New home

Federal Land Bank in new location

The Federal Land Bank Association of Haskell opened for business Tuesday morning at its new location at 550 S. 2nd Street.

The bank's new home is in the building originally occupied by the Port Hole Restaurant and a series of other restaurants.

Dale Bullinger, president, said the 3,000-square-foot building which the bank purchased, gives the organization about twice as much floor space as it had at its former location at 509 S. 1st Street. It also has ample parking, something the bank did not have at the old location it had occupied since 1950.

Extensive remodeling was done at the new location before the bank moved to its new home.

The Federal Land Bank of Haskell, originally called the National Farm Loan Association, began in 1917.

Bullinger has been president of the stockholder-owned bank since 1982. Craig McCormick is vice president and Laquita Liles is office manager.

The Federal Land Bank of Haskell services four counties, Haskell, Jones, Baylor and Knox. As of Aug. 31, the bank had 716 loans totaling $38,918,000, Bullinger said.

Peanut contracts due by Sept. 15

Contracts drawn up to sell 1994 crop additional peanuts for export or crushing must be submitted to the Haskell County ASCS office by Sept. 15.

Additional peanuts are those grown in excess of the farm's poundage quota or on a farm that does not have a poundage quota, said Glenn R. Brzozowski, Haskell County ASCS official.

"Peanut producers and handlers are responsible for contract agreements and they should examine the documents carefully before signing to assure that they are correct," Brzozowski said.

Present contracts submitted to ASCS for approval must contain certain information. Producers and handlers who are unfamiliar with the required information or have any questions may contact the ASCS office for assistance. In addition to the required information, other items may be included. However, such items may not negate any of the required contract provisions.

"In the event of a contract dispute, our approval of the peanut contract does not constitute a determination of the respective rights and obligations of the handler and producer," Brzozowski said.

Peanut producers and handlers who have entered into contracts must submit the contracts to the producer's local ASCS office by the Sept. 15 deadline.

Indians open season with win over Munday

A torrid third quarter which produced two touchdowns brought the Haskell Indians from behind and powered them to a 20-18 victory over the Munday Moguls here Friday night as the 1994 football season got underway.

The Indians had seen an early 6-0 lead melt to a 12-6 deficit by halftime before they took control of the game as the second half started.

It didn't start out well for the Indians. After Bronco Flye returned the game's opening kickoff from his 14 to the 43, the Moguls promptly drove to the Indian 10 where the drive fizzled when quarterback Christian Torres' pitchout on fourth down was ruled a "muff" and the Indians took over.

Four running plays and two 5-yard penalties against Munday moved the ball to the Indian 37 from where quarterback Cody Cypert hit Bucky Harvey with a pass at the 40 and the Indian fullback rambled into the end zone to complete a 63-yard scoring play. Cypert was unable to get off his kick for the extra point, but the Indians had drawn first blood, and led 6-0, with 4:26 to go in the opening period.

Following the kickoff, Munday drove 67 yards in seven plays to tie the score with the touchdown coming on Flye's 43-yard scoot. A failed extra-point attempt left the score tied at 6-all at the 1:31 mark.

Munday scored again with a minute left in the first half. A fumble recovery gave the Moguls possession at the Haskell 17. Highlighted by an 11-yard pass from Torres to Donny Browning, Munday hit paydirt in four plays with Flye getting the touchdown from a yard out. Keiland Riley blocked Junior Perez' extra-point attempt but Munday was ahead 12-6 and the score stood up during halftime.

It was a different Indian team in the third quarter. Keiland Riley returned the second-half kickoff from the 19 to the 42. After Larned ran for 8 to midfield and a penalty moved the ball to the Mogul 45, Justin Lisle picked up 9 to the 36 and Larned blasted his way 31 yards to the 5. Larned gained 3 more to the 2 and a half-the-distance penalty put the ball on the 1 from where Larned took it in. This time, Cypert booted the bonus point to put the Indians on top, 13-12, with 9:16 still remaining in the period.

It was three running plays and a punt for the Moguls following the Indian kickoff and Haskell was back in business on the Munday 41. In 12 time-consuming ground plays, the Indians added their third touchdown when Lisle went over from the 4. Cypert's kick made it 20-12 with 46 seconds left in the third period.

