haskell Post Office will adjust retail window hours and an area service concept will be in effect beginning Feb. 13, said Postmaster Joe Alves.

Retail windows will close an average half-day each week with customer access to post office boxes, vending equipment and will-call service for packages continuing. Mail deliveries will not be affected.

"The retail window adjustments are part of a nationwide effort to reduce operating costs, and are necessary to comply with the deficit-reduction legislation passed in December," Alves said.

Hours of operation will remain the same except on Wednesday when the retail operation will close at 12:30 p.m.

Alves said customers will continue to have usual access to post office boxes and urges customers to use vending equipment located in the lobby to purchase stamps and other products.

The postmaster also suggested using "Stamps by Mail", a free service available by completing an order form and sending a check to cover purchases. Order forms are available from letter carriers and retail clerks.

"The decision to reduce the hours we are open was made after carefully examining all our operations to determine a reduction plan that will have the least adverse impact on our customers," Alves said.

The deficit-reduction law requires the Postal Service to trim its budget by $1.245 billion over the next 21 months.

"The law limits both capital and operating expenditures," Alves said. "Capital reductions require the immediate elimination of most building projects and equipment purchases around the nation."

"Two-thirds of the operating reduction costs are being absorbed internally, largely through administrative cutback," the postmaster added. "A remaining third must be made through a 10-percent nationwide reduction in retail hours and other, less visible means."

Alves pointed out that in case of emergencies on Wednesday afternoons, local postal patrons may go to post offices in either Rule or Stamford. The Rule post office is not affected by the new program, and the Stamford post office will be closed on Thursday afternoons instead of Wednesday.

Scout Week observed

Haskell Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts this week are observing Boy Scout Week.

Scouts attended church Sunday at the First United Methodist Church. On Saturday, they erected a display in the C&B Store.

They will continue to observe the 78th anniversary of scouting with other activities during the month. The annual Blue and Gold banquet will be Feb. 23, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Civic Center.

Boy Scouts of America was incorporated on Feb. 8, 1910 by William D. Boyce, a Chicago publisher who had happened upon scouting the previous fall while passing through London on a trip to Africa.

He found himself lost in a heavy fog when he was approached by a boy who offered to help him. To Boyce's astonishment, the boy would not accept a tip because he said it was a good turn and a Scout could not accept pay for such an act.

Boyce was so impressed with the deed he went to British Scout headquarters to find out more about the program. When he sailed for home he brought literature, insignias and uniforms to start scouting in America.

Since 1918, more than 45 million American boys and men have been involved in the Boy Scout movement. Although the United States leads the world in members, Scout programs are operated in every country of the free world.

Haskell meets Stamford in Abilene Friday night

Haskell basketball teams, assured of spots in the state playoffs, will meet Stamford for the district 7-2A championships in a pair of games Friday night at Abilene's McMurry College.

The Maidens take the floor at 6:30 and the Indians at 8. Haskell will be the visiting teams and local fans will sit on the east side.

Coach George Martin's Maidens and Coach Randy Stone's Indians crushed Anson teams in Anson Tuesday night to capture the second-half championships of the district. Stamford teams won the first half.

Both contests will be rubber games for the ancient rivals. Stamford teams handed Haskell teams their only losses in the first half of the district season, while Haskell teams defeated those from Stamford in the second half.

Win or lose, both the Maidens and Indians will advance to the state playoffs, either as first- or second-place teams from their district. The girls will play either Wall or Coleman in a first-round playoff contest, while the Indians will meet either Coleman or Bangs.

Haskell sewed up the second-half titles with easy victories Tuesday over Anson. The Maidens danced to a 75-37 victory, after which the Indians took the floor and defeated the host Tigers 77-46.

Joy McKeever scored 21 points to lead the Maiden attack. She was followed by Missy Davis with 13 and Tiffany Moeller with 11. The victory gave Haskell a 22-4 mark for the regular season.

Dusty Meeks paced the Indian victory, scoring 16 points in a contest which saw Haskell jump to a 21-8 first-period lead. Brad Bevel scored 14 and Mark Young had 10.

Big victories at Hawley Friday night helped boost the Haskell teams to the playoffs.

The Maidens took a 54-50 overtime victory over the Lady Bearcats and the Indians rolled to a 71-50 decision.

