Thanksgiving is the time to give thanks for the things God has given for my parents that teach me right from wrong, for God that gave me a great olue sky, for my short black-brown eyes, for the smile of my grandparents that shines like an early morning sun during June, for the freedom He gave us to love one another in this big world. For all this, and for so much more, I thank you.

By Carlos Mendoza Senior

Thanksgiving, a time of joy and laughter, and thanking God for everything He has given me--- for my father who gives me greater wisdom, for my mother whose love fills my heart.

for a beautiful and meaningful life, for letting me have freedom that some people don't have, for people recognizing me for my love and advice, for letting sunflowers blossom in empty pastures.

For all these, and for so much more, I thank you.

By Edgar Nava Sophomore

Dear God, as I sit here, I thank you for letting me hear the singing of the birds, for the joy and laughter I've shared with my father, for the beautiful and peaceful life you've given me, for giving me the wisdom of giving others my advice and love, for a beautiful white-haired man who is my grandfather. for giving me freedom which some people don't have.

For these and for so much more, God, I thank you.

By Jane Villa

Junior I would like to bless our world, with its tears and its sadness-for the dark blue summer night in September, for the small shaded rose bush, writing a love poem, for my friend's voice that comes across the sea, for the skill of my sister who helped me with my problems, for the people that are out there fighting for their lives, for my hands that created these May you all have a Happy Thanksgiving. Thank you.

Cub Scouts set Cake Bake

Cub Scout Pack 136 will host its annul Scout Cake Bake at their pack meeting Tuesday.

Scouts and their adult partners, hopefully their dads or granddads, will be baking cakes to bring to the Awards will be given for the biggest cake, smallest, best tasting, most colorful, biggest mistake, etc.

Some families take pictures of the sometimes-messy process of father and son baking a cake and brink the photos to the meeting.

The Cake Bake is one of two major fund-raising projects of the Cub Scouts. Cakes can be bought by the makers for $25 or put up for auction. All Cub Scouts are incouraged to take part in the fun

Proceeds are used to fund the awards program and the summer camp program.

Payne named to water board

Claude Payne has been appointed to membership on the baord of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

The City Council last Tuesday appointed Payne to serve out the remainder of the two-year term of the late Tom Watson. The term runs until May 1992. Ike Neal is the other local board

Thank you for the meat loaf

By Mary Kaigler

We were away from family that fall, and it bothered me. My parents, my two brothers and their families had recently moved to central Texas to open a new business. Thanksgiving day had always been a special time for me, ever since I could remember, and I wanted our three-year-old Karen to experience and cherish it in the same way---lots of family around, lots of food to cat, lots of tradition.

For me, the tradition of having turkey and all of the trimmings was synonymous with Thanksgiving day, and it was inseparable from my concept of what the holiday should be. This year, I knew, was going to

Tom and I were struggling to keep our small business afloat. We were short on both extra time and extra money. We wouldn't be leaving town to celebrate with family in our traditional way. It was economically and physically impractical for me to spend the money and time to prepare a turkey and trimmings for the three of us. Yet, I was inwardly grieved that my little daughter was not having Thanksgiving as it should be.

During the weeks before the holiday I read to her about the first Thanksgiving day, the pilgrims and Indians and their shared meal of wild game. Everything about it was interesting to her. She became aware of the expression "Turkey Day," and was delighted by the new word, "gobbler." Loving animals, she was fascinated by the movie news-reel showing thousands of white turkeys being raised and marketed for the occasion, and by the newspaper picture of the big bird sent to President Truman at the White House. We taped the construction paper turkey from Sunday School to the maple headboard of her bed and she "talked turkey" for days.

As I tucked her in for the night she asked, "Mommy, are you going to cook a gobbler tomorrow?" A knot tightened in the pit of my stomach; a feeling that I'd managed to deprive this beautiful child of mine of something good in her heritage. "Not this time, Honey," I answered, feeling resentment at the circumstances.

Unperturbed, she smiled, cleareyed and happy, and began to say her prayers. "Dear God, please don't let all of the gobblers get killed and caten up tomorrow. Thank you that my mommy is going to cook a meat loaf for me and Daddy.'

I was stunned to realize that my plight of not having what I yearned for had become the answer to a child's prayer of compassion for the plight of lesser creatures.

I grew in understanding that Thanksgiving, making it the most memorable one of my life. Foolishly caught up with more concern for what we had on the table than for what we had in our hearts, I had overlooked the real tradition and meaning of Thanksgiving---humble gratitude for what we have and joyful sharing of it with others.

