One act play night to be held March 19

By Mary Kaigler

Mon. night, Mar. 19, aspiring dramatic thespians from four area schools will present for the public a performance of their UIL one act plays.

Sponsored by and held at the Haskell Civic Center, the evening of varied drama productions will begin at 5:30 p.m., with each play not exceeding 30 minutes in length. Dusty Garrison will be the emcee. Admission is $3.00. A concession stand will be available during the evening.

"The Boys Next Door" will be presented by a cast of players from Rule High School. It is a story about Jack Palmer, supervisor to four mentally handicapped adult men, who are being introduced into the mainstream of society by living in their own apartment, and holding down real jobs. Their antics, escapades and dealing with life's challenges are both hilarious and touching.

The cast includes Rule students, Kyle Faulkner, Cole Wolsch, Josh Smith, Jonathan Hisey, Jeffrey Murray, Kami Baitz, Tiffany McDuff, Brady Standefer, Matthew Hensley, Sabrina Weber, Breanna Marquis, Jenny Hisey and Justin Coker.

The stage crew consists of Janae Smith, Justin Coker, Melanie Navarrette and Jenny Hisey. Director is Bobby Robinson.

Haskell High School will perform "The Oldest Living Graduate," written by playwright Preston Jones. Set in Bradleyville Texas, where Colonel Kincaid, a crusty WW I veteran is confined to a wheelchair, the play involves his son, an aggressive wheeler-dealer, who learns that the Colonel is the oldest living graduate of Mirabeau B. Lamar Military Academy. When the school comes forth with the idea of holding a celebration in the old man's honor, the opportunistic son persuades them to do it in Bradleyville, hoping to capitalize on the event.

Members of the Haskell play are Levi Terry, Amanda Perry, Bergen Peiser, Leon Goudeau, Zac McGuire, Chase Seelke, Jimmy Huff, Zac Coker and Kristi Christian. In the stage crew are Sheena Wolsch, Candice McFadden, Whitney Hise, Josh Webb and Ryan Burgess.

Rochester High School will present "Picnic," a story set in the joint back yards of two middle aged widows, on Labor Day morning sometime in the late '50s. The entrance into this sheltered female environment by Hal, a rough and tumble cowboy-like character, will affect everyone involved for the rest of their lives.

The Rochester cast consists of Juli Penman, Marcus Parks, Chase Cockerell, Marcie Stoddard, Angela Stoddard, Tiffany Byrd, Ginger Adkins, Dala Nicholson, Amy Turner, Josh Hearn and Wes Herode. Stage crew members are Eric Martinez, Kristi Flores, Dana Holmes, Hayley Herode, and alternate, Gilbert Saucedo.

The Paint Creek High School play is "The Sheep Thief."

With the setting on an English hillside in the early 1500's, the play is based on the "The Second Shepherd's Play," the most famous of the medieval mystery plays. In the play, three shepherds, (to whom the angels and the Christmas star announced the birth of Jesus) have a comical night of sleep while fending off a sheep thief.

Paint Creek cast members are Amanda Dancer, Ricky Goulet, Alycia Bailey, J. R. Hodges, Jared Muehler, Tommy Barr, Chris Hobbs, Jody Smith Kelly Thompson, Courtney Burger and Renee Thomas. Stage crew members are Chad Sagerser and alternates, Paul Schonerstedt, Mandy Hearn and Jason Biba. Play director is Joey McCord.

Casts, stage crews and directors at all of the schools have been working for weeks to perfect their acting skills, hoping to win the UIL competition. An appreciative community can honor them for their dedication to excellence by coming out on Mon., Mar. 19 for an entertaining evening of live, dramatic presentations.

Shayne McKenzie stars at ORU

By Mary Kaigler

Two years ago she was an all-around athlete at Haskell High School, including being the Class 2A runner-up in the high jump and an all-stater in track.

Today, 6' 2" Oral Roberts University sophomore forward, #40, Shayne McKenzie, is a star for the University's Golden Eagles who have won the Mid-Continent Conference Women's basketball championship and earned an automatic NCAA Tournament bid with a 20-10 record.

