Farm Bureau honors Stenholm at luncheon here

Farmers and ranchers from throughout the Rolling Plains gathered in Haskell March 25 to honor U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford with an appreciation luncheon.

Sponsoring the luncheon was district 3 of the Texas Farm Bureau.

The Haskell County Farm Bureau joined those from other counties within Stenholm's 17th congressional district to recognize the congressman for his work as a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Serving as host of the meeting was C. H. Dowdy of Wichita Falls,

Farm Bureau's district 3 state director.

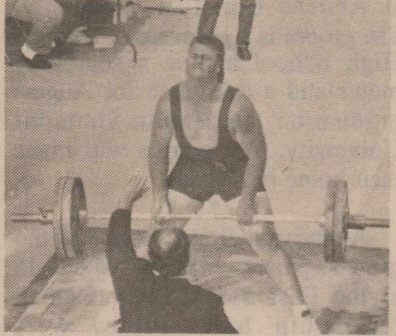

Stenholm told the 70 producers in attendance that drafting of the 1990 Farm Bill represented some major challenges for agriculture.

"I think we did a pretty good job of managing the environmental questions in the 1990 Farm Bill, and we did it in a way that will be liveable for the producer," Stenholm said. "That's not saying we're not going to have some real problems to deal with because we are, but it is saying it could have been a lot worse."

Stenholm answered several questions from farmers regarding specifics of the government's farm program, including the new triple-base option. Stenholm authored the so-called "flex acre" provision.

"The question we posed time and time again to you as farmers was, 'If we have to cut, how would you prefer the cut be made--through reducing the target price, or the base?'" he said. "In all the times I asked this question, in and out of my district, the producers always responded by saying 'cut the base.'"

The luncheon was held in the Haskell National Bank community room.

Tommy Casey
Wins at state meet

Rule youth wins

A new sport was inaugurated this year at Rule High School, and the Bobcats' sole participant already has brought recognition to the school.

Tommy Casey took 12th place overall Saturday in the Texas High School Powerlifting Association championship meet at Texas A&M University in College Station.

Competing against contestants from schools of all classifications, six-man to 5A, he lifted a combined total of 1,325 pounds--365 pounds bench press, 520 pounds squat and 440 pounds dead lift. His bench lift was third best of all contestants.

The Rule junior, 6-4 and 299 pounds, competed in the super heavyweight division.

He qualified for the state meet by winning first place in the region 1 powerlift meet in Sweetwater on March 16 with a total of 1,315 pounds in the three categories. He had earlier placed first in the Cougar Powerlift Championships at Abilene on March 1.

Casey began powerlifting only this year at the urging of new Rule principal Steve Long, who served as his coach. He was an all-district end last fall on the Bobcat football team and competes in shot put for the track team.

Casey is the son of Rudy and Julie Casey of Rule. He has a brother, Mike.

Youth invited to pizza supper

Next Wednesday (April 10) will be Youth Night at the First Baptist Church.

Beginning at 6 p.m., all area youth in seventh through 12th grades are invited to attend an "all-you-can-eat" pizza feed at the Family Activity Center (gym).

Only stipulation is that those attending will attend the revival service that evening at 7.

Teachers honored at WTSU

Two Haskell teachers were honored March 9 at the West Texas State University "Success Teacher" banquet.

Tina Lacey, student from Haskell, was one of the student leaders at WTSU who was privileged to designate high school teachers who had been instrumental in her public school career.

Honored were Jill Druessedow and Greg Melton. Mrs. Druessedow attended the banquet and was presented a plaque. Melton was unable to attend.

Of Mrs. Druessedow, Miss Lacey said: "She makes you feel important and is always willing to help a person outside of school. She is always ready to help a person expand his life and meet his goals. Learning about her ex-students' accomplishments and successes is a must for her."

Of Melton, Miss Lacey said: "He makes a person feel good about himself and is always willing to help out. He makes his classes interesting and makes us do things that are coming up in our near future. He is a professional in his teaching, yet he can be on the same level with his students."

At last

It's been a long time coming, but the Haskell Indians and Maidens have a new first-class track. Construction was completed last week. The track teams practiced at the new facility for the first time this week.

Finally!

Haskell has new athletic track

By Wendell Faught

No one seems to know for sure just how long Haskell athletes and fans have been waiting for the school to build an athletic track.

Fifteen years?
Twenty years?
Or "forever," as one fan said. But whatever the length of the wait--it is over.

Monday afternoon, Indian coach Richard Holloway and Maiden mentor Kerry Gartman assembled their charges to work out for the first time at the spanking new athletic field. Athletic director Walter Hargrove and other coaches were on hand. So was Superintendent Bill Stewart and a handful of spectators.

It might be an overstatement to say the outstanding facility justifies the long wait. But at least, no one's complaining now.

"It's as good as any around here," said Hargrove of the facility.

The latex-surfaced oval contains eight 42-inch lanes. In addition there are four jumping pits, a high jump pad and shot and discus rings.

Only other district 7-2A school with an eight-lane track is Hamlin, and Albany and Hamlin are the only two besides Haskell with all-weather tracks.

Lighting is expected to be installed in the coming weeks. Eventually, rest rooms will be built and stands erected. "Maybe this can be done by next season," Hargrove said.

