Greg Melton presents Tom Watson with a "book of memories," containing letters from his friends.

Hundreds pay tribute to Tom Watson

Hundreds turned out Saturday to pay tribute to one of the community's best-known, best-liked and most productive citizens.

It was "Tom Watson Day" in Haskell, so proclaimed by Mayor Greg Melton, to recognize the long-time fire chief and civic leader.

On hand were members of his family, local firemen, fire chiefs from 16 area cities, four trainers from the Texas A&M fire school, a couple of old army buddies and hundreds of friends and well-wishers.

Melton served as master of ceremonies for the program. He presented Watson with a "book of memories" which contained letters from approximately 100 people who have known and worked with Watson on various endeavors.

Seven fellow townspeople participated in a "roast" of the popular fire chief. Among them were:

Gerald McCoy of Haskell High School, Conrad Roewe of the Haskell Business Association, Jerene Couch of the Civic Center, Bud Lane of the Chamber of Commerce, Royce Adkins of the First Baptist Church, Ike Neal of the North Central West Texas Municipal Water Authority and Andy Anderson of the American Legion.

Special guests included Joseph Reichlin and Stanley Szymaszek of Detroit who served with Watson in the Pacific during World War II. Another former army buddy on hand was Orville Pate of Dallas, along with Mrs. Pate.

The program was the highlight of Haskell's fourth Super 2nd Saturday celebration, which featured a "Proud to Be An American" theme.

Preceding the special program was another program which featured a flag raising by the American Legion, pledge of allegiance by the Boy Scouts, an exhibition by the Lone Star Tumblers and a musical play given by the youth of the Foursquare Gospel Church of Knox City, entitled "Singing the Red, White and Blue."

Artists hope for more support for '90 festival

Haskell County artists are hoping their 1990 Art Festival will get stronger support from the community.

Only 171 visitors showed up last year to view the 172 works of local and visiting artists who entered their art in the show.

The fifth annual show is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday (July 28-29) at the Corral Building on the fairgrounds.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, and admission is a modest $1. Refreshments will be sold during the show.

All works entered in festival competition will be on display and most will be for sale.

Registration for artists will be Thursday (July 26) from 1 to 7 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Entry fee is $4. Checkout time will be from 4 to 5 p.m.

Sunday.

Prizes of $40 for first place, $30 for second, $20 for third and ribbons for fourth will be awarded in the professional divisions in oil/acrylic, watercolor/acrylic, pastel-mixed media and photography categories. In the non-professional divisions, prizes will be $30, $20 and $10.

Cash awards also will be made in the portrait category, according to the entries.

Winner of the "best of show" award will receive $100.

Brazos West Art Association, with a membership of 35, in addition to three associate and five honorary members, was organized in 1973.

Club members meet monthly (second Monday) at the Haskell National Bank Community Room. The program usually features an out-of-town guest artist who puts on an educational demonstration.

In addition to the Art Festival, the group goes all out with a big show at the annual Haskell County Fair. This event also is held in the Corral Building, which the club owns.

Members also enter their works in other area art shows.

Car wash

Young people of the First United Methodist Church will have a car wash Saturday.

Cars will be washed at the church, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 3:30 p.m.

Suggested donations will be $5 for cars and $8 for vans and trucks.

Automobile mechanics course to be offered

A basic auto mechanics course will be given next week by the Haskell County Extension Service Home Economics Committee.

The course will deal mostly with the basics of automobile maintenance and general knowledge of the parts of the automobile found under the hood. It is designed specifically for women of all ages and men who need to learn these basics.

The clinic will be Thursday, July 26, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Haskell High ag building between the gym and band hall in the 600 block of North Avenue D.

There will be no charge. Instructors will be James Bevel and Duane, ag teachers at Haskell High.

Students are requested to dress comfortably, preferably in work clothing of dark colors.

Rausch concert Aug. 10

Leon Rausch will present a concert Aug. 10 at the Haskell Civic Center. The program, beginning at 7:30 p.m., is being sponsored by the Haskell Business Association.

Advance tickets, priced at $6 each, are available at various businesses in Haskell. Tickets at the door will be $8.

In 1956, Rausch headed for Tulsa, following his deep love and considerable talents for western swing music. Bob Wills was in his heyday, Leon McCauliff was "taking it away", Hank Thompson was doing his part to further the popularity of western swing in Oklahoma City. Rausch wanted to see these fledgling giants in country music and become a part of the movement.

Shortly after his move, Bob Wills hired Leon as his lead vocalist with the famous "Texas Playboys." Leon remained with the Bob Wills show, learning, trying out different styles and doing his utmost to become the expert that he is now in the field of Texas swing music.

When Wills became ill in 60s and 70s, Leon decided it was time to form his own band; hence the birth of the now renowned "Texas Panthers," considered unbeatable today in the western swing field.

Shortly after the death of Wills, Leon recorded an album titled "Doing It Bob's Way" which was an instant hit in Texas. It is considered a classic today and collectors everywhere dig down deep to find copies.

Another recording by Rausch, one of his earliest, charted well and is considered to be one of the best. "From the Heart of Texas," on the Kapp label with Wills, is avidly sought by collectors.

