WTU to file a rate review proposal with the PUC

West Texas Utilities Company (WTU) will file a rate review with the Public Utility Commission of Texas in Austin, as previously announced by the company last August. A similar filing will also be made with several of the cities WTU serves.

After performing a study on the cost of providing service, WTU determined that a $14.6 million increase was fully justified. If approved, such an increase would be spread over WTU's 52,000 square-mile customer service territory. The average bill for a typical residential customer could increase by $7, based on the average usage of 1,000 kwh per month.

In a separate action, WTU announced a settlement offer to parties in the proceeding that could continue a base rate revenue reduction of $5.9 million.

Under the settlement proposal, the bill for a typical residential customer could be $1 to $2 less per month than their bill under the current permanent rates. The company established a period until April 17, 1995, to consider this settlement.

"As part of the proposal that would position WTU for the future, we are introducing new pricing structures to help us attract and retain business in West Texas," said Fred Hernandez, area manager.

Under WTU's proposal, new pricing structures would result in some customers experiencing an overall rate decrease greater than the current interim reduction of 3.25 percent. At the same time, some customers would experience an overall rate decrease of less than 3.25 percent. But, with the exception of standby customers, no customer would see their overall rates increase above rates in effect prior to Oct. 1.

However, WTU said it won't know what the final outcome will be until after the conclusion of either a settlement or hearings in Austin.

WTU's base rates have not increased since 1987. Since that time, the Consumer Price Index has increased 34.2 percent, while consumer goods such as automobiles have increased 62.6 percent and postage stamps have gone up 44.5 percent.

"WTU has a mutual interest with our cities in seeing West Texas grow and prosper. Because of our continuing competitive initiative, we have presented a proposal to maintain the overall base rate revenue at the reduced level of 3.25 percent," said Hernandez.

"We believe this proposal will ensure continuing economic growth and prosperity in West Texas," Hernandez added.

OPINION

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Sen. Bill Ratliff's ambitious 1,088-page school reform bill would strip much of the Texas Education Agency's authority over local schools and shorten the school year from 180 days to 175.

Ratliff's bill would place local school districts under an operating charter and cede more control of education to parents, teachers and school boards.

The bill has already drawn opposition over proposals it contains that would allow private school vouchers, charter schools, textbook selection by school boards and recall elections of school board members.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who has endorsed Ratliff's bill and wields considerable power in presiding over the Senate, has acknowledged that special interest groups are working against the bill.

Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, has been described by Bullock as "the most knowledgeable person about education in the Senate" and "the best appointment I have ever made."

House Approach Cautious

In contrast to Ratliff's sweeping package of education reforms, Rep. Paul Sadler, chairman of the House Education Committee, is leading a more cautious effort that allows limited experimentation with innovative methods of education.

Last week, Sadler, D-Henderson, said his committee was working on a bill that would limit charter schools to a few pilot projects and may not propose the implementation of private-school vouchers.

"I think we will structure a school system that looks very traditional," Sadler told the Houston Chronicle, adding that he anticipates "great reluctance" among lawmakers to alter the school finance system recently approved after bouncing in and out of state district court for years.

Sadler also pointed out that Ratliff's proposal to cut supplemental funding to the smallest school districts could force many of them (400 to 500) to consolidate.

Regarding Ratliff's proposal to reduce the minimum number of days children must attend school, Sadler said, "We need to add days to our school year, as many as money will allow us."

Lawsuit Liability Compromise

The House and Senate sponsors of lawsuit liability reform bills announced last week that they had reached a compromise that would free companies that aren't responsible for most of the blame in a lawsuit from being forced to pay all of the damages.

"Joint and several liability" is one of many tort reform measures under consideration in the Legislature, though business lawyers and trial lawyers on opposite sides of the debate agree that the liability issue is the corner stone of tort reform.

Rep. Rob Junell, D-San Angelo, and Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, jointly announced that in most cases, companies would only be liable for 100 percent of the damages if they are found at least 51 percent responsible for the injuries.

Under current law, companies could be forced to pay 100 percent of damages if they are found as little as 11 percent responsible.

