We haven't lacked for excitement around here since we published our last edition. From the shoot out and manhunt Wednesday night to the discovery of a murder Tuesday morning, things have been popping in this usually quiet hamlet.

Saturday night several local officers went to Sonora to assist in a manhunt after a DPS officer was assaulted there. The only difference was that their man got away after a 2-day search. It was called off Monday after a Rankin man reported he picked up a hitchhiker on his way to Junction and was forced to drive him to the Beaumont-Port Arthur area. The hitchhiker fit the description of the suspect.

Scanners were far more popular than television in Ozona Wednesday night and most every family that had one was gathered around the scanner rather than the television set. We got a good description of the action and there were no commercials. It was so cold and wet, one couldn't help feeling for the lawmen who went above and beyond the call of duty to apprehend the suspect.

They handled it well and didn't seem to get exasperated by all the telephone calls and CB tips on the suspect's whereabouts. The listener would assume that every call was checked out. If so, they needed all the extra help that came their way from area towns. They did an admirable job and Crockett County may be justifiably proud of all its law-enforcement officers and the way they worked together to get the job done. Even if the suspect had made good his escape, it would have been a worthy effort.

President Carter took action this week which earned my admiration (for the first time in his administration and quite possibly the last). He fired Bella Abzug as head of the National Organization of Women. It was proper on the President's part and long overdue. Ms. Abzug is and has always been, in my opinion, a disgrace to woman-kind and I am certain she did not speak for even one-tenth of the women in the United States. She is rude, crude and socially unacceptable. The only thing that makes her any different from any other loud-mouthed thug is the ridiculous hats she wears, and if that's any criterion for appointing her to lead the women's movement, it's a pretty sad one.

I learned by way of a clipping with Sam Pendergrast's byline on it, sent to me by Pat King, that there will be a chili cook-off at the Circle Bar February 10. According to old Sam, the event has been dubbed the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, and he says "if you don't remember the original, someone from Chicago will be on hand to fill you in." I've never been to a chili cook-off, and I'm looking forward to being an observer. However, I understand anyone can enter for a $10 fee and furnish their own ingredients, including the cooking wood. Maybe we'll have more information a little later, like an official release from the head honchos at the Circle Bar. Anyway, we will try to keep you informed.

Mrs. Gene Williams returned to the hospital here over the weekend to continue her recovery from a broken hip suffered last month.

After shoot out—

Massive manhunt successful here

A massive manhunt in this area late Wednesday ended Thursday with capture of the fugitive near the concession stands at the rodeo arena, park about 2:30 a.m. on the east edge of Ozona.

The incident began about 4 p.m. Wednesday when three men entered the Department of Public Safety Communications building and asked for assistance in obtaining gasoline. The trio, two black males and a white male, left the building and returned to their vehicle when they learned a computer check would be necessary before officers could assist them. The officer on duty obtained the license plate of the vehicle and a computer check revealed the auto had been stolen in Houston the previous day.

The information was relayed to Deputy Sheriff John Gayle. When he gained sight of the vehicle traveling west on I-10 a chase ensued with speeds up to 120 miles an hour. The vehicle came to a stop on the interstate about five miles west of Ozona. As Gayle approached the vehicle in his patrol car, he said he saw one of the men with his hands clasped in front of him on the hood of the car. He immediately took evasive action and swung the car around for protection, expecting gunfire. Gayle said he did not hear any shots because his siren was on. However, other officials said one of the suspects did indeed fire at the officer.

According to information received over the scanner at the Stockman office during the time, the white male who stayed in the car told officers the suspect fired first and described the gun as a 357 magnum. He was later identified as John D. Bales, 19, a hitchhiker, and was released with no charges Thursday.

The two suspects fled the vehicle and crossed the highway with Gayle ordering them to stop. When they failed to heed verbal orders, Gayle fired, wounding one, Jerry J. Bell, 19, in the chest. The other suspect, Lester Bell, 17, failed to stop after more warning shots and was wounded in the arm as he climbed a fence and ran through a pasture, heading south toward Pandale.

Officers converged on the scene and the search was on for the younger Bell. The older man was taken to Crockett County hospital by ambulance and later transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo where he underwent surgery for the chest wound.

Roadblocks were set up to the west of the scene and after the area had been searched by foot and horseback, another roadblock was set up further east. Truckers and CBers were notified and Bell's description widely broadcast. After dark the large contingent of officers moved the search toward Ozona, under the direction of Crockett County Sheriff Billy Mills. Officers came from miles around to aid in the search, and the DPS switchboard was kept busy with calls from residents who thought they had seen the suspect.

Finally, about 11:30 officers talked with some residents in the south side of the city who had spoken with the suspect. However, as they closed in, he made his way up the hill and eluded them in a brushy area. Meanwhile, the suspect had changed from a jean type jacket to a khaki colored one. Officers began to close in and ring the area. Around 2 a.m. a DPS unit from Iraan reported seeing a suspect running across the road near the rodeo park. Officers closed in and he was apprehended near the concession stand.

A small caliber pistol was found in the stolen vehicle, but a search by officers Thursday failed to turn up the larger gun.

Both the Bell men were wanted on several charges in Louisiana, including armed robbery. Charges of aggravated assault on a police officer and felony theft over $200 were filed here Friday in Peace Justice A.O. Fields' court. Lester Bell was picked up by Louisiana authorities early this week.