The track is enclosed in a chain link fence. The parking area is on the east side and the stands will be put on the west side.

With the 1991 high school season moving into the district meets next week, Haskell will not host any track meets this year. But Hargrove said there will be a high school and a junior high meet next year. And he said Haskell will make a request to host the district meet in 1992.

Although Haskell athletes and sports fans have been wanting a track for these many years, interest in high school track has increased immensely in recent years as Indian and Maiden track performers soared to new heights.

The Indians have captured the district and regional championships for four consecutive years. In 1987, they were runnerup in the state meet, and the following year they captured the state 2A championship, giving Haskell its very first state team title in any sport. In 1989, the Indians were fifth in the state meet and last year they were seventh.

The Maidens also have turned out some top flight teams and individual performers.

And all this, without a track on which to practice. There have been times when Haskell coaches took their teams to area schools to help prepare them for upcoming track meets.

The new Indian track was built at a cost of $135,000. This does not include new equipment, such as 100 new hurdles. Heretofore, Haskell High School never had more than 10 hurdles, and seldom used that many.

Public may use track facilities

The new Haskell High School track should prove to be of great help to Indian and Maiden track teams, but it also will serve as a training and exercise facility for local residents.

The public is free to use the track for jogging and walking, said Superintendent Bill Stewart.

As long as the privileges are not abused, all local citizens will have access to the facilities at all times it is not being used by the school athletes, the superintendent said. It will not be necessary to make reservations.

There will be some stipulations:
•The public must use the four outside lanes.

•No cleated shoes will be allowed.

•No bicycles, skate boards or other wheeled vehicles can be used.

Scouts visit governor

Moisture total above normal

Only .39 of an inch of moisture was recorded in Haskell during the month of March.

Weather recorder Sam Herren said this compares with a normal of 1.2 inches for the month.

But for the year to date, the moisture total is still slightly above average. Normal for the first three months of the year is 3.04 inches, Herren reported.

There was a wide range of temperatures during the month, Herren said. The month's high was 93 degrees on March 5, and the month's low of 30 was recorded three days later on March 8.

Business group meets next week

Members of the Haskell Business Association will gather for a supper meeting next Thursday, April 11, at Jack's Place. It begins at 6:30 p.m.

The monthly meeting had originally been scheduled for this Thursday, but was rescheduled because of conflict with the merchandise market this week.

Inspect hurdles

Conrad Roewe, left, and Randy Stone inspect the new hurdles which have been purchased for the new school track. The school bought 100 hurdles.

Mrs. Bobby Lance Hanson

Coleman, Hanson exchange vows

Rhonda Lynn Coleman and Bobby Lance Hanson were united in marriage on the evening of Saturday, March 16, in the Haskell Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dale Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby R. Hanson.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Jimmy Griffith of Merkel, uncle of the bride. Frank Daniels of San Angelo, uncle of the bride, read from I Corinthians 13 and said a prayer on behalf of the couple.

Vows were exchanged before a 15-candle arch flanked on both sides by brass baskets of white and fuchsia roses and white carnations. Greenery and white bows adorned both the candlabra and the brass stand holding the unity candle. Pews were marked with various kinds of fuchsia flowers and greenery on a circular background of iridescent tulle.

Mrs. Amy Crabtree of Abilene registered guests in the foyer of the church. The registry table was draped in a white cloth with a round lace overlay. A crystal bud vase holding roses accented with gypsophylla decorated the table.

Jessica Daniels of San Angelo and Breann Peiser of Haskell greeted guests at the entrance. Each guest was given a scroll written in calligraphy expressing a thank-you from the bride and groom.

Guests were ushered by Leonard Howard of Haskell and the groom's attendants. Music was provided by the Haskell Church of Christ Singers, directed by Joel Fox of Abilene. Selections included "Unchained Melody", "Surround Me With Love" and "Longer" while the guests were being seated.

Mrs. Clara Hanson of Irving and Mrs. Ruby Green of Haskell, grandmothers of the groom, were ushered by Craig Hanson. Mrs. Lois Coleman and Mrs. Ethel Earles, grandmothers of the bride, were ushered by Leonard Howard. "Christ, We Do All Adore Thee" and "Holy, Holy, Holy" were sung during the ushering of the grandmothers.

"This Is My Father's World" was sung as the mothers of the couple were escorted in by their husbands and the parents went forward to light the unity candle tapers. The mother of the bride wore a two-piece dress of fuchsia polyester silk featuring a blouson top over a knife-pleated skirt. The mother of the groom wore a one-piece dress of deep fuchsia faille accented with cut work edging along the cuffs and hem. Their corsages were of fuchsia roses, tulle and gypsophylla.

Julie Peel of Rule, sister of the bride, and Kay Creek of Sonora were matrons of honor. Rachelle Morgan of Abilene, Gina Calk of Stephenville and Mendy Marr of Abilene were bridesmaids. The attendants' dresses, fashioned by the bride's mother, were of black and fuchsia elegance taffeta. The bodices of black taffeta featured a high rounded neckline with a V-back. The puffed sleeves of black taffeta were edged in a narrow piping of fuchsia. The tea-length skirts were of fuchsia taffeta and the back waistline was highlighted by a bow of the same fabric. The attendants' bouquets were of silk fuchsia roses accented with gypsophylla on a background of white tulle and tied with a large tulle bow. Each attendant also wore a pearl necklace and earrings which were gifts from the bride.

