Peanut Month salutes county's newest crop

During the month of March, the peanut industry will be making headlines in honor of National Peanut Month.

Since peanut production has become abundant in Haskell County, the county extension agents thought you might like to know a little more about the new crop that has helped Haskell County farmers further diversify their farming operations. The county agents who serve Haskell County are Max Stapleton, agriculture, and Lou Gilly, home economics.

Seven years ago, producers in the Rochester and Rule communities were looking for a new crop to help them diversify their farming operations. The local county extension agent-agriculture enlisted the help of various specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. As a result of many hours of research, producers' meetings, peanut tours, peanut result demonstrations and one-on-one contact, a total of 18,000 acres of peanuts are now being produced in Haskell County.

The growth of peanut production in the county has boosted the economy greatly. The peanuts will average about 3,000 pounds per acre at an average contract price of $350-$400 per ton. A peanut drying facility has been established which employs approximately 50 people during the peanut harvesting season as well as several full-time employees year round. The Rochester Pipe and Pivot Irrigation business has also been established. The business has installed approximately 60 center point irrigation systems for peanuts over the past seven years.

You might be interested in a little history about the peanut. U.S. farmers produce 10 percent of the world peanut supply. The acreage in peanut production is spread over 16 states. Eight of these states grow 99 percent of the U.S. peanut crop--Georgia, Texas, Alabama, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Virginia, Florida and South Carolina. These peanut farmers harvest about 3.5 billion pounds annually.

About one-third of the peanuts grown in the U.S. are sold to other countries. These peanuts are usually in a raw, shelled state. Canada, Western Europe and Japan are the major buyers.

Haskell Indian baseball team wades into district play

The Haskell Indian baseball team opened its district 7-2A season at Stamford Tuesday afternoon, bolstered by the addition of eight players from the basketball team.

The Indians, playing baseball for the first time since the late 1950s, posted a 1-4 record in five pre-district outings. Coach Johnny Kinzy hopes the experience, along with the beefed-up lineup, will help make his Indians contenders for the district title.

They will play Stamford here

Friday before taking off a week for spring break.

Haskell opened the season here Feb. 23 with an 18-7 loss to the Vernon junior varsity. The Indians then played three games in the Hawley tournament, defeating Jim Ned 6-5, and losing to Winters, 16-5, and Rotan, 11-0.

Last Friday the Indians hosted Holliday, the No. 1 rated 2A team in Texas, and bowed by a 10-0 score.

Shannon Meeks, who got the Indians' victory over Jim Ned, and Cody Cypert have carried the pitching load for the Indians.

Other top performers have been Chucky Castillo, catcher and outfielder; Stacey Walker, third base; Eddie Martinez, first base; Stephen Campbell, outfielder; Rudy Espinoza, outfielder; Matt Perry, second base; Jamie Hodgen, catcher; Chris Silvas, utility; and Shawn Sanford, outfield.

But on Monday of this week, Kinzy greeted eight players off the Indian basketball team which closed its season in the regional tournament last weekend.

This group included Brian Brozowski, pitcher and first base; Casey Larned, second base and outfielder; Jonathan Tatum, outfielder; Joseph Rodriguez, catcher; Eddie Gonzales, outfielder; Mart Guess, pitcher and outfielder; Patrick Billington, outfielder; and Cody Cooley, utility.

Kinzy said he expects the squad to develop into a good baseball team and be a contender in the district.

Five of the district teams are fielding baseball teams for the first time.

Haskell track team to compete in Anson

Haskell's varsity track team will be running this Saturday in the Tiger Relays in Anson.

Coach Richard Holloway's team will look a great deal different than the one which opened the season last Saturday by coming in ninth in the Mogul Relays in Munday, since eight members of the basketball team joined the squad this week.

Holloway was pretty well pleased with the performance of his thin squad at Munday. Frankie Masias came in second in the 1600-meter run with a time of 5:08.37. Richard Collins was fifth in the triple jump (37-9).

Taking sixth places were Deon Walker in the shot put (41-5), Masias in the 800 (2:14.8), Kenneth Billington in the 100 meters (12.2) and Bucky Harvey in the 300 hurdles (45.31).

Also finishing sixth was the 1600 meter relay team of Collins, Masias, Michael Salinas and Harvey (3:47.60).

Joining the Indian team this week from the basketball team were Casey Coleman, 400 meters; Jonathan Tatum, sprints, 400 and long jump; Justin Lisle, sprints; Robert Johnson, sprints and long jump; Patrick Billington, discus; Cody Josselet, sprints, discus and 400; Eddie Gonzales, 400, mile relay and high jump; and Robert Huff, 800 and 1600 meters.

After this week's meet in Anson, the Indians will have two weeks to prepare for their next one. March 20 is an open date and then on March 26-27, the Indians will run in Abilene.

On April 2, the Indians will participate in the Pied Piper Relays in Hamlin and then will host their own invitational on April 10.

Haskell's new track also will be the scene of the district 7-2A track meet April 15-17.

Indians end season with regional loss

Haskell's sensational basketball season came to an end Friday night when the Indians went down, 65-39, to the Memphis Cyclones in the first round of the regional tournament in Snyder.

The Indians played it close in the early going, trailing only 13-14 at the end of the first period. But in the first six minutes of the second quarter, Memphis outscored the Indians 17-2 to take a commanding lead enroute to a 34-19 halftime advantage.

Haskell also had a good third period, being outscored only 13-12, but the Cyclones ran away with the game with an 18-8 fourth-quarter edge.

