Spruce up

Beautification project headed down final stretch

The deadline for submitting Haskell's entry to compete for the governor's award as the most beautiful city of its size in Texas is fast approaching.

Individuals, businesses, churches and other organizations are gearing for the countdown as the cleanup and beautification effort continues toward finalization this month.

Through the Retail Merchants Association, virtually every downtown business is fronted with a planter filled with blooming flowers.

Several merchants have added park benches and a work crew of business people will repaint the marquis of the old Texas Theater.

Two downtown gardens have been planted, one next to the old Green Stamp building and the other next to Heidenheimer's, projects co-sponsored by the Haskell Garden Club, Boy Scouts and the City of Haskell.

Lane Felker has constructed a miniature inner city park next to the store. The Brazos West Art Association is touching up the historical mural that members painted for the 100th anniversary of Haskell. City employees have repainted all of the trash receptacles.

Churches throughout the community have added to their landscaping, as have the hospital, nursing homes and clinics. Schools have responded with a number of beautification projects.

The Progressive Study Club sponsored a slogan contest, the Young Homemakers Club spearheaded a poster contest and the Chamber of Commerce sponsored an essay contest.

The Kiwanis Club, Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts and 4-H Club have adopted miles of highway to keep clean.

Four teams of 40 people are responsible for calling on every business and every resident on the highways within the city limits to solicit their participation.

The Bass Club has been instrumental in cleaning lake areas, the Horse Club has monitored the rodeo grounds, the Civic Center Association has cleaned up the area around the Civic Center and the Brazos Art Association around the Corral building. The city has worked on the creek, park, swimming pool, tennis courts, overnight camping area, ball parks, airport, streets, alleys and with the help of the Fire Department cleaned off vacant lots and other eyesores.

The Experienced Citizens Center made receptacles for pledge cards for the three financial institutions and the three utility companies.

The Chamber of Commerce is repairing the four welcome signs at the city limits entrances and has cleaned up the areas around them.

Gas rates going up slightly

The City Council has approved a request from Lone Star Gas Co. for a 13-cents-per-customer increase in its gas rates.

Approval came at the April 13 council meeting during which Roy Washburn of the gas company made the request, citing increased cost of operation and fewer customers as the reason.

The increase is expected to mean about $2,000 additional revenue for the company over the next year.

The council voted against a request to allow a trailer at the airport, primarily because of limited sewer availability.

C&C Supply of Lubbock was the lowest of six bidders for a six-inch water line in the northeast part of town. The council accepted the Lubbock firm's $13,314 bid.

Bud Lane of Lanco Insurance briefed the council on its insurance policy rates. Liability and auto insurance remain about the same, but Lane said there would be a substantial increase in the employee health insurance. Councilmen directed administrator Robert Baker to check with other companies to determine if a more attractive rate for health insurance is available.

Baker reminded the council that April 23 is "Great Texas Trash Off Day" and the city will be participating in the state-wide cleanup effort. Citizens will be invited to assist.

In a related matter, the council acknowledged donations of $600 for benefit of the city park. The American Legion gave the $400 proceeds from a recent benefit dance and the Young Homemakers club gave $200.

The city agreed to buy its annual allotment of uniforms for city employees from Heidenheimer's in Haskell. Last year's uniforms were purchased from another local firm, Hassen's.

ACU performers here next week

One of the most exciting performing groups on the ACU campus, "Reflections", will appear here next Friday (April 29) in a Civic Center benefit.

Composed of eight of the university's most talented students, Reflections is made up of four men and four women. They come from a wide variety of backgrounds, but they share one thing in common---they love to perform.

Reflections is sponsored by the university outreach office. The director is Gwynneth Curtis. The group performs on campus, for church functions at civic events and on tours. Recent tours have taken them throughout the Southwest, to the West Coast and to the Southeastern states.

Because of the great demand for pop music, Reflections shows feature music styles that audiences of all types can enjoy. Members of the group are Kellie Curtis, Erika Stevens, Gayla Hester, Lisa Layne, Mike Hart, Burke Brack, John Scott Davis and Colin McCall.

The Haskell program begins at 7:30 and tickets are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Tickets are available from members of the Civic Center board or at Lane Felker and Haskell National Bank. They also will be available at the door.

The snack bar at the Civic Center will open at 6:30 p.m., offering sandwiches, cookies, popcorn and cold drinks.

Cadenhead re-elected to academy

Dr. James Frank Cadenhead of Haskell has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

Requirements call for the members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The academy, the country's second largest national medical association, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for the family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Miss Hickman is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paul Jirick Sr. of Haskell, Mrs. C. T. White of Lewisville and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Hickman of Fort Worth.

She is an honor graduate of Stamford High School and Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. She was a member of the Alpha Phi fraternity and the Alpha Epsilon Rho fraternity at TCU, and participated in numerous campus activities and stage productions in Fort Worth, Abilene and Stamford.

Miss Hickman is now a member of the Stamford Music Club and the American Advertising Federation and is employed as continuity director of the Creative Services department at KTXS-TV in Abilene.

Mr. Snider is a graduate of Ballard High School in Louisville, Henderson Junior College in Athens, Texas, and Cumberland College in Williamsburg, Ky., where he was on a full basketball scholarship. He is former head basketball coach, junior varsity football coach and junior high track coach at Stamford High School.

A June 11 wedding is planned at the Bethal Lutheran Church southeast of Stamford.

Miss Angela Annette Tibbits and Mike Alan Rhoads were united in a double-ring ceremony Friday, April 15, at the First Baptist Church in Rule. Tobey Clements, pastor of Sweet Home Baptist Church, officiated.

Vows were exchanged before a heart-shaped arch flanked on either side by a spiral candlebras, floral arrangements and small candlebras entwined with greenery and trimmed with white bells, roses, doves and satin fushia bows. Votive candles completed the altar setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Tibbits of Rule and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McLain of Grapevine and Mrs. Velma Hatfield of Abilene.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rhoads of Rule and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schonerstedt of Sagerton and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Powell of Rule.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore an original gown in white satin, Venice lace trims the Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice and basque waist. The lace trim was repeated on the modified Elizabethan sleeves. Her skirt of satin was full with tiers of chantilly lace ruffles that extended to the chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil was attached to her satin hat which was trimmed with white flowers, rvnise lace, simulated pearls and sequins.

She carried a bouquet of white and fushia roses, forget-me-nots, and pearl-shaped hearts which were formed from great-grandmother Tibbits' necklace. White and fushia satin streamers accompanied with fushia roses completed the bouquet made by the bride's mother.

