Outrage, bewilderment and frustration are the words to best describe the mood of citizens here following word of the attempted assassination of President Reagan Monday. There was none of the unrelenting shock which paralyzed the community when Preident Kennedy was shot in November of 1973. It's almost as if we have begun to expect it. Since that awful day in November, there have been assassinations and attempted assassinations, and God only knows when it will end or how. All the assassins or would-be assassins seem to be cut of the same mold, loners with deranged minds existing aimlessly. The exception to that might possibly be Lee Harvey Oswald. His visits to the Soviet Union and ties to Cuba, seem more than sheer coincidence.

One thing is certain, the day has arrived when U.S. presidents and aspirants to that position must resist the urge to "plunge into the crowd" as it were. When a killer is allowed to get within 10 feet of the president, there is a serious security breach and there are some freedoms which should be denied. The freedom to shoot at public officials is one of them.

One man voiced the opinion that the upswing in demands for "civil rights," has played a large part in the rise in crime and lawlessness in general. This might possibly be true. For the past ten years we've heard nothing but "rights" from legitimate groups to groups on the fringe of insanity. Why not "assassins' rights?" Makes about as much sense as some of the others.

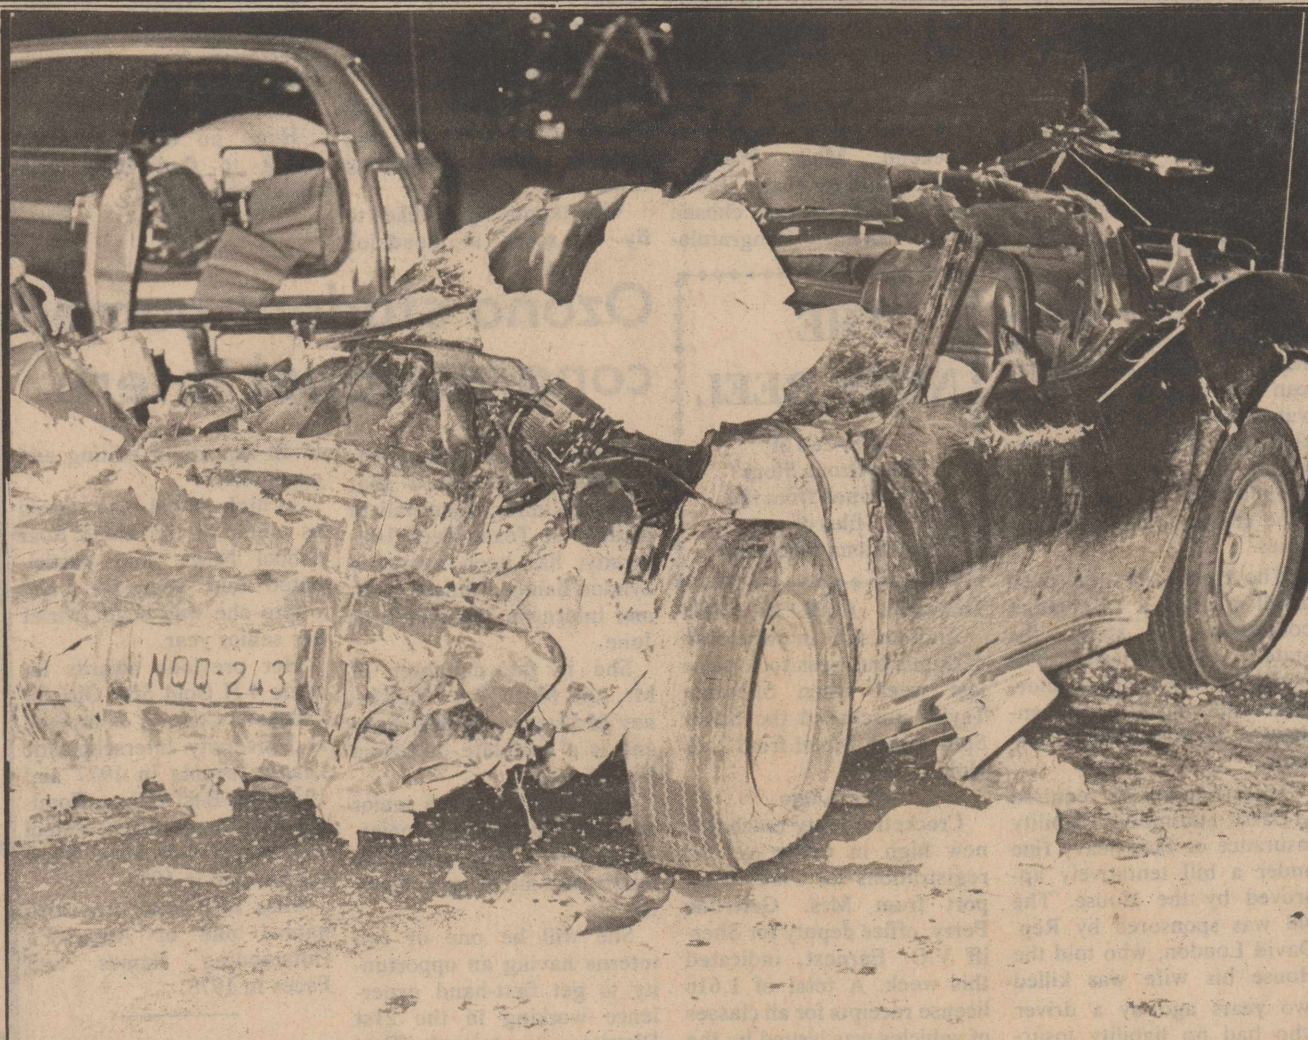

The civil rights movement in the south was a legitimate cause, but since that time everybody has grabbed the ball and run with it. There are gay rights, students' rights, women's rights, and on and on. The list is endless.

