Perry supporters rally here Friday

An old-fashioned political rally and fund raiser for State Rep. Rick Perry, Republican candidate for Texas Agricultural Commissioner, is scheduled Friday. The program, beginning with a hamburger supper, will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Haskell Memorial Civic Center. A local talent show will feature area singers. Performing during the program will be Kathy Garison, Ginny Kloog and Kim Crawford, singing several country music trios; Christye Gannaway, performing a variety of country and folk tunes; Dickie Greenwood and the Yellow Jacket Band, featuring traditional music with a western swing flair; and Randy McLelland, doing several songs and a comedy routine. Dusty Garison will be master of ceremonies. Also featured will be an appearance by Fred Gough of Graham, who is the Republican candidate to replace Perry as state representative. State Rep. Bob Hunter of Abilene also is scheduled to appear. Highlighting the evening will be an address by Perry to his supporters and friends. Kenny Thompson, event coordinator, stressed that this is a great opportunity for all of Perry's supporters to show their backing of the candidate. "It's time Texas agriculture had one of its own for an ag commissioner," he said. "Rick is just the man we need to lead Texas farmers and ranchers into the 21st century." Tickets to the supper and rally may be purchased for a minimum donation of $20 each, payable to the Perry campaign. Tickets are available in Haskell from Bob Aycock, Jerrene Couch, Bobby Hobgood and Jack or Jane McAdoo. In Rule, contact LaVon Beakley or Patrick Pace. The public is invited to attend.

City expected to adopt new budget tonight

The Haskell City Council is expected to adopt a .2863 tax rate when it meets tonight (Thursday) to finalize and adopt a 1990-91 budget. Last year's tax rate was .2655. This year's effective rate is .2780, meaning that the rate expected to be adopted tonight is 3 percent above the effective rate. The city will raise the basic monthly water rate by $1 per customer in order to raise the $20,000 it has tentatively agreed to contribute toward the purchase of a new ambulance. City taxes are projected to bring the city $133,500 of the $1,256,650 needed to finance next year's budget. Taxes, which account for less than 11 percent of the city's income, rank as the fourth single best income source. Top income producer for the city is the water department which is expected to bring in $350,000 next year. Sanitation fees should bring in $175,000 and the city sales tax another $151,000. Franchise fees and service costs are projected to produce $119,500. Other income projections include $94,000 from sewer fees, $90,000 from landfill charges and $52,000 from airport income. On the expense side of the ledger, the biggest cost is employees' expense. When salaries for the 19 city employees are added to the expenses of part time help, overtime, Social Security taxes, retirement, health insurance and workmen's compensation, the total employees' expense comes to $437,700---or 35 percent of all expenses. Water purchases will cost the city $180,000 next year, electricity costs will be $65,250 and rentals and leases will cost another $64,150, according to budget projections. Other major expenses will include: Capital improvements, $45,100; street maintenance, $40,000; ambulance, $36,000; vehicle maintenance, $34,000; water lines maintenance, $30,000; liability insurance $29,000; motor vehicle fuel, $28,500; and airport fuel, $27,000.

City tax rate lowest in area

The City of Haskell has one of the lowest tax rates of any city in Texas, and a lower rate than any city its approximate size in this area. Although taxes next year are being raised three percent above the effective rate, to 28.63 cents per $100 valuation, the rate is less than half that of most area cities of approximate size. A check of the tax rates of area cities shows the following rates: Throckmorton 98.0, Hamlin 85.2, Jacksboro 80.5, Stamford 78.1, Electra 75.3, Olney 71.9, Quanah 68.7.

Munday 64.0, Winters 62.3, Post 31.8, Seymour 31.5, Haskell 28.6. (Most of the above rates are for the 1989-90 fiscal year. The rates for Haskell, Stamford and Quanah are for 1990-91 and the rate for Hamlin is for 1988-89.) It is interesting to note that Post and Seymour, the only area cities with rates comparable to Haskell's, represent some unusual circumstances. Post has an extra high property valuation due to oil production within the city and Seymour derives much of its income through operation of its own electric power plant.

Mrs. David Brian Creek

Fischer, Creek marry July 21

Dianah Kay Fischer and David Brian Creek were united in marriage on July 21 at the Paint Creek Baptist Church. Officiating minister for the double-ring ceremony was John Mark Trice, brother-in-law of the bride, of Robert Lee.

Parents of the couple of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Fischer of Paint Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Creek of Sonora.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a San Martin original confection of satin gown fashioned with an elongated bodice and a Victorian yoked neck line of illusion. The bodice featured Alencon lace appliques, re-embroidered with seed pearls, iridescent beads, sequins and pearl tear drops. The dropped basque waist caught the skirt of ruffles which cascaded into a cathedral train. The long pointed sleeves were capped with rows of satin ruffles and bejeweled Alencon lace inserts and pearl tear drops.

A pearl and iridescent tiara held her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The veil was accentuated with a spray of silk roses, pearl filaments and pearl tear drops.

She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and stephanotis accented with pale peach lilies and highlighted with teal tiger lilies, greenery and pearl filament loops and springles.

In carrying out a family tradition the bride carried, attached to her bouquet, a handkerchief made of lace from her mother's wedding dress. Something borrowed was a ring belonging to her late maternal grandmother. She wore the traditional blue garter and her father placed a penny in the year of her birth in her shoe.

Rhonda Coleman of Abilene was maid of honor. Gena Trice of Robert Lee and Linda Lowrance of Abilene, sister of the bride, were matrons of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Marcy Harvey of San Angelo, Gina Calk of Paint Creek and Denise Alexander of Waco.

They wore matching dresses of teal elegance taffeta with boufant sleeves and deep V necklines. The fitted basques waist and full skirts were complemented by a drape bow in the back. They carried cascades of pearlized pale peach roses, accented with tulle puffs and teal tiger lilies caught with flowing ribbons.

