Don't spoil healthy eating habits on the weekend

otherwise healthy eating habits, nutrition experts say.

"I think the weekend phenomenon is a reward people feel like they deserve at the end of the work week," says Bernadette Latson, a registered dietitian at UT Southwestern Medical Center. "It's a good idea not to be overly restrictive, but when people begin the weekend indulgence at Weekends can spell disaster for lunch Friday, that's three days, or almost half the week."

Dinner at a good restaurant once a week is usually sufficient in keeping people feeling satisfied and not deprived. But a single meal need not turn into a weekend of high-calorie meals, said Ms. Latson.

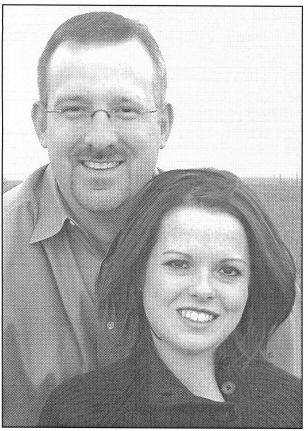

She also suggests that a Saturday night spent cooking a big meal is a good way to curb the desire to eat anything and everything throughout the weekend. "Cooking is a great way to socialize, have good meals to eat at home and to prepare things to take to lunch later in the week," she says.

House education chair loses primary

AUSTIN-Statewide voter turnout in the March 7 primaries was only 9 percent-the lowest primary turnout in more than 15 years, according to the secretary of state's elections

Nevertheless, one race for a Texas House district seat in the Republican primary packed an immediate statewide wallop.

In that race, state Rep. Kent Grusendorf, R-Arlington, lost by a wide margin to Diane Patrick, a former member of the State Board of Education and former Arlington school board trustee.

Grusendorf is current chair of the House Public Education Committee. (He had not resigned as of press

He also is a member of the powerful, tax-writing Ways and Means Committee and is the 12th most senior member of the 150-seat

An interpretation of the loss: Grusendorf's district opted for a new, education-oriented representative, given his failure to lead fellow lawmakers to solve school finance or the closely linked issue of property tax reform.

Since the late 1980s, the Legislature has been subject to intensifying and often competing pressures from anti-tax and proeducation groups to change the state's tax system. After all, taxes can't be cut, hiked or reshaped without hurting some important constituent.

The tax system, fashioned over the past 170 years by a maze of laws and court decisions, depends increasingly on local ad valorem taxes for revenue. This dependence pits local taxing entities against each other and property owners against the many taxing entities individually and/or collectively.

Taxes and education turned Grusendorf's work into a juggling act. Now, Patrick will occupy Grusendorf's place-but not his highprofile committee assignments-in a legislature on which the Texas Supreme Court has placed a June 1 deadline to reshape the state's property tax system. Lawmakers must reform the system until it is fair enough to satisfy the Texas Constitution's mandate that local taxing authorities have the power to set their own tax rates.

Two decades ago, state revenue paid 70 percent of a school district's budget while local ad valorem tax revenue made up the other 30 percent. Now, the state pitches in about 30 percent, leaving school districts to make up the other 70 percent. That leaves poorer school districts no choice but to set property tax rates at the maximum of $1.50 per $100 valuation

Friedman, Strayhorn take names

Texas' two independent candidates for governor, state comptroller Carole Keeton Strayhorn and writer-entertainer Richard S. "Kinky" Friedman wasted no time in launching efforts to gather enough signatures to get on the November

Both are using grassroots groups across the state to collect the needed 45,540 signatures to qualify for a spot on the ballot. They have until May 11 to complete the job. The secretary of state's elections divisions must verify signatures. To count, a signature must belong to a registered voter who did not vote in either of the party primaries or ensuing

Party voters pick Perry and Bell

Incumbent Republican Gov. Rick Perry and former U.S. Congressman Chris Bell of Houston, a Democrat, won their party primaries and will face off in the November election.

It could be a four-way race if the Strayhorn and Friedman petitions pass muster.

Governor asks for promised aid

An estimated 400,000 people, including 38,000 public school students, restarted their lives in Texas after hurricanes Katrina and Rita last year, and Texas has not received the bulk of the federal aid promised in the aftermath of those disasters.

Gov. Perry appealed to the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee for a promised but undelivered $2

Alert

By Greg Abbott, AG

In a new twist of the foreign counterfeit check scam, my office has received reports that Texas charities are now a possible target.