Midway through the final quarter, the Indians kept a drive alive when Cypert sneaked for a first down at the 41 on a fourth-and-one. But facing another fourth-and-one from the 50, Riley was dropped for no gain and the Indians surrendered the ball on downs at midfield.

Aided by a 15-yard face-mask penalty, the Moguls moved to the Haskell 21 from where Jason Hise ran it in on his only carry of the night. With the score standing 20-18, the Moguls' fake-kick play went awry when the holder was smeared.

Nearly four minutes remained, but the Indians ate up most of the time with four running plays and a punt. Munday picked up one first down in moving from their own 22 to the 40, but Lisle intercepted Torres' pass to put out the fire.

Lisle, with 97 yards in 16 totes, paced the Indian ground-gainers. Larned was 55 in 10 attempts. For Munday, Gerald Taylor had 100 yards in 16 carries and Flye gained 88 yards in 20 rushes.

Top hand

Haskell's Casey Larned streaked for 31 yards on this third-quarter run against Munday. Larned gained 55 yards for the night. He also was in on 11 tackles from his safety position.

Tough Quanah team next Indian foe

It seems the Quanah Indians always have a good football team.

The Haskell Indians should find out just how good they are this year when they host the Quanah bunch here Friday night in the season's second game for both schools. Kickoff is at 8.

Haskell coach Dwayne Gray said Quanah has one of the top running backs his team will face this year in the person of 170-pound junior Germont Jackson.

And the invaders have great size. Jackson runs behind a big, bruising line which features a right side weighing 255, 275 and 225 pounds.

"We'll have to do better this week," Gray said.

Quanah opened its season last Friday with a crushing 47-0 victory over Memphis, while Haskell was edging Munday, 20-18.

Haskell should be in a little better physical shape for the Quanah contest. Halfback Justin Lisle appears to be recovered from a hip-pointer which limited his action in the Munday game. However, a sprained ankle will keep two-way starter Stacy Walker out of action for the second week in a row.

Gray gave his Indians a good review after last Friday's opener. "We didn't start off too well, but we really got going in the third quarter," the coach said. "We proved to ourselves that we could play better."

Lisle, who didn't get in the game until the final minute of the first quarter, gained 97 yards in 16 carries and Casey Larned added 55 yards on 10 carries. Cody Cypert completed only one pass, but that was a 63-yard scoring strike to Bucky Harvey.

On defense, the Indians were led by linebacker Ryan Olson who recorded 13 tackles. Credited with 11 tackles each were linebacker Jamie Hodgkin and safety Casey Larned.

Frankie Masias had a fumble recovery and an interception and Lisle had an interception.

On Friday of next week, Haskell will again play at home, this time against Knox City.

Old letter describes life in early days of Haskell

(Back in February, R. S. Sanders, president of the Haskell County Historical and Genealogical Society, received a copy of the following letter from David Gibson of Nashville, Tenn. The letter was written by Gibson's great-grandmother, Cynthia Rebecca (Jones) Kindred, to her daughter while she was visiting in Haskell in 1893.)

Haskell, Jan. 20, 1893

Dear Alice: I want to see you all so much. It seems so very long since I left you all. I have had no letter since I arrived. I can realize Hilliard's impatience at not getting letters beside I have not the interest of looking for a home. I suppose you read the letter I wrote to Wid so will continue.

John took two wagons and went to Throckmorton but the weather became so cold and we had snow and then fared off and we have had two heavy frosts with long icicles and ice on the north sides of the house yet the weather has not seemed very cold because it has been so still.

Arra has been here with her family since Tuesday, will go to her house tomorrow. She has 4 interesting little girls one a month old.

We went to Jessie's Tuesday and stayed til Thursday. They are very conveniently fixed up to live, have 4 nice rooms including kitchen with nice furniture, carpets and lace curtains and spread and a windmill and tank with pipes which carry the water to the garden bath house and into the kitchen. They also have a young orchard that affords them plenty of fruit and grapevines and a good deal of shrubbery.

