January sales tax receipts released

Comptroller Susan Combs has announced that the state collected $1.67 billion in sales tax revenue in December, up 6.7 percent compared to December 2005.

Combs sent cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts their first sales tax allocations of 2007. January payments to local governments total $417.8 million, up 4.2 percent compared to January 2006.

"It's good news that Texas cities, counties and other local entities continue to see a healthy increase in sales tax revenue, because of strong consumer spending," Combs said. But she also expects slower sales tax growth in the next two years. "We may see factors like more moderate consumer spending, a cooling housing market and stabilizing oil and gas prices affecting sales taxes."

Comptroller Combs sent January sales tax allocations of $282.3 million to Texas cities, up 8.5 percent compared to January 2006. Texas counties received sales tax payments of $25.3 million, up 10.3 percent compared to last January.

Another $12.7 million went to 115 special purpose taxing districts, up 14.5 percent compared to last January. Ten local transit systems received $97.3 million in sales tax allocations.

December state sales tax collections and January allocations to local governments represent sales that occurred in November.

Haskell County had a 8.38 percent increase for January 2007 of $27,767.68 in comparison to $25,618.86 for January 2006.

The City of Haskell had a 7.84 percent increase for January 2007 of $26,077.09 in comparison to $24,180.56 for January 2006.

The City of O'Brien had a 29.11 percent increase for January 2007 of $113.56 in comparison to $29.11 for January 2006.

The City of Rochester had a 13.15 percent decrease for January 2007 of $322.84 in comparison to $371.73 for January 2006.

The City of Rule had a 22.33 percent increase for January 2007 of $1,127.04 in comparison to $921.28 for January 2006.

The City of Weinert had a 9.44 percent increase for January 2007 of $127.15 in comparison to $116.18 for January 2006.

Tips help net drug arrests

The Haskell Police Department used information about drug activity around the 400 block of South 7th in Haskell to obtain a search warrant. On Nov. 22, Haskell PD officers along with officers from the Department of Public Safety, Parks and Wildlife, Haskell County Sheriff's Office and Knox County Sheriff's Office used the search warrant at the apartment and found methamphetamine.

Two subjects, Bruce Lee Soto and Santiago Martinez were arrested and charged with manufacture and delivery of a controlled substance, namely methamphetamine, with intent to deliver in a drug free zone. The offense is a first degree felony. Both subjects were transported to Haskell County Jail.

On Dec. 9, information received was by Haskell County Sheriff's Office saying that a person possessed a large amount of marijuana in Haskell. Using this information, a search warrant was obtained and officers of the Haskell Police Department and Haskell County Sheriff's Office conducted a search of property at 104 S. Ave. H in Haskell. Marijuana was found in a storage room along with two weapons found in a washroom. Christobel Villa was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana over 4 ounces and under 5 pounds in a drug free zone, and with felony possession of a firearm.

A second person on the property, Pablo Benavides, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana under 2 ounces. Both were transported to Haskell County Jail.

The officers of Haskell County thank Haskell County citizens for their help in getting illegal drugs off of the streets of Haskell and out of area schools. Without the help of these concerned citizens, law enforcement officers could not obtain warrants to fight in the war against drugs. Citizens are sending a message that they are tired of drugs being in Haskell County.

Truck wreck, spill briefly shuts down Hwy. 277

Early Thurs., Jan. 11, a semi truck owned by DPC Industries of Sweetwater failed to negotiate a sharp curve on U.S. Hwy. 277 North. The truck rolled over and spilled the load from the flat bed trailer.

The driver was transported to Haskell Memorial Hospital and transferred to Abilene for treatment of facial injuries.

The truck was en route to Wichita Falls from Sweetwater and was loaded with cylinders of chlorine gas and sulfa dioxide gas; black plastic barrels filled with chlorine bleach and 54 gallons of cholic acid.

Hazmat crew conducts cleanup

Two leaking cylinders were put into sealed metal containers and several black plastic barrels were sealed in other plastic containers to contain leaking liquids. A hazmat crew from Fort Worth handled the cleanup and removal of contaminated dirt.

The highway was closed at 8 a.m., for the safety of passing motorists, during the clean up phase of the operation. Traffic was diverted from North 277 to FM 2163 to FM 617 to Weinert and then back to 277. The highway was reopened to through traffic at 5 p.m.