Jerry Bell was arraigned Monday afternoon in his hospital room, before U.S. Magistrate Phil Lane, who set bond at $50,000 on a federal charge in connection with the Nov. 12, 1978, robbery of the First National Bank of Gonzales-Little Perry Branch in Perryville, La. A warrant for Bell's arrest was issued Nov. 18, 1978 in Baton Rouge.

Water Dist. Election Saturday

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Saturday morning, Jan. 20, at the courthouse, to elect three members of the Crockett County Water District Board of Directors.

The three members whose terms have expired have filed for re-election and their names will appear on the ballot with no opposition. They are Gene Williams, Mary K. Friend and Frank McMullan.

Election judge will be Steve Kenley, with clerks, Mildred Fields, Delores Sanchez, Roberta Cooper and Sybil Howell. Polls will close at 7 p.m.

Lions down Crane in first district tilt

The Ozona Lions got into District 7AA basketball play in a big way last week, downing Crane 71-58 in the first district game here Friday night. In their last game before district play, they beat arch-rival Big Lake, 55-54, in an overtime cliff-hanger.

In the game at Big Lake, with Ozona behind a point, Rocky Stephens hit for two points with nine seconds to go to win the game. Stephens finished the game with 13 points, Fred Garza led with 15 points and Clair McDaniel was the other Lion in double figures with 10 points.

In the first district game here Friday, Clair McDaniel led the attack as the Lions devastated the Cranes, with a big 26 point total. Rocky Stephens was close behind with 20 points and Fred Garza added 10.

The junior varsity lost to the Cranes 53-42.

Both boys teams will be in Kermit Friday night for another district match with the Yellowjackets.

Murder charges filed

John Chappa Garcia of San Antonio has been charged with capital murder here, along with two other unnamed subjects who have not been apprehended. The suspect is presently in Ector County Jail on other charges. Garcia was arraigned on the Crockett County charge Tuesday afternoon in Odessa after assistant District Attorney Bill Mason filed the charges.

Garcia and the two other subjects are charged in the kidnap-murder of Abel Tijerina Callazo, 25, also of San Antonio.

Information from the Odessa police department led to the discovery of Callazo's body early Tuesday morning, 23 miles west of Ozona on Lancaster Hill. Callazo, an auditor for large hotel concern in San Antonio, had been shot twice with a large calibre weapon, once in the head and once in the chest. Local officers, acting on information received by the Odessa police, found the body just off Hwy. 290 below the hill. An autopsy has been ordered.

Investigation revealed Callazo had been dead since early Monday morning, also that he had been kidnapped late Sunday night or early Monday morning in San Antonio. A brother and a sister of the dead man, who were in Ozona Tuesday to identify the body, said the deceased did not return to the family home Sunday night and they had become worried.

Investigation by local officers continued Tuesday afternoon at the scene west of here where the shooting is believed to have occurred.

The Crockett County Museum is again open on regular schedule after having been closed for some days due to illness in families of staff.

The Antique Toy Exhibit will continue to be on display until March 1 and all interested persons are invited to view it. Copies of "A History of Crockett County" have sold well over the holidays and the original number for sale is fast diminishing. Copies may be obtained at the Museum.

TRUCK LOAD OF FURS—Bill Williams, who has been buying furs here every Tuesday morning since the season opened, bought his quota early Tuesday and went home. Daughter, Candace Williams, isn't showing off a choice pelt, she is smiling in anticipation of what the finished product will be like to keep her warm these cold days.

Dr. Childers retires from Hardin-Simmons

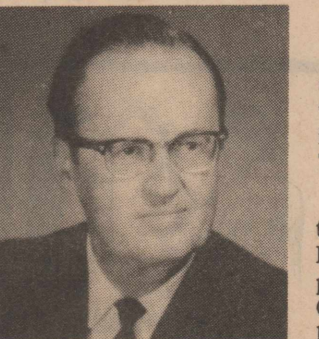

Dr. Clyde Childers, vice president for development at Hardin-Simmons University for the past eleven years, officially retired at age 65 on Dec. 31, but was back to work on Jan. 2. Childers has agreed to serve as development consultant during 1979.

Succeeding Childers will be Richard M. Styles who has served the past year as Vice President for University Relations at H-SU. Styles' title will be Vice President for University Relations and Development.

In his role as development consultant, Childers will concentrate on completion of the Profile for Progress, a campaign fund raising effort for the seventies, and development of a deferred giving program. He will also be available for consultation in all phases of development at the Baptist school.

Commenting on Childers' retirement and new responsibilities, President Jesse C. Fletcher stated, "The results of Dr. Childers' outstanding record in development are readily evident to anyone who visits the campus of Hardin-Simmons or reviews our endowment records. We are thankful for his past efforts and are extremely gratified that he has agreed to continue serving Hardin-Simmons as a development consultant."

In 1967, Childers came to Hardin-Simmons University as assistant vice president for development. The next year he succeeded Dr. Lee Hemphill who had served for nine years as vice president for development.