For her traditional something old, she used pearls from her great-grandmother Tibbits' pearl necklace to form the hearts used in her bridal bouquet. Something new was her wedding gown, something borrowed was a string of pearls and pearl earrings from Mrs. Tom Kutch, and she wore a blue garter. In her shoe she wore a six-pence, a gift from Mrs. Kelli Falkner, and a penny dated the year she was born.

The bride chose for her attendants identical tea-length dresses of fushia bridal satin. The fitted bodice was accented with puffed sleeves trimmed with ruffled lace. The gown had a full skirt with a bustle back accented with lace and a bow. They carried white fans, made by the bride's mother, trimmed with white and fushia roses, forget-me-nots and white satin ribbon.

Attending the groom as best man was David Lisle of Rule. Groomsman was Heath Tibbits, brother of the bride. Candlelighters were Leonard Rhoads of Georgetown, brother of the groom, and Eddie Briles of Haskell, brother-in-law of the groom. They also seated guests.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with fushia cummerbund and tie and a fushia rose boutonniere. His attendants wore black tuxedos with fushia cummerbunds and ties and fushia rose boutonniers.

The bride's mother chose a street-length fushia dress with a dropped waist and a bow tied to the side, with three-quarter length sleeves. The groom's mother chose a street-length dusty mauve dress with long sleeves, pleated bodice and an accordin pleated skirt with a tie belt. They wore corsages of white roses and forget-me-nots.

The bride presented her mother with a long-stemmed rose as she approached the altar, and one to her new mother-in-law after the ceremony.

Organist was Mrs. Teresa Briles, sister of the groom. Vocalist was Donna Byrd, accompanied by Jeannie Stout. Songs selected were "Honestly" and "All of Me."

A registry table in the foyer of the church was covered in white satin with a net overlay trimmed with fushia ribbon and bows. Two white candles and a fushia pen with plume was used to register guests in the bride's book. Linda Kittley of Abilene, sister of the groom, attended the registry table.

The wedding reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered in white satin overlaid with net trimmed with fushia ribbon and bows. A candleabra trimmed with greenery and roses, and the bride's bouquet were centered on the table.

The three-tiered cake was decorated in white bells, doves, fushia ribbon and roses. The cake was surrounded by greenery and roses. A bride and groom topped the cake. The cake was prepared by the bride's mother.

Rose punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Crystal appointments held nuts and white rose mints. Serving at the bride's table was Stephanie Cannon and Kimberly Diers.

The groom's table was covered with a brown cloth with a beige overlay. German chocolate cake, cheese balls, crackers, tortilla roll-ups, turkey rolls garnished with parsley, cherry tomatoes, grapes and strawberries were served. Coffee was served from a silver coffee service. The centerpiece was a white candleabra with two white candles intertwined with baby's breath and fushia flowers. Mrs. Mondy Martin and Yolanda Garcia served. Other appointments were silver and crystal.

Amy and Laura Tibbits, sisters of the bride, and Brandi Briles, niece of the groom, handed out rice roses from white wicker baskets trimmed in fushia ribbon and forget-me-nots.

Members of the houseparty were Helen Diers, Kelli Falkner, Pearl Rinehart, Betty Woods and Vida White.

The bride attends Rule High School. The groom is a 1983 graduate of Rule High School. He is employed by J's Service, Inc. in Rule.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the fellowship hall of the church.

After a wedding trip, the bride and groom will be at home in Rule.

On March 25, the bride was honored with a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Kelli Falkner, Mrs. Shanna Tibbits and Kathleen Kutch in the home of Mrs. Falkner.

On April 10, the couple was honored with a gift tea in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Hostesses were Betty Woods, Laverne Lee, Jeri Kittley, Jo Ruth Lisle, Myrtle Kutch, Newlyn Beakley, Dale Lewis, Bobbie Brass, Margaret Jones, Billie Mathis, Lea May, Ann Wilson, Vida White and Ann Petty.

Garden melodies theme of meeting

The Haskell Garden Club met April 14 from 2 to 4 with "Melodies of Gardening" as a theme.

We imagined we were singing a song to the tune of "Variations on a Theme." There were 18 beautiful table settings for special occasions. It was a time to show individuality and creativity using a special theme with flowers, accessories and table settings.

Each had a choice of linen, silver, china and accessories with a flower arrangement to show a motif.

The following are the displays with their motifs:

July 14th, Back at School---When?, Bachelor's Breakfast: Juanita Rhea.

Rites of Spring Brunch, Christmas Open House, Bon Voyage Party, Valentine: Bernadine Blankenship.

Poolside Party, 40th Birthday: Linda King.

Country and Western Supper, Thanksgiving Dinner, Easter Brunch: Gladys O'Neal.

Child's Birthday Party, Halloween: Lorene Dewey.

New Baby: Mary Bischofhausen. Golden Wedding Anniversary, Mother's Day, Retirement Party: Mollie Carlisle.

Guests for the afternoon were members of the Rule Garden Club and many who were not members who came to enjoy this occasion. We hope many received good ideas for their entertaining in the future.

If you want to have fun and learn to grow beautiful flowers and decorate your home in a pleasing manner, come join the Garden Club. It is truly a great opportunity for you.

Delicious refreshments were served by the club officers who were hostesses.

Note: During April Juanita Rhea, Linda King, Bernadine Blankenship, Neat Bevel, Lorene Dewey and Gladys O'Neal planted shrubs and flowers downtown. Thank you Bob King and Bill Perry for digging the holes.

Gladys O'Neal and Bernadine Blankenship planted shrubs at the cemetery around the little building belonging to the maintenance people.

Thirty-seven members and two guests, June Biffle and Randy McLelland, were present.

Vida White, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Christie Stapleton.

Minutes of the last meeting were corrected concerning membership status, treasurer Margaret Chafin reminded members to pay dues, and corresponding secretary Pat Quattlebaum read a thank-you note from the president.

'Looking Good' is program topic

The topic for the April 14 meeting of the Progressive Study Club was "The Need for Looking Good."

Jane Coston, program director, introduced Dr. Karen Kaigler Walker, who is professor and chair of fashion marketing at Woodbury University in Los Angeles. Dr. Walker, a graduate of Texas Tech and Ohio State University, majored in clothing, textiles, fashion merchandising and marketing and sociology and has taught at the University of Texas and Southwest Texas State University.

Her presentation dealt with the psychology of clothing, how we feel about ourselves, how our appearance communicates and how we categorize people based upon their appearance, often in 10 seconds.