Sex Education Poll

Most Texans say the state should require grade schools to educate children about sex, sexually transmitted diseases and the use of condoms, according to the winter Texas Poll.

The telephone survey of 1,011 adults, conducted Feb. 2-11 by the University of Texas for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc., showed that 56 percent of Texans favor mandatory sex education in schools.

However, 32 percent of respondents said sex education in schools has done more harm than good, the poll indicated.

Support for condom education was higher among respondents under age 30 (73 percent) and Democrats (69 percent) than Independents (68 percent) and Republicans (52 percent). Fifty percent of respondents 60 and older favored condom education.

Kids' Lotto Temptation

Rep. Dan Kubiak, R-Rockdale, says he is skeptical about the new vending machines that will be dispensing scratch-off tickets from the Texas Lottery.

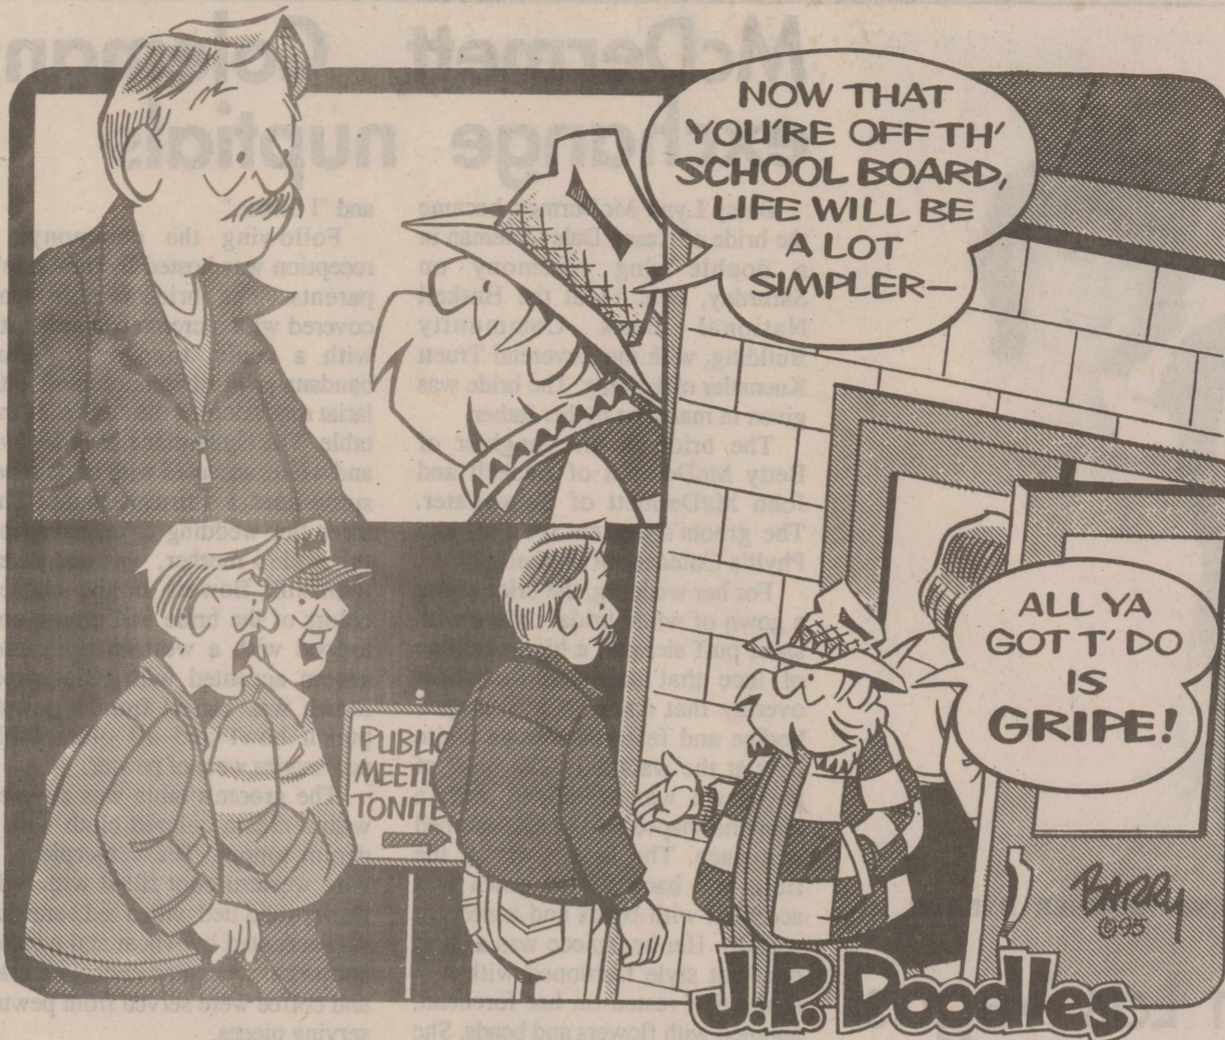

"I don't want them near schools. It makes it too easy for youngsters to play," he told the Houston Chronicle.

Texas Lottery Commission Director Nora Linares said store personnel will be able to turn off the vending machines by remote control if children attempt to use them — but only 10 percent of the machines have the remote control feature.

Other Highlights

In response to the announcement by Kelly Air Force Base that 258 employees will be terminated, Gov. Bush last week dispatched the state Rapid Response Team to San Antonio and instructed the Texas Department of Commerce to assist the impacted workers.

The 15-member State Board of Education would no longer be elected under a bill being considered by the House Committee on Public Education. The measure by Rep. Curtis Scidlits, D-Sherman, would reduce the panel to a seven-member board appointed by the governor.

Stan Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hager of Weinert, exhibited the Grand Champion Steer at the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show last weekend. Stan's steer was a heavy weight crossbred steer and placed first in that category. Reserve Champion Steer was shown by Rod Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Townsend of Rochester. The steer placed first in the heavy weight Hereford division.

From the editor's desk