Mrs. Barry Wayne Walker

Castillo, Walker exchange vows

Amy Castillo and Barry Wayne Walker exchanged wedding vows July 14 in the St. George Catholic Church in Haskell. Father Ruben Luera, church pastor, officiated in the 2:30 o'clock ceremony.

Entering with her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a traditional gown of white satin, an Alfred Angelo original. The fitted bodice with drop waist embellished with hand-beaded schiffli embroidery, was fashioned with a yoke of silk illusion. Her lace wedding band collar was heavily embroidered with pearls and sequins, and small strands of pearls hung from the neck band. The satin puff sleeves held the long fitted sheer sleeves covered with hand-clipped lace medallions, lavishly beaded with seed pearls and sequins. The full skirt was hemmed with wide scalloped lace, hand-clipped beaded lace medallions adorned with skirt and repeated on the train.

Her lace covered headpiece, accented with Lilly-of-Valley spray and pearls, held her veil of silk illusion fashioned with a poof and finger tip veil sprinkled with seed pearls.

Something old was a small black Bible belonging to the bridegroom's great-grandmother, carried in the bride's bouquet. Something new was the bride's wedding gown. Something borrowed was a slip belonging to the bride's sister, something blue was the garter.

Felisita Seballos of Abilene served as her sister's matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Cynthia Lopez of Rochester, sister of the bride; Yvonne Ozuna of Denton, Monica and Molly Estrada of Weinert, all cousins of the bride; Darla Griffis of Weinert and Kelly Hutchinson of Kermit. They wore satin and lace epik dresses that had a ruffled skirt. The top was made of pink lace with short sleeves with pink shoulder pads. They wore combs decorated with baby pink and blue flowers with beads hanging off the sides, made by the bride's maternal grandmother. They carried white lace, with pink and blue flowers with baby blue ribbon with little roses on the ends of the ribbon.

Flower girl was Emily Walling of Haskell, and ring bearer was Aaron Jose Seballos of Abilene, nephew of the bride.

Best man was Jerry Don Walker of Stephenville, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Chris Jackson of Seymour, Curtis House of Tulia, Shane Stout of Haskell, Ruben Castillo Jr., brother of the bride, Bill Walker and Mondy Mayfield, all of Weinert.

The groom wore a white penquin tail tuxedo. The groomsmen and ring bearer wore black tuxedos with white shirt and baby blue bow tie and sash with blue boutonnières.

Cindy Guess of Weinert sang, "Parent's Prayer." Mary Gonzales of Denton, aunt of the bride, sang, "Wind Beneath My Wings," and all responses throughout the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception and wedding dance was held at the Civic Center in Haskell. The bride and groom's table was decorated with a baby blue table cloth and pink streamers.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Castillo Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Walker, all of Weinert.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will make their home at 802 Westway in Abilene.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Weinert High School and graduated from American Commercial College with a degree in executive secretary. She is employed by Central Appraisal District in Abilene.

A 1988 graduate of Weinert High School, the groom attended McMurry College in Abilene and Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls. He is employed with Greenbriar Landscaping, Inc., of Abilene.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - The day before Southwest Conference officials met last week to discuss mergers and severances, two West Texas legislators fired a warning shot by the ears of any SWC members planning to bolt and run.

Banding big bucks in sports, some officials predict the state economy could lose hundreds of millions if the SWC broke its circle haphazardly.

A bill by Sen. Bill Sims and Rep. Robert Junell, two Democrats from San Angelo, would punish any state school bolting the conference without league approval by making it return half of all future TV and radio revenues to the state treasury.

Junell played linebacker for Texas Tech under Grant Teaff, now head coach at Baylor University.

Bill Has Support

Teaff and several other SWC honchos support the bill and ripped the Southeast Conference for unethically attempting to lure away the University of Texas and Texas A&M. They don't really care if Arkansas, also wooed, departs.

If the Legislature approves the bill next spring, the penalty would apply to UT, Texas A&M, University of Houston and Texas Tech University.

The spirit of the bill sees the SWC as a family or business unit, and no party should depart, leaving the remaining schools in a financial shambles.

Rich vs. Poor Districts

Lawyers for poor school districts seeking reform in the public school finance system said the Legislature's recent change was no change at all, but presiding state District Court Judge Scott McCown indicated he'll let the new plan stand for now.

The poor districts argue the new plan does not conform to the Texas Supreme Court's version of equality, and they plan to appeal to the High Court if they lose the trial court skirmish.

Democrats' Big Attack

Meanwhile, Democrats and Republicans increased doing what they accuse each other of doing best - spending money and mud-slinging.

Democrat Ann Richards, in a totally expected new phase of her campaign, called for more talk on issues and less dirt.

The next day she accused her Republican opponent, Clayton Williams, of "hiding behind skirts ... and if he wants to fight, he ought to fight like a man," she challenged.

Joining her in a two-day barrage of mudslinging, her campaign co-chairman, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, called Williams "a self proclaimed buffoon," and Democratic National Chairman Ron Brown wrote that Williams was a racist, sexist, anti-Semitic, and a "hate-filled candidate."

In a fund-raising letter, Brown, the nation's first black national party chairman, linked Williams with former Ku Klux Klan official David Duke, now a Louisiana state legislator.

Richards' staff said New York Gov. Mario Cuomo will raise funds for her in New York City to defeat Williams.

