Indians open season Friday against Munday

There will be a new coach on each sideline and a lot of new faces on the field, but the rivalry is the same.

It will be Haskell and Munday on the field at 8 o'clock Friday night when the Indians and Moguls kick off their 1994 football campaigns at Indian Stadium in Haskell.

Haskell will be attempting to make it three straight over their traditional season-opening rivals. The Indians won last year, 27-0, and year before last by 7-0, to break a drought which had extended since 1983.

The Moguls, under new coach Steve Gideon are ranked No. 18 in Class A pre-season polls and are favored to take it all in district 9-A. The Indians, under new coach Dwayne Gray, are the pre-season pick to wind up third in district 7-2A.

The Indians have not only a new coach, but a new formation. Gray has installed the wishbone, the formation which served him well by producing three consecutive playoff teams at Stratford before signing on at Haskell.

In the run-oriented offense, Gray said all four backs will be getting plenty of ball-carrying duties. "We'll pass some, but not a lot," the coach said.

Getting the call to open at quarterback for the Indians is Cody Cypert, 170-pound senior. Joining him in the backfield will be Justin Lisle, 185-pound junior and third-year starter, and Casey Larned, 160-pound senior, at halfbacks, and Bucky Harvey, 175-pound senior, at fullback.

Opening at split end will be Frankie Masias, 125-pound junior, and the starting tight end will be Ryan Olson, 180-pound senior.

Other offensive starters will be junior Jamie Hodgins, 200, at center; junior Stacy Walker, 195, and senior Brandon McFadden, 205, at guards; and junior Martin Limones, 230, and junior John Isbell, 230, at tackles.

On defense, Limones will be the nose guard, Walker and McFadden the tackles, Harvey and Corey Green (165, junior) the ends, Olson and Lisle the linebackers, Keiland Riley (150, senior) and Cypert the cornerbacks, and Larned and Masias the safeties.

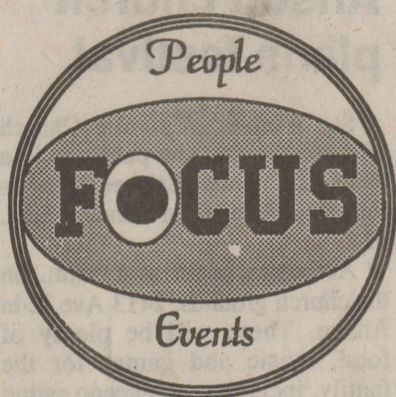

Gray said that Riley will probably see a lot of action on offense, spelling the two halfbacks. He also indicated that Green will be used some at quarterback.

Munday, which won eight straight last year after losing its first two, is paced by speedster Bronco Flye. The Mogul offense is built around the 150-pound tailback, who also catches passes and returns punts and kickoffs. He is the nephew of former Munday stars Terry and Perry Collier, now playing at Oklahoma.

The Indians tuned up for their opener with a scrimmage last Thursday at Jim Ned. Although they were outscored, 3-1, the Indians showed improvement over their earlier scrimmage against Roscoe. Gray said that Jim Ned "might be the best team we see all year." Especially pleasing to the coaching staff was the Indians' long, nine-play scoring drive which featured a couple of pass completions as well as some nifty running.

The Munday game will be the first of four consecutive home games for the Indians. They will host Quannah Sept. 9, Knox City Sept. 16 and Albany Sept. 23 before traveling to Baird Sept. 30. They open their 7-2A schedule Oct. 7 at Stamford.

Early deadline for Free Press

Because of the Labor Day holiday, advertising deadline for next week's issue of The Haskell Free Press will be 5 p.m. Friday of this week.

Deadlines for classified and news will still be noon Tuesday.

The Free Press will be closed on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5.

Sophomores serve burgers Friday

Haskell sophomores will host a hamburger supper Friday before the Haskell-Munday football game.

Serving will be from 5:30 to 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Tickets, priced at $4 per person, may be purchased in advance or at the door.

The meal will include flame-broiled hamburgers with all the trimmings, chips, cobbler and tea.

Boosters need volunteers Friday

The Haskell Booster Club needs five volunteers to pass out programs at Friday night's football game. Volunteers should be at the stadium at 7.

At their meeting Monday night, Boosters were told that balloons will be released at the game and that the team will enter the field on the east side of the field and will come across the victory line.

The Trading Post will open at 7 p.m. Spirit items on sale will include megaphones for $2 and bandanas for $1.50.

Souvenir footballs for the cheerleaders have been donated by Bill Wilson Motors and First National Bank.

