Haskell ISD spends $3,500 per Student

Last year trustees in the 1,052 Texas school districts adopted budgets totaling $14.25 billion and increased local property taxes by another $500 million. School budgets were two and a half times as much in 1990 as the $5.7 billion at the beginning of the decade, and school property taxes were three times as much.

The figures come from the latest issue of Bench Marks 1989-90 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the Texas Research League, an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

An average of $3,542 per student for current operations was budgeted last year, plus $302 for repayment of debt and $461 per student for capital outlay.

Haskell ISD's budget provided $3,502.35 per student for current operations, $22.70 for debt service, and $423.19 per student for capital outlay based on the 749 students enrolled in the fall semester of 1989.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Haskell ISD in 1988-89 was $23,005, plus supplements for the career ladder.

In Haskell ISD, the average salary for administrators was $34,030, and $20,900 for other professional support employees (librarians, counselors, nurses, supervisors, etc.).

Four dollars in five were spent for salaries. Statewide payroll expense averaged $2,895 per student, as compared to $2,682.13 in Haskell ISD. Payroll expense is a combination of salary levels and staffing patterns.

Taxpayers provided one teacher for 13.9 students in Haskell ISD, while the statewide pupil-teacher ratio was 16.6-1. Because of the existence of small classes, especially at the high school level, and abbreviated teaching schedules, many other classes have more than the average number of students.

To fund higher school budgets with a declining tax base, school trustees in most districts have raised tax rates. The average school district imposed a property tax at the rate of $1.01 per $100 of appraised value, which value averaged 97.6 percent of market value (selling price). The "true tax rate" was 98.6 cents ($1.01 times 97.62 percent) statewide. Locally, the Haskell ISD imposed a rate of 98.3 cents while property was appraised at 93.6 percent of its market value, making the true rate of 94.7 per $100 of market value.

The report points out that the calculation of a true tax rate based on market value rather than on appraised value enables a valid comparison of tax levels with other schools. In 1989, the true tax rate exceeded $1 in half of the school districts in Texas.

The tax on a house that would sell for $80,000 in Haskell ISD would have been $819. If the homeowner were eligible for homestead exemptions, the tax would have been $770, and if owned by a person 65 years or older, the tax on an $80,000 house in the district would have averaged $671, or less if subject to a tax freeze. That compares with statewide average tax bills of $806, $712, and $543 respectively for an $80,000 house.

Last year, Haskell ISD's revenue from the property tax increased by 7.9 percent for 1989-90 as compared to a 9.1 percent increase statewide.

Local property taxes, plus state aid, was $3,488 per student in Haskell ISD, as compared to $3,386 statewide. The primary purpose of state aid is to equalize state and local tax resources among schools.

New school bill offers no relief for taxpayers

The new Texas Public School funding bill has not given taxpayers relief, Haskell Supt. Bill Stewart said Tuesday.

"Where consolidation of schools was believed to give some tax relief, and would have under the old law, the new law eliminates that possibility," the superintendent said.

"The amount of money a district must now raise at the local level--if it expects to receive maximum state aid--has risen some 63 percent," Stewart said. "This development forces most districts, such as Haskell ISD, to either tax at the present level for 1990-91, or raise taxes."

"This new law also forces districts to continue to raise taxes yearly, because the local share amount will raise another 30 percent for the 1991-92 school year. This requirement of the new legislation continues through 1990-95 where a district must tax at $1.18 per $100 in value or above in order to receive total state aid.

"As the legislature meets again in January, it will be faced with a court decision on the constitutionality of the new law. If the law is found unconstitutional, schools could face other new funding guidelines. Whatever happens, it appears that the taxpayer will see little or no less of the burden."

"The Haskell ISD board of trustees and superintendent wish to assure the taxpayers of the district that the school program is being run as efficiently as possible, considering the mandates of the state and the improvements necessary for the good of the students and community," Stewart concluded.

Mayor proclaims 'Cleanup Week'

Next week, Aug. 6-10, will be Cleanup Week in Haskell.

Mayor Greg Melton, in a proclamation issued last week, is calling on all citizens of Haskell to join in an effort to make Haskell a more beautiful place to live.

The mayor's proclamation points out that recent rains have caused the vegetation to grow more than normal, leaving many vacant lots that need to be mowed and cleaned.

To help citizens comply with the mayor's request, the City of Haskell is offering help.

