Gough endorsed

Gramm stumps for Gough during Haskell airport stop

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm was in Haskell Monday afternoon to endorse Fred Gough's candidacy for state representative from district 64.

Gramm, speaking at the airport where he and Gough were met by a local delegation, said he is proud that Texas has a candidate of Gough's caliber willing to serve in the Texas House.

"If you want someone who is going to stand up for the things that you and I believe in, and you want someone who will work with me to make things happen for this district, then you want Fred Gough," the senator said. "He shares our values, he speaks our language and he feels the things we feel."

Gough was introduced by State Rep. Rick Perry of Haskell who has endorsed the Graham businessman for the position he is vacating to run for state Commissioner of Agriculture.

"For 40 years, this district has sent the conservative type, non-attorney representatives to the legislature," said Perry. "Fred is this type."

Addressing the assembled group, Gough told of Perry encouraging him to run for the position.

"I'm proud to be on the same ticket with Sen. Gramm and Rick," said Gough. "They believe in the same things I do--that less government is better government, no state income tax and toughness on crime."

Gough said that while campaigning over the past nine months, he has learned that district 64 voters don't vote Democrat or Republican. "They want a conservative businessman, not an attorney, to serve them," he said.

The 44-year-old Gough is active in the oil and gas business. He owned and operated a Fina distributorship in Graham, Olney and Jacksboro from 1979 to 1985.

A graduate of the University of Texas-Arlington, Gough was an all-conference member of the UTA football team and was drafted by the Detroit Lions. He is past president of the Graham Independent School District Board of Trustees, past chairman of the Graham Chamber of Commerce Goals for Graham Committee, past finance chairman of the 4-H/FFA Show and Auction, past director of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association and was county chairman of the Bush '88 Committee.

Senator also backs Perry's candidacy

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm didn't miss the opportunity to toot the horn for Rick Perry when he was here Monday to endorse Fred Gough as Perry's successor in the state legislature.

Paraphrasing an old Hallmark commercial, the senator told a Haskell audience, "You cared enough to send the very best."

"And the rest is history," Gramm added.

"I will do everything in my power to see that he is the next agriculture commissioner so we will have someone who knows turnips from corn," said Gramm.

Gramm said there are only two issues in the governor's race: business know-how and leadership in the war on drugs. "Only Clayton Williams fits," he said.

Not overlooking his own campaign for re-election, Gramm told the audience to "start out right" by voting for him at the top of the ballot. "Then go on down and vote for the others," he said. "It's hard to get it right if you don't start out right. But if you don't vote for me, you can still vote for Fred and Rick."

Another season, another reason

By Mary L. Kaigler

"What has been will be again, there is nothing new under the sun."

Ecclesiastes 1:9

"Nothing new," the Teacher says. Yet how many people do you know who have a praying mantis for their pet? That's right. A Mantis religiosa.

There is one, right here in Haskell, and we're not talking one time involvement here---we're looking at an old hand at it, with a history of having an affinity for the little buggers.

Sybil Henry mentioned Bill's interest in this odd-looking, orthopterous insect of the Mantidae family while we made coffee for the weekly pre-worship service fellowship at the First Methodist Church on Sunday. This not being your regular cuddly, man's-best-friend kind of pet story, it stayed with me all through the Sunday School class as we studied Ecclesiastes, third chapter.

That afternoon, in an effort to find out what could be "pettable" about a praying mantis, I read everything I could find about this stick-figure of an insect with the locust-like legs, oval wings, long neck-like prothorax, angular head and protruding eyes---this kinfolk of crickets, cockroaches and grasshoppers which has earned its name because of stout, spiny legs held up in front suggesting "praying" as it grasps and devours caterpillars and bugs. Nothing to grab me; encyclopedias can give pretty dull stuff sometimes.

I had to know more---about the mantis and about the man who had it for a pet.

Bill Henry is a retired military man who has lived in many different places and parts of the world during his time in the Air Force. In 1949, he married Sybil Nanny, who grew up in this area attending Post, Paint Creek and Haskell schools, and in 1981 he decided to make Haskell his hometown also. Walking outside a lot, he is a keen observer of some things that many of us are oblivious of; things that we pass unseeing.

What I learned from Bill's first-hand knowledge of the praying mantis was anything but dull stuff. The bare facts were as sudsy as any daytime TV plot or story on the air! I could envision the drama, the scenario, being played out with sub-titles from Sunday's lesson.

"For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven."

When Bill and Sybil lived in Fort Worth some years ago he discovered a mantis staying in his marigold bed, and he became friends with it, calling it George. All during that summer Bill fed George bits of hamburger skewered on the tip of a single strand of window-screen wire. George was intelligent; watching for Bill and allowing himself to be carried inside to visit Sybil. With the steady protein diet the mantis became so large, especially in the lower body, that Bill began to suspect George of being a female. On studying he found that George was indeed a Georgina, full of eggs.