The increase in postal costs has forced some changes in policy at the Stockman. We can no longer afford to send out bills for small amounts. In the future we must collect in advance for all one-time classified ads or any ads or office supplies amounting to less than $5. Also, mail subscriptions for the Stockman will increase in June from $6.50 to $8.50. All garage sale ads must be paid when submitted.

Fire Dept. presented with check

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department received a check for $75.00 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of Wayne Joiner. The money will be used for their general fund. The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them. The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more importantly, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department in their program.

DEATH CAR-Two Sonora men were killed Thursday night when their vehicle, this 1977 Corvette sports car, ran under a flat bed truck on Interstate-10 east of Ozona around 10:30.

Lions win Ozona Relays for fifth meet in row

The Ozona Lions continued their winning ways Saturday, taking their own meet with a strong showing in all 15 events and breaking four records along the way. Richard Garza had two first place record setting finishes. He won the 3200-meter run in the record time of 10:51.18 and the 1600-meter with a time of 4:57.7. The 400-meter relay team of Felix Flores, Larry Payne, Ernie Borrego and Willie Payne, set a record first place with a time of 44.42, while team member Payne picked up three other first place finishes and set another record. Payne set a record in the 200-meter dash with 11.81, came in first in the long jump with a leap of 29'5 1/2" and ran a leg on the winning 1600-meter relay team. Ozona scored 198 points for the easy victory. Big Lake ran a distant second with 70 points, followed by Sonora with 68, Junction with 63, followed by McCamey and Sterling City in a tie for fifth place. The Lions showed their power with depth and pride and handily took all three trophies and championship with a lot of potential for the future. Only one senior aided in the point total, Rudy Martinez, who won the 800-meters, and a leg on the winning 1600 relay team.

Highlights of the meet besides the victory included beautiful weather and the crowning of the 1981 track queen and beau. Molly Womack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Womack was crowned track queen for 1981, and Larry Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Payne, was named track beau. Another highlight came for local fans, when Martinez won the Clifford Crawford Memorial race, 800 meter run, in honor of one of Ozona's great track athletes. Coaches expressed appreciation to all who helped make the meet the great success it turned out, and gave a special "thank you" to Tom Powers who has worked as timer at every Ozona meet. The Lions go to McCamey Saturday, April 4, aiming for their sixth track championship. Competition begins at 9:30 a.m. Other Ozona results in Saturday's meet: 3200-meter run-Jack Thompson, third; Randy De-Hoyos, fourth. ## Wrecks kill two and injure one

Two Sonora men were killed and an Ozona man critically injured in separate vehicle wrecks east of Ozona last week.

James Goll, 35, of Ozona, was critically injured Tuesday night at 9:50, when the 1980 Chevrolet pickup he was driving overturned one mile east of Ozona on Hwy. 290. A passenger in the pickup, Ernest Richarte, is in satisfactory condition in Crockett County Hospital. The two men were enroute east when the crash occurred. The vehicle ran off the right side of the road, careened back across the center stripe and off the left side, overturning 1 1/4 times. Both men were pinned in the pickup and Ozona firemen resorted to the "Jaws of Life" tool to extricate them. Goll suffered massive head injuries and was rushed to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo, by a Crockett County ambulance crew with a physician in attendance. He was still listed as critical Tuesday, in the intensive care unit at the hospital. Trooper Sam Crouch, DPS, investigated the accident.

Louis R. Beasley, 29, and Timothy M. Swaney, 22, of Sonora were pronounced dead at the scene by a Sutton County Justice of the Peace, after the 1977 Corvette sports car they were driving ran under a flatbed truck Thursday night just over the Sutton county line on Interstate 10.

The flat bed truck had run into the rear of a truck loaded with cotton, causing it to jack-knife and block one lane and part of another lane on I-10. The truck wreck was reported to the DPS here at 10:25 and the sports car crash came shortly after. Witnesses on the scene said the truck lights were on and all attempts to stop the car by people at the scene, failed. An Ozona man, attempting to aid the truck driver, was slightly injured when he heard the car and jumped off the side of the road when he realized a crash was imminent.

The two men were killed instantly. The bodies were taken to Kerbow Funeral Home in Sonora. Local firemen and law enforcement officials assisted with the wreck, but Trooper Charlie De La Rosa of Sonora was investigating officer.

Appearing on the ballot with Bunger will be former educator and local rancher Henry Sellers, and Jeffrey Sutton, another rancher. All residents will cast ballots at the law library in the courthouse. The polls will open at 7:00 a.m. and close at 7:00 p.m.

'HAPPY GROWTH DAY'

By Edwin Feulner

There's no three-day weekend to commemorate National "Growth Day," and you can't buy "Happy Growth Day" cards to send to your friends and relatives. But that doesn't mean "Growth Day" isn't very, very important. "Growth Day" — April 15 — was inaugurated in 1980 by a grass-roots coalition of academics and public-interest groups, to celebrate the accomplishments of the American free-enterprise system. The founding members of the National Coalition for Growth — of which I am one — believed that both the government and the media needed to be reminded that more people had found freedom and economic opportunity under our system than in any other place or time in history.

The double blessing of liberty and prosperity has been made possible throughout American history because of this nation's reliance on a free-market system.

