Perry tells AP he'll run again

The Associated Press quoted Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry Tuesday as saying he is running for re-election and will not be running for governor--yet.

"I'm sure some day in my life I will be interested in running for governor, but it will not be in 1994," the Haskell County native was quoted as saying.

"There's a lot to do in agriculture yet. And I think that industry certainly deserves the continuity, I think it deserves the real focus, I think it deserves the familiarity that I have with it," Perry told the AP.

Hunter safety course scheduled

A hunter safety course will be taught in Haskell next week.

Classes will be in the ag building from 6 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (July 20-21-22). James Bevel will be instructor.

Seven shoppers share in drawings

May Belle Benton and Letha Newton each won $100 in Super 2nd Saturday drawings in Haskell Saturday.

Mrs. Benton's ticket was from Carpet Express and Mrs. Newton's ticket was not stamped.

Five others won $50 each:

Becky Cline on a ticket from Barbara's, Carol Carlton of Throckmorton on a ticket from The Slipper Shoppe, Earlene Griffith on a ticket from the Carousel, Kim Markey on a ticket from Country Daizie and Elaine Glover of Rochester on a ticket from Frazier's Appliance.

The annual Kiwanis Club Softball Tournament is scheduled for July 23-24.

Individual T-shirts will be given for the first three places and team trophies will be given for the first four places.

Burgess qualifies for Leader group

Brian R. Burgess, Haskell life insurance professional with State Farm, has qualified for 1993 membership in the Texas Leaders Round Table (TLRT), an honor organization affiliated with the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

Burgess is a member of the Abilene Association of Life Underwriters and is a new qualifying member of TLRT this year.

Representing only the top seven percent of life insurance professionals in the state, TLRT recognizes outstanding achievement in the life and health insurance and related financial services industry.

Members must qualify each year by meeting strict professional and ethical requirements, as well as achieving successful sales production records and rendering continuous service to clients and their beneficiaries.

Students in the Haskell computer camp visited Bailey Tolliver Chevrolet & Olds during a series of field trips they took to local businesses.

Computer camp draws 50 students

Fifty elementary and secondary students as well as a teacher attended the first computer camp in Haskell.

Sessions were taught by Debi Burson, elementary computer teacher and technology specialist, and Pam Thigpen, secondary computer literacy and art teacher. Senior Tréci Burson also assisted.

Students attended half-day sessions for hands-on and project-oriented instructions. Each student produced a computer-generated graphics slide show, complete with copy, music and voice overs. On the fourth day, students took field trips to Bailey Tolliver Chevrolet, The Drug Store, Haskell National Bank and First National Bank.

"We wanted the students to see how businesses here in Haskell use computers as a part of their operations," Mrs. Thigpen explained.

On Friday, the students finished their slide shows and viewed each other's work.

"If civic or service groups would like to have a demonstration of the multi-media use of computers, we'd be happy to schedule a program at the computer lab," Mrs. Burson said.

Earlier teacher workshops were held in the lab.

"The lab has really been busy. Teachers recently completed a three-day desktop publishing workshop here. Before that they came for several one-day workshops using Clarisworks: word processing, databases and spread sheets. Another workshop dealt solely with Macintosh software available to district teachers and students," Mrs. Burson said.

She explained that without community, school board and administration support, this advanced technology would not be available for the continuing education of Haskell students and teachers.

New administrator at nursing center

GTE guarantees its service

On June 1, GTE began offering customers a service performance guarantee covering the company's installation and repair services.

Hardy White, Mid-West Texas division manager said GTE will give a $25 credit to residential customers and a $100 credit to business customers when an installation or repair commitment is missed. "And getting that credit will be hassle-free," said White. He noted that the guarantee can be initiated by the customer or a GTE employee.

White said the company has introduced several quality programs in recent years. "This guarantee program shows the confidence we have in our ability to meet customer needs," he said.

In recent years the company has installed advanced local communications networks, including fiber optics, changed from internal system measurements to customer feedback programs and added intelligent, trouble-detecting equipment.

The on-time commitment applies to basic phone service, Custom Calling features, Centranet and other local network services and communications equipment under GTE rental, warranty or standard maintenance contract.

Kelly Reid on honor roll

Rebecca Russell on honor roll

City sales tax rebate still showing gains

The City of Haskell's sales tax rebate continued to run slightly ahead of last year with the receipt this week of a check from the state comptroller in the amount of $14,256.96.

The check represents Haskell's 1.5-percent sales tax collected on May sales and reported to the comptroller in June by businesses filing monthly tax return.

Amount of the check represents a 7.37-percent increase over the $13,277.76 received last year for the same period. The increase was consistent with the state as a whole, where this month's rebates to cities was up by 7.7 percent.