Secreting and wafting her special essence during the fall season, Georgina soon attracted a real, bona fide George. She liked him immediately, and he seemed to feel right at home with her. He also enjoyed the daily offerings of ground beef. They both developed into voracious eaters, never turning down a bug or a burger.

"A time to embrace and a time to refrain."

George and Georgina quickly adapted to their new-found relationship---eating the Big Macs which Bill furnished, drinking from the quiet dews of contentment, and being merry in the marigolds. Life was good! Only their friend Bill was witness to the intricate ritual of courtship, wooing and winning.

"A time to love and a time to hate."

After a few days of this idyllic Eden, Georgina experienced a severe mood swing. She suddenly snatched up the unsuspecting George and ate him on the spot---tooth and toenail! A fatal attraction, indeed!

"A time to be born and a time to die."

Four days later, fully fortified with (literally) all that George had to offer, Georgina laid a bunch of eggs. In a burst of maternal instinct she carefully enclosed the mass in an oval-shaped cocoon made of mucous which hardened into a braided-effect surface. She attached it to the marigold stem, doing what she could to prepare her children for the cold winter ahead.

After all of this (and not surprising) Georgina seemed to be in a sort of daze, sitting almost immobile for several days. (What was going on behind those large staring eyes? Was she reflecting back on her recent "Paradise Lost?" Was she just needing a Rolaid after gorging George? Was she wondering what in the world her little ones were coming to? Was it all "vanity and vexation of the spirit?" One has to wonder.) Certainly, something was "bugging" this bug?

As if exhausted, and weary of being party to all of the embracing and refraining, the loving and hating, the eating and being merry, the birthing and dying, she lost her grip on life and the marigold stem, and fell to the ground, joining the erstwhile George in the Great Beyond.

Bill cut off the bit of stem supporting Georgina's progeny and put it in the garage for the winter months. On an early spring morning he saw dozens of tiny, green, cricket-like hoppers making their way to the sunlight coming through the open garage doors---eager to begin their own cycle of life.

"What has been done will be done again."

Bill is certain that his current mantis is a George, so he isn't expecting to be witness to the full drama this time around. The males are the "goers", the females tend to be "keepers at home."

No doubt, somewhere in Haskell, there is a young Georgina who will soon be calling this young George with her own blend of perfume. With her biological timeclock ticking away, she clings with slender legs to a stem, waiting (praying?) for this proper papa mantis to find her and help work out the pattern that Nature somehow programmed into the memory bank of her little green genes.

Meantime, George lives in his friend Bill's clematis plant and waits for the call to come through.

Just outside his door in Haskell, Bill Henry is observing a microcosm of the universe in the enduring cycles of woe and wonder unfolding day by day for another one of God's creatures.

The wise Teacher said it very well, "There is nothing new under the sun."

Unemployment here 2.9 percent

Perry vows to add millions to economy

Rick Perry, the Republican candidate for Texas Agriculture Commissioner, believes that Texas could get a $50 million a year boost by processing more Texas-grown products in the state.

"We are losing millions of dollars a year because the major portion of our agricultural products leave the state in raw form," he says. "My goal as agriculture commissioner is to increase processing in the state and add $50 million a year."

In the first of Perry's white papers, he defines his goals and offers concrete suggestions on how this revenue may be increased. He points to the denim mill in Littlefield as a prime example of how processing Texas-grown cotton helped that economy.

"In the late 1970s, farmers and investors organized American Cotton Growers and built a $40 million denim plant," Perry says.

"In just more than 10 years, the plant has converted more than a million bales of cotton into denim for more than 150 million pairs of jeans and grosses $90 million a year." "We need to promote these kinds of ventures---processing the mainstream agricultural products we produce---instead of concentrating efforts on mushrooms and Chinese cabbage.

"The future of Texas lies in the fields, pastures and processing facilities of this state, not in the some roadside stand."

Perry also advocates taking Texas products just one step farther in the processing stage. For example, scouring and combing raw wool, its value increases from $1.70 to $2.90 per pound, he says.

"Texas slaughters 5 million head of cattle a year," Perry points out. "If we process only 10 percent of those we could add $50 million to the economy. Advances like those help the producer, the processor and the consumer."

Initiation planned for 'Ooga-Booga'

A "massive induction" of new members into the Ooga-Booga Tribe is scheduled next Wednesday (Sept. 5) at the First Baptist Church's Family Activity Center (gym).

And if Randy McLelland's attendance goal of 90 kids is reached, the popular Baptist youth director has agreed to let them "molasses-and-feather" him at an early October meeting.