Haskell manager named by GTE

Jim Adams, central office supervisor for GTE Southwest in Fredericksburg, has been named local manager in Haskell.

The announcement of his appointment was made by Robert J. Meyers, Mid-Texas division general manager for GTE Southwest, Brownwood.

Adams began his field career in Marwin, Ohio, as a lineman in 1965. He has held numerous positions, including installation repairman, switching technician and central office supervisor. He was transferred from Georgetown, Ohio, in 1980 to Brady as central office supervisor with GTE Southwest. In 1984, he moved to Fredericksburg in his most recent capacity.

He is married to the former Sue Smith of Sandy Hook, Ky. They have three children, including a married daughter, Paula of Fredericksburg; a son Randall, 17, and a son, Brady, 11.

The family will be moving to the Haskell area in the near future.

Fire calls only

Fire Chief Tom Watson this week reminded Haskell citizens that the telephone number for the fire department (864-2222) should be used only to report fires.

He said the fire department has been getting numerous calls on that number from people who just need information about something.

Most of these calls for information can be handled by calling the police department, 864-2323, or the sheriff's office, 864-2345, Watson said.

The chief emphasized that it is important to keep the fire department telephone free for fire calls.

Abilene artist gives program to local club

The Brazos West Art Association held its monthly meeting Feb. 8 in the Haskell National Bank Community Room. Twenty-nine members and four guests attended.

Judy Benton introduced the guest artist, Ruth Jackson of Abilene. Mrs. Jackson works in all mediums and her main field of interest is portraits. She is often called on to do courtroom portraits for the Abilene television stations. Ruth has done commercial art for Thornton's and the Bootery. She has taught a ACU and is a teachers' advisor in commercial art in Cisco. She has illustrated several children's books by Paul Hannah. She earned her master's degree at Texas Tech. She stated that Juanita Tiddle had a major influence on her art work.

Ruth demonstrated a pastel landscape with turkeys and a monochromatic study of a water scene. One thing she stressed was that tones are as important as the actual colors used.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Anita Herren. After reports from the various officers, money-making projects were discussed. The club voted to have a bake sale Saturday, March 5. It also was decided that the club would auction a quilt during the annual Art Festival in August.

Hostesses for the meeting were Margie Casey and Barbara Kile.

A total of 3,286 degrees were awarded, including 2,748 bachelors, 387 masters and 151 doctorates.

Mrs. Medford hosts PC club

The Paint Creek Home Extension Club met Feb. 2 in the home of Mrs. Burl Medford.

Members viewed a video on different ways of altering clothes. They also discussed Rally Day which will be in March in Haskell.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Medford.

Next meeting will be the first Monday in March at the Paint Creek school auditorium. Visitors are welcome.

Valentine dance

The Haskell Country Club will host a Valentine dance Saturday night. The dance begins at 9 o'clock and will continue until 1 a.m. Members and their guests are invited to attend.

Mrs. Sanders hosts Weinert club meeting

The Weinert Home Extension Club met Thursday, Feb. 4, after the snow and ice caused a postponement from the regular date.

Mrs. R. S. Sanders hosted the meeting in her home and also gave the devotional for the day. She read a Psalms, gave some comments and read a poem.

Nine members and one guest answered roll call by naming a "Notion I cannot sew without." Some of the notions named were a good light, needle, thread, thimble and a "sewing mood."

Mrs. Yates read a letter from the Rehab Center thanking the club for the donated quilt, and stating that it brought $500 at the auction, and that it is on its way to California as a wedding gift for a lucky couple.

She reported the council's concession stand at the Junior Livestock Show was a tremendous success and many club members participated. She also collected $6 in fines from those who did not.

Mrs. Jetton reported the calendar committee was received graciously by all the businesses who buy ads on the birthday calendar and some time soon sales will begin as May is the deadline for sales.

Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Donnie Crump presented a program on "weight loss and altering clothing during the weight loss process." She showed a VCR tape on how to do the alterations.

Mrs. Sanders served an array of delicious snacks, consisting of heart-shaped sandwiches, vegetable sticks with dip, cherry tarts with hot cider and coffee. Mrs. Phemister gave the invocation, and as it was Mrs. Sanders' birthday, the group sang the birthday song to her.

Those attending included the hostess, Betty Sanders, Alice Yates, Faye Jetton, Agnes Winchester, Cordie Cunningham, Laverne Mayfield, Debbie Crump, Henrietta Rueffer, Myrtle Phemister and two guests, Jimmie Weinert and Tabitha Crump.

