Tempa Toney ... still likes acting

She's an actress

There's another side to Tempa

By K. B. Lane
It is 11:39 a.m. and the Haskell County EMS is dispatched to the scene of an accident. Paramedic Tempa Wofford Toney works diligently, fighting to save a victim's life.

A bystander watching her demonstrate her paramedical expertise probably would never guess that there are two distinct sides to Toney.

One side deals with a science and the other side, an art. Both work equally hard when faced with a challenge.

Described as not only talented but dedicated, Toney will display this unfamiliar side when she performs in her first musical, "Alice My Name is Alice", a production of the Abilene Community Theatre.

"Alice" is a revue of 24 songs and sketches by 20 of America's most noted writers, lyricists and composers, such as Carol Hall, author of "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas".

A bystander may find it hard to believe that a paramedic could have such a love for the theater, but Toney's hometown of Rule knows differently.

Toney said she discovered her talent in high school when she auditioned and won a part in the UIL One-Act-Play. Her interest in theatre grew as the years passed by.

"I enjoy acting. It is nice to forget about everything else and do something I really enjoy," Toney said.

She left behind a display of her talent at Rule High School when she was chosen as best actress for her performance in "Rope Dancers" at the State UIL 1-A OAP competition in 1985.

A theater professor from Western Texas College in Snyder saw Toney perform at state and offered her a scholarship.

She enrolled into WTC to study theater but decided to pursue an interest in the medical field after she and her fiance, Bruce, also a paramedic, married.

Theater has turned into a hobby for the time being for Toney. Balancing a career, a husband and a two-year-old daughter, Tarah, does not leave much free time.

"It's not only a hobby now, but I hope it develops into a career," Toney said.

Last spring, Toney took classes at WTC where she received a theater scholarship that paid her tuition and fees.

While at WTC, she was in the production of "Blithe Spirit", a comedy by Noel Coward. It was Toney's first performance since 1985.

Toney said the drive back and forth to rehearsals was tough.

"The director worked around me and my schedule, but the people in the play did not have careers and families. Therefore, time was no object for them," Toney said.

With plans to enroll in McMurry College in the fall, she wants to complete her bachelors degree in theater and then tackle graduate school.

"I want a degree where I can teach

Council authorizes work on city streets

Haskell city council authorized the seal coating of streets at a regular meeting on June 8 with plans to begin a continuous effort of sealing the same number of blocks each year.

Streets to be coated within the next few weeks are the 500 and 600 blocks of South 12th from North Avenue H through North Avenue L, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

North 19th from North Avenue E to North Avenue H.

North 16th, 17th and 18th of Avenue F, G and H.

North Avenue L.

South 2nd from South Avenue E through Avenue H.

North 11th from North Avenue E through Avenue H.

600 block of North 18th and 700 block of North 17th.

Other action:

Funding for new pavement was authorized by the council and the selected streets are South Avenue C from South 4th to South 6th and South 4th from Avenue C to D.

One block on North 11th between Avenues C and D and eight intersections on North Avenue A will be paved.

Council passed a resolution supporting the City of Stamford in efforts of obtaining a state prison.

A bid of $12,050 was accepted from Rockwell International for electronic meter-reading devices.

The city is seeking bids for a new backhoe and will consider the bids at the next meeting. The current backhoe used by the city is 8-years-old. In departmental reports by city administrator Bob Baker, he said the city was trying to identify dead-end water lines that were furnishing stagnant water to customers.

He also reported the city is being sprayed for mosquitos on a regular basis.

At the next city council meeting scheduled for June 22 at 7 p.m., Baker will present a report on the new requirements affecting the landfill that will cost the city additional funds.

Counts losses

Darold Roberson adds up his losses last Thursday morning after he discovered that thieves had broken into his Western Auto Store. Eighteen guns (12 pistols and 6 rifles), a stereo and two or three boxes of ammo were taken. He estimated the value of the stolen merchandise at $4,000. A $500 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

Half-year sales tax ahead of last year

In the first six months of 1989, Haskell's one-percent sales taxes brought the city $80,369.64.

The figure represents a 4.11-percent increase over the $77,197.93 netted during the first half of 1988.

Haskell remains ahead of last year, despite a June check from the state comptroller which was 11.31 percent lower than its June 1988 check. This month's rebate was in the amount of $8,381.34, compared to $9,450.35 last year.

Rule was the only other Haskell County city to receive a tax rebate check this month. It was in the amount of $889.25. Last June, Rule's check was for $2,665.06. For the year to date, Rule has received $10,331.48, or nearly 28 percent less than the $14,332.91 it got in the first six months of last year.

Haskell, O'Brien, Rochester, Rule and Weinert have now been rebated a total of $126,097.85 during the first six months of 1989. This is 30.51 percent more than the $95,721.37 received during the same period last year. A number of taxes paid this year on previous years' sales distorts the comparison.

Neighboring Stamford welcomed a $12,758.84 check from the comptroller this week. That represented a 4.41 increase over last year. Stamford's six-month total stands at $93,045.12, up 12.68 percent over the $82,575.11 of last year.

June's checks represent taxes collected in April by monthly filers and reported to the comptroller's office by May 22.

Commodities to be given next week

Surplus food commodities will be distributed in Haskell County on the following dates, times and locations:

Sagerton: 10 to 11 a.m., Wednesday, June 21, at Faith Lutheran Church.

Haskell: 8 to 10 a.m., Thursday, June 22, at Experienced Citizens Center. (8 to 9 a.m. for 60 years and over, 9 to 10 a.m. for 59 years and under.)