Flowergirl was Bergen Peiser of Haskell. Her dress of black taffeta was accented by a white collar and fuchsia bow. She carried a white wicker basket of rose petals which was trimmed with fuchsia flowers and ivory ribbon. "The Wedding Song" was sung as the bridesmaids walked down the aisle.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father while "The Wedding March" was sung. Her dress was a design by Mori Lee and featured a lace basque bodice which was heavily embellished with iridescent sequins and pearls. It also featured a Victorian neckline and a keyhole back edged with lace. A large fan bow enhanced with iridescent sequins and pearls accented the back waistline.

Very full puffed sleeves of Sposabella lace were gathered to a wide cuff of matching lace. The full taffeta skirt was also edged in pearly and sequined Sposabella lace and cascaded to a cathedral length train accented with lace cut-outs. Her elbow-length veil, fashioned by the bride's mother, was of pearl enhanced tulle and was held by a headpiece of silk roses and pearls.

She carried a bouquet of silk fuchsia roses, tulle puffs, pearls and gypsophylla. Something new was her dress. Something borrowed was a sapphire and diamond ring from her sister, Julie Peel. Something blue was the traditional blue garter. The bride also wore pearl and crystal earrings, a gift from her maternal grandmother. A penny was placed in her shoe for good luck.

The groom was attired in a black full-formal tuxedo by Pierre Cardin with a white vest and tie. He wore a fuchsia silk rose, accented with gypsophylla, that matched the bride's bouquet. Craig Hanson of Haskell, brother of the groom, was best man. Jeff Armstrong of Red Oak, Stacy Dubois of Abilene, Tim Johnson of Fort Worth and B. J. Mitchell of Dallas were groomsmen. They were also attired in black tuxedos by Pierre Cardin with black bow ties and cummerbunds. Each wore a fuchsia silk rose, matching the bridesmaids' bouquets, in his lapel.

Brennen Peel, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He wore a white linen suit and satin bow tie and carried a pillow used in the wedding of the bride's uncle and aunt, Phil and Phyllis Coleman. The pillow was edged in wide lace and embellished with fuchsia flowers, ribbons and two gold rings.

As the couple lit the unity candle, "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was sung. The recessional of "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" was sung as the wedding party was escorted out and grandmothers were escorted out while the singers performed "There Is A Higher Power."

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the church annex immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth edged in wide lace. Large white bows and deep pink bougainvillea accented the corners of the table. A silver candlabra holding white candles was entwined with greenery and flowers and served as the centerpiece. The four-tiered square wedding cake was adorned with various shades of pink silk roses and featured columns between the tiers. Appointments were crystal and silver. Wooden screens with white taffeta insets and a scattering of bougainvillea served as the backdrop for the table. Serving at the bride's table were Tina Lacey of Canyon and Kristy Gambrell of Abilene.

The groom's table was covered with fuchsia taffeta cloth. The centerpiece matched that of the bride's table. The groom's cake, baked and decorated by the bride's mother, was German chocolate and had a large H monogram atop chocolate buttercream icing. Appointments were silver. Serving at the groom's table were Kristina Baker of South Lake, cousin of the groom, and Nichole Cothron of Haskell.

A food table covered with a white cloth and lace overlay held an assortment of finger foods made by the mothers of the couple. A white latticework screen was covered in pictures of the couple from birth to the present. Floral fabric of black and various shades of pink formed a valance across the top of the screen.

Rice bags of fuchsia tulle were given to guests by Breann and Bergen Peiser.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Delores Medford, Mrs. Donnice Jennings, Mrs. Dorothy Hartsfield, Mrs. Nancy Peiser, Mrs. Jean Hale, Mrs. Jeannette Calk, Mrs. Mary Jennings, Mrs. Ruby Mae Middlebrook and Mrs. Jo Fischer.

The bride is a graduate of Paint Creek High School and is a senior elementary/special education major at Abilene Christian University. The groom is a graduate of Haskell High School and is a sociology major and a candidate for August graduation at Hardin-Simmons University. The couple will make their home in Abilene.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held March 15 at the East Side Baptist Church fellowship hall. Tables were covered in a floral print cloth of black and shades of pink. Centerpieces were wooden heart candle holders with the names of the bride and groom painted on them and accented with pearls, baby's breath and ribbon. Pictures of the bride and groom were displayed on a white lattice screen.

A beautiful grapevine wreath adorned with flowers in shades of pink decorated the wall behind the head table.

A bridesmaids' brunch was held March 16 at the Paint Creek Baptist Church fellowship hall. Hostesses were Mrs. Jo Fischer, Mrs. Ruby Mae Middlebrook, Mrs. Brenda Reel, Mrs. Jeannette Calk and Mrs. Darlene Walton.

Other parties included a community shower at Paint Creek School on Feb. 2, and a pounding at East Side Baptist Church on March 3.

A lingerie shower was given by friends of the bride on March 10 in Abilene.