She used slides to illustrate. A poor self-concept can lead to two extremes, when one does not care how she looks or is over-conscious and refuses to go out until everything is just right. She stressed the fact of not being too judgemental. She is currently conducting research on the Hispanic clothing market and working for women's causes, shelters, educational programs and self-help projects.

Reatha Mullins, president, conducted the business session. Thirty-one members were present. Thank-you notes from the Noah Project and Mesquite District president Maurine Nichols of Baird, were read.

The resignation of Elaine Densman was accepted. Mary Kaigler reported on the Mesquite district convention in Abilene March 18-19.

The theme, "The Blessings of Liberty," was carried out by the club at the Friday night banquet. Linda King and Gladys O'Neal prepared a beautiful flower and flag arrangement for the head table. The programs were red liberty bells in shape. Lane Felker donated bottles of perfume for each plate. Two small flags crossed and tied with blue and white ribbon on each bottle added to the beauty.

Several first and second places were won. President Mullins was awarded a first place for her summary of the year's work. She had to extend it from two to five minutes. Many door prizes given by Haskell merchants added to the fun both Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Mullins was in charge of this activity. Several members attended.

Anita Herren, federation counselor, announced the GTWC/TFWC spring convention will be May 4-6 in Beaumont.

Hostesses were Sandy Horton, Robbie Pittman, Doris Jordan and Jimmie Weinert.

Guests were Gerry Spain, Eula Mae Herren, Opal Grice, Ola Mae Lyles, Nettie McCollum and honorary member, Mrs. Hassen.

The final meeting of the year will be "Share-the-Salad Soiree" on May 12. The time has been changed to 7 p.m.

Texas may follow OPEC strategy

AUSTIN—Like a bolt from the blue, word that Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance may want Texas to follow OPEC's production strategy met with more warmth here than in Washington, D.C.

The feds said the idea was bad, bad, bad, but Texas leaders sat pat, of two-way charges of substance abuse.

In the Valley, Rep. Renata Cuellar overcame former Mexican-American Democrats' chairman Juan Maldonado in a runoff where a side issue became whether statewide officials should be involved in Mexican-American Caucus down-ballot squabbles.

The Caucus emerged from the fray with leadership intact, but expect to see some paybacks during the coming session.

Unemployment Checks

Reforming the workers' compensation system will be top issue next session, but leaders are at odds how to do it.

Texas employers pay one of the highest insurance rates in the nation, but Texas workers receive some of the lowest benefits checks.

Republican Rep. Mike Toomey said he favors eliminating the workers' right to appeal awards decided by the Texas Industrial Accident Board.

Texas AFL-CIO president Harry Hubbard favors reducing the cost, but said he'll never go for negotiating right of appeal.

Other Highlights

Comptroller Bob Bullock made the cover of Texas Business magazine for his role in rebuilding the Texas economy.

The Texas Racing Commissioner said he favors licensing no more than three of the existing small horse-race tracks here for pari-mutuel betting, the better to watch the young industry grow.

A Dallas financier, Richard C. Strauss, said he will head a new group to raise money for Democrats running for the Legislature.

Strauss is the son of former Democratic National chairman Robert Strauss.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower spent last week in New York giving speeches to farmers there on behalf of Jesse Jackson.

The colorful Hightower called George Bush "the hind end of a horse's costume."

a sign that Hance took as some encouragement.

Hance is at OPEC's meeting in Vienna this week to discuss trimming Texas oil production in line with the cartel's to force higher prices, a gambit to improve the Texas economy.

He will report back to Gov. Bill Clements, no stranger to the oil patch, before making any deals, he said.

The Railroad Commission sets Texas production allowances, fixed at 100 percent since 1972. When OPEC engineered the price collapse in 1986, Texas was hit hard.

Hance's thinking is that Texas, following OPEC, could perhaps avoid another buffeting as well as increase the odds of attracting cash to the Texas economy.

School Finance Battle

Opening witnesses traded shots here in the trial to settle how to divide state funds among rich and poor school districts.

At issue is whether the Legislature will be forced to change the Constitution to steer more dollars to poorer districts.

Opponents of the present system pointed out the disparity which allows richer districts to spend up to three times more than poorer districts.

Supporters of the present formula said that once standards have been met, the constitution shouldn't concern itself with how much enrichment local school districts want to spend on their kids.

