Sat., Feb. 10, 2001, marked a milestone in the life of Scout Master Kenneth Patton of Haskell, when he was honored with the Silver Beaver Award during the Chisholm Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America Annual Leadership Recognition held in the Extravaganza, Fellowship Hall at the First Church of the Nazarene, Abilene.

Awarded to men and women in the council for distinguished service to youth, the Silver Beaver is one of the greatest honors the council can bestow on one of its own.

Kenneth Patton's involvement in Scouting goes back a number of years. As a youth growing up in Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in the Wingate area, he learned how important the program can be.

After high school, he entered Texas Tech University, earning a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering. In 1971, he began his career with West Texas

Utilities. As his career progressed with WTU, the opportunity to move around the West Texas area opened the door for him to be involved as an adult in Scouting. From 1974 through 1976 he was an Explorer Post Advisor in San Angelo. From 1978 until 1980 he was involved with the local Troop in Chillicothe.

In 1988 he began to work with his son, Kevin, in Pack 136, which was chartered to the Haskell First United Methodist Church. During the next five years he served in several positions, including Tiger Cub Partner, Webelos Leader and Pack Committee member. In 1990 he joined Troop 136 as a Troop Committee member and then moved to assistant Scoutmaster. In 1995 he became Scoutmaster, where he continues to serve today.

Even though he is active on the local level, Patton has continued to give support to the Double Mountain District and the Chisholm Trail Council. He served on the 1997 Council National Jamboree Committee and was assistant leader with the Council Contingent. Presently, he is serving on the 2001 Jamboree Committee and will be attending the Jamboree in Virginia as a National Staff member.

Patton earned his Wood Badge Beads and Scouter's Training Award in 1994. Two years later he was awarded the District Award of Merit for his support and leadership in the Double Mountain District.

He received his Scoutmaster's Key in 1998 and in 1999 became a James E. West Fellow.

Along with Scouting activities, Patton has also been actively involved with his church and community. As a member of the Haskell Masonic Lodge, he served in several key leadership positions. From 1983 until 1997 he was active with the Haskell Rotary Club, where he served on several committees, as well as viće president.

An active member of Haskell First United Methodist Church, he has served on the Board of Trustees, Administrative Council and Finance Committee.

Recently, during Scout Sunday at Haskell First United Methodist Church, Patton was presented a Cross and Flame Award Medallion, which is given by the Methodist Conference to individuals across the country in recognition of outstanding service to children and youth. The local Methodist church has been the chartering organization of Troop 136 since 1945.

Employed as a senior engineer by AEP-ProServ in Abilene, Patton is presently serving as vicepresident of the Abilene Chapter of Professional Engineers.

Kenneth and Judy Patton have one son, Kevin, who is a member of the Eagle Class of 1997, and is a freshman at Texas A&M University.

While setting an example of high moral standards, fairness and integrity before his Scouts, Kenneth Patton is known for recognizing the unique personalities and individual traits present in his troop and the people he works with.

But so far, in states such as California and Pennsylvania, reality has fallen short of the promise, often bringing higher rates and even power shortages. The Texas Legislature gives cooperatives an opportunity to wait and see how deregulation will affect Texans. We intend to take advantage of that time to be sure deregulation is right for our member-owners. Before we ride off, we're going to be sure where we're headed.

By Mike Cox TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—When 59 Texans signed a declaration of independence from Mexico on March 2, 1836, the Alamo was surrounded by an army whose leader viewed those advocating Texas sovereignty as nothing but General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna intended to put down the rebellion and leave Texas scorched and soaked in blood. The 42-year-old dictator had done the same thing the year before in putting down a revolt in the Mexican state of Zacatecas.

Four days after the Texas independence declaration was signed at Washington-on-the-Brazos, Santa Anna stormed the Alamo and soon was marching east in pursuit of the remainder of the Texas' ragtag Army.

But on April 21 Sam Houston and his soldiers defeated the Mexican general at San Jacinto and Texas was on its way to a decade as an independent republic before becoming a state of the union.