Boosters were reminded of the junior varsity game in Monday which begins at 6 p.m. today (Thursday).

MDA donation

Medford inducted in Poetry Society

John Allen Medford was inducted into the International Society of Poetry as a lifetime member in ceremonies Aug. 19-21 in Washington, D.C. He was a finalist in the associated poetry contest with the poem, "Scuse Me Mister."

Johnny received an award and prize money for his entry in the contest. The convention was attended by some 1,500 poets from over the world. There were some 30 foreign countries represented at the convention.

Medford also was invited to dedicate a poem to the "Poem for Peace," and his selection was "The Grassy Knoll." The poem for peace was five football fields in length, and four feet high, and solidly filled with poetry from all over the world.

There were poems from the president of the United States, ex-presidents, vice presidents, senators, members of the House and Senate, prime ministers, the queen of England and rulers and statesmen from many countries. Medford said he considered this a very high honor to have been among such distinguished company.

Medford and his wife, the former Joan Berry, toured the Capitol and adjacent areas, among them the Jefferson Building, where Johnny's poem, "At the Lake," will be placed in the National Library of Congress.

Johnny has been writing poems only a little more than a year, and has two poems to be published in books this year.

Florence Henderson of movie and television was an official hostess and master of ceremonies at the three-day convention. Ex-Senator Eugene McCarthy was guest speaker and one of several to conduct poetry writing and publishing seminars.

Stenholm Fun Day Saturday

"Welcome to Ericksdahl" will be the greeting Saturday, Sept. 10, as neighbors gather for their annual picnic honoring Charlie and Cindy Stenholm.

Swedish immigrants first gathered here in 1906 on the 80 acres which belong to the Lutheran church. Once a part of the S. M. Swenson ranches, this soil along the California Creek could relate many stories of the past.

A publication of 1918 records: "The land occupied by the Swedish and Danish people stretches from Stamford to Lueders with some of it lying in the western part of Shackelford County. Most of it is upland intersected by hills and valleys."

The first church building was a white frame structure completed in the summer of 1907 at a cost of $2,520. A magnificent rock building dominates the area today. Men of the congregation began digging the rocks in 1932. It was completed in 1941.

Dr. Hugo B. Haterius came to serve the church and the community in 1919. He dedicated his life to improving living conditions with emphasis on better farming practices. The California Creek Soil Conservation District was organized in 1938. One of the early officers of this group was Lambert Stenholm, father of Charlie.

On Sept. 10, a western band will provide background music as friends reminisce and get in the line for barbecue and watermelon. The fun time will begin at 4:30 p.m.

The Stenholm farm home is just two miles from the picnic area.

Those not familiar with the site, may call 915-773-5521 for more information.

Church to serve barbecue lunches

The Brotherhood of Greater Independent Baptist Church will serve barbecue lunches Saturday.

Serving will begin at 11 a.m. and continue as long as necessary.

To be considered for the honor, a 4-H member must possess excellent leadership and citizenship abilities, have outstanding academic credentials, and have church and community responsibilities outside 4-H work.

Jennifer received a U.S. Savings Bond and a 4-H jacket, both courtesy of Haskell National Bank.

She and her parents will be special guests at the Haskell County Family and Community Education Clubs' Information Day in October and also at the district 4-H Gold Star banquet in Haskell Nov. 7.

In 1993 she was an alternate delegate to the district 4-H Council and beginning in 1994 she became one of Haskell County's delegates to the district 4-H Council. She will serve as a Council delegate again in 1995. She also is a member of the Haskell County 4-H and Youth committee. She serves as a junior leader and shares her knowledge and 4-H experience with younger 4-Hers.

Jennifer has had a genuine interest in all aspects of the 4-H organization. During her 4-H career, she has carried 11 main projects, including clothing, sheep, special interest, citizenship, recreation, achievement, leadership, showmanship, child care, foods and nutrition and swine.

As a result of her involvement in these projects, she has participated in local, county, district, regional and state activities

Jennifer is an active member of the First United Methodist Church where she is involved in the church's youth group, a member of the church's administrative council, sings in the choir and serves as a substitute Sunday School teacher. She teaches in Bible School each year and delivers meals to the church's shut-ins.

Jennifer is an active member of Girl Scouts and is always willing to volunteer her time to help with community service projects such as the Red Cross Bloodmobile, the American Heart Association's Jump Rope for Heart, and collecting money for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

English woman fulfilling dream

Twin Cities News
Emma Crasby, 33, a delightful and adventurous young woman from England, has been traveling across the United States on her horse, Smokey, a 12-year-old Spanish Mustang, for the past 100 days.