This marks the second time in the school's history that ORU is in the NCAA Tournament, and the second time in three years the Golden Eagles have been crowned Mid-Continent Conference champs.

In the third quarterfinal, coasting to a 71-52 victory over #7 seed Youngstown State University, in which Shayne scored a game high 18 points off the bench, Oral Roberts went on to beat out Chicago State 54-35 in the semi-finals and dominated top-seeded Oakland 61-46 in the finals. Shayne scored 10 points in the Oakland game and made the All-Tournament Team.

Writing about her ability this year, the Oral Roberts Golden Eagle Publication says "she is possibly one of the best natural athletes on the team, has great leaping ability and a pure shot, has three-point range and will get a lot of offensive rebounds." She also participates on the Golden Eagle track team where she won the high jump at the outdoor conference championship

The daughter of Doy McKenzie of Haskell, Shayne lettered in both basketball and track all four years of high school. She was a first team all-district selection in basketball both her sophomore and junior years, and was a second team all-Big Country pick as a sophomore, and first team all-Big Country as a junior. She was either the district champion or runner-up in track in the high-jump all four years as well as being either a regional qualifier or champion in the high-jump all four years, and also won awards in the hurdles and the mile relay.

A high jumper for the ORU Golden Eagle Track team, Shayne is said by a sports writer to be "full of athleticism and brings added finesse to the court." Although, last season she suffered from recurring injuries that forced her from the lineup, she came back stronger this season. Head Coach Jerry Finkbeiner said, "She runs well and is a great leaper and I think this year she understands that she didn't realize how athletic she was and how strong she could be."

Shayne's major at Oral Roberts University is recreation administration. Considering her undeniable natural abilities, it seems like an apt career choice.

Compare insurance coverage

by Lou Gilly
Haskell Co. Extension Agent
Insurance isn't like other products or services we buy. It's hard to compare choices because they don't hang side-by-side on a rack or sit in a neat row on a shelf. Consumers can check to see if they can find comparable coverage at a lower cost quickly through the Texas Department of Insurance Web page or 800 number, says Lou Gilly, Haskell County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Sciences.

Texas law requires that you have auto insurance. If you still owe money on your vehicle or your home, the lender demands that it be insured. You may also be buying insurance to supplement Medicare coverage.

To find out your choices for insurance, go beyond the yellow pages or a personal referral. Decide what coverages you need. Figure out the highest deductible you can afford so your premium will be lower. Ask several companies and agents for price quotes for the same type of coverages. Do not give inaccurate information thinking you will get a lower rate if they don't know certain facts about your risk.

Check the quotes you get against the rates insurance companies licensed to sell in Texas have listed with the Texas Department of Insurance. Their rate guides for auto, homeowner and medicare supplement policies list the rates for different types of insured individuals or homes. Because rates are based on risks which may be affected by the drivers or weather in the area in which you live, the guides are developed by zones.

You can see the Texas Rate Guides at their web site, www.tdi.state.tx.us/consumer/ or calling 1-800-599-SHOP (7467) to request the guide for your zone to be mailed to you. In addition to comparing their rates, the guides also let you compare the ratings for each company. Look for one with a rating of B or higher with the lowest rates.

Before your policy is due for renewal, check out your choices. When the renewal notice comes, if you have found a lower cost insurance source that provides the same coverage you need, switch and put the difference in your savings account. You will be just as insured while building your financial strength.

Use income tax refunds wisely

by Lou Gilly
Haskell County Extension Agent
Within the next few months, millions of people in the United States will receive federal income tax refunds from the Internal Revenue Service. Sue Lynn Sasser, Extension Family Economics Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Services, says that this is a great time to take the extra cash and improve your family's net worth.

"Many times, we feel like the income tax refund is a bonus that we have received," Sasser said. "But, we need to remember that it really means we have overpaid the federal government during the past year. The money we are getting back is money that could have been available to us throughout the year to either pay our debts or invest in savings. Therefore, it is a great opportunity to use that money to improve our family's finances instead of making another purchase or taking on additional debt."

Sasser offers some suggestions for using tax refunds wisely. These include:

- Set up an emergency fund for your family. Perhaps you have little in savings that could be used to make necessary car repairs so you can get back and forth to work or to replace the air conditioner this summer if it goes out. Having an emergency fund keeps us from going into debt when those little surprises come along. And, it also helps pay your bills should someone in the household lose a job.

