Mitchell added, "I will appreciate everyone's consideration and vote at election time for a place I consider very important."

Jury finds Liveoak guilty

Leonard Liveoak, 32-year-old oil company consultant, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a Sanderson jury Friday, in the shooting death of B. B. (Buddy) Ingham, Jr. September 23, 1981. The jury also set the sentence at four years in the Texas Department of Corrections. Liveoak remains free on bond at this time.

Liveoak was indicted for murder by a 63rd District grand jury following Ingham's death from gunshot wounds the night of September 23. The shooting occurred at Ingham's ranch home in Terrell county, but Ingham died in Crockett County Hospital later the same night.

Trial date was set for February 1, 1982. After two days of motions by the prosecution and defense, a jury was selected and the trial began Wednesday, Feb. 3, at 1:00 p.m.

Cable television for Ozona enters 28th year

Twenty-seven years ago last week, Ozonans were able for the first time to view passable television pictures in their homes. Rather, for a few days before that they had been able to view such pictures on a television set in a crude tent stretched on the hill at the site of the television tower in the W.E. Friend pasture.

There the newly organized Ozona Television System, formed by a group of Ozona businessmen to provide cable television to Ozona homes, set up to show a sample of reception promised on the cable lines. Ozonans were invited and dozens came every night, to watch television in the tent. It was on February 9, 1955, less than a year after the disastrous flood that almost destroyed Ozona, taking 16 lives, destroying over 100 homes and damaging 300 more, that the first cable television connection was made in Ozona. It was at the Ratliff Furniture Store, now Brown's, where television sets were on sale for the first time in Ozona.

Organizers of the local undertaking, an infant venture in an infant industry, waited anxiously for a response from the viewing public, having spent several thousands of dollars in erecting a 400-foot tower to receive television signals, plus all the preliminary technical testing that was necessary to determine if cable television were to be practical in the city and the installation of cable lines, antennas atop the tower and amplifiers in the tower and along cable lines as they were hung.

The response was not overwhelming and the organizers were destined to wait nearly a year before enough subscribers had signed up to reach a break-even point in operational costs. Meanwhile, technical advances were being made, new methods of receipt and distribution of signals were introduced and the Ozona system, under the capable management of Oscar Kost, one of the original organizers, was expanded and improved with each new development in equipment and technique until today's system, twenty-seven years later, is one of the most complete and sophisticated in the country.

The antennas on the tower originally brought barely acceptable television signals from the station in San Angelo, Midland and San Antonio. When the Ozona system later was incorporated as the Southwest Microwave Service, the cable system becoming a subsidiary of the corporate parent, microwave stations were installed at Big Lake, where a tower had been erected jointly by the Ozona group and Big Lake promoters, to bring signal by microwave to the

Everett enters scramble

Jody Everett, a 14-year-old 4-H member from Ozona, will participate in the calf scramble at the 1982 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Jody, son of Joe Everett, will "scramble" during the February 27 evening performance in the Astrodome. Not only will Jody have the opportunity to catch a calf, but he also will be a part of the Saturday entertainment package that includes the best rodeo contestants in the world and stars The Oak Ridge Boys as the featured entertainment.

Always a favorite with rodeo audiences, the calf scramble begins as an athletic event in the rodeo arena. However, for the contestants who manage to catch a calf, halter it and drag it across a finish line, the scrambling is only the start of a year-long educational experience.

Each winner in the calf scramble receives a $400 calf purchase certificate which enables the winner to purchase a purebred, registered heifer that he or she agrees to feed, fit, groom and return to the Houston Livestock Show for special show ring competition the following year.

Lee's objective is to contribute to the educational progress of our young people. Lee also feels that there is nothing more important than a quality education. He would appreciate your vote and support in the 1982 school board election April 3.

Delgado receives TA award

Felice Delgado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herculano Delgado, has been selected to receive a Texas Achievement Award at the University of Texas at Austin. As a recipient of this award, Felice will receive a minimum of $1500 per year for up to five years of undergraduate education.

Felice was awarded this scholarship on the basis of her college entrance exam scores, her scores on the basic achievement tests, and her academic achievements during her four years at Ozona High School.

Felice plans to attend the University of Texas at Austin in the fall where she will major in business administration with a specialization in accounting.

Local youths off to Houston Show

Thirty-seven members from Crockett County will be participating in the 1982 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, February 20-March 7. With more than 29,000 expected livestock entries, the Golden Anniversary Houston Show will once again be the largest livestock show in the world.

Ozona youngsters participating in the livestock show are Lance Keilers, Jerri Lynn Martinez, Will Mason, Sharon McCrohan, Shawna Newton, Victor Newton, Julie Reagor, Tamie Reagor, Vickie Reagor, Terel Seahorn, Will Seahorn, Andy Stokes, John Tom Stokes, Cody Sutton, Carl Vandiver and Trebie West.

Others participating are Bobbie Acton, Marty Acton, Jena Allen, Haley Anderson, Tammy Arrott, Dan Bean, Sue Ellen Black, Parish Braden, Bonnie Cameron, Katy Cameron, Ira Childress, Michelle Couch, Mike Couch, Capp Covington, Terry Crawford, Tressa Crawford, Jody Everett, Keith Fowler, Amy Jones, Todd Jones and Karen Keilers.

"The 1982 Show offers spectators a unique opportunity to see some of the finest livestock ever and it's all gathered under one roof," said Assistant General Manager Don Jobs, Jr.