Mary Kaigler:

From the Inside Out

Down the steps and into the station at Rue Montmartre, we were on up and out of the Metro, then cross the Quay de Desvres, down Rue de St. Jacques; and there it was. Its stone-pave courtyard rather empty in the early, cold Sunday air, is beautiful, imposing facade, as Victor Hugo said, "a vast symphony in stone." I could see why Helaire Belloc felt called to communicate with the memories of the cathedral . . . waiting for the voices of the middle age."

First built on the ruins of the Temple of Jove in 375 A.D., its present building more than eight hundred years old--its long history witnessing to such grief and grandeur--the cathedral of Notre Dame quickly evoked in me all the entient, aesthetic emotions.

Inside we joined a mass of people, seemingly mostly tourist groups, already there for the first morning service. As we sat listening to the magnificent, ancient organ swelling and surrounding us with the sounds of Gloire du Pere, I felt an overwhelming sense of the history of the place, and of being that day, part of the long continuance of its lays.

From a program printed in French I could follow enough of the familiar scripture readings from Psalms 118 to begin to feel as well a sense of worship in this place where, for centuries, countless others have felt the need to bow their heads in praise and petition to their God. "Rendez grace au Seigneur car il est bon: Eternel est son amour."

I was awestruck with seeing the throng of people from so many other countries; their languages and national characteristics, their religious beliefs, so different from one another's.

For two weeks I'd observed the foreign tour groups in the way one observes something one can't escape seeing. They were everywhere we turned, following the raised umbrellas of their guides like little flocks of chickens clustering around a mother hen. By now I was accustomed to the sounds and sights of their varied speech, customs and mannerisms. Yet I'd not really seen them as individuals.

Now, glancing out over the crowded nave, I began to look into their faces, to wonder about them. Were they there as mere Christians, or merely curious; as seers, or only sight-seers? Were they mostly, as I was perhaps, some combination of all these things? The humbling thought that we are, for all of our diversity, not really so different, made me begin to sense that we were all assembled there as one; Humanity.

Moving with the large crowds we slowly inched along the wide side aisles. Thinking of the recent hope and heartbreak of the students in China, I felt a throat-catching compassion for all of us, in our human condition. Jammed in, shoulder to shoulder with these citizens of the world, I wished for the blessings of peace and freedom which I enjoy to come to each one here, and to their home country, in whatever way they most needed.

"Oh Lord, let this be. Let this be your will; done on all the earth." My head throbbled with the fervor of it.

Wondering how many others

there had voiced the same wish in their own way and language, I envisioned all of the day's petitions being blended with all of those spoken since time immemorial, and together with all of those still to be spoken in time yet to be reckoned, ascending as one to the uncalendared, timeless presence of the Giver of the Universe; a mighty plea for deliverance from human bondages.

The sincere wish that I deeply held at that moment--bringing more peace of mind, more freedom to be myself, more awareness of world brotherhood--was at once believable to me. There was an exhilaration of spirit and expectation that it really could happen.

While leaving the historic building I joined with others in lighting a white candle. It was an expression of a joyous affirmation of hope; and "Amen" to a brief morning of knowing that I had communicated with the Creator of all. I knew that the Presence I felt is not housed in the stone and statuary of the place, but in the living hearts and souls of human beings who gather there, and everywhere on this globe, to seek a higher goal.

Back home in Haskell, some weeks later, when I heard that the walls against freedom in Europe had begun to come down, I celebrated with thanksgiving. I remembered the strong awareness of others I felt that day in Paris. Even now I think of all the foreign strangers in the tour groups, in whose eyes I saw the kindred reflection of myself, and I find that I can no longer be comfortable with the idea of "us and them." I know that in reality it's only "us"; Mankind.

Today, as I watch the unfolding of changes in our world, I'm grateful for my Paris souvenir; the experience of realizing the truth that human hearts, whatever the origin, size or condition, do meet and blend in the common bond of their need for peace and freedom.

The words of the Psalm continue to echo.

"In my anguish I cried to the Lord, and He answered by setting me free."

March 10, 1911

Chas. E. McSweeney, who came through here about a month ago representing that he was looking out a railroad line from Fort Worth to the northwest and made a proposition to our railroad committee was brought here and put under a bond of $1000 to answer to a charge of swindling and is now in county jail.

The charge grew out of a draft he gave the State Bank of Haskell for $50 after an enthusiastic meeting with the local railroad committee.

We understand he met with the same courteous treatment at several other places in the West. He will re-visit several other towns along his former route and some sheriff will provide him ample entertainment during his journey.

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, child abuse and neglect is a complex social problem, often passed down from one generation to another, and

WHEREAS, the most successful treatment of child abuse is intervention before the child is permanently harmed. Intervention and corrective measures provide parents with the skills and strength to make the child's home a safe and healthful environment, and

WHEREAS, many organizations across Texas provide services to help families protect and nurture their children, and

WHEREAS, the awareness and support of Texas' citizens is crucial to the success of these efforts:

I, GREG MELTON, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of Haskell, Texas, do hereby Proclaim April 1991, as in the City of Haskell, urging each citizen of our City to report any incidents of child abuse to appropriate authorities.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand this the First day of April, A.D. 1991.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

All government projects don't run over budget.

The U.S. Postal Service has announced the development of a new money order which will be more difficult to counterfeit.

"It was substantially under budget," a report says.

Left unsaid was the amount budgeted. It must have been a few bucks since it took seven years to develop the new document.

