Kitty's Korner

by

Our TPA bulletin had some amusing things in it this month, along with the usual price hikes, threats to the first amendment, etc. Some of these we'll share with you.

There were thirteen items listed under the caption of HERE'S HOW YOU KNOW IT'S GOING TO BE A BAD DAY:

You wake up face down on the pavement.

You put your bra on backwards and it fits better.

You call Suicide Prevention and they put you on hold.

You see a "60 Minutes" news team waiting in your office.

Your birthday cake collapses from the weight of the candles.

Your only son tells you he wishes Anita Bryant would mind her own business.

You want to put on the clothes you wore home from a party and there aren't any.

You turn on the news and they are showing emergency routes out of your city.

Your twin sister forgets your birthday.

You wake up to discover your water bed broke and then you remember that you don't have a water bed.

Your horn goes off accidentally and remains stuck as you follow a group of Hell's Angels on the freeway.

There were a couple more, but I felt they were a little risqué for a front page column. Hope they gave you a chuckle. Sort of reminds me of things that happen to yours truly on Tuesdays.

Steve Kenley, along with some other firemen, went to the elementary school (Ozona Primary) to give a program on fire safety last week to commemorate Fire Prevention Week. He gave his usual speech, trying to impress on the children they must never go back into a burning house. He said when he was all finished and felt he really had them convinced, he said "Now, what do you do if your house is on fire, you've gotten out safely and find you left your favorite toy or pet in the house?" He got a unanimous "go back and get it," from the children he had been lecturing.

League families build playground equipment

Womans League members and their families gathered in blowing dust Saturday to build playground equipment at the Ozona Primary School.

Four pieces of creative free-play recreational equipment were constructed and installed, including a platform slide and a swinging bridge. Mrs. Pleas Childress III was chairman for the project.

The club completed a similar project at the Ozona Community Center earlier this year.

Reports from the school Monday indicated the children were enjoying the new and needed equipment.

Those participating in the all-day work session were Mmes. and Mssrs. Bobby Aycock, Billy Carson, Pleas Childress, Rick Hunnicutt, Frank Justiss, Pancho McMullan, John Parks, Lane Scott, Pon Seahorn, Steve Sessom, and Gary Vannoy. Also working were Bo Aycock, H.O. Hoover, Cliff McMullan, and Mmes. Erby Chadler, Duane Childress, Fred Jones, Jerry Lay, Van Miller, Gary Buck Mitchell, Douglas Moore, Joe S. Pierce IV, Gregory Stuart, Randy Upham, Rick Webster, and Wesley West.

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT GETS INSTALLED at Ozona Primary School Saturday. The new playground equipment was a project of the Ozona Womans League. League members prevailed upon husbands and youngsters to assist with the project and after an all-day workout the equipment was ready for use Monday morning.

Nationwide fund drive for REACT

A nationwide action plan and public relations campaign, the first in its 18 year history to generate funds from the public at large, has been announced by REACT International, Inc. The campaign will be implemented throughout the country by the 2,000 local REACT teams in cooperation with their International headquarters.

Locally the team is Tri-Texas REACT and consists of 28 members from Crockett, Reagan and Sutton Counties. Jim Adams is president of the local chapter, which monitors emergency CB channel 9 on a 24-hour basis. REACT, Radio Emergency Associated Civilian Teams, handles any kind of emergency call over channel 9. The local team gives travelers directions, road conditions, and works with hospital personnel and D.P.S.

The local chapter will hold a SWR clinic Saturday, Oct. 20 and Saturday, Oct. 27, in the Village Shopping Center parking area. The event which will match antenna with radio signal for CB radios, will cost $3 for a normal check. Both days the clinic will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. New members are also being solicited and applications for membership may be picked up during one of the clinics or from Mr. Adams.

Proceeds from the fund drive will be used locally for civic projects, assisting travelers in trouble and manning the holiday rest stops. The rest stops are generally held throughout a holiday period, serving coffee and refreshment for the motorist. Adams said the local team needed more members to man the rest stops over an entire holiday period.

Previously, REACT has been financed entirely by membership dues plus limited contributions from public spirited corporations. However, REACT has experienced severe reduction in funds from these sources this year and has been forced to drastically curtail its public relations, government and membership services in recent months.

"The new funding drive is intended to transfer a fair share of the cost of REACT to the true beneficiaries of REACT's volunteer services, the public," according to Henry B. Kreer, Executive Director and Founder. "We simply will not ask our membership to contribute still more of their own money for the privilege of serving the public," he said.

The main thrust of the campaign is to secure contributions from the public at large, with emphasis on owners of CB radios, particularly those who have been assisted by REACT through the years. Separate efforts will be made in local areas of secure financial backing from companies, both industrial and retail.

Adams said the local team maintains surveillance of channel 9 from a base station 24 hours a day. He also asked that the public using the channel, give the REACT team member operating the base station, time to answer his call.

Host Alpine Friday

Lions thrash Braves 27-0

The Ozona Lions got it all together Friday night and thrashed the Iraan Braves to the tune of 27-0. The offense, led by sophomore quarterback Varlyn Aldridge really came alive in the fourth quarter, but the strong defensive effort was responsible for the shut out.

The Lions dominated the statistics with 129 yards rushing to 76 for Iraan; 172 yards passing to 89 for the visiting team.

There was no scoring in the first period and it looked like a defensive battle. However, midway into the second quarter, Freddy Garza hit paydirt from one yard out following a 62-yard march downfield by the Lions. Rudy Martinez kicked the point after and the Lions led 7-0 going into the half.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but the Lions came alive in the fourth period, crossing the goal line three times.

Fourth quarter scoring began with a 15-yard pass from Aldridge to Aldo Delgado, after Ozona intercepted an Iraan pass. Again Martinez made good the PAT.

Later in the same period, Delgado scored on a 57-yard pass from Aldridge, the longest scoring play of the game. Martinez again made good the kick for the PAT.

With 4:04 left in the ballgame, Frank Galvan returned an interception fifteen yards for the final score of the night. The PAT failed, but the Lions had 27 big points tucked away when the final whistle blew.

The Lions will be trying for two wins in a row when they host the Alpine Bucks Friday night.

SPARE THE ROD,
SPOIL THE BRAT

By Edwin Feulner

Though the bleeding hearts have declared this the International Year of the Child, in my house, like most, every day revolves around the moral, intellectual, and physical well-being of my kids.

I must admit that, compared to their father at their age, they are remarkably well-behaved.

But they do occasionally step out of line. And when that happens, they are appropriately punished.