When thousands of immigrants poured into this country in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, they were provided for, not by income redistribution or social welfare programs, but by the vast opportunities to advance through work and saving. No matter how far down the economic ladder our grandfathers and great-grandfathers may have started out, they knew that there were no limits on how high they could climb by their own efforts.

In our lifetime, however, it has become popular to praise "limits" — "limits to growth," in particular. Those who advocate limits say that the era of opportunity is over, that we've run out of resources, and that it's time to think about replacing expansion with redistribution.

There are a lot of flaws in the arguments of the "limits to growth" zealots, but let me mention the two biggest. First, when they argue that we're out of resources, they are engaging in "static analysis." That is, they are assuming that we won't develop new technologies, new energy sources, and new methods of food production, that are undreamed of today. To argue as they do is to ignore history, especially recent history; because while there may be limits to, say, our oil supplies, there are no limits to human ingenuity. It's much more likely that our scientists and inventors will continue to grapple with and solve the problems of resources and energy than that they won't.

The second crack in the "limits to growth" philosophy is that it ignores human nature. Redistribution works well only in very special circumstances — in a besieged city, for example, or in a religious order. The ordinary human being has to feel he's working toward a brighter future, for himself and for his children. George Gilder argues in his brilliant best-seller, Wealth and Poverty, that capitalism itself is founded on altruism: men work to support their loved ones. They also work because they hope tomorrow will be better. To slap limits on growth, to throw up barriers to opportunity, is to drown that hope.

"Growth Day" celebrates the fact that in America there is still something to look forward to. But that brighter tomorrow is in danger of being snowed under by government restrictions on expansion and opportunity. The new administration seems to be trying to get us back on the right track with growth-oriented policies: government spending reductions, tax cuts, deregulation.

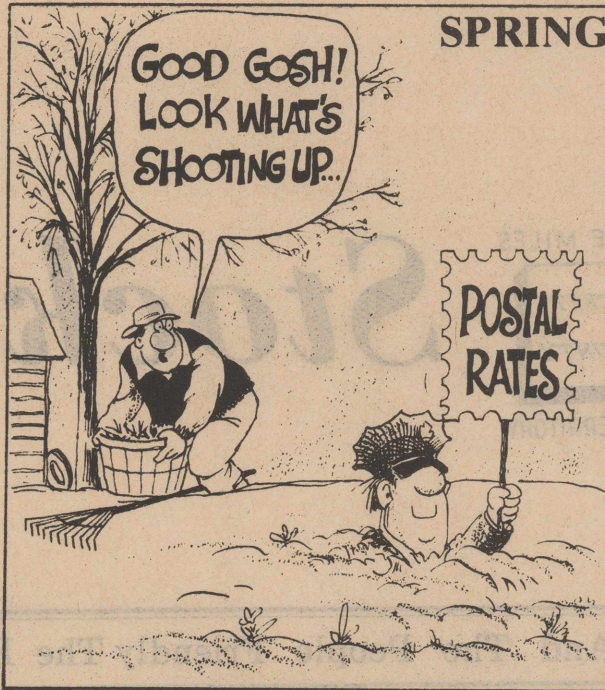

If it follows through, the freedom and opportunity those policies will provide to all Americans will be an accomplishment worthy of celebration.

By focusing our attention on the future on April 15, perhaps we can deaden the pain many of us will feel when we write our checks to the Internal Revenue Service to pay for the mistakes of the past.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—If anyone asks you "whats up?" in the Texas Legislature, you can answer "the interest rate ceiling!"

Last week the House ended its first real floor fight by voting 81-to-54 to allow lenders to charge higher interests on several types of loans, with an omnibus ceiling of 24 percent.

The bill's sponsor, Bill Messer, D-Belton, was at the front microphone for two days, fighting off over 50 amendments aimed at killing or weakening his bill. Opponents managed to lower the ceiling from 30 percent to 24 percent.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it doubtless will receive more heated action.

Legislators who voted for the controversial bill by and large explained their position as unpleasant but necessary because of federal policy slowing down availability of money. The measure is needed to keep lending money from drying up in this state.

Comptroller Bill

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill giving Comptroller Bob Bullock new authority to examine the financial records of any state agency or local government that receives federal funds.

While opponents feared it would allow the comptroller to usurp the state auditor's role in auditing agencies, the bill's sponsor, Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, said chief fiscal officers in most other states already have the power Bullock would receive.

McKnight had to bring the bill up twice in one day to get it passed, failing by one vote the first try. A vote change by Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, put it over the top the second go-around.

Bills Signed

Governor Bill Clements signed two bills into law last week.

One new law makes it harder for persons who are fired or quit their jobs to collect unemployment benefits.

The other prevents state employees from having union dues automatically deducted from their state paychecks.

Clements also urged the Legislature to prepare to cut state spending by $2.5 billion because of loss of federal funds under the Reagan Administration.

Legislators, for their part, chose not to respond to Clements prompting, instead keeping their noses to the business at hand. A group of three suggested Clements was up to his old trick trying to look good by talking about cutting spending. "We're working day and night to cut the budget and we don't need him prancing into the limelight," said one.

Bullock later commented he saw no need to reduce the state revenue estimate's "just because the governor thinks it's a good idea. I'm not going to be panicked into a wholesale revision on the basis of some rumor floating around Washington."

The political jousting will doubtless continue.

Rape, Ethics, Insurance

In other action last week, the House toughened laws dealing with aggravated rape, legislative ethics and mandatory auto insurance.

