

Perry easy winner

Getting more than 99.2 percent of the vote in his home county, Haskell's Rick Perry easily won the Republican nomination for state commissioner of agriculture in Tuesday's primary runoff election against Richard McIver.

With a 255-2 endorsement from Haskell County, Perry had 96,761 votes statewide to McIver's 44,124 with more than 90 percent of the precincts reporting.

Perry, who led the first primary with 47 percent of the total vote, got 69 percent in the runoff, while McIver increased his percentage by a single point, 30 to 31.

Perry will now face Democratic incumbent Jim Hightower in the November general election.

Haskell County Democratic voters also gave a hearty endorsement to winner Ann Richards in her gubernatorial runoff race against Jim Mattox. Richards received 570 while Mattox got 313. Oddly, Mattox had beaten Richards in Haskell County in the first primary, 514-474.

In other Democratic races, Haskell County went for Tom Bowden for state treasurer, 424-406 over Nikki Hightower who was the state winner; favored Bob Gammage, 585-256 over Ross Sears for the supreme court; and endorsed Frank Maloney, 425-364 over Morris Overstreet for the criminal court of appeals. Gammage won statewide and Maloney was leading Overstreet by a whisker in the incomplete returns Wednesday morning.

In the only other Republican race, Haskell County favored Grady Yarbrough over West Gilbreath for state land commissioner, 92-88, but Gilbreath was the state winner.

Superintendent at Rule to retire

Lavon Beakley, superintendent of Rule schools for the past 20 years, will retire at the end of the present school year.

Beakley has been with the Rule school since graduating from Abilene Christian University in 1957. He was a teacher, elementary principal and high school principal before being named superintendent in 1970.

His successor will be Tom Kutch, who has served as high school principal since 1977, after 20 years as a vocational agriculture teacher.

Democrats name state delegates

Three delegates and the county chairman will represent Haskell County at the Democratic state convention in Fort Worth June 8-9.

Elected as delegates during the March 31 county convention were George Mullino, Joyce Hager and Charles C. Henry. Sharon Mullino also will attend as county chairman.

Alternate delegates are Reda Harris, Susan Turner and W. R. Hager.

Rochester girl steals show at regional Spelling Bee

She came in second, but a 9-year-old Rochester girl stole the show at the North Texas Regional Spelling Bee in Wichita Falls Saturday.

Mary Jane Short, a third-grader, bowed to three-time winner Stephen

Mary Jane Short

Rhone of Wichita Falls in the finals, but she won the hearts of the audience with her head-to-head battle with the three-time regional winner. Rhone is an eighth-grader.

For her second-place finish, she received a plaque and a Random House Dictionary of the English Language which is about half as big as she is.

The spelling bee featured 48 school champions from 15 North Texas counties.

After losing about two-thirds of the 48 competitors in the first two rounds and a handful in each of the next two, only five students remained for the fifth round.

Andrew Pennington of Vernon was eliminated in the sixth round, setting the stage for Rhone's contest with the young Rochester girl.

By then, Mary Jane had won over many of the students and parents in the audience with her petite stature and confident rattle of letters in the previous rounds. She nailed "occasionally" without a stutter. When she spelled it, the crowd of about 100 people and the students on stage murmured support as the tension built.

Rhone countered with the correct spelling of "transducer." Then Short stumbled on "hierarchy," substituting a "k" for the "ch." Rhone corrected her, then spelled his final word, "circuitous," for the championship.

Mary Jane is the daughter of Linda and Larry Short of Rochester. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hilliard of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Short of Rochester. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Short of Rochester.

Mary Jane said she had studied the words very little but cracked down near the end with the help of her former second-grade teacher, Velvet Townsend.

Coming up

Melinda Fitts of the American Heart Association puts up a poster advertising the "Heartbeat into Summer" luncheon and fashion show the organization will sponsor April 28.

Heart association sets fashion show

A "Heartbeat into Summer" ladies day luncheon and fashion show is planned for Saturday, April 28, by the Haskell County unit of the American Heart Association.

The event will be from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Haskell National Bank Community Room.

Fashions are being furnished by The Personality Shoppe,

Heidenheimer's, Hassen's, Lane-Felker, Barbara's Botique, Clothes Closet, Kids' Duds and The Hayloft.