Haskell Schools had five district championships in basketball, quite a showing for a small school district. The varsity boys and all four junior high teams, boys and girls won district champion titles. The high school varsity girl's team was 3rd in district. Congratulations to all of these kids, the community should be proud of them. The Haskell boys lost their bi-district game to Cisco on Friday night by two points; they played a good game, they didn't just give it to Cisco, they made them work for it and I feel sure if they had a minute or two more in the game, Haskell could have won it. A large crowd of supporters from Haskell was on hand to cheer them on.

Paint Creek also made a good showing, with the high school boys winning district champs and the high school girls as runner-up district champs; and the junior high boys winning district champs. Congratulations on a winning season.

Congratulations also to the Rule high school girl's basketball team for winning bi-district champs.

Congratulations also goes out to some groups of other talented Haskell school students: the Haskell band students who brought home medals from the Region II competition and are headed for state; and the Haskell elementary and high school science and math teams who brought home top honors from the Feb. 10 Quanah math meet.

Congratulations to all of the Cub Scouts who were presented with awards at the Scout banquet on Saturday night. These kids and their leaders have worked hard this past year and deserve a big round of applause.

It is always good to see students involved in good clean activities, athletic or otherwise, and the community supporting them so well.

Texas Senate Review

The Texas Senate convened on Monday and passed Senate bill 165 sponsored by Senator John Leedom of Dallas, which removes the 90-day window in which a retired or former judge must be certified in order to become a visiting judge. In order for a judge to become a visiting judge after leaving the bench, they must make an initial certification of willingness not to appear and plead as an attorney after leaving active service. Current law requires them to make application to the presiding judge within 90 days of leaving the bench, Senate Bill 165 removes the 90-day requirement.

On Tuesday, the Senate passed Senate Bill 360, sponsored by Senator John Montford of Dallas, which provides for the continuation of the Texas Commission for the Arts. The Texas Commission for the Arts is subject to the Texas Sunset Act and will be automatically abolished unless statutorily continued by the legislature this session. The commission is responsible for the development of a receptive climate for the arts, to attract visitors and outstanding artists to Texas, to sponsor activities aimed at encouraging the arts in Texas, and to advise the state on works of art and the artistic character of state buildings. The legislation was drafted on the recommendation for the agency's continuation by the Sunset Commission.