Haskell Volunteer Fire Department members alerted nearby residents of the mishap and advised them of the situation. DPS officers worked the wreck and contacted proper authorities to handle the hazmat leak.

This is the second semi truck wreck to occur along this section of Hwy. 277 north of Haskell in the road construction area. The sharp curve was also the location of a SUV vehicle rollover.

Law enforcement officials urged all motorists to obey all warning signs around Haskell, especially in road construction zones.

TRUCK WRECK—This truck failed to negotiate the curve in the road construction zone north of Haskell Thurs., Jan. 11 and spilled the load from the flat bed trailer. A hazmat team cleaned up the chemicals while traffic was diverted around the area. The driver was transported to an Abilene hospital for treatment of his injuries.

Challenge to unseat House Speaker Craddick dissipates

AUSTIN—After the 80th regular session of the Texas Legislature convened on Jan. 9, House members spent a few hours debating their way to a decision on how the vote for speaker would be conducted.

After the body finally decided that the vote would be a recorded vote, not by secret ballot, state Rep. Jim Pitts, R-Waxahachie, ended his quest to unseat incumbent Speaker Tom Craddick, R-Midland.

Members voted from their desks, electronically. The tally was 121-27: Craddick was elected to his third consecutive term as speaker. No Republican member voted against him.

Inaugural festivities planned

Jan. 16 is inauguration day for Gov. Rick Perry and Lt. Gov. David Dewhurst.

Plans include the swearing-in ceremony on the south steps of the Capitol, a barbecue on the west grounds of the Capitol, a mid-day parade on Congress Avenue, and an evening black-tie ball at the Austin Convention Center.

In other business, the Texas House and Senate conducted a joint session Jan. 11 to canvass votes from the Nov. 7 election.

House and Senate members served as tellers in the canvass and they affirmed Perry was the top vote-getter in the race for governor with 1,716,792 votes. Closest in the vote count was Democrat Chris Bell of Houston, with 1,310,337 votes.

Dewhurst pulled the most votes in the race for lieutenant governor with 2,513,530. His closest rival was Democrat Maria Luisa Alvarado of San Antonio, with 1,617,490 votes.

Guv names emergency items

Gov. Perry on Jan. 12 made public two emergency items for the Legislature to work on this session:

- Legislation authorizing the reduction of ad valorem taxes that may be imposed for public school purposes on the residence homesteads of the elderly or disabled to reflect any reduction in the rate of those taxes.

- Legislation providing that state appropriations made for the purpose of directly reducing local property taxes and state appropriations made for the purpose of returning state funds to the public do not count against the constitutional state spending limits and authorizing the Legislature to provide for the grant of public money for the purpose of returning state funds to the public."

Combs issues revenue statement

State Comptroller Susan Combs on Jan. 8 said the Texas Legislature will have $14.3 billion in new money to spend in the 2008-2009 state budget.

Combs issued the required biennial revenue estimate, reporting to the Legislature and the governor that $82.5 billion in general revenue is available for appropriation.

Combs said she anticipates $77.5 billion in general revenue income during the next biennium, plus a $7 billion ending balance for the current biennium.

Less $2 billion in oil and gas production tax revenue that must be set aside in the Rainy Day Fund, the bottom line is $82.5 billion that is available to spend.

"That is approximately $14.3 billion dollars more than the current $68.2 billion budget," Combs said.

Abbott lists accomplishments

On Jan. 5, after taking the oath of office for his second four-year term, Attorney General Greg Abbott, listed four things he's especially proud of:

- $7 billion collected in child support;
- $300 million awarded to or on behalf of crime victims;
- $175 million recovered in Medicaid fraud, waste and abuse; and
- 500 child predators arrested.

Flags lowered in Clayton's honor

By order of Gov. Perry, flags were flown at half-staff for the late Billy Clayton, former speaker of the Texas House, on Jan. 10, the day of his burial.

Clayton served as speaker from 1975 to 1983.

Perry's Dec. 27 order to half-staff flags in memory of 38th U.S. President Gerald R. Ford remains in effect through Jan. 25. Ford died Dec. 26 at age 93.

House to observe M.L. King Day

House members unanimously adopted H.R. 54 by Rep. Helen Giddings, D-DeSoto, declaring the House of Representatives would not meet Jan. 15 in observance of Martin Luther King Day.