The public is invited to attend, but sponsors point out that seating is limited and tickets should be purchased now. Tickets, priced at $6 each, are available from participating firms.

Psychotherapist to be speaker

Trudi Spring, M.MFT, will be speaker at the American Heart Association "Heartbeat into Summer."

A psychotherapist in private practice, she has been a public speaker since 1972. She has extensive training and experience in the area of family/marriage and female contentment.

She holds a BSW and master's degree from Abilene Christian University and has worked as a therapist and social worker. She also has been an interior designer for many years.

Ms. Spring has spoken to hundreds of groups on being content with "who they are" and learning to live a productive, happy, authentic and loving life. She brings much positive energy and love to her audiences and evokes laughter as listeners look at themselves.

Her topic will be on "Mood Color." With her extensive background in color as it relates to the physical plane, she has discovered the correlation of color on the psychological plane. She makes learning about ones self and moods a colorful experience.

Sales tax rebate same as last year

The City of Haskell's sales tax rebate check from the state comptroller this month was in the amount of $7,506.28, virtually the same as last year's check of $7,516.03 for the same period.

It brought the four-month total for 1990 to $45,666.39, down 12.17 percent from last year's January-through-April total of $51,994.22.

Only other Haskell County city to receive a check this month was Rule, which received 4951.02.

Checks represented the city's share of the 7-percent sales tax collected by the state on February sales and reported in March by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

Super 2nd Saturday Activities to entertain shoppers

There will be fun and entertainment for all in Haskell Saturday afternoon during an afternoon program being presented in conjunction with the business community's first Super Second Saturday retail promotion.

The program, beginning at 2 o'clock on the south side of the courthouse, will feature music, a puppet show and a clown act. Youngsters from all area communities are invited to participate in a child and pet look-alike parade and all area women are eligible to compete in an "old hat" contest.

Food concessions during the day will offer everything from baked goods and hamburgers to complete breakfasts and lunches.

The afternoon activities will highlight the Super Second Saturday promotion, during which local businesses will feature outstanding bargains on numerous items of merchandise.

The event is expected to attract hundreds of shoppers from neighboring communities.

Brian Burgess will serve as master of ceremonies for the afternoon program.

The program will begin with a guitar solo by Nick Jimenez which will be followed by family entertainment featuring the Burgess family, Brian, Jennifer, Casey, Bree and Ryan.

Next on the program will be the Back Yard Gang, (puppets) from the First Baptist Church. Carolyn Jeter will direct a cast which includes Christy Cadenhead, Katy Martin, Mandi Pope, Sharla Jeter, Darrell

Calvin and Wayne Hodgin.

A clown act by Randy McLelland will follow, and this will be followed by a child/pet look-alike parade. Judges of the parade will be Wayman Meinzer of Benjamin, Tommy Spraberry of Anson and Nicki Harle of KRBC-TV in Abilene.

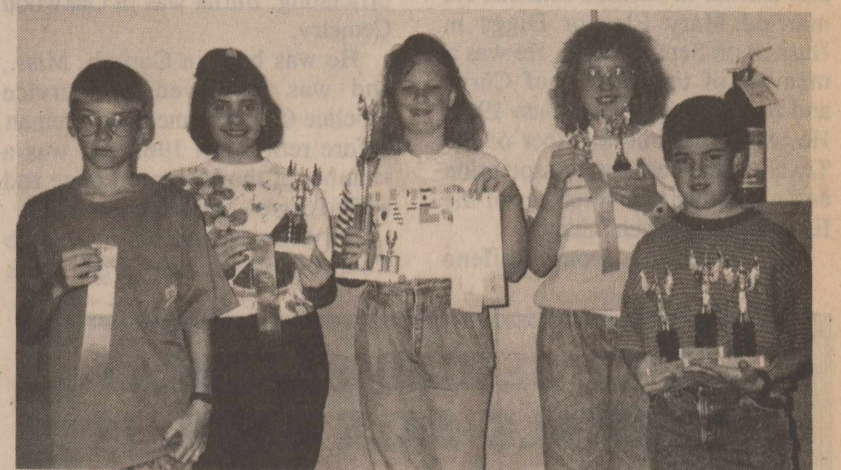

At 3:30 p.m., an "old hat contest" will be featured. Women are asked to look in their attics, storage spots and cedar chests for hats of bygone days and to model them in the contest. Judges will be from local dress shops.