The city's chipper will be located at the softball park throughout the week and everyone is welcome to bring their limbs and brush to that location. It will be ground and disposed of at no cost.

City trash trailers will be available on call. Anyone with limbs or brush to be picked up may call City Hall (864-2333) and the city will send a trailer to pick up the debris if possible. (City employees will not load the trash.)

And during the week, there will be no charge for disposing vegetative matter at the city landfill.

FIBER FULL
Regular consumption of cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables is highly recommended. The American Cancer Society indicates that diets high in fiber may help reduce the risk of colon and rectum cancer. If your diet does not include these ingredients, change is definitely in order.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

SHOULD YOU BUY OR RENT YOUR HOME?

A few years ago, advisers could safely say that home ownership was more attractive than renting for the vast majority of people. But the recent changes in some local housing markets, coupled with lower tax rates and higher standard deductions, has made some advisers recommend renting over buying.

To see which is better for you, first calculate your after-tax cost of home ownership and compare it to the cost of renting. To calculate your after-tax cost, multiply your mortgage interest and real estate taxes (deductible items) by your tax rate (15%, 28% or 33%). Subtract the result from your total expenditures for home ownership (including maintenance), and compare that net cost to the price of renting a comparable property.

If your calculations show it's cheaper to rent, you then have to factor in some other considerations. First, rents will increase over time to reflect inflation, whereas most mortgage payments remain fixed.

Second, home ownership allows you to build equity over time. You'll eventually own an asset that can help lower your living costs when you retire. In markets where real estate prices have increased substantially, homeowners have found a source of wealth that renters can't match. However, where real estate prices are deflated, renters have had the flexibility to move from the area, while homeowners often can't sell their properties and recoup their investments.

There are other factors to consider in deciding whether to rent or buy, including how long you plan to remain in the home, whether you're able to do the necessary maintenance, and whether you have the cash for a down payment on a home.

Harrells were true pioneers

By Ernestine Herren

Jerry Harrell, one of Haskell's senior citizens, recalled early days in the Foster community.

His antecedents go back to Harrell, Ark. His father, Will Harrell, and three brothers, Nate, Ike and Charlie, lost their parents and were sent to Hico, Texas, to live with an aunt at ages 2-12 years.

The aunt received a monthly check for their keep but the boys did not know that and thought they were living on charity so after a few years they left the aunt to be independent. They were brought back but left again--independence was their aim in life.

When their property in Arkansas was settled, Will received one freight car load of corn for his part; that must have been a lot of corn.

At an early age Will started cowboying for Bush and Burnett Cattle Co. and made several trail drives north with as many as 2,000 head. Sometimes he and the other cowboys on the range would not be under a roof for months. They camped out in all kinds of weather while tending cattle.

In the 1890s, Will went to Erath County and married Martha Lou Emma Robertson and crops being poor in 1902, they and two children came to Haskell County by covered wagon. He liked the red river land about 10 miles northwest of Haskell. The land then was covered with grass all the way to the Brazos river. There was no Johnson grass, careless weeds or goatheads and antelope were still here.

Will bought land in 1902 and added to it in 1916 and his three brothers also bought land next to him. They were prosperous farmers and took many, many bales of cotton to the gin by wagon and mules. They also raised mules and bought young mules to break for harness to work in the field. This was before mechanization of farming as we know it now.

When Will Harrell bought his land, a family was living on it so Will worked at odd jobs as well as breeding mules and horses. The man had possession until Jan. 1, 1903, but about the middle of December there was two or three weeks of perfect springtime weather so Will went to see the man and wanted to know when he might move.

The man said, "This place is mine until Jan. 1 and I am not moving a peg until the first day of January." "Well," said Will, "that's just fine. I just thought maybe you might want to take advantage of this pretty weather. If you're not going to move till the first day of January, I'll be here by sunup the first day of January with a load of goods and I'll want possession."

When the first day of January came, it was sleeting, snowing and raining and terrible weather and at sunup, Will Harrell drove up with a wagon load of household furnishings. The man said, "It's too bad to move today." "Well," said Will Harrell, "I came up here a couple weeks ago when the weather was pretty wanting to move and you said you weren't going to move till the first day of January, it was yours till the first day of January and today's the first day of January and I want possession."

They moved him out in the rain, but Will did feel sorry for him and loaned him a wagon sheet to put over his household things. He wouldn't move a peg till the first day of January!