Top scorer for the Indians was Brian Brzozowski, who had 12 points on the strength of five field goals and a pair of free throws. Jonathan Tatum had 11 points. Mart Guess, whose three 3-pointers kept the Indians close in the first period, ended the night with those 9 points. Cody Josselet scored 4 and Robert Huff 3.

For Memphis, Larry Johnson scored 24 points.

Haskell ended the season with a 25-8 won-lost record.

In the other opening game round in the regional, Amarillo Highland Park stopped Stamford, 79-42, and in the finals Saturday night, Highland Park defeated Memphis to advance to this week's state tournament in Austin.

Health Fair for students to be March 23

Haskell secondary schools will sponsor a health fair for students on Tuesday, March 23.

The theme for the day will be "Promoting Wellness Among the Students."

The day will begin with talks by Dr. Rick Harris, cardiologist, and Dr. James B. Williams, cardiovascular surgeon. Students will then attend sessions on a variety of health subjects. These will include:

¶ Inter-Personal relationships: Lou Gilly, presenter; Texas Extension Service, sponsor.

Students will hear a keynote address on how to deal with stress. Mike Patrick, chaplain at Hendrick Medical Center, will give this presentation.

Numerous organizations will have educational booths which students can visit. These will include Haskell EMS Service, Noah Project, Christian Homes of Abilene, American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Abilene HIV Clinic, Woods Treatment Center, Shades of Hope, Texas Department of Health, Hendrick Medical Center, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Outreach Health Services, Nemir Medical Supply, Haskell Nursing Center, Haskell Mental Health Clinic, Texas Department of Human Services and Abilene Regional Medical Center (Humana Hospital).

A panel of Haskell health professionals will discuss the services available locally. This panel will include Bill Nemir and Bob Gorton of Haskell Memorial Hospital; Dr. Bill McSmith of the Hospital Clinic; Dr. Wayne Cadenhead of the Haskell Clinic; Amy McKnight of the Texas Department of Health; Lonnie Meredith of The Drug Store; Elbert Johnson of Johnson Pharmacy, and Todd Barnes of Haskell EMS.

Reception to honor ECC retiree

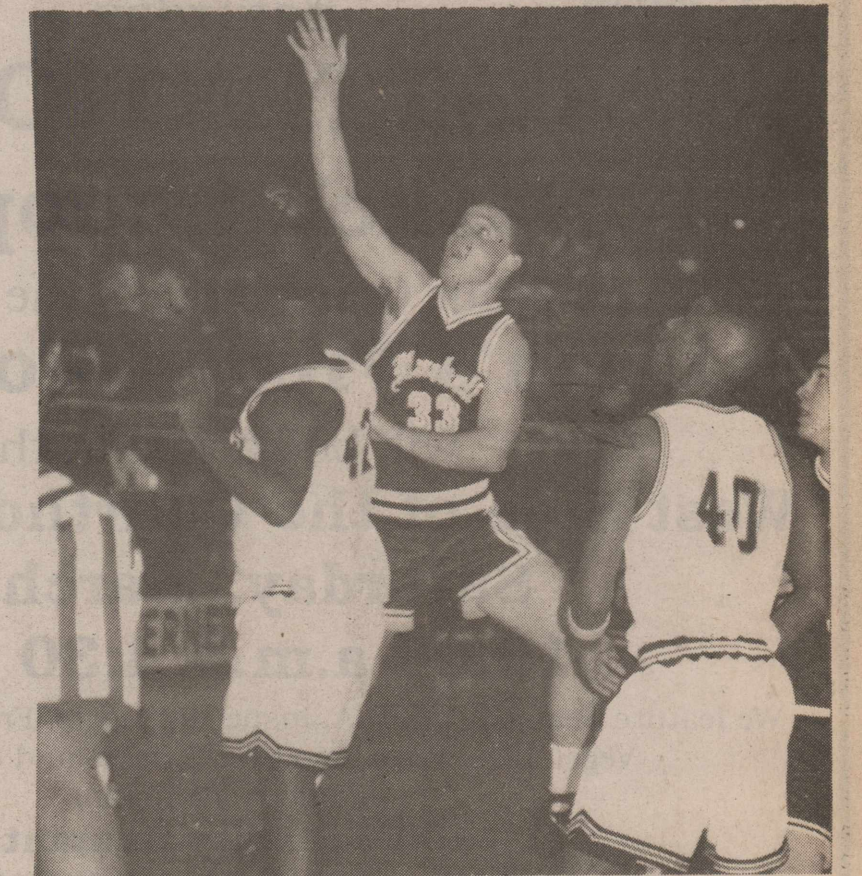

A reception Sunday afternoon at the Experienced Citizens Center will honor Maurice Boles on her retirement as head cook at the center.

The public is invited to attend the event which will be from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served and there will be a money tree for the honoree.

Mrs. Boles, who lives in Rule, has been cook at the center since June 1, 1981. During nearly 12 years in that capacity, she has been responsible for the preparation of an average of at least 100 meals three times a week.

She said that attendance at the Monday-Wednesday-Friday noon meals sometimes was as high as 275. The menu accounts for the fluctuation. "When we're having turkey and dressing, for instance," Mrs. Boles said, "we feed a lot more people than we do when we're having casseroles."

Before joining the ECC, Mrs. Boles worked four years as a cook at the Rule schools. Earlier, she spent three years as a cook at an Aspermont nursing home. "I've been a farmer the rest of my life," she said.

Cody Josselet closed out his basketball career at Haskell High School Friday night in the regional semifinal game against Memphis in Snyder.

County has names on lost property list

Thirty-four people with Haskell County addresses are among 125,000 Texans who have more than $86 million in lost or forgotten property which the state wants to return to the rightful owners.