DHS pays tribute to Haskell employee

Sue McGee of Haskell has been named an "Employee of the Quarter" by Region 4 of the Texas Department of Human Services. She is with the Family Support Services.

The organization's January newsletter published the following excerpts from her nomination and supervisor's comments:

"Nominee has been with DHS for 23 years, beginning as a clerk. She is a valuable resource to her program and has trained numerous new workers while covering two caseloads. She maintains a professional attitude in her relationships with clients while showing empathy for the client's situation.

"She is courteous, respectful, fair and open-minded in her dealings with clients, staff, other agencies and the community. She has the ability to motivate a client toward self-sufficiency by giving the client self-confidence in their own abilities.

"Co-workers recognize this employee's knowledge of policy and willingness to help, so they often turn to her for answers and suggestions. Employee goes out of her way to obtain resources for needy clients. She is personally committed to providing quality services to clients. She has provided quality coverage for two caseloads during staff vacancies, while training a new worker and keeping her own caseload current.

"During the past year, employee was requested to be responsible for training three new workers in a group setting on a specific program component. On her own initiative, she developed a 60-page comprehensive training manual. The manual is a valuable resource, not only for training, but as a reference. Not only did she organize and assemble the manuals, she also had to do all the typing and copying as no clerical support was available at that time.

"Employee's dependability is demonstrated by her willingness to accept varied tasks with the assurance a superior job will be done. Initiative is shown consistently when she looks for better ways to manage her caseload, motivate clients and train workers."

Politicians pound campaign trail

AUSTIN—The slate of presidential candidates continue to pound the Texas campaign trail, and the media blitzes are due to begin here this week.

At the Capitol, the Senate leadership scrambled to fill the apparent loss to academia of Wichita Falls Sen. Ray Farabee.

Farabee's wife, Helen, said she will stand to replace him

Texas officials also learned federal regulators will spend up to $7 billion to clean up the troubled Texas savings and loan industry.

The recovery plan will close, merge or sell 143 firms and reduce the total number of S&Ls from 281 to about 150, probably by the end of next year.

Some 104 S&Ls are already insolvent, and the federal plan is designed to accelerate the shrinkage process currently under way.

Parole Review Begins

Still plagued by overcrowded prisons, the Board of Pardons and Paroles ran out of short-term, non-violent inmates to release and is taking a second look at more hardened criminals.

The board is reviewing nearly 4,000 prisoners denied paroles last year, as well as considering other measures such as electronic monitoring of risky parolees.

The prison system must admit 150 inmates a day while the board must release an equal number to comply with court-ordered levels.

Court Reporter Fired

A state district judge fired the court reporter who testified against him in the controversial case of death row inmate Clarence Brandley, sentenced for raping and killing a Conroe High School girl eight years ago.

The reporter testified at a follow-up hearing in Galveston last year that Judge John Martin had told her to keep her mouth shut about circumstances surrounding the disappearance of evidence.

Brandley's appeal has been aided by civil rights groups.

Other Highlights

- Hobby stumped the Temple-Abilene district to help Sen. Grant Jones, who faces tough opposition from former state Rep. Temple Dickson, a Sweetwater Republican. Hobby also held a fundraiser at his Houston home to raise $30,000 for Jones' campaign.
- The State Board of Insurance approved a 3.9 percent average hike for auto coverage, effective May 1.
- The Texas Department of Corrections is being sued by nine black current and former employees who charge prison policies are discriminatory. The class-action suit seeks back pay, benefits and unspecified damages.
- In a head-to-head campaign with Pat Robertson in Iowa, Vice President George Bush referred to evangelicals as "cockroaches," which niffed Robertson to no end.
- A Bush aide elaborated later: "In Iowa, evangelicals are so prolific, they come out of the baseboards...an apt illustration for anyone who has lived in Texas."

Spring enrollment

Hardin-Simmons University's spring enrollment is up 101 students. A total of 1,771 students enrolled for the spring semester this year. This compares to 1,670 last year.

in the special election, if he resigns as expected to become vice chancellor and general counsel to The University of Texas.

Outside Capitol doors, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro unveiled his state vehicle converted to run on natural gas and urged other agencies to cut fuel costs.