Lots of Thaksgiving days and lots of turkeys have come and gone since then. This year we are again away from family. Our Karen is now a mature woman herself, establishing her own traditions with others in other places; places too far

When we sit down to share whatever we have, I will think of her, miss her and be content; thankful for the bounty of closeness of spirit and love that we still share with one another. In my heart I'll say, "Thank you God, for teaching me some of life's lessons. Thank you for the meat loaves.

Scouts collect food

Members of Cub Scout Pack 136 are accepting canned goods for the "Scouting for Food" program this week.

All food will stay in Haskell for needy families. It will be turned over to the Haskell Ministerial Alliance which will distribute the food where it is needed.

Plastic bags to deposit food donations were placed in all Haskell churches Sunday. Others may ask a Cub Scout to pick up their canned foods or take them to the Pizza

Only canned foods are being collected. Perishable foods, frozen foods or those in glass containers are not acceptable for this program.

Lions Club Goodfellows will distribute food and toys to needy Haskell families again this year.

Donations of food and toys are underway. On Dec. 15, the names of those who will qualify for the Goodfellows' project can be placed, by application, at the First National Bank Community Room between 2

Goodfellows will deliver boxes Dec. 24 to those who have been selected to receive them.

The project will be conducted as it has in previous years and a sincere effort will be made to provide food, toys and a happy Christmas where there might not otherwise be provisions for Christmas.

Tri-chairmen of the project are Darold Roberson, George Fouts and Donnie Rieger.

Cash donations to the project may be made at The Haskell Free Press, P.O. Box 1058. Those wishing to contribute toys may leave them at the Haskell Fire Department.

by grower's name, address and pecan variety (if known). 5. Growers are limited to one entry of each variety per family.

Nov. 27. Entries must be identified (Example: John Smith can enter one entry of each variety such as Burkett, Mahan, Stuart, etc.) 6. There is no limit on number of entries of seeding or native pecans (40 nuts from each tree). 7. Pecans must be left on display at the Haskell National Bank Community Room until 3:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29. Open house will be from 1 to 3:30 p.m. on Nov. 29 for the pbulic. You may pick up your pecans between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Nov. 29.

8. Classifications committee or official judges will place entries in correct classes for judging. Judging of varieties will be from 9 to 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 29.

9. Classes will be judged on size, color, appearance, shell thickness, cracking quality, kernel quality and attractiveness.

10. Ribbons will be awarded 1-5 places in each class. A class with less than five entries will be given awards based on judges' decisions.

11. The grand champion pecan exhibitor will receive a special gift; reserve champion exhibitor also will receive a gift.

Gough, Cook votes to be re-counted

Republican Fred Gough filed a recount petition Thursday with the Texas secretary of state asking for a recount of the Nov. 6 election that he lost by 45 votes to Democrat John Cook for the District 64 House of Representative seat.

Gough paid a $2,250 deposit for the recount. The lead in the race changed hands three times as vote tallies were canvassed after the election. Cook emerged with a 48-vote lead after unofficial vote counts were completed the day after the election. But Gough took the lead

Nov. 9 when 100 more votes for him were found in Young County due to a tabulation error. After the votes were canvassed,

Cook came out on top again when straight party tickets were discovered that had not been included in initial returns from Palo Pinto and Throckmorton counties. Slight changes in vote totals also were found during canvassing in Haskell and Shackelford The final official vote was 16,498 for Cook and 16,453 for

McGee, Payne exchange vows

Lori Dawn McGee and Terry Lee Payne were united in marriage at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 3, at the East Side Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben McGee of Haskell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerrell Payne of Abilene and Reba Cheyne of Haskell.

The Rev. Paul Cheatham officiated the double-ring ceremony. Vows were exchanged before an arch-shaped candelabra with double heart candelabras on each side.

Wedding music was provided by Lisa Cheatham, pianist, and Connie Cothron, soloist. Songs selected were "Pass It On" and "I See Jesus in You."

Entering with her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a traditional gown of white satin, an Alfred Angelo original, "Dream Maker", designed by Michelle Piccione. Her dress was designed with a high neckband of small schiffli embroidered hand-clipped medallions sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins and small pearl drops.

The silk illusion yoke held the fitted bodice embellished in schiffli embroidered medallions sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins down the front with drop waist in front and back. Lace medallions circled the waistline and up the back on each side.