Rule: 9 to 10 a.m., Thursday, June 22, at Church of Christ.

Each person receiving commodities must present identification.

SS schedule for Haskell is given

The Social Security travel schedule for the third quarter lists the following dates for a representative to visit in Haskell:

July 13 and 27, Aug. 10 and 24, Sept. 14 and 28.

The representative will be available on those dates, beginning at 9:30 a.m., at the City Hall annex.

Six died in 1909 storm

The Haskell Free Press
June 12, 1909

Six persons lost their lives and untold damage to property was caused when a storm struck this section Thursday night, followed Friday by heavy rains which flooded a large part of the business section and residence section northeast and east of the square.

R. S. Middleton, who lives three and a half miles northeast of town, with his family went to a cellar during the storm. The cellar caved in, killing his wife and four children and Miss Maggie Bishop, a school teacher who was visiting the family. Mr. Middleton and three of the children escaped with slight injuries.

Heavy rain and one of the worst hail storms in years virtually destroyed all crops in their path, and battered through roofs of numerous residences and stores.

A passenger train on the Orient Railroad was blown from the tracks and several persons were killed and injured.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

Marginal Tax Rates (Do You Know Yours?)

Your marginal tax rate reveals how much you net from each additional dollar of income. For example, a person with a 28% marginal rate nets 72 cents.

Determining one's marginal rate can be a complicated task. Although, theoretically, we now have a two-rate system (15% and 28%), provisions that phase out the benefits of the lower bracket and personal exemptions, limit utilization of certain real estate rental losses, tax social security benefits above certain income levels, etc., result in a plethora of marginal tax rates ranging from 15% to 49.5%.

Determining whether to invest in taxable versus tax-free instruments is a classic example of the importance marginal rates have on financial decisions. For example, which is the better investment - a 6.25% tax free bond or a 9% taxable bond?

For someone in the 33% marginal bracket (singles: taxable income over $44,900; marrieds: taxable income over $74,850), the net return on the 9% taxable bond is 6%. Thus, a tax-free instrument yielding more than 6% would be better for this individual.

Someone in the 42% marginal bracket (social security recipients with income over $25,000, single; $32,000 married) has a threshold for investing in tax-free instruments of 5.22% when compared to 9% taxable yields.

Your marginal rate is not a static figure. In the above examples, the 33% rate is only effective until the benefits of the 15% tax rate and personal exemptions are eliminated. Then the rate drops to 28%. Similarly, the 42% rate only applies until one-half of the social security benefits are taxed; then the rate returns to 28%.

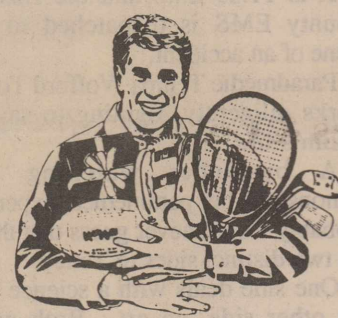

Your 1989 tax planning should include a determination of your marginal tax rate so that you can make informed financial decisions.

Johnson, Nichols exchange vows

The sanctity of the marriage vows was interwoven into every part of the wedding worship service Saturday evening at the University United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls where Miss Kara Johnson and Mr. Kevin Nichols recited marital vows.

Rev. Ray Hennigh, minister, officiated the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Sells of Iowa Park and the late Tommy R. Johnson and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nichols of Holliday.

The ceremony was performed in an excellent decorative setting of arched seven-branched candelabra, entwined with greenery, flanked a white archway laced with greenery and white doves with white satin bows.

The church pews were decorated with white satin bows.

An important part of the decorations that contributed to the sacredness of the occasion was a white unity candle which was entwined with greenery and white satin.

As the bride and groom lit the unity candle, the vocalist sang "You Are So Beautiful to Me".

Miss Michelle Smith lit the candles to signify the beginning of the ceremony.

A musical background for the wedding was provided by Mike Wimberly, vocalist, and Jeanette Bail, organist. Their offerings included "Wind Beneath My Wings" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire".

The organist played "Trumpet

Voluntary" for the processional and "We've Only Just Begun" for the recessional.

The "Wedding Song" was performed as the bride was given in marriage.

The bride presented a beautiful picture in her Mari Lee designer gown of crystal organza and re-embroidered chantilly lace as she entered the sanctuary with her brother, Craig Johnson, who escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage for her mother.

They paused by the pew where their mother was seated for the bride to present her with a fresh red rose. As the newlyweds were exiting the church, she gave a fresh red rose to the groom's mother.

The bodice of the bride's gown featured crystal organza, chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins, dropped into a bosque waistline, an exquisite Victorian neckline and bishop-style sleeves enhanced with lace and seed pearls.

The crystal organza skirt was accented with chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins. The train of scalloped chantilly lace, seed pearls and sequins cascaded to a semi-cathedral length and was trimmed with crystal organza ruffles. The gown was completed with a crystal organza bow.

The bride's headpiece was a wreath of silk flowers and pearls. The veil pouffed in back and cascaded to fingertip length. The look was finished with cascading flowers in back.

She carried a colonial nosegay style bouquet of silk mauve dogwood blossoms, carnations, lillies and mauve and blue roses with fresh baby's breath, lace and blue satin ribbons and streamers.

The bride kept the sentimental traditions by wearing a pearl drop necklace, which was a gift to her mother from her father many years ago, for "something old", her wedding gown and veil for "something new", a blue garter for "something blue". She carried a white Bible belonging to Debbie Brantley, cousin, for "something borrowed", and a six pence in her shoe, which was worn by the groom's mother at her wedding, for good luck.