Mauro pointed to two gas canisters in the bed of a General Land Office pickup, and said one unit of compressed gas equals nine gallons of gasoline, runs 40 percent cheaper and burns cleaner.

If one-tenth of state vehicles were converted, government agencies could save a half-million dollars in fuel costs, Mauro said.

Mattox Backs Welfare

At a Washington committee hearing, Attorney General Jim Mattox named new welfare programs he thinks should be adopted, including birth control classes, enforced child support and job training for single parents.

Mattox said his number one recommendation would be to require the state to collect child support payments.

He also ripped Texas legislators for seizing $13 million of federal bonuses and money earned for welfare programs and using it to cover the state's general debts.

Mattox said Texas could have qualified for a higher amount of federal matching funds if that money had been left in welfare.

Supercollider Unity

Also in Washington, Gov. Bill Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby put party differences aside to urge the Texas congressional delegation to win the supercollider for Texas.

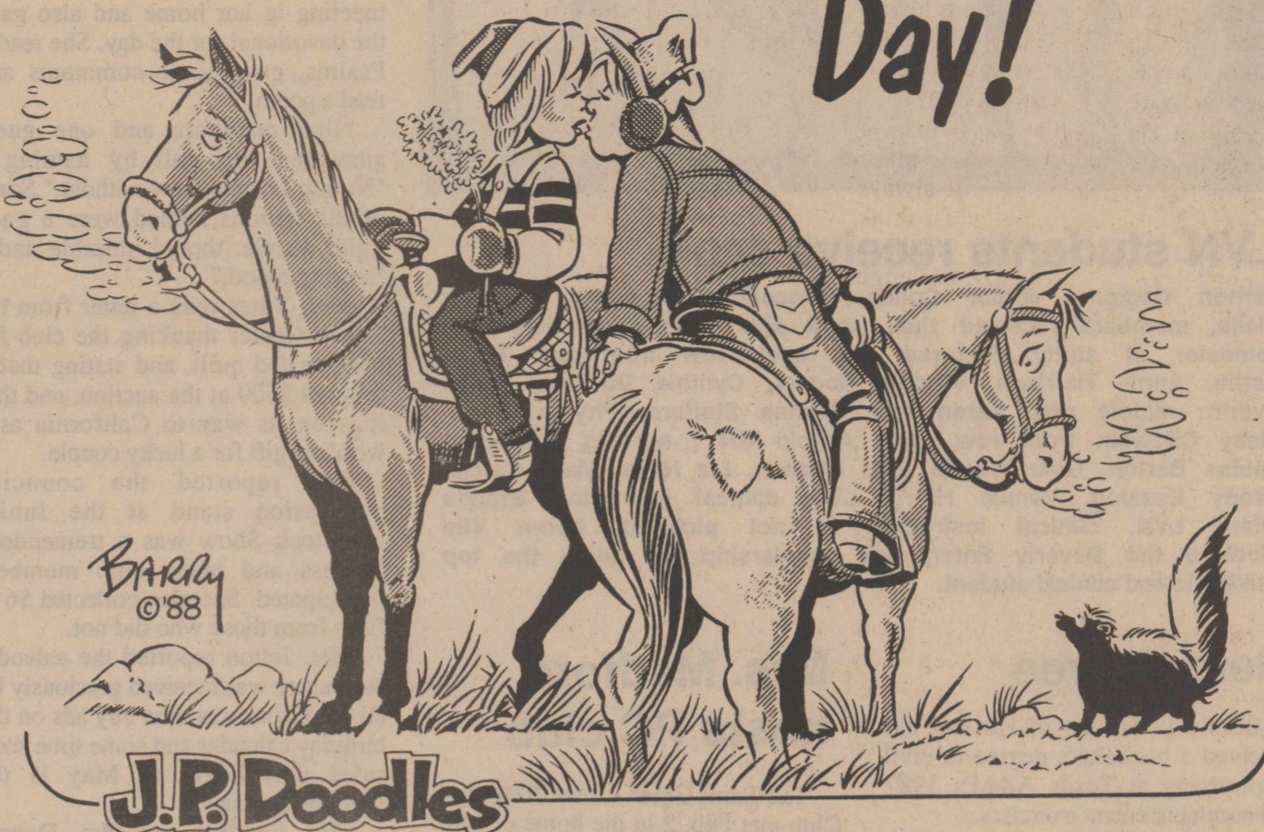

The pair took some Texas city officials with them to lobby for locating the huge atom smasher here.