Now I personally don't consider my children and our relationship all that unusual. So I was quite taken aback several weeks ago when I tuned into a re-run of a CBS "Sixty Minutes" segment dealing with violence in the schools — not students who "cut-up" in the fine tradition of yours truly a generation ago, but students who are literally cutting-up their teachers, and worse.

In case you are a reluctant believer, let me assure you that it is only too common. In fact, when I was a part-time high school teacher in Philadelphia a number of years ago I had a high school girl pull a switch-blade on me.

Now I turn to the pages of The American School Board Journal and a tongue-in-cheek essay by Philip M. Carlin (Assistant Professor of Educational Administration at Loyola University, Chicago) proposing that we "Shoot troublesome kids."

Now obviously, "Ayatollah" Carlin, as he is affectionately called, is not to be taken literally — but he is to be taken seriously. Violence cannot and should not be tolerated in our public schools, and Year of the Child or not — all the bleeding hearts notwithstanding — something has to be done to stop it.

Writes Carlin: "Before you say, 'Hold on there, Carlin, that's a bit harsh,' let's examine how our schools got into this current sorry state. It's simple — we've been afraid to beat up students. We've spared the rod and spoiled the brat. Spurred on by teachers and administrators who do not recognize the efficacy of a good beating, we have let corporal punishment slip by the wayside. And with it has gone any semblance of order, decency, or what in an earlier age was called values. But now, thank heaven, it is slowly dawning on people that instilling old-fashioned notions of right and wrong requires old-fashioned means."

The squeamish among you might protest. "After all," says Carlin, "hitting children with a birch is so primitive, so cruel, so... barbaric. But, by golly, it gets the job done, and no do-good psychologist or namby-pamby social worker can convince me otherwise. All my experience says: Nothing ensures good behavior like a credible threat of force."

Maybe beating is severe, but certainly an occasional spanking, administered (as it was in my day) by the appropriate school official, would harm nobody. On the contrary, it might do some good.

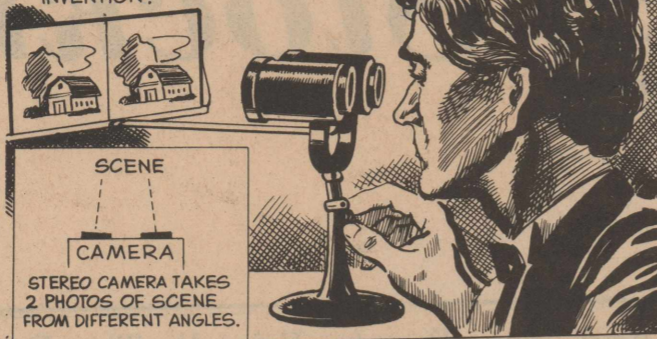

For too long we have been overly concerned with the "rights" of brats, and have forgotten about the rights of teachers, taxpayers, and all the kids who are in school to learn something and who have to put up with the troublemakers.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research organization.)

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby returned last week from a visit to the People's Republic of China predicting large oil trade benefits for Texas businessmen.

Hobby told reporters the Chinese are anxious to increase trade with Texas to develop petroleum equipment and technology. "There are billions of dollars" worth of oil business to be done with China, and Texas will share in it, Hobby said.

Hobby and a delegation of Texas oil drillers, contractors and equipment manufacturers toured Chinese offshore rigs and concluded that Sino-oil technology was 40 years behind the U.S.

Currently, he reported, the Chinese have only about 600 drilling rigs in operation, but they would like to develop around 2,000 more rigs in the next five years.

Hobby, whose family owns The Houston Post, also visited the "People's Times," a Chinese newspaper of 6.5 million circulation printed with type set by hand. "Think of the oldest newspaper plant you've ever been in and this one looked twice as old," he said.

He also commented that coal fires in Peking contribute to massive air pollution. "If you're unhappy about our environmental standards, you should spend a few days in Peking. You'll learn to love our Air Control Board," Hobby quipped.

Kennedy Leads Texas

Later, Hobby told a United Press International conference in Houston that Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy would defeat President Carter if Texas held a Democratic presidential primary next year.

But former Texas Gov. John Connally, a Republican, told the same group it doesn't matter who prevails between Carter and Kennedy: Connally is going to be the next president.

Connally blasted Kennedy as being too liberal for Democrats anywhere and said he won't let voters forget Kennedy's leftist leanings.

Meanwhile, a Texas campaign management firm concluded last week that a Republican presidential primary including Connally, George Bush, Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan would attract at least 825,000 Texas voters, more than the 500,000 who voted in the 1976 Republican primary.

Bentsen Backs Carter

Despite the large following which Kennedy is said to have in Texas, Carter is not to be counted out. The President won the endorsement of a prominent Texas Senator.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen said he was "more in tune philosophically" with Carter and would support his reelection in 1980. Bentsen last week won a tough Senate Finance Committee battle to exempt state-owned oil from the windfall profits tax.

Bilingual Controversy

New Education Commissioner Alton Bowen drew both praise and fire last week with a new state policy: halt expansion of bilingual education until educators can tell if it's working.

Bowen asserts that the mainstream language English should be stressed in school and that the responsibility for teaching bilingual culture remains in the home.

He was not opposed to bilingual education, which is currently taught up to third grade, but had doubts about how far to extend it in Texas schools, he said.

"Education cannot be all things to all people," he said.

Hispanic Reaction

Not surprisingly, Ruben Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, blasted Bowen for his comments. Busy last week, Bonilla also met with Texas AFL-CIO president Harry Hubbard to discuss a labor-Hispanic coalition to redistrict the state.

As Texas Hispanics begin flexing stronger political muscle, Bonilla is thought by many as the most likely candidate to lead a third political party, should Hispanics choose that option.

Speculation continues about the 1982 race for Speaker of the House. Among those thought to be in line for the chair are John Wilson, D-La Grange; Jerry Donaldson, D-Gatesville; Tom Uher, D-Bay City; Al Brown, D-San Antonio; Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad; John Bryant, D-Dallas; Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale; and Ben Grant, D-Marshall.

AG Opinions

In legal opinions issued last week, Attorney General Mark White ruled the Texas Constitution does not authorize the Legislature to abolish the constitutional office of county treasurer. The opinion was requested by State Treasurer Warren G. Harding.

White also answered a request from Education Commissioner Bowen: the City of San Antonio has the same obligation to provide police protection and other city services to an area within the city acquired by a state agency from the federal government that it has to furnish such protection and services to other areas of the city.

Concerning the use of McLennan County funds to operate a zoo, White ruled a county is authorized to contribute funds for operation of a zoo located on property owned entirely by a city.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

In this bright blue October weather I hope many of you are enjoying outdoor exercise to get fall chores done before the severe cold arrives.