Williams' Response

"Richards and the Democrats are out of control," Williams responded. Earlier in the week, he announced a new TV ad campaign to increase his lead over Richards.

His camp confronted Brown on the written slurs, accusing him of "a slimy fund-raising ploy," and Richards denied any part of it, saying Williams was not a racist.

Williams' strategists weeks ago warned him the attack was coming, because polls showed Richards was so far behind she could only catch up with character attacks.

Last week, Gov. Bill Clements said Williams is the clear choice in voter polls, and that the race may be over.

Other Highlights

■ Asked how he felt about getting dragged into the Texas governor's race, Rep. Duke, running for the U.S. Senate, said, "People paint me as the outrageous one, but I don't compare to your candidates in Texas - both of them, Ann Richards and Clayton Williams alike. Now that's an outrageous race. Just look at the things they say about each other."

■ Texas Supreme Court Justice Lloyd Doggett will receive national recognition from the Society of Professional Journalists this fall. A former state senator from Austin, Doggett was nominated by that city's chapter for his work toward reaffirming the Texas Open Meetings Act; allowing cameras in the courtrooms; and preventing the unwarranted sealing of court records.

■ The Texas Board of Criminal Justice approved prison sites in Hondo, Livingston, Pampa and Lamesa, amid what one lawmaker said was the "biggest pork-barrel play" he had ever seen in his life.

■ Andy Sansom, who will head the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department next month, said he wants to rebuild the credibility that the agency lost during recent scandals. He also thinks the public wants more state parks and is worried the Legislature will not fund them.

■ Dallas-based TU Electric has asked the Public Utility Commission for a temporary rate increase, pending a final decision on the company's request for a $442 million annual rate boost.

Crop report to be broadcast

The Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) will offer analysis of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Crop Production report by live satellite broadcast on Aug. 9. The report is one of the most important of the growing season as it is the first such report based on actual field surveys.

In the CBOT program, three grain analysts will offer their opinions on the significance of the USDA figures and respond to questions from the press.

As many farmers own satellite dishes, the CBOT is making details of the broadcast public so they may watch or tape the program for viewing at their convenience.

The broadcast will start at 3:30 p.m. CDT.

--Letters to the Editor--

Stolen idea

Editors: The following is a letter written to and published by the Fort Worth Star Telegram. It shows how well respected your "Hometown Star" has become. Prepare yourselves, Haskell County, the rest of the great state of Texas has discovered one of your finest natural resources.

I read with curious interest the Star Telegram June 20 article titled "Politics Join June Paraders." It told of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ann Richards unveiling an economic development plan. Too bad the idea wasn't her own. I had heard the plan months before. It was knowledgeably presented by Rick Perry, the Republican candidate for Agriculture Commissioner.

Rick Perry's plan to manufacture more products using the state's raw materials will help Texans better utilize our natural resources. It will also end the economically unsound cycle of selling raw materials (at incredibly low prices) to out-of-state companies, just to buy them back (at incredibly high prices) in the form of finished products. Rick Perry has given some insightful examples of this cycle. He tells of hides shipped out, processed and sold back to Texans as expensive leather purses.

It appears that Ms. Richards has a great deal of respect for the brilliant ideas that Rick Perry is presenting to Texans. She has not only borrowed his ideas, but also his examples.

It is understandable for all of us to be impressed by a candidate with the knowledge and determination to lead Texas back to economic stability. After all, even Ms. Richards has had to witness years of Mr. Hightower giving away our state land and allowing others to chisel away at our once sound economy. We may not agree on much, Ms. Richards, but we certainly agree that Republican Rick Perry as Agriculture Commissioner will provide a positive change and prosperous direction for the future of Texas.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

A generation ago, one of baseball's all-time greats, Stan Musial, made $65,000 a year with the St. Louis Cardinals.

There was no hassle. The Cardinal brass would send Stan The Man a one-year contract with a blank space for his salary. He would fill in the blank, sign the contract and return to sender.

In the ensuing season, Musial would live up to his super star status by being the best, or among the best, hitter in the game.

Now come the lawyers, the agents and the super egos of the players, who not only demand millions but who want long-term contracts which will guarantee them seven-figure incomes even if they don't produce.

Last year, 25 major league baseball players received multi-year contracts in the free-agent market, averaging more than $1 million a year.

Among them:

•Mark Davis, pitcher for Kansas City, who signed for four years for $14 million. At the halfway point of this season, he has won one game, lost six and has an earned run average of 5.66.

•Storm Davis, another Kansas City pitcher (three years, $6 million), whose 1990 stats show two wins, six losses and a 5.30 ERA.

•Nick Esasky, Atlanta first baseman (three years, $5.7 million), who has a .171 batting average with no homeruns and no runs batted in after 80 games.

•Keith Hernandez, Cleveland first baseman (two years, $3.5 million). His 1990 record: .208 batting average, one homerun, eight RBIs.

According to historian Fred Ready of Amarillo, the original draft of the Oklahoma constitution outlawed the killing of whales within 12 miles of that state's "coast."

William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, author of the Oklahoma constitution, copied a good part of the Oregon constitution.

When Murray saw something in the Oregon document he liked, he just changed the word Oregon to the word Oklahoma. "It is unlawful to kill a whale within 12 miles of the coast," read one passage.