Some of their neighbors were Baylor Purdue and Dick Williams. The early day settlers would have a rough time if it had not been for good helpful neighbors to help in times of need.

The Will Harrell family was conservative and Mike Harrell, grandson, tells of the time a neighbor had a crop failure and came to the Harrells for help. Mike said his grandmother kept her money in a sock and brought some out to help the neighbor until he could make another crop and survive another year.

All the children of the four brothers attended Foster School; all 28 of them and later some grandchildren. Will Harrell served on the Foster School Board for many years. All the Harrells were staunch supporters of the Pinkerton Baptist Church and the Foster school; with 28 children they were supporters of the school by sheer numbers. Most of their social life was in this community. After the crops were laid by in the summer they all attended church under a brush arbor.

Every year the Harrell men all went to the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show which they enjoyed very much. The wives stayed home to take care of the children, milk the cows, stop the pigs and feed the mules. It was probably easier to stay home than get all the children ready to travel and herd them around at the Fat Stock Show.

The Harrells were pioneers and determined to survive blizzards, drouths, cyclones, grasshoppers and 4- and 5-cent cotton, and they did. They left many descendants that are good citizens; nobody knows how many, but there must be many.

Jerry Harrell was born in 1902 on the family farm in the Foster community northwest of Haskell. He brought his bride, Vadie West, there, reared his children and lived there all his life until he retired and moved to Haskell. Their children were Dorothy, Gene, Joan, Daisy, Dona and Mike. He and his wife celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in 1983.

In his life, he saw many changes in farming as well as in other areas. Farming has changed from a walking middle buster pulled by mules to our modern air conditioned tractors, from chopping cotton and weeds to weed-killing chemicals, and from picking cotton by hand to cotton strippers.

The younger generation never saw a cotton sack or weighing it up at the wagon. From going to church and the weekly trip to town on Saturday to buy supplies and socialize with friends. From growing their own food to shopping in a super market stocked with over 5,000 items.

In the early days, the settlers made their own entertainment and now we press a button to get the world news and programs. The party telephone line of 10-12 people is gone. Everybody knew all their neighbors and were interested in their welfare. If the telephone rang late at night the party line jumped up to listen and if someone was sick or had an emergency they would be there to help out in 15 or 20 minutes.

Jerry Harrell accepted life as it was, enjoyed his friends. In his own words, he gave us a description of the terrible drouth of 1918 and the fierce blizzard of the same year:

1917 was tolerable dry but people made enough feed and cotton to get by. Crops were sorry, but they were good compared to 1918. In '18 we just didn't make anything hardly. Everybody nearly left this country but my dad, old man

Newley who lived up the road, Mac McWilliams and few of the oldtimers who had been here forever. They stayed here but most everybody else went back to East Texas to pick cotton. You gotta make a living and there wasn't anything to do in this country.

Well in 1918 we didn't get any rain. We just got a few little light showers, enough to wet you in your shirt sleeves. Most people got their feed and cotton up but it didn't amount to anything at all. Back through the summer, it never did rain any in 1917, just a little shower maybe.

Then in early 1918, we had a terrible spell of cold weather. We had snow and the wind blew out of the north. My dad had a picket fence out around the house and the snow and sand and dirt all mixed together and blew. You could just step over that picket fence nearly anywhere because the snow and sand drifted. I remember my dad came up to school a little after dinner on the day of the snowstorm and got us. A fellow by the name of Taylor was principal. He told Papa, "Well it's too early to turn out school." Papa said "these kids got to get home. We've got a terrible bad norther coming from the way it looks in the north. You'd better turn out school and let these kids try to get home before it hits."

We went on back home and Taylor turned out school. I reckon the parents came after their kids or they all went home. But one little girl who lived back west of Foster schoolhouse about a mile and a half, her parents never did come. Taylor had to take her home. Taylor was boarding with a fellow by the name of P.M. Aycock that lived about a mile back the other way from the school. And he had to carry the little girl home and then go back to where he was boarding. I know his feet froze, it got so cold. He had trouble with his feet after that, they didn't freeze enough to come off or anything but they were frostbitten.

You know back then we didn't have radios or anything. You could see the norther coming around noon. It had turned blue back in the north. My dad saw it. Of course he'd been out here long enough to know what it was. It hadn't hit by noon but Dad came up to school about 1:30 or 2 after us, and the wind was out of the north and beginning to pick up. By 4 o'clock it was snowing, sleeting, freezing; lots of chickens froze to death.