Candles were lit by Amy Stuart, cousin of the bride, of College Station and Ceci Hudson of Moran. They wore identical dresses to the bridesmaids in pale peach confection satin.

All the attendants wore whisks of flowers in their hair.

Jacquelyn Trice of Robert Lee, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pale peach elegance taffeta dress with V neck bodice, boufant sleeves, and basque waist. Her skirt was a cascade of ruffles and her hair held peach satin ribbons. She carried a white wicker basket of rose petals.

The groom was attired in a Christian Dior full formal vested black onyx tuxedo with black tie. His lapel held a white silk rose accented with baby's breath and touches of peach and teal flowers.

Ring bearer Craig Lowrance, nephew of the bride, of Abilene wore an identical tuxedo to the groom with a peach silk rose in his lapel. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow which was applied with Alencon lace accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The names of the bride and groom were embroidered on the pillow.

The groom was attended by his brother, John Creek of Sonora, as his best man. He was attired in a Christian Dior black onyx tuxedo with teal tie and matching cummerbund. His lapel held a teal silk rose.

Groomsmen were Eddie Favaila of Arlington, Max Saad of Albuquerque, N.M., Bennie Granger of Aubrey, Kent Cagle of Carrollton and Mark Homer of Paris. They also ushered arriving guests and wore identical tuxedos to the best man.

Escorted by Max Saad, the mother of the bride wore a two-piece dress of pastel teal silk. Escorted by her son, John Creek, the mother of the groom wore a deep teal dropped waist dress of silk shantung. Their corsages were of peach and teal dahlias.

Vows were exchanged in a candlelight setting before arched brass candleabras centered by a brass candle tree and flanked with double heart candleabras. Brass baskets held arrangements of white gladiolus, teal tiger lilies, and were accented with peach roses and white satin ribbons.

Church pews were marked with teal satin bows which held peach silk roses and ivy.

Vocalists Lou Landess and John Pike of Rule sang "I Could Never Promise You," "To Me," and "The Wedding Song." Ann Sinclair of Paint Creek accompanied the vocalists at the piano and presented the background music for the wedding ceremony. Selections played were "Theme from Romeo and Juliet," "Morning Has Broken," "Song of Joy," "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring," "He Shall Feed His Flock," "Tara's Theme from Gone with the Wind," "Tenderly" and "Whispering Hope."

Niki Elliott of San Angelo registered the guests at the wedding. She wore a floral dress in keeping with the bride's chosen colors of peach and teal.

The bride's parents hosted the reception in the H. P. Morrison Auditorium at the Paint Creek School. The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal supper at the Paint Creek Baptist Church. It was catered by Darlene Walton and the Southwestern theme was carried out.

Niki Elliott of San Angelo greeted the reception guests with a momento from the bride and groom. The scroll contained a "Thank You" from the couple and verses from 1 Corinthians. After the arrival at the reception of the wedding party, John Trice offered a prayer and presented Mr. and Mrs. David Creek. He read a scripture from the book of Ruth. As the unity candle was solemnized, the musicians sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride's table was laid in a pale peach cloth and overlaid in lace and caught with peach satin ribbons. The bride and her attendants' bouquets formed the centerpiece for the table. The multi-tiered heart shaped bride's cake was decorated with pearlized peach silk roses and pearl filament loops and springles. The antique crystal punch bowl and candleabra used on the table belonged to the bride's late great-grandmother Lain and grandmother Humphrey.

The groom's table was covered in a teal cloth. Silver candleabra formed the centerpiece with silver appointments being used. The groom's chocolate cake was heart shaped and accented with sprays of chocolate roses.

Joshua Trice of Robert Lee and Cole Lowrance of Abilene, nephews of the bride, and Dustin Surber of Sonora, nephew of the groom, presented the reception guests with satin roses and rice bags.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Loraine Surber of Sonora, sister of the groom; Mrs. John Creek, sister-in-law of the groom; and Keri Hudson of Moran serving the groom's table.

Mrs. Gary Roach of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Gregg Robinson of Abilene, served the bride's table.

Also included were Mrs. Sharon Stuart of Richardson, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Lyla Mary Isbell, Mrs. Larry Walton, Mrs. Dale Middlebrook, Mrs. Ronnie Reel, Mrs. Martin Coleman, Mrs. Max Calk, Mrs. Don Comedy and Mrs.

Frank Dutton.

The bride is a graduate of Paint Creek High School and is a kinesiology major at Angelo State University. The groom graduated from Sonora High School and has a business degree from Sul Ross University. He holds a master's degree in management from Angelo State University.

Following a wedding trip to the coast, the couple is at home in Sonora.

Pre-nuptial Parties

A couple's party was given May 10 in the home of friends at Moran. Kitchen appliances, bed and bath gifts were given the couple and a sit-down dinner was served.

A community wedding shower was held in the Paint Creek Baptist Church Fellowship Hall on May 19. The serving table was covered with an antique white cloth, draped in teal and accented with peach bows. A heart-shaped wicker basket held the flower arrangement on the Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, • even before it can be felt.

--Social Security--

By Glyn Hammons
District Manager

If you plan to apply for Social Security retirement benefits, but find it difficult to visit a Social Security office, you can apply by telephone. Social Security personnel will take the necessary information over the phone and arrange to complete your application by mail.

You can call Social Security's toll free telephone number, 1-800-234-5772, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., every business day. The best times to call are early in the morning and later in the afternoon after the first week of the month.

You should apply for retirement benefits at least two or three months before you plan to stop working. This will help assure that your benefits will start the month of your retirement. The first check should be received early in the month after the first full month of your retirement.

You will need certain documents to establish your eligibility for benefits. They include your Social Security card or a record of the number and proof of your date of birth, such as a birth certificate or religious record of birth or baptism recorded early in life. These documents must be original records or copies certified by the agency that issued them.

If original birth or baptism records weren't recorded, you should submit the best evidence you have of your date of birth. This includes, among others, schools and church records, a marriage license, a passport, and employment or military service papers.