The names were included in the 1993 edition of the Texas Treasury Unclaimed Money Fund list that was published in 34 Texas newspapers Sunday.

Each year, the Texas Treasury releases the list of people, businesses and organizations whose various accounts have remained dormant for three years or more. Last year, more than $50 million in unclaimed property was returned, including lost money belonging to the American Red Cross, Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, West Texas Lions Eye Bank, American Heart Association and Salvation Army.

Since the program's inception, hundreds of millions of dollars have been turned over to the state and almost $200 million in cash and property have been returned to owners or their heirs.

Texans are encouraged to call 1-800-654-3463 for information on the unclaimed property program.

Out-of-state callers must dial (512) 463-3120.

The list includes:

Haskell: Clyde Baty, Lucien Wendell Becker, Jim Bridwell, L. Castleberry, B. C. Chapman, Joe A. Cothron, Ora M. Ellis, George B. Fields, Sue Fincher, Gene's Drive-In, Florence Lameg, H. L. Lane, Mutt's Drive-In, Mutt's Drive-Inn, Carolyn W. Pippin, Waddie Lorene Todd, Eugene Tonn, T. Walker.

Students have program on electrical safety

Fourth-grade students at Haskell Elementary School attended a program on electrical safety.

Presenting the program was Lisa Hoff of Stamford, communication specialist with West Texas Utilities.

Students watched a video entitled, "Play It Safe Around Electricity." They learned to avoid electrical dangers such as flying kites or climbing trees near power lines and staying away from down lines when working or playing.

Ms. Hoff discussed the nature of electricity and what to do in case of an accident.

Each student was given a booklet on safety to take home.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
MAY 1, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Section 1 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to redistribute among other school districts ad valorem taxes levied and collected by a school district. The amendment would also allow the legislature to create county education districts with the taxable property of existing school districts in one or more counties combined. County education districts may levy, collect, and distribute ad valorem taxes as authorized by general law. The legislature would be allowed to set the rate of the ad valorem tax to be imposed in a school district or county education district or it may authorize the board of trustees of each school district or county education district to set the rate, provided that the rate of county education district ad valorem taxes may not exceed $1.00 per $100 valuation of taxable property, unless a higher rate is approved by the voters of the district. The amendment also provides that the amount of ad valorem taxes redistributed among school districts by the legislature and effectively redistributed within a county through county education districts may not exceed 2.75 percent of the sum of the state revenue appropriated for public schools and the revenue from local ad valorem taxes levied and collected for public schools. The term "state revenue" does not include revenue from ad valorem taxes, revenue for the provision of free textbooks, or contributions to a retirement system. Finally, the amendment provides that it does not affect the distribution of the available school fund under article VII, section 5, of the Texas Constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing limited redistribution of ad valorem taxes for schools, authorizing the legislature or local districts to set a minimum tax rate in county education districts, and placing a cap on the ad valorem tax levied by county education districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 2 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that, except for state educational mandates imposed in compliance with the Texas Constitution or federal law, or unless enacted by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature, a school district may not be required to comply with an obligation requiring expenditure of school district funds unless the obligation is fully funded. The amendment also requires the legislature to provide by law a procedure for determining whether an obligation is fully funded. In the absence of such a procedure, and at the request of a school district's board of trustees, the comptroller of public accounts shall determine whether or not an obligation is fully funded. This amendment applies only to state educational mandates enacted after December 31, 1993.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting a school district from the obligation to comply with unfunded state educational mandates."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes an amendment to article VII, section 5(b), of the constitution, which currently authorizes the legislature to provide for using the permanent school fund to guarantee bonds issued by school districts and certain education-related revenue bonds issued by the state. The amendment would repeal the provision authorizing the use of the permanent school fund to guarantee state revenue bonds, but would permit the legislature to provide by law for the issuance of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds of the state for the purpose of making loans to, or purchasing bonds of, school districts for the purpose of acquisition, construction, or improvement of instructional facilities, including all furnishings. The amendment also provides that the state, pursuant to general law, may forgive the payment of principal and interest on all or part of a loan made to a school district under the amendment to partially finance an instructional facility. The cap of $750 million on the amount of bonds that could be issued under article VII, section 5(b), as amended, would be retained. The amendment would repeal the current provision of the constitution permitting the legislature to authorize bonds in excess of $750 million by two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature. While any of the general obligation bonds issued under the amendment or any of the interest on those bonds is outstanding and unpaid, there would be appropriated out of the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, the amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that matured or became due that fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

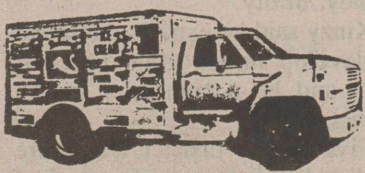

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in state general obligation or revenue bonds to assist school districts in partially financing facilities, authorizing the state to forgive payments of loans made to a school district for partially financing facilities, and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund."

Este es el informe explicatorio sobre la enmienda propuesta a la constitucion que aparecera en la boleta el dia 1 de mayo de 1993. Si usted no ha recibido una copia del informe en español, podra obtener una gratis por llamar al 1/800/252/8683 o por escribir al Secretario de Estado, P.O. Box 12060, Austin, Texas 78711

--Library Notes--

By Joan Strickland
It's been a while since I've taken the time to write about our library.

The state report has been sent to Austin and I am proud to say we've been certified by the State Library in Austin as meeting all state standards required in order for us to remain in the Big Country Library System.

(Information in the report that you find of interest: collection of books in our library, 16,500; transactions for 1992, 12,496; books received through inter-library loan for 1992, 203; visits to library by patrons this past year, 5,480.)