"We normally have about 45 kids at these weekly Wednesday night Bible study gatherings," said McLelland. "The most we've ever had was 55."

McLelland said there will be "all kinds of food" and "all kinds of wild and crazy games." All boys and girls in junior high and high school are invited to the program which will begin at 7 o'clock.

Initiation into the Ooga-Booga Tribe is optional. "If some don't want to be initiated, they won't be pressured to do so," McLelland said.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - The price of oil, the TV commercials in the gubernatorial race, and House Speaker Gib Lewis' saber-rattling all heated up last week.

Meanwhile, embattled prison official Jerry Hodge and state Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, aired the controversial inmate-as-bait incident on the Oprah Winfrey television show.

While benchmark oil prices reached $32 a barrel, a seven-year high, Speaker Lewis struck a stance that surprised many observers.

Lewis threatened to cut appropriations to two giant sacred cows of the Legislature, UT and Texas A&M, unless those athletic programs clued the Legislature about plans to leave the Southwest Conference.

Those are strong words for a politician, risking a fight with every Texas-EX and former Aggie student, including those who now serve in the House and Senate.

Bevo And Reveille

But Lewis stood fast and instructed his State Affairs and Higher Education committee chairmen to call their panels to discuss keeping the SWC intact.

Some of Lewis' lieutenants expressed doubts about following their leader into a fray with Bevo and Reveille.

"My attitude is, it's not our business," said Appropriations chairman Jim Rudd, a Texas Tech graduate. "We're not in the business of running the athletic department of any university."

The speaker's threat stopped the departure movement in its tracks and PAC-10 and SEC officials turned their backs on the Lone Star State.

Make It Stick?

With one statement, Lewis turned the momentum around, but could he really make it stick next session if he had to?

What are the odds, for instance, that a devout Aggie governor (Clayton Williams), or an Austin-based governor (Ann Richards) would sign such a budget into law?

Lewis, a Fort Worth Democrat, faces a re-election fight in November before he attempts to win an unprecedented fifth term as speaker of the Texas House. For him, the risk is obvious.

But if anyone in the Legislature can count heads, it's Speaker Lewis, and he obviously feels that a number of UT and A&M alums want to keep the SWC tradition.

A Slave Sport

Against the advice of Gov. Bill Clements' staff, Jerry Hodge, prison board vice chairman, accepted Oprah's invitation and defended the use of prison inmates as "bait" in dog-tracking training.

Wilson, a black legislator, told Oprah's audience he would work for the impeachment of Hodge, who responded that Wilson couldn't make him resign.

Wilson called the use of black inmates a slave sport, and said the incident makes Texas "look pretty stupid."

State Ordered to Pay

State District Judge Joe Hart of Austin ordered the state to pay $100 million to 12 Texas counties for holding felons in local jails.

The formal order follows Hart's decision in June that the state is responsible for housing and feeding inmates convicted of felonies.

Hart said the state must pay the counties $40 a day per prisoner held from Sept. 28, 1987, through Feb. 28, 1990.

Hart's formal order was direct: "The counties have demanded that respondents (prison board members) perform their duty to take inmates and respondents have unjustly refused and still refuse to take or make provisions for the inmates..."

"Further, this court commands (the state) to take all action necessary to obtain funds to pay reasonable compensation," Hart said.

A spokesperson for Gov. Bill Clements said Hart's order would be appealed, pointing out that no money would change hands until all appeals had been exhausted.

Other Highlights

■ According to Money magazine, Galveston is the top Texas City, 32nd, among 300 cities ranked for quality of life nationwide. Others are Houston, 59; Austin, 61; Lubbock, 75; Brownsville, 90; Bryan, 100; McAllen, 107; and Dallas, 117.

■ State agencies have received $55 million in unclaimed money to pay for schools, highways, law enforcement and other services, Treasurer Ann Richards said.

■ A science textbook panel endorsed the use of the revolutionary videodisc program "Windows on Science" for grades 1-6. If the State Board of Education approves in November, Texas may be the first to use state tax dollars for videodiscs over books.

■ National Republican Party officials visited Houston last week to explore holding its 1992 national convention in the Astrodome, which offered more available time than it did to Democrats.

■ State Republican Party chairman Fred Meyer said he backed the firing of a top GOP phone bank official with alleged ties to the Ku Klux Klan. The former solicitor, William Ronald Neal, denied the Klan connection and said he was the victim of a bizarre plot.

Ask VA

Q: My spouse and I do not live together, neither do I contribute to her support. Can I claim her as a dependent on my pension claim?