The slim satin sleeves designed with silk illusion insets on the shoulder and bottom of the sleeves were lavishly designed with lace medallions and embroidery. The sleeves finished to a traditional point and closed with small satin buttons. The full skirt hung to a cathedral train, finished with cutout insets of embroidery and lace.

Her headpiece, accented with lily of the valley sprays and seed pearls hanging on side, held her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a silk cascade of white roses and small burgundy and mauve forget-menots, with burgundy, mauve and white streamers.

In keeping with tradition, the bride carried a Bible, belonging to her grandfather, for something old. Something new was her dress, something borrowed was a bracelet belonging to her mother, and something blue was her garter.

Maid of honor was Mindy McGee of Haskell, sister of the bride. Matron of honor was Judy Yowell of Whitewright. Both wore identical dresses of burgundy satin.

Anthoney Chesnut of Duncan, Okla., was best man. Groomsman was Lynn Payne of El Reno, Okla., brother of the groom. The groom wore a long-tailed black tuxedo with white accessories. His boutonniere was a mauve silk rosebud. The groomsmen wore black tuxedos and white silk rosebuds.

Selinda Payne, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Michael Payne, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Serving as candlelighters were Terri Sasseen, cousin of the bride, and Stephanie Cheyne, sister of the groom. The flower and candlelighters wore tea-length dresses of mauve taffeta.

Ushers were Johnny White of El Paso, uncle of the bride, and Bobby Tidwell of Haskell. Mary Lee Sorrells of Breckenridge, cousin of the bride, registered guests.

A reception followed the

ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Servers were Donna Sasseen, Linda Newbern, Ruth Salazar and Marilyn White, all aunts of the bride. Rachel and Sarah Sasseen, cousins of the bride, distributed rice bags at the reception.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held Nov. 2, at the Pizza Barn in Haskell.

The bride graduated from Haskell High School and attended Western Texas College and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin. The groom graduated from Haskell High School and is employed by Fluid End Sales, Inc., of Oklahoma City.

The couple will make their home in Oklahoma City.

Paint Creek pays tribute to troops

On Friday, Oct. 19, Paint Creek students and faculty members dedicated the entire day and the pep rally to those overseas who are defending, supporting and upholding the rights of others.

All showed their support of American soldiers by wearing yellow and/or tying yellow ribbons around their fingers, waists, legs, Words were prepared by an A&M graduate, longtime math teacher, former U.S. Marine Howard Brass, and spoken at the rally to remind all of what is happening overseas and to remember those who are serving their country.

The dedication follows:

We are gathered here today to honor our young men that will soon be on the athletic field and also dedicate this pep rally to our American soldiers.

Today, there is a mad man loose in the world. He is prepared to sacrifice the lives of his 17 million people upon the alter of his ego. He wants to resurrect the Babylonian Empire and become a modern-day Nebuchadnezzer. In order to do this, he must control the oil reserves of the world. The only thing that deters him is our men and women who are stationed in the Middle East. They are prepared to stand and deliver their lives so that we can continue to enjoy the opportunities

There are some in the media that say that this is not a matter of the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but it is for cheap oil. I would remind these pundits that 214 years ago a war was started over the price of tea. What is known as the Boston Tea Party became the American Revolution and was the start of our great

The freedoms and opportunities that we enjoy have been bought with the lives of those who cherished these beliefs. Every generation must be prepared to stand and deliver. This is not an impersonal or abstract thing we observe today. A former student that most of you know is now serving in the armed forces of our nation. This student walked the halls, tried to con the teachers out of having homework (just like you!), and played basketball in this gym. You know her as Kathy Langford. Each of you must be prepared to stand and deliver or else lose the cherished freedoms that we know. To not do so means that you are willing to become slaves.

We owe a great debt to those that serve our country. Winston Churchill has said it best, "Never have so many owed so few so

Notes From The Rolling Plains

Note: The following is one of a series of stories by noted wildlife photographer Nyman Meinzer offered by Haskell Save-A-$ for your enjoyment.)