The Houston Show also provides an opportunity for exhibitors to participate in some of the toughest of showing competition after a year's worth of preparation for their animals. This year's show once again promises to be profitable for them, as open show and junior exhibitors will vie for more than a half a million dollars in prize monies and premium auction prices above market value.

Houston, the fastest growing city in the nation, brings western heritage to life when it once again hosts this two week extravaganza. Livestock show dates are February 20-March 7, and rodeo dates are February 24-March 7.

The largest civic event in the history of the nation's fourth largest city inspires local business people and residents to take to horseback and add buckboard, or at least wear western hats and boots, all in the Old West spirit of "Going Texan."

The annual rodeo parade will fall on the first Saturday of the show this year, which will be February 20, at 10:00 a.m. This event draws more than 6,000 trailriders journeying as far as 386 miles to downtown Houston where they meet with city officials, bands and spectators to lead the parade.

Open competition for the livestock show begins February 22. Professional breeders and ranch owners from some 35 states will bring in the best in breeding stock to compete in breeding beef, dairy, swine, poultry, sheep, Angora goat and rabbit shows.

As the Houston Show is a showcase of the livestock industry, cattlemen from Europe, Mexico and Central and South America travel to the open show to view the best in stock. Last year, more than 500 international visitors from 29 countries registered with show officials and the 1982 International Days, February 22-27, should draw an even larger crowd.

The 4.3 acre Abercrombie Arena, adjacent to the livestock exposition building (Astrohall), provides the setting for all horse show activities. With 3,000 horses entered in the nine shows,

4-Hers exhibit at show

Thirty-seven Crockett County 4-H members exhibited 93 lambs and 5 steers last week at the San Antonio Livestock Show. These youths were accompanied by their parents, leaders, Pancho McMullan and County Extension Agent Billy Reagor. The competition in the show was tough. A total of 2800 lambs were entered in the show. This is the largest lamb show in the country.

Even though the youths were exhibiting top quality livestock, they didn't do well in the show. Most of the lambs weren't what the judge was looking for in frame size and finish.

Four youths did manage to place lambs in the show. Jena Allen owned the Champion Crossbred lamb "on foot" in the carcass show. She also placed ninth, twenty-second and twenty-fifth with her other lambs. Bobbie Acton placed thirteenth and Marty Acton twenty-third with their lambs. Jody Everett placed his fin-wool lamb twenty-second.

Thirty of these youths will be exhibiting their lambs at the Houston show the first week in March. They saved their best lambs for Houston so they are expecting bigger and better things.

MR. MEESE AND THE VIPERS

By Edwin Feulner

On Pennsylvania Avenue, where members of the White House press corps congregate after hours to sip and gossip, he's disparagingly nicknamed "President Meese."

The man they are talking about is former University of San Diego law professor Edwin Meese, III, Counselor to the President, and the man Ronald Reagan has turned to over the years for advice and counsel when the going gets tough.

To say that the pundits are uneasy about the relationship between Mr. Meese and the president, and the sway Mr. Meese has over White House personnel and policy, is an understatement to say the least.

If it doesn't hound them in their sleep, it certainly must haunt them during their waking hours. Thus, taking potshots at Meese has become a way of life.

This phenomenon can be better understood when one considers the relationship between the presidency and the press. To dismiss it as an "adversary" relationship, I think, does it injustice. In fact, it's a classic case of jealousy: one group makes its living chasing power, and another group makes its living exercising power. The crunch comes when you realize, as a recent Public Opinion magazine study showed, that the people chasing power, members of the Fourth Estate, feel they could do a better job of running the country than those who were elected or appointed - as in the case of Mr. Meese.

Hamilton Jordan, Mr. Meese's predecessor in the sensitive next-to-the-top White House slot, felt the same sting. Yet, Mr. Jordan, one might argue, often invited the attacks, working as he did for a holier-than-thou, born-again moralist, yet exhibiting all of the maturity, at times, of a sailor in Singapore.

Mr. Meese's major sin, as near as I can tell, is that he does his job too darn well - especially for those in the press who get their jollies watching the big boys stumble badly, and fall on their ever-too-human tushes.

Clearly, Ed Meese isn't perfect. He's had his share of missteps, but much to the dismay of his detractors, he's managed to stay on his feet.