Reebok International has taken nudity in advertising to a new level.

The shoe company's annual report has a pullout poster of a nude male.

Well, not exactly nude. He's wearing Reeboks.

"Too many annual reports tend to be pretty dull documents," said Richard Lewis, who designed the report for Reebok.

A public television station in San Francisco has sued for the right to broadcast from the gas chamber as California approaches its first execution in 24 years.

Since the print press is allowed to watch an execution with tools of its trade (pen and pad), so too should the broadcast media, KQED-TV reasons. "Television provides more accurate information than accounts filtered through a reporter," said the station's news director.

The TV station's efforts revive a debate which goes back a long way. In the 19th century, hangings were performed in public and sometimes thousands would watch the ritual. Opposition to such spectacles came from both sides--those who thought them brutalizing and those who feared the hangings resulted in sympathy for the condemned.

America's last public execution occurred on May 21, 1937, when Roscoe Jackson was hanged in Galena, Mo. After hundreds of spectators struggled for souvenir pieces of the rope, all American executions were moved inside prison grounds.

Marcella Leach of Justice for Homicide Victims fears that televised executions would give attention to the wrong people. If such come to pass, she would like to see an airing of a re-enactment of the crime just before the airing of the execution.

Most people probably don't pay any attention to such things, but I notice that Sen. Al Gore parts his hair on the right side.

There may be a message there. The only two right-parters to run for president, at least in recent years, were elected--Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan. And after Carter changed his part to the right side, he was defeated for re-election.

I stand corrected.

The rank of 5-star general was conferred posthumously on George Washington and John J. Pershing after the rank was authorized in 1944.

"GTE is proud of its employees like Jennings who take time to make our communities a better place," said Hardy White, Mid-West Texas division manager. "VIP is an excellent program that promotes volunteerism among our employees. We're proud to be able to support organizations like this one and at the same time, say thank you to our employees."

Notes From The Rolling Plains

(Note: The following is one of a series of stories by noted wildlife photographer Wyman Meinzer offered by Haskell Save-A-$ for your enjoyment.)

Standing in the airport in Meridian, Mississippi last week I was greeted by a bewhiskered chap who sported a drawl not completely unlike some Texans. After a short exchange of hellos we headed for the hunting lodge near Lismon, Alabama about 30 miles distant. I was to meet with a couple of other writers who, together, would try to help in the production of a hunting video on the eastern wild turkey. Now, until you've been around the dyed-in-the-wool turkey hunter, one cannot imagine the incredible array of sounds that echo throughout the hunting lodge during the day and night! This one was a prime example. Expert turkey hunters from Georgia, Mississippi, and Alabama had converged on the lodge to help us get our turkeys. Turkey calling solos were commonplace, even into the night hours. At dawn we would walk into the loblolly pine and hardwood forest in search of the wary old gobblers. From the rolling hilltops to the black water swamps we tried our best to entice the old gobblers to give their positions away. It was to no avail. We played our parts in the filming and ad-libbed for four days, telling our experiences of the hunt. But no turkey showed. On the last day of my hunt we stood on the porch filming the departure of the Texan who had not taken his bird. In loading the car for the ride to the airport several of the men mentioned that they were sorry for my not getting a turkey. Sorry for what? For me this hunt was far from a failure. The smell of the pines at dawn, the mysterious mood in the sunrise over the blackwater swamps, and the camaraderie after the hunt. All these ingredients combined is enough to make any trip one to remember. The art of good hunting does not always have to culminate in the taking of game. As the years slip away I find myself more content with simply listening to the heartbeat of the wildlands. More times than not it is these memories that remain vivid long after the hunt has become history.

Wyman Meinzer

Big Bass

Tony Isbell shows a 7 pound, 12 1/2 ounce black bass he caught during the Haskell Bass Club Tournament March 17. The fish, measuring 22 3/4 inches long, was caught in Colorado City Lake and was netted by fishing buddy Jay Miller.

Bass tournament winners named

Haskell Bass Club held its 1990 Top Ten Tournament March 23-24.

This event is held each year following the closing of all tournaments the previous year. Only the top ten fishermen out of the entire club are eligible.

Eligible fishermen were Bill Mullens, Bill Thomas, John Isbell, Jim Pope, Tony Isbell, Brad Dubert, Donnie Fraser, David Booe, Keith Conner and Randy Cypert.

This event consisted of a two-day total weight to win top honors.

This year the weather was beautiful on Saturday. This day was fished on Miller Creek Reservoir from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. At 3 p.m. the fish were weighed in and Tony Isbell led the event with a weight of 7 pounds, 11 ounces; followed by Jim Pope with 4 pounds, 7 ounces; David Booe, 1 pound, 14 1/2 ounces; Randy Cypert, 1 pound, 11 ounces; Keith Conner, 1 pound, 9 1/2 ounces; John Isbell, 1 pound, 9 ounces; and Bill Mullens, 1 pound, 8 1/2 ounces. Big bass honors caught Saturday went to Jim Pope with one fish weight of 4 pounds, 7 ounces.

As you can see, fishing was tough and close. Sunday's fishing began at 7 a.m. and ended at 3 p.m. on Lake Stamford.