Advantages to being in the system are our extension books from Abilene. We receive 52 large print books per month and can keep them in our collection for up to one year.

We also receive book value funds for non-fiction and children's books. We also participate in inter-library loan.

Many people have found the ILL to be of great benefit when making reports, studying for tests or for information on almost any subject they might choose.

Of course it does help expedite matters if you have the name of the book you are seeking and the author's first and last names.

We are also required to attend two meetings per year in Abilene. Dorothy Cox is our lay representative for this year and she and I will be attending the systems meeting March 23. We are required to attend and we learn a great deal concerning laws, state regulations, ordering, etc. Dorothy has given many volunteer hours working and the library and I appreciate her agreeing to be our lay rep again this year.

We've received a few new books recently. Most were back ordered, but they are trickling in one by one. Also a new set of Popular Science has been added to our collection and the Bluebonnets should arrive soon. If you don't know what these are, ask your kids, they know.

Plans are taking shape for the summer reading program. So kids, make plans to spend Wednesday mornings at the library this summer.

Several of our library patrons have been badly "under the weather" and we'd like to wish you all a speedy recovery and hope you are back reading with us soon. We miss seeing your cheery faces.

We have IRS forms of every description; also books and directions etc. Feel free to call or come by if you are needing any of the hard-to-find forms or extension applications.

Recent memorial donations: Drey Lowe, Pace O'Neal, Leslie Jones, Dee Kirkland and Fred Metcalf (father of Mary Rike).

Seniors of '93: I enjoyed having your two English classes come to the library and I do hope the books you checked out and the books we got for you through Inter-library Loan helped each of you get a big "A" on your term themes.

See you at the library!
Joan Strickland, Librarian

G. W. Williams and family have moved back to Haskell to make their home after living the past two years at Mergarle. Mr. Williams was manager of one of the Grissom stores there.

The agriculture class in Haskell High School sent a team of five boys to the judging contests at Fort Worth Fat Stock Show last week. The team was composed of John L. McCollum, Kenneth Oates, Earnest Sanders, Clay Smith and Maurice Smith. The team placed 17th in a field of some 50-odd teams.

Trustees of the Haskell school district announced this week that the district was out of debt for the first time in a number of years, if not in the history of the school district.

The Roberts second baseball team defeated the Vontress first team Friday afternoon by a score of 40-16.

90 Years Ago March 14, 1903

E. W. Loe, who lives on Wild Horse Prairie, is preparing to put in a nursery.

A number of boys and young men have organized a social club at which reading, games and other recreation will furnish the amusement. They have rented a room on the south side of the square for their meeting place and have elected Albert English president, Byron Wright, secretary, Coleman Townes, treasurer, K. Jones, sergeant at arms, and Johnny Thomason, janitor.

J. M. Johnson went around yesterday and got the businessmen to subscribe enough money to set the courthouse yard with Bermuda grass.

Judge A. C. Foster is off on a business trip to Galveston.

Headstream Center

On Feb. 25, the clients at Headstream had a birthday party. Some of the clients cooked a delicious birthday cake and the staff provided cold drinks.

Bingo was played and there were enough prizes for everyone to get two. No one could get a second bingo prize until everyone had bingoed once.

On March 4, 10 clients loaded up in the van and went to Wal-Mart in Stamford with Travis and Ann. Everyone enjoyed the ride, shopping, etc.

We are planning a day out in Abilene March 10 and are looking forward to that.

March 18 we are having a luncheon and paint class. We will have a watercolor demonstration by Amanda when we have the luncheon and paint class.

Everyone must wear green on St. Patrick's Day or get pinched, so be prepared.

Since Ann came back we have been having good classes and recreation too. Thank you, Ann, for coming back when we needed you.

As of March 1, we have a new director at Headstream. We miss Lori Letterman but are looking forward to working with Melvin "Mel" H. Delaney Jr.

He was born May 4, 1967, and graduated from Abilene Christian University in 1989. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 155, but we plan to "fatten him up a little."

Mel has worked as a Central Texas MHMR case worker and as a special education teacher at Abilene High School.

His hobbies are fishing, hunting and team roping, mostly in the Abilene area.

He is single, ladies, but let's not everyone drop in at Headstream at once. He has been busy "learning the ropes" at the Outreach Center.

His appearance, after orientation, will relieve others of "double duty" and we all wish him well.

Number of autopsies in Texas decreases

Autopsies for other than criminal matters have been decreasing in the U.S. for 30 years. In Texas, only 13 of each 100 deaths are autopsied.

This concerns pathologists at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston where once almost half of in-hospital deaths resulted in autopsy. Physicians at the Galveston school believe autopsies are important because about 10 percent of them reveal a major diagnosis not known before the patient died.

Pathologists believe that autopsies are more necessary than ever because medicine can still learn much from the dead.

"Often corpses reveal more secrets than the living," one specialist says.

-Green Thumb-

By Gladys O'Neal
Haskell Garden Club

The same March which comes in like a lion is also the awakening moon. Mother Nature stirs herself after the long sleep of winter.

It is now time to get our soil ready for summer and planting. The best garden soil will not remain fertile under the drying sun and scorching heat of summer without attention.

Uncovered areas should be hoed to break up the thickly encrusted areas and allow the air to circulate through the soil again. Now is the time to mulch or use a ground cover of green fertilizer plants. "Green Manures" are plants that protect and enrich the soil. It is good to sow plants known for adding fertility to the soil. Legumes contain soil nutrients and produce masses of foliage which quickly cover and protect the ground and smother and crowd out the weeds.