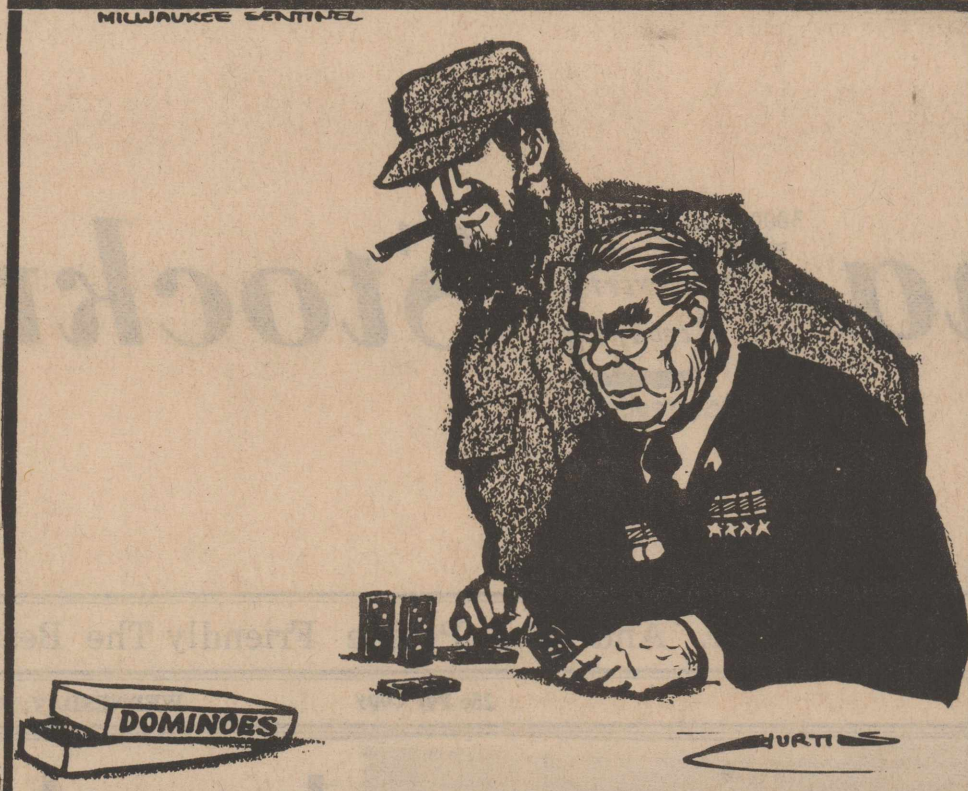

For all of their apparent sophistication, Mr. Meese and the Reagan White House handled the Richard Allen affair poorly. Their rebuke of the Polish and Soviet governments, following the imposition of martial law, was mushy. Their refusal to make good on their promises to the Republic of China (Taiwan), our long-time ally, was inexcusable (perhaps they have forgotten the 1980 Republican Party platform?). And their handling of several other policy decisions - Social Security, the AWACS sale, the decision on tax exemptions for allegedly segregated schools - was amateurish at best.

Yet, this administration has rolled up an incredible list of accomplishments, and in one year has managed to untangle much of the damaging mess that 45 years of liberal policymaking had created.

And Mr. Meese played a major role in the effort - helping to keep together the budget and tax cut programs when political warfare threatened to split them asunder, keeping the factions within the White House reasonably in tune with the conservative trumpet . . . always by the President's side and ready to remind the rest of the troops what the Reagan Revolution is all about.

For this we owe Mr. Meese, the man next-to-the-top, a debt of thanks. The nation is well-served by his steady presence. We can only hope his sway over policy will continue, and that the boys and girls in the press corps will have more reason than ever to snipe between the sips.

you and the LAW PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I babysit in my home. Am I liable for any injuries a child might suffer while in my care?

A: Generally speaking, a child is not responsible for its conduct. Therefore, if a child was injured while in your custody, you may be liable under general rules of negligence, whether or not the child caused the accident.

In addition, you will be expected to observe a higher standard of care because you babysit for pay. You will want to discuss liability protection with your insurer if you have decided to be paid for child care.

Q: I have noticed in a number of national advertisements that liquor companies promote cash giveaways and sweepstakes. However, the small print says the contest is not legal in Texas. Why is that?

A: Such giveaways and sweepstakes are illegal under a section of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Code. This provision specifies that no manufacturer or distributor of alcoholic products may offer prizes or gifts to any dealer or consumer of these products.

Q: Sixteen years ago, I married a woman with a 2 1/2 year old daughter from a previous marriage. I adopted the daughter. Now she has moved out of my house after bringing shame upon my family. Is there any way I can force her to take back the name of her real father?

A: The adoption established a parent-child relationship just as if the child had been born to you. Since your adopted daughter is now an adult, you cannot terminate your parental relationship. Also, there is no provision in Texas law to "force" an adult to change her name. Only she may apply for this change. The only response still left open to you is possibly a provision in your Will, expressing your displeasure by revoking her inheritance.

Q: About a year ago, I hired a lawyer to represent me in a legal matter. She never returns my calls and her secretary is very vague about any work her boss might be doing on my case. What can I do about this?

A: Under the Rules Governing Attorneys in the State of Texas, you might terminate the relationship between you and your lawyer. One way to do this is to send a termination letter by certified mail, setting out that the attorney's services are no longer desired, and that you request an itemized statement for the services rendered to date. Further, if the attorney is holding any documents concerning your case, you are entitled to their return.

Q: I am a federal employee. I was hired several months ago to supervise a particular division with the understanding that I would remain as supervisor as long as I stayed with the division. This has not happened; a woman has been hired and made my direct supervisor. I feel I have been used and I wonder if I have any grounds for a lawsuit.

A: Assuming you have no written contract of employment that designates you as the only supervisor of a specific department, you have no absolute right to supervise that particular employee group. The structure of any department is subject to change as long as the jobs available are filled based upon neutral considerations, that is, regardless of race, sex, creed, or religion. The mere fact that a woman was hired as your supervisor does not give you grounds to sue.

Q: In a child custody order where the child lives with the mother, who has the right to decide on what weekends and in what summer month the father will have the child for visitation? In other words, does the parent who has custody decide everything regarding visitation?

A: You may bring a Motion to Modify in the Court where the divorce was granted. At the hearing, both parents can testify, and the Court will enter a new Order to specify weekends, summers, and holiday visitation. Often filing the Motion will encourage the parties to negotiate through their attorneys, so that a modified Order can be entered and a contested hearing avoided. Remember that the Decree in your divorce spells out custody, visitation, and support, and it may have to be modified as the child grows older.

Q: I am a widowed grandmother trying to raise my orphaned grandchildren. We are poor and just barely getting by. My grandchildren have a rather substantial trust fund that they will receive when they reach adulthood, but that's not helping us right now. I have been told that I can't even get the interest from the trust fund. Is this true?