You know back then--more so than now--it would get real dark blue when we were fixing to have a bad norther. I don't know how they travel so fast but they would be here in just a few hours after you saw that real dark blue rise up in the north. It wouldn't be over for four or five hours.

Hester couple celebrates

Stacy and Laurie Hester hosted a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party for their parents, Jerry and Wanda Hester, on July 7 at the Haskell National Bank Community Building.

Colors of blue and silver were used throughout the building.

Cake and punch were served to 85 friends and relatives.

All of Jerry and Wanda's immediate families were present except for one nephew, Shane Cunningham of Abilene.

Those able to attend were their parents, Bobby and Rowena Hester and Hugh and Bea Miller of Haskell.

Also in attendance were Billy Wayne, Sheila, Wayne, Michael and Shelly Hester of Rochester.

Tommy, Nece, Brooke and Emily Miller came from Breckenridge. Wanda's sister, Patsy Cunningham, came with her fiancée, Melvin Norris, from Abilene.

The entire family had played a part in making the night a total surprise for Jerry and Wanda.

Other guests registered from Haskell, Weinert, Munday, Rule, Hamlin and Fort Worth.

The sound of thunder is caused by the violent expansion of the air after it has been heated by lightning.

Rule continuing dedication plans

Members of Rule's Memorial Foundation met July 24 in a continuance of preparation for dedication ceremonies of Oct. 20. The forward-looking group discussed plans for the completion of the monument site, the dedication ceremony and the perpetuation of the monument.

Approvals were given for installation of lighting under supervision of Tom Kutch; bids on flag poles will be reviewed for purchase by J. C. Lewis; landscaping will continue under supervision of A. B. Arnett; funding will continue to be focused upon as brought out by D. J. Vernon in order to reach the goal; a sprinkler system was approved for installation under guidance of Joe Cloud and Delbert Howell.

Vernon reported the Department of Transportation will place appropriate markers on highways directing visitors to the monument site. Coordination of homecoming '90 and dedication ceremony publicity was worked out in a joint meeting with the Homecoming '90 Committee.

The public is encouraged to visit Sorrell's Park in Rule to view the remarkable and beautiful edifice, to take time to meditate in the aura its presence creates. Community members are encouraged to participate in the completion of the monument site and the dedication ceremonies.

-BIRTHS-

Leon and Darla Greeson of Stephenville wish to announce the arrival of their daughter, Lacey Brooke, born July 19 at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. Paige and Dave were on hand to greet their sister.

John and Orheana Greeson of Rule are her paternal grandparents. Maternal grandparents are Charlie and Cheryl Simon of Junction.

Ethel Greeson of Rule is the paternal great-grandmother and R. B. McKinney of Junction is the maternal great-grandfather.

The maternal great-great-grandmothers are Edith McKinney of London, Texas, and Pearl Good of Redlands, Calif.

Ombudsmen needed here by WTCG

The West Texas Council of Governments Ombudsman Force is seeking volunteers to serve in Haskell County.

The Ombudsman Task Force is a group of volunteers who give eight hours a month to visit residents of local nursing homes. Ombudsmen are trained advocates for nursing home residents and their families.

They are trained and certified by the Texas Department on Aging in conjunction with the Texas Department of Health. In their roles as advocates, ombudsmen attend inspections and open hearings and may help in reporting and/or resolving complaints.

The next ombudsman certification training will be Aug. 7-8. For more information, call Jimmy Walls, staff ombudsman for WCTCOG at (915) 672-8544.

Most national flags use one or more of only seven basic colors--red, white, blue, green, yellow, black and orange.

Quit smoking.

Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

Watching Washington

A recent study showed nearly half—42 percent—of all the babies born at one Detroit hospital had been exposed to drugs, usually crack cocaine, taken by their mothers during pregnancy.

How many other babies across the country are beginning their lives addicted to drugs? No one is sure.

While the Detroit figure is astonishing, what we don't know may be worse. Last year as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which oversees federal health care programs, I instructed the committee staff to research the scope of the relatively new problem of "drug babies". The General Accounting Office (GAO) has now completed a study and reported to a recent committee hearing with some grim numbers.