It is better to sow ground covers in the spring and they can be moved if desired. It is good to use mulch of grass clippings, chaff or straw. Saw dust is a great mulch. A two-inch layer of loosely spread mulching will prevent weed growth, keep the soil moist and keep the soil from wind and rain erosion.

Now is the time to fertilize pansies and keep them watered well. Also, now is the time to divide overcrowded clumps of cannas, chrysanthemums and phlox as they begin growing.

Now for some hints before blooms:

A cupful of mouthwash to a quart of water is a remedy that keeps blooms in good shape. Equal parts of 7-Up and warm water with a dash of liquid chlorine bleach is also good to preserve flowers.

To protect a plant from cutworms, take a toilet tissue tube, cut with a sharp knife from one end to the other, spread apart and put around the stem of the plant. Press the tube into the soil carefully to not damage the roots. This works well for broccoli and tomatoes.

The little pieces of wood which hold a frozen dessert, make fine markers or labels for plants. With a waterproof pen, write the variety name of the plant and press firmly into the pot or soil.

When gardening, to avoid grimy fingernails, scrape them over a wet cake of soap before beginning to work. This will keep dirt out, and the soap will rinse out easily.

Cold tea makes a good fertilizer for house plants and acts as an insecticide.

A good treatment for sick plants: put several empty egg shells into a milk carton filled with water and let stand for a day. Then water the plant with this mixture.

Gardening is an art, a science and a craft. The lure of the garden is as old as Adam and Eve.

--Social Security--

By Glynn Hammons
District Manager

If you worked and received Social Security benefits during 1992, you have until April 15 to report the amount of your 1992 earnings to the Social Security Administration.

Anyone whose earnings exceeded the annual earnings limits must file a report. The earnings limits for 1992 were $10,200 for beneficiaries aged 65-69 and $7,440 for those under 65.

Social Security will compare the amount of earnings on your 1992 report with the estimate you provided when you applied for benefits or when you filed last year's earnings report. Benefits paid in 1992 were based on that estimate. If you earned less than you estimated, you may be due additional money; if you made more than you estimated for 1992, you may have to repay some benefits.

People who turned 70 in 1992 only need to report earnings up to the month of their birthday. Self-employed beneficiaries who turned 70 in 1992 should prorate their earnings--that is, total the earnings for the year and divide by 12--and report the prorated amount for the months before their birthday. Those who were 70 or older all year don't have to file a report.

Filing your federal income tax return does not take the place of filing your earnings report with Social Security. And, if you request a filing extension for your federal income tax return, you do not automatically get an extension on the filing date for your Social Security earnings report. You must request each extension separately.

Editor: We would like to thank the people of Haskell and the surrounding area for the support they gave the Haskell Varsity boys' basketball team during the past season.

There is no way we can begin to list each individual or business who gave of their time and love to help support our team, but we do want each and everyone of you to know how much your caring and support were appreciated.

The signs, streamers and flying flags each game day were a glowing sight to see. The number of Indian fans who attended the playoff games was awesome. Other towns commended Haskell for the fans who followed and supported their team.

Thank you for all your hard work and for supporting our Indians.

Parents briefed on UIL contests

Parents of elementary students met Monday at the elementary school to be briefed on the upcoming elementary UIL contests.

The contests will be March 23 and March 26 in Stamford. Sixty students from Haskell will compete against students from all other district schools except Hawley.

Competitions in the following events were explained to the parents:

Oral Reading

Melodee Christian and Janie Stone, coaches. The most recent approach to oral reading is called "performance of literature." This school of thought maintains that the poem or story should generate its own set of performance behaviors. This school encourages movement appropriate to each text as the performer recreates the world of the literature in all its physical and vocal realms.

Creative Writing

Lana Stewart coach. A new creative writing contest for second grade has been added to the elementary academic program. This contest is designed to promote the development of creativity and to encourage writing skills at an early grade level.

Dictionary Skills

Letha Newton, coach. Teachers and parents are continuously searching for ways to improve study skills for today's student. Thorough knowledge of the dictionary is a way to increase a student's ability to find the information that is needed for classwork as well as everyday living. The skills to fully use a dictionary can speed up the task of information processing.

Listening Contest

Debbie Earles, coach. The Listening Contest is designed to help students recognize the importance of effective listening skills and to identify problems they may have in listening effectively, as well as to provide a challenging format to test the improvement of their listening abilities. The purpose of the contest is to encourage students to develop the foundation skills they will need throughout their lives, both in and out of the classroom.

Maps, Graphs and Charts

Diane Huff, coach. This contest is designed to provide students with experience in developing and using skills needed to obtain information from a variety of reference sources. Such skills will prove invaluable to students, not only in their classroom and related academic endeavors, but also in their daily lives for years to come. From determining travel plans to tracking the value of investments to preparing income tax returns, we rely on these skills frequently.

Number Sense

Paula Everett, coach. Number sense is much more than a contest in mental mathematics. In the everyday world, most individuals are called upon to use their power of number sense in making quick mental calculations in order to make decisions. For example, most of us have been forced into the situation of quickly determining if we have enough money to pay for the groceries in the shopping cart. The list of practical applications of number sense ability is endless, ranging from simple calculations (as in balancing a checkbook) to complex considerations (such as pollution statistics).

Picture Memory

Caron Yates, coach. The hundreds of historic masterpieces housed in the National Gallery of Art in Washington have provided thousands of Texas elementary school students with a glimpse of our artistic past. This contest activity has remained popular with teachers and students throughout the

Ready Writing

Dolores Foster and Jo Nell Trammell, coaches. Any writing program that is used in the schools will prepare students for ready writing. Writing that is interesting, well organized and sufficiently developed will score well with judges.