Senate Review

Senate Opens 80th Session

The Senate of the State of Texas began its 80th Legislative session Tues., Jan. 9, welcoming five new members to its ranks. Senators Robert Nichols of Jacksonville, Dan Patrick of Houston, Glenn Hegar of Katy, Kirk Watson of Austin and Robert Uresti of San Antonio make up the 2007 freshman class of the Senate.

The Senate also unanimously elected Houston Senator Mario Gallegos as President Pro Tempore for the 80th Regular Session. As President Pro Tem, Gallegos is third in line for the office of Governor, and acts as Governor whenever the Lt. Governor and Governor are out of the state. Gallegos pledged to work for bipartisanship to ensure that the Senate accomplishes the business of Texas. "Members, I look forward to working with each and every one of you, this coming session of the Legislature, to bridge our differences and unite for a better tomorrow for all Texans," he said.

Lt. Governor David Dewhurst weighed in this week on what the Comptroller's projected $14 billion dollar revenue increase means for the budget this session. He was quick to dispel ideas that the state had a $14 billion budget surplus, saying the government must make good on the property tax cut it passed in the last special

Plumbing fixtures

The plumbing fixtures in your home can be as plain or as ornate as you want. Fixtures include faucets, tubs, toilets, sinks, drains and gas connections to appliances.

Fixtures shouldn't have chips, cracks, scratches or dents. Installed plumbing fixtures shouldn't have any corrosion, tarnish, blemishes or stains on or around the fixture's surface.

Properly installed fixtures won't leak or drip and they won't run continuously. A properly installed fixture will not move excessively. If you notice any problems, consult a professional.

session. "We've got to make sure that over the next four years we deliver on our promises. We promised that we were going to deliver a little over $14 billion in tax cuts to homeowners and I feel very, very committed to making sure that that happens," he said.

Dewhurst said that the state has enough money to cover the local school property tax cuts and balance the budget. In order to ensure a balanced budget for future biennia, he said the Legislature must be fiscally responsible with the surplus it does have.

The Senate reconvened Tues., Jan. 16, for the Governor's Inaugural Ceremony to be held on the south grounds of the Capitol.

Protect Yourself From Investment Fraud

Consumers often contact the Office of the Attorney General about the authenticity of certain investment opportunities. When shopping for investments, education and awareness are the keys to making wise decisions.

Keep in mind that any investment involves some degree of risk. Before considering an investment, determine what degree of risk you are willing to take in order to meet your financial goals and objectives. If you lack financial experience, enlist the help of a knowledgeable and neutral third party, like a certified public accountant or a licensed attorney.

Check with the Texas State Securities Board (SSB) to see if your salesperson is licensed to sell the investment product, even if the recommendation comes from someone that you have known or done business with for many years. Be skeptical of telephone pitches. It is highly unlikely that a legitimate investment opportunity will come to you in a telephone call from someone you don't know or in an unsolicited e-mail.

Ask questions and request written materials on the investment product from your sales representative. Evaluate recommendations by conducting your own research. Securities regulations require companies to disclose valuable information to investors by registering and filing certain documents with the SSB in order for you to make sound financial decisions about products and funds.

Information filed on an investment with the SSB may include a prospectus or other research reports. These disclosure documents may offer back-ground on the company and the risks associated with the investment. They are not intended to predict future performance of an investment product. Remember that companies are not required to repay you for any losses you incur from investing in their shares.

Take your time when considering an investment product. Be wary of high-pressure sales pitches, promises of "high rates of return" or "no-risk guarantees." These tactics are commonly used by con artists to get your money before you have a chance to fully look into a product or fund.

Legitimate investments are not guaranteed against loss. The SSB protects investors by ensuring that companies and sales representatives comply with securities laws and rules, but the SSB does not insure investments.

Monitor your investments carefully. If you do experience a loss on an investment, be extremely cautious of "reload" scams. Investors often panic after a loss, and con artists prey on this fear by making promises to recoup those losses by offering a new higher return on your money. If you become involved in this kind of scheme, you may end up losing even more money.

Con artists often attempt to exploit the complexity of financial investments. They may use flashy advertisements, technical language, false testimonials, or swanky offices to entice investors and lend credibility to their schemes.

The best way for you to avoid an investment scam is to do your homework, call your securities regulator before you invest, and seek the advice of an independent third party.