As the day before the weather started out very nice but as the day grew longer the wind began to increase, but the fishermen did not let it get them down. When 3 o'clock came, the scales were turned. After a very hard day of fishing the day before Sunday proved to be successful. There were several 5-fish stringers weighed in and some really nice fish caught.

Sunday, Bill Thomas led the pack with a weight of 15 pounds, 8 ounces, followed by Tony Isbell, 11 pounds, 6 ounces; Randy Cypert, 11 pounds, 5 1/2 ounces; John Isbell, 10 pounds, 11 ounces; David Booe, 8 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces; Brad Dubert, 5 pounds; Donnie Fraser, 4 pounds, 4 ounces; Bill Mullens, 3 pounds, 14 ounces; and Keijther Conner, 3 pounds, 11 ounces.

Big bass honors went to David Booe on Sunday.

Now it was time to total both days' weights to see which fisherman came out on top. Totals were tallied and the top fishermen were announced as follows:

1. Tony Isbell, 19 pounds, 1 ounce,
2. Bill Thomas, 15-8;
3. Randy Cypert, 13-1 1/2;
4. John Isbell, 12-4;
5. David Booe, 10-0;
6. Bill Mullens, 5-6 1/2;
7. Keith

Attendants complete training

Two Haskell County ambulance attendants have completed an extensive 15-month paramedic training course.

Kendell Medford and Johnny Campbell, both employees of Haskell County EMS since 1989, attended TSTI of Sweetwater two nights a week for over 1,400 hours of classroom and clinical training. They have ambulance training from Lubbock, San Angelo and Abilene EMS and are also advanced cardiac life support certified by the American Heart Association.

Throughout the 15 months, both Campbell and Medford remained on the Dean of Instruction's List with a grade point average between 3.5 and 3.99.

Now that their school is finished, they hope to bring some of what they have learned back to Haskell through TMT and CPR classes in order to allow the citizens of Haskell County to help make their jobs easier.

Dr. Ray wins fish tournament

Dr. Cliff Ray caught the biggest fish in a crappie-thon tournament March 23 at Lake Ray Hubbard.

The winning fish weighed 3.63 pounds, beating out the next biggest by .01 of a pound.

As he accepted his sizeable prize, Dr. Ray was cheered on by many onlookers. He was seen being interviewed and photographed by at least one sports writer.

He was congratulated by the tournament director who commented that Dr. Ray is "one heck of a fisherman."

AmWest's Rollover IRAs. Nothing taxing about 'em.

If you have a CD maturing, your company has terminated your pension or profit sharing plan, or you have changed jobs, you may receive a large cash payment. You can keep it, and be forced to pay income taxes and possible penalty taxes.

Or you can open an AmWest Rollover IRA.

Just put the money from your old plan into an AmWest Rollover IRA within 60 days and all taxes on the money will be deferred. You pay no taxes until the money is withdrawn from your AmWest account. Unlike a regular IRA, there are no limits on the size of the lump sum payment that can be placed into a Rollover. And, at AmWest, there are no set up fees.

So if you've recently received a payout, call your local AmWest branch or customer service at 1-800-776-4286 and rollover. It's simple. In fact, there's nothing taxing about it.

*The charges for DACC are in addition to the charge for the Directory Assistance Listing (if applicable) and/or any local or intra-LATA toll charges that would apply to the completed call.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed two separate applications with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to introduce two new optional directory services. One service is Directory Assistance Call Completion (DACC) and the other service is Multiple List Directory Assistance (MLDA).

DACC is an optional service that provides customers the option of having their Directory Assistance call completed to the requested number (when they call Directory Assistance for a number) by either the Directory Assistance operator or a mechanized audio response system.

The proposed rates* for fully-automated DACC calls are: $.30 if the call is sent paid or billed to a calling card, $1.00 if the call is collect or billed to a third number and $.25 from a coin telephone.

The proposed rates* for semi-automated (operator assisted) DACC calls are: $.85 for calls that are sent paid or billed to a calling card, $1.20 if the call is collect or billed to a third number and $2.60 for a person-to-person call.

Multiple List Directory Assistance (MLDA) allows the customer to request more than two listing requests per call to Directory Assistance. Customers can either call on "demand" and receive up to 10 listings, or schedule an "appointment" and receive the assistance of a Directory Assistance operator for as long as required. The rates for "demand" MLDA are $.30 per listing request (after applicable allowances), with a maximum of 10 listing requests per call. The rates for "appointment" MLDA are $1.00 per minute, with a 15-minute minimum.

The optional services DACC and MLDA are intended for use by both residence and business customers. Those persons who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps will be able to use DACC and "demand" MLDA free of charge. If approved by the commission, DACC and MLDA will be available beginning May 13, 1991. First-year projected revenues for DACC are approximately $9.6 million. First-year projected revenues for MLDA are approximately $1.7 million.

Persons who wish to comment on these applications should notify the commission by May 3, 1991. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Recommendation

Adolescent pregnancy prevention

By Lou Gilly
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

I recently attended a regional Parenting/Youth at Risk Initiative that was held in Brownwood. At the training, I received a copy of a report to the 72nd Texas Legislature that included recommendations and strategies for adolescent pregnancy prevention.

Since the adolescent pregnancy rate in Texas has reached epidemic proportions, I thought the residents of Haskell County would like to know some of the recommendations being made to our Legislature.