A: The answer is in the trust instrument, the document that set up the fund. If the terms of the trust prohibit payment of interest, income or principal until the children reach a stated age, it will be very difficult to use the money before the termination date.

Trusts are privately created according to the wishes of the trustor - the person who put the money in trust. State law does not determine when the children can use the money. You should ask an attorney to review the trust document for you to see whether any money can be used to help you support the children.

Q: Last year I gave birth to a son. I was not married and put the child up for adoption. Now I have married the father of the child. We both want our son back. What can we do?

A: If the child has not yet been officially adopted, you have the right to withdraw your consent to adoption. You will then want to ask your lawyer to complete the birth registration procedures to insure that you and your husband are both named as parents on the birth certificate.

You have a much harder task if the child has been formally adopted. You should consult an attorney to see whether any grounds at all exist for setting aside the adoption, but as you probably suspect, the Court will be most reluctant to re-open a final adoption.

Q: Weren't you incorrect when you earlier said that it is the custom to dismiss a ticket for driving without a license, if the license is later presented?

A: Yes, because it is not only the custom, but it is the law. A 1976 Opinion by the State Attorney General concluded, and we quote, "the presentation of a valid driver's license in Court is an absolute defense to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without having the license in one's immediate possession."

Q: In Texas does a conviction for driving while intoxicated prevent one from being accepted to law school?

A: Each law school admissions committee determines what questions to ask on its application, and each committee can decide what weight to give a D.W.I. conviction.

The Supreme Court of Texas regulates admission to the Bar. A detailed questionnaire and investigation must be passed, as well as the formal test, before a lawyer can be licensed to practice. The D.W.I. conviction may very well prevent admission to the profession.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Lack of W-2 no excuse for failure to file

Persons who have not received their Forms W-2, "Wage and Tax Statements," from their employers must still file their tax returns by April 15, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

To avoid delay in receiving the W-2, persons should furnish their employers with a current address. If employees did not receive the statement, they should first contact their employer. After February 15, the employee should ask for help by calling the IRS office listed in the telephone directory.

The IRS reminds taxpayers that they must have a W-2 form from every employer they worked for during the year. Even if an employee is unable to get a W-2 before the filing deadline of April 15, a timely return must be filed. Report all income and attach a signed and dated statement explaining the tax computations for the missing wage and tax information, the IRS says.

It's a fact...For the want of a will, the estate is lost? Not for those hundreds of Texans attending estate planning workshops and seminars conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System. Besides learning about the value of a properly written will, participants learn how to plan their estates to reduce taxes and to make use of local professional assistance in this planning process. Don't Skip Breakfast!!

In an effort to loose weight many people think of skipping meals—often breakfast. Don't—Breakfast is an important start for the day. Many dieters may skip breakfast because of the idea that breakfast is a high calorie meal or that breakfast foods are boring. Neither need be true.

A good breakfast should provide approximately 1/4 of the daily calorie intake. If you don't enjoy the traditional breakfast foods, change the foods. A cup of hot soup may be a good alternative. A peanut butter sandwich (2 tablespoons peanut butter and 2 slices whole wheat bread) will "cost" approximately 300 calories; yet provide good quality protein and a satisfying choice. A grilled cheese sandwich (1/4 ounce cheese slice and 2 slices of bread) "costs" approximately 200 calories.

There are ways to enjoy a different breakfast without adding too many calories. Don't skip, plan—and enjoy a good breakfast.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

The 4-H sewing projects are about to get underway. Any adult that would like to assist a small group of 4-H members in sewing should give me a call.

Farmers and ranchers will be pleased to see fall shirts containing larger amounts of cotton this year. Studies show that consumers are willing to pay more for higher percentage of cotton blends.

Keep the spring trends in mind when you add to your spring wardrobe. One of spring's favorite themes is nautical. Middy tops, sailor colors, red, white, and blue striped boatneck tops will be paired with pleated skirts. Blouson shaped tops will be popular with flared skirts.

Shorts and pants will be seen in a variety of lengths. Skirts will have tiers and flounces with ruffled petticoats showing. The length, again is your option (four inches above the knee to midi).

Natural fibers in all weights are still going strong—silk, cotton, and linen. Some of the old favorites like seersucker, poplin, and duck are popular. Colors range from brights like lemon and white to darks like ruby red and cinnamon. Pastels and naturals are also good. Loafers and low heels with braided leather, are the newest look. Knee socks are returning as well as light colored hose. Belts are a large accessory item.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

- 6-8 medium potatoes
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 tablespoon onion juice
- 1 cup croutons
- 1 small jar Cheez Whiz
- 1 green pepper, diced
- 2 tablespoons dry minced onions
- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter

Boil potatoes in skin as you would for potato salad. Cook until done. Put all ingredients for sauce in pan and cook on low until Cheez Whiz is melted. Slice potatoes and put in casserole. Cover with a layer of sauce, another layer of potatoes, and end with the remaining sauce. Place butter in a small pan. Melt butter and coat croutons. Place buttered croutons on layered potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until bubbly. This dish may be prepared several days in advance (all except croutons) and refrigerated until baking. Add croutons on the day of baking.

RICE CASSEROLE

- 1 can Campbell's consommé
- 1 stick butter or margarine, melted
- 1 cup rice
- 1 can Campbell's French Onion Soup
- 1 can (small) mushrooms,

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since our severe weather has lasted so long and has caused the flowering shrubs and bulbs to be late blooming, why not try to design an exciting foliage arrangement for your home. They are long lasting and don't conform to a stiff formality. It sets a style of its own, in line, form, color, and texture of living plants.