Spraying your peach trees now as the leaves begin to drop, will prevent a fungus disease, (peach leaf curl) from infesting your trees next spring.

If you keep a garden record book, October is a good month to assess your garden successes and failures during the past season so that you will be sure to capitalize on them next year.

Feed your flowering shrubs lightly this month while they are in bloom. This can help prolong bloom.

Buy your spring-flowering bulbs to plant in the next few weeks. Those you will enjoy for weeks include anemones, crocus, daffodils, grape hyacinth, bulbous, iris, oxalis, snowdrop, squill and tulips.

Clean your flower pots to have them ready for starting cuttings.

For tender plants you want to save, such as begonia, geranium, sultana, coleus, etc., take cuttings before frost, root them, and then plant as stock plants.

Other plants need to be prepared for winter, but in a different way. Remove old mulch from beds of roses and other plants that are susceptible to insect and disease attack. Keep these beds clean until the leaves have fallen. Also keep them well-sprayed to kill as many pests as possible before they lay over-wintering eggs and produce spores. Apply a fresh mulch after the first freeze of the winter.

Keep fallen leaves raked off to allow new fall grass seedlings to grow strong and deep. Also keep lawns cut to encourage the plants to spread and become tough.

Womans League holds regular meeting

The Ozona Woman's League met Tuesday afternoon at the Civic Center. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. H.O. Hoover and Mrs. Wesley West.

A brief business session was led by Mrs. Hoover, club president. Plans were announced for the playground workday scheduled for Saturday, October 13. Bazaar committees were listed by Mrs. Steve Kenley, chairman.

A program entitled "Fresh Ideas for Bazaar" was coordinated by Mrs. John Parks and Mrs. Jack Probst. Presenting ideas were Mmes. Bill Carson, Johnny Jones, Gregory Stuart, John Parks, Randy Upham, and Tommy Wilson. Following the program, members worked on various small projects for the bazaar, which will be held on November 20.

Earlier in the day, several members gathered at the

Now is the time to learn which of our brilliant native fall plants you want in your yard. Make notes as soon as they are at their peak because the colors fade rapidly. It would be well to mark them if you intend to move them.

Debra Says

BY DEBRA PRICE

Entertain the "ghosts and goblins" at home--with safe fun and nutritious treats. Consider a Halloween "stay-at-home" party for your children and their friends, rather than "trick-or-treating" this year.

Your own home affords all the joys of costumes, games, fun and party foods--and expenses can be low.

Also, your children can help with the preparations. For the menu, try some ideas below--they're more nutritious than the usual "loot" and lots of fun to make.

JACK-O-LANTERN PIZZAS
4 English muffins, split
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 8 oz. can pizza sauce
3 slices (3 1/2" x 3 1/2") Mozzarella cheese

Heat the oven to broil. Place the split muffins on a baking sheet, brush with oil; broil until light brown.

Reduce oven temperature to 400° F. Spread 1 generous tablespoon pizza sauce onto each muffin.

Trim corners from cheese slices to make circles.

Cut out a Jack-O-Lantern face on each circle of cheese with a paring knife.

Place 1 cheese face on each muffin; bake until cheese melts.

Serves 8.

PARTY SANDWICHES
Whole grain bread
Cream cheese
Toppings: Apple slices, raisins

Allow the cream cheese to soften outside the refrigerator for a half hour before using.

Spread cream cheese on a slice of bread; cut the sandwich into quarters and decorate with an apple slice or raisins.

GHOST BOATS
Celery stalks (3 1/2" to 4" in length)

Cream cheese and/or pimiento cheese

Wash celery and fill with cream cheese or pimiento cheese.

Cut out a ghost from white construction paper.

Stick ghosts into boats with toothpicks. Arrange on a platter and serve.

FUNNY FACE FRUIT CUPS
Slice off top of orange and remove inside portion. Cut a zigzag edge and draw a face on the orange.

Fill with the orange sections that were removed plus nuts and fruit cocktail.

FRUIT PUNCH
1 package soft drink mix,
1 46-ounce can pineapple juice

Mix soft drink mix according to directions; put into punch bowl and add pineapple juice.

Add ice cubes or a molded ice ring.

CHOCOLATE GELATIN CANDY

2 cups water

4 packages plain gelatin

1/4 cup instant milk

4 tablespoons honey

1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate

Soak gelatin in cold water. Stir over low heat until gelatin dissolves. Add other ingredients and cook until the chocolate is all melted.

Pour into 8 or 9 inch square cake pan. Set in refrigerator. Cut into small pieces to serve.

HONEY CRUNCH PEANUT BALLS

1/2 cup and 3 tablespoons peanut butter

1/4 cup toasted oats

2 tablespoons and 2 teaspoons honey

1/2 cup shredded or flaked coconut

1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

To toast oats: Spread on baking sheet and bake at 350° F. until light golden brown. Combine peanut butter, toasted oats, honey and coconut. Shape into 1/4-inch balls. Roll in nuts; chill.

Makes about 1 dozen no-bake cookies.

Bingo booth to aid Arthritis

Arthritis also attacks infants and children. There are at least 250,000 children in the U.S. who have juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis.

Mrs. Porter said she feels this event deserves the attention and support of every concerned citizen and asks that anyone interested in volunteering to help make this event successful please call her at 392-3670.

THE STEEPLEJACK

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!

An old and respected trade is his. It had its beginning centuries ago when Christianity first began to express its devotion in unique forms of architecture. How could Christians proclaim constantly their faith in Christ? How could they lift the eyes of others to behold the Lord of Life?

Soon, over gabled village roofs rose gleaming spires. And men who tilled the fields, and men who trod the lanes, rejoiced to behold the symbol of Faith.

Then one day cities replaced villages . . . skyscrapers dwarfed the spires of God. And so, on the day this picture was taken, ten thousand people passed by and never raised their eyes. Only a few looked upward and thought in mild surprise, "Why, isn't that a man way up there on the steeple?"

Yes. A MAN. One of hundreds of millions whose skill and courage continue to be needed as the Church fulfills its mission.

Maybe your church doesn't have a steeple. But it has a task to challenge your skills . . . your courage.

TOM LOEFFLER

Congressman
21st District-Texas

Congressman Tom Loeffler (R-Tx) led a successful fight on the House floor Oct. 11 against an amendment reimposing price controls on the domestic production of oil, calling the measure "faulty logic" if America is to regain energy self-sufficiency.

"We must pursue every available domestic option toward allowing the free market to increase production of all available American energy resources if we are to regain energy self-sufficiency," Loeffler told his House colleagues.