You should also have your Form W-2 for the preceding year, or, if you are self-employed, a copy of your Schedule SE. The reason is that most recent reports of your earnings may not yet have been recorded in Social Security records.

If your spouse is applying for benefits, she or he will have to provide similar evidence.

If you have more questions, call Social Security. Remember, it is best to call in the morning or late afternoon, later in the week and later in the month.

Mr. & Mrs. Todd Jennings

Holly McBroom weds Todd Jennings

A mid-morning wedding uniting Holly Elizabeth McBroom and James Todd Jennings was performed Saturday, Aug. 4, at the Panchuela Camp Grounds in New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waymond McBroom and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jennings, all of Haskell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a beautiful white dress decorated with seed pearls, off the shoulder puffed sleeves with a cabbage rose in the center of each large bow. The ballet length front of the skirt with the short train in the back was gathered below the hips to a slim fitted dress. The toile net head piece was designed by the bride and made by her mother. Holly carried an arrangement of wild flowers.

Tim Jennings of Haskell, uncle of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony in the flower-filled meadow where tall pine trees banked each side of the meadow. The groom was handsomely attired in his black suit and red tie. Attending Todd as best man was his father.

For something old, the bride chose to wear her red Roper boots. For something new, she carried a beautiful white handkerchief. For something borrowed, she wore a salt water pearl necklace and bracelet belonging to her sister, Renae DeAngelis. For something blue, a garter was presented to her by Lane-Felker of Haskell. She wore a six-pence in her boot.

Maid of honor was Stephanie Browning of Haskell and Lubbock, cousin of the bride; and junior bridesmaid was Ashley Watson of Portland, Texas, niece of the bride. They wore drop waist dresses of multi-colored flowers, accented with a large purple bow in the back. Each carried a bouquet of wild flowers.

Friends and family attending the wedding each brought their folding chair to the ceremony. They then carried their chairs down to the campsite where the reception-luncheon was held in a three-sided log lean-to.

The three-tiered wedding cake was baked in three travel trailer ovens, and was decorated with wild flowers and a "Precious Moments" bride and groom. The cake was cut by Holly and Todd with a butcher knife that had a white bow and streamers attached. The groom's cherry-chocolate cake was made and decorated by Janice Browning, aunt of the bride. The punch was served by Jill Jennings, sister of the groom. This too was unique in that it was served from a cook pot.

Gene Hester, uncle of the bride, arranged all the bouquets, corsages, lapel flowers and centerpieces from wild flowers gathered on the mountain sides.

Holly and Todd chose this relaxed atmosphere and nature's surroundings as their wedding site because both families had camped in Panchuela for over 15 years. The night meal before the wedding was prepared and served by the parents of the groom. Following the meal and sitting around the camp fire, stories were told about Holly and Todd in their younger days. They both agreed that some of the stories would best be forgotten.

The bride is a graduate of Haskell High School and the University of Texas College of Pharmacy. She is employed by Herman Hospital in Houston. The bridegroom graduated from Haskell High School, Midwestern University and the Texas Department of Public Safety. He is employed by the Texas Department of Public Safety in Houston.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Caustic barbs and advertisements remind us that Labor Day, just around the corner, marks the beginning of the end-game for the Texas campaign season.

The gloves are coming off, Texas politicians are used to saying. Other states say we never use gloves in the first place, just shoulder pads and helmets.

In the gubernatorial race, Democrat Ann Richards released a series of media ads painting Republican opponent Clayton Williams as a shady character and slamming the GOP as mud-slingers.

Williams camp said this is the dirty, low-down kind of attack they've been expecting her to wage because she's so far behind in the polls. She did it to Mark White, they reminded.

Richards is expected to characterize Williams as a Texas grown super wealthy from Big Oil and shady dealings, who wants to control state agencies which regulate his financial empire.

Campaign Themes

If past campaigns are repeated, Richards and other Democrats will stress an income class welfare theme designed to get low-income voters to vote against the affluent.

Republicans will counter with a theme of business leadership, not state employee leadership, and bring in the kinder, gentler President Bush to help win independents.

Quite likely, many Texas ticket-splitters will be swayed by national politics; whether Democrats lower or raise the deficit, and how well the Bush Administration handles the Iraq crisis.

Hightower Rips Clements

Any slate of nominations for "most feisty state official" must necessarily include Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, who last week took his nemesis, Gov. Bill Clements, to task over the Galveston Bay oil spill.

Hightower, who promotes Texas-grown farm and ranch products, ate a shrimp lunch with bay fisherman to convince the world that the oil spill did not contaminate the seafood.

He also hit into Clements for failing to fund an oil spill response team with the fed's $360 million "oil overcharge fund."

Clements hasn't tried to demonstrate sensitivity on the oil spill issue, and it has hurt Republicans more than anything this summer.

When Clements left his political jaw unprotected, claiming the funds for research and development while the coast mopped two more minor spills, Hightower couldn't resist throwing a jab.

After all, here was a chance to tag Clements and Big Oil at the same time, and there's nothing Hightower likes better than stirring up the little people against the big people, especially if it's Big Oil or Big Corporate Farms.

Never mind that the oil spill response issue was developed by Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who has been very careful not to play too much politics on the issue.

That's why some people call Hightower the "P.T. Barnum of Texas Politics." Hightower is the consummate political showman.

Oil Spill Agency

Meanwhile, Mauro predicted the Legislature will create an oil spill agency to contain and clean spills like firemen answering an alarm.

Mauro wants an elected official put in charge of the agency and will ask the state to purchase spill equipment and establish regional centers on the coast.

"It's time we decided that oil spills are like fires. We need fire stations, we need fire trucks, we need a fire chief," he said.

Medicaid to Resume

The insurance company that administers Medicaid payments to doctors and hospitals will resume payments under an agreement reached with state officials last week.

The company stopped the checks when the state missed its $117 million premium payment in August.