Before you begin to combine the plant material, identify the qualities that make a plant unique. Does it have a certain form, or a unexpected color, or a curiously textural leaf or a handsome line that will create a sense of flow within the composition? It's the interplay of mass and line and of color, form and texture that gives a foliage arrangement its grace and vitality.

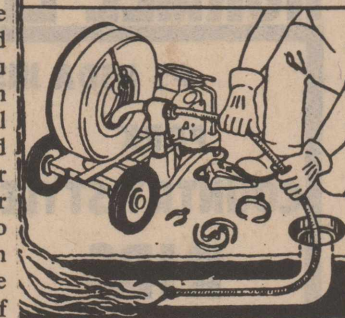

Before you start collecting your material, you will need to give some thought to where the arrangement will be placed and how it will be seen. Too, that will determine the size and the size determines the quality and character of the material you use. Also it needs to be in keeping with the general feeling of the design and with the character of your room. Also the container needs to be heavy enough to keep the arrangement from tipping over and large enough to hold a supply of water for several days. When all these have been determined, the most important thing to keep in mind is naturalism. To help you select the plants you need for a specific effect, refer to the lists below and there may be others in your garden.

Accent plant material cluster mahonia, aucuba fatsia, loquat and yellow edge California privet.

red twig and flowering dog wood, winged elm, euonymus, pussy willow, crepe myrtle, corkscrew willow. Evergreen line material horsetail-showy jasmine, thorny elaeagnus, willow leaf cotoneaster and Japanese yew.

Multi-purpose material nandina, long leaf pine, luster leaf holly, southern magnolia, virginia and white pine and variegated pittosporum. Mass plant material boxwood, burford holly, common camellia, photinia, Japanese pittosporum, scotch pine and sweet olive.

Calling All Homemakers

Brought To You By Brown Furniture

For the student in school--or for the man of the house who needs a place to work at home--or for the lady of the house who wants an attractive work area, we can offer furniture and ideas.

Aside from the desk you want, we can assist you in coordinating bookcases, and such other things as a hutch top, and other chests and cabinets, a lamp, a mirror, accessories for the wall and the desk chair.

And when it comes to the right desk, there's a wide choice in corner desks and other desks to capture a mood, and fill the need and the space properly.

Desks, of course, don't have to look like refugees from the office, and your new desk can be decorator-oriented to the room and to the person who will be using it.

And remember it's not only the desk, but the room--mates for that desk--that is the other pieces surrounding the desk--that can be correlated, whether it's one extra piece you're adding or a whole room full.

For a good selection, and helpful ideas, stop in and look around. You're always welcome.

It was bruises, lacerations and a sprained ankle the first time Dale and Fred went skiing. They were going to learn this sport together—and they did. For they brought to it excitement, courage and a commitment to sharing all of life's adventures.

It's been a couple of years since Fred and Dale were married in the college chapel. Now they've settled here in our town and we see them in church every week. No doubt when they start to raise a family we'll be seeing the youngsters in Sunday School, too.

Dale and Fred seem to have a very simple but profound philosophy of life: They're on the slopes together—sharing each other's love—and God's.

The Scientists Tell Me . . . Technology Can Aid Hard-Pressed Cattle Industry

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Rapid acceptance and use of much of the technology developed in recent decades can help to revitalize our cattle industry, according to Dr. Charles Long, animal scientist at Texas A&M University.

Cattle production is especially hard-pressed at present, Long says, because of high or rising prices for nearly everything bought, while selling prices for beef cattle are often relatively low.

Increased productivity and efficiency are frequently the determining factors for a difference between profit and loss, according to Long, whose research specialty is animal breeding and production systems.

Higher output at lower cost at every step between conception and the consumer's plate is vital, Long contends, for economic recovery of the cattle industry.

Beef cattle production divides naturally into two phases, the cow-calf phase, in which reproduction or increasing numbers is of primary importance, and the growth and fattening phase, in which weight production or increase in the goal. Decisions in one production phase have implications in the other and should consider overall production goals and markets.

Several technological developments in reproductive physiology, nutrition, breeding and genetics, meat science and other areas of animal science, when more fully implemented, will improve efficiency in beef cattle herds.

While a broad array of technological advances are available, decisions concerning which to use depends on the producer's individual situation with respect to available resources (land, labor, capital, etc.), as well as production objectives and limitations.

Research in reproductive physiology has yielded several useful procedures.

Pregnancy diagnosis by rectal palpation has provided producers with a method of identifying barren cows shortly after a breeding season to permit sale prior to wintering or some other high-cost period.

Breeding soundness evaluation, including semen evaluation and physical examination of potential breeding bulls, has expanded to include clude considerations such as testing level of libido or breeding interest.

Artificial insemination, while used to a large degree in purebred herds, has not caught on in commercial beef production as quickly as expected, probably because of increased labor and training requirements.

Estrous synchronization, which causes all or most cows in a herd to exhibit breeding receptivity in a short period of time, is fast becoming routine, provided cows are receiving adequate nutrition.

Labor reduction and other considerations make estrous synchronization an integral part of successful artificial insemination and embryo transfer programs. This technique has had wide application in purebred herds but only slight use in commercial production to date.

Embryo transfer refers to the technique of collecting fertilized eggs from a superovulated donor cow and placing these embryos into recipient cows for gestation, parturition and rearing.

Freezing and storage of embryos for subsequent placement in a recipient cow is presently possible; conception rates must be improved in order for frozen embryos to be routinely used in commercial herds, Long says. These and other techniques, including sex determination and induced calving, are being fine-tuned and improved by scientists.