Spelling

Julie Toliver and Sherry Adams, coaches. The spelling contest is offered in three divisions for elementary and junior high schools: grades 3-4, 5-6 and 7-8. In each division, students are expected to spell words correctly while, at the same time, writing the words legibly.

Story Telling

Judy Burson, coach. The values of storytelling are easy to identify as the participant must develop skills in listening, thinking and speaking. Storytelling also allows for the creative expression that so many students need to have a chance to develop.

Calculator Applications

Paula Everett, coach. Calculator applications is a contest designed to stimulate the development of mathematical and calculator skills. Goals are both intellectual and practical: developing mathematical reasoning and knowledge, and requiring the application of problem-solving skills toward realistic problems.

The long frontier (between the U.S. and Canada) from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, guarded only by neighborly respect and honorable obligations, is an example to every country and a pattern for the future of the world. . . Winston Churchill.

--Paint Creek--

by Mabel Overton
The Paint Creek Water Supply Corporation held its annual membership meeting last Saturday night and really had a nice turn out. Now that the extension is all completed and everybody is on line and the new pump station is pumping away, everyone seems so happy that things are going so well.

Wallar Overton conducted the meeting and introduced Don Cobb of Clark and Cobb CPA's for the audit. Don told us that it was a good year financially and if we have normal water use this year, things should work out fine financially.

The three incumbents were re-elected for another two year term and the Board of Directors now consists of Wallar Overton, J. R. Perry, D. E. Livengood, Joel Nanny, and Vernay Andress. Tim Jennings, our manager/operator, gave a report of our operations and we could hardly hold him down since he and his wife, Donice, had become grandparents again the night before.

The folks at Lake Stamford served one of the finest barbecue meals I have ever eaten and it is so fun to get together every year with all of the good folks that live in our community and own homes down at the lake. There were several people there that came on the system with the extension and we were surely glad that they were recognized and welcomed to the Corporation.

I don't guess that we will ever know what would have happened to Paint Creek if we had not built the water system when we did. Also, we sure want to thank the Paint Creek School for providing the cafeteria for all of us to meet in. It was just great!

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Jennings have a new grandson. Their daughter, Leslie and her husband Burke Brock are his parents. They named the young man, Conner. He has a big brother, two year old Mitch. Grandmother Jennings went when Conner was born, came back home for the Water system annual meeting Saturday night, and then went back to help take care of Conner and Mitch.

Mrs. Beulah Mae Decker died in the Haskell hospital Saturday. Her funeral service was held at the Trinity Baptist Church Saturday afternoon with Rev. Kenneth Blair and Louis Wilson officiating. She was buried in Willow Cemetery. Mrs. Decker was born in Haskell County, and as a girl lived with her parents and sisters in the Post Community.

She had eight sisters, and when I taught school at Post we had what I thought was a pretty good girls' baseball team. That is until we matched a game with the Treadwell sisters one Saturday. They could bat that baseball plumb over the teacherage, or way down by the coal pile, or anywhere else they wanted it. My little girls ran themselves ragged chasing baseballs. We never matched a game with the Treadwell girls again. They were a wonderful family of athletes. We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Decker's family.

The 9th and 10th grade classes of Paint Creek visited KTAB television in Abilene last week. Mrs. Lana Medford and Mrs. Julie Peel took 30 students. They saw how the audio part of commercials was produced and how the morning and evening news is produced. They were shown the morgue for old videos. They learned how they readied commercials. They learned about monitors, and cameras and editing. After the tour, the students had lunch at Sho-Gun.

Playing in the golf tournament at the Haskell Golf Course were Shawn Barbour, Hans Overton, Geovanny Mayen, Josh Howard, Casey Thompson and Shannon Waters. After spring break, they will have the district tournament at Snyder.

Tiffany Bradford on ACU honor roll

Tiffany Bradford was one of 782 students at Abilene Christian University named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the 1992 fall semester.

To make the honor roll, a student must complete at least 12 semester hours for grades and earn a 3.45 or higher grade-point average.

Miss Bradford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bradford of Haskell.

Farm program provisions revealed

Glenn R. Brzozowski, Haskell County ASCS executive director, has received the common provisions for the 1993 commodity programs for wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, rice, soybeans and other oilseeds.

The 0-50/90 provisions remain available at producer's discretion. The estimated deficiency payment rates announced Jan. 29 and Feb. 2 are the minimum guaranteed payment rates for producers participating in the 0/92 wheat and feed grains and 50/92 upland cotton and rice programs.

As with the 1992 programs, 0/92 conserving use (CU) acreage may be planted, at the producer's discretion, to minor oilseeds (sunflower seed, safflower, flaxseed, canola, rapeseed and mustard seed). If minor oilseeds are planted on this acreage, producers must choose whether to retain deficiency payment eligibility and waive price support program eligibility or retain price support program eligibility and waive deficiency payment eligibility.

Sesame and crambe may be planted on 0/92 and 50/92 acreage for the 1993-95 crops and producers retain deficiency payment eligibility. Price support programs for sesame and crambe will not be offered.

When minor oilseeds, sesame and crambe are planted on 0/92 acreage, the acreage may also be subsequently planted to the same crops that may be planted on "flexible" acreage (excluding program crops) in the same crop year.

If soybeans are double-cropped the farm must have an established history of double-cropping soybeans (for example, wheat followed by soybeans or feed grains followed by soybeans) during at least three of the past five years. Producers must agree to forego price support eligibility for the subsequently planted crop.