This report was prepared by the Adolescent Pregnancy and Parenthood Advisory Council (APPAC) which was authorized by SB 298, 70th Legislature, Chapter 52, Section 52.002 of the Human Resources Code and amended by SB 417 passed in the 71st Legislature.

The purpose of the APPAC is: (1) to establish a resource network for adolescent pregnancy education and services by coordinating adolescent pregnancy policies and programs for the state and local agencies, and (2) to advise the boards of DHS, TDR and TEA on adolescent pregnancy issues.

APPAC's legislative mandate is to report its recommendations about adolescent pregnancy prevention to relevant state agencies and to each regular session of the Legislature.

The recommendations and strategies in this report are the result of a democratic group process and at times may differ from an agency's/organization's official position. There were 10 government agencies and nine non-government agencies which worked on the preparation of this report. The report was produced by and is available through the Texas Department of Human Services in Austin.

The purpose of this report is to present recommendations to the 72nd Legislature on policies and actions that lead to:

- reduction in the incidence of adolescent pregnancy,

- better utilization and coordination of existing services for those who are at risk of too early childbearing and childrearing and for those who become pregnant,

- development of new services or expansion of services where needed, and

- enhancement of self-responsibility as the strategy for reversing the high rates of adolescent pregnancy and the negative consequences of adolescent pregnancy and parenting.

The report is divided into four areas of recommendations and strategies: Education, Health Services, Employment and Community Involvement and Empowerment.

I would like to highlight these four areas briefly:

1. EDUCATION

Problem: Lack of success in school correlates with adolescent pregnancy. Many adolescents lack basic skills, knowledge about human sexuality, awareness of the real responsibilities involved in parenting, skills needed to make responsible decisions, and a sense of self-responsibility for their actions.

Recommendations: (1) Facilitate educational success, (2) Provide human sexuality education, (3) Increase programs for pregnant and parenting adolescents, (4) Offer prevention education in community settings.

2. HEALTH SERVICES

Problem: Limited access to comprehensive health services increases the risks of adolescent pregnancy and poor pregnancy outcomes, alcohol and substance abuse, and other debilitating conditions and behaviors among adolescents.

Recommendation: Provide a comprehensive service system.

3. EMPLOYMENT

Problem: Adolescents lack age-appropriate employment and volunteer opportunities that enhance their sense of worth, provide alternatives to adolescent childbearing and childrearing, and broaden their vision of future life opportunities.

Recommendations: (1) Equip youth for economic self-sufficiency, (2) Promote training and employment of youth.

INVOLVEMENT AND EMPOWERMENT

Problem: Adolescent pregnancy has immediate and long-term adverse effects on the entire community.

Recommendation: Coordinate local efforts.

The entire report contains 20 pages which discuss in detail the recommendations for these four areas as well as the implementation strategies for the recommendations. It is very important that Texas citizens and residents of Haskell County remember the following:

(1) This is only a report made to the Legislature. It is not in the form of a bill or a resolution.

(2) Texas is a very diverse state in many ways. Because of this diversity, legislation passed and government programs and services established for the state may be a solution for problems existing in a certain sector of the state and at the same time not be of paramount need in another section of the state.

(3) Any individual, group or agency can take a report of any kind and interpret the contents of the report to coincide with their beliefs.

(4) The best way to be an informed citizen is to secure copies of reports such as this and study the report for oneself.

Copies of the report are available in the Haskell County Extension office at 101 S. Ave. D in Haskell, or from Liz Silvernagle, Texas Department of Human Services, P.O. Box 149030, MVW-317, Austin, TX 78714-9030. The phone number is (512) 450-4163.

Ancestors

Editor: My name is Chad Harris and I am currently attempting to locate descendants of my ancestors who once lived in your town, hoping they can provide me with more information about our past family.

I have enclosed a picture of a Texaco gas station that my great-grandfather John F. Kennedy owned in Haskell around 1923. My great-grandfather Robert Lowery Kennedy was injured working there and died from smallpox two weeks later on July 12, 1923.

Scores wanted

Editor: My hobby is collecting football scores/season records of schools in the University Interscholastic League. I have spent years gathering these scores from various sources and I have just about exhausted all of my nearby resources.

I am seeking scores of Haskell games from 1920 through 1929. If you have records available, I would appreciate it if you would provide this information to me.

Clipped...

Dear Sam:

I'm writing this as slow as I can, 'cause I know you can't read fast.

We don't live where we did last time you was here. Dad read in the paper that most accidents happen within 20 miles of home, so we moved.

I won't be able to send you our address 'cause the last family that lived here took the numbers with them for their next house so they wouldn't have to change their address.

This place has a built-in washing machine. The first day I put some socks and a couple of shirts in it, pulled the chain and haven't seen 'em since.

It rained twice this week; three days one time and four days the other time.

The coat you asked me to send you would have been too heavy to mail, your aunt said. So I cut the big brass buttons off and put them in the pockets before I mailed it.

We got a bill from the funeral home and they said if we didn't make the payment on Grandma's funeral, up she comes.

About your dad, he has a great new job. He has over 500 people under him. He's cutting the grass at the cemetery.