A few days ago my work required some travel into the Hereford, Texas region. From there I drove on to Bull Lake near Littlefield and then spent the night in Lubbock for an early start into Yellowhouse Canyon. Monday morning was cold and clear on the Llano Estacado and the sandhill cranes and canadian geese filled the morning skies with their wild call. Dropping into Yellowhouse Canyon was a treat in itself as a light fog hung across the canyon floor draping the elm and cottonwood trees in a veil of gray. Buffalo Lake and Lake Ransom were both a show of bird life as herons, mergansers, mallards, coots, and geese called in the still of the cold morning. I readied my cameras and cruised around the lakes photographing the ghostly forms of wild fowl in the fog shrouded cattails and finally worked my way to the top of the canyon rim where I beheld a brilliant autumn sunrise over the Double Mtn. fork of the Brazos river. "What beauty lies in the sunrise of each morning", I thought as my gaze took in the dim forms of the Yellowhouse rimrock far away to the east. Closing my eyes for a moment I imagined no lakes in the canyon below. No houses or cars would interrupt the sinuous winding of the river as it meandered its way across the rolling plains to the east towards its rendezvous with the Salt fork of the Brazos 100 miles away.

Lost in my revere of the moment I am suddenly jolted back to reality by the roar of a school bus on its way into Yellowhouse Canyon. Turning my pickup toward Lubbock and an appointment or two in the bustling Hub City am reminded of a passage from Dan Flore's book 'Caprock Canyonlands." "The catalyst that converts an environment into a place is the process of experiencing it deeply." Thank you for reminding me that its ok to be a dreamer.

Haskell teams to test Seymour again Tuesday

Haskell basketball teams have a chance next Tuesday to even a couple of scores with Seymour when they travel to Seymour.

The Indians and Maidens each lost close contests to the Panther teams in last Friday's season openers. The Indians fell, 58-55, after the Maidens had lost, 48-45.

Both teams came back to post victories over Aspermont Saturday night. The Indians won, 51-50. after the Maidens had won, 67-49.

The Haskell teams were scheduled to play Wylie there Tuesday night of this week.

The Indians' game against Seymour was about as close as they come. The score was tied 11-all at the end of the first quarter. The Panthers forged ahead, 31-28 by halftime, but the Indians narrowed the margin to two points, 42-40, by the end of three quarters.

Adam Coleman led the scoring for the Indians with 15 points, while Cody Josselet added 12.

The Indians started slowly against Aspermont, falling behind, 13-6, in the first period. But an 18point outburst in the second period moved them into a lead they never surrendered.

Rusty Stocks scored 19 points for the Indians. Coleman and Craig Hanson scored 10 each.

The Maidens played catch-up against Seymour after falling behind, 16-9 in the first period. They narrowed the margin to a single point, 24-23 by halftime and still trailed by a point at the end of three periods. Seymour outscored the Indians, 13-11, in the final period to ice the 3-point victory.

Shelia Unger's 13 points paced the Maidens.

Against Aspermont, the Maidens stormed back from a 10-6 firstperiod deficit to go ahead, 24-19 at halftime. The 5-point margin held up during the third period and then the Maidens exploded for 27 points in the fourth quarter to win going Unger paced the attack with 33 points. Amanda Diaz scored 10 and Bartley added 10.

Next weekend, Nov. 29-Dec. 1, the Indians and Maidens will compete in the Knox City

PUBLIC NOTICE

On July 19, 1990, GTE Southwest Incorporated ("GTE-SW") filed revisions to the company's tariff pertaining to the features and associated equipment for providing emergency number services (9-1-1).

In this filing, GTE-SW proposes to modify its existing 9-1-1 tariff and to add more than 200 new service offerings. The new items of service and equipment in this application have been added to meet the company's increasing 9-1-1 customer demands and to allow GTE-SW to compete more effectively in the 9-1-1 equipment

The product line in the new offerings consists of a mini-computer and specialized console package for larger communities, as well as a personal computer with Automatic Number Identification (ANI) display for smaller communities. (ANI displays a caller's telephone number on the emergency dispatcher's computer screen.) In addition, the product line will include ANI and Automatic Location Information (ALI) display units compatible with, and similar to, those offered by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and other local exchange carriers in Texas. (The ALI feature displays a caller's address on the computer screen.) The rate charged existing 9-1-1 customers may be revised at the expiration of their contracts with GTE-SW if the proposed tariff is approved.

This filing has been assigned Docket No 9667. The hearing on the merits is scheduled for February 25, 1991, at the offices of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The deadline to intervene in this docket is December 31,

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. --Weinert--

by Myrtle Phemister

Weinert shares the grief and extends sincere sympathy to Sam and Joy Adams, whose home in Lamesa was destroyed by fire on

They were not at home; Sam was helping a neighbor harvest cotton and Joy was away, also. The firemen saved the exterior of the house, but the inside was "gutted" and they lost their life's collection of "things."

