BREAKFAST MEETING-Agriculture Commissioner, Rick Perry, candidate for Lt. Governor of Texas, was greeted by hometown friends, family and supporters last Wednesday morning. From

Rick Perry visits Haskell during bus tour

by Mary Kaigler Staff Writer

Haskell County native son, Rick Perry, candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Texas, brought his message of safer streets, the best schools in America and economic opportunity back to his home town last Wed., as part of his "Main Streets and Country Roads" bus tour through six West Texas counties.

At a 7:45 a.m. country breakfast with a large group of friends and supporters at the Bever's House Bed and Breakfast in Haskell, the Commissioner of Agriculture who is enjoying the support of grassroots Texans, including President George Bush, and is leading in the polls, said, "Improving public schools is my #1 priority; focusing on reading and phonics, back to basic subjects, raising academic standards, and rewarding great teachers."

Saying that Texas needs leaders who will work together based upon shared conservative values, Perry pledged, "As Lt. Governor I'll work with Governor Bush and legislators of both parties to make Texas a better, safer and more prosperous place for our children and grandchildren."

Commissioner Perry's recently unveiled series of policy proposals include:

Best Schools in America Plan to improve public schools by focusing on early reading and phonics instruction, back to basics coursework, and high academic standards. The plan rewards specialized reading teachers with a state stipend of up to $7,000.00 and encourages faith-based, law enforcement and volunteer organizations to offer on-campus after school activities to keep kids safe, learning and out of harm's way.

The Texas Business Improvement Plan encourages economic growth and job creation with small business tax cuts, regulatory reform and tort reform to crack down on frivolous and junk lawsuits.

The Street Terrorism Prevention Act fights gangs and juvenile crime by cracking down on gang recruitment, establishing a statewide gang-member database, to provide assistance to local prosecutors, police and gangfighters.

New employment practices discussed by Commissioners

New employment practices for county employees was the first subject for discussion and change at the Commissioner's Court meeting, Monday. Voting to put all new employees on a $50.00 reduction instead of the usual $100.00 salary reduction, the Court will help the new employee in the paying of the retirement fee that will now be taken out. After six months on the job, the employee's salary will increase in the amount of the $50.00.

Sheriff Johnny Mills asked the Court to consider giving salary increases to jail employees working swings shifts nights, as this may help reduce the turnover in employees at the jail. No action was taken on the matter. Diana Simmons was hired as dispatcher.

TxDOT has made twenty, twenty-four feet long I-beams available to the County if they pick them up north of Paducah. The beams will be picked up Aug. 11. The County plans to use them for Reporting that the track fire vehicle was used at a fire in the south east part of the County with good results, Commissioner Billy Wayne Hester inquired about getting a trailer for this vehicle.

Pct. 3 will put a stop sign on the county road by College Lake.

Pat Kittley was named

Pat Kittley was named Republican Alternate Election Judge for Box 6. General Election Judge was changed from F.A. Ulmer to Joe Clark.

Commissioners appointed Dale Bullinger, Larry McDaniels, and the County Agent to the Land Board.

Work on the elevator will begin this week with the installation of a fan and a fence by Pct. 1. The Anti-Drunk Driving Plan lowers the blood alcohol content threshold to .08, requires mandatory jail time for DWI offenders, and stiffens penalties for repeat offenders

A fifth generation Texan, Perry, 48, the son of Ray and Amelia Perry, grew up on their farm in Paint Creek. In 1968, the Eagle Scout left Haskell County to attend Texas A&M University. Graduating in 1972, he immediately joined the U. S. Air Force, serving as a C-130 pilot for four and a half years, earning the rank of Captain before returning to join his father in the farming and ranching operation.

In 1984 Perry was elected to the Texas House of Representatives, and in 1990 he became the first agri-businessman to serve as Commissioner of Agriculture. In 1994 he was re-elected with 63% of the vote.