GAO investigators found that the incidence of drug-exposed babies is seriously underreported. Many hospitals don't even thoroughly screen infants for exposure. One of the ten hospitals studied had no method for assessing drug use during pregnancy. Not surprisingly, this hospital reported the lowest incidence of drug babies. The other nine hospitals required testing usually only if the mother reported her drug use or the infant showed signs of withdrawal.

But, the study concludes that when rigorous detection methods are used, the number of babies exposed to drugs is three to five times higher than expected—an average of nearly one in six babies.

The care and treatment of these babies may well become the major public health challenge of the 1990s, rivaling the cost of the savings and loan bailout. Most of these mothers receive little or no prenatal care. The study estimates that drug exposed infants are four times as likely to be born premature and ten times more likely to die of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. Many of these children also have the AIDS virus as a result of their parent's drug abuse. In four of the hospitals studied by GAO, hospital charges for drug exposed infants were four times greater than for other infants. The Texas Medical Association estimates that anywhere from $3,600 to $50,000 is spent on hospital care per drug exposed baby.

Most of these children will also require special health care for many years, not to mention the cost of addressing their unique learning needs as they grow older. At one pilot preschool program for mildly impaired drug babies in Los Angeles, the cost per child was estimated at $17,000 a year.

Some of these babies will leave the maternity ward only to be harmed by their drug abusing parents. One newspaper article quoted the mother of an adopted crack baby as saying her child had been "burned, beaten, starved and nearly drowned" by her real parents. Others will be abandoned in the hospital, becoming "boarder babies" until adoptive or foster parents can be found. But the GAO reported that only 7 percent of the foster crack children in New York had been adopted. The rest face the possibility of spending years bouncing between foster homes and pediatric wards.

We will all pay the price if we cannot get a grip on the scope of this problem and determine ways to not only prevent drug exposed births, but also to care for the many drug babies already born. I intend to continue examining this problem and searching for solutions. An obvious first step is to improve our testing methods so that these children can be identified and problem areas can be targeted for assistance.

So far, we've only seen the tip of the iceberg. But that's enough to show us how badly we are losing the war against drugs when it comes to babies. For the one in six infants in this country that may be born addicted to drugs, we've got to turn that around.

Bill Steele attends fire school

Bill Steele Jr. of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department attended the 61st annual Texas Firemen's Training School July 22-27. The school, attended by nearly 2,000 students representing about 750 cities from more than 25 states, was held on the Texas A&M University campus.

Firemen can choose their course at the school from a list including fire fighting, fire prevention, fire department officer training, fire department pump maintenance, specialized fire protection and disaster rescue training.

Steele was sponsored by Haskell County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending the school to help do better jobs of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 county Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said S. M. True Jr., of Plainview, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Water consumption important to health

Water is not mentioned in the USDA dietary guidelines, the American Heart Association guidelines or the American Cancer Society guidelines. However, water is as important to your health and well-being as the food you eat. Here are some water facts:

- The human body contains 40-50 quarts of water,
- Two to three quarts of water are lost daily through perspiration, urine and breathing and must be replaced,
- As little as a 3-percent reduction of your body weight due to water loss can affect your strength and endurance.
- A 15-20-percent water loss can be fatal.

Additionally, water performs many important functions in the body. Water quenches your thirst and helps the digestive process. Water, in the form of perspiration, sets up a self-cooling system for you during exercise. It carries nutrients to the cells and removes waste products. A healthy complexion depends on a water-enhanced skin tone. Joints are lubricated by water.

On the curative side, water can often help relieve headaches and decrease premenstrual bloating. And, for those who wish to maintain or lose weight, drinking large glasses of water during the day and right before meals can help you curb your appetite and avoid impulse snacking. Alcoholic beverage consumption, which should always be in moderation, should include other liquids to dilute the effect of alcohol.

Nutritionists continue to advise everyone to drink six to eight glasses of liquid a day, and they mean water. Caffeine- or alcohol-containing beverages are not recommended because they are diuretics that will act to remove water from your body. Other drinks such as regular soft drinks and milk shakes are not recommended in excess because of their high caloric count.

It is important to increase your fluid consumption in situations that stress the body like exercise, fever, infections or even travel to high altitudes. Don't rely on thirst to tell you when your water level is low. Drink fluids before, during and after exercise. If you are ill or have traveled to a higher altitude than your body is accustomed to, drink at least two glasses of water a day more than usual.

Drinking sufficient water will help you look and feel your best. Remember not to neglect water as an integral component of your dietary plans and practices.