The timetable calls for the Department of Energy to choose one of the seven finalist sites in July and for President Reagan to make a final decision before 1988 ends.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

When Ray Farabee announced he was considering giving up his state senate seat for a position with UT in Austin, he said one of the reasons was so he could spend more time with his family.

Wife Helen obviously doesn't want to spend more time with him. Not only does she want his senate seat, but she says she's going to move back to Wichita Falls (from Austin).

Quotable (and laughable):

"I think the task of any candidate is to demonstrate qualities of character, leadership, of courage, of independence, of integrity that are necessary not only to put forward ideas and policies, but to educate the American people..."—Gary Hart.

Did you hear about the not-so-bright fan who lost a dollar on a televised football game and another dollar on the replay?

A fortune teller offered to read his mind for half price.

There are those who light a candle and there are those who curse the darkness.

Then there are those who burn themselves trying to light a candle, and curse the candle, the match...and the darkness.

It was bad enough when they moved a bunch of holidays to Monday so those elite who get a day off on things like Washington's birthday could have three-day weekends.

That is, it was bad enough when they moved the holiday to the Monday nearest the birthday.

This year, Washington's real birthday actually falls on a Monday, but those who mark the red letters on the calendars were not about to let well enough alone. We have to "celebrate" a week early—Feb. 15.

And what ever happened to Presidents' Day? It was designed as a day to consolidate the observance of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. But no more. My calendar says we observed Lincoln's birthday on Feb. 1. It went so smoothly I can't even find anyone who knew we had it.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

It came as no surprise that a site in Texas made the "best qualified" list for the Superconducting Super Collider, a research project of enormous importance and an economic prize worth tens of thousands of jobs and billions of dollars to the state that lands it.

The SSC would be the world's largest "atom-smasher," a high-tech magnetic raceway where scientists will ram sub-atomic particles into each other at nearly the speed of light. Earlier work with this type of research led to such discoveries as the high-power tubes used for broadcasting and revolutionary medical devices such as CAT scanners.

It will be a clean, environmentally safe research center, attracting the world's best scientists to work on expanding the frontiers of human knowledge and understanding. And it will bring an economic boost and jobs for the men and women of Texas.

The Texas site—one of seven finalists for the project—is about 30 miles south of Dallas. It was a disappointment that none of the other three top-notch Texas sites were chosen, but the selection committee chose just one site in each of seven states.

Now that the decision has been made, we must pull together and make sure the SSC is built in Texas.

As I see it, we have two jobs ahead of us in the next few months. First, we must convince the Department of Energy that we have the best proposal. Then, we must convince the President and the Congress that the SSC ought to be fully funded, that it's too important a project to postpone or cancel.

Our site has many factors in its favor. The uniform geology and flat topography provide an outstanding site for the underground tunnel, which is 10 feet wide and laid out in a 53-mile oval ring. There is a moderate climate there, and electricity and gas rates are among the nation's lowest. And while it is in a rural area, the transportation hub and cultural amenities of Dallas-Fort Worth are less than an hour away.

But a failure to provide enough money to start construction could jeopardize congressional support for the SSC, so our second task is to make sure the SSC is fully funded.

Texans, who know a good deal when we see one, already have agreed to commit $1 billion of our money to the project if our state is chosen. It would be money wisely spent, as one study estimates that $20 billion will be pumped into the state's economy over the program's life.

I want to make sure the federal government shares such a commitment. When reports began circulating in Washington that the SSC budget, originally projected at $348 million for fiscal year 1989, might be cut to $230 million or even $130 million, I urged the President to give this project the funds needed to keep it on track, on schedule and into construction during 1989.

As I said in a letter to the President, who will submit his budget proposal to Congress later this month, "Just as we make room in the budget for critical national defense programs and for meeting basic human needs, we also must provide leadership in science and technology into the 21st Century. Such leadership is essential for our economic growth, our industrial competitiveness and our national security."

The final decision will be made in less than a year, so time is of the essence. I'll be pushing for a fully funded SSC in Texas just as hard as I can.

Boy Scouts

Editor: This week is the 78th anniversary of Scouting. As a parent and troop committee member, I would like to express my appreciation to the leaders of Boy Scout Troop 136.