Perry and his wife Anita, daughter of Dr. Joe and 'Sister' Thigpen of Haskell, reside in Austin where their children, Griffin and Sydney attend public schools. They are members of the Tarrytown United Methodist Church.

Holden-McCauley Funeral Home receives Golden Rule membership

Marc Robison, of Holden-McCauley Funeral Home in Haskell is pleased to announce his firm's acceptance into membership of the International Order of the Golden Rule (OGR).

Golden Rule Funeral Homes, which comprise the association's membership, are a select group of independently owned funeral service providers worldwide. In order to be accepted for membership, the applicant must establish and maintain the highest standards of quality service and ethical conduct.

"Being a part of OGR and sanctioned as a Golden Rule Funeral Home, identifies Holden-McCauley Funeral Home as a firm dedicated to reliability, fair pricing and dignified, caring service," according to OGR's director of communications, Frances S. Levy.

Marc Robison explains, "The Golden Rule affiliation gives consumers a way to identify their community's top-notch funeral home." "The application process is demanding," says Levy, "and it truly is an honor to be designated as a Golden Rule Funeral Home."

Golden Rule Funeral Homes adhere to the principle of the adage. "Service measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule" has been the philosophy of the organization since its founding in 1928.

"Families often find that a Golden Rule Funeral Home does more than expected," she adds. "Its staff is extremely sensitive to the family's emotional needs, expends every effort to accommodate the family's requests and can make funeral arrangements in a distant community, if that service is required."

On an average, only 22 funeral homes per state qualify for this distinguished award. Marc explained that "the staff at Holden-McCauley which includes Nedra McCauley, Jimmy Howard, Kim Berry, Marsha Whittemore and Melisa Robison has done an outstanding job in helping us achieve this award."

For more information, please contact Marc Robison at (940) 864-2151.

Applications for emergency farm loans now accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by drought, which occurred from June 1, 1997, through July 8, 1998 and continuing are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Haskell, Ag Credit Manager Larry P. McDaniel said recently.

Haskell County is one of 254 counties in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the extreme fire hazard.

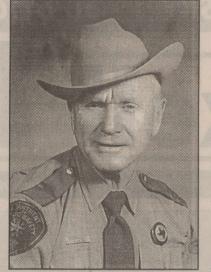

McDaniel said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 3.75 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan," McDaniel said. Farmers participating in the Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

'Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until March 23, 1999, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," McDaniel said.

FSA is a credit agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U. S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FSA office in Haskell is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Ed Sterling TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

A record number of Texas school districts and campuses earned an exemplary rating-the highest rating possible-from the state's accountability system, Education Commissioner Mike Moses announced last week.

Fifteen percent, or 1,042 of the state's 6,654 public school campuses, were rated exemplary based on their performance in the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test given last spring. Last year, 683 campuses received the top rating.

To earn an exemplary rating this year, at least 90 percent of all the students and each student group (black, Hispanic, white or economically disadvantaged) had to pass the reading, writing and mathematics sections of the TAAS

A dropout rate of less than 1 percent for all students and each student group and an attendance rate of at least 94 percent were also required.

The number of low-performing campuses also hit a record low, even though more stringent performance standards are in place. Sixty schools (less than 1 percent) were rated as low-performing.

"We raised the bar for Texas schools again this year," said Moses. "They not only met the challenge, most exceeded it. The ratings show the strong improvement that is occurring in Texas public schools."

Accountability ratings are based on the percentage of students passing the reading, writing and mathematics sections of the TAAS examination, the dropout rate and attendance rate

Districts can earn one of four ratings: exemplary, recognized, academically acceptable and academically unacceptable.

Some districts with year-round education programs will not receive their ratings until Sept. 1.

Along with rating traditional public schools, the system was broadened this year to include charter schools. Of the 10 charter school campuses rated, one achieved recognized status, seven earned an acceptable rating and two were rated low-performing.