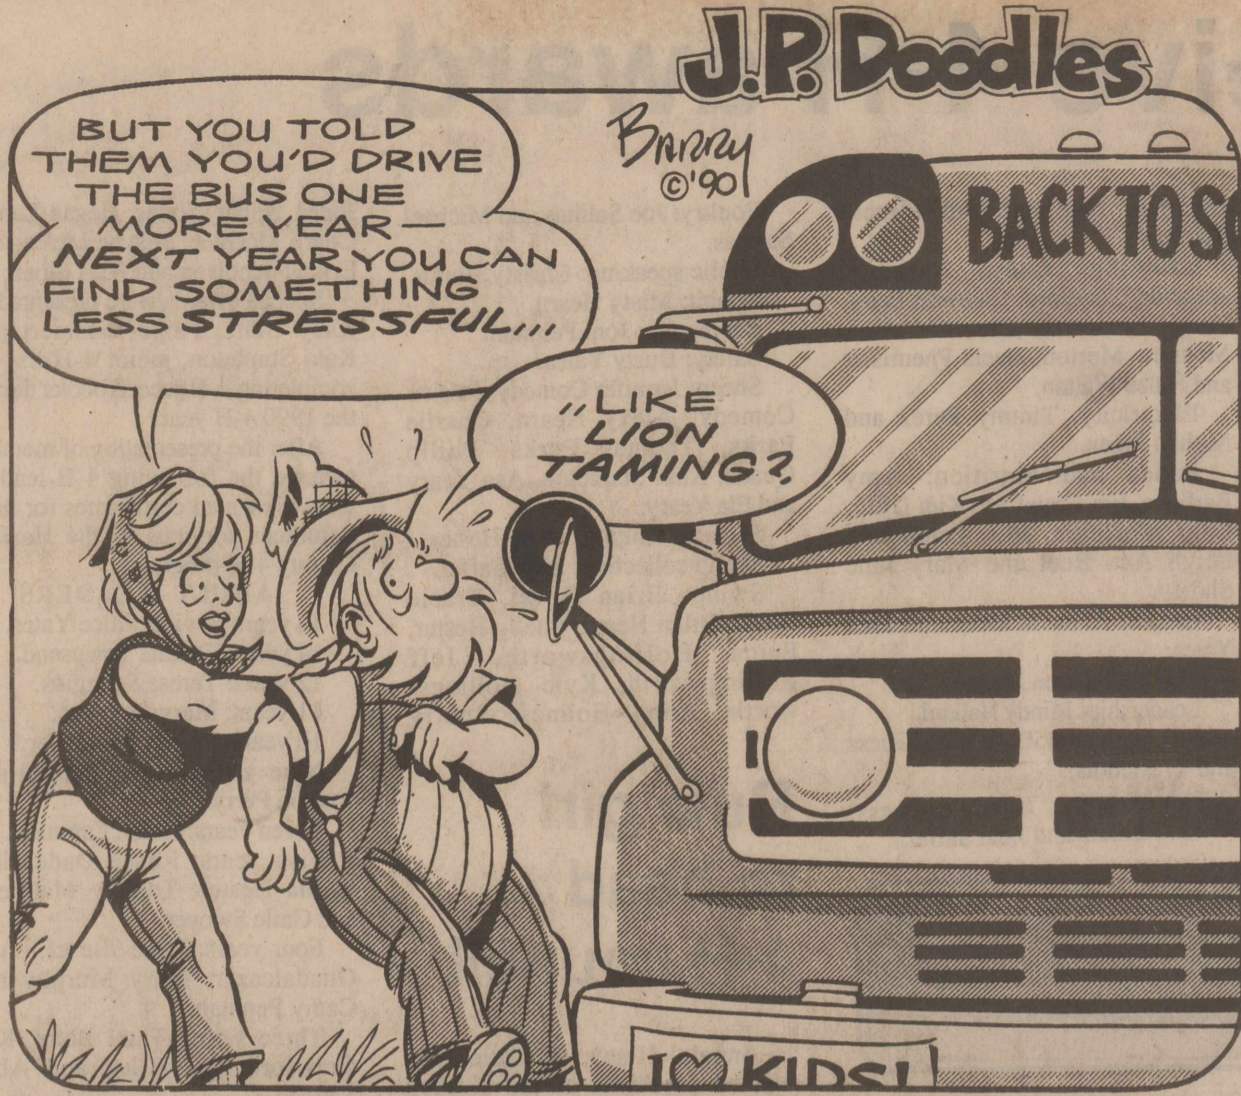

A: No. A pensioner can claim a dependent spouse only if living with the spouse or, if separated, contributing to the spouse's support.

Q: I receive VA compensation and I wish to claim an adopted child as a dependent. What type of documentation does the Department of Veterans Affairs require?

A: You should provide VA with a certified copy of the final decree of adoption or the adoptive placement agreement. In areas where court records of adoption are not readily available, a certified copy of the revised birth certificate showing the name of the veteran as parent may be acceptable.