Dried distiller's grain can help beef production

by Wes Utley
 CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.
 Supplemental feeding of dried distiller's grains to cattle can help produce more beef in grazing programs, a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher said.

After a summer and fall feeding study done with both heifers and steers, Dr. Jim MacDonald, Experiment Station beef nutritionist, said he believes this by-product of ethanol production will be useful in more than just feedlot or dairy operations. In the next few years, an additional 200 to 600 million gallons of ethanol are expected to be produced in the High Plains, MacDonald said. Production will utilize up to 214 million bushels of corn or sorghum and result in 1.71 million tons of distiller's grains.

"A majority will likely be utilized by feedyards and dairies, but due to the sheer increase in availability, there should be opportunities for cow/calf and stocker operations to use it as well," he said.

The most promising opportunity may be in the situation where lightweight calves are held for a couple of months before they go onto wheat, MacDonald said.

The summer grazing study using heifers averaging 600 pounds compared feeding 3 pounds of dried distiller's grain per head per day, or approximately 0.5 percent of the animal's body weight, to no supplement, MacDonald said.

Results showed an improvement in gain of a quarter of a pound per head per day over the control calves, he said.

In the fall dormant range study, steers weighing approximately 400 pounds were compared at unsupplemented, 1-pound, 2-pound and 3-pound per head per day rates, MacDonald said.

Gain improved from just over one-half pound per head per day at the 1-pound rate to 1.75 pound per head per day at the highest level of supplementation, he said.

"However, the effect was quadratic in that the more you supplemented, the incremental gain was lower," MacDonald said. "In other words, at the 1-pound rate, the efficiency of gain was about 50 percent, where at the highest rate, it was 40 percent."

During the summer trial, the efficiency was only about 10 percent, he said, because both sets of animals were eating well on grass and the supplementation did not make as big a difference.

"So supplementation is more efficient on dormant range, as you would expect," MacDonald said.

The economics of supplementing with distiller's grains will depend on the cost of the product compared to the value of gain, he said.

MacDonald paid $118 per ton for the distiller's grains, which equated to a $12.50 per head investment for $18.80 per head in return over the 63 days the heifers were fed.

As corn prices have risen over the past month or so, so has that of distiller's grain, he said. The same scenario now would have the producer paying $175 per ton, which would result in a $18.96 per head investment for a $16.20 per head return.

"Producers need to run the economics in their situation to see if it is a good fit," he said.

The 56-day fall trial, using the $175 per ton rate for the distiller's grains, resulted in at $16.33 per head investment at the highest level of supplementation, MacDonald said. That investment was worth $68.25 per head.

"The economics would say in the fall or winter scenario, producers will want to supplement at as high levels as possible," he said.

"And even though this research is conducted with stocker calves, I think there is opportunity for cow/calf producers to utilize the distiller's grains as well," MacDonald said. "The supplemental fat has shown to improve reproduction, as well as providing energy to maintain or improve body condition score."

However, potential dangers exist if animals are fed at extreme rates due to fat and sulfur content, he said. Excessive fat can reduce forage digestibility. Also, sulfur can tie up minerals such as copper, creating a deficiency. Excessive sulfur may cause polioencephalomalacia, also known as "brainers."

Producers who use distiller's grains need to be cognizant of all sulfur sources, including water, MacDonald said. If a producer is feeding distiller's grains high in sulfur and also have sulfur in their water, it could be enough to cause trouble.

The supplementation trials were only the first step in MacDonald's study, he said.

Comparisons of distiller's grains to more traditional supplementation and following the calves onto wheat pasture need to be done, he said.

"I'm very much enthused about using distiller's grains to produce more beef on a fixed-land base," he said. "The caveat will be to see what previous supplementation does to subsequent wheat grazing gains. We'll have some data on that in the spring."

Dried plums act as antioxidant in meats

by Wes Utley
 CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.
 To help satisfy consumer demand for more natural food products, researchers at Texas A&M University are investigating dried plums as a meat preservative.

"We found that dried plums, when pureed, actually have a very good antioxidant capacity," said Dr. Jimmy Keeton, professor of animal science and leader of the research at Texas A&M.

"We've been experimenting with dried plums and plum juice in different types of products such as pre-cooked pork sausages, roast beef and ham to see which of those products will respond most effectively as antioxidants," he said. "We found that pre-cooked and uncured products like sausages and roast beef actually respond the best."