Young rooters

The Indians had plenty of moral support Friday night, including a lot from this group of young girls stationed at the top of the stands. The support paid off as the Indians opened their season in style with a win over Munday.

Miss Lula, is very friendly and very industrious has two smart little boys.

I saw a dugout. It looked like a potato (*). The boards came to the ground and had dirt thrown up around them. Nearly all the houses are painted and all I reckon papered. They could not live in open houses as we do. Nearly every family has a rag carpet. There is a woman who weaves them. She gave $30 for her loom and made over $100 the first year.

Lumber cost 42.00 per hundred at the RR and is hauled 55 miles down here and they have towns away out on the plains 3 or 4 hundred miles from here. The houses are built close to the ground, small rooms with low ceiling. Families don't seem to have much milk. They keep but one cow and not first class. Butter sells at 25 cents all the time. There are two waggons that sell milk. They have only one market but could support two. They have a new stone courthouse of which they are justly proud but the stone is brought a long ways.

There is no wood except mesquite and that is several miles off. People are hauling cottonseed to Throckmorton to feed (*) on. The grass looks like it would afford poor pasturage. I would advise a poor man who was coming to Texas to stop in Parker or some of the adjoining counties that produce Mississippi crops and work on shares unless they met with a bargain until they knew more of the country. In this way they might get bargains in stock and other things.

We had a very pretty wash day today and our clothes dried without getting in the dirt. Lila's health is not good but she goes all the time. Brother William has not been out of the yard and scarcely out of the house since election week. Here is a never failing cure for erecyflas (?), wheat bran stirred in hot vinegar and applied warm as can be borne. Kiss all the children for me and write soon. Tell Sister write.

There is a girl staying at Jessie's whose parents live on the plains. She says this more elevated and seems to be a rock under which there is plenty of freestone water. Her father's well is 250 ft. deep and cost $350. They get their wood from the cedar brakes which is a trip of from 4 to 7 days journey.

Lila fries plates full of Irish potatoes just as we do sweet potatoes. They live on beef. Brother Williams sold most of his (*) and expects to buy beef in summer. Bacon ruins worse here than there and they seldom have any vegetables. Jessie has a 50 ft hose and sprinkles their orchard and yard. The hot winds parch the leaves.

Farming has just begun in this part. Poole says where he lived first they would laugh if you spoke of planting anything and the Germans have crowded them out and got rich by shipping vegetables to San Antonio and all without irrigation. This shows what can be done. They are all in good spirits and think they will succeed.

Good by. God bless you all.

Don't mess with Texas.

District teams go 2-4 in openers

It wasn't a great opening week for district 7-A teams as only Haskell and Rotan claimed victories last Friday.

Haskell won by 2 points, 20-18, over Munday and Rotan took a 1-point squeaker over Ralls, 28-27.

The other four district teams lost to 3A opponents, with Coleman blanking Anson, 37-0; Wylie upending Hamlin, 18-14; Stamford bowing to Clyde, 28-12; and Hawley losing to Merkel, 40-0.

Three of the Indians' future non-district foes posted victories. Quannah blasted Memphis, 47-0; Knox City won over Seymour, 20-8; and Baird bested Gorman, 12-0. The other future opponent, Albany, lost to Archer City, 30-0.

Rotan	1	0	0
Anson	0	1	0
Hamlin	0	1	0
Hawley	0	1	0

Games this week: Quannah at Haskell, Anson at Albany, Clyde at Hamlin, Hawley at Roscoe, Rotan at Coahoma, Stamford at Eastland.

Also: Olney at Knox City, Baird at Bangs, Petrolia at Munday.

Sidelines

The Indians got exactly half of their ground yardage in the third quarter.

They rushed 16 times for 97 yards in that period, while they got 97 yards in 28 rushes in the other three periods.

They also got seven of their 12 first downs in the third quarter.

Until Munday took over with 46 seconds to go after the Indians' second third-period touchdown, the Moguls had accumulated exactly 5 yards.

The Indians got two of their touchdowns in the third period, the first coming on a 58-yard drive following the second-half kickoff and the other on a 41-yard march following a short Munday punt.

Fans were confused on the first-period play on which Frankie Masias appeared to have run back a recovered fumble for 90 yards and a touchdown.