Chimes at the First United Methodist Church will play special Easter music during the day.

Concessions will be operated by Haskell Young Homemakers (bake sale), Haskell Bass Club (hamburgers, sausage on stick), Haskell Business Association (Cokes) and the Assembly of God (breakfast and lunch).

In charge of the first Super Second Saturday activities is a committee composed of Tom and Lois Richardson, chairmen; Roy and Sandy Forehand, Opal Letterman, Von Marr, Brian and Jennifer Burgess and Dorothy and Hess Hartsfield.

Winners

Five takes places in math and science

Five students from Haskell won places in the 1990 Texas Math and Science Coaches Association state qualifying championship tournament in Azle Saturday.

Competition was among elementary and junior high students. Paula Everett was the elementary coach while Bonnie Fouts was junior high coach.

In the fifth-grade division, Lyle Fouts placed first in number sense, first in math and first in science.

Aaron Earles was sixth in number sense (6th grade), Amy Cunningham was fifth in number sense, second in math and fourth in science (7th grade), Jill Mullen was fifth in number sense, seventh in math and seventh in science, and Katy Martin was second in science and eighth in math.

Amy, Jill and Katy placed fourth in the seventh- and eighth-grade team sweepstakes.

Writers select Rike

Add yet another honor to the vast collection of James Rike.

The Haskell Indian basketball star has been selected to the 2A all-state team of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

And the Indians' Harper Stewart received honorable mention on the most prestigious all-state team in Texas.

Rike averaged 28 points and 10 rebounds per game in leading the Indians to a 30-3 record. He hit 59.5 percent of his field goals and 71.7 percent of his free throw attempts in leading Haskell to the district, bi-district and area championships before losing in the regional finals.

Earlier, he had been chosen most valuable player in district 7-2A and was named player of the year on the Abilene Reporter-News all-area team. He also was named to the coaches' all-state and all-area teams.

Tax help available

A representative of State Comptroller Bob Bullock will be in Haskell next Wednesday (April 18) to answer questions about Texas taxes and assist taxpayers with paperwork problems.

"I don't want to see state taxes turn into a burden for folks who can't get to a field office," said Bullock. "Our visits are a service we're happy to provide to Texas taxpayers."

Baker Rudolph, enforcement officer in the Abilene office, will be at the county commissioners courtroom in the courthouse from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The public is welcome and there is no charge.

Self-improvement program offered

Parents, do you sometimes think you've created a monster--either in yourself or your child?

There are many ways to manage the stress and at the same time help build your self-esteem as well as that of your child's.

Dr. Lynne Thibodeaux, extension youth development specialist, will present a program next Wednesday (April 18) on self-esteem and its relationship to stress. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Haskell National Bank Community Room. It is being sponsored by the Haskell

County Extension Program Council's Executive Board and the Parent Ministry group of the First Baptist Church of Haskell.

Dr. Thibodeaux is described as a super motivational speaker and sponsors say they feel fortunate to be able to have this popular speaker in Haskell. People are encouraged to come and learn from her ways to get along better with children. They also are encouraged to bring their children with them. She will do something special with the children who are present.

The program is free.

Scout leaders get Woodbadge Beads

Marvin McFadden, scoutmaster of Troop 135 Haskell, and Wallar Overton, scoutmaster of Troop 148 Paint Creek, received their Woodbadge Beads at the Northern District Annual Appreciation Banquet in Hamlin April 3.

Woodbadge is the advanced training program of Boy Scouting designed especially for scoutmasters and other leaders directly related to the program of a Boy Scout troop.

Woodbadge training is divided into two parts. The first is an outdoor experience of three weekends or an entire week where the scout leader lives as a member of a patrol, practices the skills of leadership and scoutcraft, and learns how these can be used with boys.

The second part of Woodbadge is the application of what has been learned. Each participant writes a "Ticket"---a contract with himself, as to how the new skills will be put to work. This "Ticket" must be concluded within two years. When the "Ticket" has been evaluated by the coach/counselor and the contract has been completed, the Woodbadge Beads, neckerchief and woggle are presented.