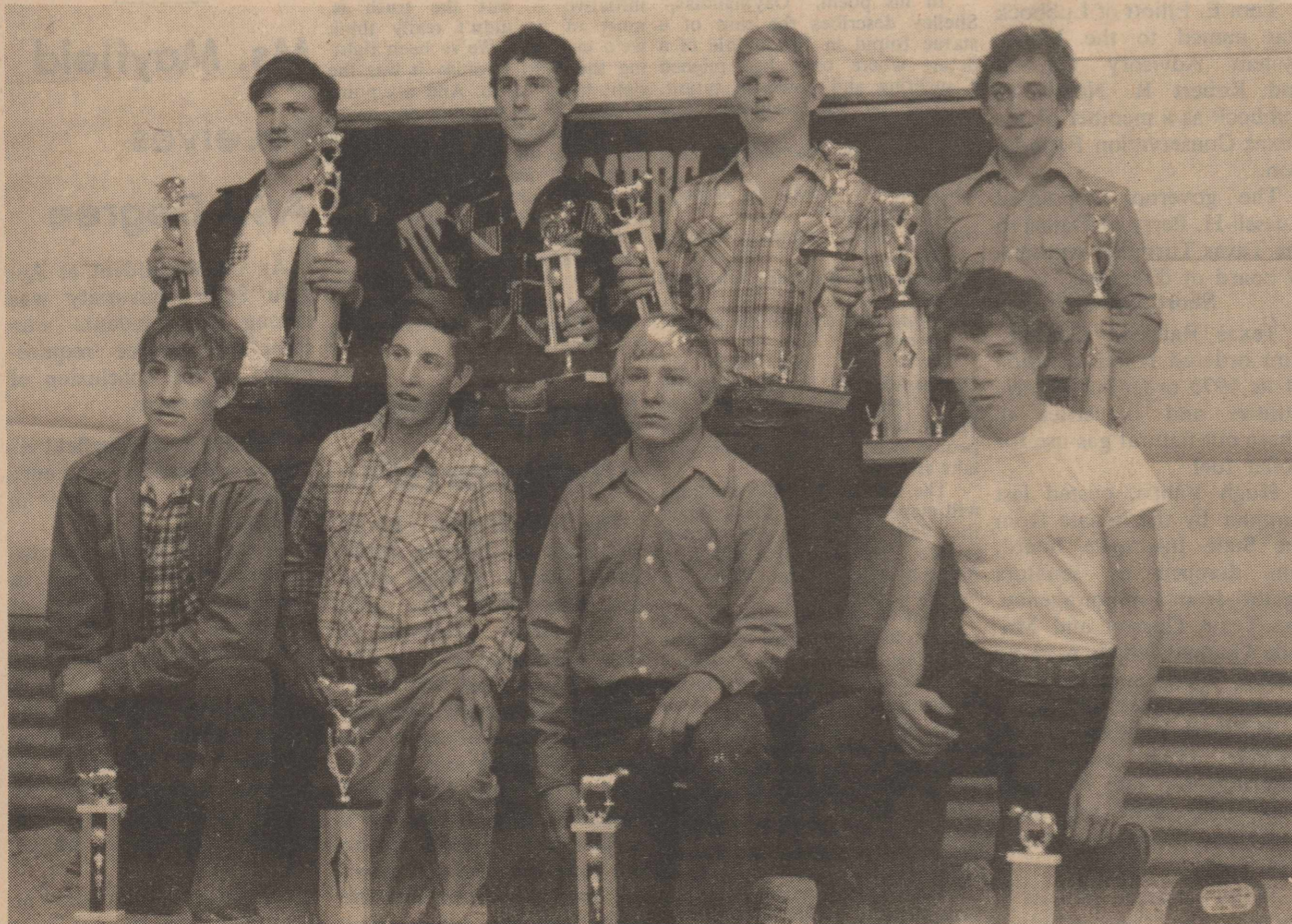

During Childers' eleven years in the development office, more than $21 million in gifts and grants were received by H-SU. In 1976-77, a record $4 million was given to the University by alumni, other friends, businesses, corporations and foundations.

Childers came to Hardin-Simmons from Wichita Falls where he was area missionary for North Texas Baptists for six years. He is a graduate of Baylor University and has served as the vice president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

He is a 12-year member of the executive board of the BGC of Texas and has held pastorates in Westbrook, Ozona and San Antonio. He has also served as director of the Church Loan Board of the BGC of Texas, a member of the Foreign Mission Board and is a former trustee of the University of Corpus Christi, Baptist Memorial Hospital and Howard Payne University.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I am disturbed two or three nights a week by a band practicing in a garage across the street from my home. They often practice till 10 or 11 at night. I don't mind listening to music once in a while but this is insane. What can I do about it? They play so loud that, even with my doors and windows closed, I can still hear them plainly.

A: Many cities and towns have anti-noise ordinances which prohibit loud noises or music after a certain time in the evening. Check with your local police or city attorney to see if your city has such an ordinance and, if so, you can make a complaint to the police when this happens again. The only other solution is to file an action in district court to stop the band from practicing at night. This could be pretty expensive, however.

Q: My husband and I have a joint savings account in both our names. Our account cards read "Mr. or Mrs." If either of us survives the other, would the survivor have any hassle about the account? Would it be necessary to probate the money in the account?

A: In 1969, the Texas legislature provided that where

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers, in their first week on the job, waded through rules and committee appointment preliminaries—and heard outgoing Gov. Dolph Briscoe recommend a $1 billion tax cut.