The various reproduction-related techniques are somewhat, but not completely, interdependent with respect to successful utilization. Long says improvements in one may enhance the utility of another.

The technological developments in nutrition over the past several decades have been important.

Recent and ongoing developments include growth regulators and modifiers of nutrient metabolism, including anabolic agents, ionophores, growth hormone and other compounds which enhance efficiency of nutrient use in cattle and offer promise of improvement in productivity.

Large commercial feedlots, developed at locations near grain supplies, have radically affected beef production in the U.S.

Large, constant and consistent supplies of slaughter cattle fostered the construction of new packing plants equipped according to newly-developed technology, including assembly-line slaughter and breaking, as well as other techniques.

However, changing grain-to-cattle price ratios, transportation costs, and other factors may result in modifications of feeding practices.

Feeding bulls for slaughter has possibilities. Though the "typical" slaughter animal has been a steer, it has been known for a long time that bulls exhibit higher-gain-per unit feed and produce leaner carcasses at similar weights.

Many of the problems associated with feeding bulls are becoming less critical and the practice may well be on the increase.

Forage utilization is one area of beef cattle nutrition where even small gains in efficiency are of widespread importance, Long says.

"Forage-finished" beef has been of increasing interest because of rising production costs, though there is widespread disagreement across a range of related topics including what constitutes "forage-finished" beef.

While beef from cattle consuming only forage will not likely make up a large portion of U.S. beef supplies in the near future, falling cattle/grain price ratios will probably cause increased use of forage and by-product roughages, with cattle subsequently fed grain for shorter fattening periods.

"If land resources allocated to beef cattle production are not increased, a production system based on decreased use of grain will yield less meat per cow and per acre," Long says.

"Available technology related to reproduction and nutrition, applied in conjunction with advancements in other areas of animal science, may significantly improve productivity."

"Good management, fitting decisions to the individual resource base, is a primary consideration in properly utilizing the technology," Long concludes.

Methodists to explain doctrine

A series of 3 meetings will be held to explain the origin and major doctrinal emphasis of the Methodist Church. Informative in purpose, these meetings are open to any person who wants to know more of Methodism.

Rev. Larry Bailey will conduct the classes, which will convene Wednesdays, at 7 p.m., beginning Feb. 24. For more information, call 2-3060 or 2-2032.

Energy Saving tips on Electric Heating.

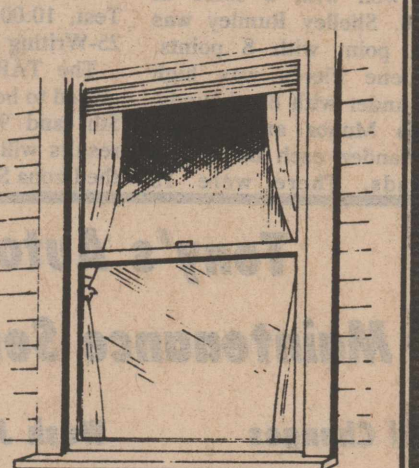

Check your thermostat setting. Recommended temperature setting for winter heating is 68°. Remember, the lower you set the thermostat in the winter the lower your energy cost.

Have your heating system checked regularly! Proper servicing is good preventive maintenance.

Keep filters clean. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions, if it's disposable, replace when dirty.

Use the warmth of the sunshine! On sunny days open the drapes. The sun shining through the glass will supply additional heat at no cost.

Have your home properly insulated! Adequate home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use... can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.

Remember, Reddy Supplies the Energy, only you can use it wisely!

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL RESULTS

By-Wendy Hood

The seventh grade Cubettes finished the 1981-82 basketball year last weekend. The Cubettes defeated Menard 27-16. High point was Vicki Flores with 10 pts. Alma Gutierrez led all rebounders with 10 rebounds and Diana Sanchez had 5 steals. The Cubettes played Eldorado in the second round and lost 15-23; Vicki Reagor and Alma Gutierrez both had 6 points. Alma was high rebounder with 8 and Diana Sanchez had 8 steals. The Cubettes finished the year 3-11 and received one trophy at the Boys Ranch Tournament. The girls received the Sportsmanship Trophy. Coach Sessom says, "I felt like the Cubettes had a good season even though they didn't have many wins. They lost several close games, but had a very good learning experience. With a lot of hard work this spring and summer the seventh graders have a good future in their basketball careers."

The seventh grade boys basketball team played in the district tournament. In the first game the boys beat Menard 32-20, but, in the second game, Eldorado beat the boys by 2 pts. with a score of 15-13. Coach Hanson says the boys have come a long way in their first year of basketball. They have shown a lot of improvement with every game and ended up playing some good basketball.

GET OUT THE RACKETS

By-Mel Spiller

It is time for tennis again and the tennis teams are getting ready for another year. This year there are two new coaches for the tennis team. Miss Debbie Deaton will coach Varsity and Junior Varsity; and Miss Jeannine Perry will coach the junior high teams.

The first dual meet is in Eldorado on February 22. There will be a tournament March 5 and 6 in Sonora. There are 20 students trying out for the team this year, and Coach Deaton is looking for all of them to do well.

WE'LL MISS YOU GUYS!

By-Stacy Chapman

On behalf of the Ozona High School, we would like to say goodbye to two of the people on the staff. Coach Sessom has resigned and has accepted a job with Anderson Petroleum. Mrs. Smith is leaving to move to San Angelo. Her husband was transferred and she has already gotten a job with San Angelo National Bank. We have enjoyed having Coach Sessom and Mrs. Smith and wish them the best of luck with their new jobs.