Almost two years ago, Bill Perry stepped in as scoutmaster. At that time, there were less than 10 members; today the troop has 21 active members. Knowing for a fact that not all has gone smoothly, Bill has stayed on working to put "Haskell back on the map", as they say, with the Northern district of the Chisholm Trail. Assisting the scoutmaster are Bobby Sanford and Marvin McFadden, assistant scoutmasters. All three of these men give unselfishly of their time.

For more than 40 years, the First United Methodist Church has chartered Troop 136. We appreciate them letting us meet there. They meet every week on Wednesday for an hour (but several hours of preparation are put forth by these three before the meetings).

An overnight camping trip is always looked forward to by the troop (at least once a month) yes, even in the cold winter). This Saturday, the three are taking the troop to Abilene for some of the boys to demonstrate their skills they have learned in scouting in first aid. Each of them gave one week of their summer vacation to take the troop to summer camp. This to me, is really dedication to scouting. These are just a few of the things these men do, as they are taking precious time away from their own families to be with our boys.

I think Haskell is fortunate to have these leaders and the boys who make up Troop 136. Scouting will always be a part of their future, and I think the future will be brighter for these boys because of the challenge scouting presents.

The Troop appreciates all the support the town of Haskell gives them. Our last fund raiser was a success, as all the previous ones have been. I'm sure we'll see the support again at the Troop grows in numbers in March. There will be more equipment to be purchased, so a fund raiser is in the works.

Why not, as parents, citizens and members of Troop 136, say "Thank You" to the ones who keep Boy Scout Troop 136 going and growing. "Thank you for a job well done."

Ann Johnston

for their support of scouting. Cub Scouting began in the year 1930 and is 58 years old this year.

We are very grateful to the Kiwanis Club for their never-ending support and for being our sponsor, to the American Legion for furnishing us the Scout Hut and paying all the utility bills, to the Haskell National Bank for furnishing the meeting place for our monthly pack meetings, and to everyone who supports us through our fund raisers and bake sales. Our popcorn sales have risen each year.

There are many places in Haskell which welcome the scouts as an organization to come in and see how things work. We appreciate them giving their time to take an interest in these young men. Edith Wheatley very graciously lets us use the display windows in the C&B Store each year during Scouting Week to display information about scouting and show some of the things we have done. There are places which have donated money to us for equipment and we are very grateful to them.

We are very fortunate to have the leadership of Cubmaster Jim Bob Mickler, assistant Cubmaster Marvin McFadden, every den leader and all you parents who work so hard for us. It takes so many to make a good program work and we thank each of you.

I was elected constable in 1977 and served four years in that office.

If elected, my first priority will be the safety and service of the people of Haskell County. Your vote on March 8 will be appreciated.

Retail sales in Texas strong

State Comptroller Bob Bullock says final figures in strong 1987 Christmas sales are a good sign that the Texas economy is recovering.

"A surge in consumer spending in December brought in more than $619 million in state sales taxes," Bullock said.

He said tax collections were about 56 percent more than in December 1986, adding that the increase is well above any factor that can be attributed to the hike in sales tax rate from 4.125 to 6 percent.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Interest is mounting for installing sub-surface drain systems. Recently, one system has been completed on the Lynn Pace farm west of Haskell.

To reduce high concentrations of soil salinity on previously productive soil, underground drainage has proven to be effective. This conservation practice is now cost-shared by the Agriculture Conservation program, the Great Plains Conservation program and the Long Term Agreement contracts.

A demonstration is planned for this area on Wednesday and Thursday (Feb. 10-11) on the David Frierson farm located four miles north of Haskell.

The installation of sub-surface drain pipe requires special machinery and equipment to install this drain pipe. Service is now available from a local contractor who is so equipped and is headquartered here in Haskell.

The Soil Conservation Service has the responsibility for the design and layout of sub-surface drain systems. The drain pipe must be properly located to benefit the affected area. Trial soil borings are used to locate the water table and elevations are secured to plan grades for the pipe flow.

For additional information, call 864-3212 or come by the Soil Conservation field office located on US 277 South, 1203-A S. Ave. E.

Sulfites still in some foods

If you're allergic to sulfites, canned and frozen shellfish, dried fruits and pickled foods and condiments are just a few of the products still treated with sulfites. Baked goods, including pizza crust and cookies, may also contain the preservatives.