Emma, who has a degree in graphic designing, said her trip "is just for fun. It's something I have always wanted to do.

In 1991, she and a companion traveled across the States and Canada in a 1960 Ford pickup. "I lived in that pickup for about two years," she said.

She plans to travel for about a year. She started her long journey in Braswick, Ga., and her destination is San Diego. When she reaches San Diego about the middle of December, she plans to turn around and travel back.

Because of the heat, Emma travels only 17 or 18 miles a day, although she can make about 25 miles when it's cloudy.

On Aug. 21, Emma spent the night in Rule with Loyd and Leah Allen. They attended the Tower Drive-In. It was Emma's first time to attend a drive-in movie. In another first, she was treated to blackeyed peas and cornbread.

Emma and Smokey camp each night in pastures where there will be grazing for the horse, if she doesn't spend the night with people like the Allens. Two nights before arriving in Rule she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Berryman, who live west of O'Brien. She and her horse stayed two nights to allow Smokey to recover from a minor leg injury.

Emma has no relatives in the U.S. Her parents, three sisters and a twin brother live in England.

The English woman said the only problem she has had on her journey was when Smokey wandered off and she couldn't find him for a while.

She said she has not found a place she did not like and it would be difficult to say which was most enjoyable. But she did say that Texas is among the most enjoyable.

Lottery sales top $5 billion mark

The Texas lottery is not only the fastest-growing lottery in the country, it is now official the No. 1 lottery in the United States.

On Aug. 13, the lottery collected the 5 billionth dollar in lottery ticket sales. The $5 billion milestone was reached in just 26 1/2 months, nearly half a year faster than any other U.S. lottery.

Florida passed the $5 billion mark in 32 months of operation, California in 33 months.

"So far, we've created 150 millionaires or multi-millionaires through Lotto Texas and scratch games, and we've paid billions more in other prizes to lottery players all across the state," said Nora Linares, executive director of the Texas Lottery Commission.

A preliminary estimate shows that nearly $2.7 billion has been paid for prizes on about 575 million winning tickets.

--Letters to the Editor--

What about the auditorium?

Editor: Although I do not have children in the Haskell schools, I pay school taxes on properties in both Haskell and Weinert districts, and I've always believed that whatever is good for everyone's children is good for the entire community--not only for today, but also for tomorrow.

During the 10 years I've lived here, many good and worthwhile additions have been made to upgrade and update the system, such as an impressive new Band Hall, state-of-the-art athletic weight room, refurbished Homemaking, Library and Computer Science facilities and the aids to comfort of air conditioning and carpets for noise reduction. These are only some of the outstanding things done in the system to make it one we are proud of.

However, I've been puzzled that, when surrounded by such a good and up-to-date facility otherwise, a high school auditorium built during the 1940s would be so long neglected and allowed to disintegrate to its present state (which, by comparison is almost an embarrassment).

Is it possible that an imbalance has developed in what the movers and shakers of school policies generally think to be the only important and valuable aspects of a child's education? There may be a need for taking a broader view of the priority value system.

Are the dramatic and performing arts (including plays, persuasive and public speaking training) any less important and relevant to a child's development and preparedness for later life than participating in sports or playing a musical instrument?

When you consider the number of times in his or her everyday adult life each will have occasion to give even a simple program or speech, lead a discussion group or business meeting, make a presentation or public announcement, or apply for employment, it seems equally important that they be given the best opportunity and encouragement possible to learn to verbally express themselves with greater ease and poise, by having equally proper, accredited coaches and facilities in which to develop confidence in these practical skills for living in today's world.

Under the School Board's policy of "academics first," which, if followed, is a good policy, its members have discussed and rejected renovation of the old auditorium time and time again as not being of high priority, due to the admittedly high cost. Encouragingly, recently the subject was not rejected, but tabled for future consideration.

In talking with others I've found many individuals and some organizations who support this project. Like they, I'm hoping that when it is again presented, members of the Board will seriously consider the worth of bringing this facet of the school system back into balance with the other very fine additions they have authorized in the past.

Worth it

Editor: Thanks to everyone who bought Rice Crispy treats for Jesse Medford's Taekwon Do competition in Lubbock.

It was well worth it as he brought home a first-place trophy in forms and another first place trophy in sparring.

Political signs

Editor: The Texas Department of Transportation has a booklet and summary materials which clarify rules regarding political signs.