The charming four bridal attendants were matron of honor, Cene' Dean, sister of the bride, Cindy Billingsley, Aimi Sitgreaves and Brenda Copas, the bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants and candlelighter wore mauve taffeta tea length dresses designed with close-fitting bodices, dropped yoke waist, sweetheart neckline, pouffed sleeves, the dipped back was accented with matching bows.

They wore shoes dyed to match and carried loose-hand-held style bouquets of blue and mauve roses, dogwood blossoms, lillies and carnations with blue satin ribbons.

They each wore mauve lillie blossoms with blue satin ribbons in their hair. The candlelighter wore a wrist corsage of blue and mauve flowers, ribbons and fresh baby's breath.

The flower girl, Sommer Johnson, niece of the bride, wore a white tea-length border eyelet gown trimmed in wedgewood blue. She wore a halo of white silk flowers trimmed with white ribbon and carried a white lace basket of mauve and blue roses with baby's breath and blue and mauve satin ribbons.

The ring bearer, Dusty Dean, nephew of the bride, was dressed like the groom and wore a mauve rosebud boutonniere and carried a white lace and satin pillow with wedding rings.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo with tails and a blue silk rose boutonniere with greenery and fresh baby's breath taken from the brides' bouquet.

Keith Nichols, brother of the groom, served as bestman. The groomsmen were Donnie Long, Kurt Lilley and Larry Krob. Serving as ushers were Gradlin Franks and Robert Dean, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride.

The male participants, brother of the bride and father of the groom wore silver tuxedos with tails, white wing-tipped shirts and mauve bow ties and cummerbunds.

The bride's mother wore a lovely deep mauve one-piece polyester dress styled with an undefined waist, round neckline, an overlay of matching lace scalloped to the flowering tiny pleated skirt. She wore a corsage of blue dogwood and fresh baby's breath with mauve ribbons.

The groom's mother chose a dress of pale mauve, sheer fabric designed with tea length full skirt and long sleeve embroidered lace bodice. She wore a corsage of blue dogwood and fresh baby's breath with mauve ribbons.

The bride's mother was hostess of a lovely postnuptial reception at the church.

Miss Sonya Herrell, who had served at the bride's book table in the church entry before the wedding, invited guests to register at the reception.

The bride's registry table was of white re-embroidered eyelet, featuring the bride's book and plume pen with touches of the bride's chosen flowers in a silver vase.

The special beauty of the bride's table was stressed in the picture-perfect white cake, its three tiers separated with two sets of Grecian posts.

Clusters of mauve and blue roses covered the tops of the divided layers.

Mrs. Kevin Nichols

The bride and groom ornamentation covered the top tier to add the finishing touch to the cake.

The bride's table was covered with white re-embroidered eyelet with bouquets of the bride's colors at the front corners and the bridal bouquet focused in the center.

The crystal punch service and cake marked the sides of the table. The crystal dishes of mints and nuts and mauve napkins lettered with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in silver completed the decor.

The groom's table was covered with a champagne beige satin cloth and centered with a smaller version of the bouquet on the bride's table. The table was highlighted with a German chocolate cake decorated with light and dark chocolate with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date.

During the reception, Debbie Brantley and Vickie Floyd served at the bride's table and Dana Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, served at the groom's table.

Chris Dean and Tommy Johnson, niece and nephew of the bride and Kari and Wesley Massey, cousins of the grooms, passed out the rice bags.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the La Vista Country Club.

Special wedding guests were Mrs. Nellie Collins of Haskell, grandmother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Massey of Wichita Falls, grandparents of the groom.

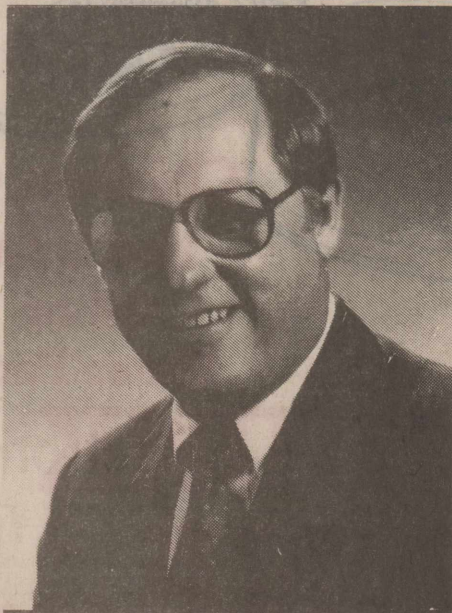

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State University with a bachelors degree in business administration. She is employed with the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Wichita Falls.

The groom was graduated from Holliday High School and attended Midwestern State University and is employed with the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Electra. The couple will live in Iowa Park.

Following the reception, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Nuevo Vallarta, Mexico. The bride chose to travel in a turquoise and white lace off-the-shoulder styled dress.

By Myrtle Plemister

The weather has been so nice we'd love for it to stay this way forever.

We continue receiving the showers of rain, the cool nights and warm humid days. The cotton is up and growing; the milo is so lush and promising; our part of the big country is "looking good"!

Erma Liles returned home from a two week vacation trip she took with good friends, Paris and Fannie Mae Barton, all exuberant and excited about the good time she had.

Their excursion took them to Wink for the graduation exercises of Tommy Beckham, good friend of the Bartons, who pastored the First Baptist Church there 18 years ago.