Your sister had a baby this morning, but I don't know yet if it was a boy or a girl---so I can't tell you if you are an aunt or an uncle.

Uncle John fell in the whiskey vat. They tried to pull him out, but he fought 'em off and drowned with a big grin on his face. We creamed him and he burned for three days.

Three of your friends went off the bridge in that old pickup. One was driving and two were in the back. The driver got out; he rolled down the window and swam to safety. The other two drowned; they couldn't get the tailgate down.

There's not much news this time. Nothing much has happened.

Love,
Mom

P.S. I was going to send you some money, but the envelope was already sealed.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
James E. Rodgers CPA

Deductible Interest - 1991

With the constant changes in tax law, you may be wondering just what interest expense will be deductible this year. Here's a brief run-down:

Home acquisition loans and home improvement loans. You may deduct 100% of interest paid on debt incurred to buy, build, or substantially improve your principal home and second home as long as the total acquisition debt does not exceed $1 million.

You may also deduct points (fees charged regularly in your geographical area to obtain a loan) incurred to buy or improve your principal residence. The points may be deducted in the year you pay them as long as you put up cash in the deal at least equal to the points charged. Otherwise, they must be deducted pro rata over the life of the loan.

Home equity loans. You may deduct 100% of interest paid on debt secured by a mortgage against your property as long as such debt does not exceed the lesser of $100,000 or your equity in the property. You may use the borrowed funds for any purpose and the interest will remain fully deductible.

Investment loans. Your deduction for interest paid on debt incurred to buy investments is limited to your net investment income. Interest that is disallowed because of this limit can be carried over and deducted in later years, subject to the later years' limits.

Business loans. You may deduct 100% of interest paid on business loans.

Personal Interest. You may not deduct interest paid on your credit cards, personal lines of credit, or auto loans. If you consolidate your otherwise nondeductible loans into a home equity loan, you may be able to fully deduct the interest. However, you must be prepared to pay the refinancing costs such as points (deductible ratably over the life of the loan), appraisal fees (not deductible), and loan processing fees (not deductible).

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

A colorful, two-day exposition, April 12-13, at the Wichita Falls Activities Center will focus attention on the region's multimillion-dollar agricultural industry. It also will provide valuable information topics ranging from home landscaping and food safety to estate planning and trade with Mexico.

The Texoma Farm and Ranch Expo will feature displays of agricultural and home equipment, supplies and services and public seminars from noon April 12 through the evening of April 13.

The exposition, first in Wichita Falls in 15 years, has been planned by the Rolling Plains Economic Program (R-PEP). This is a regional organization of citizens sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to promote economic growth and improved family life. The exposition is being supported by Berend Bros., NCNB Texas, Pierce Sales, Preston Dairy and TU Electric Co.

The exposition salutes the agricultural production of 30 Texas counties surrounding Wichita Falls, and the Oklahoma counties of Comanche, Cotton, Jackson, Jefferson, Stephens and Tillman.

Farming and ranching are important industries in Texoma, contributing more than $500 million to the area's economy each year," said Stan Bevers, agricultural economist with the Extension Service at Vernon.

Seminars will feature Extension Service specialists from Oklahoma and Texas, professional nurserymen, bankers, commodity group leaders, international trade representatives and other educators and speakers.

The first day's programs include discussions of proposals for free trade between the U.S. and Mexico; issues of food safety; farm and ranch estate planning; computerized decision aids for farm risk management; and an overview of the Environmental Protection Agency's national survey on water quality.

That afternoon will feature a symposium on cotton production, management, marketing, classing and federal programs. An indoor session will look at various aspects of horse marketing.

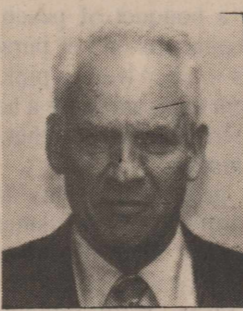

The second day will offer advice on organic gardening, basic training for a young horse, care of home fruit trees, Christmas tree production, estate planning, pond management, computerized farm risk decision aids, practical home lawn care and vineyard production.

Other topics will include vegetable gardening, landscaping for home security, reducing yard waste, water conservation through use of xeriscaping, proper spring planting techniques and regional landfills. An evening session on dog training and behavior will conclude the seminars.

We would sincerely like to thank everyone for your thoughts, prayers, phone calls, food and beautiful flowers in honor of our dear mother. Thanks to Father Ruben for a lovely mass and the parish ladies for the meal.

"DECISIONS MADE EARLY"

Many people plan for what might happen—fire, burglary, injury, and accidents. Now more and more people are planning for what will inevitably happen. It simply makes good sense to prepare for that which we can not avoid.

Pre-need funeral arranging allows one to control the type of service they would prefer, select a means of financing it, freeze the prices at today's price, and save loved ones the anguish of deciding these matters at a later date. Really it is the loving thing to do for your family.

Sunburns can cause skin cancer

"Catching rays" may not be much fun for careless sun worshippers this spring break when they return to school with painful sunburns that can damage their looks and their health.

While spring break revelers are enjoying themselves on the beach, they may experience damage that several years down the road could lead to skin cancer.

Malignant melanoma, a skin cancer that causes an estimated 8,000 U.S. deaths annually, has been linked to severe sunburn.