- Pay down credit card debt. You may even be able to completely pay off one or more of your credit cards with your income tax refund check. Then, the monthly amount that you have been paying on those cards can be added to the amount you are already paying on other cards. By doing this, you can pay off other credit cards more quickly.

- Open a college fund for your children. This is a great opportunity to start saving for your children's education. There are many options available to you, including purchasing savings bonds which are interest free when used to pay for college.

- Open a Roth IRA or other retirement account. Because you have already paid taxes on the refund you are receiving, you could open a Roth IRA and have no additional tax liability. This allows you to start saving money for your retirement without taking any money out of your current budget.

- Make an extra payment on your home mortgage. If you pay more than minimum amount on your mortgage each month or make an extra payment when possible, you can reduce the total dollar amount of interest you pay on your home. You are building more equity in your home as well as saving money in interest charges.

OPINION

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Mike Cox
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Public relations practitioners and lobby groups continue to spin issues de jour, but the 77th Legislature continues to be primarily about passing a state budget.

A big part of that is figuring a way to pay for Medicare increases, giving teachers state-paid insurance and funding existing programs.

A sub issue is privacy, which is getting a fair amount of attention.

As soon as census data is released, lawmakers will be spending more and more of their time on redistricting.

No layoffs in state government

How big is your state government? The latest quarterly report from the State Auditor's Office on what government and business types refer to as FTEs (Full Time Equivalents) shows 273,231 FTEs on the state payroll.

Of course, an FTE may not be a real person. One FTE might be two real people, each of them working half-time on a 40-hour job.

The real numbers, then, are 244,944 full-time workers and 74,706 part-time state employees. For every 14 and slightly less than a half employee, there is one manager.

These numbers are up 3.37 percent from the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2000.

The auditor's office based its numbers on reports submitted by 212 state agencies and institutions of higher learning.

Lights, camera, action

One very small state agency, the Texas Film Commission, has had a very big impact on the state's economy during the last nine years.

The commission says 442 movie and television projects completed in Texas since 1991 stimulated the state's economy to the extent of $2.2 billion.

For the trivia buff, more than 1,000 projects have been filmed in Texas since 1910.

The state has 10 permanent sets available to Hollywood, from the venerable Alamo Village near Brackettville to The Grove, a typical Texas town in Bell County.

At the Indian Cliffs Ranch near El Paso, where the movie "Courage Under Fire" was filmed, helicopters, tanks and army trucks are available to film producers.

Clean those boots

Cattle raisers and wildlife biologists say an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Texas would be disastrous.

So far, there is no indication that the epidemic raging in Great Britain has made it across the ocean, but animal experts say Texans need to be careful.