AG Signs Tobacco Suit Papers

Attorney General Dan Morales on July 24 signed the final documents in Texas' $17.3 billion settlement with the tobacco industry.

"We now have the ability to dramatically improve the health care of Texans, especially our uninsured children, for decades to come," Morales said.

The documents were forwarded to the federal court in Texarkana. Thirty days after approval by the court, nearly $400 million in initial payments will be deposited in the state treasury. Thereafter, yearly payments will then be made to the Texas recently won an additional $2.28 billion in follow-up negotiations with the tobacco industry, as a result of a provision in the original settlement allowing enhancement of the Texas deal if other states obtain more favorable terms. The Minnesota settlement opened the door for Texas to renegotiate.

The additional money is to be distributed to Texas counties and hospital districts for costs associated with indigent health care.

Morales also announced the resolution of objections by Gov. George W. Bush and seven legislators to the contingency fee to be paid to the state's private counsel by the tobacco industry.

"This ends the war over the spoils of war," Morales said.

2nd Meningitis Death Reported

Two children have now died this summer from a rare and dangerous form of meningitis.

A 10-year-old boy's death last week prompted the Texas Department of Health to issue a renewed warning about swimming in lakes, rivers and stagnant water.

The amoeba that causes the infection, Naegleria fowleri, thrives in fresh water when temperatures are high, usually above 80 degrees.

Swimming pools properly cleaned, maintained and treated with chlorine generally are safe, as is salt

In addition, TDH recommends that people never swim in stagnant or polluted water and that people hold their nose or use plugs when jumping into lakes, rivers, ponds or other bodies of fresh water.

From The Inside Out

By Mary Kaigler

"Kiss your mall good-bye" was the theme of a recent series of articles in Time Magazine, based on the growing popularity of on-line computer shopping via the Internet. The new technology that is bringing the ability to "click till you drop," buying everything "faster, cheaper and better," is being touted as the new cybercommerce predicted to completely change the way we buy and sell. Citing that the Internet has become a 'shopper's paradise", stocked with everything from "wine to cars," they conclude that, "Business will never be the same.

Pointing to the time and energy saved by it for other pursuits, "the real promise of all of this change is that it will enrich all of us...with the ability to get whatever we want, when we it," the writers said. They call the trend a radical reshaping of the consumer culture, comparable to the revolution created by shopping malls in the 1970s and

Well maybe. While perhaps being, as they say, great for making reservations, ordering books, CDs, cars (Volkswagons), and perfumes, -to one whose personal computer is not yet online with the Internet, such things as automated grocery shopping seem a bit impersonal and far from being interesting. Although, it does raise some interesting (if trivial) thoughts. Can we ever relax to trusting just anyone to smell out a good cantaloupe for us or squeeze the bread just right?

Traditionally, shopping for goods has always seemed to be a matter of communication between individuals and groups; the occasion for exchange of information and interaction between human beings. We may not feel inclined to be too hasty in giving up that aspect of stories about her childhood joy at the arrival of the "peddler" who came by with his wagon every few months. Barking dogs and squealing children heralded the dusty clatter as he came down their road. Adults hurried to greet him, welcoming his company even more than the bolts of calico, needles and milking stools piled in his wagon. Buying and bartering and "feeling the goods," they also visited, heard news and ideas. She told of how he would stay for several days and how she and her family loved to sit by the fire late into those nights listening to his tales, gossip and news from the other side of the mountain and beyond.

I remember, in my childhood, the large group of women of German descent in Abernathy who came to town each Saturday afternoon, sitting for hours in a warm, close circle in Struve Mercantile, happily vising with each other during their weekly shopping trip to town.

Today, the malls in larger places are a popular gathering place for much more than just shopping by teen-agers, families and others having interests in common. In the Glendale, California, Galleria I've seen groups of Armenian women enjoying being together as they shop for their families; moving along in groups, comparing prices and purchases with one another. Clearly, it was more to them than just going out to buy something.