Kelly Adams, their daughter, has just been promoted to be supervisor of the Southwest Medical Laboratory in Lubbock and will be moving into a new apartment during the Thanksgiving holidays. Congratulations to her, but regrets about the loss of her "things", also.

Sam had a wall covered with all the awards he has received, 23 in fact, Now they are gone, but the good they have both done will live on in the hearts of those whom were benefited.

On Sunday night approximately one hundred people gathered at the First Baptist Church to share the community Thanksgiving service at 6 p.m.

Alton Sanders supervised the singing and later he, with Doris Walker, sang a special song.

Others who were on the music list included Debbie Herron, soloist, Joneta Felty with Shelia Harbers, and Lane Murphy.

Paul Chambers brought an inspirational message on "Thanksgiving and Prayer". He had no help from his host, Donnie Harbers, as Donnie lost his voice to a case of laryngitis over the Refreshments of sandwiches and sweets were served to over 80 people in the fellowship hall following the service.

The Weinert 4-H group met Thursday afternoon at the Haskell airport for their Nov. meeting with leaders Mary Murphy and Alice

The young people were given a lesson on flying, and later, each one was given a ride in the plane. Ed Murphy was instructor and pilot for the occasion, giving some of the children their very first flight.

In attendance were Heather Guess, Nathan Sikes, Lane

Doris and Jerry Walker had their daughter, Deena Hacker, with Jordan of Benjamin; Justin and Rance Parrott of Wichita Falls; Barry and Amy Walker of Abilene; home for the weekend.

Janie and Raymon Boykin of Vernon spent the weekend with his mother, Helen Boykin.

They were in Haskell on Sat. to visit with Edith and Richard Davis who are both recovering from recent illnesses.

Other guests in the Davis home included Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Phemister of Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Keahey of Rule and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Phemister of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brian and their family of Ft. Worth were weekend guests of their grandmother, Faye Brian.

Mr. and Mrs. David Phemister of Ft. Worth were in town on Tues. Their sons, Marcus of Abilene and Greg of Weinert accompanied them to Okla. where they spent Thanksgiving with Peggy's parents, the Ivan Dowlings of Oakwood, Oregon.

The Marvin Phemisters welcomed Rose Phemister, with Jonathan David and Matthew Marvin, when they arrived from Chicago on Friday.

They hosted an open house in honor of Rose and Bryon on Sunday, and they appreciate each one's attendance.

Becky Fry of Bowie spent a few days with her parents, Ernest and Louise McGuire, and attended some soccer games in Haskell to enjoy seeing her grandchildren at play.

Basketball games for Jr.-Hi. are starting and Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. will see many parents in the bleachers. Jace Yates and Heather Guess will play on the Indian team.

Shanna Murphy is serving as manager for the girls Mogul team in Munday.

Members and Guests Welcome

Tyler Byrd, infant son of Jena Byrd, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Byrd was dedicated on Sunday at the worship service of the Foursquare Church.

Paul chambers, pastor, was in charge, and led a touching, tearful service as the child was dedicated to

After the morning service, a bountiful harvest dinner was spread in the fellowship hall, which was shared with a host of members, guests and shut-ins unable to be

A baby shower, honoring Tyler Byrd, was hosted after the dinner hour, and then all adjourned to be in attendance at the community Thanksgiving service hosted at the Baptist church at 6 p.m.

The members of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner together on Sunday, after a time of communion around the Lord's Table, and a Thanksgiving song service, instead of the usual preaching hour.

Donnie Harbers, pastor, with his wife, Shelia and baby Kayla, had returned on Thursday from Houston, where they attended the Baptist convention. They were guests of Steve and Shelia Peace of Houston on Wednesday night. The Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Valencia of Blackwell, Okla. who sent word to Weinert friends, and uncles, Julian and Estrada of the birth of their son on Sunday, named Devon Vince Valencia. Raymon is a former Weinert resident.

All roads will be filled with Mogul fans on Sat., as they travel to Vernon for a District play-off game against Wheeler at 2 p.m. Congratulations to the boys who play, and to the band, who faithfully follows and performs.

Mrs. Stocks celebrates 86th birthday

Mrs. Lydia Stocks of Haskell was honored Saturday with a party on her 86th birthday.

Her daughter, Wanda Lancaster, surprised her by coming from Irving.

Also present were Hugh Lancaster, Jerry and Betty Stocks and Cody, Wanda and Audie Stocks and Lisa and Randy Shaw, and great-grandchildren, Jason and A. J.