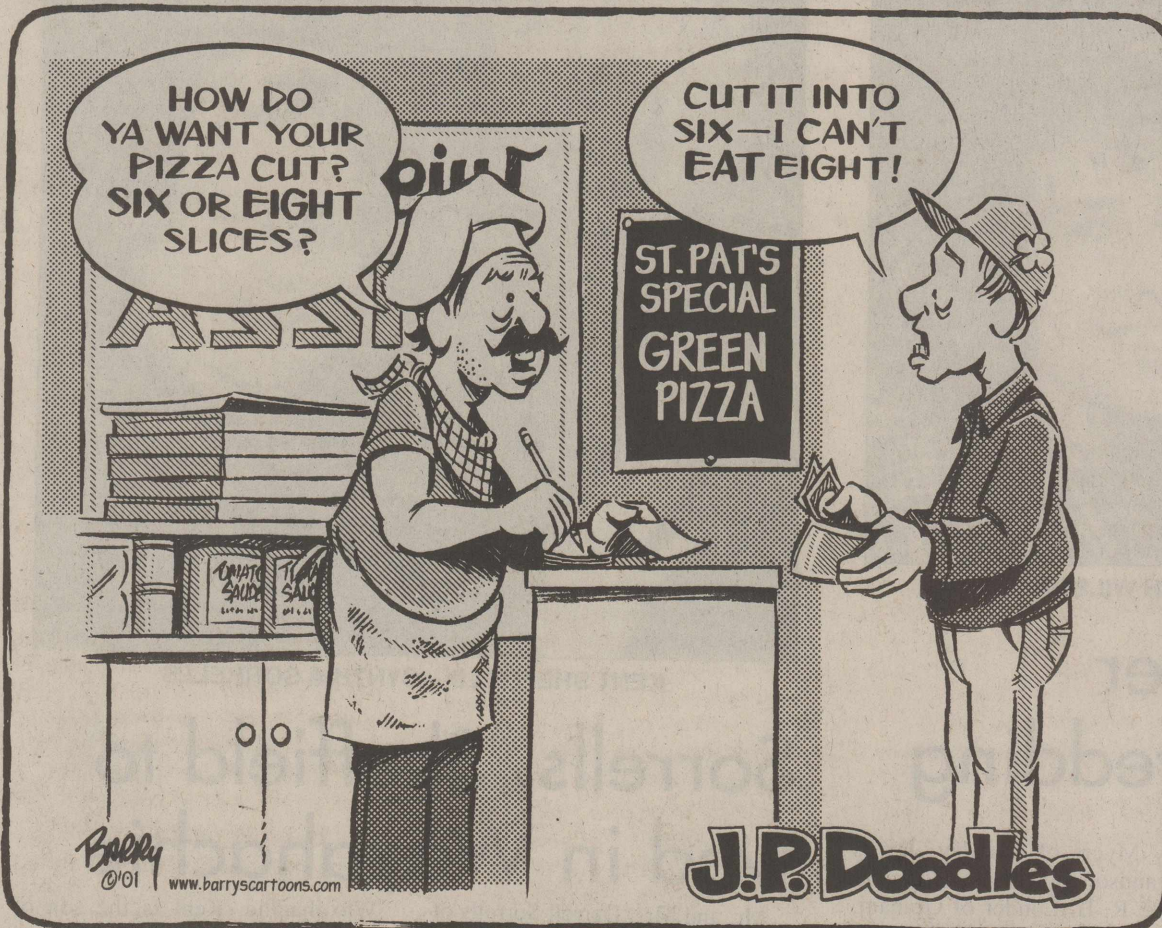

"If you've traveled internationally," said Dr. Linda Logan of the Texas Animal Health Commission, "don't risk carrying the disease home to your herd. Disinfect your boots before working with your livestock."

Those who feed waste food to swine should be careful to see that all scraps are well cooked, she said.

Logan also suggested that producers limit traffic and visitors onto their property and keep new livestock isolated for several days before turning them out into the rest of the herd.

An outbreak in the U.S., something that has not happened since 1929, could cost millions. It could kill deer and other cloven-hoofed animals as well livestock.

"An outbreak costs a country millions of dollars to fight, and thousands of animals can be lost," Logan said. "Additionally, livestock markets must be closed to prevent spread of infection, dairies may not be able to operate, and transportation of livestock must cease."

Cutting down debt

by Lou Gilly
Haskell Co. Extension Agent
Debts can add up fast. The critical skill is to pay them down fast. What are your choices? Lou Gilly, Haskell County Extension Agent for Family and Consumer Sciences, says there are some key ways to get the fastest pay down.

First, get your facts together. List every debt you have, showing whom you owe, total balance due to each creditor, each creditor's minimum payment and annual interest rate. If you have a credit card with parts of the balance having different interest rates, list each as a separate debt. The creditor has a choice of which debt to apply payments to first, usually the one with the lowest interest rate.

This list may scare you! Don't let it keep you from moving forward. The critical thing is to be sure all your debts are listed. Surprises such as student loans that you may not be billed for monthly may wreck your debt payment plan.

Now ask yourself, how quickly can I pay off the debt with the lowest balance? Cut some of your routine spending to pay all the money you can to pay it quickly. When it's paid, add the amount you had been paying on it to the amount you are paying on your debt with the highest interest rate.

If you have a tax refund, get a cash bonus or gift, have a garage sale, or start a debt pay-down savings box for loose change you have each day, add this amount to payments on the account with the highest interest rate. This helped cut down the number of months and interest you will pay on this expensive loan.