For the year, Haskell's 1.5-percent sales tax has produced $133,313.62. This is an increase of 6.81 percent over the $124,816.62 received in the first seven months of 1992.

Rule's rebate this month was in the amount of $1,051.21, up 8.91 percent from the $965.18 last year for the same period. For the year, Rule's rebate stands at $12,252.14, or 16.91 percent more than the $10,480.32 received in the January-July period of last year.

Rochester's rebate this month was 790.29, representing a 52.25-percent increase over last July's $519.07. But for the year to date, Rochester's $4,710.08 is down 9.42 percent from last year's $5,199.96 for the first seven months.

O'Brien and Weinert did not receive rebate checks this month.

Together, the five cities of Haskell County have received $152,741.72 in the first seven months this year, compared to $143,605.46 for the same period last year, representing a 6.36-percent gain.

While Haskell has a 1.5-percent local tax rate, the other county cities have 1 percent.

Little League team playing in district

Haskell's Little League All-Stars advanced to the second round of the district tournament Monday night with a 2-1 victory over Burkburnett.

Gavino Ortiz was the winning pitcher. He also accounted for all of Haskell's scoring with a 2-run homer.

On Tuesday night, the Haskell team was to play Graham. If they win that game, they will play on Thursday against the winner of the Graham-Burkburnett game.

Haskell qualified for the district tournament by winning the area tournament last week in Rule.

Haskell defeated Stamford, 5-4, last Tuesday. After losing to Stamford, 11-1, Thursday in the double-elimination tournament, Haskell came back to defeat Stamford, 12-6, in the Friday night finals.

Losses in the area tournament are carried over into the district. Therefore, Haskell entered the Monday tournament with one loss. Graham and Burkburnett were undefeated. A loss by Haskell will eliminate the local team.

Winner of the tournament will advance to the sectional tournament next week in Arlington.

Nine Boy Scouts attend summer camp

Members of Boy Scout Troop 136 have just returned from a week of summer camp at the Longhorn Council's Sid Richardson Scout Ranch.

Located on Lake Bridgeport and containing over 3,000 acres and 19 miles of shoreline, the scout ranch offers many varied scouting opportunities.

There are many merit badges that can be earned on the lake, as well as in the pool. The ranch also specializes in the traditional scoutcraft and nature areas.

The nine scouts from Haskell took advantage of many of these opportunities by earning 23 merit badges during their stay. Merit badges were earned in water skiing, small boat sailing, canoeing, swimming, lifesaving, fishing, Indian lore and wilderness survival.

Rewarding Sickness: Adults who seem to be debilitated more by common illness than others could trace this to childhood. One investigator found that adults who had received special treatment when sick as children tended to have more frequent sick days and higher medical bills. Recognizing this connection may help to break the pattern in the adult and stop him or her from passing on the same type of behavior to children.

Mary Jane Short completes program

Mary Jane Short has completed her second year of "Shake Hands With Your Future" on the campus of Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

This is a two-week summer study program for gifted and talented students in grades 4 through 11. It is sponsored by the Institute for the Gifted.

The program aims to develop the whole person by exposing students to academic experiences not commonly found in schools by providing a supportive environment in which students share experiences and stimulate each other's thinking and creativity, and by providing a broad overview in an area of interest.

University faculty, staff and graduate students who serve as instructors guide students through investigations of complex, diverse subject matter and research processes. In addition, students interact with other outstanding professionals and take part in small-group work and field trips.

Mary Jane attended two three-hour classes each day. She chose to study business and law. Other courses offered were aerodynamics, archaeology, architecture, art, photography, animal science, computers, creative writing, psychology and theater arts. All participants were housed on the Tech campus.

In the evening, the students enjoyed many activities, including workshops, a talent show, dances and a carnival.

Mary Jane, 12, is the daughter of Larry and Linda Short of Rochester. She is the granddaughter of Warren and Jane Short of Rochester and Elmer and Bernice Hilliard of Haskell, and the great-granddaughter of Ira and Tennie Mae Short of Rochester.

--Green Thumb--

By Gladys O'Neal
Haskell Garden Club

Midsummer is a great time in our gardens, especially here in the South. Vegetables and fruits are in full harvest; and summer flowers should be at their peak.

Our main aim now is to keep things growing well. We must know how to destroy insects and diseases. Also we may need to mulch to conserve moisture, fertilize to maintain growth.

Sevin dust is good for vegetables. If you see any Japanese beetles, use Sevin dust immediately.