McFadden and Overton were members of Woodbadge Troop SC-360 which was held at Gilwell in November 1988.

Model plane winners named

Strong winds failed to deter the Texas Chiefs Model Airplane Club from holding a sailplane fun fly Sunday. Duration and spot landing events were flown.

Closest to the target was Kip Nemir with a landing only four feet, 10 inches away.

Longest flight under the blustery conditions was a time of two minutes and 58 seconds put up by Mark Bailey.

Bailey was the overall winner after three rounds of flying. The next three places were hotly contested with Ervin Frierson edging Dwayne Landreth and Kip Nemir for second. Lee Landreth took fifth with only one flight after suffering minor damage to his plane.

Members expressed their thanks to James Crawford and Steve Barbour for timing the flights and to Jim Crawford for retrieving the launch line.

A power fun fly is scheduled for April 22

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out--STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better... and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult...
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help. National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse

TAX PLANNING

Written By
 Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

EARNED INCOME CREDIT: DOES THE GOVERNMENT OWE YOU $$?

Uncle Sam is trying to return millions of dollars to taxpayers and not just to those who have had taxes withheld from their wages. No, some people who never paid a penny in tax could get a refund of up to $910 for 1989.

Who are these lucky folks? Chiefly, they are working parents with modest to average wages. How do they qualify for this bonus? Through an under-utilized tax break known as the "earned income credit."

Some rules apply, of course. For 1989, you must file your income tax return as head of household, qualifying widow(er), or married, filing jointly, and have earned income of less than $19,340. Additionally, you must have a child living with you for more than six months.

Many people who qualify for the credit never file a tax return, because they don't owe taxes. You must file a tax return to get the credit. The credit is applied first to any federal tax due, and the balance is mailed to you as a refund.

If you earned less than $11,000 in 1986, $15,432 in 1987 and/or $18,576 in 1988, you might qualify for the credit and be due a refund for those years too. The IRS has a three year statute of limitations, so an amended return or claim for the credit for 1986 must be filed by April 16, 1990.

If you are currently eligible for the credit, you can elect to receive the credit throughout the year as an addition to your wages by filing a Form W-5 with your employer.

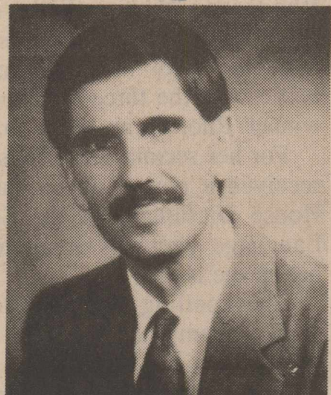

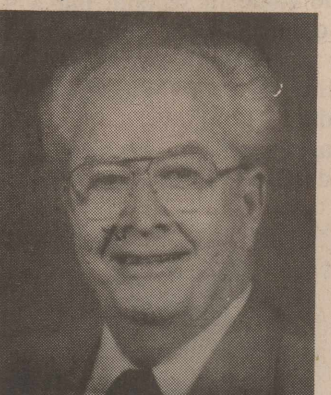

The earned income credit is meant to reduce the impact of social security taxes on low wage earners. On a very real level, the earned income credit can mean extra money for rent, food and clothing.

Farmers

Editor: Farmers are important. They grow cotton. We use cotton to make clothes, underwear, undershirts, sweat pants, blue jeans, jams (shorts), pants, gowns, shoelaces, some tennis shoes, T-shirts, button shirts, socks. We use cotton for other things too: jump ropes, thread, cotton balls, Q-tips, toys (the outside and the stuffing).

Farmers are important. They grow food. The hamburger has bread; the farmer grew the wheat. The cheeseburger has cheese; the farmer grew the cow that gave the milk to make it. Onions, pickles; they come from cucumbers. Tomatoes, catsup, it's made out of tomatoes. Salad (lettuce), mustard, mayonnaise; eggs from the chickens and milk from the cow.

The hamburger patty; that's meat from the cow. We couldn't have a hamburger or a cheeseburger without our farmers.