Rule remembers Emil C. Gundlach

By Jack E. Westbrook

Emil Carl Gundlach was born to Carl Henry and Mary Lange Gundlach on Oct. 7, 1913, at Belton, Bell County, Texas. He was the second of five children: Gus H., Elizabeth Gundlach Delkers, Edwin E. and Bernhard P. Gundlach.

The family later lived in Holland, Texas, and Bartlett, Texas, before locating in Rule in January 1928.

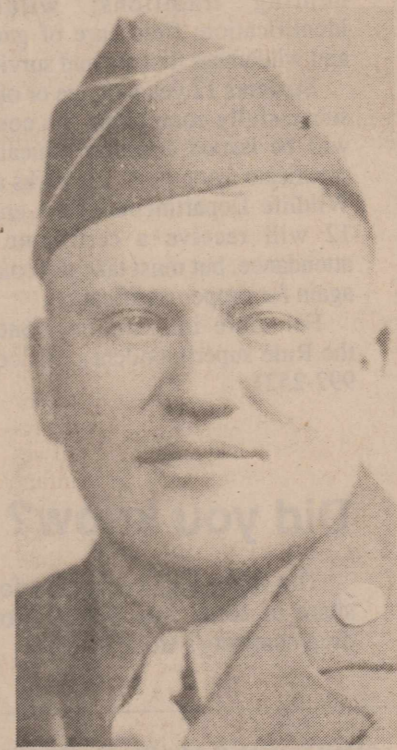

He attended school in Holland, Bartlett and graduated from Rule High School.

He was a product of the Depression, his family having experienced the depths of that time. As a result, he learned to work, later helping his uncle on his farm near Bartlett and then farming with a friend in Missouri. Emil was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Cpl. Gundlach answered his country's call to service, volunteering on Nov. 30, 1940. He was first stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, he went on maneuvers to Sabinal, Texas; then trained in Ragley, La., and Camp McCoy, Wis. On Sept. 8, 1943, he embarked for Ireland with his unit, Company "M", 38th Infantry Regiment, known as "The Rock of the Marne", Second Infantry Division. They later trained in England for the invasion of the continent. He was in a machine gun section of "M" Company, a heavy weapons infantry company.

The Second Infantry Division landed on the Omaha Beach near Vierville, France, on June 6, 1944, "D-Day", placing Cpl. Gundlach in some of the severest fighting during those landings. He was killed on June 14, 1944, dying from wounds received in combat. His unit was securing and expanding the beachhead in preparation for pushing on to liberate France and to attack Germany.

Emil was very close to his family, having made special provisions for his father and mother while he was in the service. News of his death was devastating to them, many of their friends feeling it contributed to the untimely death of his father the following Sept. 19, 1944.

A joint memorial service was held for Carl Henry and Emil Carl Gundlach on Sept. 24, 1944, at the First Presbyterian Church in Rule. Edwin, Bernhard and Elizabeth served during World War II.

Cpl. Emil Carl Gundlach was awarded, posthumously, the Purple Heart, the American Theater medal, the European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign medal with one Bronze Star for the Normandy campaign and the World War I Victory medal.

Cpl. Gundlach was first interred in the United States Military Cemetery in La Cambe, France. Later he was interred in the Permanent Normandy American Cemetery, near St. Laurent, France (Plot H, Row 19, Grave 25).

Cpl. Emil C. Gundlach is one of those being honored by the Rule Community Memorial Foundation's monument in Sorrell's Park at Rule. The "gift" he made to the living had to be enshrined because of its magnitude and impact on each of us. We are indebted to this man and must honor that debt.

Sun can burn black skin, too

It is a common misconception that black people do not get sunburns. But a Baylor College of Medicine dermatologist warns that the sun's rays are especially harmful to black skin since its damaging effects are hard to detect.

"Most people do not realize they are getting burned," said Dr. Theodore Rosen, associate professor of dermatology at Baylor. "At the Black skin has more melanin (the pigment that gives color to skin and protects it from burning than does white skin. However, melanin does not completely protect the skin from the ravages of sun exposure.

Food and drugs sometimes clash

When you take medication, there may be some foods you should avoid eating. For example, you should not take tetracycline, a widely prescribed antibiotic, with a glass of milk since the calcium in milk impairs absorption of the tetracycline.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration warns that the effects of food and drugs on each other can determine whether or not the medications do their job. And some combinations of food and medication can actually be dangerous.