The Food and Drug Administration now has in place several regulations designed to protect people with sulfite sensitivities. Labeling regulations that took effect last year require that foods containing 10 parts per million or more of sulfites include that information on the label.

Haskell County representatives will include 41 FFA members from chapters in Haskell, Rochester, Rule, Weinert and Paint Creek, and 21 members of the Haskell County 4-H.

Competing in the Astrohall complex, these young exhibitors are vying for prizes in the junior show where 1988 entries are expected to exceed 15,000. These junior show entries combine with open show and horse show entries to make the Houston show the world's largest livestock show.

Junior exhibitors will be representing 809 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA chapters while open show exhibitors, primarily professional breeders and ranchers, arrive from all over the world.

Exhibitors from Haskell County and their animals include;

Murray, 1 barrow; Joseph Pace, 1 steer; Matt Pace, 1 steer; Jennifer Shaver, 1 steer; Ross Shaver, 1 steer; Heather Stewart, 1 steer; Justin Stewart, 1 steer.

"To many of our committee volunteers, the most important week of the show is the second week when the majority of junior livestock exhibitors arrive for competition," said Steve Woodley, the show's assistant manager in the livestock department. "The show has several committees that have been organizing, planning and selling since September of last year in anticipation of the junior show."

"Committee volunteers have been working on a wide range of projects, from assisting these young exhibitors in unloading to pre-selling more than 2,000 steers, barrows, lambs, turkeys and broilers. Our volunteers enjoy going the extra mile for these young exhibitors, because, after all, they are the future of our communities, state and nation."

Junior show and open show exhibitors will compete for millions of dollars in prize monies and premium auction prices.

Long before the show starts, committee volunteers contact auction buyers to guarantee that each animal sold at one of the four junior show auctions will bring a price above the current market value.

Junior exhibitors show a variety of animals, including beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers, breeding rabbits and market lambs, steers, poultry and barrows.

In addition to providing a learning experience and exciting showing competition for 4-H and FFA members, the Houston Livestock Show is the nation's largest donor of agricultural scholarships. The show's annual scholarship commitment exceeds $1 million. The show currently has more than 1,000 students on scholarships at Texas colleges and universities. The organization also funds more than 30 research programs at 11 colleges and universities in Texas.

This year's livestock show opens Feb. 17 with horse show competition, followed by other livestock competition beginning Saturday, Feb. 20. All events conclude March 6.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

EMPLOYER - EMPLOYEE - CONTRACTOR

The Internal Revenue Service realizes that businesses prefer to use "independent contractors" rather than employees. The savings come through the elimination of social security taxes, other payroll taxes, and employee fringe benefits.

Some important IRS definitions are as follows:

* An employer is an individual, corporation, partnership, a trust, an estate, or other entity including tax-exempt organizations for whom an individual performs services of whatever nature as an "employee."

* An employee is an individual who performs services subject to the control of an employer both as to what services shall be performed and as to how they shall be performed.

* Independent contractor has no clear definition. Congress has not yet enacted legislation to clarify which workers will be independent contractors and which will be employees. In the meantime, a taxpayer can treat an individual as an independent contractor if: (1) there is a "reasonable basis" for not treating the worker as an employee, (2) you did not, and you currently are not treating an individual as an employee, and (3) you file your tax returns on the basis that the worker is not an employee.

In general, an independent contractor has his own tools, may work on his own premises, is subject to incurring a loss on the project, determines how the work is to be accomplished, hires his own help, works on his own schedule, and probably works for others besides you.

An employee, on the other hand, has his hours and his method of work supervised, is probably trained by the employer, probably works only for the one company, and has an ongoing relationship with the employer.

By Myrtle Phemister

We are happy about the moisture we received last week, even tho it came in the form of 3 inches of snow and ice. It was good time to read, clean closets, make chili, play dominoes and feel happy when the promises of sunshine were made. The sunshine did come and we are enjoying it.

Our birthday people for the week include Johnny Earp IV, Karen Harlan, Ricky Phemister and George Washington (observed, they say!). Happy Birthday!

We have a list of anniversaries. They include Raymond and Bernice Mathison, David and Janet Earles, Michael and Peggy Adams, Will and Evelyn Ricketts, and Bob and Crystella Rayes. Congratulations to each couple.