Other Highlights

■ Texas was ranked 27th of 29 industrial states in a study of business costs by a Chicago-based accounting firm.

■ A recent Gallup poll indicates 77 percent of Texans favor drug testing at the workplace and 25 percent responded that they have seen co-workers use illegal drugs on the job. The poll was commissioned by the Institute for a Drug Free Workplace.

■ Bill Kenyon, a campaign strategist for Clayton Williams, was hospitalized last week in Austin after suffering a heart attack.

■ Chuck McDonald, former editor of the Graham Leader, a semi-weekly in West Texas, has joined the Richards campaign staff as a press spokesman. He will coordinate all press relations with rural and suburban publications.

■ James Crouch, a retired Air Force brigadier general, was appointed executive director of the Public Utility Commission, a position which pays $61,500 to oversee 200 employees and a $9 million budget.

■ Former state Rep. Ben Reyes, now a Houston city councilman, owes more than $2.7 million according to records in his bankruptcy case.

■ The state hired Ben Nix and Associates of Arlington to probe allegations of racism and sexism against the Capitol police chief.

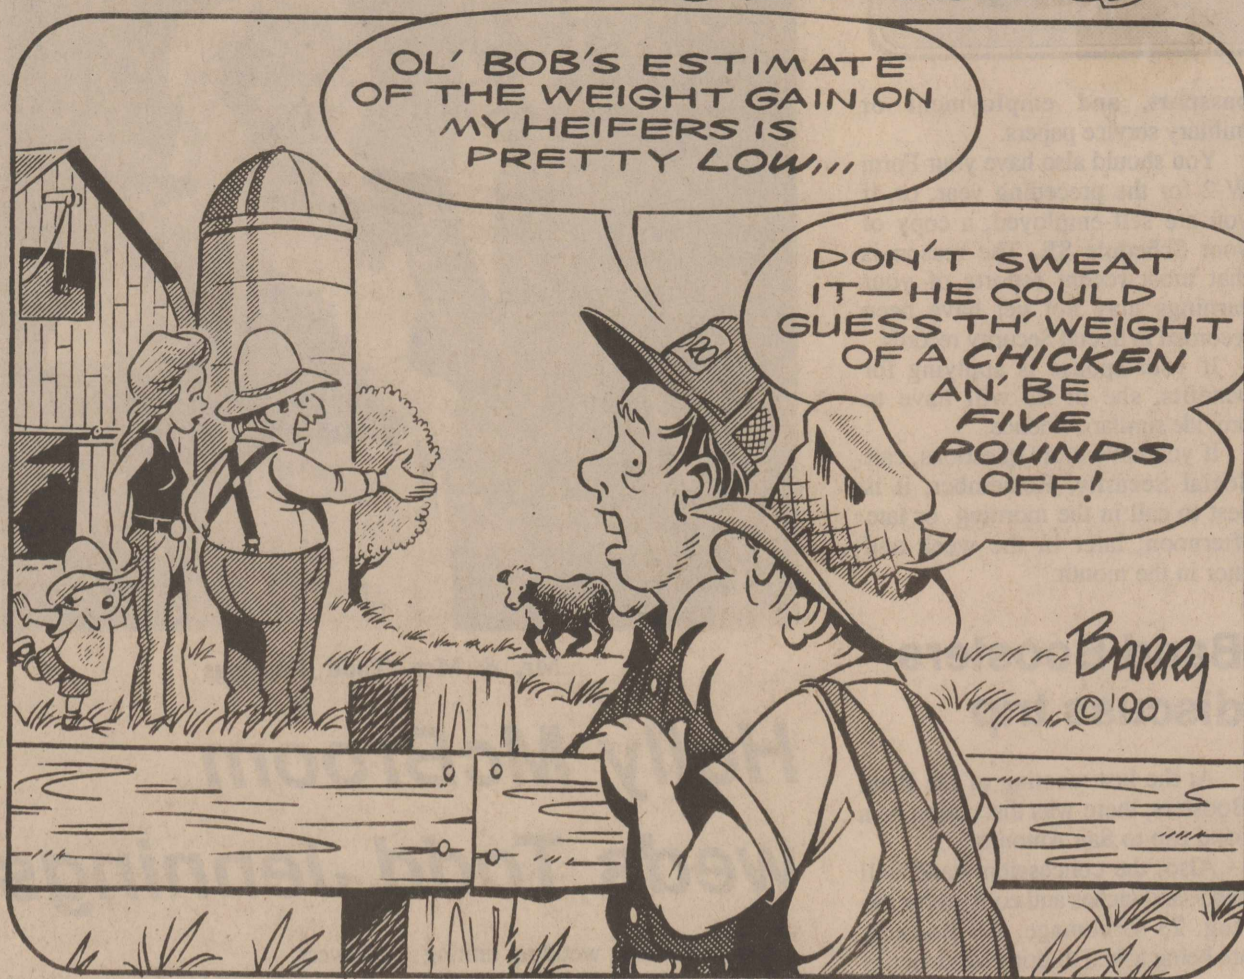

Stenholm honored by drug agency

Congressman Charles Stenholm has received an award recognizing his commitment to fighting chemical dependency problems in Texas.

The award was presented by the state's alcohol and drug agency, The Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

"Congressman Stenholm's efforts to insure that Texas gets its fair share of federal funds have provided chemical dependency services for thousands of Texans," said commission chairman Jerry Cunningham in presenting the award. "He is a true hero to all those impacted by addiction to alcohol and other drugs in our state."

--Letters to the Editor--

Reform or retreat?

Editor: The much-ballyhooed finance bill passed this year is a lot less than meets the eye. Passage of Senate Bill 1, under threat of a court takeover of the Texas school system, at least guarantees that schools will open this year, but what about the years to come?

The new law isn't progress. It's a court-ordered stopgap.