"This can only be achieved through the elimination of price controls—not the reimposition of such controls," Loeffler said in opposition to the measure offered by Rep. Toby Moffett (D-Con), defeated by a vote of 257 to 135.

Loeffler, a member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee on Energy and Power, urged his colleagues to consider the benefits to increased production which decontrol offers. The current decontrol policy, he said, would mean increased production by 1985 of between 740,000 and 840,000 barrels per day. "Each of these additional domestic barrels will back out one barrel of costly and vulnerable imported crude."

Loeffler characterized as "faulty logic" reasoning which concludes that reimposition of price controls will reduce the consumers' energy bills. "We will only gain control over prices paid here at home," Loeffler said, "when we achieve an adequate domestic energy mix to meet our daily needs. Until that time, OPEC will set the price." Loeffler pointed to the fact that since enactment of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973, price controls have not had any effect on holding down prices for U.S. consumers.

"The cost of imported crude has climbed from $3 billion in 1972 to a staggering $60 billion this year... all as we increased our reliance on foreign crude from 4.7 million barrels per day to more than 8 million barrels per day. Under price controls, during this time, the average price of gasoline has risen from 36 cents per gallon to $1.00. And under price controls, production in the lower 48 states has declined some 20 percent since 1973, from 9.2 million barrels per day to 7.4 million barrels per day. Reimposing price controls,

Loeffler argued, will result in all consumers paying more for less, would contribute to the outflow of American dollars for OPEC jobs, and would leave the decision of production amounts, price, and to whom it will be sold to OPEC.

"Only decontrol," Loeffler told his colleagues, "will effectively decrease dependency on costly, strategically vulnerable, and economically debilitating crude oil imports.

"Decontrol will generate American dollars, for American jobs, to produce American energy. We cannot afford to continue a policy of OPEC abroad, opaque at home."

Doctors attack salt consumption

Doctors are mounting an assault on one of society's strongest, most dangerous eating habits: excess salt. Physicians hope to educate people about this problem in an effort to prevent health problems including high blood pressure, a common disease many researchers believe is linked to salt.

Since salt often shows up in many seemingly unsalty foods such as pudding and breakfast cereals, excesses can be tough to avoid, especially if people do not know how much is in the products, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) said.

The American Medical Association has recommended that processors produce food labels that show the amounts of salt added to products. If

Good news about care centers

There's "good news" for grown children faced with the problems of elderly parents who need nursing-home care, says a family life education specialist-aging.

High-quality institutional care creates many positive "building blocks" in the foundation of family relationships for many grown children and their elderly parents, says Vivian Blair.

Citing a study by the University of Southern California Andrus Gerontology Center, she says recent findings "provide good news for many families."

Their research addressed the problem when it was first faced by such families, and it looked at the outcome. "Often grown children facing such a problem are consumed with anguish and guilt once they are forced to seek nursing home care for an elderly parent or other relative," Mrs. Blair explains.

"They may have a sense of failure and begin to think of themselves as cruel and even as criminal."

And now for the good news in detail.

"Researchers found that in 70 percent of the families, relationships between the generations continued to be close—and in some cases, improved," Mrs. Blair says.

"About 30 percent reported renewed intimacy and strengthening of ties," she adds.

Researchers interviewed 100 parents who had been admitted to a long-term care facility, and they interviewed their sons and daughters. Those who were interviewed offered several explanations for their positive relationships.

Here are some:

- * pre-admission stresses created by the elder's many needs had been alleviated.
- * due to professional care, many aged parents improved physically and/or mentally.
- * when daily needs are met by nursing-home staff, adult children were free to spend more enjoyable time with their parents, such as conversation and shared activities.
- * a number of families viewed high-quality institutional care as a means of maintaining desired independent for both generations.

this labeling requirement becomes law, then people will have an opportunity to avoid up to 50 percent of the salt they now eat. Since an American Societies for American Biology panel estimates that most people eat 10 times too much salt, a 50 percent reduction would leave more salt than necessary in the diet, but it is progress.

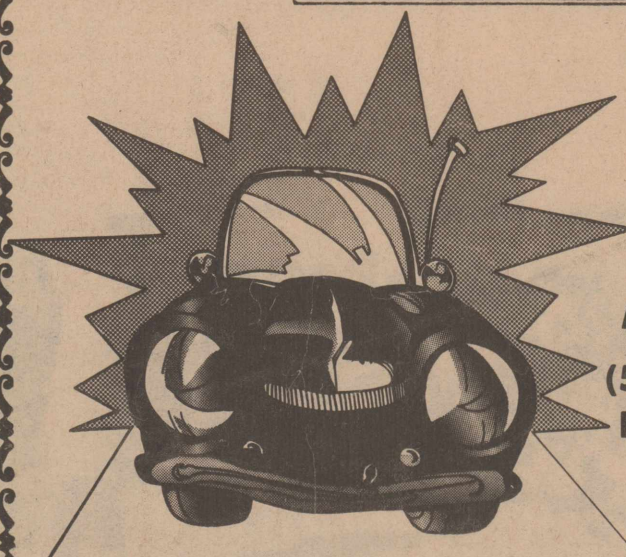

How much salt people eat may make a difference. Over a period of time that varies with individuals and amounts consumed, too much salt may contribute to high blood pressure, especially for the 10 percent to 30 percent of the population with inherited tendencies toward the disease.

Luckily physicians can recommend diet or drugs to control most high blood pressure before it causes stroke, kidney problems or heart disease. One treatment sometimes recommended is to shake the salt habit.

Ultimately it is each person's responsibility to be aware of salt, TMA said.

People can cut 25 percent to 35 percent of their salt consumption just by not adding salt at the table.

Time to fertilize lawns is at hand

If you haven't fertilized your lawn lately, it's not too late to do so, says a turf-grass specialist.

"A fall application of fertilizer not only prolongs green color in lawns but also stimulates root growth, reduces winter injury and promotes early spring recovery," points out Dr. Richard L. Doble with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Fall fertilization also increases turf density and reduces weeds."

Warm fall days and cool nights provide conditions favorable for grass to accumulate carbohydrates that promote root growth and help the grass survive winter months. Leaf growth is also less during the shorter fall days, says Doble.

The specialist recommends applying a fertilizer high in nitrogen and potassium and low in phosphorus. "Both nitrogen and potassium are important to leaf growth and color and root growth. Potassium is also important to winter survival, disease resistance and drought tolerance. While phosphorus is essential, it is required in much lesser amounts than the other nutrients," points out Doble.

"Use a fertilizer with a 15-5-10, 12-4-8 or similar analysis for the fall application," suggests the specialist.