Officials ruled that what had appeared to be an errant pithout by Munday quarterback Christian Torres was actually a "muff," and the ball was brought back to the 10.

The Indians didn't try a pass in the second half. They threw four in the first half, the 63-yard scoring bomb from Cody Cypert to Bucky Harvey being the only completion.

The other three attempts came on three consecutive plays in the dying seconds just before halftime.

The Indians' longest run from scrimmage was a 31-yard beauty by halfback Casey Larned early in the third period. Justin Lisle, who had a 25-yard run in the second period, clicked off a 33-yarder on his first carry late in the first period, but the play was called back.

Coach Dwayne Gray said a review of the game film confirmed that the face-mask penalty which gave the Moguls a vital first down in their final touchdown drive, was correct.

Most unsurprising "trick play" of the night came after the Moguls' fourth-quarter touchdown.

With the score, 20-18, the Moguls lined up as if they intended to kick the extra point instead of going for 2 which would have tied the game.

Christian Torres took the snap in the kneeling position and attempted to pitch back to Bronco Flye, but he bobbled the ball and was smeared before he could get it off.

Bobwhite camp is great experience

By Leslie Clift

The Bobwhite Brigade Camp was a fun-filled week of learning. The camp is more than just about quail; it's a wildlife extravaganza.

There were 36 kids selected from all over the state of Texas, along with six assistant leaders returning from last year.

During the day we experienced quail anatomy, quail habitat, quail's diet and last but not least, shot-gunning.

After dinner we would all join in on a lecture or pep talk by one of the camp coordinators, and then on into the world of learning leadership skills.

The big project we worked on all week was the ranch plan. Each covey (cabin) was given a layout of the Tom Halley Ranch and was to develop a quail efficient habitat.

The Bobwhite Brigade is a very challenging, yet beneficial camp. There is one assistant covey leader who will receive a $750 scholarship, and a trip to the National Quail Unlimited Convention. This year at the convention, the Bobwhite Brigade was awarded the National Youth Conservation award.

Anyone interested in this camp needs to contact their county agent.

Paint Creek nips Rochester

Paint Creek opened its 1994 football season in Rochester Friday night with a 19-12 victory over the Steers.

Lolo Martinez passed 18 yards to Shannon Waters for one score and Cody Blair scored twice on short runs to pace the Pirate attack.

Charlie Parks passed 20 yards to Dale Smith for one of Rochester's touchdowns and Matt Cisneros returned an intercepted pass 66 yards for another Steer score.

Haskell County's other six-man team, the Rule Bearcats, lost their opener to Woodson, 37-0.

Trading Post business brisk

Fan support was great and the Trading Post did well at the football game Friday night.

That was the report members of the Indian Booster club heard when they met Monday night.

It was also reported that caps will be available in two weeks. This Friday's game against Quannah was discussed and coaches reported progress and enthusiasm are evident on the varsity team.

Junior high teams will have their first games this Thursday when the seventh- and eighth-grade teams travel to Quannah. The teams have been working hard on fundamentals.

The junior varsity also will play at Quannah.

JVs blast Munday, 48-8

Haskell's junior varsity football team got off to a great 1994 start in Munday Thursday night by beating the Moguls, 48-8.

The JVs will play Quannah there today (Thursday).

Today will also see the opening games for the seventh- and eighth-grade Haskell teams. The also will be in Quannah.

The junior high games start at 5 p.m. with the junior varsity following.

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

Put the Biodiversity Treaty on Hold

The federal government not only needs to get off of our backs — but out of our fields and range lands, away from our springs and rivers.

Texas have come to feel increasingly threatened by their own government. Our private property rights are under attack. Federal regulations designed to protect the environment are being used to, in effect, seize control of privately owned property and restrict its use so as to render it economically valueless.

As if that weren't intolerable enough, the U.S. Senate is being asked to ratify a treaty that may well encourage even more government de facto seizures of private property, and allow foreign countries and multinational organizations to interfere as well.

This treaty, called the Convention on Biological Diversity, outlines global rules for protecting and sharing genetic resources. Its intent is to prevent the extinction of species, especially plants, in order to promote the development of new drugs and foods.