Although pupil-rich, property-poor districts won't keep getting poorer, the new law could undermine the very reforms it seeks to foster by undercutting the key element in real reform: the classroom teacher.

A look at the record of the last major school reform bill passed in 1984 could save us from making some of the same mistakes this time around.

The recently released results of a statewide teacher survey conducted by the Texas Federation of Teachers (TFT) are only the latest indications of the real state of our schools. When teachers themselves were asked to grade the education reforms of the mid-1980s, they responded that, despite some successes, our education system still fails to listen to or reward our teachers. That failure could spell disaster for our students--no matter how much rosier the school funding picture looks.

It's not enough to give every child the chance for a Texas public education if the school system isn't working. And our teachers have responded that the earlier reforms are, in many cases, actually hurting our kids and the teaching profession.

The specifics: TFT surveyed teachers in 60 districts statewide. The districts chosen represent a cross-section of our state in size, geographic location, ethnic makeup and wealth. Teachers were asked to "grade" the reforms of the mid-1980s based on their effectiveness in improving student learning and/or making teaching a more attractive profession. The survey drew over 5,000 responses.

The good news: Teachers gave high marks to the creation of state-funded programs for kindergarten and pre-kindergarten; to setting class-size limits in grades K-4; and to the "no pass, no play" requirement for athletes.

The bad news: Teacher gave the reforms a "D" on effectiveness of the Texas Teacher Appraisal System and the career ladder program, which many see as unfair and arbitrary. They issued another "D" for the measure's effectiveness in increasing teacher autonomy. And the earlier reforms scored a "D" again in their success in reducing needless paperwork. That's "D" as in dismal, discouraging, disturbing and possibly disastrous. (For "Whatever happened to personal responsibility?" asks a headline over a William Murchison column in the Dallas Morning News.

The writer refers to the growing number of suit plaintiffs who blame others for their problems.

Like the parents of a college freshman who died after drinking too much tequila. Her parents are suing a liquor company for not educating potential customers on the evils of drink. Never mind that the victim was under age.

Cigarette companies are being bombarded with suits by victims and families of victims for enticing smokers to use their deadly products.

Along the same vein, now comes Kitty Dukakis, one of the country's best-known alcohol and diet pill abusers. In a just-published book, the wife of the 1988 Democratic presidential nominee, tells just what made her "do it."

It was her mother, she claims. She got off track after she learned that her mother had been born out of wedlock.

A 1963 ordinance by the City of Plano banned "any table surrounded by a ledge or cushion with or without pockets upon which balls are impelled by a stick or cue."

That was a fancy way of saying that pool tables were against the law.

But when someone pointed out the other day that a pool table and a bumper pool table in the city's new recreation center was in violation of the 27-year-old ordinance, city councilmen quickly came into compliance.

They rescinded the ordinance.

Despite what your friends in Haskell, Texas, may think, the country's No. 1 country music fan is no other than one George Bush.

Or, at least, that's what the editors of Country America magazine say.

They asked the president: "Why do you like country music?" He replied in a personal essay, "Why I Love Country Music," featured in the September issue of the magazine.

He said he likes country music because of the sense of everyday reality to the lyrics. "That's what country music comes down to: real people singing real stories that we can all understand," wrote the president in his essay.

He also hears the love for America in country tunes. "You can hear it in the line from the Lee Greenwood song that we all love: 'And I'm proud to be an American, where at least I know I'm free'..." the president wrote. "In a world where people everywhere are marching toward liberty and democracy, Lee's important message reminds us how blessed we are to be citizens of the country that stands as a model for so many others."

The president enjoys country music so much that he had carpenters build a stereo right into his desk in the White House study. He keeps the dial tuned to a Washington country music station. Wrote the president: "I find myself more relaxed with Reba (McEntire) coming over the airwaves."

Is your electric dryer taking you to the cleaners?

You could save a load of money by switching to an economical propane gas dryer. In fact, statistics show that propane dries over three loads for every one load in an electric dryer.

Propane gas drying is super efficient. Clothes come out fresh and fluffy every time.

Why waste energy and money? Switch to a clean, sensible propane gas dryer and warm up to lower energy bills.

by Vicky Anderson
This past Monday was an enjoyable day. One of the granddaughters went along with me, and visited her friend from Seymour, Nikki Powell, who was visiting her grandmother, Pauline McKinley. Mrs. McKinley is a life-long friend of your writer, having grown up across the street in Hamlin.

Visiting Pat and Tommy Gray on Monday was Vicky Anderson. At the time, they were keeping their granddaughter, Sarah Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilcox and daughter, Molly Cannon, have been to Canyon to see the presentation of "Texas".

Wade Welborn, who has been working in Midland this summer, was home last weekend to visit his parents, Jerry and Molly Cannon. He will be returning to A&M for the fall semester.

Terry and Gloria Anderson were in Rule this past weekend to take his mother, Dovie Anderson, back to Fort Worth for a check-up on her recent carotid surgery.

In these days of indifference in the medical field, it is truly gratifying to find a doctor and nurse who are still "caring" in times of stress. Thank you, Dr. Zeitler and Jan Wolsch!

On Aug. 14, the Parnell Andersons were in Abilene to visit life-long friends, Bill and Louise Wells, who recently moved back to Texas from South Carolina. Louise's sister, Janet was also at their house. In fact, the Wells' are the couple who introduced the Andersons back in 1941. While in Abilene, they ran by their granddaughter's at ACU and visited briefly with Nikki and Luke Kittley.

Kelley Wright of Lewisville was an overnight guest of her grandmother, Ethel Greeson, this past Tuesday night. On Wed. morning, they had breakfast at Casey's Country Kitchen along with Vicky Anderson.

Feeling depressed or bored, why not try walking? It certainly has helped your correspondent. In just one short walk recently, had a friendly cup of coffee with a neighbor, talked with Coach Wilson about prospects for the 1990 Bobcat team, also visited with a City of Rule employee, and talked to the McLains at Western Winds. That was the first day: since then another lady and I have had enjoyable daily walks.