Antioxidants retard oxidation of fatty acids that make up fat, he said. "If these are unsaturated fatty acids, they can oxidize more and produce off-flavors and cause shelf life problems," he said.

Synthetic products called BHA (butylated hydroxyl anisole) and BHT (butylated hydroxyl toluene) have long been used as antioxidants. The natural product, extract of rosemary, is also used.

Dried plums can enhance the flavor of some products, frankfurters in particular, Keeton said.

"We've actually had consumers tell us they prefer the flavor of products with the dried plum ingredient," he said.

Because dried plums are better known as prunes, some concerns about the laxative effects have been raised. Keeton said the dried plum puree is added in such small amounts that it should not be a concern to most people.

Researchers added dried plum puree to sausages and similar ground products while dried plum juice was found to be most effective in beef roasts.

Meats with the dried plum additives are at present a specialty.

"Companies will have to look at the market and decide if this ingredient will work for them," Keeton said. "It's not expensive, but it must be listed as an ingredient added to the product."

Researchers also want to test adding the dried plum puree to lean meat products, he said.

"Unsaturated fatty acids are found in lean tissue membranes, and therefore it can be a benefit because it prevents the oxidation of them in the membranes," he said.

The research was funded by the California Dried Plum Board.

Love

If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am only a resounding gong or a clanging cymbal. If I have the gift of prophecy and can fathom all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have a faith that can move mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. If I give all I possess to the poor and surrender my body to the flames, but have not love, I gain nothing.

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away. For we know in part and we prophesy in part, but when perfection comes, the imperfect disappears. When I was a child, I talked like a child. I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put childish ways behind me.

Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part, then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known.

And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love.

This Week's Devotional Message:

FAITH REVEALS OUR GREATEST BLESSINGS

Our blessings that have come to pass,
We tend to disregard;
Because we see the greenest grass
In someone else's yard.
The magic thing we call success
Eludes us, come what may;
And thus it seems that happiness
Will never come our way.

However, through the church we find
That there's no need to roam,
For happiness and peace of mind
Are always close to home.
So, don't go searching all around,
And some day you'll agree:
The greenest grass of all is found
Wherever you may be!

Caring at a Time of Need: Top 10 Reasons for Choosing Home Care

What is home care?:

Home care encompasses a broad spectrum of health and social services that can be delivered to recovering, disabled, or chronically ill persons in the home environment. These services include the traditional care of professional nursing and home care aide services, as well as physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy and nutritional services.

Why choose home care?:

1. It is delivered at home. When we are not feeling well, most of us ask to go home. When we are feeling well, we enjoy the sanctity of our residences and the joy of being with our loved ones.
2. Home care keeps families together. There is no more important social value. It is particularly important in times of illness.
3. Home care prevents or postpones institutionalization. None of us wants to be in a hospital or nursing home unless this is the only place we can obtain the care we need.
4. Home care promotes healing. There is scientific evidence that many patients heal faster at home.
5. Home care is safe.
6. Home care allows a minimum amount of freedom for the individual. A hospital, of necessity, is a regimented regulated environment. The same is true of a nursing home. Upon admission to either, an individual surrenders a significant portion of his or her rights in the name of the common good. Such sacrifices are not required at home.
7. Home care is the most efficient form of health care. By bringing health services home, the patient does not generate board and room expenses. The patient and/or his or her family supply the food and tend to the individual's other needs. Technology has now developed to the point where almost any service that is available in a hospital can be offered at home.
8. Home care is personalized care. Home care is tailored to the needs of each individual. It is delivered on a one-to-one basis.
9. Home care is less expensive than other forms of care.
10. Home care is the preferred form of care. According to a recent study conducted by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc. the American public preferred long-term care based on home care over nursing home care by an overwhelming 79% to 14% margin.

PRELIMINARY DECISION FOR WATER QUALITY TPDES PERMIT RENEWAL FOR INDUSTRIAL WASTEWATER PERMIT NO. WQ0000963000

APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY DECISION. AEP Texas North Company, P.O. Box 660164, Dallas, Texas 75266-0164, which operates the Paint Creek Power Station, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for a renewal of TPDES Permit No. WQ0000963000, which authorizes the discharge of once-through cooling water and previously monitored effluent (cooling tower blowdown) at a daily average flow not to exceed 253,800,000 gallons per day via Outfall 001, and low volume wastewater on a flow variable basis via Outfall 002. This application was submitted to the TCEQ on August 18, 2006.