The whale clause was later removed from the Oklahoma constitution. Forgiving Oklahomans later elected Murray governor.

Crime victims to receive aid

A total of $3.9 million has been earmarked to help Texas crime victims, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm says.

The funds will be allotted by the Department of Justice to support state and local agencies that provide services for crime victims and their families.

The award is from the Crime Victims Fund in the U.S. Treasury that was established by the Victims of Crime Act of 1984. The fund is financed with fines and penalties assessed on convicted federal defendants.

An adult weighing 160 pounds has about five-quarts of blood. An 80-pound child has about half this amount and a nine-pound infant has only about 10 ounces. People who live in high altitudes, where there's less oxygen, may have up to two quarts more blood than those who live in low regions. This extra blood helps capture the oxygen needed by the body.

Haskell Soil & Water Conservation District

Many of the introduced grasses such as weeping lovegrass, kleingrass, old world and yellow bluestems, and bermudagrass, received freeze damage this past winter. For a period of approximately four months, it was extremely dry and coupled with three to five days of subzero temperatures during late December, many of the grasses suffered.

Most noticeable are CRP plantings, but these are not the only stands of grass to suffer. Many pasture and range seedings received damage as well.

Some of these grasses may come back with sufficient time and proper management while others may have to be reseeded. Each one will have to be evaluated individually to see what the needs will be. Those stands that produced two or three viable seed crops may come back on their own with proper management such as weed control and fertilizer as needed.

CRP producers need to evaluate their grass stands this year. If there is damage and weeds have taken over, a cost-share for weed control and reseeding may be eligible. We will try to rehabilitate the grass stand by controlling the weeds this year. If this works, the reseeding will then be deleted. If it doesn't, the reseeding will already be set up. You will have to keep in mind that if reseeding is needed, that you would have already used your weed control and there wouldn't be any more cost-share following the reseeding.

The personnel at the SCS office will assist you upon request in determining if this weed control for rehabilitation is needed and will help complete the modification to set up the practice for cost-share. Please contact the SCS personnel at 864-3212 if you need this service.

Knowing that the type of weather we had this past winter will occur every seven to 10 years, it may be advisable to take a closer look at native grasses if reseeding is needed. The native grasses are here for a reason; they are adapted to where we live and can withstand our climate.

When CRP first started, the seed prices of native grasses skyrocketed due to a large demand and short supply and many producers elected to go with the cheaper introduced species. Prices of the native grasses have come down and are very affordable compared to past years.

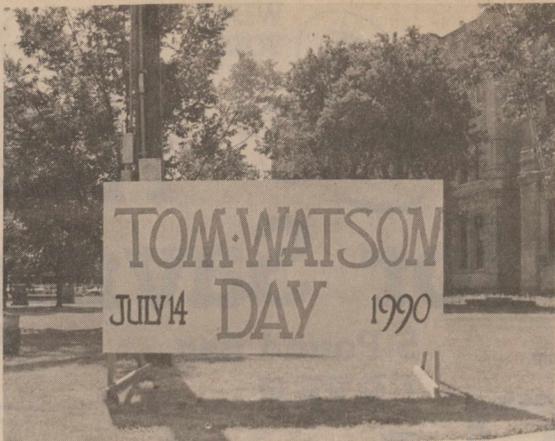

Native grasses can be used for pasture planting and perform very well if managed correctly. It may take a little longer to get native grasses established, but once established, they will stick with you unless continuous grazing pressure forces them out. One of the native grasses often overlooked as a pasture grass is switchgrass. This grass is best adapted to the sandy type soils and has tremendous potential.

If an introduced grass, such as kleingrass, is used as part of a range mixture with native grasses, consideration should be given to limiting the introduced species to no more than 25 percent of the total mix. If the weather does kill or damage the introduced species, the remaining 75 percent are native species that will continue to provide grazing.

For more information, contact your Soil Conservation Service office. Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a non-discriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

1890 - 1990 A CENTURY of VISION

by Pauline Couch
Vice-President & Cashier (Retired)

Alfred Carroll Pierson

He was born September 18, 1895 in Haskell--beginning the long journey to an almost pre-determined destination --to continue the Pierson name as President of Haskell National Bank. There were many detours, and other occupations along the route, but he succeeded his mother Maggie Pierson, as President in early 1947, remaining in that capacity until September, 1967.

At the age of 22 in 1917, he became the husband of Cora Killingsworth, from another Haskell County pioneer family. They began their marriage by operating the Stonewall County ranch until 1920, when they returned to Haskell. Mr. Pierson began his banking career in earnest. He began as a bookkeeper, working his way through the ranks to Cashier, Vice-President, and in 1947-President. Under his leadership, Haskell National Bank expanded in every way, though he still maintained the conservative operations, and careful management inherent in Haskell National Bank's policies--seeking to grow, while remembering the so recent Depression era.

The original sandstone building on the corner of Avenue E and North First had served its purpose well, and proudly, but the time had come to expand. A building site was purchased one block west of the original location--(and is the present location). Construction began in July 1958, lasting eight months. A "Grand Opening" party was held March 19, 1959. The new steel, concrete, and brick structure continued the very latest in modern design, and up-to-date equipment, and well-trained employees. Mr. Pierson "ruled" over this institution from his beautiful, spacious office located in the northwest corner of the building. He always arrived to work early-(7:30 A.M.), and the sweet smell of his pipe daily greeted arriving employees. (All thought he could read lips, as he always knew what was being said clear across the lobby from his office.)