It was nice to see Jim, Pat and Jymann Hokanson in Stamford on Wed. Jim was the assistant administrator at Stamford Memorial Hospital when I worked there in the late 70's and early 80's.

Excuse the personal reference, but as far back as I can remember I have wanted to see this great land of ours. With the help of my relatives in the past, I have been able to visit forty-six of the fifty states, only lacking Alaska, Idaho, Iowa and Michigan. Some consider it throwing away your money to travel, but to me, it is money well-spent. When you have picture albums to peruse, you have a lifetime of memories.

On Wed. it was wonderful to see many old friends at Stamford. Among those were Gladys Summers, Hazel and Elder, Enid Link, Cliff and Annie Bess Cobb, Olegha Ake, Beverly Bryan, Lynn and Aline Carlton, Jean and James Wilson, Horace Arledge, Clara Williams, Dorman and Xan Holub L. G. Mesle and Eddie Mesle Proctor to name a few.

Mary Sikes of Knox City and her daughter, Anita Weaver of Rule recently attended a style show in Dallas.

Corrections to last week's column: The name of Marilyn Martin of Old Glory was inadvertently omitted in last week's news when I mentioned meeting a former fellow-employee whose son had returned from Panama to California. Sorry, Marilyn.

Most sincere sympathy is extended to Juliette Smith of Stamford and her son, James Smith and family of Tampa, Florida upon the untimely death of Jimmy Smith, age 25.

Another correction: The quote last week originally came from USN retired, Milton Crow. Author unknown.

It was good to see patrolman, Helen Howard Weaver of Stamford, at Cliff House on Friday night. Helen is the daughter of a cousin, John Howard, Jr. of Hamlin. Also, saw Carla and Robert Bird and daughter, Vicky Morena.

On Sat. night, we saw Patsy Cole, who taught my youngest brother and my sister at the Old Dovie School. She has changed very little in the ensuing years - how do you do it, Patsy?

Forty-six attended the third Crow biennial reunion, which was held in Hamlin at the Chamber of Commerce Community Building this past Sat. Guests registered from E. Gadsden, Alabama; North Little Rock, Arkansas; Rutland, Mas.; Austin, Tex.; Temple, Copperas Cove, Abilene, Stamford, Rule, San Antonio, Beeville, Hamlin, Graham and Mt. Pleasant, Tex.

Those attending: Wilson Crow, his daughter: Myra Spring and her son, Steven of North Little Rock, Arkansas; from Hamlin: Valeta Mullins, Milton Crow, Lori Beth; Buth and Denise Gray and children: Angela, Keith and Ashley; Marjory Johnson of Mt. Pleasant; from Stamford: Pat and Tommy Gray and daughter, Lee Ann; Ginger, Aylois and Sarah Cook; Louise Massey, Howard and Pat Crow of Rutland, Mass.; their daughter: Linda Peterson and husband, Sgt. Kim Peterson and their son: Tim of Copperas Cove; Ed and Melba Crow of Austin and their daughter: Karen Luckett, her husband Bobby and children: Brian, Katie and Melissa of Temple; from Rule: Vicky Anderson, two daughters: Jo Ellen Jenkins and Joye Saffel and Mrs. Jenkins' daughters: Tori and Lezli; from Abilene, Nikki Kittley and son, Luke of Abilene; Jim Crow of E. Gadsden, Ala. Juandy Tollet of Beeville; and Jeannie and Jim Neff of San Antonio; also, Tom Massey of Graham.

In July, Christopher, Adam, Austin and Laurie Boger went camping in Colorado with their father, Dr. James Boger of Duncanville.

In August, the Boger kids went to Lake Ouichita in Arkansas for a week. Adam, Christopher and Austin went to a Texas Ranger game with their father. Laurie Boger went to Lake Brownwood with Kenna Tanner and family. Laurie and Kenna also went to Six Flags this summer. While there, Julie Martin had her purse stolen in the parking lot. The purse contained her credit cards and some money. Julie cautions everyone to be extra careful when in the "big city".

Chace Galloway, age 3, of Murray was a weekend visitor of his aunt and uncle, Anita and Terry Weaver.

Welcome to newcomer, Maxine Joy Lee, formerly of Tucson, Ariz. who has moved to Rule. Her sister, Martha Faught of New Mexico is helping her to get settled.

Thoughts to ponder: Wrong is wrong even if everyone does it! Right is right even if no one does it!

Airman assigned to Florida duty

Air Force Maj. Kevin J. Fitzharris has arrived for duty at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla.

A fighter pilot, he is the husband of the former Cindy Ivey, daughter of L. B. and Myrtis M. Ivey of Haskell.

The major graduated in 1973 from Archbishop Alter High School in Kettering, Ohio, and received a master's degree in 1979 from Columbia University in New York.

Old Glory program Saturday

The monthly Old Glory Musical will be presented Saturday at the community center.

The concession stand will open at 6 p.m. and music will begin at 7. All area bands are welcome.

There is no admission charge.

50th anniversary

Marvin and Ethel Jones will celebrate their 50th anniversary from 2 to p.m. Aug. 25 with a reception at the Haskell National Bank. Friends are invited to attend. They married Aug. 25, 1940, and have lived here since. He is retired from the State Highway Department. Their children are Marva Jean Clark of Kerens, Esta Lee Bates of Corsicana and Donald Jones of Haskell.

I would like to thank my family and friends for all they did for me while I was in Hendrick Hospital. A special thanks for the flowers, cards, visits, phone calls, and most of all your prayers. God bless all of you, Minnie Holt improving teacher salaries, the earlier law received a straight "F".) It doesn't take a genius to see what those grades mean. The mid-1980s reforms scored some modest successes, successes we should study and build on. But, for the most part, our teachers feel the system ignores them, constrains them, buries them under paper and fails miserably to pay them professional-level salaries. So the people who are the experts on what our kids need to know--the people in the classroom with them--aren't being heard. And if they're not heard, few of our kids have much of a chance for a quality education.