They grow all kinds of other foods, too. Bacon, eggs, pork chops, honey, fried chicken, chicken nuggets, chicken strips, beans, bananas, grapes, cabbage, oranges, apples, watermelons, corn, peanuts, pineapples, lemons, sugar cane.

Food and clothes don't grow in supermarkets.

Correction

Parents of SMSgt. Otis T. Johnson are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Johnson Sr. of Haskell.

His parents were incorrectly identified in a story in the Free Press last week which told of the MSO unit which he heads at Zaragoza Air Base in Spain being selected as the best unit in the 16th Air Force.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

"Even these of them, ye may eat; the locust after his kind, and the bald locust after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the grasshopper after his kind." Leviticus 11:22.

If you're interested in trying some insect dishes, just gather a bunch of your favorite bugs---ants, grasshoppers, whatever---dry them in a warm oven, grind them in a blender and use them as a flour substitute for almost any recipe, especially cookies.

That's the recommendation of an Oregon State University entomologist who has researched the subject around the world.

Professor Michael Burgett says if you eat a normal diet, you eat about a pound of bugs a year.

Your gut reaction may be one of nausea, says Burgett, but the truth is, they're not bad for you. Dried caterpillar larvae, for example, have more protein than an equal amount of dried beef.

He says bits and pieces of insects are unavoidable in such staples as peanut butter, potatoes and tomato juice. So since we eat insects anyway, we should give up our demands for perfect produce, which would end heavy use of chemicals and pesticides. Besides, he says, a steaming plate of bamboo worm larvae is considered a delicacy in some parts of the world.

"There's always a lot of interest in my insect dishes, says Burgett. "They look, smell and taste good. But I can't really say I've made a lot of dietary converts."

Esquimos eat head lice during mutual grooming rituals, he says, and some American Indian tribes of the western United States had native dishes of fly pupae.

"But we're not talking about an appetite for insects only in the distant past or among remote South American tribes," Burgett says. "In some modern, more developed nations such as Thailand, virtually everyone eats some type of insects. You buy them in the supermarket like milk and eggs."

While doing research in Thailand, Burgett sampled some unusual fare. A giant waterbug--two inches long, one inch tall and roasted---is a local favorite. The larvae and pupae of ants also add zest to an omelette.

A fine restaurant in Bangkok might offer insect dishes in season, Burgett says, just as a good American eatery would offer shad roe in early spring or fresh strawberry shortcake in June. And, according to him, the country's thriving silk industry offers a fringe benefit for connoisseurs---silkworm pupae "tastes great and are quite nutritious."

Burgett's favorite recipe for his student banquets is bakuti, delicacy of Nepal.

"Bakuti is based on the larvae and pupae in a honeybee comb," he says. "It's full of protein and sort of looks like a scrambled egg when it's done. In Nepal, they like their honeybee products so much that special climbers risk their lives to harvest the hives of giant honeybees, which are usually found on steep cliffs."

To appease the American palate, Burgett mixes the bakuti with cream cheese and serves it on a Triscuit.

The motivation for the special menu and his lectures on dietary insects is serious: Americans need to accept the fact that their food is grown in a real world full of very real bugs. And, Burgett says, our insistence on pristine products can exact a high environmental price.

Burgett says his dream is for environmental groups to start lobbying the federal government for larger allowable quantities of insects in our foods. This might, he says, permit farmers to use more sustainable, healthy agricultural practices with less reliance on chemicals and pesticides.

If you're one of those who can feel for a guy who sees his salary drop $60,000 a year, your heart must be bleeding for John Akers.

The IBM board chairman, who saw his company's earnings fall by 35 percent last year, is taking it on the chin. He'll make only $1,940,689 this year, compared to $2,000,500 in 1989.

An area newspaper refers to "a former high school graduate." What's that?

Three members of the Indian tennis team are headed for regionals after district competition last Thursday and Friday.

Sophomore Chris Tanner placed second in singles competition, while senior Davis Chapman and junior David Foreman earned second place in the doubles' bracket. The two second-place finishes also gave the Indians the team championship.

Tanner defeated Munoz of Anson in the semifinals before being defeated by Stamford's Jerry Hill in the finals, 6-1, 7-5.