What they were really interested in, however, was the message they would get later after new Republican Gov. Bill Clements' inauguration January 16.

Briscoe handed lawmakers in joint session a $19.8 billion proposed budget for 1980-81.

The legislators already had the Legislative Budget Board version of the new budget—a billion dollars higher—or $20.8 billion. Hearings were scheduled to begin on it this week.

Clements, like Briscoe, also will push for a tax cut in the neighborhood of $1 billion.

Both also urged legislators to adopt a constitutional amendment to allow Texans to initiate or veto major tax legislation.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, moving out the first day of the 66th session, named a full roster of standing committees which process legislation.

The budget-writing finance committee is headed by Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene. Hobby switched Sen. A. R. "Babe" Schwartz from chairmanship of jurisprudence to natural resources, and named Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls chairman of jurisprudence. The latter committee will hold hearings on the controversial initiative and referendum legislation.

Courts Speak
 Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected the appeal of a former Houston district judge from an eight-year sentence for taking a bribe.

The court also upheld the murder conviction of a Corpus Christi man in the death of sportsman Randy Farenthold.

In another murder case, the court affirmed the capital conviction of a Lufkin man.

The State Supreme Court held penalties for violation of consumer protection laws could be collected in Dallas County on basis of a Washington state judgment.

The high court set arguments January 31 in a stock controversy among radio station owners.

A State Banking Board decision allowing a Hearne state bank to move to College Station also will be reviewed by the Supreme Court January 31.

Appointments Announced
 Fred Williams of Houston is the new executive director of the State Democratic party, and Joyce Sampson of Austin is program director.

Briscoe appointed Joel M. Cummings of Houston to the board of regents of the University of Houston and Harlan Rogers Crow of Dallas to the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board.

Tom E. Elliott of Lubbock was named to the Metric System Advisory Council and Robert R. Norris of Lubbock as a member of the Texas Conservation Foundation.

The governor appointed Russell H. Perry of Dallas to the Texas Turnpike Authority board of directors.

Short Snorts
 Texas Railroad Commission ordered reconsideration of its 1975 order for electric utilities and industries to phase out natural gas use for boiler fuel.

Hugh Yantis, ousted last summer by the Senate from the State Insurance Board, was dumped by senators again—from a minor agency, the Texas Coastal and Marine Council which paid no salary. Yantis said his term expired this week anyway.

Thirteen applications to register $13.4 million in securities for sale in Texas were filed with the State Securities board during the last week.

Major General Thomas S. Bishop, the state adjutant general, has been promoted to brevet lieutenant general in the military forces of Texas.

Conservative Outlook

ACU

THE OZYMANDIANS

by Congressman Mickey Edwards (R-OK)
 Director, American Conservative Union

The 1978 elections removed any doubt about what has now become the most significant political story of the past 40 years: The United States is once more headed in a conservative direction that is almost certain to reduce the size and scope of government at all levels.

It is a political phenomenon stretching across party lines and from one end of the country to the other — from California, where the passage of Proposition 13 converted Governor Jerry Brown (at least rhetorically) into a born again budget cutter, to Massachusetts, where voters re-elected liberal Governor Michael Dukakis and twice (in the Democratic primary and in the November elections) opted for the most conservative choice available for the governorship of the only state George McGovern carried just six years ago.

In many states blacks and labor union members — traditional allies of the liberal movement — went to the polls and voted for conservative candidates.

It was a story that easily overshadowed the rising or falling fortunes of individual political parties. It was a tidal wave that destroyed and created political careers.

Among the debris were the scattered political remains of Dukakis, liberal Congressmen Michael Blouin and Don Fraser, Senators Floyd Haskell, Clifford Case, William Hathaway, Wendell Anderson, Dick Clark and Thomas McIntyre and the shattered arrogance of Chuck Percy, who went on Chicago television to plead with angered voters and assure them he had finally gotten the message.

In his poem, "Ozymandias," Shelley describes the ruin of a statue found in the middle of a desert where once had reigned a sneering and powerful tyrant. And on the pedestal these words appear:
 "My name is Ozymandias, king of kings:
 Look on my works, ye Mighty, and despair!"
 Nothing beside remains. Round the decay
 Of that colossal wreck, boundless and bare,
 The lone and level sands stretch far away.

We're not told what did Ozymandias in, but it may well have been something akin to Proposition 13: an uprising of a people who simply would not take any more.

The tide of the 1978 elections will magnify the fear that gripped the 95th Congress and turned it into, as one analyst put it, a Republican Congress made up mostly of Democrats.

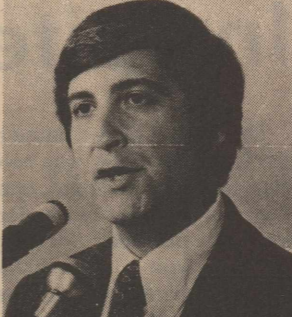

That is an exaggeration, of course, but the point is still a good one. In 1976 the American voters elected the most liberal Congress in a dozen years. Two years later, liberals had lost almost every major initiative in the Congress. In the House, the Senate, in committees or subcommittees, top-heavy liberal majorities lost on common situs picketing, the maritime unions' cargo preference bill, instant voter registration, federal financing for Congressional elections, attempts to revise federal labor laws to new federal proposals for control of private hospitals, the key "indexing" provision which was the heart of the minimum wage increase, the Humphrey-Hawkins public employment bill (a revised bill was passed, but with most of the teeth pulled). A Congress that started out under pressure to raise capital gains taxes reduced them. Billions of dollars were slashed from appropriations bills and the President's proposed $60 billion deficit was sent back to the White House with the deficit cut by one third. What had started out in early 1977 as a runaway liberal Congress became a cautious, relatively conservative, pale reflection of itself.