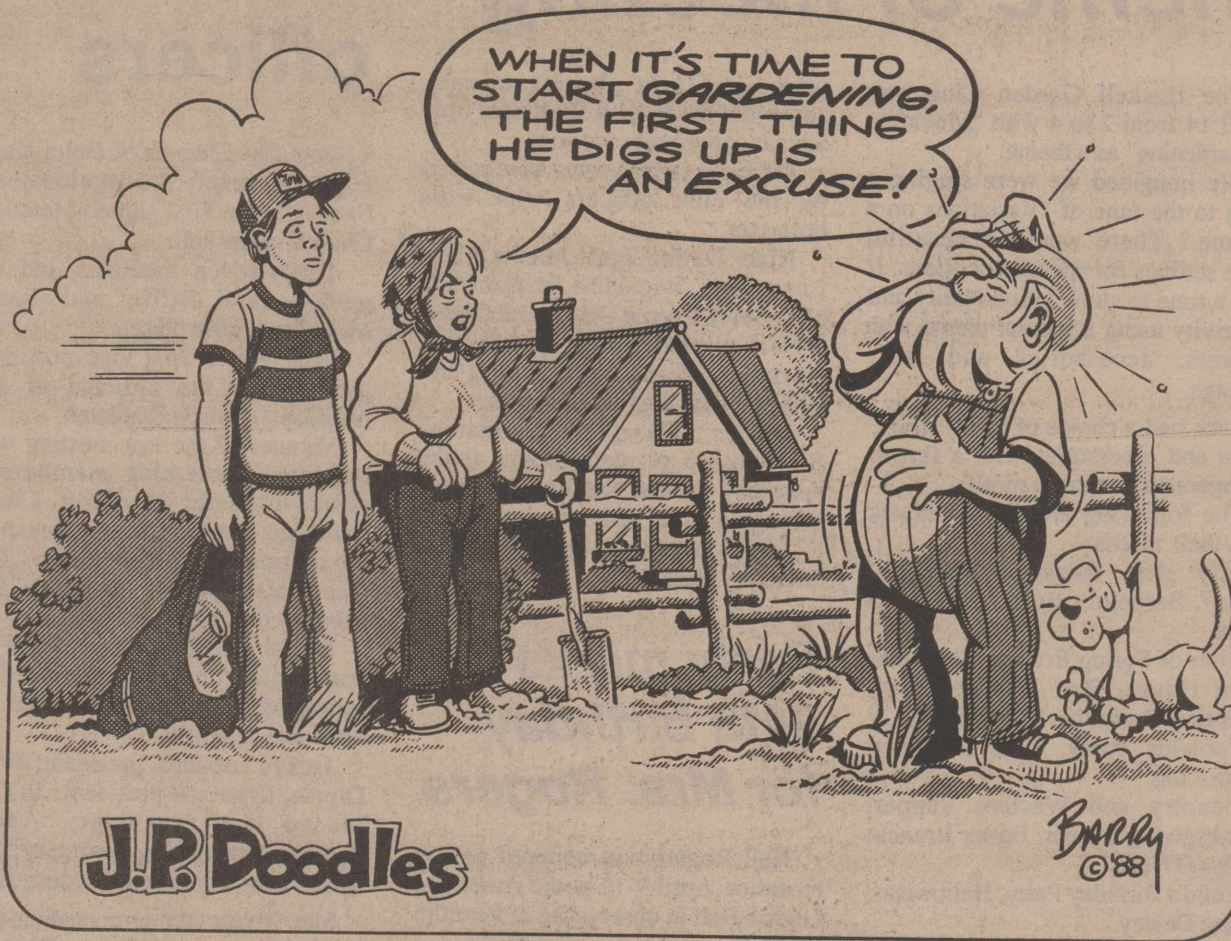

Runoffs Still Hot

In the wake of runoff elections, some races won't cool down for awhile.

The local machine here and Texas Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle declared a judicial candidate was not eligible, the voters said yes, she was, too.

The courts ruled Slagle's decision was unconstitutional, and the voters elected Jeanne Meurer two-to-one over her opponent. The chairmen have red faces, and they're talking new leadership in the precincts.

In Houston, Mexican-American Caucus chair Rep. Al Luna turned back his opponent in a campaign

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Quotable: "Senator Dole's climb up from the gutter of vituperation and back into the ranks of polite presidential society was an incredible triumph of grim determination over demon temptation. It required indomitable will power, the love of a good woman and, of course, the help of that do-good organization that has saved the souls of so many of the politically fallen--S.O.B.s Anonymous." . . . Columnist Arthur Hoppe of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Nearly everyone has an old newspaper clipping which has turned yellow and is disintegrating.

But, alas! There's an answer to the problem. Next time you clip an item, do this:

"Mix one Milk of Magnesia tablet with one quart of club soda, freeze the mixture overnight, pour it into a flat pan and soak the clipping in the mix for one hour, then dry it flat."

That's a recipe given in the Newspaper in Education newsletter from the New Britain (Conn.) Herald.

But how do you "pour" a frozen solution?

Nowadays, writers and speakers spoon-feed us numbers when they think we are unable to comprehend their magnitude.

Take this piece from the Dallas Morning News:

"Take a dollar bill and another and another. Lay them end to end until you've put down $1.5 billion. When finished, you will have traveled 1.4 million miles, or nearly 60 times around the Earth at the equator. You also will have shelled out an amount equal to what First RepublicBank Corp. estimates it lost in the first three months of 1988."

Another example: In 1980, candidate Ronald Reagan told us that the $1 trillion national debt could be compared to a stack of thousand-dollar bills 67 miles high.

Hate to tell you this Ronnie, but we're a hundred miles worse off today. Some mathematician has calculated that the current $2.7 trillion national debt is equal to a stack of thousand-dollar bills 167 miles high.

Come on now, Mike. (That's radio personality Mike Richards, the ultra-right-winger.)

In a March 15 broadcast, you said: ". . . the Soviets have also introduced long-range surface-to-air missiles in Nicaragua and have armed forces there numbering 250,000 men. This military buildup poses the greatest threat to the U.S. mainland in our nation's history."

A quarter million Soviet troops?

If Tom Landry feels that today's professional football players are overpaid, he has good reason.

As an all-pro defensive back with the New York Giants, his top salary was $12,000. When he signed out of Texas in 1949, he got a $500 bonus and $6,000 for the first year.

The Beautify Haskell group deserves a lot of credit for instigating countless beautification projects in recent weeks.

Typical of these is the one at the city park. If you haven't been by there lately, take time to do so. It's a good example of what people working together can accomplish.

The City of Haskell built the dam, the Rotary club built the bridge, the Boy Scouts painted the bridge and the American Legion put out 24 new trees.

That's not all. The city is going to install a water system so that all areas of the park can be watered and Legionnaires have volunteered to whitewash all the trees.

Those same Legionnaires recently gave the city $400 to be earmarked for the park and the Young Homemakers club kicked in another $200.

With the swimming pool renovation of last year, Haskell has come up with a first-class park facility.

A play on names: The return address on the envelope said "Rural Co-op", but the literature inside was from an insurance company by that name.

Wonder how many people thought they had received something from one of the rural electric cooperatives.

Watching Washington

The cost of sending our children to college is going right through the roof. College costs have outpaced inflation every year since 1980. The cost of sending a child to a public college has skyrocketed about 70 percent. Private college costs are up almost 90 percent.

Looking into the future, you don't find much encouragement. If you have a baby born today, the estimates are that 19 years from now—the year 2007—it will cost approximately $60,000 to send that child to a public college for four years. Tuition for four years at a private college will be about $200,000.

How many people have that kind of money? What about families who will have two or three students in college at the same time?

Compounding the problem is the fact that Americans are not saving to send their kids to college like they used to: Our rate of savings has dropped markedly, down to 3.8 percent in 1987, the lowest rate in 40 years.

Assistant Treasury Secretary Donaldson Chapoton told the Senate Finance Committee last month that only half the families who expect their children to attend college are saving now to do that.

We have to find a way to turn this situation around. One way is to encourage people to save for college by buying U.S. Savings Bonds. Let them receive the interest from these government bonds tax-free as long as the money is used to send those kids to college.

That's the thrust of a bill that I am cosponsoring. Some people have questions about whether this legislation, if enacted, would increase the federal deficit. One of the reasons, of course, is that the U.S. Treasury would lose the tax revenue people would have paid on the interest.

I didn't want to see us add to the deficit, and there are those who argue that it wouldn't, that it would save money by enabling the government to borrow more cheaply.

I'm Chairman of the Joint Tax Committee and have asked the committee staff to study this proposal, get some answers to these questions and see what we can do to help people save for college.