Ever following the example of his parents, Alfred also very Civic minded--serving as Chamber of Commerce President, and active in all Civic Organizations. He was a Trustee of Hendrick Medical Foundation. He served First Baptist Church as a Deacon, Sunday School Superintendent, and Sunday School teacher for many years. Mrs. Pierson was the Church organist for many years, also.

In his own quiet manner, he influenced many lives, and carried on the great traditions handed down to him from a wonderful lineage, and Haskell National Bank has profited greatly from the wisdom of his leadership.

A daughter, Louise Pierson Isbell still resides in Haskell.

Rule hosts Little League tournament

The cities of Rule and Rochester can be proud of their efforts put forth by the All-Star representatives of their Twin Cities Little League last week.

The team was runnerup in the area Little League tournament, the first time in many years that a Twin Cities team has finished that high.

Stamford's Little Leaguers took first place and Haskell's All-Stars were third.

The Rule Little League baseball park was the site for the tournament which ran from Monday night, July 9, to Thursday, July 12.

In the Monday night game, Stamford's Ricky Ramos pitched a shutout against the Haskell All-Stars, winning 13-0. Seth Nicholson hit what proved to be the only homerun of the tournament in the third inning.

Line score:
Stamford 4 2 1 2 4 0 13 13 1
Haskell 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 3
Winning pitcher: Ricky Ramos.
Losing pitcher: Rudy Espinoza;
homerun: Seth Nicholson

In the next game on Tuesday, Twin Cities' Doug Sorrells pitched brilliantly for four plus innings, holding Stamford to only two runs. But, he tired in inning No. 5 and the defense let down, allowing six runs to score. Cory Robinson came in to relieve Sorrells, but the Stamford team came back to score five more runs in the sixth to record a 13-2 victory.

Line score:
Stamford 1 0 0 1 6 5 13 13 1
Twin Cities 0 0 1 1 0 0 2 5 6
WP: Eric Strand; LP: Doug Sorrells. HR: None; 3B: Strand; 2B: Ramos, Thompson (2).

Wednesday night provided the best game of the tournament between Twin Cities and Haskell. Twin Cities jumped out to a 7-0 second inning lead behind the hitting of Arthur Mendoza, Doug Sorrells and Cory Robinson. Chance Williams and Scott Landreth provided timely hits later to back up the great pitching of Landreth. Williams, Mike Hernandez, Bruce Kennedy, Charlie Parks and Patt Pace, along with Mendoza, Robinson and Sorrells, played near-perfect baseball to preserve the 13-9 victory for Twin Cities. Haskell's All-Stars came back to score before and after the rain delay, but Joseph Andress, Rudy Espinoza, Mik Everett and company could not contain the Twin's attack.

Line score:
Twin Cities 4 3 3 0 1 2 13 18 3
Haskell 0 6 3 0 0 0 9 9 3
WP: Landreth, LP: Everett; HR: None; 3B: Mendoza; 2B: Sorrells; Robinson, Williams, Landreth, Espinoza.

Twin Cities came back on Thursday night to try to stop Stamford's drive to the championship, but it was not to be. Defensive holes and misplayed balls could do nothing but hurt the team behind the pitching of Cory Robinson. Great hitting and near-flawless defensive play were everything else Stamford needed to preserve the 25-3 victory.

Line score:
Stamford 3 3 5 0 5 9 25 23 4
Twin Cities 1 0 0 0 0 2 3 4 10
WP: Jeffers; LP: Robinson; HR: None; 3B: Whitfield; 2B: Strand (2), Doan, Jeffers, Ramos, Thompson, Nicholson, Whitfield, Mendoza.

Haskell coaches were Mike Cook and Charles Andress. Stamford was coached by Jimmy Doan and Buddy Strand. Dwayne Landeth and Bobby Robinson led the Twin Cities All-Stars. Tournament directors were Bill Parks and Bobby Robinson. Randy May was the announcer and Kathy Butler was scorekeeper, assisted by Patrick Pace.

Stamford advanced to the District 6 tournament, currently underway this week at Sheppard Air Force Base near Wichita Falls. Other teams in the meet are Munday, Graham and Iowa Park.

Many compliments were heard during the tournament at Rule concerning the field, park conditions, concessions and nearby beautification projects. After it was all over, and everyone could take a deep breath, the final thought was that the experience was an overwhelming success.

The following people and businesses are to be thanked for their donations and/or support to Twin Cities Little League 1990:

Cable adds channels

Harmon Cable Communications added three new services to its basic channel lineup in Haskell July 1. Arts & Entertainment (A&E), Country Music Television (CMT) and a Community Bulletin Board (CBB) are the new services.

Arts & Entertainment is a variety service that is divided into four programming segments: drama, documentaries, comedy and performing arts.

Country Music Entertainment features 24 hours of videos from both the biggest and newest stars in country music today, as well as many country music legends. Interview clips are interspersed with the videos daily so viewers can learn more about their favorite stars.