Under current law, a person must be threatened by death or serious harm, be seriously injured or kidnapped before her attacker can be charged with aggravated rape. The new definition includes placing the victim in fear of death as grounds for an aggravated rape charge and stiffer penalties.

The House also approved a bill creating a 15-member committee to study the state's ethics laws. The panel will issue ethics guidelines and make recommendations to the 1983 Legislature.

Motorists will be required to carry automobile liability insurance or face heavy fine under a bill tentatively approved by the House. The bill was sponsored by Rep. David London, who told the House his wife was killed two years ago by a driver who had no liability insurance.

Redistricting

The U.S. Census Bureau delivered the new population figures to the Legislature a week early, giving the members a few extra days to beat the June 1 deadline.

If the Legislature does not pass a redistricting bill before it adjourns June 1, the task is handed over to a redistricting board composed of the Comptroller, the Attorney General, the Lt. Governor, the Speaker of the House, and the Land Commissioner.

Ejected Twice

Two months ago Rep. Anita Hill was ejected from Austin's prestigious Citadel Club which had a male-only lunch policy. Legislators subsequently voted to boycott establishments which excluded any lawmaker.

Last week, Rep. Hill thought she was getting the same treatment again, only this time she was being ejected from the Senate chamber. She had walked onto the Senate floor to confer with Sen. Oscar Mauzy about a bill they were co-sponsoring.

The Senate Sgt.-at-Arms failed to recognize her and attempted to enforce a rule forbidding non-legislators on the floor.

When informed just who he was trying to expel, the sergeant turned red and apologized amidst a roar of laughter. "This just isn't your session," he told Mrs. Hill. "They won't let you stay anywhere."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to ask your help with passing House Concurrent Resolution #53 to make the armadillo the official mammal of Texas. Our school has been working hard to get other students writing letters to other legislators in Austin. We have a lot of schools helping but not many from your area. And we would like for children in every county of Texas to be a part of this campaign.

If teachers or children will write to Armadillo '81, Oak Creek Elementary Schools, 3975 Gladeridge, Houston, Texas 77068, we will write and tell them how they can help.

you and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I work seven days a week for a local newspaper. I was told that at the end of 40 hours if I didn't finish working to punch out anyway and continue working. I'm putting in about 20 extra hours every four months, but I don't get a dime for overtime. Isn't this illegal? Shouldn't I be paid extra for the overtime?

A: The Fair Labor Standards Act provides that when an employee works more than 40 hours a week, the additional hours must be considered overtime. Therefore, if you are covered by this Act, these additional hours must be compensated at a rate not less than one and a half times your regular hourly rate.

Q: My husband worked for a company here in Texas during January. He never received his pay for the two weeks he worked. We called the Labor Board but they wouldn't tell us anything. How can we get this money that is owed him?

A: If you have not done so already, you should contact the personnel office and determine why your husband has not been paid. If the company does not agree to pay, or gives an unsatisfactory reason you may institute a lawsuit to collect his wages. You may be able to bring the suit yourself in Small Claims Court where the company is located. The clerk will be able to tell you whether the amount of salary owed falls within the jurisdictional limits of that court.

Q: Does the law require that I put a fence around the pool? If I do put a fence around the pool and someone climbs over it and is injured in the pool, who is liable?

A: No federal or state law requires that a swimming pool constructed in a private backyard be fenced. Local city and county laws and building codes should be consulted, however, as they might require fencing and other safety measures.

If you build a sturdy fence around the pool, tall enough so that the pool is hidden from view by passersby, you should generally be protected from liability if a trespasser climbs the fence and is injured in the pool. Different considerations might apply, however, if the pool is open to public view, is easily accessible by children, or if uninvited people have access to and frequently use the pool and you are aware of such use.

Q: Since we moved into our home some three years ago, the city-owned airport has altered the flight pattern so that jet airliners are constantly flying at low level, right over our house. Is there anything we can do to stop this dreadful noise?

A: The Texas Constitution provides that "no person's property shall be taken, damaged, destroyed or applied to public use without adequate compensation being made," and it is possible that the city could be forced to pay for "damages" caused by the aircraft noise. People have also maintained nuisance suits against governments or airlines based on high noise levels. However, any of these possibilities is uncertain, and may be expensive to pursue. Noise levels and noise pollution have been the subject of recent federal and local regulation, and experts in these areas should be consulted.

Q: How many years is an estate open to challenge a will that has been admitted to probate?

A: Generally, a will contest must be instituted within two years after the date the will was admitted to probate. However, a lawsuit to cancel a will for forgery or fraud may be brought within two years after the discovery of the forgery or fraud and without relation to the time of probate of the will. Additionally, a person who was a minor or incompetent at the time of probate may contest the will within two years after removal of his disability, if he can show a legitimate interest in the estate.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the wild March winds, April is a favorite and one to enjoy the results of autumn planning and planting, though there is no let up of garden chores.

I'm sure you have noticed how very full and beautiful the crab apple trees have been in many yards. These trees grow fast and bear fruit that makes wonderful jelly.

With a late Easter this year it may not be safe to plant tender bedding plants, but if you do, be prepared to protect them if a late freeze is in the forecast. The cold of last week did very little damage if any.

This month is the best time to fertilize your lawn. You perhaps have your own favorite kind to use. If not it has been recommended to be sure and use one containing nitrogen and phosphate (5-10-5) - (10-5-0) or (10-10-5) it is also time to fertilize roses to stimulate new growth and extend the flowering period. Use a package rose fertilizer available at many dealers and nurseries.