In the IFT survey, teachers have spoken more clearly than ever before. The question is, will our state and local governments and our school districts listen and act accordingly. The new school finance law doesn't earmark funds for teacher salary increases. And it may allow the state to waive district requirements to limit elementary class sizes and provide duty-free lunches and 45-minute planning periods for teachers. It strengthens the existing emphasis on standardized tests--even though teachers have repeatedly reported that "teaching to the test" prevents them from addressing students' real learning needs. In short, the new law gives with one hand while taking away with the other.

As a Texan concerned with my state's future, I'm troubled by the tendency to cite "bad teaching" as the source of our educational failures. This "blame the teacher" attitude discourages would-be recruits and drives experienced teachers out of the profession. Let's not ignore our best hope for solving the problems that plague public education: the wisdom and experience of our teachers, who spend every day of their working lives on the front lines of education.

Policymakers, take note: teachers have spoken. "It's time to stop punishing us and start listening." Now it's up to public officials and administrators to respond. That way every Texas child will get an equal chance at a better Texas Education.

John Cole
President
Texas Federation of Teachers

Farm Credit earnings increase

The 10th Farm Credit District has reported a 63-percent increase in net income for the first six months of the year, over the same period last year.

As a result of the $24.5 million in earnings, the bank was able to reduce interest rates to its nearly 60,000 member/borrowers during the second quarter.

The district, which comprises 20 Production Credit Associations in Texas and 50 Federal Land Bank Associations in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, reported combined net earnings of $12.8 million, compared to $7.5 million for the second quarter last year.

Health care costs increase sharply

Health care costs in the United States rose to nearly $650 billion last year--almost 12 percent of the gross national product.

By contrast, only 6 percent of the GNP went toward public education.

In the last five years, the cost of health care has risen an average of 9.8 percent a year--almost twice the rate of inflation.

Some 37 million U.S. citizens have no health insurance.

Teacher attends conference

Wanda Thompson, vocational home economics teacher at Haskell secondary school, participated in the state in-service for the professional development of vocational home economics in Dallas Aug. 13-16, at the Hyatt Regency DFW Hotel. More than 2,800 teachers from school districts across the state attended the four-day conference.

The conference focused on research and strategies to maximize performance expectations of students and teachers. It was coordinated by the Vocational Home Economics Division of the Texas Education Agency. Twenty-four concurrent sessions provided teachers the foundation to effectively include the new concepts in all areas of instruction in home economics education.

Emphasis was placed on effective ways in which to help students build healthy self-esteem, youth leadership, teaching the gifted and talented, educational practices that are effective in teaching special population students, and entrepreneurship.

Other sessions addressed current trends in families, particularly the aging family member. Teachers previewed new videos on how to help students develop a healthy self-esteem and on developing youth leadership. The videos were developed by the Home Economics Curriculum Center at Texas Tech University.

Nationally known experts highlighted the four general conference sessions. Dr. Patricia Moody of the University of South Carolina keynoted the conference with "The Ten Commandments for Teachers"

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE
The Haskell ISD school lunch program is run in accordance with USDA regulations of the National School Lunch Program. The school lunch pattern consists of five component items to be offered daily. These include meat/meat alternate, fruit/vegetable, bread/bread alternate, and milk. Students may under the offer-vs-serve program, choose any three, four, or five components to meet federal lunch requirements. Since milk is a regulatory component, it may not be replaced by juice or any other drink. Students may choose to deny their milk under the offer-vs-serve program. Items such as tea (when offered) and water will be available at no extra charge in Haskell schools. However, due to the cost involved, juice will be offered daily at an ala carte price of .25 to elementary students. Juice is not part of the five components offered in the state school lunch program. It may be purchased daily. If your child is allergic to milk and milk products, juice will be provided at no extra cost if an annually updated doctor's statement is on file.
There will be a difference in our menu patterns at the high school campus. Due to close campus for the junior high, we will be offering a choice daily of our meat/meat alternate. There will be a hamburger, french fries, and trimmings offered daily. There will also be a Type A lunch offered. You may choose either lunch. They both are counted as a Type A lunch as long as you have chosen 3 of the 5 components. 34-35c

JOHNSON REAL ESTATE

by Myrtle Pheister

We continue our appreciation for the rains we receive, until the grass and weeds overwhelm us while the lawn mowers are being repaired.

We have had very few Augusts as green as we have now. The crops are beautiful, and the heat of the past few days is just what the cotton needs.

Our teachers motored away this morning as they begin a week of in-service training, etc. Some went to Munday, others to Haskell, as we remain a "divided city".

The children will be bussed the same directions next Monday, and we will soon become accustomed to the change in our lives, and we pray the adjustment will be the best for everyone.

All roads led to Weinert on Sat. night for an overflow crowd at the First Baptist Church to witness the marriage of Darla Griffis and Lee Lane.

It was a beautiful wedding, and we extend our congratulations to each.

We congratulate Alice Yates for having donated 4 gallons of blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile! Not at once, but it represents her continued efforts to help others. We appreciate her for so many other things, as well.

We appreciate Harlan Weinert for the 2 gallons, plus, that he has donated. Harlan's donations started long ago, for this writer received a pint of his in 1948. Thanks, donors!

Attending the parents programs on Thursday evening to hear Dr. Lynn Thibodeaux, which was hosted by the Haskell schools, were Tiffen Mayfield, Cindy Guess, Karen Harlan, Doneta Hudgens and Karen Yates.

A very informative and inspirational evening was enjoyed by all parents in attendance.

Thurman and Feba Stout, with Floyd and Hellen Stout, returned from another of their exploration trips. They spent a few days in the Great Plains State Park near Snyder, Oklahoma, where they enjoyed fishing in the lake, and relaxing in the cool weather in their motor homes.