Dry peas (limited to Austrian peas, wrinkled seed, green, yellow and umatilla) and lentils may be planted on up to 20 percent of a wheat and feed grain crop acreage base. Such acreage will be considered as planted to the program crop for planting history purposes.

Crops prohibited on the 1992 flexible acreage will also be prohibited on 1993 flexible acreage.

The planting of industrial and other crops than minor oilseeds, sesame and crambe on 0-50/92 CU acreage will not be permitted. Targeted option payments will not be made available to producers.

Planting of designated crops on the announced acreage conservation reserve (ACR) will not be permitted.

Planting of oats for harvest on ACR under the wheat and feed grain programs will not be permitted.

Malting barley will not be exempted from acreage reduction requirements for the 1993 crop of barley.

Program signup is March 1 through April 30. Additional information may be obtained at the Haskell County ASCS office.

State releases blackeyed seed

As luck would have it, 1993 maybe the year of the pea—one that's sure not to give Texas a black eye.

Texas Pinkeye, a pea that's bright pink where others are black when fresh, has been released to seed companies by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Good Guide Pyramid assures healthy diet

In 1992, the United States Department of Agriculture released a new representation of the healthy American diet. The Food Guide Pyramid is an outline of what foods to eat each day. But it goes further in that it visually represents what amounts of different foods should comprise the diet. It also emphasizes the fact that, while fats, oils and sweets may be included in the diet, they should be used sparingly.

The Pyramid tells us that starch foods such as breads, cereals, rice and pasta, represented as the base of the Pyramid, should make up the bulk of the diet. The next level of the Pyramid shows plant foods, vegetables and fruits. As the Pyramid narrows, dairy products and meat, poultry, fish and other protein foods are represented. At the tip of the Pyramid and in the smallest section are the fats, oils and sweets.

But how can the Pyramid be interpreted in making everyday food choices?

The Pyramid is different from previous food group recommendations in that it shows a range of servings for each food group: 6 to 11 servings for grains; three to five servings for vegetables; two to four servings for fruit; two to three servings for meats and two to three servings for milk products.

At first this may seem confusing, but the range takes into consideration that different individuals need different amounts of food and calories depending on various factors such as age, sex, physical size and activity level.

Almost everyone should have the lowest number of servings in each range. The minimum number of servings will provide about 1600 calories, that is when low-to-moderate fat foods are selected and the level of added fats in the diet is low. This number of calories is about right for many sedentary women and some older adults. Eating the highest numbers of servings in each group will provide about 2800 calories, too many for most individuals except teenage boys and very active men or athletes.

Another crucial concept to understand when using the Pyramid recommendations is serving or portion size. A serving is not the number of times a food is eaten per day, but rather a specific amount of a food. For example: one serving of grain is one-half cup of pasta or one slice of bread; a vegetable serving is one-half cup cooked vegetable or one cup raw greens; a fruit serving is one (smallish) piece or three-fourths cup juice; a milk serving is one cup (8 ounces) of milk; a meat serving is only three ounces (a piece about the size of a deck of cards).

Each of the food groups provides some but not all the nutrients needed. That's why it's important to eat foods from each of the groups. The Pyramid goes beyond the food groups to help put the dietary guidelines into action.

For more information on using the Pyramid and on controlling the level of fat in your diet, contact Lou Gilly, Haskell County extension agent in home economics at 864-2546.

Switching Hands: Being ambidextrous may make some tasks easier and could increase your prowess in sports or dancing, but scientists are split on whether it can change personality traits or affect lifespan. Approximately 14% of the population is ambidextrous, and it is not difficult to become ambidextrous, even as an adult, although children generally find it easier. Probably the greatest benefit of learning to use your nondominant hand is that it exercises more of the brain.

Mrs. Yates hostess to Weinert club

The Weinert Extension Homemakers Club met March 2 in the Weinert school.

Hostess was Alice Yates. As it was Texas Independence Day, the decorations were red, white and blue. Members saluted the flag and repeated the "Pledge of Allegiance."

The program was "Illiteracy Is a No-Know," presented by Erma Liles. She gave an interesting talk on illiteracy.

Guest speaker was Kila Lackey of Avoca. She holds the office of state TEHA secretary and is active in the Jones County Literacy Program. A very good speaker who loves working with illiteracy and helping others, she gave an enjoyable talk on the subject. She stressed that we take so many things for granted, and how sad it is for those who can't read or write and all they are missing in life.

Five ladies from Munday who are interested in this subject were in attendance to learn more about the teaching. Mrs. Douglas Myers was an excited teacher too, and described the way she worked with others.

Other ladies who were helping and teaching and talked to members were LaRue Reeves, Naomi Pate and LaVelera Hertel. Mary Martin of Haskell was excited and explained about her work in teaching.

The business meeting was opened by Myrtle Phemister, president. Roll call was answered by 14 members on "I Wouldn't Know If I Couldn't Read."

Betty Sanders, secretary-treasurer, read the minute of the previous meeting which were approved. The treasurer's report was given and the council report was given by Estalynn Liles. The tri-county meeting will be March 31 in Knox County.

Weinert's highway cleanup day will be April 3. Members will meet at the school at 9 a.m. March 17 will be council day in Haskell, Josselet as hostess. Next club day will be April 6 at the school. Lou Gilly, county agent, will meet with the group and Lavita Burgess will be hostess for the program on "how to make a broomstick skirt and a tote bag."

Those attending were Myrtle

Phemister, Faye Jetton, Betty Sanders, Jimmie Weinert, Lavita Burgess, Cordie Cunningham, Shelia Harbers, Estalynn Liles, Frances Mahan, Alta McGuire, Henrietta Rueffer, Agnes Winchester, Erma Liles, La Rue Reeves, Naomi Pate, Lavelera Hertel, Mrs. Douglas Myers, Kila Lackey and Alice Yates.