The change was not a result of any great philosophical reform in the Congress. It was fear: letters, postcards and phone calls pouring in the Capitol and threatening to dump politicians who didn't shape up. Some shaped up — not enough to win every major battle, but enough to win many of the big ones. And the 96th Congress, which will be sworn in on January 15, will be more conservative than the last.

Some of us have been working in the political vineyards a long time, fighting to return to a free society, based on limited government and maximum individual initiative — but the truth is, most of us didn't really think we'd ever win. We've been fighting the fight because it was the right thing to do. And my point is this: we are winning; the country is turning around — and you and I may see the day when once again America has a government that will make the dreams come true. To have freedom is to have opportunity — and freedom is where we're headed!

(The American Conservative Union is located at 316 Pennsylvania Avenue, SE in Washington, D.C. 20003.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Jan. 11, 1979

Dear Kitty,
 I have never written a "letter to the editor" before, but last night made me feel so good about living in West Texas and in particular Ozona, that I had to write.

I sat and listened to my scanner as did half of Ozona while nine counties set about catching a man wanted for numerous robberies in Louisiana. I don't think we can praise Billy enough for his co-ordination of the whole job. Also, it gives us a good feeling to know that we don't even have to ask for assistance from other towns and law enforcement agencies—it is volunteered! Law enforcement receives more than its share of heat, but we rarely say "Thanks-you really did a good job."
 Jo Ann Babbitt

Dear Editor:
 This year's Girl Scout Junior Olympics was quite successful due to the efforts of a number of people, including Girl Scouts, their leaders and their friends.

A special thank you goes to all who helped with the event and in particular a thank you should go to South Texas Lumber Company of Ozona, Mrs. Terry Mallory, and Mr. Hal Lee who donated either time or materials and greatly contributed to the success of the Girl Scout Junior Olympics.

Thank You,
 Charlotte Judd
 1979 Coordinator for the Girl Scout Junior Olympics

Senate Opens Up
 In a surprise move, the Texas Senate voted to alter drastically its historic rule permitting secret sessions to consider appointments by the governor.

Senators voted 18-13 for a rules amendment by Sen. Schwartz to abolish a directive that the appointments be debated behind closed doors.

Actually, they went along with Schwartz a decade ago and permitted suspension of the closed session rule by majority vote. They have frequently suspended the rule and gone into open consideration of nominations.

Schwartz has been pushing for 18 years to get rid of all closed sessions.

"All I want to do is switch the emphasis from closed sessions to open sessions on nominations," said Schwartz. "We can still hold an executive session if senators will stand up and vote for one."

Under the old rule, senators had to stand up and vote for an open session when an appointment was under consideration.

Contest Heard
 A House committee Wednesday recommended rejection of a contest of the election of Rep. Don Cartwright, San Antonio.

The committee, refereeing the first such challenge brought before the House in four decades, heard testimony for two days.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since the cold of December and this month has kept most planting postponed, the next three months should be busy ones if the weather permits. Container grown nursery stock can be planted later in the spring, but these get established better if given time for roots to start growing before the days get too hot.

Some fruit trees are trouble-free for they are seldom bothered by either insects, diseases or partial neglect. They need lots of sun and deep, fertile, well drained soil for best growth. After planting, water plants thoroughly every three to five rainless days. Fertilize in early spring as new growth begins, then again in late spring and midsummer (5-10-10) is a good complete one to use. Broadcast the fertilizer around the base of the tree and out as far as the drip line.

With careful selection of nursery plants, you may be able to find plants that have already developed a pleasing form. If not, prune plants at planting time to initiate a well-shaped tree. Some considered suitable for our local growing conditions. The loquat, a favorite, is a bushy, subtropical evergreen shrub grown as an ornamental in most of the south. They can be grown as specimens, accents, espaliers, tub plants for patio or deck or hedges. Pomegranates, although often thought of as unusual fruits, are hardy in much of the south and are often used as ornamentals in home gardens. They can be used as borders, specimens or the dwarf types as edgings, backgrounds for flower beds, foundation planting, or container specimens. Few plants are easier to grow than elderberries. They are fast-growing shrubs that bear enormous clusters of tiny white flowers in late spring, holding their bloom for several weeks. Unpruned, the plants become tall, upright, multi-stemmed trees that make good specimens, accents, or tall base plantings. Figs are marvelous for their lack of need for intense care and their dependably heavy crop. Figs are shallow-rooted, however, and should be protected from strong winds.

Muscadine grapes are native to the south and are capable of surviving with little or no attention, provided only that they are given the correct growing conditions. Plant in full sun and rich, moist, woods, like soil. Since fruit is borne on new wood, annual winter pruning is necessary. Prune to train them to a two- or three-arm habit of growth. Provide support for muscadine vines by growing them against a wall or fence. They can be espaliered formally or informally, or grown on an arbor.