Roses, azaleas, evergreens and summer annuals are on the front line for all sorts of insects. Dry insecticides applied to the ground around these plants do an excellent job of controlling sucking insects such as aphids and lace bugs. Malathion and diazinon will control most other insects.

With my own growing of flowers, I find the baking of the top inch or so of soil into a crust which keeps the summer rains from going deeply into the root zone is a real problem. I put humus on the top inch, and then the surface is open and mellow. Any mulch or some compost will work also.

Often times shallow watering may do more harm than good. A good way to water is to let the sprinkler run in a given area long enough to apply at least an inch of water.

To gauge the amount of water that falls, place a pound coffee can under the fall of water. If there is one-half or one inch of water in the can, water again in 3 or 4 days.

If your hydrangea has greenish-blue flowers, and you want to turn them deep pink, just sprinkle a cup or two of ground lime around its roots this summer and water it well. They turn blue in acid soil, pink in alkaline soil and a little of both in neutral soil.

During extreme dry weather, raise the cutting height of your mower 1/2 to 1 inch. This will reduce moisture loss and keep roots cooler. Water early in the day for best results.

Dig up and divide crowded irises now. Cut off 2 to 4 inch pieces of rhizomes with foliage. Trim the leaves back to 6 or 7 inches in an inverted V shape. Plant about one foot apart. Do this only about every 3 or 4 years for nicer blooms.

Save your old nylon stockings and use them to hang herbs, seeds, rose petals, garlic, onions for drying.

For slow and thorough watering of garden plants such as tomatoes, punch three or four holes in the bottom of an empty 1-gallon plastic milk jug. Bury the jug in the soil next to the plant and fill with water. As the water seeps out, the plant's roots will absorb it.

If cats are getting in your flower beds, combine 1/2 cup moth balls (crushed to powder), 2 tablespoons cayenne pepper and 2 tablespoons of black pepper, spread over the ground. This mixture will not hurt the flowers. It works.

*The kiss of the sun for pardon,
The song of the birds for mirth,
One is nearer God's heart in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth.*

Check with your local electric cooperative for details on the Centsible Water Heater Program. By installing a safe, energy-efficient electric water heater in your home, you can collect cash rebates and save on your utility bill, too.

As a Social Security beneficiary, you have certain responsibilities for ensuring that you continue to receive your benefits in the right amount, delivered to the right place, and on time.

You probably know that you need to tell Social Security any time you change addresses or if you change direct deposit bank accounts, but do you know that there may be other events that affect your Social Security checks?

You must also report the following:

- any change in your estimated earnings,
- changes in marital status,
- name changes,
- births, adoptions, or deaths in the family,
- changes in the circumstance of any child who is receiving benefits, under your care, under 16 or has a disability,
- imprisonment,
- trips of 30 days or more outside of the United States,
- pensions from work not covered by Social Security.

If you fail to report these changes, the amount of your benefits may be wrong. You may receive more money than you're due, and we'll have to ask you to pay it back. Or you may receive less than you're due and have to wait until the records are corrected.

If you need more information on what to report or how to make a report on any of these items, visit your Social Security office or call our toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, business days between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Carruth Family

All eight children of William J. and Emma Carruth were in attendance June 20 at the annual reunion of the family. They are, from left, Dora Holley, Nellie Bird, Ocie Carruth, Crawford Carruth, Callie Moore, all of Haskell; and Frances Hutchison of Pomona, Calif., Mattie Abbott of Arlington and Helen White of Breckenridge.

Carruth family gathers

Descendants of William J. and Emma Carruth held their annual reunion of the pioneer family June 20 at the Haskell Civic Center.

It started on Saturday with a fish fry at the park. Several of the young men furnished the fish and prepared it with the help of the young women.

More than 100 people were in attendance.

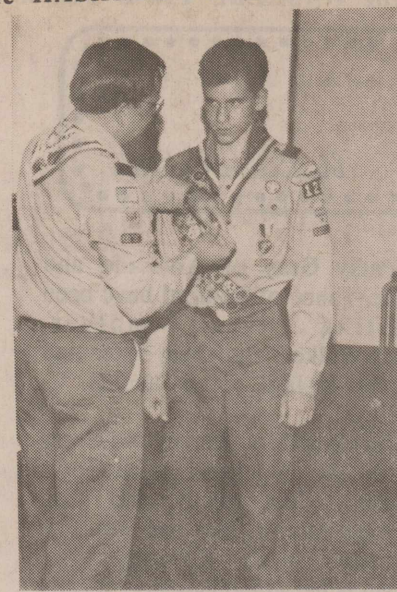

A dinner was held on Sunday with 150 people attending, including all eight of the Carruth children: Dora Holley of Haskell, Nellie Bird of Haskell, Ocie and Gladys Carruth of Haskell, Crawford Carruth of Haskell, Callie Moore of Haskell, C. N. and Frances Hutchison of Pomona, Calif., Noel and Mattie Abbott of Arlington, and Alvin and Helen White of Breckenridge.