They went on to Arkansas to Cleveland, and to Harrison visiting friends, among them Al and Edna Eason, who are in their 90s, and still keeping their own home.

Through Missouri, they visited relatives in Farmington, and made a stop at the Lambert "Threwed Roll" cafe in Sikeston, an acclaimed antique, country dining place, and Erma declares is a "must stop".

Their destination was Frank Clay,

Mo., where Paris attended the 50th anniversary of his high school graduation before they turned back towards home, making a few stops on the way, especially in Fort Worth, since Fannie Mae is the "trail boss" and every grandmother uses each opportunity to visit their grandchildren!

Erma attended the Toliver Family Reunion in Haskell on Saturday.

J. A. and Laverne Mayfield were in Dallas and De Soto last week to visit their children. They attended worship services in De Soto where Alexia sings with the church choir.

David and Sandra Pena spent the weekend in Pawnee with his family and hers. They were accompanied by their four sons, and David's brother, Voldo Pena.

Francis Mahan spent Sunday in Haskell, and visited in the home of Eunice Amonett and at the nursing home with Ima Stewart.

Chet and Jeanie Forehand were in Abilene on Tuesday where they took his mother, Maye Forehand, for a check-up. She is doing well.

Ted and Faye Jetton were in Holliday for their family reunion last weekend. They were saddened to learn that a nephew, Harbis Allison of Lubbock is critically ill in the Lubbock Hospital. He is a former resident of Rule, and married to Claudia Fraley.

Doyle and Tommy Boykin of Texas City spent Saturday night with his mother, Helen Boykin. They all attended the special orientation service at ACU on Sunday evening, where Tommy is enrolled as a freshman student.

Bob and Ann Hogle of Pratt, with their combine crew, were guests at the worship services of First Baptist Church on Sunday, and later visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sanders.

Marcus Plemister of Canyon Lake is in town for an extended stay with relatives.

Several members of the Four-Square Church are attending camp at Buffalo Gap this week.

James Green was honored on his sixth birthday with a birthday party hosted by his mother, Cindy Matlock. Special guest was his father, Mike Green of Midland.

Mark and Darla Coffman, with Drew and Jordan of Bridgeport were in town to visit with Mark's grandparents, Pud and Susie Brockett.

Mark coaches and spends a lot of time on the road attending seminars and such. He left for Arizona this week and will be there until he goes on to California for another meeting. Mark is a conscientious coach.

Other guests in the Brockett home were Eula Booe of Knox City (nee Eula Adams of Lake Creek). Also Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lewis of Ft. Worth.

Mr. Lewis' father, Daniel Lewis, preached at the Methodist Church at Lake Creek many years ago, and people remember him fondly.

All roads will lead to Bowie on Friday, June 16, when the "farmer takes a wife". Congratulations to Mondy Mayfield and Deborah Ogle, who will be married at the First Baptist Church in Bowie at 7 o'clock in the evening on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Johnson and Angela entertained her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Solis, with Sabrina, Alicia, Vanessa and Patricia of Abilene over the weekend, and the girls stayed for a longer time.

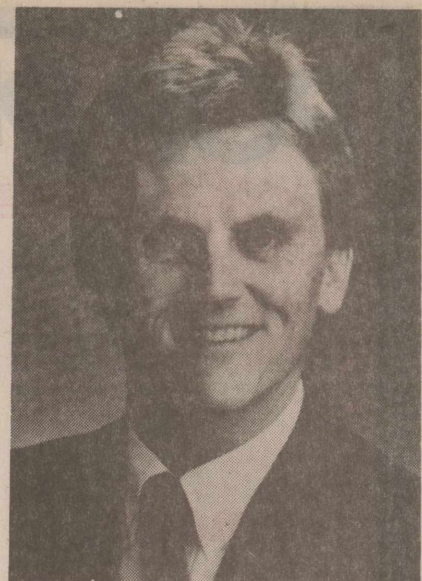

They learned the home of the Solis' was in the flooded area on Saturday night, and the family was evacuated to higher ground.

Lester and Kathi Hutchinson were delighted to have Lester's aunt, Callie Hutchinson Mach of Dallas to visit in their home for the weekend.

Weekend guests of Chet and Jeanie Forehand and Kenny were Jean's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Skipworth of Robert Lee, and her sister, Sybil Conner of Big Spring.

Our birthday people this week includes, Mabel Derr and Rene Vojkufka. Happy birthday!

Those celebrating wedding anniversaries are Ricky and Karen Harlen, Mack and Kim Stewart, and Gilbert and Sophia Jimenez. Congratulations!

Jeff Robertson

Robertson joins PCA at Stamford

Rolling Plains Production Credit Association has announced the employment of Jeff Robertson, who began June 1 as loan officer in the Stamford branch. He and his wife, Stacia, will reside in Stamford.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Robertson of Weinert. He has been closely affiliated with farming and ranching all his life since his family has been involved with agriculture for several generations.

He has been employed in the Metroplex since graduation from Angelo State in 1986 with a degree in business administration.

Bass tournament winners named

The Haskell Bass Club held its monthly two-day tournament at Lake Stamford last weekend with Glen Pogue of Haskell winning first place with 10.15 pounds.

Second place went to Jim Pope of Haskell, 10.05 pounds, and third-place winner was Brad Dubert of Aspermont, 9.66 pounds.

Keith Conners of Benjamin caught Saturday's biggest fish, 2.44 pounds. Bill Thomas of Haskell had Sunday's biggest fish, 4.16 pounds.