The anniversary of the signing of that cheeky document that got it all started has been a state holiday for years. As late as the 1960s, most schools closed in observance of the day.

Eventually, the day was dropped as a school holiday and activities in observance of the holiday began to fade.

Three years ago, a group of later-day Texas patriots led by Jay L. Johnson and Roger T. Moore of Austin decided more attention should be paid to March 2 and the reason the date stands out in Texas history.

The result was the organization of Celebrate Texas, a non-profit group whose goal is to "encourage and promote the education of the general public regarding Texas Independence Day and the history of Texas and its people."

Since then, the group has organized a Texas Independence Day celebration in Austin that has grown larger each year.

This year's March 2 observance begins at 9:30 a.m. that Friday with a memorial ceremony at the State Cemetery. At 11:30 a.m., a parade will move up Congress Avenue from First Street to the Capitol.

So far, 80 units, from bands to reenactment groups, have signed up to be in the parade. That's 13 more than last year.

At noon on the south steps of the Capitol there will be some brief speechifying and Texas

Beginning soon, qualifying Texans will be able to renew their driver licenses or identification cards on line or by telephone.

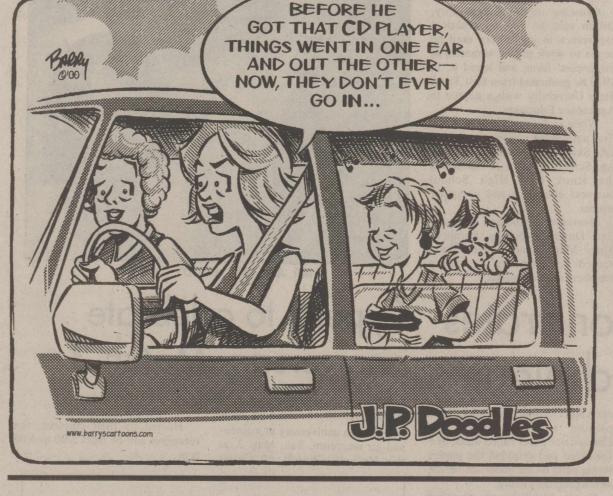

There's a catch, though. Only those eligible to renew by mail will be able to take care of driver license or ID card business without going to a Department of Public Safety driver license office. To qualify, you have to have a clean driving record for the previous three

The DPS says about 80,000 Texans a month currently renew by mail. That number is expected to increase when the online and telephone renewal program kicks in. Eventually, the DPS says, it expects 40 percent of Texas driver license or ID card holders will be renewing without having to go to a DPS office.

This should substantially reduce waiting time for those who still need to visit a DPS driver license office.

Planning family

Getting the entire family together in one place may seem harder than ever these days. Children move away for college and careers, leaving the older generations longing for the good old days when families spent their whole lives in the town.

One sure-fire cure for those empty nest blues is the family reunion. Not only are you gathering your brood for a party, but you are also celebrating the family heritage and ensuring its legacy

Planning a family reunion is not as daunting a task as you might imagine. With just a little planning and some help from some kin, your family reunion will become the holiday you'll bring everyone home for. Planning experts offer these tips or making your reunion a success.

•Start early. Begin planning six to 12 months in advance to work out all the details. Encourage people to attend by creating invitations and mailing them out early enough to give everyone plenty of notice. Save time and money by following up with relatives by e-mail whenever possible.

•Be consistent. Keep attendance up by scheduling your family reunion for the same weekend and at the same location every year. At the close of your reunion, have a family member volunteer to host the next one and begin planning the date and costs for each family soon thereafter. This way, relatives who must pick their vacation time early can plan it.

•Timing. Organize the reunion for the spring or summer since people tend to have more vacation time then and the weather is

•Use the Web. Create a Web site so that family members can learn all about the reunion weekend. After the reunion, have everyone post photos, feedback and recap of the weekend on it.

•Involve everyone. Family reunions are for all generations, so be sure to plan activities in which everyone can participate. Give the children an assignment, such as passing out tickets for door prizes or helping with the guest registry. Have the older generations construct the family tree.