As each debt is paid in full, add payments you had been making to the remaining debt with the highest interest rate. Keep this strategy until all bills are paid.

Gilly calls this type of debt pay-down power payments. You have been meeting living expenses without the money committed to debts, so keep paying debts with that money until all debts are paid. The county Extension office has a computer program called Power Pay that was developed at Utah State University for consumers to see how much faster their debts will disappear and how much interest they will save by using power payments.

Depending on the amount of debt and interest rates one pays, savings can be over $1,000. Call (940) 864-2546 to schedule a time to bring in the debt list and learn how to plug your figures into the program.

You can see for yourself how much power payments will improve your financial well being. You can also print out your own debt repayment plan. Power payments work when you are committed to stop new credit purchases until you have your old debts fully cleared. Then use credit only when you know you can pay the balance due when the bill arrives.

From The Inside Out

By Mary Kaigler

Jack E. Westbrook, who grew up in Rule, and recently moved back into Texas after living 28 years in Oklahoma, sent a detailed history of the life of his father, Dr. John D. Westbrook, Rule dentist and operator of the Westbrook Drug Store for 55 years, after moving there in 1906.

Although lengthy for publication here, as Jack Westbrook tells of the man who was "a strength in the eyes of his boys: a role model who had no peers," it is a worthy candidate for inclusion in the historical archives of the area.

"Integrity was a hallmark for him, showing through in his powerful depth of character," he writes of the father who, "never wavering in the eyes of his children, was always there for them to seek shelter in the storm."

Along with the history, Westbrook sent the following account of:

A Nice Memory of a Time With My Father

By Jack Westbrook
It is so nice to be reminded of the many good memories that involved members of my family. And, isn't it good that God allows those less pleasant ones to be erased from our memory? It is more than good; it is a blessing.

One heart-warming memory is dated about 1954 on one of the few occasions that Dad and Mother visited in our home. We were living in Gladewater at the time. Something caused Dad to remember that one of his old classmates from Atlanta Dental College (now Emory University of Atlanta, Ga.), had lived and practiced dentistry in Teneha, a small East Texas town some 45 miles from Gladewater.

I asked him if he had heard from him since graduation in 1905, and he answered, "No." One thing led to another, including Dad's seeming disinterest in contacting the man. But, for some reason, I picked up the phone, called information in Teneha and got the home number of Dr. Whitehead.

I called the good Doctor against Dad's wishes, got him on the phone, and after telling him why I called, let Dad talk to him. It was quite evident that Dad enjoyed the phone visit, but also noticeable that he didn't make any arrangements to carry the visit further with their getting together. After hanging up, I pressed the idea, with Dad not encouraging me at all.

I then called Dr. Whitehead again, making arrangements for us to go to Teneha for a visit with him.

Dad remained reluctant to go for the visit, but we were there at the appointed hour. Dr. Whitehead had been widowed only a year or so before, but still maintained his warm and comfortable home. After a visit we all adjourned to a local cafe for lunch, which lasted some three hours, while the two dentists relived their college days and the days since.

Now I have to tell you, I didn't interfere nor inject myself into the conversation. All I did was enjoy revelling in their enjoyment of the recollections. There were tales about their professors, the rooming house in which they lived, the hard times they had financially and other chit-chat. Yes, there was some mention of old girl friends, partying and what could be considered "hell raising." Much of their reminiscing was of sharing school chores such as lab work, studying and life in the rooming house, which was of interest to me as I couldn't help comparing them with my own experiences.

It soon became evident that the hour was getting late for our long drive back to Gladewater. We hadn't noticed that the cafe had cleaned up and closed, leaving Dr. Whitehead to lock the door as we left. That is East Texas, and told us much about Dr. Whitehead's standing in the community.

As we dropped him off at home without going back into his house, I could sense Dad's choking up a bit. Showing of emotions had never been a characteristic of his.

The trip back to Gladewater was even more charming, as it seemed to open up a flood of memories for Dad. He recounted events and people he had known, talking as though he was back in those college days; almost as though I was not even in the car.

Some things in life vary a little, but in reality, they never change—only the times change. The warmth in his voice as he spoke of the newly revived memories still lingers with me. I knew that he had deeply enjoyed the visit with his old school mate.