Others attending were grandchildren, great-grandchildren, great-great-grandchildren and friends of families.

An 85th birthday party was celebrated at the same time for the eldest child, Dora Holley. She was born on their homestead in New Mexico in a "half-dugout." Mr. and Mrs. Carruth had gone there with a wagon train and had stopped in the Animas Valley to make their home. Dora was the first girl child born in the valley.

After dinner, an auction was held of hand-crafted articles. The money pays for the following year's reunion.

Finnell backs agri-business proposition

State Rep. Charles Finnell, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, backs a proposed state constitutional amendment which would provide up to $100 million for Texas agri-business.

That proposition, Finnell noted, will be No. 16, last on the Nov. 2 ballot of proposed constitutional amendments, and may be difficult for some citizens to find on the crowded ballot.

"Farmers and ranchers across our district and Texas support this proposition," Finnell asserted. "This is truly a case of the Secretary of State saving one of the best propositions for last."

If approved, the amendment would authorize up to $100 million in bonds to finance the Texas Agricultural Fund. These dollars would be allocated to develop, improve, expand production and enhance marketing of Texas agricultural products.

"Agriculture is a keystone of the Texas economy," the legislator said. "Proposition 16 will enable our farmer and ranchers to accelerate the state's already strong presence in national and international markets."

Granddaughter All-American Mascot

Wendy Cummings of Merkel participated in the mascot portion of the NCA Cheerleading and Mascot Camp at Tarleton State University recently and once again she was very successful in the competition.

Wendy will go to Nationals at Dallas during Christmas break to compete against other mascots from the United States. She has been offered an application to become a NCA Mascot Instructor.

Wendy is the daughter of Darlene Cummings of Merkel and the granddaughter of Neat Bevel of Haskell.

The reunion will begin with supper on the ground on Friday, the 23rd. The main meal will be served on Saturday, the 24th, with lots of fun, fellowship and games.

Family and friends are welcome to attend.

A Big "Thank You" to my kind neighbors and friends, who helped search for my daughter on Monday evening. She lost her way on her bike. I am especially thankful to Ann Druessedow who helped her get back home. Everyone acted so quickly and selflessly. God bless you all.

Ginny Kloog

To our many friends who gave us their sympathy, we say thank you. For your thoughtful expressions of friendship, which were a comfort and a source of strenght, we are grateful. Above all, we are thankful to have friends like you to share our sorrow.

The Family of Charlie Campbell

Our sincere appreciation to our neighbors, friends and relatives for their expressions of concern and their heart-felt assistance in our time of sorrow.

We're not in show business . . .

. . . we're in "know" business!

You may think we work some kind of magic, but it's really fundamental, banking "know-how" that allows us to give our business customers the best in multiple banking services.

Take our loan processing abilities, for instance. We realize that each business has its own unique problems. So, we work closely with business customers and analyze their loan requirements on an individual basis. Our objective is to provide the funds that are needed — when they're needed. A personal approach to business lending helps us meet that objective. No tricks involved.

We're ready to impress you, ready to serve you; call or visit for full details today!

THE FAMILY LEAVE ACT

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 goes into effect on August 5, 1993. Do you know whether your business must comply? Do you know what the Act requires? Here are the basics.

You generally must comply if you employ 50 or more employees within a 75-mile radius. You can, however, exempt employees who have not worked for your company for at least 12 months or who have not worked for your company for at least 1250 hours (25 hours per week) during the last 12 months. Nonprofit and government organizations must also comply.

If subject to the Act, you must allow each employee to take up to 12 weeks during any 12-month period for any one of the following reasons: 1) birth or adoption of a child; 2) care for a spouse, child, or parent with a serious health condition; or 3) the employee's own serious health condition.

There are additional restrictions. You must continue the employee's health-care coverage during the leave. After the leave, you must restore the employee to the original position or a comparable one.

The Act also imposes burdens on employees. If the leave is foreseeable (e.g., birth), the employee must give you 30 days' notice. If the leave is for a serious illness, the employee must obtain a doctor's certification.

The Act does leave you some leeway. You can exempt otherwise eligible employees if they are key employees in the top 10% of your company's pay scale and their absence would cause your company grievous economic harm. You can require that employees substitute accrued paid leave for some or all of the 12-week period of family leave. And you can require second opinions on doctor's certifications.

Get prepared. The Act goes into effect soon.