Finnell bill would link schools via TV

Hearings began Thursday on a State Rep. Charles Finnell-sponsored bill that eventually would allow Texas educators to share via two-way classroom television some unique educational resources and programs.

The concept is known as interactive video. When in operation, it could allow a professor in Wichita Falls, for example, to lecture and respond to questions from students in Haskell or Paducah.

Finnell called the interactive educational video "a cost-effective system that would enhance the educational environment of all our Texas public school districts."

The system, Finnell said, also could be used to conduct the necessary school administration meetings, complete with question-answer sessions, among school managers without the high costs of travel to a central point.

Wal-Mart scholarship to HHS senior

Nichole Cothron, a Haskell High School senior, is 1993 recipient of the $1,000 Wal-Mart Foundation community scholarship. She plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene this fall.

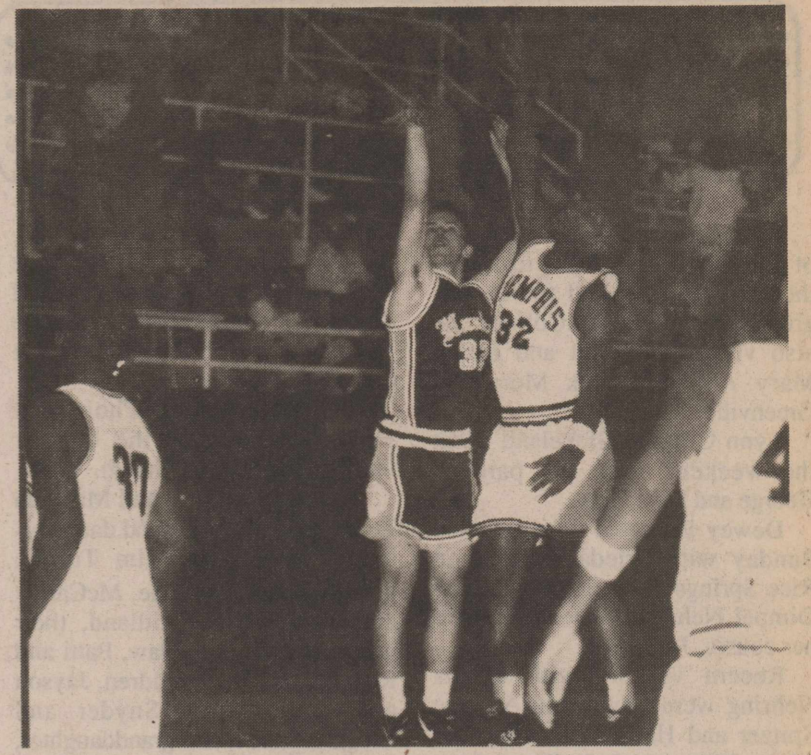

Jim Strauss, manager of the Stamford Wal-Mart, said the scholarship is awarded each spring by Wal-Mart to an area college- or university-bound high school senior and is payable over a one-year period.

In making the announcement, Strauss said, "It is with great pleasure that we announce Nichole Cothron as winner of this year's scholarship. It was a difficult decision for our team of well-qualified, local judges who had to select from many outstanding students."

Strauss went on to say that the scholarship criteria is based primarily on academic performance, involvement in school and community, and financial need.

Hemant Patel of Hamlin, who will attend Rice University, was chosen as first alternate and Brooke Baker of Haskell, who will attend Texas A&M University, was second alternate.

Serving as judges were Ken Lane, Don Hopkins and Lillian Southerland.

Mart Guess gets off a shot against Memphis in the regional semifinals in Snyder Friday night.

We will always remember the kindnesses and expressions of love shown to us during the long illness and death of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother Beulah Mae Decker. We give a special thank you to Dr. Wayne and the hospital staff, and to the many friends and family who remembered us with prayer, food, visits, cards, flowers and words of encouragement. The memorial service and meal that Trinity Baptist provided for our family was such a beautiful expression of Christian love. Bro. Kenneth Blair and Bro. Louis Wilson, whose messages were comforting, and Peggy Darden and Lori Hill, whose music lifted our hearts, we sincerely thank you.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

IRA DISTRIBUTIONS

If you have an individual retirement account (IRA), you need to plan your distributions. In addition to the regular income tax, extra taxes may apply if the distributions are too small, too large, too early, or too late.

There is a 50% tax on amounts not taken out of your IRA when required. Distributions are required the year you reach 70 1/2. You have until April 1st of the following year to make the first actual withdrawal, but if you opt to postpone your first withdrawal until then, you must take two annual withdrawals in that second year (the distribution for the year you reached 70 1/2, plus the second year's required distribution).

Your required distributions are based on the amount in your IRA and the life expectancy of you and your beneficiary. The Internal Revenue Service provides life expectancy tables. If you have more than one IRA, the computation must be made for each IRA, but the total distribution may be taken from one account.

A 10% penalty tax is assessed if you take a distribution from your IRA before you're 59 1/2 years old. An exception exists for death or disability. Another limited exception applies to a certain series of substantially equal payments taken over your life expectancy and that of your beneficiary.

In addition to penalties for early withdrawals and late withdrawals, there is also a 15% penalty for excessive withdrawals. In determining excessive withdrawals, all retirement plan distributions received during the year are combined. The 15% penalty generally applies to the extent the total exceeds $150,000. Different rules apply if the distributions include lump-sum retirement plan payouts.

Be aware of taxes on IRA distributions. They can be substantial, but proper planning can minimize them.