Base the rate of application on the nitrogen content, the first number in the fertilizer analysis. Apply 1 to 2 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn. So, with a 12-3-8 fertilizer, use 10 to 15 pounds per 1,000 square feet, depending on when the last fertilizer application was made. If the lawn has not been fertilized for the past eight weeks or longer, use the higher rate.

"Lawns can be fertilized through October in most areas of the state," points out Doble. "In South Texas lawns can still be fertilized in November without adverse effects.

"For the homeowner interested in an attractive lawn this fall and early recovery next spring, fall fertilization is a must," contends Doble.

Happy families make happy marriages

Happy families create happy marriages, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In other words, the quality of early family life affects the lives of young people anticipating marriage.

Young people are usually conditioned early in life in ways that will make them "good" or "poor" risks in marriage.

Ten circumstances affecting this "conditioning" for marital happiness include: Happiness of parents, Childhood happiness of marriage partner, Lack of conflict with mother, Firm, not harsh, family rules, Closeness to mother, Closeness to father, Lack of conflict with father, Frankness about sex, Mild, infrequent childhood punishment, Positive attitude toward sex in marriage.

The most significant factors about marital happiness are directly related to the happiness and success of a parent's marriage and the relationship of parents and the adult child, the specialist continues.

Traits that affect marriageability in a negative sense are parent-child friction, broken homes and conflict in intact families.

In a sense, people are conditioned for marital success and happiness by their own family background.

However, with a rational approach to marriage, people can and do break cycles of unhappiness that may have run in families.

Those reared in happy homes have an advantage-- they are able to pattern after an example of marriage success.

Texas Sheep & Goat News.....

The time has come for a lamb meat import quota. Sheep producers have talked for some time about the necessity of setting maximum limits on imported lamb. That talk went unheeded by a lot of people because there was no imminent threat of massive market glut--indeed, lamb imports for several years have helped supply the consumer demand that might otherwise have wasted away in the wake of declining domestic production. Call it intuition or reading sign, but the sheep people couldn't help feeling that the potential for glut existed. Events of the past year or so have proved them right.

Australia, only a minor factor in the lamb import picture for years, has now begun to come on strong with its "airmail" deliveries of chilled product. Where they may go from here is an open question.

Fortunately, there's a limit in sight--House Bill 5127, better known as the Lamb Meat Quota Act of 1979. Introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives by Texas congressman Tom Loeffler and in the Senate as S. 1176 by Texas Senator John Tower, the bill would set a limit based on domestic production.

As written, H.R. 5127 would prohibit importation in a given year of any more than 10 percent of domestic lamb slaughter the previous year, or a total of 24,500,000 pounds, whichever is less.

There are some allowable adjustments, however. Recognizing that excessively high prices are an indication of excessively short production and that a quota based on such limited production would be more restrictive than necessary, the bill allows for greater imports if prices rise too high. This is accomplished by providing for a quarterly price and quota review; if prices for a given quarter are equal to or above parity, imports may be increased by five percent for the next quarter. Below-parity prices would require strict adherence to the basic quota. These allowances themselves have a limit, however--the bill sets an absolute maximum of 27 percent of the previous year's domestic lamb slaughter, a level which could conceivably be reached if the five percent add-ons got out of hand.

Other provisions require the quota to be allocated among supplier nations based on their previous share of the import supply. Here, too, there is built-in flexibility to cover "special factors" which might alter the trade picture. For instance, if for some reason a supplier nation was suddenly unable to meet its allowable, that unmet portion might be spread among other suppliers. It could also take into account the fact that such emerging suppliers as Australia would otherwise be unduly limited by their historically small share of the U.S. market.

In short, the bill appears well-written and comprehensive, leaving little or nothing to chance. An added bonus is a provision requiring the origin of imported lamb to be "indicated to consumers." Labeling of imported meat has been a strong issue for domestic meat producers for quite a few moons.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association supports the lamb import bill and extends its thanks to Loeffler, Tower and co-sponsors Charles Stenholm, Texas, and Steve Symms, Idaho.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

Donations to the Center recently include materials for crafts from Sherry Holt, flowers from the Bailey-Oglesby wedding, popcorn in generous supply from Willie Tooke, Doris Karr, Georgia Kirby and Liz Mary Pipes. Mrs. Welton Bunker has purchased another subscription for us, this time to Sunshine Magazine in large print, and we look forward to seeing the first issue just as soon as it arrives. We have received a supply of shampoo from the VFW Auxiliary ladies in Big Lake, also. We thank everyone concerned.

Last Tuesday in crafts we started making the Halloween decorations we plan on using in the Center. We have some 'way out looking black cats (made from pine cones sprayed with black paint and a few other attachments), and some of the cutest owls we have placed in twigs and driftwood for centerpieces. Sometimes we have much more merriment than outstanding results, but being happy and having a feeling of accomplishment are two very necessary ingredients to having a happy day.

Leona Harris has played the piano for us, and Georgia Kirby has contributed a few tunes on the organ. Hopefully we will have band entertainment before the week is out, and I am working on trying to catch up with our very busy school band director to see if we cannot coax the twirlers, rifle spinners, and cheerleaders to come and do their thing and bring a little football fever to the Care Center. I believe the flags would be a bit too large to cope with in our restricted space!

Bingo winner of the weekly gift certificate was again, Swede Lundgren, after a tie and play-off with Eleanor Bradford who received second prize. Coming in third for the week were Frances Borrego and Vera Miller. In dominoes, Paul Cavin won at table No. 1 with Ruby Cooksey second. Louise McWilliams won at the other table with Eleanor Bradford second.

Monday afternoon we took advantage of the pretty weather and Ann Mayo and I took Paul, Leona, Tomasa Ramos, and Frances Borrego out for refreshments to Village Drug. Ann and I tried to partake conservatively, but ended up helping out Paul and Tomasa whose malts proved to be too large for them—so we probably ended up having more than anyone else! To top it off, someone came by selling peanut brittle, so I was a dead duck—never can resist that stuff. We went riding in the two cars before returning to the Center.

August Prugel has transferred to the Sonora nursing home to be closer to his son and daughter-in-law who live there. Della Tinsley is still a patient in our hospital and we hope she will make satisfactory progress. Brownie Harvick often comes to visit from the hospital with her companion, Mrs. Long. They always seem to show up when I'm working out on the piano keys.

Sterling Baker and his companion enjoy evenings going outdoors.

In reading group we read about Bob Hope, age 76, planning a busier schedule than ever for this season, and how daughter, Linda, assists him and wife Dolores (married to him for fifty years) is now getting into the act occasionally. Our discussion centered mostly around Vic Pierce's experiences.