Following the tournament Sunday, members and their families enjoyed a fish fry.

Heart attack and angina

Tenth in a series
What is silent ischemia?
 Some people have ischemia without having pain. As many as three to four million Americans may have ischemic episodes without knowing it.
 These people have silent ischemia. They may have a heart attack without prior warning. In addition, people who have angina may also have undiagnosed episodes of silent ischemia, too.
 Various tests, such as an exercise test or a 24-hour portable monitor of the electrocardiogram (Holter monitor), are used to diagnose silent ischemia.

What is the heart's collateral circulation?
 Collateral circulation involves small arteries that connect between two larger coronary arteries supplying blood to the heart muscle.
 Everyone has collateral vessels, at least in microscopic form. These vessels aren't open under normal conditions, but seem to enlarge in some people with coronary heart disease.

And if collateral vessel enlarges, it can let blood flow from an open artery to an adjacent (blocked) artery, if it connects below the blockage. In other words, the collateral vessels can form a kind of detour around a blockage and serve as alternate routes of blood supply.

Research has shown that while everyone has collateral vessels, these vessels don't open up and become available in all people. Some people have available collaterals; others don't.

People who have open collateral vessels are fortunate because such vessels help protect heart muscle from tissue death when the blood supply is cut off.

How is angina treated?
 Angina pectoris can be treated with drugs that affect 1) the supply of oxygen to the heart muscle or 2) the heart's demand for oxygen.

Some drugs, called coronary vasodilators, cause the blood vessels to relax. When this happens, the opening inside them (the lumen) gets bigger. Then the bloodflow improves and more oxygen reaches the heart muscle.

Nitroglycerin, a drug that relaxes the veins (and reduces the amount of blood returning to the heart) and the coronary arteries (increasing the blood supply to the heart) is the drug most often used.

The heart's demand for oxygen also can be modified. For example, a drug can be prescribed that will reduce blood pressure and thus the heart's workload. The result is that the heart needs less oxygen. Drugs that slow down the heart rate achieve the same effect.

Techniques that improve the blood supply to the heart also may be used. One technique is percutaneous transluminal coronary angioplasty (PTCA), also known as angioplasty or balloon angioplasty. Another procedure is coronary artery bypass graft surgery.

Before performing either of these procedures, a doctor must identify the blocked part of the coronary arteries. This is done using coronary arteriography, which is done during cardiac catheterization.

To perform coronary arteriography, a doctor guides a thin plastic tube called a catheter through an artery in the arm or leg and into the coronary arteries. Then the doctor injects a liquid dye visible in X-rays through the catheter. High speed X-ray movies record the course of the liquid as it flows through the arteries. Doctors can identify obstructions in the arteries by tracing the flow of the liquid.

Some newer diagnostic procedures are available to evaluate the heart's function. These tests may be done either before or after a heart attack. Some of these tests are still relatively experimental and are limited to larger medical centers.

PTCA is a nonsurgical procedure designed to dilate (widen or expand) narrowed coronary arteries. In it, a doctor inserts a catheter into an artery in an arm or leg and guides it to an obstructed coronary artery.

Then another catheter having a balloon tip is passed inside the first; the balloon tip is inflated at the point of the arterial blockage. This compresses the plaque and enlarges the diameter of the opening within the blood vessel so blood can flow more easily. Then the balloon is deflated and the catheters are withdrawn.

In about 25 percent of the people who've had PTCA, the dilated part of the coronary artery renarrows. This usually occurs within the first six months. A doctor will then decide if the operation should be repeated or if open-heart surgery is a better alternative.

In coronary artery bypass graft surgery, surgeons take a blood vessel from another part of the body (usually from the leg or from inside the chest wall) and use it to construct a detour around the blocked portion of a coronary artery.

One end of the vessel is attached above the blockage; the other end is attached to the coronary artery just beyond the blocked area. The blood supply to use the heart muscle is thus restored.

People with angina should also modify their controllable risk factors. This means they shouldn't smoke, and should control their blood pressure and make sure their diet doesn't contribute to atherosclerosis or obesity.

Little League to choose all-stars

All-star selection from the Haskell major league teams will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 21, at the fire station.

"All major league coaches should attend," said Hugh Peiser, Little League president.

On Friday, June 23, the regular season will conclude with a hamburger supper, trophy presentations and a softball game featuring the T-ball, minor and major league coaches.

"Everyone is invited to attend. The coaches' game is especially fun because coaches must bat opposite from their normal batting position," said Jill Druesedow, Little League board member.

Following the district meeting held in Seymour June 6, Haskell will host both the area and district all-star tournaments.

The area games will begin July 10 at 6 p.m. when Haskell and Stamford play the opening game. Twin Cities drew a bye in the first round.

The district tournament will begin July 17.

ICE CREAM CONE BIRTH

It was at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 that an enterprising ice cream vendor got the idea to curl one of the waffles sold by a nearby concessionaire into a cone shape, let it cool, then fill it with a scoop of ice cream. Hence, the ice cream cone was born.

PIE A LA MODE

It was a professor dining around the turn of the century at a hotel in Cambridge, N.Y., who first got the idea to have ice cream with his apple pie. Another diner observed the professor's concoction and pronounced it "pie a la mode" or "pie in the fashion of the day."

Tempa Toney...

theater in schools and be able to continue acting if opportunities arise," Toney said.

Dramatic plays are Toney's favorite, but she is not without some experience in her first musical. Taking private voice lessons while in elementary school has proved to be a valuable asset.