My, how times have changed. Tradition gives way to postmodernism, for better or for worse. Today, thanks to technology, we may hear and know more about what is going on in the world than we want to know, and we may not feel the same need to communicate as folks once did when they were isolated from one another. Are we now, in our busy, fast-lane lives, seeking a bit of isolation from a world that is too much with us, by shopping from our own homes?

At the risk of sounding like the early doubters who said, "get a horse" when the first automobiles came struggling down the muddy backroads, I don't think cybershopping will ever completely replace our need for the hands-on, tactile pleasure of "feeling the goods." Even catalog shopping, which was once such a boon to those living in places where stores were inaccessible, hasn't replaced it.

Okay, I can see a book, record or reservation might be convenient to order on the Net. But, buy a Volkswagon without even kicking a tire? No way dot com.

1 John 3:2, 3 As children of the sinful first Adam, we were obstinate and ornery, helpless and hopeless, with nothing in ourselves to commend us to God. But God's love. overruled our unloveliness. Through Christ God provided a way for us into His family. As God's adopted child, you have been given a new identity and a new name. You're no longer a spiritual orphan; you're a son or daughter of God. Romans 8:16, 17 tells us "The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God and if children, heirs also, heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ.'

If you're beginning to think you are some one special as a Christian, you're thinking rightyou are special! Your specialness is not the result of anything you have done, of course. It's all God's doing. All you did was respond to God's invitation to be His child. But as a child of God, in union with God by being in Christ, you have every right to enjoy your special relationship with your new Father.

How important is it to know who you are in Christ? There are countless numbers of Christians who struggle with day-to-day behavior because they labor under a false perception of who they are. They see themselves as sinners who hope to make it into heaven by God's grace, but they can't seem to live above their sinful tendencies. Why can't they live the victorious Christian life? Because they have a misperception of who they are in Christ.

But look again at the hope-filled words of 1 John 3:2, 3. What is the believer's hope? That he will someday be changed into Christ's image? That's part of it, but that's only a future hope. What is your hope for today and tomorrow? That you're a child of God now! You must see yourself as a child of God in order to live like a child of God. The blessed hope for the believer is "Christ in you, the hope of glory" (Colossians 1:27).

Thank you, Father, for the glorious hope of being Your child. I want to live in the security and blessing of that reality today.

Craig Cunningham completes scout project

by Mary Kaigler

Fulfilling the last requirement needed for achieving Scouting's highest rank of Eagle Scout, sixteen-year-old Boy Scout, Craig Cunningham, son of Larry and Marijane Cunningham, has spent a busy summer working on an extensive community service leadership project.

Early in the spring, after looking into the possibilities, and considering suggestions of interested others, including his maternal grandmother, Jane McAdoo, he chose and got permission to beautify and make more usable the open courtyard of his home church, Haskell First United Methodist. Through careful, thoughtful planning and execution of the daunting project, the area has been turned into a pleasing, userfriendly, park-like outdoor patio.

Partially surrounded by the buildings on four sides, it is located immediately outside the back door of the Fellowship Hall and doors opening from classrooms of the Children's Annex building. It could be described as an outdoor anteroom extension to both buildings.

The plan began by finding a suitable way to camouflage the large, dominating air conditioning units serving the churches' main buildings. Choosing a material that would be both durable and practical in letting air flow to the units, Craig and his team of helpers constructed an attractive white lattice-work style fence of durable, high-density composition plastic strips.

After his careful planning, measuring and ordering, he and several helpers, including fellow scouts of Troop 136, family members and Scout Master Kenneth Patton, assembled and installed around the perimeter of the area, three wood and iron park benches, two wood and iron picnic tables with benches, and new, sturdy iron handrails on steps leading from the Fellowship Hall.