Thanks to all who have made life more pleasant for all out here.

Beef a bargain despite prices

Cattlemen and consumers have one major point in common—they can't understand why a steer at the feedlot brings only 68 cents per pound when a sirloin steak costs almost $3 per pound.

However, the price difference sounds higher than it actually is, says Dr. Ed Uvacek, economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek explains the price dilemma this way.

"A Choice steer that weighs 1,000 pounds actually yields only about a 600-pound carcass. The other 400 pounds are by-products, some of which have value, such as hides and tallow.

"Even the beef carcass that is left is not all steaks and roasts," emphasizes the economist. "The average 600-pound carcass provides only about 50 pounds of sirloin steaks, 37 pounds of rib roasts and 66 pounds of round steaks. Hamburger, stew meat and miscellaneous cuts add up to another 146 pounds. Waste or cutting loss amounts to a huge 162 pounds."

At 68 cents per pound for the live steer, the average cost of all retail cuts from the carcass would have to be about $1.56 per pound just to pay for the animal. This does not include any costs for slaughtering, wholesaling, cutting, wrapping, transporting or retailing, points out Uvacek.

Since the average national retail price for Choice beef is now about $2.20 per pound, the consumer is paying only 64 cents per pound for the entire cost of all marketing and merchandising functions. "That's pretty cheap," contends the economist.

What's ironic about all this is that while consumers are already getting a bargain, feedlot operators are losing about 10 cents a pound on that 68-cent live steer," adds Uvacek.

A slip-resistant tub or shower surface can help prevent up to 40 percent of tub and shower injuries. If your bathtub or shower does not already have a slip-resistant surface, use bath mats with slip-resistant backing or special slip-resistant adhesive strips applied to the bathtub or shower bottom.

Plan now for Fall landscape plants

With the fall season at hand, it's time to plan ahead for planting woody trees and shrubs in the home landscape, points out Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Take a careful look at the existing landscape and the family landscaping needs, suggests Reager. List the various needs and landscape revisions needed. Your list may include shade for the walk, correcting drainage on the west, and shading the dog yard. Since each landscape is personal, it is not satisfactory to copy magazine designs from magazines or books. What may work for a family in California would never fit the needs or location of a family in Texas.

Once landscape needs are properly identified, plants can be selected wisely for winter planting. Review plant catalogs and books or even visit local nurseries to become better acquainted with available and local plant possibilities, suggests Reager.

Prepare planting beds by removing weeds and grasses and spading deeply to allow aeration and mellowing of proposed planting soils. This also allows you to visualize plant placement in anticipation of the effects the planting may have on the overall garden once planting areas are prepared.

Pre-landscape planning also allows you to plan your landscape budget, to look for and take advantage of possible plant bargains, and to even come up with other short cuts to save money, notes Reager.

Looking ahead to next spring, it's always a delight to scan spring bulb catalogs and to plan a colorful border or bed. Plant spring flowering bulbs in October and November. Select quantities of the same bulb for large drifts of color. A few scattered bulbs seldom make an impact.

Keep in mind that what is in shade now may be open to sun during winter and early spring if trees are deciduous. Bulbs are adaptable and delightful in rock gardens, in ground-cover areas, or as drifts out on the early spring lawn, explains the agent.

Roses also call for fall planning and winter planting. Prepare soils in an open sunny area since roses must have at least one-half day of sun, preferably morning sun. Attempt to protect plantings from hot, afternoon, summer sun. Keep rose plantings simple for easy maintenance and away from neighboring tree roots.

The cool days of autumn are also ideal for landscape construction, such as building that patio you so badly missed this summer, or constructing that long-desired fence or retainer wall. What you accomplish this fall will be enjoyed for all seasons to come, contends Reager.

Story of cowboys and Depression

By V.I. Pierce

PART VIII

Cowboys did not get but about $20.00 a month for riding broncs working on a ranch.

When they built the rock schoolhouse, Judge Davidson was the architect builder and everything else. If you will notice, that building has each stone a cut stone made to fit.

Judge had the best stone cutters in Texas come and cut the stones and build that building. Each stone cutter had to have a helper, and paid $10.00 a day to that helper. Several $20.00 a month cowboys went to Ozona and got a job helping a stone cutter at $10.00 per day.

We had a fellow at the ranch that thought he was the world's best bronco rider. He quit and rode a bronco into Ozona, put him in the livery stable and got a job helping a stone cutter at $10.00 per day. The livery stable had 2 or 3 rooms with beds in them, so he rented one close to his horse where he could feed him 3 times a day. After working about 30 days and having more money than he had ever had at one time in his life, he said "Tomorrow being Saturday, I am going to put on a show and show these stone cutters how to ride a pitching horse as they all come to the hotels for lunch." He had his horse saddled and the horse had been eating oats for a month and he was also ready.

He took his horse outside of the stable when the workers were coming in front of the stable going to lunch. He whirled his broncho around and around to make him look wild, then mounted him and spurred him in both shoulders at the same time and hollered. The street had just been rained on and wagons hauling rock had packed the dirt as hard as a rock. This horse threw him and ran back into the stable. The cowboy could not get up. We had to carry him to his bed in the stable and he was unable to work again, and had

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Did you know that 17 of the 28 teams in the National Football League have never played in a Super Bowl game?...The 17 who've never made the Super Bowl are Atlanta, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Houston, Los Angeles, New England, New Orleans, New York Giants, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle and Tampa Bay.

Here's a fantastic football fact...The Waco (Tex.) High School team of 1921 had such a great defense that they did not allow any team to get past their 35 yard line all season!...Can you imagine a tougher defense than that?

Can you name the 5 backs in the history of football who gained the most total yards rushing in a major college career? They are, in order, Tony Dorsett of Pitt...Archie Griffin of Ohio State...Ed Marinaro of Cornell...Ted Brown of North Carolina State...and, Terry Miller of Oklahoma State.

I bet you didn't know... L-B Motor Co. has the new line of 1980 Chevrolets, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs, Cadillacs and Buicks on display now for your viewing. Come by and we will show you the new look of 1980!!!

to go back to the ranch at $20.00 per month.

That old rock school building will be there when Gabriel blows his horn, and all these new buildings will be dust.

The people of Ozona should not let the school destroy that old building. It can be used for some good thing like a museum, or something, but not destroyed.