The Community Bulletin Board is a channel devoted to providing Harmon Cable customers with local and regional information. CBB offers local school and government news and details as well as local announcements and civic organization schedules.

"We are excited about the new programming opportunities we have given our customers," said Gigi Barnett, Harmon Cable System manager. "A&E and CMT are some of the most popular services available today and CBB is an invaluable community service."

Foreigners buying U. S. animal hides

U.S. exporters of cattle hides are counting on Americans' continued fascination for fashionable, high-priced sports shoes to buoy their industry.

It is, in fact, that extra spring in the step from fancy athletic footwear that has lifted the low-profile cattle hides industry to the status of star performer among U.S. agricultural exports, says a recent issue of the agriculture department's Farmline magazine.

The reason: U.S. cattle hides are transformed into $50-plus athletic shoes--and other leather footwear--by East Asian countries for export back to the United States.

"Since the mid-1980s, East Asia has given new life to cattle hide exports," says economist Christine Bolling of USDA's Economic Research Service. "East Asia has been an importer of U.S. cattle hides since the 1970s, but it is only since 1985 that East Asia has taken more than 80 percent of our cattle hide exports."

In 1987, she notes, U.S. sales of cattle hides to East Asia surpassed the $1 billion mark, and in 1989 reached $1.1 billion. The increase in cattle hide exports has made hides and skins America's sixth largest agriculture export. (Exports account for roughly half of cattle hide sales.)

The story of this sharp growth started several years earlier, however.

"U.S. companies sought out countries like South Korea which had low labor costs and manufacturing know-how for this labor-intensive industry," says Bolling. "Building on this base, the Korean industrial sector has also increased its production of higher-valued leather shoes and has expanded into leather clothing."

South Korea is now the world's second largest footwear exporter, after Italy. In 1988, its total footwear exports rose 35 percent over 1987 to reach $3.8 billion.

Increased wages in South Korea have prompted manufacturers there to embark on their own search for cheaper labor in other countries.

South Korean companies have established seven plants in Indonesia and have set up shoe assembly operations in Thailand, Sri Lanka, the Philippines and Chile.

Burkburnett man gets 20-year term

A 25-year-old Burkburnett man was sentenced to 20 years in prison Tuesday after being convicted in 39th district court of theft over $750.

Joey Thedford also was fined $2,000.

He was convicted of the theft of aluminum irrigation pipe in May 1989.

Thedford had previously been convicted of aggravated robbery in Wichita Falls.

Your correspondent, along with three other relatives, has just returned from a ten day trip to Wheaton, Illinois. There, they visited in the home of the Anderson's eldest daughter, Diane DeLoach; her husband, Jim, and sons: Bill and Zach. While in Illinois, they went to downtown Chicago three times, and one day went to Kenosha, Wisconsin to a factory outlet mall.

On Sunday afternoon, July 15, John and Orheana Greeson, Cole and Dorothy Alsbrook of Rochester and your writer visited several people at Rice Springs Care Home. Among those visited were Gladys Dyches, Velma Gann, Rosa Weaver, Beatrice Free, Duke Stone and others.

Hasn't the cooler weather been nice, though? It sure does not seem like July!

Sincere sympathy is extended to the families of Sallie Whittemore and Chick Norwood.

Rule woman wins with pecan recipe

Helen Allison of Rule won first place last week in the pecan pie contest at the 69th annual Texas Pecan Growers Association Conference and Trade Show.

An article on the event was published July 11 in the Bryan-College Station Eagle. It follows:

By Jody Bates
It was rather like a family Christmas buffet--you had to try a bite of everything so that you wouldn't hurt anyone's feelings--except this table was covered with 47 pecan pies.

I was one of six judges Monday at the pecan pie judging contest of the 69th annual Texas Pecan Growers Association Conference and Trade Show. More than 600 growers are attending the state conference which began Sunday and will continue through Thursday at the College Station Hilton and Conference Center. The growers represent about 60 million pounds of pecans annually that translate into $50 million to the 1990 Texas economy.

The winner of this year's pecan pie contest is Helen Allison of Rule, Texas, who won $350 for her wonderful effort. Molly Montz of Wichita Falls won the second-place prize of $100, and Lucille Tobias of Ellinger won $50 for third place.

All 47 pies were served at the final banquet Tuesday night, with special thanks given to the contest prize sponsors: Ara Pecan Co., Atkinson Pecan Co., Durham Pecan Co., Ellis Pecan Co., Oliver Pecan Co. Inc. and Pape Pecan Co.

The many pies represented the spectrum from traditional to those with chocolate, or apples, or coconut, some with custard or cream cheese, a lattice topping, a meringue topping, and a streusel topping. The pies were judged on their appearance, presentation, flavor, texture and crust.

Four of the judges, Dr. Mary Sweeten, Dr. Dymple Cooksey (both aptly named), Dr. Kathleen Ladewig and Dr. Jo Ann Puls, were nutrition specialists, which was reasonable. The other, Hilton manager Dan Camp, said his only qualification was that he was from Georgia. Puls, the head of the judges, cleared the room of bystanders, locked the doors, handed everyone a glass plate, a fork and glass of water and pointed the judges to the three tables groaning with gorgeous, glistening pies. Two hours and 50 bites of pie later, the winners were agreed upon.