We were recently contacted by a Central Texas nonprofit that unexpectedly received what appeared to be three legitimate U.S. Postal money orders totaling $2,700. No explanation was given as to who had sent them or why. These arrived in an envelope bearing several Nigerian postage stamps. Even more puzzling, the check writer's return address handwritten on the money orders was in Memphis, Tennessee.

A representative of the organization became suspicious about why a mysterious benefactor from Africa would send such a generous gift to a small Central Texas charity. Fortunately, she did not deposit the money orders. Instead, she got in touch with my office and we were able to confirm that the checks were counterfeit.

While in this case the organization avoided being victimized by an apparent fraud, it is very likely that other institutions are being targeted. As with the version of this scam that focuses on individual consumers selling big ticket items online, my office suspects that now the scam artists are trying to defraud charities by urging them to deposit the checks and wire part of that money abroad.

After depositing these amounts, the organizations will likely be contacted by someone claiming that there was an "error" in the amount of the donation or provide some other reason as to why the charity is getting a bigger gift than what was intended. The scammer will then ask the group to wire part of the money back and keep the "intended" amount. While banks will typically credit the charity's account soon after the deposit is made, it might be days before it is discovered that the checks or money orders are fakes. By that point the money has been wired abroad by the charity with no hope of recovery.

Whether you are a private seller, a business, or part of a charitable organization, beware of anyone who sends you large money orders from abroad and insists you wire part of the money back. They might have a reasonable explanation, but their true intent is to take your money and disappear.

If you are suspicious about the authenticity of a U.S. Postal money order, contact your local post office.

Weather Whys

Air Quality Q: Does air quality affect the weather?

A: Air pollution is mainly caused by burning fossil fuels, such as gasoline or coal, but the weather can make a big difference in how fast pollution is dispersed, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University.

"For example, when there are periods of high pressure during the summer months, the air can remain stable and not move much at all, causing some people to have severe breathing problems," he explains.

"This is when ozone alerts are given. One recent study shows that kids who played outside when ozone levels were high had a higher rate of developing asthma."

Q: What is in the air that affects air quality?

A: It ranges from carbon monoxide, lead, sulfur dioxide and numerous other pollutants, McRoberts adds.

"All of these are very harmful to people who have breathing problems. But this happens all over the world," he says.

"Mexico City, for example, has some of the worst air on Earth, as does Beijing, Buenos Aires and even Cairo. In London during the 1950s, a cloud of pollution hung over the city for days, resulting in at least 4,000 deaths and it led to the passage of a Clean Air Act. Air pollution has been around a long time and will likely be a problem for years to come in some areas.'

Psoriasis and obesity

For years, dermatologists have noticed that many patients suffering from psoriasis also were obese, and many have wondered whether obesity was a cause.

"It was sort of a chicken-and-egg question. Is obesity driving psoriasis or is psoriasis leading to obesity?" says Dr. Christopher Hansen, a resident in dermatology at UT Southwestern Medical Center who recently participated in a psoriasis study. "It appears psoriasis precedes the onset of obesity. The explanation could be patients with psoriasisparticularly severe psoriasis-may practice different social behaviors. They may not go out as much, may not exercise as much, and may be more sedentary."

While psoriasis is not a lifethreatening disease, the study indicates that its impact on the patient's quality of life may be greater than suspected, says Dr. Paul Bergstresser, chairman of the department of dermatology at UT Southwestern. The study also found that psoriasis sufferers were more likely to smoke and that smoking more than 40,000 American women in 2005, while another 211,000 will be diagnosed with the disease this year. With early detection, however, breast cancer has one of the highest five-year survival rates of all cancers-95 percent.

Women are reminded that the key to early detection is getting annual mammograms combined with regular self-exams of the breasts, says Dr. Phil Evans, director of the Southwestern Center for Breast Care at the UT Southwestern Medical Center.

"We recommend regular annual mammograms beginning at age 40," Dr Evans says. "For high-risk groups, including women who have a firstdegree relative with breast cancer or women who had chest X-rays for Hodgkin disease when they were younger, we recommend they consult with their doctor to determine if they need to start earlier."

Women whose mothers had breast cancer by the time they were 40 years old should start with regular extracurricular activities, and mammograms at age 30, Dr. Evans potential for continued success.

Study Club takes tour of West Texas ranch land

Sponsored by the Progressive Study Club, a group left Haskell early, Thurs., Mar. 9 for a day trip tour by bus to the ranch land of West Texas.

The first stop was at the Supply House on the 6666 Ranch in Guthrie. In the distance could be seen the homes of ranch employees, the large red barns and the horses and cattle grazing on the green wheat. The bus drove around the paved grounds of the homes and school.