For the free fact sheet, "Food and Drug Interactions", telling you about various food and drug combinations you should avoid, just send your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 549W, Pueblo, CO 81009.

There were at least 52 musicians in the family of famous composer, Johann Sebastian Bach.

Hunter education courses to be given

A course in hunter education has been scheduled for Aug. 15, 16 and 17 from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at Rule High School, according to Don Ballard and Bobby Lusk, hunter education instructors.

Hunters born Sept. 2, 1971, through Aug. 31, 1974, must complete the course in order to hunt in Texas.

By Sept. 1, 1993, all hunters born on or after Sept. 2, 1971, must have successfully completed the course. However, any individual may take the course on a voluntary basis and is encouraged to attend, said Ballard.

The course is open to adults and youngsters and will include instructions in rifle, shotgun and bow hunting handling and safety; outdoor responsibility and ethics; laws and regulations; conservation; hunting traditions; wildlife identification; field care of game; and wilderness first aid and survival.

Students 12 years of age or older successfully completing the course will be issued a hunter education certificate from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Those under 12 will receive a certificate of attendance, but must take the course again for proper certification.

For more information, contact the Rule superintendent's office at 997-2521.

--Social Security--

Some people think that if, for any reason, they delay filing an application for Social Security benefits, they are entitled to benefits retroactively to the month of their first eligibility.

That's not the case. If you apply before reaching 65, with few exceptions, you cannot receive payments for months before you apply. If you apply after you reach 65, you may be entitled to up to six months retroactive payments. This happens if you meet all the requirements for entitlement to benefits except for filing of an application.

Suppose you reach age 65 in June 1990 but you don't file an application for retirement benefits until June 1991. You can be entitled to retroactive payments back to December 1990. Let's suppose now that you reached 62 in June 1990 and don't file an application until June 1991. Benefits cannot be paid to a retired worker, a spouse, or a widow or widower for months before applying, if this would result in a permanent additional reduction of the benefits.

We say "if" because the retroactive payments do not always result in a permanent reduction of benefits. If your spouse is over 65, or under 65 with a child in his or her care, their benefits as your dependents are not subject to reduction, and they can receive retroactive payments and so can you.

You can receive retroactive benefits for months prior to 65 if you had excess earnings in the first year of entitlement, and these earnings can be applied to months before applying. The number of retroactive months that can be paid depends on the amount of the excess earnings and the months you worked.

Retroactive benefits can also be paid to a disabled surviving spouse or a disabled surviving divorced spouse who is entitled to retroactive benefits for any month before reaching age 60.

Also a widow or widower or a surviving divorced spouse who files an application in the month after the month of the worker's death may be entitled to benefits for the month of the worker's death.

Social Security is always concerned about the rights you have to retirement and survivors benefits under the program, as well as to Medicare. There are certain rules and waiting periods that insured people have to meet before Medicare is available to them. However, to permit a disabled widow(er) or disabled surviving divorced spouse to have Medicare as soon as possible (provided he or she meets all the requirements of eligibility) he or she is deemed entitled retroactively for up to 12 months, even if monthly benefits are not payable retroactively.

To get more information about retroactive payments, call Social Security. The phone number is 1-800-234-5772. Call between 7 and 9 a.m. weekdays for the best service.

Ask VA

Q: I am not a veteran but I am interested in purchasing a VA repossessed home. Is this possible?

A: Yes. VA repossessed homes are available for the general public to purchase. A listing of these properties is available at your local VA regional office.

Q: Can I use my VA-guaranteed home loan to buy land I plan to build a house on in the future?

A: A VA-guaranteed loan cannot be used to buy undeveloped land unless it is part of a package that includes the building of your home.

Q: What is the VA home loan program's maximum guaranty amount?

A: Recent legislation provides increased federal guaranties for larger mortgages. For a new mortgage to purchase or construct a home or purchase a condominium unit that exceeds $144,000, VA will provide guaranties to lenders for 25 percent of the loan, up to a maximum of $46,000.

Q: I just got married. Does my wife automatically become the beneficiary of my VA insurance policy?

A: No. You must write VA and provide complete identification of the new beneficiary.

27 Boy Scouts attend day camp

During the week of July 16-19, Cub Scout Pack 136 leaders Bob Cass, Chris Arendall and Melody Christian accompanied 27 Cub Scouts from Haskell to Camp Tonkawa for Day Camp.