After a tiring three-hour semifinal in which they defeated Thompson and Riley of Albany, Chapman and Foreman were defeated in the finals by Ponder and Hall of Hamlin, 3-6, 6-4, 11-9.

The doubles' team of Jason Hall and Lee Decker suffered an opening-round loss to fourth-seeded Zablia and Thornhill of Jim Ned. Singles player Chris McGhee also lost in the opening round action as he was edged by Strickland of Jim Ned, 6-2, 6-4.

Also qualifying for the regionals was junior Heidi Mullen of the Maidens who placed second in the singles division.

Sheila Unger advanced to the semifinals where she was defeated by Schake of Albany. Sophomore doubles team members Misti Bartley and Kim Gilly were defeated in the opening round, but advanced in the consolation bracket.

Gardeners attend spring district meet

The District 8 spring meeting was held April 6-7 in Stamford.

On April 6, Garden Club members met at the First Baptist Church for registration, after which they left to go for a tour of Hendricks Boys Ranch. It was a delightful tour. There were two guides who graciously led the tour, explaining everything in detail. The grounds and houses were beautiful. At 6:30, dinner was served in the ranch dining hall.

On Saturday, April 7, the group met in the church at 9:30 for a general assembly. Dr. Bruce Lampert, pastor of the First Baptist Church, offered the invocation. Honorable Louis Johnson, mayor of Stamford, gave the welcome and Mrs. Cumbie Ivery, district 8 director from Robert Lee, gave the response. State president, Mrs. Ben Derman brought greetings from Texas Garden Club, Inc. of Texas.

The Haskell Garden Club won three awards from the state, award of appreciation, first place on the president's report and for co-hosting district 8 spring meeting, an award of appreciation.

After a delicious luncheon, Mrs. Jimmie Courtney from Arlington conducted a workshop. It was very interesting and informative. She used fresh flowers from Hawaii with unusual containers which she had made.

Mrs. Courtney is an authority on chrysanthemums, a horticulturist and also creative artistic arrangements. She is editor of the "Lone Star Gardener," president of the National Chrysanthemum Society and is a Master Flower Show judge.

District 8 felt very honored to have Mrs. Courtney to present the beautiful designs with an Hawaiian theme at the convention.

The Haskell club furnished the door prizes which were fresh pot plants. Mrs. Mollie Carlisle from Haskell arranged a beautiful educational exhibition, using beautiful seashells, coral and net with Hawaiian motif.

The hostess clubs were Hamlin Garden Club, Haskell Garden Club, Rule Garden Club and Stamford Garden Club.

Club members are looking forward to the fall convention Nov. 1-2 in Snyder when the theme will be "Call of the West."

The Haskell club welcomes anyone who would like to join the club and learn to grow flowers and enjoy functions at these meetings. No one can describe the joy and pleasure of being a member of a garden club except a member.

The following people attended from Haskell: Mrs. Juanita Rhea, Leone Pearsey, Linda King, Nettie McCollum, Neat Bevel, Dee Sprayberry, Mary Bischofhausen, Gladys O'Neal and Mollie Carlisle.

Homemakers enjoy Mexican food

The Haskell Young Homemakers met March 19 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

Ruiz Mexican Food was enjoyed by all members, followed by a short business meeting. The evening ended with a game of Pictionary.

On April 16, the HYH members will tour three homes in the Haskell area. Judi Ray, Christy Gannaway and Bobbie Johnson will open their homes and share their homemaking ideas.

Members will meet at the home of Judi Ray, 1106 N. Ave. G., at 6:30 p.m. Hostesses are Judi Ray, Terri Kirk, Lisa Cheatham and Angie Kruger.

We have pens that write pink, light blue, purple and burgundy to match your favorite stationery. Pick a color at the Haskell Free Press.

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Plemister
The cool front brought a 7 tenths of an inch rain to Weinert and things are sure "lookin' good"! We hope the cold spell was our "Easter spell", and from now we will have only spring weather.
We hope you remembered to vote Tuesday, even though your neighbor voted against you, you had a "voice", and used it. Congratulations.

Congratulations are in order for Roy Herricks and Billie Sparks who were united in marriage on Sat. at the Foursquare church before a host of relatives and friends.