April is a very critical month for spraying and keeping insects under control. Watch your roses for mildew, aphids and black spot. All purpose insecticides are very good preventatives, so use after rains.

Wait until the soil is warmer to plant caladiums, usually after Easter. They should be planted 4 to 6 inches deep depending on size of bulb. If planted too shallow, the wind may whip them up out of the soil. They are one of the most popular and attractive plants for shady or partial shady areas. Also they do well if planted in pots to be moved where color is needed.

Perennials should be divided and planted this month to get a root system established before the summer heat - examples - cannas, oxales, mums, daisies, hardy asters and others.

April-Above-ground crops: 6, 7, 10, 11, 17, 18.
Root Crops: 2, 3, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30.

Mrs. Sutton also announced that the Palmer Drug Abuse Program will present their drug awareness program for the junior high age kids sometime this spring. Mrs. Sutton was also told that because of the PDAP that League sponsored this fall for the high school students, there are three Ozona youths that are currently enrolled in the PDAP program in Midland, Texas.

Mrs. Paula Bailey set the Cystic Fibrosis Drive for May 2, 1981. More will be presented on this as the time approaches. The committee working with Mrs. Scott included Mrs. Childress, Mrs. Deaton, Mrs. Bennie Gail Hunnicutt, Mrs. Cathy Car-

A fireplace cleaning "blueprint" isn't really necessary for the job, but this one might help:

First, spread a plastic dropcloth or newspapers around the hearth to prevent damage to floor or carpeting.

Remove chunks of logs and ashes that have accumulated. Use a wide spatula or scraper to dislodge sooty deposits from the fireplaces walls.

And while you're down on your hands and knees, it's a good time to take flashlight in hand and check out the condition of the chimney itself. Heavy accumulations of soot and creosote in the flue can cause smoking by restricting the upward movement of gases--and it can result in fires.

Make it a practice to clean the chimney regularly--once a year if the fireplace gets frequent use. Clean it twice a year if you build a fire every day.

For cleaning brick and masonry fireplaces there are commercial cleaning products designed to do these jobs. They are made to safely remove grime, grease, smoke, soot and discoloration.

Instructions may differ with each manufacturer, so follow directions carefully if you choose one of the commercial cleaners.

In cleaning any vertical (up-and-down direction) surface, clean from the bottom upward to prevent streaking. Clean large areas by working with a small section at a time. Do not let cleaning solutions remain on tile, chrome, copper or brass surfaces, since discoloration may occur.

Another method of cleaning the fireplace attacks the problem "from scratch" and does a nice job with homemade products.

Here's how it works: Start by scrubbing the surfaces of brick or stone fireplaces with thick suds of detergent and water applied with a stiff bristle (non-metal) brush.

After rinsing and drying, check for remaining traces of the stain.

If additional cleaning is required, wash the surface with a solution of one gallon of warm water containing one cup of trisodium phosphate and 1/4 cup wash detergent. Trisodium phosphate is available from paint and hardware stores and do-it-yourself outlets.

Work the sudsy solution into the brick, stone and masonry surfaces with a stiff bristle brush for five to 10 minutes. Rinse well.

Wear rubber gloves and protective clothing, since the trisodium phosphate can cause skin irritation.

Take fireplace tools and screens outside and sweep or vacuum them before washing

Pecan grafting workshop

A pecan grafting workshop will be held on Friday, April 10, at 2:00 p.m. at 304 Ave. E. Dr. Autin Stockton, Area Horticulturist with the Extension Service from Fort Stockton will instruct.

For further information call Billy Reager, County Extension Agent at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Avoid using abrasives such as powder or steel wool on brass, copper or chrome pieces--and don't use other types of cleaners or polishes on these items, either.

Many of those products can damage the clear, protective coating they may have to prevent tarnishing. Simply wash them with the detergent-water mix to keep the protective finish intact.

To clean heat-resistant glass doors on some fireplaces, do the job only when they're cool to the touch. Wash them with diluted household ammonia or a commercial window cleaner as you would any window.

Although this glass is stronger and much more heat-resistant than ordinary window glass, it is possible to break it through misuse, overheating or improper damper control.

Mrs. Sam Fowler spent part of the week and the weekend here last week with her sisters, Mrs. Pete North and Mrs. Joe Friend.

Ms. McBee named to committee

State Rep. Susan McBee (D) of Del Rio has been named to the membership of a national legislative committee by Speaker of the House Bill Clayton.

Clayton said he was appointing McBee to the Ethics, Elections and Reapportionment Committee of the Assembly on the Legislature of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) for a two year term.

The assembly provides a forum for consideration of issues internal to state legislatures and state government. In the coming year, the Ethics, Elections and Reapportionment Committee will continue its reapportionment work in addition to studying the issue of state legislative ethics, including financial disclosure, conflict of interest and laws regulating lobbyists. Presidential nomination and election procedures will also be a topic for committee discussion.

"This committee will explore issues within its expertise that it considers national in scope and important to state legislatures. Rep. McBee, as chairman of the House Calendar Committee, lends valuable experience to these endeavors," Clayton said.

Beautifully grained wood, which was once so rare that it was reserved for royalty, is available at popular prices in furniture for everyone. Come down at let us help you with your decorating needs at BROWN FURNITURE.

Yesterday and TODAY

You'd probably love to have a car like this to fool around with. But suppose you had to drive it day in and day out?

We Americans are used to having the latest, and we don't like to live with what seems out-of-date to us. For that reason, a good many of us don't go to church. We tell ourselves that church was great for Grandma and Grandpa, or maybe even for Mom and Dad, but it has no place for us in this jet age.