Also on Tuesday, the Senate passed Senate Bill 71 sponsored by Senator Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin which increases the minimum supervised counseling experience requirement for a person applying to be a licensed professional counselor. The bill requires an applicant for a professional counselor license to complete 36 months or 3,000 hours of supervised experience.

Wednesday at the State Capitol was Collin County Day, Matagorda County Day and Corpus Christi Day. These events are held so that community leaders can meet with state leaders and agency heads to discuss the needs of their communities.

Senator Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth attempted twice to pass Senate Bill 65 which relates to smoking in public places and public meetings. Currently Texas does not have a law prohibiting smoking in state office buildings, and is one of only six states without such laws. Senator Moncrief's motion to bring the legislation up for discussion failed after two attempts.

Also on Wednesday, the Senate confirmed several gubernatorial appointees including Mr. Patrick Henry Wood III of Travis County to the Public Utility Commission. Upon confirmation of Mr. Wood, Senator Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin made a motion to instruct the Nominations Committee, chaired by Senator Teel Bivins of Amarillo, to bring the other pending Public Utility Commission nominee to the Senate Floor for a vote. Dr. Sarah Goodfriend of Austin was appointed to the board Sept. 1, 1993 by former Governor Ann Richards and has been serving pending Senate confirmation. The motion failed by a vote of 16 yeas to 14 nays. A motion of this type must have a two-thirds majority approval to be in effect. Nominations left pending upon the adjournment of the legislative session are automatically rejected.

The Senate Education Committee, chaired by Senator Bill Ratliff, began the first of a five-week series of meetings to be held relating to the rewriting of the Texas Education Code. The meetings are being broadcast via closed-circuit television throughout the Capitol and the Capitol Extension.

On Thursday, the Senate passed Senate Concurrent Resolution 24 sponsored by Senator Jerry Patterson of Pasadena memorializing Congress to propose an amendment to the United States Constitution exempting desecration of the American flag from protection by the First Amendment. Passing of the legislation marks the fiftieth anniversary of the flag raising at Mount Suribachi at Iwo Jima.

Chapman & Slipper Shoppe celebrate 15 years together

The Slipper Shoppe celebrated its 15th anniversary in February under the ownership of Joy Chapman. She bought the shop from Mary Bischofhausen on Feb. 1, 1980, at its original location on the east side of the square and moved into the present location on Aug. 1, 1994.

Chapman worked for Bischofhausen for over five years before buying it and running it herself. She said that her former boss convinced her that she would be good at the job, "Mary said you ought to buy the business, you would be good at it, so I believed it and bought it and it's worked out for 15 years. I appreciate people supporting me all these years and hope they will continue."

Chapman started clerking as a teenager at Perry's in 1938 and worked there until 1941. She was a homemaker and raised a family of four and did not start working for Bischofhausen until the children had started going to college.

After purchasing the business, daughter, Glenda Gayle, came home from college to help her mother get started and has continued to help her out over the years. The mother and daughter have now combined their two separate businesses in the same quarters, the Personality-Slipper Shoppe, to offer one-stop shopping for their customers.

Chapman said that this is the first time since she started the business that she does not have a high school girl employed in the shop. She said that she has found them to be good help. Employees who share work in both businesses are sales representatives, Elaine Grover, Doris Burson and Betty Dodson.

Chapman and her husband, Jack, will be celebrating 53 years of marriage on April 16. In addition to their daughter, Glenda Gayle, they have three sons, Ronny Chapman-Haskell County Commissioner in Precinct 2, Keith Chapman of Georgetown and Terry Chapman of Norman, Okla. Both Keith and Terry work for the Livestock Marketing Association. They also have seven grandchildren.

SLIPPER SHOPPE 15TH ANNIVERSARY—Joy Chapman celebrated her 15th anniversary as owner of the Slipper Shoppe in February. She is shown here with a display of shoes in the shop.