FIRST TIME EVER

By-Vicky Vargas

The eighth grade girls now hold the district championship title, along with the eighth grade boys. The girls had an excellent season with eighteen wins and three losses. Besides the district championship, the Cubettes won the Sonora, and Iraan tournaments, and placed second at the Big Lake tournament.

The girls played Menard and won with a score of 41-16. Shelley Rumley was high point with 8 points. Raedene Flores was high rebounder with 8 rebounds. Zeldia Munoz and Martha Hernandez each had 7 rebounds. There were 15 assists in the game. Coach Kemp felt that this game was "One of the best games the girls played."

The second game in the tournament was played against Eldorado. Eldorado lost to Ozona with a score of 24-13. Donna Sanchez was high point with 7 points, she also made 4 steals. Olga DeHoyos followed with 6 points and 9 rebounds. Vanessa Miller made 8 rebounds and 3 assists. All the girls played really well.

The championship game was played against Big Lake. Ozona won the game with a close score of 38-33. Vanessa Miller was high point, and high rebounder with 9 points and 6 rebounds. Donna Sanchez and Raedene Flores each made 8 points. Coach Kemp said, "The girls played really well; they had an excellent season."

CUBS WIN DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

By-Vicky Vargas

The eighth grade Cubs are now district champions after a recent win at the Ozona district tournament held February 4, 5, 8, and 9. The Cubs finished the season with a great record of sixteen wins and only three losses.

The Cubs played Menard for their first game. Ozona won with a score of 59-41. Steve Sanchez was high point with 18 points. Steve was also high rebounder with 13 rebounds. David Lovell made 12 points. Blas Vargas made 6 points, and Chuy Hernandez had 8 rebounds. Everyone in the team scored and played really well. Menard played a good game; they scored more points against the Cubs than most of the other teams.

The Cubs won the second game against Eldorado with a score of 41-23. David Lovell was high point with 10 points. This was the only game of the season where Steve Sanchez was not high point. The game was slow paced, unlike most games the Cubs played.

Ozona played Eldorado for the district championship. Eldorado lost to Ozona with a score of 47-34. The Cubs had excellent shooting, they shot 51% of their baskets from field distance, and 75% from the foul line. Steve Sanchez again played an outstanding game. He was high point with 23 points. The entire team played really well. "I've never coached a group of kids who loved the game and wanted to play as much as this team," said Coach Payne.

Fruit good when sweet tooth hits

Placed before you are an apple and a piece of your favorite cake, perhaps German chocolate. You must choose.

Your conscience begins its usual arguments against selecting the cake. But your hand, paying no attention, reaches for a fork. Soon after, the cake is history.

The Texas Medical Association says it would have been healthier to satisfy your sweet tooth with the apple. Fruits have a higher density of nutrients, meaning they have more nutrients per calorie than, say, that piece of German chocolate cake.

Each time you eat fruit rather than a dessert, not only is there greater nutrition per calorie, but there generally are fewer calories. For instance, a half cup of apple-sauce has 40 calories. An equivalent slice of cake has 350 calories.

In addition, sugar found naturally in fruit is in a more usable form than refined white sugar, which is too concentrated for the body to handle effectively. Fruit also contains abundant vitamins and minerals, including trace minerals that the body needs in small amounts but commonly are not available in vitamin preparations.

And fruits provide the body with the bulk necessary to function properly. When fresh fruit is not available, frozen fruit without added sugar provides nutrients equivalent to that of fresh produce. Canned fruit also is a nutritious dessert, although it loses some nutrients through the chemical process to preserve it.

Finally, most experts agree that people would be healthier if they cut back on consumption of refined sugar.

DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Sunday services, conducted by Rev. Larry Bailey of the United Methodist Church had an added feature when the second and third grade Sunday School class presented a Biblical skit. The group played individual parts and sang three songs. Players were: Haley Carson, Courtney Childress, Nicole Drake, Tami Reagor, and Jenny Colin. Sarah Hignight played the piano for the group. They were directed by their teacher Ann McCartney and helped by parent Susie Childress.

Tuesday and Friday bingo was won by Bertha Miller. She won a gift certificate from The Teacher Store. Second place was won by Frances Borrego. Tomasa Ramos won the dinner for two at El Chato's.

Dominoes were played by Paul Cavin, Ola Mills, Louise McWilliams, Nila Turnell, Maude Pettit, Bertha Miller, and Seferino Garcia.

Ola Mills and Maude Pettit worked on ceramics off and on all week. Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Gertrude Daniels and Ola Mills made Valentines and a Valentine box for all the residents.

Dorothy Doll brought our Wednesday morning reading our faithful beauty shop workers fixed hair on Thursday and the Faith Lutheran Church group brought our Bible study Thursday afternoon.

This was also the Tuesday that we celebrated all birthdays of the month. This was an extra special time because those celebrating were men, both ninety years of age or over. In fact, Paul Cavin is our oldest resident at 96. Hilario Cortez was 90. (Hilario had another big celebration that you will hear about next week.) This party, sponsored monthly by the Ladies Auxiliary, was brought by Liz Mary Pipes and Doris Karr. Our cake was donated by Polly Eppler and flowers for the gentlemen were donated by Maxine's Flowers.

Another fine donation this week came from The Teacher Store. We thank them for a large number of ladies' hose. They will be put to good use.

We had lots of Valentines, Valentine candy, and flowers given to residents this week. It is good to know we have so many who still care!