If we believe this . . . then it is we who are out-of-date! The Church today is a modern institution in touch with the world around it. It helps us cope with the problems of modern life, teaching us to change with a changing world. Let's catch up with the times. Let's attend church.

Extra Cash Means Extra Taxes: Tax Estimates Eliminate Surprises

Money - there never seems to be enough to go around, and whether it's to make ends meet, or just to live a little better, a lot of folks have found a lot of honest ways to come by extra cash. As with all good things, extra money has its price. The price is extra income tax, and the trick to paying extra taxes is to stay a jump ahead of them. If you don't, you may find that April holds a very unpleasant surprise for you in the form of an overwhelming income tax bill.

Wage earners who earn extra cash by taking a second job for regular wages usually can count on the tax withholding system to cover most of the additional income tax they'll owe. Some people, however, may find themselves in a higher tax bracket. They might want to increase their tax withholdings by giving either or both of their employers a revised Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate.

Millions of individuals, on the other hand, earn extra cash that is not subject to the convenience of our pay-as-you-go tax withholding system. These people need a different way to help themselves avoid surprises at tax time, and that way is to Estimate Taxes. Americans from all walks of life earn extra cash by selling plasticware, cosmetics, health care products, encyclopedias, and household products. Off-duty firemen often moonlight by doing handywork. Teachers might paint houses during the summer. Journalists free-lance. This list is endless, and the extra income is fully taxable, but not subject to tax withholding.

These people, and others like them (self-employed individuals, for example) who have gross income of more than $500 from which no tax is withheld, are often unaware, sometimes painfully so, about their obligations to pay estimated taxes.

What are estimated taxes, and who pays them? Estimated taxes, just as the name implies, are taxes based on what you expect your tax liability to be by the end of the year. You might think of them as a sort of self-imposed withholding system because you calculate the amount yourself, and pay in quarterly installments. The installment payments are necessary because the law requires that all income tax payments be made on a pay-as-you-go basis rather than in an annual lump sum. Moonlighters and self-

Applications available for cost-share

Applications for cost-share under the ACP Program are being taken on a continuing basis at the local ASCS office.

Producers planning to carry out a conservation practice in the near future need to go by the office and inquire for more information.

In order to be eligible for cost-share, the application must be filed and approved by the county committee before work is begun.

Also, the filing deadline for obtaining disaster loans has been extended to April 13. Loans are available to producers who experienced damage to farms and ranches as a result of drought.

employed individuals aren't the only ones who need to know about estimated taxes. Many retirees receive taxable pensions from which no tax is withheld. For example, you may own a nice portfolio of stock which pays regular dividends. Each year hundreds of people hit that once-in-a-lifetime state lottery or magazine sweepstakes prize. Thousands are clever enough to walk away from dozens of daily TV quiz shows with cash and merchandise ranging in value from a few dollars to five digit figures. Many vacationers are lucky enough to beat the odds at one of the nation's gambling resorts.

No matter where the money comes from, if it isn't taxed at the source before you get it, you may be obliged to make estimated tax payments. It's not a choice. It's the law.

The average employee who has tax withheld each pay period and a few additional dollars of income from a savings account - maybe even a $50 prize won in a lottery or at a bingo game - will not have to worry about estimated taxes.

But those taxpayers who receive substantial amounts of income from which no tax is withheld do need to be concerned. The rule of thumb is: Don't end up owing more than $100 at tax time or you could be penalized.

Although there are certain exceptions allowed by the law, failure to make sufficient estimated tax payments by persons obligated to do so may result in a penalty that cannot be waived for any reason. The penalty on unpaid estimated tax owed after January 31, 1980 is 12% a year.

The form for filing estimated taxes is Form 1040-ES, "Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals." With it comes a worksheet on which your estimate can be calculated. IRS Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax gives detailed information about the whys and wherefores of estimated taxes. Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, also contains a section on estimated taxes, as well as many other subjects related to individual income tax benefits and obligations.

Free tax publications and tax forms may be ordered by mail, using the order form that comes with your tax package each December. You can also order IRS materials by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory.

These examples of taxpayers who must pay estimated taxes are certainly not all-inclusive. If you have extra money coming in, whether from a regular source or through a one-time stroke of luck, check with the IRS or with your tax advisor about your possible obligation to estimate taxes.

That may take a little of the fun out of the extra money when you get it, but it will certainly help you avoid what could be a most unhappy surprise at tax time.

Is your fence decay resistant

Evidence of rotting fences can be found everywhere. Many homeowners must repair or replace privacy fences only a few years after construction, says a wood products specialist.

"Any homeowner can build a fence that will outlast his house, even in areas of high decay hazard, by following a few simple rules," contends Chuck Stayton with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "The same decay prevention principles applicable to homes also apply to wooden fences."

"Posts are more susceptible to decay than other fence parts because of direct contact with the soil," Stayton says. "Use either metal posts or wood posts that have been pressure treated with a preservative."

Normally, horizontal stringers are fastened to posts to provide a surface for attaching vertical fence boards, notes the specialist. Leave a space of one-eighth to one-fourth inch where ends of stringers meet to permit air circulation. This reduces water collection between ends of stringers, thus reducing the chance of decay. Wood used for stringers should be naturally decay-resistant heartwood or be pressure treated with a preservative.

"Vertical boards fastened to stringers should not touch the ground," Stayton warns. "This is the most serious mistake made. Ends of boards take moisture from the ground and can decay or be attacked by termites in a short time. Use either naturally resistant heartwood or pressure treated wood and elevate the boards about 2 inches above the ground. If boards are to be stained, use a penetrating stain containing a water repellent and preservative."