In summary, these rules state: 1) Signs must be on private property, 2) Signs may be erected no more than 60 days before the election and removed no more than 10 days after the election, 3) Signs must be no larger than 50 square feet, and 4) Signs must not be visible from an Interstate, Federal aid primary highway or non freeway Federal-aid primary highway.

These rules are for signs on rural roads and FM highways.

What these rules suggest is that all political signs which are in place now are illegal, because of the 60-day rule. If you feel as I do, that the rules are good rules, I urge you to contact every candidate with illegal signs and chastise him/her. We do not recommend tearing down anyone's signs, illegal or not. Especially experienced candidates and current officeholders should know these rules, however.

No matter what decision my opponent makes, our campaign volunteers have been told that we will not put out signs that we know to be illegal. Thus, our signs will go out on or about Sept. 8. Anyone who spots an illegal Hayward sign is urged to call me at 1-800-866-7330.

Newspapers use recycled paper

Survey results show at least 22 percent of all newsprint bought in Texas contained a minimum amount of recycled material. This means that Texas newspaper publishers have more than doubled the amount necessary to meet the 10-percent goal set by the State Legislature in the 1991 Omnibus Recycling Act.

Congressman Charles Stenholm voted to defeat the rule which would have brought the crime bill before the House of Representatives.

The rule, which was defeated by a 225-210 vote, now sends the crime bill back to the conference committee for further negotiations.

Prevention is key to controlling painful heartburn

Walter P. Dyck, M.D.

Question: Occasionally after eating I get a painful case of heartburn. What causes it, and what can I do to prevent it from occurring again?

Answer: Heartburn, or acid indigestion, is caused by a backflow of stomach acids into the esophagus. When food is swallowed, it travels down a long tube called the esophagus, and a valve (sphincter) at its bottom relaxes to allow the food to enter the stomach. This valve normally only allows food to move downward, but a drop in pressure in the lower esophagus or a weakening of the sphincter can permit a backflow, or reflux, of powerful stomach acids into the esophagus. These acids cause the burning sensation.

Typically heartburn from reflux into the esophagus begins within an hour or so of eating, or may be brought on by bending, straining, heavy lifting or by simply lying down when retiring to bed. For the most part, an episode of heartburn resolves by itself and is not dangerous. If needed, non-prescription antacids are usually sufficient to relieve an attack.

If heartburn is frequent, however, it may indicate that the irritating stomach acids have already damaged the esophagus (so-called reflux esophagitis), or it may indicate the presence of other problems such as a peptic ulcer. If you suffer repeated bouts of heartburn and antacids or other simple remedies fail to control the problem, visit your doctor for an examination.

The best approach to controlling heartburn is prevention. Eat small meals and avoid or cut back on aspirin, coffee, cigarettes, alcohol, and spicy or fatty foods. Avoid wearing tight belts and other restrictive clothing. Wait at least two hours before lying down after eating, and don't exercise immediately after eating. Also, avoid bending over immediately after a meal.

If heartburn frequently occurs after going to bed, you may need to elevate the head of the bed six to eight inches by setting it up on bricks or blocks. Simply using extra pillows is not effective. In addition, your doctor probably will prescribe a medicine to reduce acid secretion during the night.

One final note: If the pain is unusually severe and is not relieved by antacids, or if it is accompanied by pain or numbness in an arm, or a cold and clammy sensation, it may be a heart attack instead of heartburn. If these symptoms occur, seek immediate emergency medical aid.

Dr. Walter P. Dyck is the director of the Division of Gastroenterology at Scott & White Memorial Hospital and Clinic in Temple, Texas, and a professor of internal medicine at the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

Coffee should be served hot

The non-profit educational group--North Texans Against Lawsuit Abuse (NTALA)--has publicly questioned a $2.9 million damage award given to a New Mexico woman who was scalded when she spilled her McDonald's coffee on her legs.

According to news reports, the woman was riding in a car in 1992 when she put a cup of McDonald's coffee between her legs while she removed the cap. The hot coffee spilled, scalding her. Of the amount awarded the woman in an Albuquerque court, $2.7 million was punitive and $160,000 was compensatory damages.

"What's at issue here is personal responsibility," said NTALA executive director Sandy Goff. "No one would dispute the fact that this lady hurt herself. I know that I've burned my mouth a few times after sipping a cup of hot coffee. But more and more, it seems, there is a new Golden Rule. Personal responsibility is taking a back seat as 'sue thy neighbor' becomes the norm.