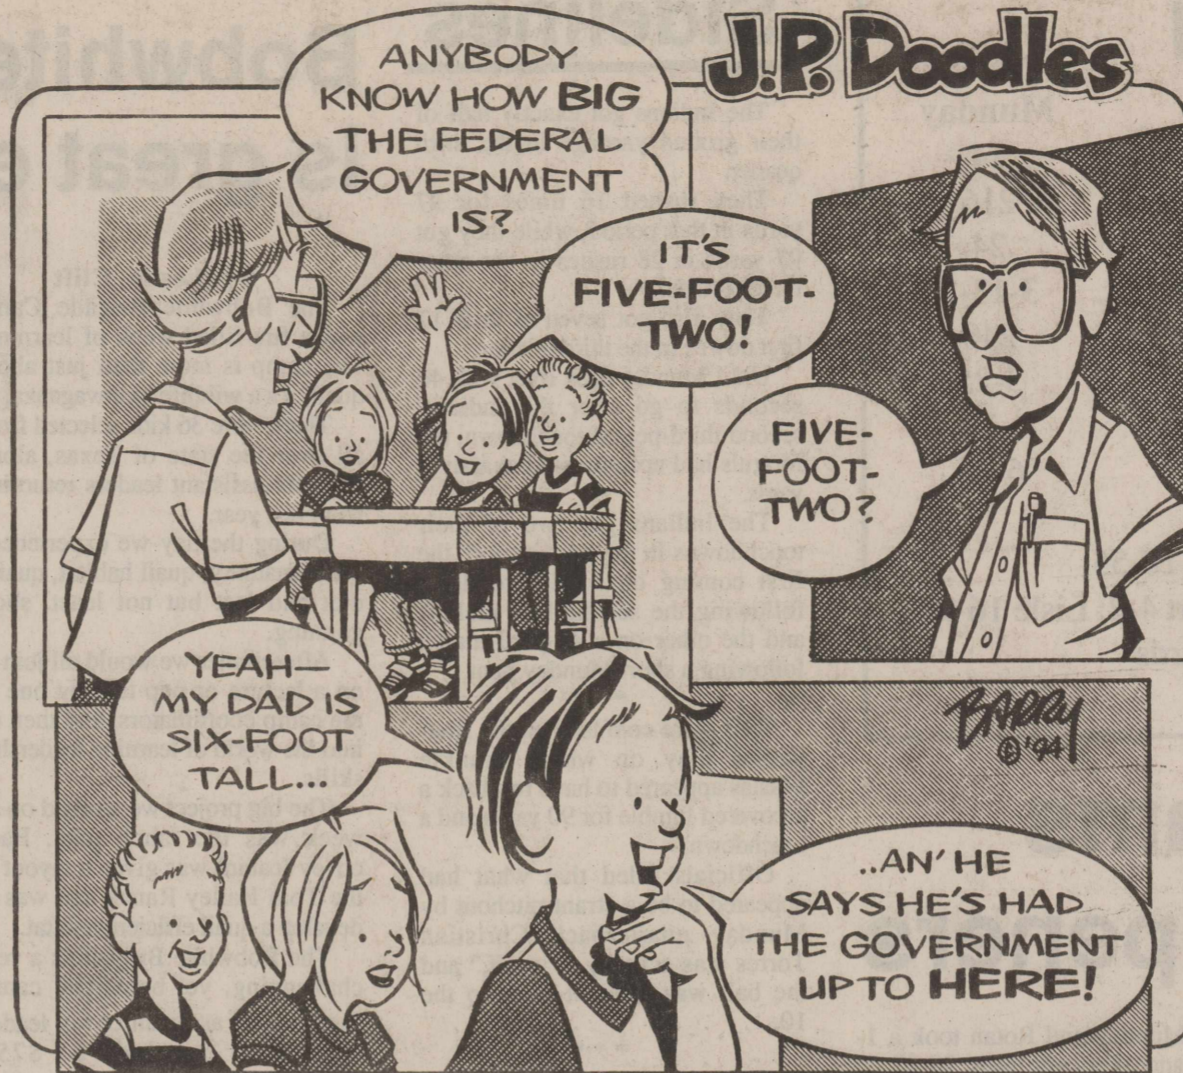

But that high-minded statement of purpose does not begin to describe the potential for mischief the treaty contains. This is one of several agreements which grew out of the 1992 "Earth Summit" in Rio de Janeiro which President Bush wisely decided not to sign, in part because it requires industrialized nations to pay developing nations to participate.

