Ozona gets April rain shower

A very cold, for the time of the year, front came through the area last week and left .7 of an inch of rain on Ozona, the first April shower this year.

Intermittent rain over a three-day period came to almost an inch in the official gauge at the Water District Office, but more rain was reported in the east and south parts of the county.

Skies have threatened all this week, but no further moisture had fallen Tuesday afternoon. The temperature was up to 74 after a low of 42.

Tot finder program is Saturday

The Ozona Fire Department will sponsor a "Tot Finder" program Saturday, May 1.

Decals and information will be given out by Boy Scout Troop 153, to parents with children under the age of 12 years.

If you have small children please come by the fire station between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. for help which could save your child's life in a fire or other emergency at your home.

4-H rifle teams at district

The Crockett County 4-H Rifle teams traveled to Kermit Saturday to the District 6 Rifle Contest according to Billy H. Reagor.

These youths were the top shooters in the county shoot-off held last week. Only two senior members, Jody Searcy and Jesse Fierro, completed the rifle program this year and they were coached by Frank White and Johnny Jones.

In Saturday's competition Jody was fifth high individual and Jesse was eighth high individual.

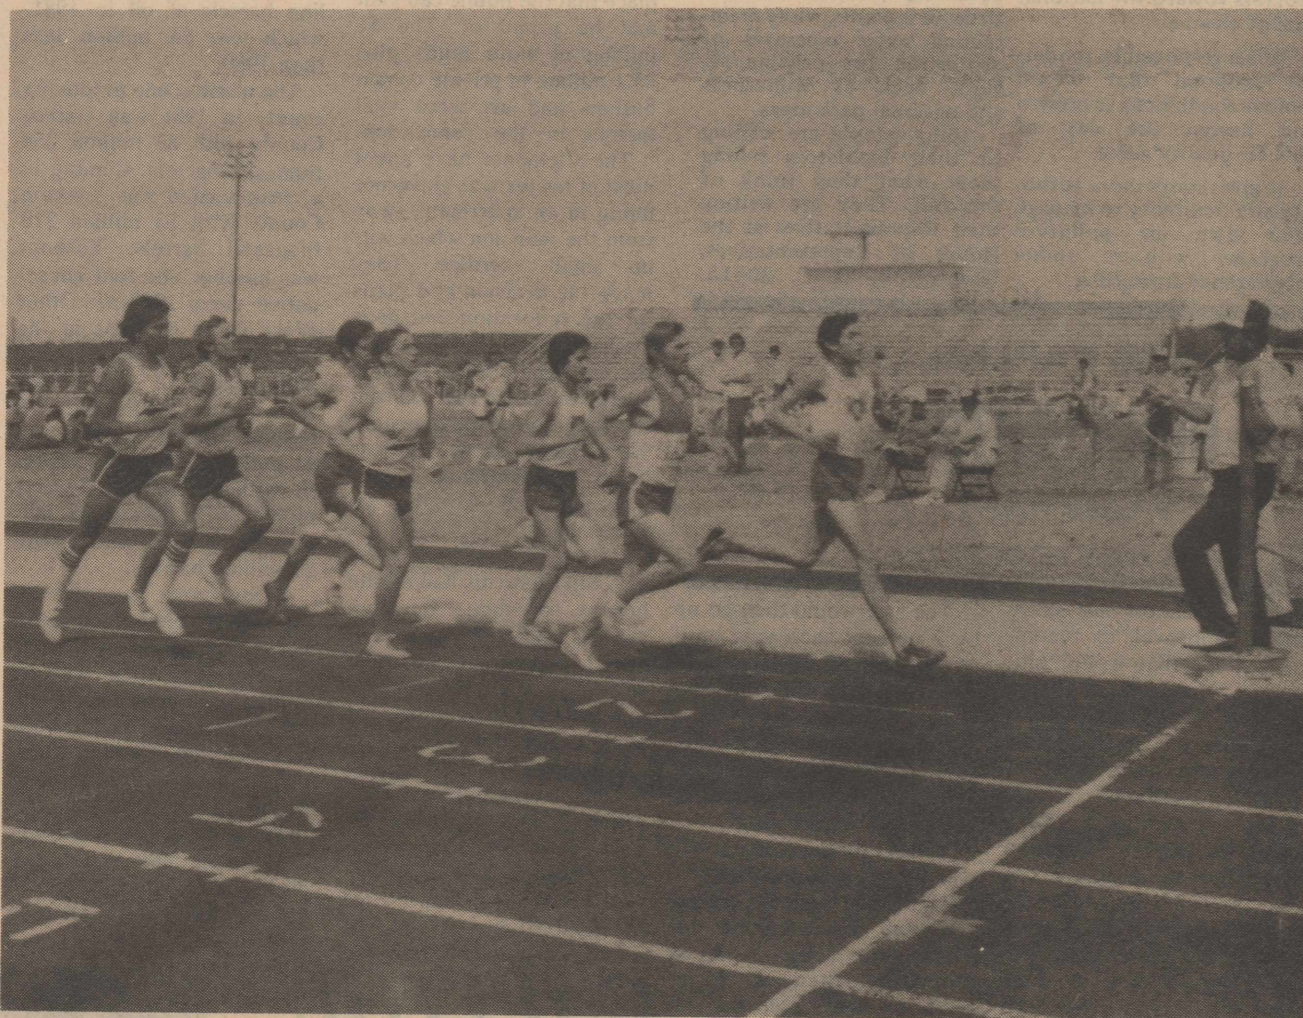

The junior team also shot well in the competition. It was composed of Will Seahorn, Carl Vandiver, Bradley Graves and John Williams. The team placed fourth with only a couple of points separating third and fourth places. Will Seahorn was sixth high individual and Carl Vandiver was ninth high individual. Larry Williams coached this team and took the teams to the district contest.