***
Congratulations to Erlinda and Tiffen Mayfield who will celebrate a wedding anniversary on April 16.

We will sing the birthday song to Kenny Forehand, Robin Raynes, Jace Yates and Ramon Castorena, Jr. Happy birthday!

J. T. Alexander celebrated his 80th birthday on April 8 with no party, but a visit from son, J. W. Alexander of McKinney.

***
Sarah Guess was feted with a party held in Albany and hosted by her daughters to celebrate her birthday last week. They enjoyed dinner together and a get-together with other relatives and friends in Albany.

***
Bertie Alexander was felling poorly this week, but a visit from her children helped to boost her morale. There was Audra and Bob Schindler of Abilene; Sue Alexander and Faye Crawford of San Antonio; Evelyn Ellington of Muleshoe; and Roy and Murl Alexander of Lubbock.

***
We are so proud of Janet Frazier and the work she does with our pre-school and kindergarten students. This week she had a visit from Abilene Reporter farm editor, J. T.

Smith, and he ran a feature story of Janet's class projects in the Sunday Reporter News.

She is making one group of children aware of where their food and clothing comes from. In another of her projects, they are learning that distance does not alter friendships, we all share common bonds. Congratulations, students, you have a great teacher.

***
Ted and Faye Jetton were in Iowa Park on Sat. for a visit in the home of grandchildren, Diann and Terry Tatum, with Jeremy and Troy.

They were met there by daughters, Jimmy Young of Holliday and Sandra Stafford of Great Falls, Montana, who was holding a seminar in Oklahoma City and came on to Iowa Park for a day.

In the afternoon, they enjoyed a winning baseball game in which great sons Jeremy and Troy were participants.

Sandra continues with her company, Express: Temporary and Permanent Personnel for which she is a visiting consultant for seven states.

***

Nova and Weldon Walling were in Hawley to stay with their grandchildren while their son-in-law, Bill Vannoy, underwent surgery on his leg in Ft. Worth.

***

Weinert enjoyed a population boost over the weekend. 21 of Shelia Harbers relatives meeting in the Harbers home for a family reunion.

Guests from Bay City and Victoria and from Bradfield, Ark., called for plenty of "Baptist pallets" and lots of fun and food.

Brother Donnie was preaching for a weekend revival in Gilliland, and by taking his guests with him the attendance was doubled on Sunday night at the Gilliland Baptist Church.

***

Mrs. Lawrence Hill (formerly Ruby Collins) was in Weinert on Sat. and renewed acquaintances with old friends and acquaintances and attended the wedding of Roy and Billie Herricks.

***

Bob Brannon of Benjamin, preacher for the Weinert Church of Christ, was a guest in the home of the Marvin Plemisters, and they enjoyed lunch at the Weinert Cafe, where a sell-out crowd was in attendance for a turkey dinner.

Ann regrettably announced she will not be open for lunch on Easter Sunday, April 15.

***

Thelma Boone has moved her mother, Ruth Landess from the hospital to the Haskell Nursing Center. Thelma's daughters, Judy and Brenda Boone were home from Abilene for the weekend as was her brother, Jack Landess, of San Angelo.

***

Our prayers are for Junior Stewart as he again enters M. D. Anderson Hospital for tests and consultations.

Power team to perform at Knox City

"Dennis Black and the Warriors" will perform in Knox City next Wednesday (April 18), under sponsorship of the Knox City Ministerial Alliance.

The public is invited to the performance which will begin at 7 p.m. in the Knox City High School auditorium.

Featured on the program will be feats of strength, gymnastics and martial arts and a sword display.

Rule actors reap awards

Despite the fact that Rule Hi School had five individual award winners in the area one-act play contest in Vernon April 7, they did not advance to the regional level competition.

Their play, "Blithe Spirit," was named alternate play, placing behind Crowell's "Third Act from Plaza Suite" and Harrold's their from "And They Danced Real Slow in Jackson."

Rule's Kenna Tanner was named Best Actress, while Melissa Carreon was named to the all-star cast. Honorable mention honor went to Mary Ann Hatley, Jason Halliburton and Tori Jenkins.

Rounding out Rule's cast were Tammy Sanders and Craig New Crew members were Debi Rawlins Shelly Williams and Mary Lou Hernandez. Director was Bobby Robinson.