Around a pine tree already growing in the center of the open patio, three curved, stone benches were placed after being assembled. Three large cement urns were interspersed between the ornate benches circling the tree. Craig said he plans for flowers and plants to be added to them seasonally, and on special occasions. A decorative birdbath was place in the circular bed of ground cover around the tree.

Last week, as a final, perhaps very fitting touch, a charming, steepled, white "church house" bird house was suspended by a chain from a tree branch above the birdbath.

Already being enjoyed as a pleasant little oasis spot by Sunday School students crossing over to church services after classes, the area is planned to be used for picnics, outdoor class settings, group gatherings and handling overflow from church dinners inside.

One hundred and ten hours were spent in completing the project, with all of the money spent coming from donations from interested friends and family.

Along with this scouting project, and working at The Drug Store, Craig spent two weeks of this summer on tour with "Spirit Wind", a popular, trained singing group of about 160 youths who travel and sing in concert each summer, sponsored by the Methodist Northwest Gonference.

A Haskell High School junior student, six-feet-tall Craig is also actively involved in basketball and running hurdles. He is a member of the band, the National Honor Society, Student Council, and is active in his church youth group.

With only his required documented paper work now left to be completed and sent to Washington. D. C., for official validation. Craig can soon look forward to receiving his Eagle Scout rank after passing the Scout Board of Review.

This quiet spoken, young American Eagle, of whom the whole community can be proud, says that he will be very pleased if he can have his Court of Honor conducted in the newly created atmosphere of the little courtyard at his church, which has been a Chartering Organization for scouts in Haskell for over sixty years.

Sagerton News

By Dorothy M. Clark

We all feel a little bit better after having a few days of cooler weather and a sprinkle of rain. Your correspondent feels much better today than she did fifty-two years ago when she was in the hospital having her first baby! Happy Birthday, Patsy!

We are happy to welcome another new family to Sagerton. The Perezs have moved here from Ft. Worth and have purchased the house that most of us remember as the Fritz and Henrietta Stegemoeller home. Frances Clark recently purchased the property and has done extensive remodeling. We are happy to have the Perez family among us and hope that they will soon feel like one of us. Their family is Fidencio and Nancy with children: Vanessa, Joshua, Jacob and Michael. Vanessa, Joshua and Jacob will be attending school in Rule. Welcome to Sagerton!

Leslie and Kay Baitz and two of their granddaughters, Barbara and Deborah Linden of Leander, visited recently with Melvin and Annella Baitz and Billy and Margie Hertel. While here, they also visited with Emma Raphelt of Stamford.

The Alvin Ulmers have returned from a short vacation to cool Meeker, Colorado where they visited with their daughter, Jana and Keith Whitaker and their grandson, Kyle and Sherry Whitaker of Thornton, Colorado. A highlight of their trip included a guided tour of a chicken farm in Plattsville, Colorado belonging to Sherry's parents. The farm housed one million, two hundred thousand laying hens and was all operated by automation. The Ulmers reported that it was so nice and clean, very well organized and even the manure was harvested for fertilizer. All products from the farm were marketed. It was quite a different sight from the "chicken houses" we mad around here in our earlier farming days.

Kyle and James Wilhite of Abilene visited in the home of Wilma Teichelman last week.

Visitors in the home of Mary Neinast last weekend included Betsy and Laura Kate Neinast of Emory and Roy, Judy, Daryl, Doug and Dustin McEwen of Ralls. The McEwens are spending some time with Mary as they await their move to the Abilene area. Roy will be teaching at Clack Middle School in Abilene this Dahlia Perkins and Lois Peel of West Columbia have been visiting with their mother, Freida Knipling and with the Toneys. Also visiting the Toneys last Sun. were Jon, Renee and Josh McAden of Abilene.