Bananas are interesting for their tropical foliage, but seldom fruit here. Mass them together in a corner of a fence or wall for best landscape effect. They do need some protection from severe freezes.

Boothe gets design award

A design award for an earth-sheltered home utilizing passive energy techniques to Boothe and Associates, Architects, Fort Worth, was announced by Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Patricia Roberts Harris.

Passive solar systems make use of solar energy without need for specialized equipment. By using the building structure and orientation to collect, store and circulate the sun's energy with minimal use of additional energy to drive pumps, fans or other mechanical equipment.

Awards of $5,000.00 each were made for 145 designs for new homes nationwide and five in the state of Texas. The competition for passive design and construction is intended to identify and publicize effective home use of solar energy and to provide new ideas to America's builders and homeowners on how to best use the sun's energy to help meet home energy needs.

The award winning solution of the design team of Ray Boothe, grandson of the late Mrs. B.B. Ingham, and Joe Hallbach was an earth-sheltered home utilizing the thermal-mass effect of the earth as well as direct use of the sun's rays in the winter. This design offers a 75 to 85% energy use reduction for only an approximate 5% increase in construction cost.

Several sewing secrets for non-woven synthetic suedes mean homemade "ultra fashion" success.

Non-woven synthetic suedes feel like real suede and look like it but have none of its problems.

They will not water-spot or stiffen--and most are machine washable.

Sewing techniques are similar to those for leather. Keep fabric rolled until ready to use to prevent creasing.

Select a pattern with few pieces.

Raglan and kimona sleeves are easier to handle because non-woven suede is difficult to ease.

Keep fabric nap direction in mind when cutting.

Lay pattern on single thickness.

Pin in seam allowance only, because all pin or needle holes will show. Use sharp shears and cut accurately.

Use basting tape or paper clips to hold seam together before stitching.

Use medium tension and light pressure on machine--with polyester or silk thread and a size 14 needle.

Make stitch length 8-12 stitches per inch.

Tie the thread ends together because backstitching can make the stitching holes too large.

After sewing seams, finger press them open and fuse down seam allowances with heat-set fusibles, or top stitch them.

Make hems two inches or less, and secure with fusible fabric or top stitch them. Split darts open and fuse flat to avoid bulkiness.

To press, use a synthetic setting and steam press on the wrong side, using a press cloth.

Big Discovery

Nostalgia, nostalgia. Everything that was seems better than anything that is, to most of us. We go for Tiffany lamps and Carrier and Ives prints, and now it's "in" to have a beard.

But we don't go all the way.

Why? Why doesn't the present measure up? Could it be we who are at fault, at least partly, for the buildup of pressures and the breakdown of moral values today?

If we're going on a nostalgia trip, let's take it all the way. Let's make the big discovery that people made back in the old days which is just as valid now as it was then...

Sheep and cattle need protein supplement

While protein supplementation is one of the largest out-of-pocket expenses in a cow-calf operation, or sheep operation, it is one of the most necessary supplemental feed ingredients when other feed sources are low in protein.

Animals with low protein diets lose their appetite, develop a rough appearance, become weak, and have lowered resistance to disease. The end result is reduced growth, reproduction and calf weights, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The need for protein supplementation results as nutrient composition in forage changes with the seasons. Therefore, nutrient intake varies. Once grass stops growing and loses its green, lush appearance, it becomes coarse and fibrous. Crude protein content may fall from 12 to 4 percent or less, and forage dry matter digestibility may drop from 65 to 35 percent. These nutrient compositions vary greatly over time and supply cattle completely different diets due to seasonal changes.

Spring and summer diets are usually adequate for beef cattle needs while fall and winter diets are lacking in nutrient composition, contends the agent.

Cattle can not eat enough poor quality forages to obtain needed nutrients. Winter grass is old and fibrous, low in nutrients, and more slowly digested. Thus, consumption is lowered and the animal receives even less nutrients as a result of lowered intake.

Added protein increases digestion of fibrous material, notes the agent. It not only helps balance an animal's protein needs but increases forage intake due to increased digestibility of the forage.

Since protein is required for growth and milk production, protein requirements for heifers and lactating cows are higher than for dry, pregnant cows. Lactating cows require twice as much crude protein per day as dry, pregnant cows and 26 percent more than heifers.

Ruminants such as cattle can synthesize much of their needed protein from low quality protein and NPN (non-protein nitrogen) sources such as urea and biuret when sufficient amounts of readily available carbohydrates are present in the rumen. Other supplements include cottonseed meal, soybean meal and a wide variety of commercial dry and liquid supplements.

Protein supplements are available in many types and forms—cubes, cakes, liquids, blocks, self-limiting meal products and others to allow different feeding methods. These will vary in nutrient composition, and a producer should calculate protein cost in each. This cost figure and feeding and labor costs will help him select the most efficient supplement.

When balancing forage rations with supplementation, dry matter (energy), vitamins, minerals and protein are all considered. Most often, available protein is deficient, but sometimes energy is also lacking.

When energy is low, some grain may be fed along with protein to make up the difference in what is supplied from forage. A good low fiber, high protein range cube will probably be sufficient, suggests the agent.

Weekly Fur Report

By Bill Williams

There has been the largest volume of selling of American wild furs in the New York Fur Market this week because of the large number of European and Canadian buyers.