She gives her dad, Jeff Wofford, credit as she said he taught her a great deal and was a big help.

Bob Barton, director of "Alice", said, "Tempa is a good actress and she has a nice voice."

"Alice" is the ACT's last production of the season. Toney said the theatre usually performs traditional musicals, but this year it is trying something new.

Created by Joan Micklin Silver and Julianne Boyd, director Bob Barton describes "Alice" as a series of songs and sketches all derived on the theme of women in the 80s.

"It is a very entertaining show. It is not one that only women will enjoy. It is how all of us look at ourselves through this sometimes touching, often zany, and always entertaining theatre piece about modern women," Barton said.

All cast members and backstage crew are volunteers from local communities who audition for roles in the theatre's productions.

Toney said the seven-member all-woman cast each has a family and a career, so director Barton keeps to the rehearsal schedule.

"Each of our lives are so very different. Our careers range from a lawyer, a mail carrier, an elementary school teacher, a paramedic to a broadcast journalism major. Put us together and it's what the show is all about," Toney said.

She admits her biggest fan is her husband, Bruce. He said he enjoys watching the performances and tries to be supportive.

"It gets hard. It takes support from both Bruce and Tarah and without them, I couldn't do it," Toney said.

Performances of "Alice" are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 15-17, at 8 p.m.; Sunday, June 18 at 2 p.m.; and Wednesday through Saturday, June 21-24, all at 8 p.m.

Box office hours at the Abilene Community Theatre are 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and on performance Saturdays.

Tickets are $7.50 for adults, $6 for students, military and senior citizens and $4 for children under 12 years-old.

Basketball camp

These 7-to-10-year-old girls were going through their paces Tuesday morning at the basketball camp being conducted by Haskell coaches George Martin and Randy Stone. Fifty girls are attending the camp this week. Last week's boys' camp attracted 38 registrants.

4-H program can cure summer blues

4-H can be a solution to the summertime blues.

The 4-H program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service offers educational as well as fun activities and programs, Lou Gilly, county 4-H program coordinator, said.

A number of workshops, tours, trips and club meetings are planned for the summer months. Youths can take part in organized club activities or individualized projects sure to captivate their interest for hours.

Community 4-H clubs can be found throughout the state, usually within easy access to interested youth. And the clubs aren't just in rural communities; urban youth are involved, too.

Young people interested in joining 4-H in their community should contact the club's volunteer leader if known, or contact the county extension office.

Anyone from the third grade through age 19 can join 4-H regardless of race, religion or economic status. There is no fee to join, and project manuals and educational materials are free.

More than 380,000 boys and girls and 22,000 adult volunteer leaders are involved in 4-H programs in Texas. Projects areas include but are not limited to computers, animals, natural resources, personal development and home economics.

Involvement in 4-H will guarantee one thing, "head, heart and hands" will be kept busy, and that's good for the "health" of all concerned, Gilly said.

Texas drops to 16th in cigarette taxes

State Comptroller Bob Bullock says that eight states have raised their cigarette taxes since the beginning of the year while Texas missed a golden opportunity.

As a result, he said, Texas has dropped to 16th place among the states in cigarette tax rates.

"Other states have taken advantage of this opportunity to improve human services for their citizens while Texas continues to rank near the bottom in human services funding," Bullock said.

The additional revenue from an increase in Texas' current 26-cent per pack tax could be earmarked to bring in hundreds of millions of dollars in federal matching funds for health care and low-income assistance, the comptroller said.

"We are missing the boat on getting back our fair share of the tax dollars Texans have paid to Uncle Sam," Bullock said. "Texans are subsidizing other states because we aren't taking advantage of the federal matching funds that are available to us."

He pointed out that a seven-cent increase would produce an additional $166 million in state tax revenue over the next two years which could be used to get another $274 million in federal matching funds for a total of $440 million in new revenue. A 10-cent increase would produce $235 million in tax revenue and $385 million in federal funds for a total of $620 million.

Lawmakers tackle insurance again

AUSTIN—High premiums for employers and low benefits for workers—that's the main agenda item lawmakers will address when a special session convenes next week.

Legislators never came close to agreeing on efforts to overhaul the no-fault workers' compensation

Political Announcements

John Sharp officially kicked off his race for comptroller and again named Speaker Gib Lewis as his campaign treasurer. Sharp, now a railroad commissioner, also served several years as state senator and representative, where he solidified his friendship with Lewis.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, who drew intense heat during the recent session, drew his first opponent for the 1990 election, a rematch with Republican Bill Powers, vice president of the Texas Poultry Federation.

Congressman John Bryant, D-Dallas, declared his candidacy for attorney general and made public his personal finance records to show no conflict of interest.

Bryant, the firebrand nemesis of Speaker Billy Clayton a decade ago in the Texas House, pledged to make the AG's office the chief coordinator in the war on drugs.

Study Not Favorable

The results of a court-ordered study of Texas care for mentally retarded children holds that Texas has not lived up to its promise of sweeping changes.

Plaintiff attorneys promised to take the state to court again, but state attorneys said the report is not "terrible."

Two years ago, after a federal judge found the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in contempt, the agency agreed to a list of wide-ranging reforms.

"Medigap" Scams Eyed

Vowing a "new era of aggressive leadership," the State Board of Insurance last week opened a campaign to crack down on shady sellers of Medicare supplement insurance.

Paul Wrotenbery, the newly appointed board chairman, said the get-tough policy would include efforts to find agents using high pressure, deceptive practices to sell the policies and publication of a guide that compares the cost and benefits of Medicare supplemental policies sold in Texas.