The monthly community supper was held at the center last Tues. night with Jack and Peggy Tabor and Charles and Dorothy Clark hosts. Sandwiches and delicious watermelons were enjoyed by a large crowd including: Clancey and Helen Lehrmann, Alvin and Alice Bredthauer, J. J. Gellner, Alvin and Ev Ulmer, Mary Neinast, Leslie, Kortney and Kymbre Kupatt, Jaydee MacGregor of Hamlin, Tarah, Clay, Megan and Michelle Toney, Bill and Margie Hertel, John and Sue Guinn, J. B. and Dorothy Toney, G. W. and Ophelia LeFevre, Odene Dudensing, Jill, Cade, Kinsey and Tully Brown, Frances Clark, Lynn Dale, Renee, Molly, Jenny, Abby and Emory Dudensing, Wilma Teichelman, Pastor Jeff Zell and Marie Zell, Joe and Dorothy Clark, Helen, Danny, Brittany and Paige Lammert, Steve, Karen, Brian, M'Lynn and Joanna Lehrmann. Because of the Labor Day weekend, the next meeting will be held the second Tues. in September instead of the first Tues. Mark your calendars for Sept. 8 at 6:30. Everyone is asked to bring a dessert.

Brandi Baker, daughter of Ken Brown, was married to Patrick Roberson Sat. night, Aug. 1, at the the First Baptist Church in Stamford. Mr. Roberson's home is in Alabama and he is stationed in Shreveport, Louisiana with the U. S. Air Force. The couple will be living there following their honeymoon. A reception and dance was held at the Sagerton Community Center with over 100 guests in attendance. Best wishes to the newlyweds!

Sagerton's eldest resident, Mrs. M. Y. Benton, celebrated her 96th birthday on Aug. 4. She was given special recognition at the Marr Family Reunion the weekend before and was treated to breakfast "out" with family members including Charles and Dorothy Clark, Bob and Tommye Jo Clark of McAllen, Kyle and Jennifer Clark of California and Judson Clark of Lubbock. The community wishes Mrs. Benton a belated "Happy Birthday" and healthy years in the future.

Cliff Gholson of Rochester was the honoree for an 80th birthday party Sat. hosted by his wife, Clara. Sagerton people attending included Joe and Dorothy Clark. Delbert and Joyce LeFevre, Charles and Dorothy Clark, Charles and Helen Diers, Frances Clark, Odene Dudensing, Jack Jones of Old Glory and Garrett and Martha Spitzer of Haskell. Cliff's three sisters and a brother and his son, daughter-in-law and grandson also attended the party. The refreshment table featured the birthday cake and a western motif. The birthday song was sung as other friends and relatives joined in the celebration.

Clancey and Helen Lehrmann. Joe and Dorothy Clark and Mae Stegemoeller were in Abilene Sat. night for the U.S. Marine Corp Battle Color Detachment consisting of the U.S. Marine Drum and Bugle Corp, the Silent Drill Platoon and the Marine Corps Color Guard held at Shotwell Stadium. The more than 80 members of "The Commandant's Own" have passed both musical auditions and basic training. They perform "field music" Tues. and Fri. nights during the summer months in the nation's capitol in addition to traveling 50,000 miles annually. Twenty-four members of the Silent Drill Platoon perform precision drills in total silence. Formed in 1948, they spin and toss 10 1/2 pound M-1 Garand rifles with fixed bayonets. It was truly a spectacular show and brought standing ovations as the group performed and played the Stars and Stripes Forever and the Star Spangled Banner.

by Greg Kaase Haskell Co. Extension Agent Now is the time for Haskell County 4-H and FFA lamb exhibitors to order their 1999 Lamb Validation Ear Tags. Any 4-H'er or FFA member who plans on exhibiting market lambs at the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show or at any other major livestock show (Houston, Ft. Worth, San Antonio, etc.) will need to order ear tags by Fri., Aug.

Contact Greg Kaase, County Extension Agent-Ag. at (940) 864-2658 or come by the Haskell County Extension Office at 101 South Ave. D in Haskell, or contact your Ag. Science teacher if you plan to exhibit lambs this next aircraft, and to enjoy other activities ranging from a classic car show to live music.