WTU teaches students to "Play it Safe Around Electricity"

Fourth graders at Haskell Elementary School recently learned about electrical safety tips, both outdoors and inside the home in a program presented by West Texas Utilities Company.

Students watched a video entitled "Play It Safe Around Electricity," starring Louie the Lightning Bug and other visuals intended to teach safety awareness. The students were warned to avoid flying kites or climbing trees near power lines, to stay away from electrical substations and downed lines, and to always watch out for overhead lines when working or playing.

Linda Caton, WTU Community

Relations Specialist, told the students, "WTU cares about your safety and we want you to understand that electricity can be dangerous."

Since many electrical accidents involving children occur in the home, the students were shown an example of a breaker box and how to cut off the power in an emergency. Students were also cautioned about overloading electrical outlets and keeping electrical appliances away from water.

After the program, each student received an electrical safety booklet and a follow-up quiz to check their understanding of electricity. WTU Area Manager, Fred Hernandez, was also present to meet the students and encourage them to "Play It Safe Around Electricity."

WORSHIP TOGETHER

YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP HAS SOME GOOD TIMES FOR YOU

If you have been attending your House of Worship, you know what a comfort and inspiration it can be. However, it may have more to offer than just the worship service and, perhaps, a Bible class. There could also be some very pleasant get-togethers, such as pot luck suppers, ice cream socials, etc.; to welcome newcomers, say goodbye to someone, celebrate holidays, or for no reason at all. You can help by joining in the fun, where you will make new friends, renew old acquaintances, and get to know your clergyman and the other members of the congregation better. These occasions will help increase your sense of belonging to your House of Worship, and thereby add to the blessings you have already received by attending it every week.

Modern Way participates in tree program

Modern Way IGA will be participating in the Hometown Trees program sponsored by IGA retailers this spring, by distributing free Russian Olive, Desert Willow and Australian Pine trees this week until they are all gone.

The Hometown Trees program was founded by IGA, Inc., Louisiana-Pacific Corp. (a leader in the forest products industry) and Coca-Cola USA in 1992 with the goal of planting millions of trees in communities served by IGA supermarkets.

Since the program's inception, thousands of IGA retailers have worked with local community groups to plant 2.5 million trees across the country.

Louisiana-Pacific nurseries, located throughout the United States, cultivate, harvest and package all of the trees for the Hometown Trees program. Louisiana-Pacific nursery professionals consult state and county forestry experts to ensure proper tree species selection. Trees are transported to IGA retailers via refrigerated produce trucks to keep the seedlings in top planting condition.

Bush to perform at Macias Ballroom

Country singer Johnny Bush, best known as the composer of Willie Nelson's concert theme song, "Whiskey River," and his eight-piece Bandolero Band will be appearing at the Macias Ballroom, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Saturday night, Mar. 4.

Bush, a native of Houston, has been singing and playing the Texas dance-hall circuit almost 40 years. He recorded three albums for RCA in the early 70s and has recorded several hit songs including "Green Snakes on the Ceiling," "There Stands the Glass," "Sensuous Woman," and "You Gave Me a Mountain."

Bush thinks the new breed of country artists coming out of Nashville are helping his business because a lot of people still want to hear the old-two-steppin' music, not rock 'n' roll in a cowboy hat and being told that's country music.

Bush released his first new album, "Time Changes Everything," in two decades in the first part of 1994. In the early '70s, Bush lost his voice, later diagnosed as suffering from spastic dysphonia, a rare condition in which the vocal cords are affected by uncontrollable muscle spasms. He has fully regained his ability to sing and thinks that his voice is stronger than ever.

Despite the title of the album "Time Changes Everything," Bush has no plans to change his style. He plans to keep on doing the old true honky-tonk two-steppin' music as long as the people want to hear it and he can still play it.

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the prayers, visits, phone calls, cards, food, memorials, and other acts of kindness during Irman Whitaker's illness and death.

We thank Dr. McSmith, the nurses and staff at Haskell Memorial Hospital for their dedicated care, and to Brother Jim Turner for his visits and prayers.