Wrotenbery promised to "come down hard on those who engage in illegal conduct and consumer ripoffs."

The promised action received immediate praise from officials of the Consumers Union and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Opinion Angers Judges

Meanwhile, Attorney General Jim Mattox issued an opinion which holds that Texas judges are not peace officers and cannot legally carry concealed guns.

His opinion angered judges across the state, including several who scoffed at the opinion by pointing out that the constitution permits them to carry concealed guns for protection.

Biting irony

The crocodile is one of nature's high-powered predators. The reptile's cavernous mouth and powerful jaws leave little to chance. But despite being well endowed with teeth, crocodiles can't chew.

International Wildlife magazine reports their long, sharp teeth serve mainly as survival weapons and clamps. A crocodile can eat only what it can swallow whole.

Could you use an extra $10? The Chamber of Commerce wants a slogan descriptive of Haskell—a slogan in as few words as possible that aptly fits the community and its resources. Judges will select the most appropriate slogan, and its author will receive $10.

Representing the Haskell Fire Department at the annual convention in Fort Worth are Messrs. and Mmes. E. J. Stewart, Tom Watson, Frank Reynolds, Jack Speer, Sonny Reynolds. Another group, going Wednesday to take part in the racing contests, included Jim Byrd, J. B. Gipson, Bull Barnett, Jim Alvis, Olen Bartley, Arthur Mason and Earl Correll.

The growing practice of double parking on the north side of the square is becoming more and more of a headache, city officials said this week. If the practice persists, enforcement of the ban against double parking will be resorted to—meaning a fine for violators, a spokesman for the city said.

George Holmesly of Fort Worth, a former resident here, was a weekend visitor with relatives and friends in Haskell.

Jay Cox, faculty member and athletic coach in Weinert High School for the past six years, has resigned his post there and accepted a position with Permian High School in Odessa. In his new job, Cox will be freshman basketball and track coach, and will teach in the high school.

Mrs. John (Billye) Wilkes, member of the Wichita Falls High School faculty since 1937, and who has taught in that city's school system for 41 years, retired recently to "travel and rest" as she expressed it. Mrs. Wilkes, reared in Haskell, will be remembered as the former Billye Veazey, daughter of Judge and Mrs. H. R. Jones.

J. D. Stocks returned Tuesday for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Audie Stocks before going back to Fort Worth where he has a job as a general mechanic and assistant manager of a service station.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Edwards celebrated their golden wedding anniversary June 1.

The Rainbow Sewing Club met June 2 in the home of Mrs. John Larned. Little Johnny Larned was initiated as mascot for the club.

Miss Elizabeth Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ching Middleton, has been selected as Haskell's sponsor at the annual Cowboy Reunion in Stamford July 2-5.

Ed Bookout of Munday has purchased the bakery establishment on the north side of the square from Ed Hill, owner and operator of the concern for the past year.

The Commissioners Court has appointed a six-member board of directors for the new county hospital, now nearing completion. County Judge J. C. Davis Jr. will be chairman ex-officio of the board, which has members John W. Pace of Haskell, A. A. Bradford of Rule, John Mansell of Rochester, Ernest Griffith of Weinert, Roy Weinke of Sagerton and Frank Simmons of Paint Creek.

Misses Beulah and Dorothy Segoe have returned home after a week's visit in Duncan, Okla.

Miss Louise Warren went to Oklahoma City Tuesday where she will visit relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Theodore Pace and son have returned to their home in Kilgore after a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kemp.

The Carr Hotel, a landmark in Rochester, burned to the ground early Tuesday morning, with a total loss on building and contents. Knox City firemen came to the aid of Rochester firemen and helped prevent spread of the flames to nearby buildings.

H. C. Foote has been notified of his appointment as Haskell postmaster. He will assume his duties in a few days, succeeding John T. Wilson, acting postmaster, who was not an applicant for the appointment.

Hob Smith and Charlie Travis, members of the Rochester fire department, are in Galveston attending the State Firemen's convention.

M. O. Field and family returned Thursday from a visit with relatives in Johnson County. M. O. says they canned a winter's supply of blackberries and dewberries while there and brought them back. There is a big crop of berries and no market for them, he said.

Walter Beavers got home Wednesday from Palo Pinto where he has been at school.

M. H. Gossett returned this week from Louisiana where he has been for several weeks disposing of a lot of horses and mules.

Prof. W. W. Hentz has been tendered the position of principal of the Woodward, I.T., schools at a salary of $100 per month, but has not decided whether he will accept the offer.

Miss Una Foster got home Thursday from Rome, Ga., where she has been attending school.

Charley Donohoo sold his place this week, being 200 acres of the George Harris League 10 miles southeast of Haskell, to J. G. Ward of Jones County. Consideration was $1,000.

Judge H. R. Jones closed a sale this week of 1,056 acres of fine land situated about seven miles northeast of town, to G. M. Clayton of Vernon. We understand Mr. Clayton intends to move to Haskell.

What if...

Editor: Saturday night I picked up the phone and heard Tommi scream, "Mother! Come quick! The ambulance is coming after Josh."

How do you react? You go... but you become a basket case that recovers. Why?

Because Rule has people such as Celinda Allison, who assisted with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to restore 15-month-old Josh's breathing; Allen Beard, city police officer, who rushed him to Rule's fire station for oxygen while awaiting the Haskell ambulance with paramedic Casey Caldwell and assistant Johnny Campbell.