"What's more, "a punitive damage award of $2.7 million is outrageously extreme in this case. Punitive damages are designed to punish or deter harmful behavior. Should McDonald's be punished $2.7 million because they serve their coffee hot instead of lukewarm?"

"The bottom line: Hot food is supposed to be hot. Who do you think is going to pay for this award? Our society's propensity for excessive litigation, frivolous lawsuits and outrageous jury awards often carries huge costs, not only for the business sued but also for our ability to generate economic growth and for consumers who often pay more for goods and services.

"We consumers will pick up the tab. The impact of outlandishly large awards and settlements are felt by all of us, and you can bet that we will pay for this $2.9 million award. Think about that the next time you buy food at McDonald's and the price has gone up," Goff said.

Goff said the burden of litigation, sometimes called the "lawsuit tax"--costs the Texas family of four, on average, $2,700 a year. "That's how much more we pay for goods and services every year because of frivolous lawsuits, lawsuit abuse and litigation in general.

Sidelines

The Indians play their first four games at home this year, meeting Munday, Quanah, Knox City and Albany on successive weekends.

Next year, however, the schedule will be reversed and Haskell won't have a home game until the fifth week of the season.

In a radio interview Monday, Cowboy coach Barry Switzer said professional players are not much different than college players.

"They are a little older and make a little more money," he quipped.

It will be a couple of years before the Big 4 of the Southwest Conference join the Big 8 to form the Big 12, but a look at the SWC schedule indicates there will be plenty of sparring between the two conferences this year.

Texas Tech will play Nebraska and Oklahoma, Texas plays Colorado and Oklahoma, Houston plays Kansas and Missouri, Baylor meets Oklahoma State, Rice goes against Kansas State and Iowa State, Texas A&M plays Oklahoma and TCU takes on Kansas.

Only SMU does not meet a Big 8 foe.

Tech just might have the toughest first-half schedule in the country. After opening against New Mexico, the Red Raiders tackle Nebraska and Oklahoma on successive weekends. Then after their fourth game against SMU, the Raiders lock horns with A&M.

***

Munday, which won the state Class A championship in 1984, has averaged more than 10 wins a season for the past 10 years.

***

Baird, the Indians' Sept. 30 opponent, plays in 8-2A, a district which also includes DeLeon, Cisco, Ranger, Dublin and Albany.

Albany is now in district 8-2A, but the Lions' 1994 schedule includes former 7-2A rivals Anson, Stamford and Haskell.

And Jim Ned and Winters, shifted from 7-2A to 6-2A this year, both play Anson and Stamford this year in non-league contests.

***

In its Kickoff 94 edition Sunday, the Abilene Reporter-News chose Hamlin to repeat as district 7-2A champion, followed by Stamford, Haskell, Anson, Rotan and Hawley in that order.

Rochester hasn't lost a regular season game in three years and hasn't lost a home game in four.

In his four years at Rochester, coach Chet Forehand is 37-5-1. Overall, Forehand, who coached at Weinert before moving to Rochester, is 107-38-1, one of the best six-man coaching records in history.

Haskell halfback Keiland Riley takes a crack at the Jim Ned defense when the Indians scrimmaged Jim Ned Thursday.

MDA gets $1040 from golf event

Saturday's golf tournament at Haskell Country Club raised $1,040 for the local chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Jerry Harris and David Strickland took first place in the first flight. Ruby Medford and Alan Strickland took second place and Steven McQueen and Chris Baldree took third place.

First-place winners in the second flight were Mike Kloog and Wayne Dunnam. Second place went to Ken Lane and Ron McCandless and third place to Phil Standefer and Alan Standefer.

Judy Standefer, county MDA chairman, expressed her appreciation to all who participated and volunteered their services.

All 7-2A team see action Friday

Hamlin, pre-season pick to repeat as district 7-2A champion, opens its season Friday night at Wylie against the 3A Bulldogs.

Three other district teams go against 3A clubs in their openers. Stamford plays at Wylie, Anson travels to Coleman and Hawley entertains Merkel.

In other games involving 7-2A teams, Haskell hosts Munday, and Rotan is at home against Ralls.

Tee time will be 6:15 p.m. instead of 6:30.

Rule schedules classes for adults

Registration for adult GED, ESL and ABE classes will be Tuesday, Sept. 6, at Rule High School. Registration will be from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Classes, to be taught by Dora Torres and Vida White, will meet each Tuesday evening, beginning Sept. 13.

Inquiries about other adult classes may be made during Tuesday's registration.