At the Pitchfork Ranch, with its tree-shaded big house and museum, several cowboys came down and visited with the group, answering questions about their operations. With a group of turkeys crossing their

Of special interest was the rest stop at Silver Falls, overlooking the ranch of one of Haskell's native sons, Daniel Couch, whose grandson and family still own the ranch and have plans to restore the rock house built

Reaching the Caprock, offering a completely different view of the land, the bus drove to Lubbock for lunch at the Merket Alumni Center on the Texas Tech University campus. While on campus, they visited Holden Hall to view the murals of Peter Hurd. One of the paintings was that of young farmer/rancher, Daniel Couch, standing by an irrigation ditch.

The final stop was at the National

Ranching Heritage Center at Texas Tech University. This acreage contains houses, barns and windmills that have been moved in from that part of Texas. The tour marked the third such outing for the Study Club in three years. One was a day trip to Austin to visit the State Capital, Bob Bullock Museum and attend a tea at the Governor's mansion, hosted by first lady, Anita Perry. Last year's trip was to visit the Texas Woman's University in Denton. While there, they toured the many TWU sites, including Texas Woman's Hall of Fame, the Little-Chapel-in-the-Woods, and the Historic Dress Collection. Lunch was enjoyed at the Gaylord Hotel in Grapevine.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM

In accordance with the provisions of the Texas Agriculture Code, Chapter 74, Subchapter D, as amended by Senate Bill 1428, 79th Regular Session, 2005, and 4 Tex. Admin. Code, Chapter 3, Subchapter A, the Texas Department of Agriculture (the Department) will conduct a referendum on the proposition of whether cotton growers shall continue a boll weevil eradication program in the Rolling Plains Central Boll Weevil Eradication Zone. This referendum will be the final referendum on continuation for the Rolling Plains Central Zone. However, Texas Agriculture Code, §74.112 (f), provides that if 30 percent or more of eligible cotton growers in a zone present to the commissioner a petition calling for a referendum of the qualified voters on the proposition of discontinuing the program, the commissioner shall conduct a referendum for that purpose. The Rolling Plains Central Boll Weevil Eradication Zone consists of all of Baylor, Callahan, Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Throckmorton, and Young counties; all land in Archer County south of a line following Farm-to-Market Road 422 commencing at the Baylor County line running east to the intersection of Farmto-Market Road 210, continuing east to the intersection of State Highway 25, and continuing east to the Clay County line; all land in Borden County east of a line seven miles west of the Scurry County line running south from the Garza County line to the Howard County line; and all land in Taylor County east of U.S. Highway 83 from a point commencing at the intersection of U.S. Highway 83 and the southern Taylor County line, north to the town of Bradshaw; thence north of Farm-to-Market Road 1086, as the farmto-market road proceeds west and north to the intersection of the Farm-to-Market Road 1086 and U.S. Highway 277, being all land lying north of the farm-to-market road and west of U.S. Highway 277 from the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 1086 and U.S. Highway 277 to the point where U.S. Highway 277 intersects the southern boundary line of Taylor County; all land in Brown County east of a line following State Highway 279 to Brownwood and continuing along U.S. Highway 377 south to the McCulloch County line.

Also, as part of the referendum, a representative of the above-referenced zone will be elected to serve on the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board of Directors. The board is charged with administering the boll weevil eradication program in Texas.

The referendum and board election will be held by mail balloting. Ballots will be mailed by March 31, 2006. All ballots cast by mail must be postmarked no later than April 17, 2006, in order to be valid. Any cotton grower having cotton production in the year 2005 within the zone defined above is eligible to vote. A cotton grower is defined as a person who grows cotton and receives income from the sale of cotton. The term includes an individual who, as owner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper, is entitled to share in the cotton grown and available for marketing from the farm, or share in the proceeds from the sale of the cotton from the farm.

Any person eligible to vote in the referendum or board member election that resides in the Rolling Plains Central Zone and meets the seven year experience requirement may place their name in nomination for election to the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board by written application to the Department at the address provided below. Nomination forms are provided by the Department and must be signed by the nominee and at least ten other eligible voters. The nomination form must be received in Austin by March 17, 2006, and must provide the legal residence of the applicant. A nomination form may be obtained by contacting the Department office or any county agent located in the voting area.

For more information regarding the referendum and election, or if you are a cotton grower in the above-referenced area and do not receive a ballot, please contact the Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas, 78711, telephone 512-463-4879. 9-11c