Despite increased numbers of furs and firm to advancing prices, buyers have been most anxious to take on large quantities of the wanted furs and are also showing a great deal of interest in buying the less wanted furs such as skunk, opossum and badger. It is hoped that the optimism will not backfire later this year.

Trappers plan to wind up the season early this year. Sell as soon as the season is over for the law only gives you a few days to get rid of your pelts.

Tourism workshop scheduled

Boosting tourism in the Lone Star State—that's the essence of a workshop at Texas A&M University Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

The Basic Tourism Workshop will deal with practical aspects involved in developing a quality tourism program, points out Dr. Leslie Reid, head of the Department of Recreation and Parks at Texas A&M. "This two-day program will seek to provide practical tools for individuals challenged with tourism development," he notes.

Experts from four major state organizations will focus their energies on tourism development at the workshop the Discover Texas Association, A&M's Recreation and Parks Department and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Topics included on the agenda are "Becoming a Room-Tax City," "Organizing Special Events," "Brochures," "Tourist Burcaus," and "Photography and Publicity."

The first session is slated to begin at noon on Jan. 31, with the program concluding at 1:30 p.m. the following day. The entire workshop will be at the Rudder Center on the A&M campus.

Information regarding the registration fee and additional details may be obtained from Ms. Brenda Lee, Recreation and Parks Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843. (713/845-5419).

Boosting Performance For First-Calf Heifers

The key to a profitable cattle operation is to get a calf from each cow every 12 months. However, first-calf heifers sometimes put a kink in those plans because they tend to have lower pregnancy rates and often fail to rebreed or take longer to rebreed.

"First-calf heifers often experience rebreeding problems due to a number of stress factors," points out Dr. John C. Spitzer, livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"For instance, the first-calf heifer is required to perform all the body functions of a mature cow, such as body maintenance, lactation and rebreeding. Parturition itself may place a greater stress on the heifer, especially if she experiences calving difficulty."

early calves. Calving early will give heifers enough time to return to heat during the second breeding season, which would then correspond to that of the regular cow herd.

If a producer is short on feed or is faced with thin heifers at calving time, he should wean calves early or alter the suckling pattern. Weaning calves at 30 to 90 days of age removes one of the primary stresses on heifers and makes more nutrients available for other body functions such as growth and rebreeding. An alternative is to limit nursing to one time per day for 30 to 45 minutes until the heifer shows heat. This should not begin before 30 days after calving and can run for about 45 days.

Research by Dr. Ron Randel with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has shown that once daily suckling can dramatically decrease the interval from calving to first heat after calving while having little effect on a heifer's milk production or total calf gain to weaning, notes Spitzer.

"Giving heifers in your beef herd a little special treatment can boost their reproductive performance," contends the specialist. "This can mean extra dollars in future years of production due to a larger calf crop as well as increased weaning weights of early-born calves."

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Did you know there was once a major football game in which the score—and even the winners—were changed 48 hours after the game was over. It happened in 1940. Cornell beat Dartmouth 7-3. But on the Monday after that Saturday game, officials of both schools looked at movies of the game and realized Cornell had scored its touchdown on an illegal down. Even though Cornell had an unbeaten season going, they said they would give up the touchdown, and thereby give up the victory. The result was declared reversed and it was officially changed in record books from Cornell 7, Dartmouth 3 to Dartmouth 3, Cornell 0.

Here's quite an oddity. The man considered by many to be the greatest football player of all-time, Jim Thorpe, never played football and never even saw a football game until he was 17 years old!

If you don't think times have changed in football, look at this. When one of the great football coaches of all-time, Pop Warner coached at the University of Georgia in 1896, he received a salary of $35 for the whole season! And, he led them to an undefeated season!

I bet you didn't know. Now is the time to take your pick from the cars and pickups at L-B Motors.

Activities Program Director

It was birthday party time, Monday, and Carol Carlisle and small son, Spencer, hosted the event that afternoon. Carol had baked a cake and brought punch which was served to a big crowd.

In addition to honorees Edd Cade, Mary Lou Simpson, Hank Poeller, and Nautie Tatum, a new resident who moved in with us Sunday, was also found to have a birthday this month and she was included in the festivities. Her name is Mrs. Ruby Cooksey, and she comes to us from Christoval. She is already busy embroidering so I believe we have an ambitious lady in our midst! Every honoree received a lovely yellow carnation given by Patti Jones at Maxine's Flowers.

Last week's Bingo was won by Mary Seelye, and Frances Tolson won the second prize.

Honored volunteers for the past week are Velma Marley, Grace Dorsey, Veva Vargas, Doris Karr, Liz Mary Pipes, Sophie Kyle, Angelita Pena, and Mickey Arredondo. Thelma Janes was to show a film we secured from the Canadian Embassy, this evening (Mon.) about an Eskimo boy. Juniors serving are Blas Vargas, Lupe Fierro, Jr., Martha Borrego and Yvette Martinez. Angelita and Yvette have been with us twice during the week. We thank you all.