We simply have to take steps to insure that Americans are better equipped to pay the rising costs of sending our children to college. Otherwise, fewer and fewer people will be able to afford it, and we can't allow that to happen.

Editor: On behalf of the staff and advisory board members of Headstream Memorial Center, we wish to express our heartfelt appreciation to the folks in Haskell County for their overwhelming support during the fund raising garage/bake sale this past weekend. Thanks to all merchants and individuals who donated cash, items for the sale or their time as volunteers, as well as to those who loaned tables, dress racks and other necessary items.

Local cancer drive to be April 27-30

The annual door-to-door drive of the Haskell unit of the American Cancer Society will be conducted April 27-30.

Each family contacted by a volunteer will be asked to help cancer research by answering two questions about mammography. Results of the survey will be fed into a computer by the National Cancer Society, thus helping with the research on breast cancer.

Rule clubs to pick up trash

In calling for public support of the drive, local volunteers point out that one of every 10 women will be diagnosed next year as having breast cancer, but that early detection can save many of these lives.

While soliciting contributions, volunteers will leave literature and explain the local cancer program.

Those who are missed in the door-to-door drive may bring their contributions to Olney Savings.

Stamford pair winners of speech contest

Two Stamford students were the winners of all-expense paid trips to Washington, D. C., in a youth tour speech contest last Thursday by the Stamford Electric Co-op.

Winners were Parul Sevak, daughter of R. C. Sevak, and Ron Konstantin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lovvorn.

Students were required to give a five- to eight-minute speech on "What Stamford Electric Cooperative Contributes to This Area."

Runnersup were Brad Bevel, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bevel of Haskell, and Jayel Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Clark of Stamford.

Approximately 80 other young people will make the Washington trip from Texas, joining about 1,000 others from other states. They will make the trip on chartered buses with stops along the way at various points of interest.

Eighteen students have been sponsored by Stamford Electric Co-op in previous years.

Haskell wins

For the first time since 1980, Haskell won the district UIL literary meet.

The students earned a total of 254 points, outscoring Albany by one point.

"I am very proud of the tremendous effort exerted by the UIL participants and sponsors. Haskell has every reason to be proud of these people," said Greg Melton, UIL director.

Olney Savings is sponsoring color contest

Olney Savings Association will sponsor an association-wide coloring contest for kids, two through sixth grade.

"All entrants will be winners," said Alan D. Myers, chairman and chief executive officer of Olney Savings. "Any child who turns in a completed coloring blank to any of our offices will receive a certificate of achievement and a winner's ribbon."

Entry coloring blanks can be picked up at any Olney Savings office. Deadline for entries is Friday, April 29.

Myers said more than 70,000 students have been invited to participate. "And we plan to hang every single entry in our offices for the public to see," he said.

The competition is being held in conjunction with an animated cartoon special to be aired at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, April 23, by local television stations.

"Olney Savings has always actively committed to involvement in the community and we feel fortunate to have the opportunity to do something so positive for the younger members of all our families," Myers said.

Advisory meetings set at area schools

Area schools will be conducting Parent Advisory Committee meetings during the next week to discuss special programs in the schools.

Chapter I regular and migrant programs, Chapter II program, vocational programs and discipline management programs will be evaluated.

All parents of students in the special programs, as well as elected

--Haskell Nursing Center--

By Jo Fischer
Activity Director

This week is National Volunteer Week. Our hats are off to all the many volunteers in Haskell. They are very special people who are willing to take time out of their busy schedules for others. They supply a lot of TLC for many of our residents in the nursing home. They bring in the community to those who are unable to go out. The interaction between our older residents and the young people who visit is beautiful.

At Haskell Nursing Center we would like to say a special thank you to one particular volunteer: Vivian Shaw, who has been a volunteer for our home for eight years. She spends an average of at least 12 hours a week with us. Some of the many things she does for us are: passing ice each afternoon, doing manicures weekly, helping with bingo, playing dominoes, helping with crafts, writing letters and taking time to visit one on one with each resident daily. It is a special God-given talent that she has and we are so glad she shares it with us.

Others that come on a regular basis and volunteer are: Bill Shaw, Doris and Charlie Bassing, Steve and Frankie Cothron, Tommy Long, Earlene Griffith, Randy McLelland, Clara Baird, James and Ann Sinclair, Ford Cole, Rev. and Mrs. Hodge, John, Gina, Lindsay and Allison Pike, Charles and Latrice Swinson, Louise Chambers, Mary Kemp, Alma Terrell, Dora Montgomery, Elva Kuenstler and the other Methodist ladies, Ruth Loyd, Oleta Medford, Marcia Elmore, Ethel Jones.

D'Mae Elmore, Essie Solomon, Mrs. E. G. Graham, Delia Mae Tidrow, Ethel Hill and Nell Rogers and the Sunshine Ladies, Marsha Whittemore and the Sweet Home Singers, Mary Kingston, Bonnie Workman and the Country Band, Billie Cadenhead, Brytis Chamberlain, Thelma Williamson.

Earmal Bevel, Mae Herren, Mildred Mancill, Gladys O'Neal, Ann Darnell, Sylvia Crowe, Nettie McCollum, Agnes Winchester, Vera Smith, Mildred Robertson, Sarah Hodge, Mary Martin, Franciene Johnson, Sandy Langford, Nene Comedy and the Haskell Girl Scouts and Rev. and Mrs. Hodge.

If we have left anyone off our list we thank you too.