In introducing Sen. Phil Gramm, Gough called him "probably the next president of the United States."

And in praising Haskell's Rick Perry, Sen. Gramm said his race represented more than a race for agriculture commissioner. "In Rick, we're talking about a person who can be a leader for the next 30 years," said the senator.

Wheat farmers advised

Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter has announced a tentative projection for the 1991 wheat acreage reduction program (ARP). He made the announcement to assist wheat farmers in planning for the coming year.

"I understand the difficulties wheat farmers face when they do not get clear signals from Washington on how much land will be idled," said Yeutter. I will focus as much light on it as possible in the absence of a farm bill."

Announcement of the final 1991 wheat program cannot be made until the farm bill is completed. The House and Senate have just passed their versions of the farm bill, but further conference action is required before a farm bill becomes law.

"Given the two versions passed by Congress, maximum ARP requirements will likely be 10 to 20 percent," Yeutter said. "While these numbers are tentative, I want to give our farmers the most accurate estimates available." He said the numbers will be affected by loan rate provisions which are ultimately approved as part of the 1990 Farm Bill.

The secretary expressed concern that if loan rates are raised above current law it would bring a surge in production and result in massive surpluses.

"Congress could repeat the disastrous policies of the 1981 farm bill," he warned. "Those policies brought many American farmers to ruin and gave away our export markets to foreign producers. We must make sure that the new farm bill avoids a return to the past and continues the progress farmers and America's agricultural sector made with the 1985 Farm Bill."

"I can give our wheat farmers this guarantee: We will use the export enhancement program to make sure American wheat is competitive in world markets. We will not hesitate to go head-to-head with the Europeans to keep and increase our export markets."

She worked one year in Hawaii with her cousin and taught one year at Hardin-Simmons. Petty officers

The second annual national chief Petty Officers' Association reunion will be Oct. 4-7 at the Holiday Inn, Emerald Beach, Corpus Christi.

Christmas parade theme is chosen

"Everybody Loves Christmas" will be the theme of the ninth annual night Christmas parade in Haskell. The parade, sponsored by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, will be Saturday, Dec. 1, beginning at 6 p.m.

Members of the Chamber's board of directors evaluated past parades and considered going back to a daytime parade, and then voted unanimously in favor of the night event.

In doing so, they pointed out that daytime parades draw 250 or 300 spectators, while the night parades attract thousands since out-of-town visitors are off work and free to attend at night.

The magic of lights produces a fantasy effect, but many people choose to view the parade in places other than those where special lighting is provided (south side of the square, at the judges' stand and in front of the First Christian Church where senior citizens are invited to sit on the steps).

Several merchants have agreed to install flood lights on the tops and fronts of their buildings to give better viewing in each block of the parade route.

Board members are urging all retail stores to re-open immediately following the parade to enable out-of-town and local families to shop in Haskell.

Since seating space at local restaurants is limited, service clubs and churches with mobile kitchens are encouraged to provide food downtown to accommodate the overflow in Haskell. This also will be a service for after-parade shoppers.

Several businesses and retail stores already have consented to building floats and all of the lighted antique car clubs and wagon groups, the Six White Horses from Hardin-Simmons, local and area bands, riding clubs and twirlers are being invited to participate again. Area mayors and Chamber of Commerce presidents will be asked to ride in the traditional caravan of dignitaries.

Due to the danger of children running in front of vehicles, Santa will not be throwing candy from the float this year. However, Santa has agreed to walk around downtown after the parade, dropping in and out of stores that are open, and give candy to children around the square.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Decker of Munday announce the engagement of their daughter, Tammy Denise, to Joey Kimbrough of Haskell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Flippin of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kimbrough of Haskell. An Oct. 20 wedding is planned at the First Baptist Church in Munday.

Haskell, Knox City scrimmage today

The Haskell Indians will scrimmage Knox City here today (Thursday), their last practice game before next week's opener against Munday.

The scrimmage begins at 6 p.m.

Coaches were pretty well pleased with last week's performance in the scrimmage against Roscoe. "We saw a lot of good things, but we also saw places we need to improve," said Coach Walter Hargrove.

The coach said the team seemed to be "headed in the right direction, doing the things we've been teaching them to do."

On the downside, Hargrove said the Indians weren't as explosive off the ball as he would have liked, nor was the team as physical as hoped.

Offensively, Quarterback Rusty

Stocks threw the ball well and Jonathon Dever ran well, the coach said. He also singled out Chad Gibson for doing a good job at center, and said the defense played well.

The varsity unit scored two touchdowns, while holding the visitors scoreless. The Haskell JV scored three times and didn't allow a score.