The Raynes are celebrating their Golden one, with a reception to be held at the Haskell Civic Center on the 14th. We are proud of this family, and appreciate all they have done, and continue doing, to make our town a better place to call "home".

Our sick continue to improve, for which we are grateful. We were sad to hear that T. W. Jetton suffered a stroke on Christmas Day, but glad to say at last report he is improved, and able to be up in a wheelchair.

Bonnie Hackney, (mother of Jim and Joe, wife of Elwood) suffered a stroke and is also improving. She is hospitalized in Laredo, which is not far from where they reside in Zapato.

Mrs. Ila Moody is slowly regaining her strength. She is still with her son, Scott and family in Kingsville and loves to hear from her friends in Weinert.

Doris, Dale and Denise Carroll were in Nashville, Arkansas last week for a visit with his brother, Bob and Betty Carroll and family, and with Ted and Edna Boykin. They reported the Boykins are doing much better in health, and sent greetings to all their friends here. Bobby and Betty are still raising chickens, and had just received a shipment of 64,000 baby chicks.

The Dale Carrolls have vibrated with joy this weekend when Doris' brother, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Briles and three children of Odessa, and Darlene and Kerry Therwhanger of Megargel were in town for a visit. I heard Saturday was a lon-n-g day!

Evelyn Ricketts of Dallas was in for a visit with her parents, John and Laverne Mayfield, and with other relatives. Evelyn and Will will leave this week for an anniversary trip to Hawaii. Congratulations!

The Mayfields will be in Plainview Thursday when their daughter-in-law, Eddy Lou, will undergo surgery. They request our prayers on her behalf.

Buck and Helen Turnbow have returned from a visit with her sister, Jo and Roy Luker of San Angelo. The Lukers have recently moved there from Odessa, and enjoy the climate much better.

Francis Mahan is spending a few days in Odessa with her daughter, Ruby La Roque and other relatives in the area. Francis will be spending a lot of time in the library there searching for family trivia as she works on her genealogy.

Leonard Mahan accompanied his mother to Odessa then flew to Mesa, Arizona where he has found employment.

Mrs. Alice Yates hosted a Beninning Quilters' class in her home last week, and another session will be held this week. Those interested in free quilting instruction may call her at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hodges of Lake Coleman, with sons Gary and John Robert were in town to visit her sister, Linda Mahan and family.

The group who were in attendance at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock reported typical weather of ice and snow for the event, but much fun.

The students who brought home ribbons were Lauri Hester, Shane Stout and Mitch Mayfield. Parents who attended were the Jimmy white's, the Jerry Hesters, the Wayne Stouts, the Tiffen Mayfields and Tina Herricks.

Donald and Gracie Griffis enjoyed a weekend recently to Garland in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bruton and sons. They were accompanied by Truman and Charlene Therwhanger of Haskell, and the two couples were celebrating anniversaries.

After a shopping tour of the HyperMart, they enjoyed a picnic lunch aboard the Bruttons' cabin cruiser on Lake Hubbard.

A special treat was a Saturday night dinner atop the Reunion Tower of the Hyatt Recency Hotel in Dallas.

Elwood's twin brother, Durwood, also a classmate of the group, enjoyed the weekend outing with the others.

Gracie's worry "How do you repay such elegant entertaining in our small town? Help!"

Johnny and Derinda Larned were weekend visitors in her parents home, the Donald Griffis.

Other guests were Johnny's parents, John and Florence Larned, with Gregg Story of Haskell and Ann Horan with Patricia of Weinert. (The noise was only a friendly game of "Skip-bo" in progress.)

Marvin and Myrtle Phemister were in Haskell on Monday to check on sick friends, especially Burgess Forehand who is hospitalized there. Have a nice day!

Scouting: A Bridge to the Future

Boy Scout Week February 7 - 13, 1988

Tomorrow's leaders are learning today. And Boy Scouts is helping them. They're learning from leaders how to be leaders. Millions of Boy Scouts earn badges by practicing useful skills they've learned. More importantly, their character is built as a result of constantly striving to live the Scout Oath and Scout Law. We could all take a lesson from the Scouts. If every American learned and lived the Scout Oath, we would all be better citizens, helping our country to stay the strong nation it is.

Scout oath or Promise
 On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; To help other people at all times; To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

The Scout Law
 A Scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.