This fellow that the bronco threw, had more confidence in his ability to ride any kind of a pitching horse than anybody I have ever seen. Several years after this horse threw him off in Ozona, he came to me and said, "Do you want to make $500.00 real easy?" I assured him I did. He said "They are having a rodeo at Sonora today and they have a horse called Midnight that has never been ridden, I am lucky and have drawn Midnight to ride this afternoon, so there is no doubt that I will win the money-so you bet $500.00 of your money and all of mine that I don't only ride him but that I win the first money. You take me and my saddle over to Sonora in your car."

I took him and his saddle to Sonora and bet his money, about $150.00 for him but none of mine. Just before he got Midnight, he bet his saddle against so much money that he rode Midnight and won first money.

At this time this cowboy was running a hole-in-the-wall restaurant in a pool hall in Ozona. He served frijole beans and fried potatoes that he prepared himself. He also bet this restaurant against so much money.

Midnight came out of the chute pitching high and straight. I thought for sure he was going to ride him, then Midnight turned in the air a complete flip and this cowboy went straight on through the air and hit on his legs a running, not hurt but broke.

He said, "You have just hired a horse breaker. I will go to your ranch with you tonight to start working in the morning riding one of your saddles." This cowboy never lost confidence in his ability and 40 years more after this, my telephone rang one night in Ozona, and it was this cowboy. He said he was living at Eldorado and was on his way to Stockton to rope in a steer roping, an old man's contest, and that he was sure to win it.

I don't know how he came out but I watched the newspapers and someone else won it.

[1920-Depression]

The First World War ended in 1918 but prices kept going up, up, until May, 1920.

In 1914 when World War I started very few of us had ever heard of the Kaiser. People who thought they knew said it would not last two months but with six months, it turned into a world war.

England sent over here to buy calvary and artillery horses and lots of other things. Everything here started going up. Sheep, cattle and wool started to go up. All livestock here had been cheap so long, sheep-ewe and lamb were $6.00 per pair. Cattle, cow and calf 12.00 to 13.00 cow and calf. Ranchmen made a living by being so tight they didn't buy anything much except groceries.

Nobody had any money. The north had never let any money come to the south that they could keep up there. The banks here could just lend you money for expenses, if you wanted to buy livestock you had to get it from a bank that had connections with a northern bank and that took a lot of time and then sometime you didn't get it. Very few people know it but the Wool Grower Central Storage Company, the first wool commission and loan company in the south was organized in Ozona by Crockett County sheepmen-a warehouse to store and sell their wool and to get money to lend to sheep men to buy sheep with. It was later moved to San Angelo, Texas. It has done a great job in helping sell our wool for its true value and getting money down here for sheep raisers.

When a ranch sold land here you had to give the buyer at least 10 years to pay for it at a very low interest rate or it would not sell. Things went up so fast here you could buy some sheep or cattle and before you got them home (by driving them) someone offered you a profit on them. I remember my brother Joe and I bought 300 head of Mexican 2 year old heifers over on the east side of Sutton County for $20.00 per head that a fellow had bought 2 months before for $16.00 per head. As we were driving them home two fellows came along and offered us $30.00 per head and we sold them.

There was a fellow that had a wholesale grocery store, and as things started up he started building a chain of grocery stores in lots of towns. He sold stock in his corporation to do this. He had name of a genius, he could not lose-everything going up each day.

Things got so high, especially clothes, that people formed a union for everyone to wear overalls with a bib in front until prices went down on clothing. Overalls just took the country over. Everywhere you went everybody was wearing overalls to church, to dances, to weddings. The price of overalls went sky high.

The man who had put in these chain grocery stores had somehow got a lot of overalls and had his stores selling them at a big profit. My father had bought some stock in this fellows corporation and it was paying 25% dividend. Now, this grocery man contracted from every factory that had overalls, all their output for one year and borrowed a lot of money and paid down on these overalls. He sold a lot of stock on the fact he had cornered the overall market. As suddenly as people started to wear overalls (clothing did go down), they pulled them off and you could not see one fellow with overalls on. You could not give a pair of overalls away.

This fellow that contracted all these overalls began to get them by the carload C.O.D. He could not pay for them and it put him to bankruptcy and broke him.

Everything stopped overnight. I had 28,000 lbs. of wool in a warehouse in San Angelo, Texas. Wool had gone to a dollar a pound. My wool being 6 month growth was only offered 90 cent per pound for it. I had decided to sell it for the 90 cents per pound, but the warehouse manager told me if I would leave it one week he could also get me $1.00 per pound for my 28,000 lbs. of short wool. That morning I had seen a car, a "Hudson Speedster," dark blue, red wheels. I thought it was the best looking car I had ever seen marked for sale at $2800.00.

Now I figured right quick 28,000 lbs. of wool at 10 cents would be $2800.00, just enough money to pay for that pretty automobile so I told him to hold it for one week and sell it for $1.00 per pound.

I went ahead and borrowed the $2800.00 on my wool from this warehouse and bought this pretty car.

Three days later this wool I could have sold for 90 cents per pound or $25,200.00 total you could not give away. The story was that the world was so full of wool they never would need any more wool.

I kept this wool 2 years finally getting 6 cents per pound for it. Sheep and cattle took a drop to where they were before the war. So did everything else. The wool company in Boston that had bought our wool for many years said there was so much wool in Boston there was no place to store, don't send anymore wool until further notice.

Now, the wool growers all over the U.S. got the U.S. Senate to send some Senators to Boston to look the wool situation over and give a report back to the Senate to make public. Well, their report was, there is enough wool in storage in Boston to supply the U.S. for at least 20 years. They were true U.S. Senators, for in a few months those warehouses were empty and buyers were out hunting wool to buy at 25 cents a pound. Nearly everything jumped up to a fair price except cattle. They stayed low for 2 more years than anything. You could buy nearly any cow ranch at $3.00 an acre but a sheep ranch had gone back up to $7.00 to $10.00 an acre.

The U.S. government had sent lots of soldiers to the warm south to train for the war. Also lots of money for other things for the war effort. The banks here in Texas had gotten a lot of deposits of this northern money and were able to finance any kind of a livestock loan.

Prices kept going up until we had the depression of 1929, the biggest depression the U.S. ever had.

Greek cookery is continued today

Ouzo and an aperitif or appetizer start the typical Greek dinner, says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University System.

So, the main dinner begins with the ouzo or Greek wine and a wedge of feta cheese, Greek olives and vegetable sticks of zucchini or cucumbers. Stuffed grapevine leaves are also popular.

A Greek soup is then served such as Augolemono (chicken and macaroni soup) or a Greek Easter Soup. A special noodle called Trahana which resembles bits of dried dough replaces pasta and rice in Greek soups, the specialist continues.