•Breaking the ice. Seeing long lost family members for the first time can be nerve racking, but there are activities to help everyone get to know each other. Pair up family members from different generations and have them ask each other questions and then tell the group what they learned. Or, bring old photographs and have everyone try to guess when and where each photo was taken.

Q: I saw you discussing "dead beat" and "dead broke" parents on the local news. What is that all A: There is a difference between a "Dead Beat" and a "Dead Broke" parent. Parents who are able to care for their children financially but refuse to do so are "Dead Beats" and morally bankrupt.

"Dead Beat" parents will continue to face legal consequences such as license suspension, interception of tax returns, income withholding, and potential incarceration for failing to pay child support. License suspension filings increased 31 percent from 1,984 in State Fiscal Year (SFY)

1999 to 2,608 in SFY 2000. The number of dead beat parents put in jail increased 23 percent from 1,196 in SFY 1999 to 1,473 in SFY 2000. The Office of the Attorney General also referred 172 cases to federal and county district attorneys for criminal prosecution in SFY 1999 and SFY

Parents who want to pay child support but cannot because they don't have a job are "Dead Broke." We help cooperative parents so they can take responsibility for their children. We are not excusing parents for missing child support payments. But we are working with poor and uneducated parents to help them become better providers for their children.

By emphasizing enforcement and offering needed assistance, I intend to produce better results for the children of Texas -- meaning more financial and emotional support from non-custodial parents.

No government program can replace personal responsibility and the involvement of a loving parent. However, by working smarter we can maximize the return on tax money already being spent; and by cooperating with other organizations, we can make use of private resources. My office has formed a partnership with the Texas Fragile Families Initiative. The Initiative assists young fathers who want to support their children but need assistance to learn basic parenting skills.

These young men face considerable challenges - no job skills, a vague concept of fatherhood and the responsibility of caring for a newborn. If they are left to their own devices, the likely outcome is failure and dissolution of a fragile family. With help, the young fathers can learn to be financial and emotional providers.

The Fragile Families Initiative has 12 locations across Texas supported by private funds. My office is playing a vital role by encouraging young fathers of children born out of wedlock to participate in the nearest Fragile Families program.

A substantial number of the child support cases that my office handles involve children who receive welfare - 200,000 cases involving 350,000 children. Children should receive financial support from both parents, not from taxpayers. By helping parents who are on welfare, we can help families support themselves.

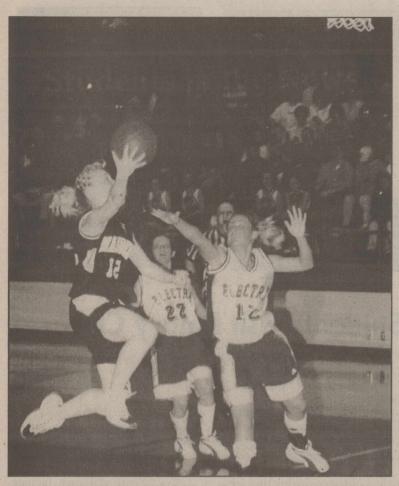

Many if not most of the noncustodial parents from welfare families have few job skills and minimal education. That is why my office and the Texas Workforce Commission established cooperative projects in several Texas cities to help move families from welfare to work.

My Child Support Division refers non-custodial parents of children who receive welfare to job programs provided by the local workforce development board. In some cases, the Court makes participation in the job program a condition of proba-

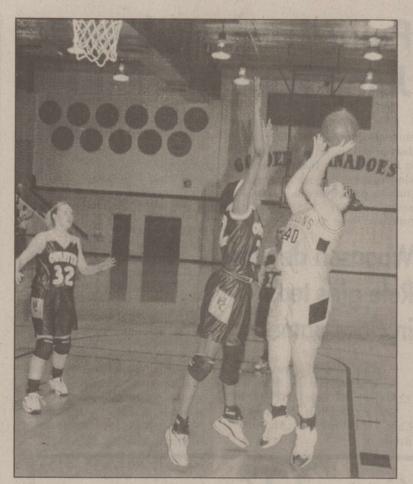

The partnership with the Texas Workforce Commission is spreading across the state as the 28 local workforce development boards come

For Texas to be truly great, we must do everything within our power to see that every one of our children is a success - not a statistic. We must not leave any child behind.