Indian Boosters meet Tuesday

Plans and dates for 1990-91 events will be finalized Tuesday, Sept. 4, when members of the Indian Booster Club meet in the ag building. Meeting time is 8 p.m.

All members are urged to attend.

You will be notified when the application is approved or denied.

City seeks transfer to new region

The City Council passed a resolution last Thursday calling for the Texas Municipal League to place Haskell in a different region.

Haskell is now a member of region 5, an area whose principal city is Wichita Falls. The resolution requests reassignment to region 6 which has Abilene as the principal city.

The City will ask the City Council of Rule to pass a similar resolution since it is necessary for all cities within a county to apply for reassignment before a request can be considered.

Administrator Bob Baker said assignment to region 6 is sought because of Haskell's proximity to Abilene where most of the region's meetings are conducted.

The Farmers NATIONAL BANK

Perry party

Backers of Rick Perry enjoyed hamburgers at the Civic Center Friday. The burger supper was a feature of the fund-raiser for the Haskell candidate for state Agriculture Commissioner.

Perry party draws 273 supporters

Friends and backers of Rick Perry, 273 strong, turned out Friday night to rally behind the Republican candidate for State Agriculture Commissioner.

The occasion was a hamburger supper and fund-raiser at the Civic Center for which guests from Haskell, Throckmorton, Knox, Stonewall, and Taylor counties paid a minimum of $20 each to raise approximately $9,000 for the Perry campaign.

Special guests included Rep. Dr. Bob Hunter of Abilene and Fred Gough of Graham, who is a candidate for the House seat Perry is relinquishing to make his bid for the state office. Both paid tribute to the Haskell farmer-rancher who is opposing incumbent agriculture commissioner Jim Hightower.

Perry, introduced by his wife, Anita, told the group of his name-identification campaign against "the best-known Democrat in Texas." He referred to polls which show he is rapidly gaining ground in a race he trailed badly in the beginning.

He also spoke of a hectic schedule which had seen him on the previous day campaigning in El Paso, Lubbock, Amarillo, Midland, Odessa and Coleman.

Stenholm plans visit to Rule

Congressman Charles Stenholm and his wife Cindy will be guests at a public reception next Wednesday, Sept. 5, in the lobby of the Farmers National Bank in Rule.

This will be one of 24 meetings planned across the 17th Congressional district prior to the re-convening of Congress on Sept. 10.

"Communication is the life blood of our system of government, and I urge you to give me the benefit of your thinking," said Stenholm.

40 may die

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that as many as 40 persons could be killed in traffic accidents across the state during the 78-hour Labor Day holiday period.

"Last year during this end-of-the-summer holiday, 48 persons died in traffic accidents, with another four persons dying later of injuries received during that time," said DPS Director Col. Joe E. Milner. "Our estimate for this year is below that final count of 52, and we hope the actual number of deaths this year will be much lower than this estimate."

The holiday counting period begins at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday. As it does each Labor Day, and on certain other major holidays, the DPS will have all available troopers on the highways to ensure that motorists have as safe a holiday as possible.

"Since drinking and driving, along with speeding, are the leading causes of traffic fatalities, we hope we can hold the Labor Day deaths down by our increased presence on the highways," Milner said. "We certainly don't want to discourage people from having a good time during the Labor Day holiday, we just want motorists to drive safely."

Last year's Labor Day statistics support the department's concern over drinking and driving and excessive speed. In 1989, 62 percent of those killed in Labor Day holiday traffic accidents died in mishaps connected with either alcohol or driving too fast.

"Something else our troopers will be watching for during the Labor Day holiday period is whether motorists are wearing their seat belts," said Dudley Thomas, chief of the DPS Traffic Law Enforcement Division. "Last Labor Day, 77 percent of those victims who were occupants of cars or light trucks had not been wearing restraints when they were killed. The message is obvious: Seat belts save lives."

"Helmet use by motorcycle riders has definitely increased since the helmet law took effect in September of last year," Thomas said. "However, there will be some riders who will disregard the statute and wear helmets that do not meet federal safety standards. The troopers also will be watching for this violation."

As in past years, the DPS will issue periodic reports on traffic fatalities throughout the Labor Day weekend.

Stenholm FUNDay scheduled Sept. 8

Congressman Charles Stenholm returns to his home grounds next Saturday (Sept. 8) for the 12th annual FUNDay, and as usual, a number of his House colleagues will be on hand.

Friends of the congressman have the picnic grounds ready at Ericksdahl for the party which begins at 4:30 p.m. All area residents are invited to the old-fashioned political picnic.

Guests will include U.S. Reps. Sonny Montgomery of Mississippi, Billy Tauzin of Louisiana, Jim Slattery of Kansas, Tim Valentine of North Carolina and Pete Geren of Texas.