The main dish may include beef, lamb, pork, fish or poultry. Beef is rarely eaten baked, broiled or plain as it is in the United States.

On the island of Crete, the usual islanders eat beef only one time per week.

Beef is usually eaten in tomato-base sauces or layered, lasagna-like between vegetables or macaroni.

Moussaka is a favorite dish of layered meat, cheese and eggplant or zucchini served frequently in Greece.

Often beef is rolled in meat balls or in long meat rolls and served atop pita bread (a flat flour bread) with lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers. A side-dish of yogurt is usually served with this delicious dish.

Also, beef is used in stuffed grape leaves in combination with vegetables.

Lamb is a popular meat served in great amounts in Greece. It is served plain, marinated in lemon and olive oil, as an ingredient in soups.

Pork is not as frequently served in Greece, but is a favorite for special occasions, Ms. Sweeten points out.

Fish and seafood are eaten three to five times a week, especially in the islands and on the coast of Greece. It is usually marinated in wine, herbs or lemon or baked under mounds of vegetables.

Chickens or poultry are seldom used in Greek cookery due to economic reasons. Usually they are used in stew or in combination with spices, wine, tomatoes or vegetables.

Chicken is an ingredient in avgolemono sauce. Pilaf is usually on the menu to accompany this dish.

A favorite of many who visit Greece is the pitta or main-dish pie. It has a flakey, high-fat crust filled with meat or vegetables.

The most traditional pitta is one made with spinach and feta cheese. The flakey crust is made by alternating layers of filo dough and butter, the specialist adds.

Halloween safety

This Halloween, check safety features for children's "trick or treating" costumes, advises Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist.

She suggests these Halloween costume safety features:

Consider using make-up to decorate the face rather than wearing a mask which may block vision. Apply cold cream before putting on make-up for easy removal.

Sew or glue reflective tape to both front and back of the costume. Be creative and incorporate the tape into the costume design.

When possible, choose light-colored costumes--they will be more visible to motorists.

Check labels or packaging on bought costumes for flame-retardant finishes. Children may be exposed to many direct sources of fire such as lighted pumpkins, colorful candles or open fires for toasting marshmallows.

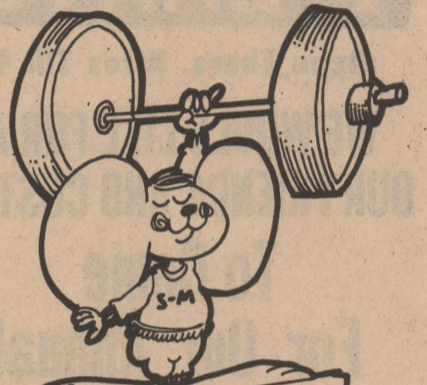

For home-sewn costumes, select fabrics with a flame-retardant finish.

If costumes are too long, shorten them by hemming or cutting them off with pink-ing shears. This will lessen the chance of a child tripping or falling.

If possible, give each child a flashlight to use at night. If he/she wants to carry a jack-o-lantern, put a flashlight inside--never a candle.

Attendance day for Baptists

Many of the 4,300 Southern Baptist churches and missions in Texas will attempt to involve a record number of people in their Bible studies October 28 on Sunday School High Attendance Day.

The day is an annual statewide and national observance in the Southern Baptist Convention. "Great Day in the Morning" is the theme of the 1979 observance in Texas Baptist churches.

The goal for High Attendance Day in Texas is 679,000, compared to an average statewide Baptist Sunday School attendance of 518,000. Last year 643,021 attended Sunday School in Texas Baptist churches on High Attendance Day.

Baptist churches throughout Texas are preparing for High Attendance Day by personally inviting residents and newcomers to Sunday School and worship services on October 28. Some churches sponsor community events related to High Attendance Day.

When packing for a plane trip, don't pack indispensable items into a bag to be checked. Carry such items as prescriptions or keys.

With food prices expected to increase up to 10 percent this year the consumer's willingness to plan nutritious meals, shop carefully and focus on "nutrient-dense" foods from Daily Food Guide will determine the consumer's buying power.

Annual SCS Texas Tech rodeo set for October 25-27

Billed as the "World's Largest Indoor Collegiate Rodeo," the 35th annual Texas Tech Rodeo will test the skills of more than 350 contestants Oct. 25-27.

This year's event will provide western pageantry complete with nationally known vocalists and clowns.

George and Kathy Taylor of Cleburne will entertain the crowds with their clown and comedy acts throughout the rodeo performance. Bob Romer, "the Bull-Dancer," and former National Finals Rodeo clown, will demonstrate his skills during the wild bull riding.

Rodeo stock will be provided by Harry Vold Rodeo Co. of Fowler, Colo.

Each performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Oct. 25-27. Tickets may be purchased at all local western stores and at the Coliseum box office. Thursday night will be "family bargain night" and all tickets will sell for $3 with no seats reserved.

The annual Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District's essay contest gets underway here this week.

Subject for this year's contest will be "Forty Years of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Texas," according to Bill Baggett, chairman of the board.

The Crockett District will provide cash awards to one high school division. Awards of $60, $40, $20 and $10 will go to first, second, third and fourth places. The contest does not jeopardize Texas Interscholastic League eligibility.

Information on the subject will be provided at the High School Library and is also available at the local S.C.S. office for students.

Directors sponsoring the contest are Baggett, Joe Couch, Charles E. Davidson, III, Bud Hoover and Earl Acton.

Sixteen rodeo teams from around the Southwest will compete in a wide variety of events for men and women. Men's teams will vie in bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team roping and bull riding. ## Car tires to be graded

Look for a tire's "grade" before buying it for your car.

Passenger car tires will soon have "grades" to tell consumers about tread wear, traction and temperature resistance, says Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist.

By April 1, 1980, all car tires will have "grades."

To let consumers compare a tire's tread-wear future, grades will be in numerals—with the highest number indicating the longest wear expected.

Since different drivers and roads affect a tire's life expectancy, the grades simply compare one tire to another assuming all are driven under the same conditions.

So, to read the tread-wear grade, just compare the numbers, Ms. Kerbel says.

For example, a tire with a grade of 160 will have twice the life as a tire with a grade of 80.

Traction grades use the letters A, B and C.

They represent the tire's ability to stop on wet pavement—as measured under controlled conditions on a specified government test surface.

A tire graded "A" offers the best traction, while one graded "C" may have poor resistance on wet roads. Temperature-resistance grades help consumers know how well a tire will hold up under excessively high temperatures.

Grades "A" and "B" represent the higher levels of performance—the tires that will withstand the highest temperatures.

However, all passenger car tires must at least meet the grade "C" standard.