In emergency, he was checked by a concerned staff. Dr. Frank Cadenhead finds Josh needs to stay overnight and then releases him Sunday morning. Simple? Yes. Scary? Yes.

But what if... individuals thought CPR was a waste of time? The small towns were un-equipped with fire stations and policemen? Hospitals, ambulances and Haskell's four doctors were not close enough to be reached in minutes?

What if... townspeople were not interested in their communities and support these life-saving facilities?

plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

We're just out of Austin, bound for San Antonio, with the radio blasting, and the bird dog on...

There's a speed trap up ahead in Selma town.

But no local yokel's gonna shut me down.

Those words are from San Antonio native Steve Earle's country hit Guitar Town.

Selma, with a population of 650, has a six-man police force which patrols a three-mile stretch of I-35. The city rakes in $200,000 a year in "public safety" revenue from the unsuspecting travelers.

A new law, signed by the governor this month, prevents small towns from funding more than 30 percent of their budgets through traffic fines.

Actually, the new law was aimed at Patton Village, a small town on US 59 north of Houston.

Patton Village Police Chief David Broussard was so opposed to the law that he went on a 12-day hunger strike, consuming only water, coffee and beer, in an unsuccessful effort to keep the governor from signing the bill.

Sports people have a way with words.

Texas Rangers' scout Sandy Johnson, bragging on the team's selection of Texas Tech's Donald Harris in the baseball draft: "His future is ahead of him."

And advertising people too. A radio commercial tells us that Dairy Queen makes banana splits with "fresh bananas."

-o-

If you have a couple of million stashed away somewhere, you might want to consider investing in a home for a future ex-president.

Eighteen months ago, friends of Ronald and Nancy Reagan bought them a home to use in their retirement. The cost: $2.5 million.

Before you start thanking them for their generosity, you might consider the fact that the home today is valued at $4.5 million.

-o-

Ever hear of the Haskell Journal?

Probably not, unless your name is Haskell.

It's a quarterly newsletter of the International Haskell Family Association, produced by Richard A. Haskell of Truro, Mass.

He was in Haskell last Wednesday, searching for information which would tie Charles Ready Haskell, for whom this county and city were named, to the rest of the family.

All of the Haskells stem from the original Haskell immigrants who came to Cape Cod, Mass., in 1635, said the visitor.

He said there are 10,000 people by the name of Haskell in this country. Many more are in other countries, most of them in England.

Members of the International Haskell Family Association receive the newsletter which is filled with articles by and about Haskells, and information on workshops, seminars and exhibits on genealogy.

Haskell came to Haskell from Provo, Utah, where he had been researching the Morman records. From here he was going to Haskell, Okla.

Unfortunately, in his brief stopover here he was unable to come up with much information on Haskell County's namesake. My copy of R. E. Sherrill's History of Haskell County was loaned out. After getting it back, I photocopied the brief sketch on Charles Ready Haskell and mailed it to him.

-o-

Remember the "Massachusetts Miracle" which Gov. Michael Dukakis referred to so often in last year's presidential campaign?

Well, it was a mirage. The Wall Street Journal quoted the governor's top financial aide the other day as saying, "If Massachusetts were a business, we would be insolvent. We'd be eligible for Chapter 11."

-o-

They're getting fancier.

When a politician issues a news release, he/she will reveal when to release it: i.e. "For immediate release" or "Release June 10."

But Ann Richards believes in being different. Her press release announcing her candidacy for governor, received by The Free Press (and everyone else, it is presumed), carried this warning: "Embargoed for release until 1 p.m. Saturday, June 10."

insurance program in the recent regular session.

Meanwhile, the governor's office has been receiving requests daily to open the special session agenda to other issues which failed in the regular session.

Food Stamps, Drug Abuse

Food stamps and state welfare funds for kids are the main form of currency used in illegal drug deals in some of the state's poor areas, a top state welfare official reported.

Gordon Hardy, inspector general of the Texas Department of Human Services, said food stamps are being used as currency to buy cocaine and other underground economy items.

Hardy said TDHS guides the $948 million food stamp program to ensure stamps are doled into worthy hands, but no agency oversees whether the stamps are used for their intended purpose.

$500 Day Stamp Deal

Drug dealers reportedly can make $500 a day dealing in food stamps. Other reported activities include bootleggers who trade for beer and liquor, and thieves who sell frozen foods stolen from fast-food outlets.

Gambling's Mixed Signals

When lobbyists for parimutuel gambling industry asked legislators to lower state taxes on race-track proceeds, many lawmakers felt sandbagged by their request.

After all, a promise of increased state revenues was one of the ploys used by the Texas Horse Racing Association to persuade the Legislature and voters to approve the new industry.

But the bill to reduce those taxes failed in the recent session, killed by other Texas horsemen's groups which rebelled against THRA's top echelon of lobbyists, who reportedly have even offended many of its own rank and file.

The groups agree that the five percent tax is too high and should be lowered to one percent like other states.

But many were angered by THRA legislation which redeemed the four percent for track owners and added nothing to purses to lure quality horses to Texas tracks.

With a special session called for June 20, it remains to be seen whether they will unite to ask the governor to add their issues to the agenda.

Emergency farm loan applications available

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by tornadoes, flooding and severe storms are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office in Haskell, county supervisor Larry McDaniel said Monday.

Throckmorton County is one of 15 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the tornadoes, flooding and severe storms.

McDaniel said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," McDaniel said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until Feb. 2, 1990, but farmers should apply as soon as possible," McDaniel said. "Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," McDaniel said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living.