Montgomery has represented the third district of Mississippi since 1966. He is chairman of the Veterans' Affairs' Committee. A veteran of World War II and Korea, he was largely responsible for passage of the GI Education Bill in 1985.

Geren, a life-long resident of Fort Worth, fills the seat formerly held by Jim Wright. A former Georgia Tech football player and a former aide to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, he also serves on the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

5 compete in HHH bike event

Haskell had five participants in the ninth annual HHH (Hotter 'n Hell) bicycling event held Saturday in Wichita Falls. There were more than 11,500 entrants in ride distances ranging from five miles to 100 miles.

Local participants were IV Burson and Kelly Nanny, 25 miles; Tréci Burson, 50 miles; Stephen Foster, 66 miles; and Doyle High, 37 miles (before having an unfortunate mishap).

Former Haskell resident Jimmy Browning made the 90-mile race on Saturday and won third in the Criterium (a sprint in downtown Wichita Falls) category 3 on Sunday. Shawn Lane also was a Criterium contestant. Riders in the Criterium can reach speeds of 35-40 miles per hour.

The temperature reached well over 100 degrees on each day. The average age of HHH riders is between 20 and 40 with a 3-1 male/female ratio.

County council meets

The Haskell County Extension Homemakers Council met Aug. 15 for a regular meeting under the leadership of Reatha Mullins, county council chairman.

The council took care of several important items of business:

1) It was voted to give three Haskell County 4-H members $50 each to help pay their expenses to state 4-H activities. Mindy Ballard and Kim Gilly attended the Texas 4-H Congress and Chad Gibson attended the State 4-H Horse Show.

2) Since no applications were submitted this year for the $350 scholarship, the council voted to add the money to next year's amount.

3) Each club president drew for the title of their club's educational booth to be displayed during the Haskell County Fair.

4) The delegates and alternates for the state meeting were elected: Jimmie Weinert, Weinert club; Margaret Jones, Josselet club; and Frances Fischer, Paint Creek club. Alternate delegates are Reatha Mullins of Josselet and Alta McGuire of Weinert.

The council will meet on the third Wednesday during January to April and August to November at 2 p.m. in the county extension office kitchen.

Students may choose to deny their milk under the offer-vs-serve program. Items such as tea (when offered) and water will be available at no extra charge in Haskell schools. However, due to the cost involved, juice will be offered daily at an ala carte price of .25 to elementary students. Juice is not part of the five components offered in the state school lunch program. It may be purchased daily. If your child is allergic to milk and milk products. Juice will be provided at no extra cost if an annually updated doctor's statement is on file.

There will be a difference in our menu patterns at the high school campus. Due to close campus for the junior high, we will be offering a choice daily of our meat/meat alternate. There will be a hamburger, french fries, and trimmings offered daily. There will also be a Type A lunch offered. You may choose either lunch. They both are counted as a Type A lunch as long as you have chosen 3 of the 5 components. 34-35c

by Myrtle Plemister
My apologies to Feba Stout, as much as she dislikes "camping out" I had she and Thurman Stout spending a whole week camping with Hellen and Floyd Stout, when in reality Ida and Willie Farrell accompanied the Stouts to Oklahoma. Sorry, Feba.

And another mistake in last week's Free Press was that Randy and Donna Waggoner were residing in Austin. I'm sorry to disappoint Austin, but the Waggoners live in Red Oak, and both of them are on the faculty of the Ferris school system, where Darla will teach third grade, and Randy will teach seventh grade science and also coach the class in football.

We are excited about the new building going up in town, just across from First Baptist Church, where Ann Horan will have a cafe and convenience store! She hopes to have the building ready to open by Oct. 1st and we are all very happy. Thank you, Ann.

Our children boarded buses for school on Monday morning, some to Haskell, others to Munday, and the John Brueggeman children will start at Throckmorton.

Our college students left for various towns. Kent Sanders went back to A&M; Marcus Plemister to Hardin-Simmons; Tina Herricks, Carolina and Corina Jimenez to Vernon; Stacy Hester to Hardin-Simmons. Lauri Hester is already at Tarleton in Stephenville, having worked there throughout the summer.

Darla and Lee Lane returned from a week's honeymoon to Ruidosa on Sat. and spent the weekend with her parents, Donald and Gracie Griffis, before leaving for New Braunfels, where they hope to find employment.

Grenetta and Phil Bledsoe, with Tammy, of Weatherford were in town for a visit with her parents, Feba and Thurman Stout.

Grenetta teaches in Weatherford and Phil continues to serve as Superintendent of the nearby Peaster school.

Other guests in the Stout home on Sunday included Wayne and Jeanie Stout of Haskell, and Michelle and Meagan of Abilene.