Ms. Allison's winning pie recipe:
1 cup white corn syrup

- 1/2 cup sugar
 - 2 tablespoons margarine
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 tablespoon flour
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/8 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup or more chopped pecans (or place pecan halves around pie)
 - 1 unbaked pie crust
- Boil for one minute sugar, corn syrup and margarine, beat eggs slightly, add hot syrup. Beating until mixed well, add vanilla. Mix flour and 1 tablespoon sugar together; put in bottom of unbaked pie crust. Pour in filling; top with pecans. Bake in preheated oven at 425 degrees for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until firm in center.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

WITH THE BIBLE
BY CORNELIUS R. STAM PRES.
BIBLICAL BIBLE SOCIETY
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60635

In 1909 Dr. C. I. Scofield wrote the following passage in the Introduction to the Scofield Reference Bible:

"The last fifty years have witnessed an intensity and breadth of interest in Bible study, unprecedented in the history of the Christian Church. Never before have so many reverent, learned and spiritual men brought to the study of the Scriptures minds so free from merely controversial motive. A new and vast exegetical and expository literature has been created...."

Even the years that followed the writing of this passage produced many great Bible expositors, but their number has since dwindled fast, until today evangelistic-revival campaigns have all but replaced the great, thrilling Bible conferences of a few decades ago.

Regardless of the popularity of such campaigns, however, the Church will not make true progress, either in spiritual power or in the number of genuine converts, until it once again places due emphasis on the Word of God, both in private study and in public ministry.

Unpopular but vital Bible doctrines have stopped many preachers and Bible teachers short and hindered them from bringing to the Scriptures "minds free from merely controversial motive," largely because the price of standing for these truths has seemed too great. Until it is the sole passion of men of God to know THE TRUTH and make it known, revival will not come, for the Church has never made one step of progress apart from progress in the study of the Word.

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Phemister

We received a "bit" of rain last week only .2 of an inch, but it cooled the air and brought some relief from the intense heat we have been having.

Sunday night brought a shower, and temperatures dropped into the 60's. (This report is for those who have been fortunate enough to make it to Colorado, etc. for a vacation from the heat!) Ha!

Our birthday people this week includes Dusty Yates, Jeremy Ruiz, Linda Adams, Greg Turnbow, Lanona Harbers, Jesse Castorena and several out-of-towners we love, also. Happy birthday!

Congratulations to Barry Walker and Amy Castillo who were married on Sat., July 14th. Many from Weinert helped fill the church with their attendance, and Weinert's population was boosted with the many who came from other places for the joyous occasion and stayed a while to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Parrott, with Justin and Rance of Wichita Falls, Jerry Don Walker of Stephenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hacker and Jordan of Benjamin visited in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Walker, and had a part in their brother's wedding.

Relatives of the Castillo family included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Estrada and family; Mr. and Mrs. Lila Castillo and families of Goree.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rojas and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ozuna and family and Mary Lou Gonzales, all of Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Barjas and family of Seminole, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Trevino and family, of White Settlement, all are the bride's aunts, uncles and cousins.

Her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Seballas of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lopez of Rochester were also in attendance, and were a part of the wedding party.

The Perez brothers band of Natalia, provided the music for the wedding dance, and are relatives of the family.

The reception and dance were hosted in the Haskell Civic Center.

The newly married couple will reside in Abilene, where Barry is already employed and Amy has accepted a position in the Taylor County Appraisal Board office. Again, congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Earp have been in Abilene a lot lately, checking on the progress of her father, Chester Smith of Goree, who suffered a stroke last week.

He was dismissed on Saturday and is at home, doing extremely well, so far.

Out of town guests of the Earps this week included Kelly and Wayne Hutchinson of San Angelo; Tad and Kelly Smith of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. "Hobo" Smith of Panhandle and John "Boy" Earp of Spur.

Louise and Ernest McGuire were surprised with a visit from Marvin and Essie Teaff of Austin last week, who were in our area to attend the Medley reunion hosted in Haskell.

They were accompanied to Weinert by their son, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Teaff, and a niece, Jessie Faye Owens of Arkansas and Everett Medley of Haskell.

The Teaffs are in very poor health, and do not get out our way often. They send regards to all their friends here, with an invitation to visit them in Austin.

Becky Fry of Bowie, spent the weekend with her parents, the E. S. McGuires.

Dale and Doris Carroll with Denise and Douglas drove to the Coleman lake on Sunday afternoon, looking for that "perfect" place to spend some time fishing.

They were accompanied by Darlene and Kerry Therwhanger.

T Nichols is in Utah this week, having flown there with his father's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wright, and a cousin Nick Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Don Hudgens, Bryce and Cable attended the Dale family reunion in Muleshoe last weekend and Donita and the boys spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dale in Muleshoe.

She returned home on Tuesday accompanied by her sister, Dianne Skipworth, with Jeffery and Jameson, who will spend a few days in Weinert.

While the "cat" was away the "rat", Jerry Don, played around with paint brush and carpenter tools for a nice surprise for her return.

Bernice Mathison, with her sister, Lucicle Wickson, of Brownwood, attended the Ash family reunion held at the Hartsel-Ash arena in Throckmorton over the weekend. Lucicle returned to Weinert with Bernice for a few days visit here.