They also came by the Tom Sneed Lake in Oklahoma and are ready to report on that lake, also.

J. A. and Laverne Mayfield enjoyed a visit with their daughter's family over the weekend as Alexia and DeWayne Rimmer, with Adrienne and Elyse were here from DeSoto.

As vice-president of the Weinert homecoming, 90, Alexia was busy getting things in order for October, and she suggested getting those antiques dusted, the crafts going and the spare bedroom ready for guests.

Donnie and Shelia Harbers enjoyed a surprise visit with one of her cousins, Dwight and Beverly Reeves, with Winter and Waylon, of Bradford, Arkansas.

Dwight drives an 18 wheeler truck, and took his family for that "end-of-summer" vacation.

Kelly and Wayne Hutchinson of San Angelo spent the weekend with Johnny and Marilyn Earp, her parents, and with his parents in Knox City.

Kelly was one of the attendants at her classmates wedding, Darla Griffis, on Sat. night.

Barry and Amy Walker of Abilene were in Weinert, and Amy was a attendant at the wedding, also, and later visited with her family, Angie and Rueben Castillo.

Other guests in the Castillo home were Felix Seballos, with Aaron and Andy of Abilene.

Georgia and Woodie Turnbow spent most of last week in Weatherford, with their daughter, Twyla and Tommy Sorrells, and Luke, Levi, and Tabitha, grandchildren.

Mary Nell and Don Colthrop of Seymour came for a "quiet" visit with her parents, Crystella and Bob Raynes, on Sunday.

Coming from Mineral Wells to help their dad, Leonard Mahan, to celebrate his birthday, were Len Mahan and Michelle Saddler, with Tabitha, Malorie and Megan.

Michael Rodriguez, nephew of Andrea Estrada and Angie Castillo, has returned to Denton to enter college at North Texas State.

Michael was one of 50 students selected to spend the summer in Washington, D.C. and reported an informative, enjoyable time there.

Willie and Ida Farrel were in Gibtown, Texas, for the Old Settlers Reunion which is held there annually on the third weekend in August.

Willie enjoyed a visit with his brothers, and other family members, who live in the area.

Paris and Fannie Barton were dinner guests of Erma Liles on Sunday night, and later enjoyed Erma's "Show and Tell" of her trip to Europe and the memorabilia assortment she brought home with her.

Helen Boykin, and Faye Jetton announce the marriage of Faye's brother, Stanley McMillen, and Helen's sister-in-law, Francis Boykin Davenport, on Aug. 6 in Vernon. They are making their home in Vernon.

The McMillens were Weinert visitors over the weekend, and accompanied Ted and Faye Jetton to Lubbock on Sat. for a surprise birthday party honoring their sister, Gladys Fraley on her 79th birthday.

They were met there by another brother, Dan and Nora McMillen of Amarillo.

Randy and Donna Waggoner of Austin, and Johnny and Derinda Larned of New Braunfels were in town for the wedding of their sister, Darla, and spent the weekend with their parents, Gracie and Donald Griffis.

Bertie Alexander was visited by grandchildren, Pat Owens of Munday and Terry Alexander and daughters on Sunday.

Darlene Therwhanger of Mineral Wells spent the weekend with her parents, Dale and Doris Carroll, while husband, Kerry was busy with coaching duties. Darlene began her teaching career with 4th grade in the Mineral Wells school system on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby D. Therwhanger with Lauren, Tyler and Kyle of Baltimore, Maryland are spending their vacation in Weinert, Munday and Hart, Texas. They spent Monday in Weinert in the home of their grandmother, Mabel Derr.

Other guests were Bobby and Ann Therwhanger of Munday.

Ernest and Louise McGuire were in Rochester on Sunday for a visit with sisters-in-law, Bill McGuire and Eron McGuire. Ernest was in Abilene on Tuesday for an appointment with his heart doctor. He is doing well.

The Women of Weinert met on Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the home of Helen Turnbow.

Mrs. Mabel Derr will host the group in her home on Aug. 28. You are a Woman of Weinert if you live here.

Marvin and Myrtle Pheister were in Ft. Worth on Tuesday for a visit in the home of their son, David and Peggy Pheister, who have recently moved to Ft. Worth.

Our birthday people this week include Toby Yates, Andrew Pena, Lucas Castillo and Lisa Pheister. Happy birthday, all!

Congratulations to John and LaVern Mayfield and to Julian and Andrea Estrada who will be celebrating wedding anniversaries.

The Haskell County Home Extension Clubs program committee met on Monday for a planning session for the clubs programs for 1991.

They are requesting your suggestions for programs you would like to learn more about. Those on the committee includes Dolores Medford, Phylecia Bailey, Joetta Burnett and Myrtle Pheister.

The Weinert Extension Club will meet on Sept. 4 with Henrietta Rueffer. Visitors are always welcome.

The Back to School Roundup will be held on Mon., Aug. 27 at 7 p.m. on the Weinert school yard, and everyone in Weinert is invited to participate with a freezer of ice cream or a batch of brownies.

The First Baptist Church will host the event, with Mary Murphy and Cindy Guess, assisted by Donnie Harbers in charge of entertainment.

Have a nice day!

To give exam

Dr. William J. Kemp and Mrs. Kemp are in Houston where he is giving dental board exams for dentists and hygienists at the University of Texas School of Dentistry. This will be the 100th exam he has given.

Bankers attend school

Randy Hise of Haskell and Darla J. Williams were among 30 Texas residents who attended a graduate banking school this summer at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

A total of 523 bankers from 30 states attended the 40th session of the Graduate School of Banking at Colorado from July 29 through Aug. 10.

The school consists of a two-week summer session held each year for three years, complemented by written research projects during the year.

The primary goal of the school, one of six graduate schools of banking in the United States, is to prepare banking personnel for more rapid advancement to senior management positions in the industry.

Students receive a diploma of graduation upon successful completion of the on-campus course work and research projects.