If the fence joins the house, inspect these areas periodically for termite entry, suggests Stayton. If the bottoms of fence boards are above ground, any termite tubes between the fence and house should be easily visible. Otherwise, digging under the boards is necessary for a thorough inspection. Termites can be controlled by chemical treatment of the soil.

"If boards and stringers are redwood or western red cedar, all fasteners should be made of hot-dipped galvanized metal to avoid discoloration of the wood," adds Stayton.

Our new name... a Commitment to you

We have been known as Pioneer Natural Gas Company in West Texas for many years... but often confused with many other "Pioneer" companies.

Now we are Energas... a simple, distinctive new name to quickly and easily identify our company and our tradition of supplying efficient gas energy.

Our name has changed, but our commitment to West Texas remains the same. Assured supply and reasonable rates consistent with prompt customer service continue to be around-the-clock responsibilities of the dedicated people who now call themselves Energas.

Over the past ten years, the domestic energy situation has changed significantly. Energy prices today reflect the increased competition for the available supply and the increased cost of finding and producing it.

Energas customers are partners in helping to solve our national energy problems. Wise use of energy is a consumer responsibility; exploration, production and efficient distribution are industry responsibilities.

The business of gas distribution is complex, but the Energas priority is simple... dependable supply and efficient service to 72 communities across a 50,000 square mile region.

Beef cattle short course coming up

The future in the cattle industry will be highlighted at the 1981 Beef Cattle Short Course at Texas A&M University April 6-7.

Among keynote speakers will be Bill Helming, with his daily radio program, "The Helming Report," and a wide range of agribusiness consulting contacts, and Orville Sweet, with the National Pork Producers Council. Both will bring to the program views of the total U.S. livestock industry and its future, points out Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cost and alternatives of producing calves in various areas of Texas also will be discussed, particularly as they relate to increasing the biological and economic efficiency of beef production.

Other topics will deal with club calf production, improving reproductive performance, cagey crossbreeding, Rumensin, sorghum silage for cattle, nutrition and management of stockers and replacement heifers, range nutrition, fire in brush control, sod seeding warm season pastures, clovers, Tifton 44, Callie and SS-16 Bermudagrasses, and pasture fertilizer use.

The Beef Cattle Short Course is a part of the Texas Animal Agriculture Conference which also will feature short courses for dairymen, swine producers and horse enthusiasts wanting the latest production and outlook information, notes Reager.

A trade show, published proceedings and an evening social will be other highlights of the annual conference.

The conference is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. More information on the various short courses is available from the county Extension office.

Errors delay refunds

Many of the errors that delay tax return processing, slow refund checks, and inconvenience taxpayers are avoidable, the Internal Revenue Service said.

In 1980, 7.1% of all Form 1040's and 6.2% of all Form 1040A's contained at least one taxpayer math error of some type. Errors ranged from incorrect addition and subtraction to failure to compute the Earned Income Credit when eligible.

The most common math error on both forms last year was incorrectly reporting the tax from the tax table. Problems resulted from taxpayers using the wrong tax table for their filing status, following the line for the wrong income level, and looking under the incorrect column for number of exemptions for that taxpayer.

Other common errors on tax returns are not using the peel-off label and instead writing incorrect or illegible social security numbers, only one signature on a joint return, failure to attach W-2's, "Wage and Tax Statements," and failure to attach supporting forms and schedules.

The IRS advises taxpayers to double-check their returns prior to sending them in. Accurate returns are processed more quickly and resulting refunds received sooner.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

As the week begins we find two tables of dominoe players in the dining room. At table one Paul Cavin was the winner over Evelyn Bryant, Maude Pettit and Louise McWilliams. Playing at table two were Blanche Fortune, Bertha Miller, Gertrude Daniels and the winner, Seferino Garcia. Looks like this was the day for the men.

Maude Pettit, Vera Miller, Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Frances Borrego and Nila Turnell all proved to be good artists this week in our crafts class. Easter, being the next holiday we decided to get busy making some decorations. Using the Leggs, egg-shaped containers, acrylic paint and a little imagination, we created some very pretty eggs. If anyone has any Leggs containers we sure could use some more. Our list of volunteers is growing for Tuesday crafts, helping this week were Grace Dorsey, Inge Nichols, Doris Hoffman and Hazel Storms. After we have made enough eggs we will begin to decorate the lobby.

Tuesday was such a beautiful spring day. I saw Tomasa Ramos and Brownie Harvick out walking around the grounds. We were in need of a little help with bingo so the aides, Martha Landin, Mary Flores and Elisa Talamantez came to our rescue. Alice Ross and Orphella Enriquez were here early to get the cards and chips ready.

There was a nice group of residents gathered in the lobby for the Wednesday afternoon movie, "Bernice Bobs Her Hair." It was a real cute movie about a little girl who gets her long hair cut short.

All the ladies look forward to Thursday mornings so they can get a shampoo and set. As I came in the front door and saw all the pretty hairdos and the smiling faces, I knew that Hazel Storms, Ruth Dorris, Maria Vitela, Inge Nichols and Doris Hoffman had been busy.

These ladies really do a beautiful job and have been so good to come week after week.

I would like to thank the Ozona Women's League for a very generous donation of $52.00 to our activity fund. It was very thoughtful of them to help us in this way. We use the money in the fund to purchase the various items needed to keep our bingo, crafts and other entertainment going. Thanks a lot ladies, the money will be put to good use. We also received a $5.00 donation from Jo Davidson which we appreciate very much.