This year's featured aerial demonstrations include Dyess own B-1 Lancer bomber and C-130 Hercules airlifter.

Two fighter demonstrations will highlight the military portion of the program; the Air Combat Command's F-15 Eagle fighter unit and a Navy F/A-18 Hornet fighter. Returning to Dyess will be an eight-engine B-52 Stratofortress bomber and KC-135 tanker. Also, many historic aircraft will be on display, including the classic training planes that taught a generation to fly: the powerful Stearman biplane and Vultee BT-13. both common sights in Texas skies during the war years.

Ground displays include a classic car show and a military working dog demonstration. A popular Abilene band, "With Anchovies", which features several military members, will perform.

Admission and parking are free, and food and beverages will be on Farmers Co-op Gin Society #1 of Haskell will hold an annual meeting and gin supper Tues., Aug. 18, 1998 at 6:30 p.m. at the Haskell Country Club. All patrons and stockholders are invited.

This Week's Devotional Message: YOUR FAITH CAN HELP YOU CONQUER THE FEAR OF FAILURE

s there something you have always wanted to do, but were afraid to try it for fear you would not succeed? You must remember that the world's most gifted artists seldom turned out any masterpieces the first time they tried to paint, and that our greatest inventions were perfected only after many mistakes were made in the process. Everything we do is a learning accomplishments beyond the routine of everyday liv- on life.

ing, we must not be afraid to branch out in a different direction. Go to your House of Worship and pray for the courage to attempt something new; and remember that if you will only stay with it long enough you will be blessed with at least an absorbing hobby if not a whole new career. In any case, with the help of God you will have nothing to lose but your fear, and everyexperience, and if we are to enrich our lives with any thing to gain; starting with a rewarding new outlook

Local Sonic wins first round of annual Dr. Pepper games

With two rounds remaining in the Dr. Pepper Sonic Games, customers and employees alike are reaping the rewards of fast, accurate, friendly service.

The Sonic Drive-In at 1402 North E Ave in Haskell recently was named a first-round winner in the fifth annual Dr. Pepper Sonic Games. Only 135 drive-ins, out of nearly 1,800, have advanced to the second round. Ten second roundwinning drive-ins win national recognition and the station champions at those drive-ins receive an all expenses-paid trip to Anaheim, Calif., to compete in the National Championship in September and then on to San Diego for Sonic's National Convention. The Dr. Pepper Sonic Games, which began March 1, are designed to motivate employees and enhance their performance and customer service. The Games test crew members on service, quality, accuracy and speed.

"The Dr. Pepper Sonic Games are designed to help us reward employees who are recognized daily as champions by our customers," said Cliff Hudson, chief executive officer and president of Sonic Corp. "As a result of the Games, everybody wins-crew members win through better training, development and knowledge; customers win through improved service. We wish all the drive-ins the best of luck throughout the final stages of the competition."

The actual competition is divided into two categories; individual and drive-ins. For each work station at the drive-in-Fountain (drink preparation), Switchboard (service delivery), Carhop (food delivery) and Dresser, Grill and Swamp (food preparation)-participants are required to take written tests and participate in action trials. Points are earned for every aspect of the competition. The employees at each station who scores the highest total points is named the station champion.

Haskell team qualifies to compete in Colorado

The Haskell All-Stars basketball team, consisting of Kenneth Llewellyn, Jr., Kenneth Collins, Carl Riley and Sammy Baker participated in the Second Annual Abilene Three-on-Three Basketball Tournament, July 25-26. Placing second, the team qualified to play in the Summit Sports National Finals in Boulder Colorado, September 5 and 6. This event is part of the Cape Athletic Three-on-Three National Tour.

Future events on the Haskell All-Stars agenda are Hoops for Hope Rockin' the Rim, October 10 and 11, and the Hoop It Up World Tournament, October 17 and 18 both to be played in Austin.