Saturday, February 17, several Haskell High School and Haskell Junior High School students participated in the Region 2 UIL Band and Orchestra Solo and Ensemble contest. The high school students are able to chose from three levels of difficulty in music when selecting their solos or ensemble. A class 1 selection is the hardest while a class 3 may only be performed by freshmen. Ratings are given on the performance by a judge. The ratings may be a division 1 to a division 5. A student who earns a division 1 receives a medal for that performance. If high school students perform a class 1 ensemble or a class 1 solo from

No pain, no gain doesn't apply to healthier heart

The saying "no pain, no gain" doesn't apply when it comes to a healthier heart. Moderate regular exercise is actually more beneficial than a stressful workout. "The vast majority of the cardiovascular benefits of exercise are obtained from simply a brisk walk for 30 minutes," says Dr. Robert Meidell, a cardiologist and associate professor of internal medicine at UT Southwestern

Exercise burns fat, lowers cholesterol, improves the heart's pumping action and widens the arteries, says Meidell. All of this means that you're less likely to have blocked arteries that lead to cardiovascular diseases.

If you've been sedentary for a long time or have any health problems, especially heart disease, consult your doctor before starting

This Week's Devotional Message:

YOU'RE AN IMPORTANT PERSON IN THE EYES OF GOD

In this age of computers, in every regard

We have all been reduced to a hole in a card.

Oh, how simple it was in our house by the road,

Till they added the Zip and Area Code!

In your place of employment, or out in your car, You're a serial number wherever you are;

And you find your identity harder to claim

When you're known by a number instead of a name.

So, there's one thing to do: let your faith lead the way

To the place where you still can be Someone today.

If you go to your Church, you'll be happy to find In the eyes of the Lord you are one of a kind!

Stitching With Love - Hobby Quilter Devoted To Pleasing Projects

When Lula Baty of the Truscott-Gilliland area started quilting as a newlywed "it wasn't for a hobby - it was for cover!" And she remembers that first quilt stitched with love well even though it was made of scrap material and a beginner's workman-

After that first quilt Baty kept up her handiwork from time-to-time when the need and want-to arose. But in the 1980's Baty joined what is now called the Family and Community Education Club (formerly Demonstration Clubs). Quite often the group of civic minded ladies would piece together and quilt a raffle quilt for a needy project. Baty learned useful tips from the other ladies involved in the endeavors - most of whom had been quilting much longer than she.

'I enjoy every part of quilting and living in the country I have to have something to do," says Baty.

In 1999 Baty's expertise at her hobby won her the "People's Choice Award" for a quilt she had entered in Munday's 'Cotton Pickin' Quilt Show'. "That is my most coveted award. In my opinion that is the best award I could ever get. When others appreciate your work it just means

This year Baty has entered a quilt in the 'Cotton Pickin' Ouilt Show' that she and her sisters have stitched. 'We do these for our family reunion. We raffle them off at the reunion and that helps with the expenses," she says. This year's quilt marks number twenty that the sisters have created. No doubt the lucky winners of these quilts become the owners of a true family treasure. Baty's sisters who are involved in the project are LaRue Russell, Polly Scott and Leta Dunn - all of Crowell, Texas, and Billy Joy and Virginia Hodges of Valley View, Texas.

The Proof Is In The Price!

What price did you get for last year's cotton? If your in one of the various cotton "pools" you probably can't answer that question. And if you did figure it out did you take into consideration the time value of money? When you sell your cotton to us you get your money up front when you sell it - not spread out over the next 8 months! Doing business locally helps local people and charities, not suit and tie guys elsewhere making hundreds of thousands of dollars. When was the last time your cotton pool donated to the booster club or bought an animal at the county livestock show? When you do business locally these things are supported.

Consider your choices, then call us!