Rochester supper to be tonight

The annual Rochester community supper will be tonight (Thursday) in the area between the cafeteria and auditorium. It begins at 7.

The Booster Club will furnish the paper goods, tea and bread, and each family is asked to bring a meat, vegetable and/or salad and dessert (enough to feed the family).

There is no charge.

Pirate Boosters work on signs

Paint Creek Booster Club members worked on yard signs for high school and junior high football players and cheerleaders when they met at the ag shop Tuesday evening, Aug. 23.

Other projects, including spirit barrels and booster flags, are underway by the club.

TAX PLANNING

Written by
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

Estimated Tax Rules Change

Congress usually isn't known for making life simpler for the rest of us. But one of the few bright spots in the new tax law is that making quarterly estimated tax payments is easier now than it has been in the last few years. This is especially true for upper-income taxpayers whose income fluctuates annually.

For 1994, if your adjusted gross income (AGI) is above $150,000 ($75,000 if married filing separately), you can avoid underpayment penalties by making quarterly tax estimates totalling 110% of your 1993 tax or 90% of your 1994 tax. If your AGI is $150,000 or less, you can pay either 100% of your 1993 tax or 90% of your 1994 tax. The 110% and 100% payments of the prior year's tax are often called "safe harbors." Adhering to these percentages guards against penalties for underpayment.

The 110% safe harbor replaces the complex requirement which still applied to certain taxpayers in 1993. To avoid underpayment penalties in 1993, you had to prepay at least 90% of your actual 1993 tax if (1) your 1993 adjusted gross income exceeded $75,000, (2) your 1993 modified AGI exceeded your 1992 AGI by more than $40,000, and (3) you paid or should have paid estimated taxes in 1990, 1991, and 1992. Determining the correct payment each quarter was difficult and time-consuming.

Whatever your income, you can pay taxes through withholding, quarterly estimates, or both. You always avoid underpayment penalties by paying your full tax liability throughout the current year.

The 1994 estimated tax payment due dates are April 15, 1994; June 15, 1994; September 15, 1994; and January 16, 1995.

Lactose sensitive? Get your calcium

A few words of caution for people who are lactose sensitive: Don't forget the calcium.

Millions of Americans are unable to digest lactose, a sugar found in milk and other dairy products, leaving many of them void of the recommended daily allowances for calcium.

"When you don't take in lactose, you also may not be taking in sufficient calcium," said Dr. Alan Buchman, assistant professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Lactose intolerance sufferers are deficient in lactase, an enzyme in the small intestine that breaks down lactose. Symptoms of lactase deficiency can occur at birth or later in life. The condition is especially prevalent in minorities.

Nearly 100 percent of Asian-Americans and Native Americans, and approximately 80 percent of African-Americans are lactase-deficient, compared to five to 24 percent of whites.

In lactase-deficient people, lactose remains undigested in the intestine, causing stomach cramps, bloating, gas and diarrhea. In rare cases, weight loss, severe dehydration and vomiting, malnutrition and death from an intestinal disease can occur.

Adding an artificial form of lactase to milk can break down the lactose, making it easier to absorb. Lactase substitutes can be purchased over-the-counter in most pharmacies, and lactase-containing milk can be bought in many grocery stores.

Buchman says there are other ways to avoid the ill effects of lactose. He recommends substituting dairy products with calcium-rich items like leafy green vegetables, nuts, broccoli, salmon and fermented milk products like yogurt, which contain active cultures that partially break down lactose. Yogurt and hard cheeses are low in lactose-containing whey and are good choices, along with milk substitutes.

"Instead of dairy ice cream, you can enjoy ice cream made with tofu, or frozen yogurt with fruit," he said.

Buchman also advises carefully reading food labels. "Lactose is a sugar and is sometimes used as a sweetener," he said. "Look at the ingredients label and avoid foods containing 'hidden' lactose."

Class of '99 elects officers

By T. Nichols

On Thursday, Aug. 18, the HHS class of 1999 held its first meeting of the 1994-95 school year.

The first order of business was to select a new student council representative to replace Cody Stone who has moved to Stamford. Erik Everett was chosen to represent the eighth-grade class, along with Jason Hobgood, who was elected last spring.

The class also elected new officers. Cy McGuire was elected president and Stephen Middleton was chosen as vice president. Secretary is Amye Peel, and Lee Christian is treasurer. T. Nichols is reporter.

The class would like to thank our sponsors for helping us get the year off to a great start. They are Mrs. Peel, Mrs. Jarred, Mrs. McMeans, Mrs. McGuire and Coach Howle.