The facility is located approximately two miles south of the east end of Farm-to-Market Road 2082, on the northeast side of Lake Stamford, Haskell County, Texas. The effluent is discharged to Lake Stamford in Segment No. 1235 of the Brazos River Basin. The designated uses for Segment No. 1235 are contact recreation, high aquatic life use and public water supply.

The TCEQ Executive Director has completed the technical review of the application and prepared a draft permit. The draft permit, if approved, would establish the conditions under which the facility must operate. The Executive Director had made a preliminary decision that this permit, if issued, meets all statutory and regulatory requirements. The permit application, Executive Director's preliminary decision, and draft permit are available for viewing and copying at Haskell County Library, 412 North First Street, Haskell, Texas.

PUBLIC COMMENT/PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting about this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ holds a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting a contested case hearing or reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in a state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name; address, phone; applicant's name and permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; and the statement "I/we request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group of association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility of activity; explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are germane to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission will only grant a contested case hearing on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on issues that were raised in timely comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. TCEQ may act on an application to renew a permit for discharge of wastewater without providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ACTION. The Executive Director may issue final approval of the application unless a timely contested case hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed. If a timely hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed, the Executive Director will not issue final approval of the permit and will forward the application and request to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number, and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

All written public comments and public meeting requests must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TCEQ, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087 within 30 days from the date of newspaper publication of this notice.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION. If you need more information about this permit application of the permitting process, please call the TCEQ Office of Public Assistance, Toll Free at 1-800-687-4040. Si desea informacion en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040. General information about the TCEQ can be found at our web site at www.TCEQ.state.tx.us.

Further information may also be obtained from AEP Texas North Company at the address stated above or by calling Mr. David C. Bouchard at (214) 777-1109.

Issued: Dec. 14, 2006.

Thank You!

We know, actions in Heaven begin when someone prays on Earth. You can count on God to answer. Tears flow every time we think of all the prayers sent up on Eden's behalf. Words can't begin to tell how special you all are to us. Because of these prayers and Eden's faith is why she is still with us today. Praise God! She has a long road ahead of her, but she is a determined young lady.

Thank you again; you've really blessed our hearts, and one thing is for sure, angels aren't just in Heaven.

In Christ,

AWARENESS PROGRAM—Emily Fouts, left, and Meghan Glover, students of Paula Everett, made a short presentation during the Haskell Rotary Club's meeting last week on the racial awareness and service of Martin Luther King. Their program was made available through a Learn and Serve America grant.

Cookie sale underway

For more than 80 years, the Girls Scouts have been raising money to fund troop activities by selling cookies during the Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale, and this year, Haskell Girls Scout Troop #1081 is again taking orders for the favorite sweets Jan. 6–21.

The cookie selection the Girl Scouts are offering this year includes Thin Mints, Samoas, All Abouts, Tagalongs, Do-si-dos, Trefoils, Cafe Cookie and the latest addition, the Little Brownie.

Girls Scouts is the world's largest organization dedicated to helping all girls build character and gain skills for success in the real world.

The cookie program offers girls the experience that helps them build strong skills, values and friendships. Taking orders, handling money, tallying sales and distributing orders, helps teach and reinforce money management, decision-making and goal setting. In partnership with committed adult volunteers, for many girls, it's a first time experience with such disciplines. Through this, girls can also learn leadership skills, social conscience and conviction about their own potential self-worth that will serve them all their lives.

To place an order, contact any local Girl Scout or call Kim Hertel at 864-3157, Laura Rock, 864-6159 or Leiza Morales at 256-0769.

CRCGF available

The Seven County Community Resource Coordination Group (Family) is a local interagency group composed of representatives from public and private agencies that develop service plans for children, adolescents and adults whose needs can be met only through interagency coordination and cooperation. CRCGF enables persons at risk to have the support needed to allow them to develop into full and productive members of the community. CRCGF's of Texas provide a mechanism that helps local public and private agencies and organizations work together to meet the needs of those individuals for whom no one agency can meet. CRCGF's make it more likely for children, youth, adults and their families to get the help they need within their community before a situation becomes a crisis. To learn more about the services provided by your local CRCGF contact Lonnie Rolls at 940-864-8910.