President Clinton did sign the treaty after negotiating a series of "understandings" regarding its interpretation. The Senate, however, has delayed its ratification for a number of valid reasons: The treaty is vague, its details have not yet been spelled out.

But in practical terms, the most disturbing aspect of this treaty is the door it opens for unwarranted interference with both private property matters and state law within the United States. Since 1920 the U.S. Supreme Court has held that local and state laws which conflict with a ratified treaty are void. This treaty would override our local decisions and decisionmakers. Therefore, it is more than likely that every land-use permit, water right, waste disposal ordinance or other rule which affects the use of land and water resources in this country will be subject to challenge as not being in compliance with the broad language of the treaty. For example, both American and foreign environmental groups could challenge cattle ranches as being not "compatible with conservation or sustainable use requirements."

On August 5, I sent a letter to Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell requesting that we delay consideration of the treaty. There are simply too many questions about its potential impact on U.S. domestic law and environmental policies — which are controversial enough without international complications.

The goals of the Biodiversity Treaty are laudable. But, as usual, the devil is in the details. And, in this instance, the details could be used to bedevil the owners of private property on an even broader scale than they are being interfered with now. Until those details are down on paper, in an acceptable form, this treaty should not be ratified.

--Letters to the Editor--

Kimbrough sold bedspreads, too

Editor: My check enclosed for the Haskell Free Press.

Also enclosed is a clipping I got out of a magazine about the year 1940. I have kept it all these years because I grew up in Haskell and knew the whole Kimbrough family.

In a recent paper I saw John's picture and the writeup about him. I thought he would like to have the clipping.

We moved to Haskell in 1920. My father farmed the farm joining Dr. Kimbrough's. It belonged to Clay Kimbrough. I remember John's father bringing all the boys, John and his brothers, out to work on the farm. They would stop by our house to visit. Some times on these occasions, all the Kimbrough boys would romp and play in our yard with my brothers, Elvis and

Leslie Odom (both deceased).

John's father was our family doctor until he passed away. The whole family was nice, honest people.

In the clipping I enclosed it looks like he was advertising Bates bedspreads. I owned a Bates spread and can say they were really good as it lasted for years.

It is sure interesting getting the Free Press and seeing and hearing from people I knew so well.

I am the daughter of the late J. D. and Martha Odom, who lived in Haskell County for several years.

It's hard to face
the morning,
When there's sadness
in your heart,
When memories bring
no comfort,
And the lonely
feelings start.

But one day the clouds
will lighten
And the sun will shine again,
And you'll find that you'll be smiling,
When you say,
"Remember When?"

For each time that you remember Things you shared in days gone by,
You will keep your loved ones close to you,
For memories never die!!!

You will live on in our hearts forever.

Crickets problem in area this year

Large numbers of crickets have developed in the area this year.

They feed both on plant and animal material and are cannibalistic. There may be as many as three generations of this cricket each year. In the fall, large numbers of field crickets may be attracted to lights, and they frequently enter homes.

Field crickets sometimes invade towns in great swarms. The sides of buildings near lights may be covered with crickets, and it may be necessary to sweep them from store fronts and sidewalks. They can become so numerous that streets and sidewalks under street lights become slippery due to the crushed crickets. If not removed, the dead crickets will create a foul odor.

In homes, they may damage nylon, wool and plastic fabrics as well as leather. They will eat holes in cotton, linen and woolen garments, especially those soiled with perspiration or food.

Adult crickets are difficult to control. Yellow lights can be used outside; they are less attractive. Around the outside of the house, Malathion, Dursban or Sevin might be used to keep crickets from entering. When using insecticides, be sure to follow label directions.

Crickets are nocturnal and will continue to be attracted to lights until cooler nighttime temperatures slow their movement. Large numbers of crickets will be attending early September nighttime football games.