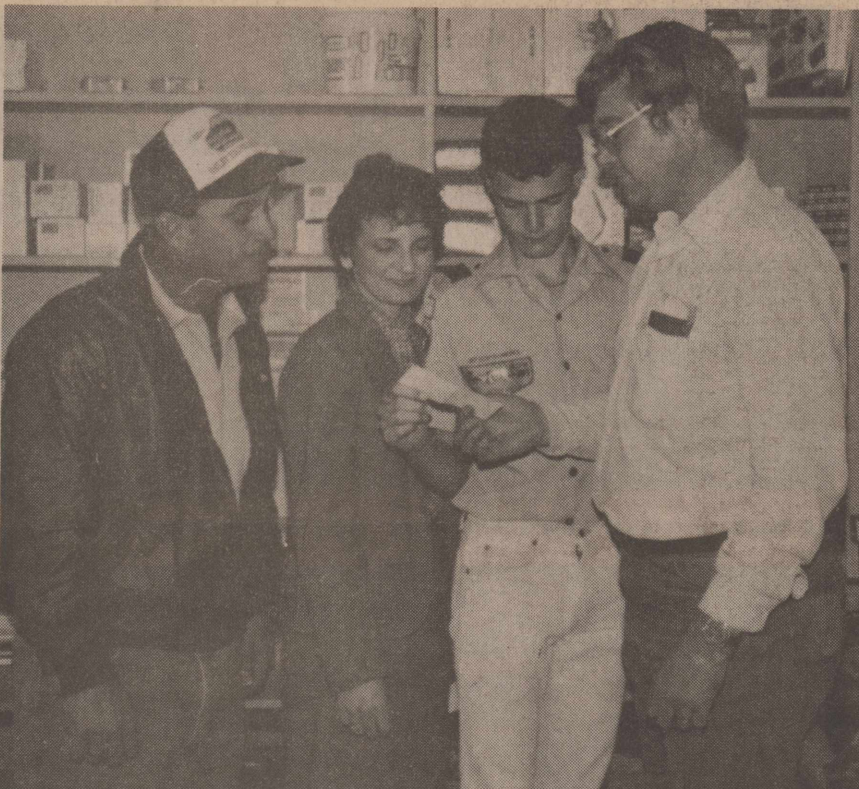

Honor society elects officers

Officers for the National Honor Society were chosen Monday after the annual induction ceremony for nine new members.

Officers are Joy McKeever, president; Chan Guess, vice president; Loutina Hadaway, secretary-treasurer; and Dalyn Gilly, reporter.

The ceremony was led by old NHS members Sheree Dumas, Kirk High, Sharla Jetton, Steven Klose, Tiffany Moeller, Patrick Perez, Michael Rodriguez and Mark Young.

Along with new and old members, their parents and teachers, around 60 people were present for the induction ceremony and refreshments afterwards at the First National Bank.

For Boy Scout bus

Boy Scouts hope to buy used bus

Boy Scout Troop 136 of Haskell is an active, dedicated, hard-working and very proud troop. Today there are 24 active members of the Boy Scouts, one scoutmaster and two assistant scoutmasters. By September the number will grow to more than 30.

Scouting is full of adventure. The troop is very adventurous. What a thrill it would be for the troop to have its own bus. Anytime the boys go camping, or on any other scouting activity, extra vehicles are needed. Sometimes problems arise from the lack of extra transportation. It is also a Scouting law (for safety sake and insurance purposes) that anyone transporting a Scout must be registered with the Boy Scouts of America and each passenger, front and back, must be strapped in with a seat belt.

A good used bus would solve those problems and be so beneficial now and in the future. Troop members hope their dreams of having their own bus will become a reality before they attend summer camp June 12-18 at Camp Tonkawa. Ed Walling, a former Eagle Scout, saw the need and proudly presented the troop with its first donation Monday. Scouts, troop committee members and parents greatly appreciate his thoughtfulness and concern.

In the two years that scouting has taken an upswing, the number of patrols has more than doubled, so more equipment and supplies have had to be purchased. The troop has several fund raisers during the year which have been very successful, thanks to the support that the community shows. Several donations along the way have also helped tremendously.

Anyone wishing to make a donation to help the troop purchase a used bus may contact Bill Perry, scoutmaster, or troop committee member Ann Johnston at the Haskell National Bank.

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

INVEST IN YOUR HOME

For many people, one of the highest yielding and safest investments is their own personal residence.

If you're looking for a place to invest extra cash, consider reducing the mortgage on your home. If you are not subject to prepayment penalties, an accelerated payment of the principal balance can be an excellent investment. If you are subject to penalties, compute the possible benefits of prepayment.

Consider this example. The monthly principal and interest payment on a $100,000, 10%, twenty-five-year mortgage is $909; the total amount paid over the 25 years (300 months) is $272,610. Look at this schedule to see how the number of "years to pay" is reduced by making increased principal payments.

Payment	Extra $ paid	Years to pay	Total $ paid	$ You save
$ 909	$-0-	25 Yrs.	$272,610	$-0-
929	20	23	255,392	17,218
959	50	21	235,840	36,770
1009	100	18	212,835	59,775
1109	200	14	186,262	86,348
1209	300	12	170,427	102,183
1309	400	10	160,970	111,640
1409	500	9	152,140	120,470

If your home is worth more than you owe on it and you intend to keep it, accelerating the payments may be one of your best investments.

As your income increases, consider increasing the amount of your extra payment. Remember, you have a guaranteed yield equal to the interest rate on your mortgage.

District track meet turns in to Haskell stampede

Indians

The Haskell Indians ran away with the district 7-2A track and field meet championship in Hamlin Friday, capturing eight first places and eight more seconds.

As a team, the Indians scored 263 points, while their closest rivals, Stamford and Hamlin, scored 98 and 89 respectively.

As a result, the Indians qualified for 14 individual and two relay entries in next week's regional meet in Big Spring.

Coming in first were:

Dusty Meeks in the high jump (6-2 1/2).

Roger Roewe in the discus (138-6).

Joe Comacho in the 3200-meter run (11:05.18).

Mark Young in the 400-meter run (49.62).

Mark Young in the 800-meter run (1:58.43).

Stephon Brockington in the 200-meter run (21.61).

The 400-meter relay team (43.56).

The 1600-meter relay team (3:25.68).

Second places went to:

Paul Harvey in the shot put (40-5 1/2).

Mark Young in the long jump (21-6).

Eric Mullin in the discus (138-4).

Louie Torres in the 400-meter run (51.00).

Louie Torres in the 800-meter run (2:04.71).

Derrick Billington in the 100-meter run (11.11).

Derrick Billington in the 200-meter run (22.41).

Joe Comacho in the 1600-meter run (5:01.64).

All of these individuals and the two relay teams will compete in the regional in Big Spring.

In addition, the Indians picked up five more third places:

Stephon Brockington in the discus (134-8).

Louie Torres in the pole vault (11-0).

Johnny Billington in the 400-meter run (52.44).

Fred Shaw in the 100-meter run (11.35).

So dominant was Haskell's showing that Indian performers finished first, second and third in the discus and the 400-meter dash, and first and second in the 200 and 800. They ran second and third in the 100.

In the 15 events, Haskell has regional qualifiers in everything except the two hurdle events and the pole vault.

Maidens

Winning first places in eight of the 15 events, the Haskell Maidens captured the district 7-2A track championship at the district meet in Hamlin Friday.

Picking up 156 team points, the Maidens out-distanced second-place Albany which had 125.

A couple of second-place finishes gave the Maidens regional qualifiers in seven individual and three relay team events.

Winning first places were:

Joy McKeever in the high jump (5-0).