We had parted, with Dr. Whitehead promising to come out to Rule to visit Dad and Mother. He was never able to; he passed away a year or so later.

I enjoyed having witnessed this reunion and having received much satisfaction in seeing Dad enjoy it so much. His enjoyment was my enjoyment. I never outgrew the desire to please him. It only became stronger as I grew older.

JONNIE HISE

Hise named local TxDOT supervisor

Jonnie Hise, a Haskell county native, has been selected as the Haskell county maintenance section supervisor for the Texas Department of Transportation. His appointment was effective March 1.

Hise began his TxDOT career in March 1990 working as a maintenance technician in the Stonewall county maintenance section. In October 1996, he was named maintenance section supervisor at Seminole and in February 1998, he was returned to Stonewall county as that section's supervisor. He remained in that position until being named Haskell county supervisor.

A 1982 graduate of Haskell High, Hise attended Western Texas College for two years before beginning his career with TxDOT. He also worked in the oil field from 1984 until he went to work in Seminole.

Hise and his wife Pam have three children: Kristopher, Larissa and Misty. As he and his children all enjoy participating in roping events, they spend many of their weekends traveling to areas to compete in those events.

Hise replaces Earl Proctor who passed away in November 2000. James McFadden, Haskell county assistant supervisor, served as interim supervisor.

Prevent heart disease

Heart disease is the No. 1 killer in the United States. This year, an estimated 470,000 men and women will die of heart attacks. But you don't have to be one of those statistics.

Maintaining healthy cholesterol levels plays an important role in reducing your risk of heart disease.

Cholesterol is a fatty substance made mostly in the liver that is essential to many vital functions. It cannot dissolve in the blood, so it is transported around the body by special fat-carrying particles called lipoproteins. Low-density lipoproteins (LDLs) are considered the "bad" cholesterol for their clogging effect on arteries and high-density lipoproteins (HDLs) are the "good" cholesterol because they work to minimize LDL buildup.

Simple steps to help you manage your cholesterol include:

- Watch what you eat. Try to eat more fresh fruits, vegetables and foods low in saturated fat and cholesterol. A diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol could reduce your risk of heart disease.

- Increase your activity level. Aim for at least 30 minutes of moderate physical exercise, such as brisk walking, most days of the week.

- Control your portion sizes to control your calories. Know what one serving is. For example, one-half cup of fruit, vegetables, cooked cereal, pasta or rice is equal to a small fist.

- Monitor your cholesterol levels. Several factors can contribute to heart disease, including a diet high in saturated fat and a family history of heart disease. All adults age 20 and older should have their blood cholesterol checked at least once every five years.

For more information on how to maintain healthy cholesterol levels, ask your doctor or visit www.takecontrol.com.

TEEA group to encourage young readers

The Haskell TEEA met in the Extension Kitchen for their monthly meeting, followed by Council Meeting. The District TEEA meeting in Iowa Park occupied much of the agenda, plus the plans for attending the Tri-County Rally Day to be held in Seymour at their Extension Building, March 27.

The program for the day was brought by Jane Smith and entitled "Creating Confident Readers." Emphasis was placed on adults as parents, grandparents or friends, to encourage reading skills in our youth. Printed t-shirts are so prevalent, but what do they say to someone who is not capable of reading? Food labels, newspapers, signs of warning, or other signs we encounter daily, can mean nothing if the ability to read is not there.

All are encouraged to read to the youth and begin early. Involve them in the kitchen when you are cooking and let them learn to read recipes; when playing games, let them read the rules. Encourage them to write also. Inspire them to write the family history or interview a grandparent or older family member as to all the things they have experienced in their lifetime. Take a tape recorder if they write slow and then listen to the tape and write in a composition book where it can be saved and/or added to at a later date. Lifetime experiences of the elderly are so far removed from the experiences the young person is liable to be familiar with and recording such is an education in itself.

Refreshments were served by Lena Tidwell.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
James E. Rodgers, CPA

RETIREMENT DISTRIBUTION RULES JUST BECAME SIMPLER

The IRS recently announced sweeping changes to the distribution rules for individual retirement accounts and qualified retirement plans. These new proposed rules simplify the way your distributions are calculated, allow you to change previous distribution choices, and give you more flexibility in choosing and changing your beneficiaries.