Tax-exempt fuel illegal on roads

Agricultural producers beware: If you drive any farm or ranch machinery powered by tax exempt and dyed diesel fuel on the highways you will be subject to penalties administered by the Internal Revenue Service.

Diesel fuel for agricultural (off road) use is exempt from excise and sales tax. Fuel for this use is dyed to distinguish it from diesel sold for other "on road" use.

Improper use of the fuel subjects the user to a fine of $10 per gallon, or $1,000, whichever is greater.

"The Board of Directors officially voted to endorse your candidacy for public office in the November general election," wrote chairperson Jean Kaspar in a letter to the Holliday man.

September board meeting the Board of Directors will be discussing the fall and winter projects as well as our Christmas Lighting project.

The Chamber reminds everyone that we have several businesses in our city that have had a new face lift and expansion as well as some relocation. We are seeing signs of some new businesses coming to our city.

With football season opening, as well as the fall season, the Chamber reminds all to support our young people, our TEAM, and our town.

Shop Haskell first and together we can emphasize our city's motto: "Haskell Alive---Yesterday---Today---Tomorrow."

Children need to know about food

Children should learn there are no bad foods, only bad eating habits.

Instead of banning certain foods, parents can teach children to make wise choices by including them in menu planning, grocery shopping and meal preparation, said Dr. Corinne Montandon, nutritionist at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. Montandon encourages parents to use the new USDA Food Guide Pyramid for menu planning. It helps children visualize food groups.

Once the menu has been planned, children can accompany parents to the grocery store and help make selections. Choosing groceries with children is a good way to discuss which foods are healthy and why.

New card to replace food stamps

In about two months, nearly 16,000 families in Harris and Chambers counties will receive the Lone Star Card instead of food stamp coupons and will obtain their benefits by utilizing the most secure and low-cost system available for public assistance.

State Comptroller John Sharp said the Lone Star Card will virtually eliminate theft and fraud of food stamp and AFDC benefits. "It will reduce mountains of expensive paperwork for grocery retailers and save taxpayers millions of dollars in bureaucracy associated with printing, storing, delivering and destroying paper coupons," Sharp said.

The Lone Star Card will be implemented statewide by 1996 when 16,000 Texas retail outlets will serve 2.7 million food stamp recipients in approximately 1.2 million Texas households.

The card will debit the purchase of food items from a recipient's food stamp account.

WIC PROGRAM IS AN INVESTMENT IN HEALTHY FAMILIES

WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) is a program of nutritional education that provides supplemental food to promote good health for pregnant, breast-feeding, and postpartum women, infants, and children up to age five. Immunizations and referrals to other health care providers are also available at no charge. Nevertheless, over 60 percent of the women, infants, and children who are eligible for the WIC program do not participate. Most of them do not know that they are eligible because they feel that they have too much income. However, a woman with one child can have an income over $18,000 a year and still participate in the program. The income guidelines are as follows:

FAMILY SIZE	WEEKLY	MONTHLY	ANNUALLY
1	$262	$1,135	$13,616
2	351	1,517	18,204
3	439	1,900	22,792
4	527	2,282	27,380
5	615	2,664	31,968
6	703	3,047	36,556
7	792	3,429	41,144
8	880	3,811	45,732

WIC provides food cards for milk, eggs, juice, healthy cereal products, peanut butter, beans, cheese, and infant formula; these cards are accepted at most grocery stores. A woman who is breast-feeding gets twice as many food cards a month so that she can keep herself and her baby healthy.

WIC is a public health program dedicated to improving the general health of the community by educating women while they are pregnant and teaching them healthy eating habits. A number of studies have found as much as a three-dollar saving in the cost of caring for low-birth-weight babies for every dollar spent in the WIC program. If you think you may be eligible for the program or know someone we can serve, please give us a call at:

Teenagers hit hard by substance abuse

The adult-sized problem of substance abuse is striking an overwhelming number of Texas children.

Only 33 percent of Texas secondary students remained drug-free during the 1990 school year... the remaining 67 percent used tobacco, alcohol, inhalants, and/or an illicit drug. The reasons children use drugs are varied and complex. They can include recreation, rebellion, peer pressure, stress and boredom, among others.

Texas Medical Association's Adolescent Health Task Force recently took an in-depth look at teenage substance abuse. Its findings, including information from a 1990 survey by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, recently were issued.

TMA supports several measures to help stop the spread of adolescent substance abuse, including further educating its member physicians about the problem and other adolescent health issues.