Myrtle Post Garden Club meets at Center

The Myrtle Post Garden Club held its first meeting of the year at the Civic Center Tuesday evening with Mrs. Grace Williams and Mrs. T. R. Conner serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Williams, the vice-president, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. H. O. Aylor who is a member of the Senisa Garden Club of San Angelo. Mrs. Aylor brought the program on "Beauty in All Plants." She demonstrated and explained the construction, planting and caring for hanging baskets. She also gave soil mixtures for various types of plants.

During the business meeting a special report was given by Mrs. Conner on the Arbor Day project. The club members will participate in planting a live oak tree at the Ozona Community Center.

Mrs. Sutton gave a report on the progress of the bumper stickers for the Litter Control project.

The project for this month will be a gift to the district and state scholarship fund and a gift to the state endowment fund.

The president, Mrs. Lee Graves, named the committee chairmen for other projects and gave them study material. She also briefed the club on its responsibilities for the District Convention which will be held in Ozona in the fall.

After the business meeting was adjourned a plant auction was held and year-books were presented.

One new member, Mrs. Polly Eppler was welcomed into the club.

Other members present were Mrs. Jack Brewer, Mrs. Pete Jacoby, Mrs. Scottie Houston, Ms. Myrtle Post, Mrs. Mike Vordick, Miss Leta Powell, Mrs. Jim Dudley, Mrs. Phillip Smith and Mrs. Hank Wellman.

Americans consume too much sodium

Most Americans are consuming too much sodium in the form of table salt, says Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist.

Studies show that Americans get anywhere from five to 20 times more sodium than we need, the specialist adds.

Some sodium is necessary for proper body functioning, of course. It helps maintain blood volume and the osmotic pressure, which is necessary for proper cell functioning. Sodium also has a part in transmitting nerve impulses.

On the other hand, too much sodium contributes to high blood pressure or hypertension in susceptible people, Sweeten says.

Why so much salt? We like the taste, for one thing, the specialist says.

However, more research is needed to determine the reason for that, she adds.

Sodium is, of course, in table salt which has 40 percent sodium and 60 percent chloride. One teaspoon of salt contains about 2,000 milligrams of sodium.

In addition, sodium is present in many foods, beverages and processed foods.

These include pickled products, condiments, sauces, salty snack-type foods, luncheon meats and canned soups.

Some household staples contain sodium, too—baking powder and baking soda, along with flavoring agents such as catsup, olives, pickles, garlic and onion products.

Also, processed meats and fish that are salted or brined have more sodium than un-cured ones, of course. And canned vegetables may have additional salt for flavoring.

At frozen food counters, most vegetables don't have extra salt, but starchy ones such as peas and corn may be salted in a brine before freezing. Frozen foods with sauces, mushrooms or nuts may have extra salt.

Most processed fruits don't have additional sodium, but some processed apples and tomatoes are treated with sodium hydroxide for easier peeling.

Bottled citrus drinks may have sodium citrate added to buffer the solution.

Even wine making "rubs shoulders" with sodium—a sodium exchange process is sometimes used in wine making to reduce the cloudy sediment and achieve a clear product.

Food additives contain sodium in some cases—sodium saccharine is used as a sweetener in some diet soft drinks, monosodium glutamate (MSG) is used as a flavor enhancer.

Finally, sodium is in drinking water. Generally, the harder the water, the greater the amount of sodium needed to soften it.

If, for your health's sake, you must cut down your salt, follow some simple suggestions, Sweeten advises:

Avoid using extra salt at the table, eat smaller amounts of foods containing large amounts of sodium, buy "plain" varieties of foods—so you can control the amount of sodium added or not added, read food labels and check the "nutrition information" part for sodium listed in milligrams and check the "ingredient list" to see if sodium is listed near the beginning—items listed first on a label are present in the largest amounts.

Carr Scholarship apps. being taken

Applications from high school seniors are being accepted by Angelo State University for more than 300 Carr Academic Scholarships which may amount from $2,400 to $12,000 during a four-year course of undergraduate study for students with financial need who have outstanding academic ability and leadership qualities.

The applications for 1982-83 scholarships may be requested by writing to the Carr Academic Scholarship Program, Office of the President, Angelo State University, Box 11007-C, ASU Station, San Angelo, Texas 76909, or by telephoning (915) 942-2103.

Students are encouraged to submit their applications as soon as possible although applications from outstanding students may be considered up until July 1, 1982 to the extent funds are still available.

Supported by a multi-million dollar trust established in 1978 by Mr. Robert G. Carr of San Angelo, the scholarships will range in value from $600-$3,000 per year for a maximum of four years for undergraduates, two years for graduate students.

In selecting recipients for Carr Academic Scholarships, priority will be given to students of high academic ability with financial need who have demonstrated special qualities warranting honor, respect, and esteem. Carr Academic Scholarships are awarded without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, or national origin.

Sports Fans

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

One of the most unusual sports events ever held took place in 1979 in Nampa, Idaho. A crowd of about 1,000 people plus bands and cheerleaders turned out for a basketball game that lasted exactly one second. The night before, a high school game had ended in a dispute over whether the clock was started properly in the last second of the game. The next day, officials ruled that the last second had to be re-played. So, players, spectators, bands and cheerleaders came back for that one-second replay. Even a radio station broadcast it. It had to be the shortest event in sports history. *****

Here's a tough question. Of the 15 players in big league baseball history who've collected 3,000 hits in their careers, how many have been switch-hitters? An answer it only one-Pete Rose. *****

Did you know that no major-college basketball team has been able to go through an entire season undefeated since the 1975-76 season. The last team to do it was Indiana University 6 years ago. *****