A special thanks to Haskell Healthcare staff for the love and care given him.

Exposition Show finishes record breaking run

The 99th edition of the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show finished a record-breaking run and immediately began making plans that will lead to the show's 100th anniversary program January 19 through February 4, 1996.

Several records fell during the recent Stock Show. Most significant was the entry list of 18,851 head, by far out-distancing last year's peak of 18,005. Other records to tumble included 147,728 paid rodeo attendance, an entry of 735 cowboys in the rodeo lineup, and a rodeo purse of $335,750 that helped push the Stock Show's premium and purse monies to a top of over $650,000.

Grounds attendance swelled to 789,000, just short of the peak of 813,100 set in 1992. Broadening the Stock Show's International Program, the show hosted 518 guests from 56 foreign nations. The new Livestock Producers Program for members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association generated 1,060 special industry guests.

Another high spot was in the Invitational Ranch Horse Sale when the top two horses among the 15 consigned drew peak bids. A 7-year-old entry from Pitchfork Land and Cattle Company of Guthrie, Texas, placed first in the demonstration and sold for $18,000. Second place, which drew $17,000, was a 6-year-old gelding from Boone Ranch of Archer County, Texas.

Winners in the Coors Cowtown Cutting competition, held at each of the 28 rodeo performances, included Fort Worth Star-Telegram Publisher Rich Conner in the non-pro division aboard Pam's Moon Bar; and Ms. Lindy Burch, a professional trainer from Weatherford, Texas, who rode the Oxbow Ranch entry Shesa Smart Lena.

For the first time ever, the grand and reserve grand champion steers came from the same family, brothers Andy and Brandon Conrad, 4-H Club members from Claude, Texas. Andy's champion was bought by grocer giant Winn-Dixie Texas for $54,000, while older brother Brandon's reserve sold for $25,000 to Manny and Billy Rosenthal, Coors Distributing Co., Bell Communications and First Interstate Bank. In all, the 2,121 head of junior show steers, lambs, barrows and wether goats that were sold collected, $1,018,475 in auction monies for the young exhibitors.

A note of appreciation was made to members of the Fort Worth Stock Show Syndicate for their total auction purchases of $650,545, bringing the Syndicate's involvement since its founding in 1980 to over $5 million.

Rodeo winners included John Brockway of Fort Worth, bareback riding; Bud Longbrake of Dupree, S.D., saddle bronc riding; Ty Murray of Stephenville, Texas, bull riding; Bud Ford of Fort Worth, calf roping; Chad Bedell of Jensen, Utah, steer wrestling; and Stacy Short of Fort Worth, Invitational Ranch Girls Barrel Race.

Case IH 7200 tractors honored among agricultural engineering

The latest generation of Case IH Magnum tractors, the 7200 Series, available from Richardson Truck and Tractor in Haskell, has been named among the Agricultural Engineering 50 as one of 1994's most outstanding innovations in product or systems technology.

A panel of national engineering experts chosen by Agricultural Engineering magazine reviewed nominations from component suppliers, equipment manufacturers and systems developers representing many different industries. According to the magazine, the panel selected developments that "embodied the application of an older technology" and would make "worthwhile contributions to the advancement of engineering technology."

Magnum tractors have earned recognition among the AE50 three times, according to Gil Richardson. The tractors were listed for the first time following the original introduction in 1987, again with the introduction of the 7150, the largest MFD tractor on the market, and in 1994 following the introduction of the new 7200 Series.

"Farmers are under pressure to be more productive and cost effective in their operations," said Richardson. "The 7200 Series Magnum tractors are dependable, versatile machines that help them achieve that."

Richardson noted that Case built its 50,000th Magnum tractor in 1994 and that the tractors have logged more than 64 million productive hours in the field.

Wheat may need nitrogen fertilization

Many of the wheat fields in the Rolling Plains are yellowish in appearance, which indicates a lack of nitrogen. The mild winter coupled with considerable forage production removed by cattle grazing has resulted in the nitrogen deficiency. The fall was fairly dry, but timely rains over the area resulted in excellent wheat pasture growth. Removal of wheat forage by grazing cattle will increase the need for nitrogen fertilization.