TMA also supports the following initiatives: age-appropriate instruction in local school districts by teachers with specialized training about the avoidance of tobacco, alcohol and other drugs; the establishment of school-based health clinics; the enforcement of laws restricting access to drugs, alcohol and tobacco; and state efforts aimed at rehabilitation and treatment of addicted youth.

In addition to being the source of many health problems, tobacco is a "gateway drug," or one that leads to other drug use. Alcohol is another legal drug that can cause serious problems for adolescents. Increased numbers of students are drinking heavily at each drinking occasion.

The statistics for illicit drugs are not less discouraging. One-fourth of secondary students have used some type of illicit drug during their lifetimes, with 16 percent of students having used illicit substances on three or more occasions.

The consequences of teenage drug use and abuse are serious and far-reaching. Impaired relationships with family and friends; problems with school or law enforcement; problems associated with sexual activity; and health problems, including addition, can result from the use of tobacco, alcohol and/or illicit drugs.

How can children at increased risk for substance abuse be identified? High-risk youth come from all social classes and ethnic groups, and from both sexes. They include children who start using tobacco and alcohol at an early age, experience early sexual activity, have low academic achievement, suffer behavior problems at school, and may drop out of school. Other factors include a prior history of personality problems, distant or hostile relations with parents or guardians, and membership in a peer or friendship group that encourages or tolerates alcohol and other drug use.

Factors that protect children from becoming involved in the use and abuse of drugs include academic success, well-developed social skills, adequate decision-making skills, and at least one close relationship with a parent, teacher, relative or mentor.

If you have questions about substance use and abuse, including the effects they may have on you or your child's health and well-being, contact your physician.

Pregnancy no cause to stop travel

Pregnancy does not have to stop travel plans.

If a pregnant woman has no complications, she can travel during the first 28 weeks as long as she remembers a few rules, says Dr. Kenneth J. Moise Jr., obstetrician and gynecologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

He recommends:
•Consulting her physician before making travel plans. If she intends to be gone more than a day or two, she can ask her physician to recommend a colleague in the destination city in case something goes awry.

•Taking exercise breaks every hour or two to stretch legs and back and to improve circulation.

•Drinking plenty of water and juices to avoid dehydration when traveling by plane.

•"Buckling up" in the air or on the ground. More fetal injuries are caused by injuries the mother receives because she was not wearing a seat belt than by seat belts themselves.

Businesses may get SBA disaster loans

Some Haskell County businesses depending on farmers and ranchers may be able to apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA).

Loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster.

Drought which occurred from Nov. 1, 1993, through April 15, 1994, caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse economic effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for the loan program.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call the SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303. The deadline for filing applications is March 13, 1995.

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

Bloodmobile due in Haskell Tuesday

If you've ever punched a time clock, the American Red Cross urges you to sit back and relax this Labor Day weekend, put your feet up and take a break while you do one of the most important things you'll ever do--give blood.

The ARC issues its call to arms to anyone who has ever had a job. Whether you work 9-to-5 or the swing shift, you can be a Holiday Hero. Just drop in and donate blood at the bloodmobile from 3 to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the First Baptist Church Family Activity Center. Every donor will receive a free Holiday Hero T-shirt.

It only takes an hour, but your work as a Holiday Hero is the most productive work you can do. Each time you give blood, you can save up to three lives. The blood you give is separated into three components--red blood cells, platelets and plasma. Each product is used for varying patients' needs. Red blood cells can be stored for up to 42 days, but platelets last only five days.

"The blood supply is really no supply at all, but rather an inventory that is weeks, and sometimes only days, ahead of demand," said Brian Burgess, Haskell County Red Cross Blood Services chairman. "Without the continued support of regular donors and new donors, the supply quickly dwindles until the demand grows greater than the supply."

"More than 4 million people need blood each year," Burgess said. "One patient every 12 seconds needs blood. Without it, people die."

Blood donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health and weigh at least 110 pounds.

Quanah plans Fall Festival

Activities will include arts and crafts booths, antique farm equipment show, classic car show, food and game booths, hamburger cookoff, jackpot red bean cookoff, live entertainment, educational displays, silent auction, cow patty bingo, tractor pull, dairy exhibit, water polo demonstration and a big street dance.

Texas Stock Index just heating up

Although summer is coming to a close, the Texas Stock Index is just beginning to heat up again, after suffering through several chilly months.

The July Index rose for the first time since April--gaining 4.7 points to stand at 162.7, says State Comptroller John Sharp.