I understand that Nila Turnell has a new way to drink coffee, with molasses in it. Somehow that doesn't sound too good to me, and Nila said she didn't really care that much for it either. Next time she is going to put the molasses on her pancakes.

A very special thanks goes to the men and Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post 3216 from Big Lake for a generous supply of hair spray, lotion and hair nets. These people have been so good to help us,

New window blind to save 75% of energy

A new window blind may save up to 75 percent of the energy required to heat a home during an average heating season, Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist, reports.

Development of a Reflective Insulating Blind (RIB) by researchers at Oak Ridge National Laboratory has the potential for converting direct sunlight into a plentiful and practical source of home heat, she adds.

Dr. Berry is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Researchers, working with support from the Department of Energy, say they believe the RIB could save up to 75 percent of the energy required during an average heating season.

The unit, mounted on the inside of a south-facing window just behind the window glass--and operating much like the traditional venetian blind, serves as a solar reflector and insulator, Dr. Berry says.

In other words, it brings heat into the home by acting as a solar reflector inward, and it stores that heat inside the home by acting as an insulator, the specialist explains.

Of the projected maximum savings, about two-thirds result from the space-heating effect of incoming sunlight. The other one-third is from reduced nighttime heat losses through large south-facing windows--the insulating part of the blind's job.

A RIB unit has 3½-inch slats which completely cover the window area.

On winter days, sunlight strikes the reflective surface of the curved slats, they divert it to the ceiling, and energy from the warmed ceiling surface radiates downward to heat the room.

In addition to the heating gain, ceiling illumination also reduces the need for artificial lighting, and RIB provides a less-obstructed outside visibility than conventional venetian blinds.

Curvature of RIB slats allows almost day-long solar-heat collection without frequent changes in their slant, too.

During winter nights, the slats in closed position form an insulating shutter which greatly decreases heat loss through the windows, Dr. Berry continues.

In the summertime, RIB slats will position to reflect sunlight to the outside--resulting in a cooler room and reduced air-conditioning loads.

Until recently, the value of "passive solar residential design"--particularly large south-facing windows to capture and make use of the sun's energy--had not been put to use because other forms of energy have been easy-to-get and low-cost, Dr. Berry explains.

Also, entry of sunlight through south-facing windows resulted in glare, fading and deterioration of textile furnishings and wood finishes--along with overheating.

Other problems were nighttime heat losses and increased cooling loads for air-conditioning during summer months.

NEW TECHNIQUE USES NITROGEN TO RECOVER OIL

Enhanced oil recovery techniques using pressurized nitrogen are being adopted in some of the nation's oil fields six years after they were first developed at Texas A&M University.

The nitrogen replaces more costly natural gas in the method, producing substantially the same amount of oil from oil fields as natural gas, said Dr. Paul Crawford, who participated in the pioneering research.

Make fruit treats by dipping orange sections, pineapple chunks, banana slices or other fruit pieces in yogurt.

VICA to state meet in Dallas

The Ozona VICA students, who participated in district competition about four weeks ago, will prepare to leave for Dallas, where the state meet will be held. Ozona will be represented by seven students. The students will be competing against other students from all over the state of Texas.

Frank Galvan will compete in auto electronics and also exhibit an engine. Johnny Rodriguez will be competing in auto analysis and he also will exhibit an engine.

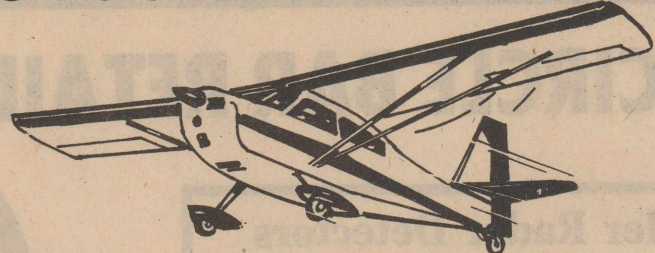

Among other students participating in the skills competition will be Joe Vasquez who will compete in wheel alignment. Robert Tambunga will exhibit a transmission. Competition will be held in the Convention Center at Dallas, April 2, 3, and 4.

Credit for political contributions

Taxpayers making contributions to a political candidate in 1980 may take up to $100 as a tax credit on their joint return. The credit is one-half of the amount contributed, up to the maximum of $50 on a single return or $100 on a joint return and may be claimed on either the Form 1040 or 1040A.

To qualify for the credit, the contributions must be made to (1) candidates for nomination or election to a federal, state or local office in a general, primary or special election, (2) a committee sponsoring such candidates, (3) national, state or local committees of a national political party.

Sports Fans
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By Jerry Lay
Sometimes a team of "nobodies" rises up and takes a special place in sports history. Such was the case with the basketball team from City College of New York in 1950. Not one player on that team made All-America and yet they completely dominated college basketball that year. They became the only team in history to win both the NCAA and NIT tournaments in the same season, and they did it without any stars.
****
Can you name the only athlete in history who played in the National Basketball Association and won a batting championship in major league baseball. Answer is Dick Groat, who was an All-America basketball player at Duke and played in the NBA in 1952 and 1953 with the Pistons. Then Groat turned to baseball and led the National League in batting with the Pirates in 1960.
****
Oddly enough, the New York Mets used 4 different catchers in the 1980 baseball season - and not one of them hit a home run all year. The Mets' catchers last season were John Stearns, Alex Trevino, Ron Hodges and Butch Benton and among them, they had no homers.