Much of the wheat is nearing the jointing stage, and yield potential will be quickly determined. Some earlier planted wheat has jointed due to the mild conditions encountered this year. Those producers who are grazing their wheat fields should be concerned about the stage of growth of their crop and pull the cattle off prior to jointing. Nitrogen fertilizer should be applied as soon as possible in order to get the maximum grain yield benefit and the window of opportunity is rapidly closing.

Wheat fields that were lightly fertilized in the fall and had high forage production should greatly benefit from topdressed nitrogen, if adequate rainfall is received after application. In general, stocker cattle remove approximately 10 pounds of forage for each one pound of gain. Ten pounds of forage contain 0.4 pounds of nitrogen. In other words, 0.4 pounds of nitrogen are removed for each one pound of beef gain. The amount removed by the cattle can be applied as a spring-topdress treatment.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

Need More Time To File Your 1994 Return?

You may have a good reason for not filing your 1994 tax return by the April 17th deadline. Perhaps you have financial transactions or joint ventures that didn't get summarized in time. Or perhaps you simply haven't had time to pull all your tax information together.

To avoid penalties for filing your 1994 tax return later than April 17th, you must file an extension request and show an estimate of your tax liability. If your estimate of the total taxes due exceeds the amount you have already paid in, you are required to send the difference along with your extension request. If your tax estimate on the extension request is less than the tax on your final return, you may be subject to penalties. The extension request does not ask you to explain why you want additional time to file.

The first extension must be filed on or before April 17th, the normal due date of your tax return. It gives you until August 15th to file your return. Additional time beyond August 15th can be obtained by filing a request for further extension. This second extension requires that you state the reason for the delay.

It's better to file for an extension than to simply file your tax return late. For every month your tax return is past due without the formal extension, the IRS will impose a five percent penalty (up to 25 percent of the total amount due) and will require that you pay interest on any taxes owed.

The bottom line? If you decide to file for an extension, make sure you estimate your tax liability accurately and pay the amount due by the April deadline.

Contact our office if you need more information or assistance.

"DECISIONS MADE EARLY"

Many people plan for what might happen - fire, burglary, injury, and accidents. Now more and more people are planning for what will inevitably happen. It simply makes good sense to prepare for that which we can not avoid.

Pre-need funeral arranging allows one to control the type of service they would prefer, select a means of financing it, freeze the prices at today's price, and save loved ones the anguish of deciding these matters at a later date. Really it is the loving thing to do for your family.

Simply come by or call and we will come by to see you.

Commissioners Court approves MHMR repairs

In a very short meeting on Tuesday morning, the Commissioners Court voted to proceed with the needed repairs at the MHMR building. Commissioner C.A. Turnbow presented the court with an estimate on the cost, stating that he thought supplies and labor costs should not be over $1,000. He said that he had gotten a price on the three outside doors of $55.69 each and $62.50 for the inside door and frame. He did not have a cost on the glass that was needed but commented that he didn't think it would be very expensive.

Commissioner Ray Perry sat in for County Judge Roberson who is out of town. Commissioner Bill Perry was also absent from Tuesday's meeting.

City Council denies rezoning request

In its regular scheduled meeting Tuesday night, the City Council denied a request for rezoning of property from residential to planned development at 801 N. Ave. B. Two citizens approached the council to speak in favor of the rezoning, which was referred to the city council by the Zoning Board because they were in a tie over the matter and could not make a decision.

In other business, the council approved the job qualifications description requirements to hire an EDC director, as recommended by Bobby Hobgood at the Feb. 14 meeting.

City Administrator Sam Watson reported that no one has filed for the three alderman positions, that are open as of Tuesday.

We wish to express our grateful appreciation for the overwhelming generosity of the people of Haskell for all the food, flowers, visits, prayers and moral support in the loss of our loved one, Weldon Turnbow.

A special thanks to the First Baptist Church, Brother Jim Turner, Phylecia, Caroline and Delight.

To the McCauley's and the Robison's - you're the best.