The group left each morning at 7 and traveled in the Boy Scout bus, returning about 6:30 p.m. the evening.

Each day the scouts practiced first aid, played games, went swimming, shot bows and arrows, worked on crafts, took nature hikes, practiced skits, shot BB guns and had a scavenger hunt.

On the third day, the boys went to their campsites and roasted weiners and marshmallows.

The last day, they took part in the satellite recovery program which was to pack a single fresh hen's egg so well, in a small box or container, that when it was dropped it would not break. Each boy and parent worked on this project for days in some cases, trying and improving their system with some practice runs being from roof tops. At the camp, the eggs were thrown from a 30-foot tower to the ground with scrambled results. Those boys whose eggs did not break were awarded a bear claw for their camp spirit necklace. Nearly all of the boys from Haskell got their bear claw.

Competition awards were given at the campfire on the last night: First place, BB gun: Chris McSmith, three of the top five shooters were from Haskell; the other two being Wes Lefevre and Randy Cass.

First place archer: Chris McSmith; third place, Joshua Roydston.

A special bead was presented to Chris McSmith for turning in a $20 bill he found.

Simply come by or call and we will come by to see you.

Many people plan for what might happen—fire, burglary, injury, and accidents. Now more and more people are planning for what will inevitably happen. It simply makes good sense to prepare for that which we can not avoid.

Pre-need funeral arranging allows one to control the type of service they would prefer, select a means of financing it, freeze the prices at today's price, and save loved ones the anguish of deciding these matters at a later date. Really it is the loving thing to do for your family.

By Myrtle Phemister
We were excited about the 1 1/2 inches of rain we received last week. We could use more, but this was really a blessing.
***

We extend sincere sympathy to Florence and Pearl Alexander upon the unexpected death of Mary Roberson, their brother's wife, who resided in Slaton.

Mary had just undergone surgery and was doing well when she succumbed from a massive heart attack.

Memorial services were held in Slaton on Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 2 p.m. and she was interred there beside her husband, Red Roberson.
***

Sympathy is also extended to the Wren family upon the death of Inez Wren, who lived here until her retirement and then moved to Ranger to be near her family.

She was the wife of Willard Wren, and the mother of Truitt Wren and June Labsinger, both graduates of Weinert High School.

Inez worked at Rice Springs Nursing Center for 18 years before her retirement.
Her memorial services were held on Tuesday, July 31, at 2 p.m. and she was interred in the Ranger cemetery where her mother and several other relatives are buried.

***

Congratulations to Darla Griffis, bride-elect of Lee Lane, who was honored with a bridal shower held in the First Baptist Church Fellowship hall on Monday evening.
***

Congratulations to Mary Murphy who was chosen by the Citizens National Bank in Knox City to display her work of Mary Murphy Photography in their foyer during the month of August. It will be worth your time to attend.

Each month a different artist is invited to display their work, and Nova Walling recently displayed her quilts and other hand crafts at the bank.
***

Congratulations to Mary Murphy who has accepted a position on the faculty of Munday Elementary School, where she will be teaching kindergarten.
***

Congratulations to Bobby and Betty Raynes and to Chesley and Jeanie Forehand who will be celebrating a wedding anniversary this week.

***
We will sing the birthday song to J. N. Stewart, Jr., H. L. Guess, Buck Turnbow, Wayne Hutchinson and Pud Brockett. Happy Birthday, all.
***

Guests in the Donnie Harber home were his parents from Yoakum, Texas.

The Harbers are a talented singing family and the family was featured at the fifth Sunday night singing at the First Baptist Church, of which Donnie serves as pastor.
***

Dacia, Joseph, Deshea and Geoffrey Phemister of Paint Creek spent Sunday in Weinert with their great-grandparents.
***

Ida and Willie Farrel have spent several days at Humana Hospital in Abilene at the bedside of Ida's brother, Joe Garrett, who is recovering from major surgery he underwent last week. He was removed from intensive care on Sunday and is in fair condition.
***

Mattie White, Gail and Jimmy White, made a trip to Fort Worth on Sunday to be with Taland Hackney who had a tonsilectomy on Monday morning.

***

R. S. and Betty Sanders, with their son Larry and Linda Sanders, Robert and Lynette, of Los Alamos, N.M., were in Winters on Saturday and Sunday for a visit with Betty's parents and her sister's family.