In most cases, you must begin withdrawing a minimum amount of money from your retirement accounts once you reach age 70 1/2. Under the old rules, you were required to choose a beneficiary and a method to calculate your minimum distribution when you took your first required withdrawal. These two choices determined how fast you were required to withdraw your retirement money. Once you made your initial choices, your decision could not be changed.

Now you may change your beneficiaries and your previous distribution method. The new rules allow you to use one simple chart to calculate your minimum required distribution. Using the new chart results in a smaller required distribution for most people. This allows more money to be left in your retirement fund to grow, tax-deferred, since you aren't taxed on retirement accounts until money is withdrawn from them.

One rule hasn't changed. You can still withdraw more than the required amount, but if you fail to take at least the minimum distribution on time, you must pay a 50% excise tax on the amount that should have been withdrawn.

Under the new rules, a new reporting system will alert the IRS if you fail to take the proper minimum distribution, so they can charge you the 50% penalty. Banks, brokers, and other holders of IRA accounts will be required to report your minimum distribution to you and to the IRS.

Although the distribution rules may be simpler, retirement plan rules in general remain complex. Many retirement plan decisions can have an impact on your financial future. Call us for assistance in making the best choices for your situation.

HNB earns 5-star rating

Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., the nation's leading bank analyst, is pleased to present Haskell National Bank, Haskell, with its 35th consecutive 5-star rating for exemplary financial strength and performance in the most recent and previous thirty-four reporting periods.

"Haskell National Bank represents the best in community banking," said Paul A. Bauer, founder of the research firm. "It not only serves its community," he continued, "but has the vision and ability to successfully adjust to changing economic conditions."

"While internet banks and faceless cyber-representatives compete for a share of the market, it's comforting to know there are still community banks, like Haskell National Bank, where people come first. Haskell National Bank has a superb track record and is poised to greet the challenges of the future without sacrificing those fundamental values. That's our kind of bank," concluded Bauer.

FUN. FRIENDS. CHALLENGE. ACHIEVEMENT.
That's what Girl Scouting is all about.

For eighty years, Girl Scouts of the USA has encouraged girls of all ages to achieve their personal best through a program that stresses self-discovery, exploration and community service. During Girl Scout Week, the local businesses featured on this page have joined together to honor this outstanding organization.

Girl Scout Week is the week of March 12th, that day in 1912 when Juliette Low gave her cousin a phone call proclaiming the good news that would change the lives of millions of girls. Many troops/groups plan special ceremonies either on March 12th or on whichever day that they meet during Girl Scout Week. Girl Scout Sunday is the Sunday that begins the week in which March 12 falls, and Girl Scout Sabbath is the Saturday before Girl Scout Sunday. Girls often wear their uniforms to their religious services.

In some communities, girls plan community events and publicize their accomplishments. In other cases, groups have honored famous or historical women, or women in their community who were Girl Scouts. Members from many years back have united for reunions. Communities have sought out their oldest Girl Scout and made her an honored guest at a special ceremony. All of these are possibilities for celebrating Girl Scout Week.

This Week's Devotional Message:

The legend of St. Patrick has come down to us in such a form as to make us concentrate on its more whimsical aspects rather than its serious message. The greeting card racks sprout shamrocks and little men in green suits. Regardless of our ethnic backgrounds, we all become "Irish" on that day and don green garments. Hibernian melodies emanate from the radio stations. With all of that, we tend to forget the story of St. Patrick's perilous journey to Ireland to persuade the people to go and worship God, and that under much safer conditions we could do the same thing. So, when you go to your House of Worship, try to bring a friend or neighbor with you, and you'll both receive the blessings that St. Patrick spoke of so long ago.

It is so hard to find the words to express my feelings for all the kindness that was shown to my family and me while I was sick. Thank you does not seem enough, but it's all I can say. A thousand times thank you for your visits, prayers, cards, phone calls and all the food that was brought in. You people are the best in the world!
Again: Thank you from the bottom of my heart.
Kathi Hutchinson