We have had two lovely cash gifts. A fifty dollar donation for ceramics materials from Mrs. Edward B. Smith of Hobbs, N.M. She is Verna Talley's daughter and sister of Alma Wilson of Ozona. And one hundred dollars from the Lillian Henderson Class of the Methodist Church, Ozona, for a special activities fund. Carol Carlisle will be starting the ceramics class again next Tuesday morning, and there are several items that I need such as extra dominoes for our swelling population, so we are especially grateful to our generous friends. Thank you all so much.

After an interval of a few weeks, we fired up the C.C.C.C. Rhythm Rascals on Tuesday morning, singing the old songs, playing the various instruments and so forth. We also sang some hymns for good measure. In Bible class, in addition to our Old Testament story, we studied the lesson "New Dimensions for the Old Law" and our Lord's attitude toward the Law of Moses; and we looked into how we could have a more positive approach to the Ten Commandments. We learned a little of how Jesus fulfilled the law by giving it new meaning—for example "Thou shalt not kill" becomes "Love your enemy."

During our Thursday afternoon reading group I had a request to read from the Readers Digest about the Berlin Wall and how people are living on the eastern side. We also shared some humor and Lottie Lee's from the Stockman. Ruthella Dacy, my daughter from Eldorado and Activities Director of their nursing home, came over to the Center Thursday evening. She has been appointed as Activities Director Consultant. This means that, along with several other homes in the area, she must visit the Center each month until I am qualified under the new regulations of the State Health Department.

These regulations stipulate that I must have totaled up eighty hours of college work before July 31. If I had a degree in Sociology or Recreation, I would be home free; or if I had been employed in this position over three years (I started in Aug. of '77). This study will be followed by twelve hours continuing education each year. Ruthella trained in Kerrville and has, of course, six years' experience. Bit of a switch! Daughter looks into actions of Mother! Plans are, at the moment, for me to attend a course commencing at ASU in San Angelo beginning in May.

Higginbottom returns to German base

Sp/4 Ronald Higginbottom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Higginbottom, recently returned to his Army unit in Garlstadt, Germany, after spending the holidays here with his family. Higginbottom recently won his battalion's "Handler's Award," for his part in winning the slow-pitch softball team's 7th Army Training Command Tournament. His team ended the season with a record of 16-4.

Thirty-five percent of all households will have microwave ovens by 1983, compared to 10 percent today.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association winter directors' meeting is a "must" for association members. The focus will be on law and those who make it. The meeting is set for Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 5 and 6, at the Austin Marriott, Austin. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, followed by committee meetings beginning at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

den Eagle Management Plan" and found it a total waste of time and pulpwood trees. It is evident from the "plan" that relief from mauling eagles will not come by way of the Interior Department. That leaves only the courts or the federal legislature. We can rule out the latter naturally, so one guess as to what's left.

Good guess. It's still too early for us to say much more on the subject now, but it shouldn't be by the time the meeting rolls around. We expect to have a very lively session of the predatory animal committee Monday, Feb. 5.

Do plan to make the meeting, catch up on eagles and visit with the Texas Legislators.

DHT Honors Garza For 25 Years

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) likes to honor their long time employees. So at ceremonies held at the DHT Maintenance Office in Ozona, Francisco E. Garza was given a 25 year Certificate of Service and lapel emblem.

Francisco, with the work force of Maintenance Construction Foreman Cecil Hedrick, began work in 1953 under the supervision of Scottie Houston (ret.) and has worked his way up to his present position of Maintenance Technician III. Francisco is a man of varied talents, he is a rock mason, dynamite man, sign man and truck driver. He received a 6 year Safe Driving award in 1978.

Francisco and his wife Berta have 6 children and 5 grandchildren. They are active in the Catholic Church. Hunting and fishing occupy any spare time Francisco can manage.

The presentation made by District Engineer D.R. Watson of San Angelo was accompanied by a letter of congratulations thanking him for his long service and wishing him many more pleasant and productive years with the Department.

The general business session will be Tuesday morning and will feature State Rep. Susan McBee, Del Rio. Already it's looking interesting, right? Well, there's more. TS&GRA will host a reception Monday evening for members of the Texas Legislature. These receptions have become a bi-annual tradition, offering TS&GRA members and Texas legislators a chance to become acquainted on a one-to-one basis.

Considering the proposed tax reform measures already on the agenda for this session of the legislature, making friends with the state lawmakers may be more important this time around than most.

If an evening with the Texas legislators isn't enough to stir interest, we can't imagine what would.

We do, however, have at least one more ante to sweeten the pot. There are some major developments afoot concerning the control of golden eagle depredations. We recently reviewed the Interior Department's "Golden Eagle Depredation Control Program."

Weekend workshop for 4-Hers

The Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood will host a weekend workshop for 4-H clothing project leaders on February 3 and 4. The theme of the weekend training is "A Carousel of Ideas," and county extension agent Debra Price, invites all interested 4-H leaders or prospective 4-H leaders who want to sharpen their knowledge and skills in clothing to participate.

Instructors for the training sessions include Beverly Rhoades and Nancy Brown, extension clothing specialists from College Station; George McArthur, 4-H & youth specialist, College Station; Teri Debolt and Nancy Justice, both of Abilene.

Activities planned include a fashion show and fabric trends for '79; makeup application hints, and exercise demonstrations to help compliment the new clothing ideas for seventy-nine.

For further information and registration details, interested persons may contact Mrs. Price at the Crockett County Extension office located in the Courthouse Annex, or phone 392-2721.