Their mother, Mrs. Bill Pickering, was a member of the Ash family.

Billy Wayne and Beverly Farrell of Austin is in town, spending a part of their vacation with his parents, Ida and Willie Farrell. Willie will be in Abilene this week for an appointment with a cataract surgeon.

Sue Hackney with Tolanda of Ft. Worth is visiting her family, Mattie and D. I. White while her husband, Jimmy is preaching for a revival at the Church of Christ in Ackerley.

Bobby Tipton returned to Austin this week after spending several days with his grandparents, the Marvin Phemister.

Airman First Class Aaron Sikes, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Sikes, has returned to his post at Chick-Sand Airbase in England after spending his furlough in Weinert with his parents and brothers, Andrew and Nathan.

While here, the Sikes family attended their family reunion in Oklahoma and spent some time in Vernon where they formerly lived before moving here.

The Sikes made a trip to Six Flags and attended a Ranger ball game while Aaron was at home. He returned to England last Thursday, making the flight from DFW Airport.

Chick-Sand Airbase is located 45 miles north of London and if anyone is planning a trip there, Nathan and Andrew would love to be a stow-away in their luggage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Austin with their daughter Paula, of Denver, Colo. stopped by for an overnight visit on Sunday with her sister, Shirley Sikes and family as they were on their way to San Antonio.

Betty Sanders was in Winters last week to get her mother settled at home after being dismissed from the hospital following surgery. Her mother is doing well at this time.

Myrnie Sanders is getting about on a walker as she recovers from knee surgery and was able to attend worship services on Sunday.

Junior and Bennie Horan continue on the sick list, but are doing better.

Congratulations are due Crystella and Bob Raynes at the birth of their eighth great-granddaughter who arrived in Wichita Falls on Sunday, July 15 to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Richardson of Wichita Falls. The Raynes also have four great-grandsons.

Grandparents of the 8 lbs. 12 oz. Adrienne Richardson are Patsy Lee and George Shawver of Holliday and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Richardson of Wichita Falls.

Sympathy is extended the Alexander family at the death of Bruce Patterson, son of L. B. and Dot Patterson, whose memorial service was held at Johnston Cemetery in Munday on Sat., July 14.

Bruce was a nurse at San Diego, Calif., hospital and developed pneumonia and died.

Attending from Weinert were Mildred Sanders, Myrtle Phemister and Eddie Sanders, cousins of the family.

Private Steven Dickson, formerly of Rotan, now stationed in Anchorage, Alaska was a visitor at First Baptist Church on Sunday, and a guest of the Donnie Harber family.

Recent guests of Buck and Helen Turnbow were their daughter, Jeanene and Gene Perry of Stanton.

Bob Kimbrough of Ralls was in Weinert and Haskell on Monday and visited with cousins and showed off his five grandchildren, ages 6 through 12 years, whom he was taking on an outing through Texas.

Accompanying Bob were Jason, Joe and Jennifer Melton of Lubbock and David and Erica Hitt of Ralls, the children of Bob and Billie's two daughters.

Ann Glasscock and seven of her children returned to their home in San Angelo on Monday after the children had attended the Haskell Singing School last week. They were guests of their grandparents, Roy and Leta Phemister of Munday and commuted to Haskell each day.

The women of Weinert enjoyed a Koffee-Koke-Klack at the Weinert Grocery on Tuesday afternoon, and plan to make it a weekly affair. Every W.O.W. is an official member and thereby welcome.

On June 29-July 1, the Ivy Cypert descendants met at Bobby and Rowena Hester's cabin at lake

Ft. Phantom. There were 74 present from Haskell, Munday, Weinert, Rochester, Childress, Odessa, Kermit, Richardson, Graham, Midland, Lubbock, and Boyd. TAX PLANNING

Written By James E. Rodgers, CPA

HOW TO PURSUE YOUR HOBBY LIKE A BUSINESS

If you're like some taxpayers, you have a pastime that brings in cash but produces a loss after you deduct your expenses. Example: An amateur artist who spends money for paint and canvas but who only occasionally sells a painting. If you could deduct "hobby" losses on your tax return, you could reduce taxes owed on your salary or other income.

You can deduct your losses, but only if you establish that you are carrying on your pastime with the motive of making a profit.

If you can't prove you have a profit motive, the IRS views your activity as a "hobby." Expenses of a hobby can be deducted only up to the amount of income from the hobby. You can't deduct hobby losses from your salary or other income.

You can help establish your profit motive in one of two ways. If you show a profit in three out of five years (two out of seven years for horse activities), the IRS will presume you've got a business and not a hobby. However, you can't simply manipulate deductions and income to create profit years.

The other way to demonstrate that you're operating with a profit motive is to conduct your activity in a business-like manner. Get advice from an accountant to assist with keeping accurate books and records. Maintain a separate checking account, advertise your services or products and get a business phone listing. If you have losses, try to turn your business around by taking classes, consulting with experts, and changing your methods of operation. Be sure you spend enough time at your activity to demonstrate that you're serious about profits. Remember, you don't have to earn a profit, but you must try to do so. If you don't have profits in three out of five years, the burden of proof will be on you to show the IRS that this activity is a business and not a hobby.