Gloria Castillo in the 3200-meter run (13:59.88).

Leiza Morales in the 800-meter run (2:26.08).

Winning second places and also qualifying for regional were Sheree Dumas in the triple jump (35-1 1/2), and Jana Payne in the 32-00 meter run (14:01.21).

Four other Maidens won third places:

--Green Thumb--

By Gladys O'Neal
Haskell Garden Club

This writing is going to be a "hodge podge" of information which I feel like will be timely as we enter spring and summer. Most of us have our gardens and yards planned if not planted.

Just like humans, plants can also become ill or become a little "under the weather." If your plant doesn't look healthy, it is good to know "why" and "how" to treat and cure it.

Combating pests is something we all have to think about. Pests have their seasons. In spring and summer is when they develop more rapidly. Aphids breed when only one week old; they can produce ten babies every second day for a month.

When you discover pests on your plants, you can spray or mist the plants with cold water. The mixture can be enhanced by making a mixture of 1/10 beer or skimmed milk and 9/10 water. This also makes the leaves nice and shiny.

The first sign of aphids is usually the sticky deposit they leave on the windowsill. These can almost always be sprayed with an insecticide, such as Lindane, Pyrethrin or Rotenone.

If you want to avoid modern spray, you can use a good old-fashioned one--1 tsp. of brown soap, 1 tsp. window cleaning spirits and 5 qts. water. Spray the mixture on the plant, or dip the top in, the solution. Be very careful to not touch the roots.

Spider mites make fine webbing.

They are the size of a pinhead. They usually appear under the leaves where they suck the sap. They can be combated chemically or biologically.

Scale insects are related to mealy bugs. When their eggs hatch, the larvae crawl around on the plant until they find a suitable spot, where they sit tight and develop their shells.

Spray with insecticide, at least two times a week. If the attack is a minor one, the shells can be removed with a pin or a sharp knife.

Thrips are small dark insects. They discolor the leaves by sucking out their sap. Check for them by holding a piece of white paper beneath the suspected area and knock it gently. Use a pesticide to combat thrips.

Mildew and gray mold are also detrimental to the growth of plants.

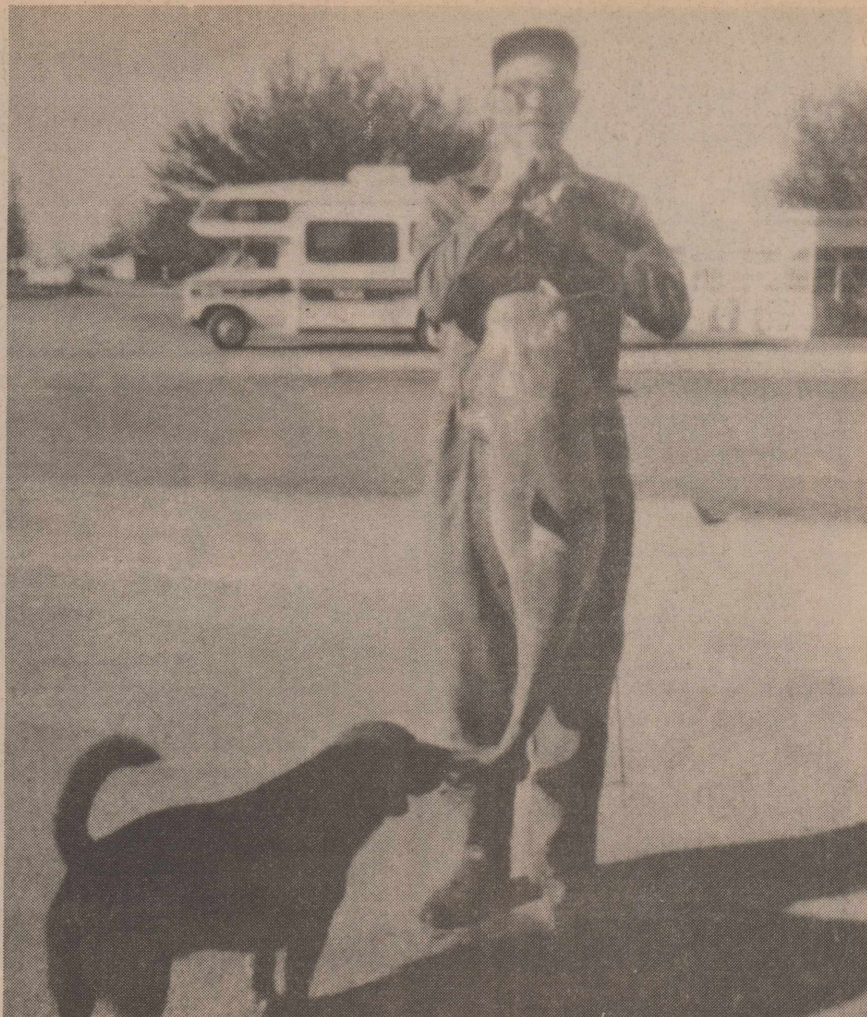

Always spray these plants outside with a chemical fungicide. Follow the directions very carefully and spray with care.

Nurseries and stores that handle insecticides can be of help to know what to use on specific plants. Just be careful using them.

Child Welfare Board

Child Abuse Prevention Month was established by presidential proclamation in 1983. Five years later, it has become institutionalized to the extent that April is accepted by those who work in the field and their partners--educators, medical professionals, administrators of programs for child and youth, and county and regional boards--as the time of year for special efforts to raise everyone's awareness around the belief that "It shouldn't hurt to be a child."

Words hit as hard as a fist:

"You're pathetic. You can't do anything right."

"You disgust me. Just shut up!"

"Hey, stupid! Don't you know how to listen?"

"Get outta here! I'm sick of looking at your face."

"You're more trouble than you're worth."

"Why don't you go and find some other place to live! You can't be my kid!"

"Any dummy can make better grades than you!"

"I wish you were never born!"

Children believe what their parents tell them. Often parents need to stop and listen to what they are saying. They might not believe their ears.

Take time out. Don't take it out on your kid.

5 seniors to receive scholarships

(From the War Whoop)

Five new scholarships at $1,000 each will be awarded to seniors in May.

The McKenney Scholarship Trust will present three of the scholarships and the First Baptist Church will present two.

A selection committee will be appointed to choose the recipients. All seniors will be judged on their conduct and must have character above reproach.

Lori Darden and Vance Roberts already have received presidential scholarships from McMurry College, and Sharla Jetton received an academic scholarship from Hardin-Simmons University.