Leatha Holloway of Dallas, with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Norman, spent a few days in Weinert with her sisters, Faye Brian and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sanders.

They all enjoyed a steak cook-out at the Kenneth Sanders home on Fri. night.

Zella and Edward Alexander are sharing the good news about their grandson's recent graduation from Angelina College in Lufkin, where he made the National Dean's list. He is Steve Haynes, son of Edna and Barney Haynes of Abilene. Steve is employed as Terminal Manager of the Diebold Gyson Transport Co. at the present; he is married and has two children. Congratulations, all.

Donald and Gracie Griffis spent last week in Lubbock where Donald attended a ginners meeting of the ADM Co. he works for.

They later attended a computer school hosted by the company, and which Betty Raynes also attended.

The Weinert Foursquare Church enjoyed a spiritual feast on Sat. as the area ministers gathered for their annual Divisional Conference with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Westbrook of Dallas as guest speakers, and coordinators of the days activities. A noon meal was served to all in

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed an application with the Texas Public Utility Commission to introduce new optional services - Call Control Options. The initial service areas will be Laredo, McAllen and Austin. Expansion into other service areas will be based on availability. Customers in other areas will be notified when these services become available.

Call Control Options include six new services - Call Blocker, Call Cue, Call Return, Priority Call, Call Trace and Selective Call Forwarding. The features will be available to single-line residence and business customers.

Call Blocker - enables the customer to block incoming calls from a maximum of three specified telephone numbers and/or to block the last incoming call.

Call Cue - enables the customer to automatically redial the last outgoing telephone number dialed. If the recalled number is busy, equipment will monitor the line for a maximum of 30 minutes and will let the customer know when the call can go through.

Call Return - enables the customer to automatically redial the telephone number of the most recent incoming call. If the number is busy, Call Return will continue to dial the number for up to 30 minutes, or until it completes the call.

Priority Call - provides the customer with a distinctive alerting signal, ring or Call Waiting Tone (if the customer has subscribed to Call Waiting), when the customer is called from a maximum of three preselected telephone numbers.

Call Trace - enables the customer to initiate a trace of the last incoming call received. The number, date and time will be recorded by Southwestern Bell Telephone so that the call's origin can be identified.

Selective Call Forwarding - enables the customer to forward incoming calls from specified telephone numbers (maximum of three) to another telephone number.

attendance.

Sunday services were dismissed at Weinert and the members journeyed to Knox City where the Westbrooks spoke at both morning and night services at the Foursquare Church there.

The Floyd Baileys of Knox City were honored for the 50 years of continual service to the churches. They are now retired.

Sandra Nichols, with her son T, accompanied by Heath Guess, has returned from a week's vacation tour of West Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, where they enjoyed many historical points of interest and tourist attractions.

They returned in time for that very important first day of school in a new school, as T and Heath joined the others from Weinert on the Haskell campus.

A birthday dinner at the Mildred Offutt home on Sat. honored her granddaughter, Valerie Anderson of Wylie.

Others to help celebrate included Valerie's parents, R. W. and Judy Anderson, sister Mellisa, and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Anderson of Sweetwater, Okla.

The Ross Andersons have recently retired as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Sweetwater and are in the process of moving to Haskell where they plan to spend their retirement years.

They pastored the Baptist Church in Weinert many years ago, and have many friends who will be happy to have them nearby. Welcome, Andersons.

Juanita and H. H. Grimes attended her family reunion held in the Haskell Civic Center over the weekend, when approximately 100 descendants of the John Lackey family gathered for their annual family get-together.

Johnny Lackey of Haskell served as coordinator of the reunion activities.

Our prayers are for the recovery of those who are ill, and in need of our help and comfort.

The Burgess Forehand family are sitting day and night with him at the Haskell hospital as he continues his struggle for health.

Katie Hutchinson is recovering from her stay in the Abilene hospital, and is at home.

Betty and R. S. Sanders are with her mother in Winters as Mrs. Gideon is very ill.

Tom Kregor is hospitalized in Haskell after a fall at his home. He was unable to reach the telephone to call for help, and was found on Sunday by his cousin and transported to the Haskell hospital. He is doing well with no serious injury.

Tom's son, Garland, of San Antonio, arrived Sunday night to be at his father's bedside.

Mildred Offutt, accompanied by Maple Watson of Haskell visited her aunt, Alma Pack in Munday on Sunday.

Crystella Raynes accompanied by Delores and Robyn Stewart and Mindy Hendrix all of Munday, attended the Taylor County Arts and Crafts show in Abilene on Sunday.

Our birthday people this week will include Joyce Hager, Fred Horan and Myrtle Plemister.

Myrtle and Marvin will celebrate their 57th wedding anniversary on Sept. 3rd. Labor day!

Have a safe and happy weekend!