"We are really excited about these scholarships because they represent $5,000 worth of help for our kids," said Billie McKeever, counselor.

--Weinert--

By Myrtle Phemister

We are happy to report more moisture for our area. By Monday morning we had 7 tenths of an inch of rain. We could use more, naturally, but we are so grateful for this bit.

We extend congratulations to several people this week:

To Mattie and D. I. White who have purchased Mike Stewart's home, and will be moving into town soon.

To Mike Stewart who has moved into his old "home place" on the farm.

To Margie and Junior Stewart who have purchased a home in Munday and have moved there. We are happy for all these who are making a move, but we will miss the Stewarts, especially will we miss Mike.

Also, congratulations to Doris Walker who has purchased the Mane

Tamer, (hair salon) from Melanie Wood.

And to several who are doing some home re-modeling, good luck!

Birthday greetings are extended to Debbie Crump, Thelma Edwards, Doris Walker, Donna Castorena, Francis Mahan, Monice Estrada (and to a special little five-yearold great-granddaughter, Deshea Phemister). Happy birthday, all!

Rene Vojkufka returned Saturday from a ten day sight-seeing tour with the Charles Abernathy tours of Aspermont.

She said Charles called this his "last" trip, but it was such a fantastic tour she recommends he repeat it a few more times. It is called the "Bluebonnet Tour," but the late freezes and lack of rains have kept the bluebonnets dormant.

The tour took them through Fredricksburg, Johnson City, Austin, San Antonio, to Del Rio and over into Old Mexico for a day, with stops for sight-seeing at all the points of interest.

They returned through the Big Bend Country, to McDonald's Observatory, and a stop in Midland for the marvelous museum there that is an education about oil and oil production.

They all arrived home safely, with such a host of memories, tired bones, happy hearts and a bus load of new friends!

Marvin and Myrtle Phemister were guests of the Alvin Ulmers at the Friday night showing of Hee Haw 88 in Sagerton. They were accompanied by Helen Boykin.

The Phemisters have received word their granddaughter and family, the Wimon Walkers, have arrived safely in Johannesburg, South Africa, where they will be starting their second three-year missionary term of service in the country of Batswana, Africa. They are sponsored by the Churches of Christ, with the Church in Tigard, Oregon being their sponsoring church. The Walkers have two children, Martin, 4 and Marcella, 1 1/2. Mrs. Walker is the daughter of Lola Phemister Williams of Harlingen.

Sandra and Don Stafford of Denton spent the weekend with her parents, the Ted Jettons.

The reunion was held in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

Others from Weinert who attended were Clyde and Otie Bell Mayfield; Tiffen and Erlinda Mayfield with Mondy and Mitch.

Ferril McCampbell of French Gulch, California is here for a few days visit with her brothers, John and Clyde Mayfield, and attended the Furrh reunion on Saturday.

George and Couilla Cunningham of Ransom Springs, with her son, Jeff and Lisa Teague and children of Haskell visited with her parents, the Clyde Mayfields the past weekend and also attended the Furrh reunion.

Helen Boykin spent the weekend in Vernon in the home of her son, Raymon and Janie Boykin.

Ima Stewart and Rene Vojkufka were in Munday on Sunday to check on the progress of their brother, Doris Alexander. Doris was injured a few days ago when he fell from a ladder while painting at the T. E. Reeves home. He is doing well.

Taylor Wade of Abilene spent the weekend with his grandparents, Alice and Toby Yates.

Joe and Caron Yates, with Dusty and T.J.; Bob and Melanie Wood with Zachry, attended the Scouts Soap Box Derby held in Nelson Park in Abilene where their sons, Dusty Yates and Cory Wood were participants, a part of Den #4 Pack #136 and classified as the "winners".

There are 8 boys in Den #4 and they made a car together to race. They won first place in their Bear division; received first place for Best made car; and third place over all in the Grand Champion race. Congratulations from us all!

The Elementary students will enter the track meet to be held at Rochester on April 27.

Shane Stout entered the track meet at Munday on Saturday and came in 4th in the 400 meter race. We are proud of him!

Lester and Kathi Hutchinson made a trip to the Hill Country last weekend for a visit in Junction with their daughter, Debbie, who teaches first grade there.

The country was dry all the way, with few bluebonnets, and little "green", but it came a good shower on Sunday. (They will probably give Lester the credit for the rain, and want him to return soon!).

T. E. and Nelda Reeves entertained several aunts and uncles the past week. Opal and Sam Benchie of LaVerne, California, Mildred Echols, of Arlington, and Lucy Mitchell of Mineral Wells, all sisters of T.E.'s mother, came for a visit with the Reeves.

Recent visitors in the Rex Herricks home were Tinka's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Queston Greer of Snyder, and Tammy and Bernie Kimmel with Tiffany of Lubbock.

The Herricks 15 baby calves (bottle-fed) have been a novelty with all the children in town.

Leta and Roy Phemister were in Stanton and Big Spring on business trip this week, and spent some time with their son's family in Odessa. Roy Lynn has a plant nursery and also teaches horticulture in High School and college in Odessa.

The Weinert Extension Club members enjoyed a day of fun and fellowship on Tuesday as they journeyed to Vernon for the spring TEHA District meeting.

They were delighted to hear the State Extension President Nell Finney speak, as well as Mrs. Ray Farabee, candidate for the State Senate.

The meeting was attended by over 200 club women in the District. They enjoyed a luncheon and a style show before returning home. Those attending were Faye Jetton, Myrtle Phemister, Debbie Crump, Alice Yates and Betty Sanders, our voting delegate.

Haskell County will host the meeting in 1989.

The home of John and LaVerne Mayfield was buzzing with excitement the past weekend as the families of all three of their children came home to visit and attend the reunion of John's grandparents' descendants, Isaac and Nancy (Nannie) Furrh, and to celebrate the birthday of an aunt, Dovie Furrh of Haskell.

No contests in Rule elections

There are no contested races for the city and school elections to be held in Rule May 7.

Mayor R. C. Langford is unopposed, as are council candidates Jackie Wilcox and Jerry Cannon.

Kenny Tanner and Willie Palmer, who terms are expiring, did not file for re-election on the council. Holdover councilmen are Lou Landes, Buddy Tibbets and Danny Langford.

Filing for the two positions on the school board were Clayton Stegemoeiler and Marshall Brown. The two positions are now held by Ed Fouts and Leon Stegemoeiler. Holdover school board members are Ronald Landes, Larry LeFevre, John Pike, Patrick Pace and Jimmy New.