The senior group will continue to shoot this summer. Any interested club member should contact Billy H. Reagor or Frank White.

Slow-pitch tournament scheduled

The Ozona Men's Slow-Pitch Softball Association is sponsoring a slow-pitch softball tournament to be held May 7-9. Entry fee is set at $50 for the 16-team double-elimination tournament.

Any team interested should contact Frank Walton at 2-3621 during the day.

OZONA SPEEDSTER Richard Garza hits the finish line at the District 9AA track meet here Monday and gives the Lions a boost on their way to the championship. Garza has consistently won the 3200 meter run and the 1600 meter run in track meets this season and is a sure bet to go to the State meet in these events. The Lions qualified 10 members for the regional meet in Stephenville May 7-8.

Lions win District crown despite delay of meet

A four-day delay in the District 9-AA track meet failed to dim the chances of the host Lions, and they literally ran away with the meet, outscoring their nearest opponent by 95 points.

The meet was originally scheduled for Thursday, but rains postponed the meet after four field events were completed. The meet was run off Monday with beautiful weather to help the Lions to score 185 points for the championship and qualify 10 individuals and two relay teams for the regional meet in Stephenville May 7-8. The meet completed the Lions' second straight undefeated season and places them in a good position for the championship. All first and second places qualify for regional.

Menard came in second in the meet with 90 points scored. Eldorado and Reagan County tied for third with 68 points each. Junction was fifth with 51 points, Wall sixth with 27 points and Mason seventh with 25 points scored.

Regional qualifiers include Larry Payne, 440 relay, 400 dash, and long jump; Mark Vallejo, 110-m. hurdles, 300 IH, 1600 relay; Marcelo Hernandez, 800 dash and 1600 relay; Richard Garza, 3200 run and 1600 run; Felix Flores, 400 relay; David Badillo, 400 relay; Robert Flores, 400 relay and 100 dash; Greg Fierro, 1600 relay; Harvey Huereca, discus, and Terry Crawford in the 1600 meter run.

Complete results for the Lions are as follows.

Richard Garza, first in the 3200 meter run and the 1600 meter run, with times of 10:25.8 and 4:48.27 respectively.

Lionel Munoz, third, 3200 meter run, 10:54.45. 400 meter relay team of Felix Flores, Larry Payne, David Badillo and Robert Flores, first, 43.45. 1600 meter relay team, Larry Payne, Mark Vallejo, Marcelo Hernandez, and Greg Fierro, first with a record setting 3:24.54.

Larry Payne won the 400-meter dash with a time of 50.18 and was second in the long jump with 20'4".

David Badillo, fifth in the 400 meter dash and third in the pole vault. Robert Flores, second in the 100 meter dash and fourth in the 200 meter dash.

Mark Vallejo, first in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, with a record time of 38.74, second in the high hurdles and third in the long jump.

School run-off is today

The polls opened today for the run-off election for a spot on the school board between Terry Lee and Robert Flores. The two were forced into a run-off earlier this month when they tied for the spot with the same number of votes.

Absentee voting closed Friday at the school administration office with a total of 98 votes being cast, indicating a good turnout for the election today.

All votes are being cast at the courthouse. Those who have not cast ballots in the election may do so until 7 p.m. today at the courthouse.

Primary election coming up Sat.

Ninety-four absentee ballots had been cast at 3:00 p.m. Tuesday in the Democratic Primary which will be held Saturday, May 1 throughout the state.

Ozona voters will vote in their respective precincts. Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Precinct 1 residents will vote at the courthouse; Precinct 2 at the junior high building, Precinct 3, at the Civic Center and Precinct 4, at the Ozona Primary school.

There are only two contested races locally. In Precinct 2, Pleas Childress III is challenging incumbent county commissioner B. W. Stuart; and in Precinct 4, Matt Guitierrez is opposing incumbent commissioner Jesus Castro.

There will be a full slate of candidates for the Democratic Primary, most of which will face Republican opposition in the general election in November. There will be no Republican Primary.

Lloyd Bentsen, incumbent U.S. Senator, is opposed in the primary by Joe Sullivan, San Antonio educator, who has run unsuccessfully for State Representative several times in this district. The winner will face the winner of the Republican primary, U.S. Representative Jim Collins is thought to be the front runner for the Republicans. He has opposition from Don Richardson, Houston businessman, and from State Senator Walter Mengden of Houston.

For U. S. Representative, Dist. 21, Charles S. Stough is unopposed on the Democratic ballot, but will face strong incumbent Republican Tom Loeffler in November.

Six candidates are vying for the Democratic spot for governor, which seems to indicate a possible run-off election in June. The winner will face Governor Bill Clements in the general election. Clements has very little opposition in the Republican primary, in the person of Lowell Embs, unemployed.

For Lieutenant Governor, Bill Hobby, the incumbent, has opposition in the Democratic Primary from Troy Skates of Austin. The winner will face George W. Strake, Jr. in November.

The attorney general's race is wide open, as Mark White gave it up to run for governor. Four aspirants will vie for the Democratic nomination. The winner will face Republican Bill Meier in November.

Bob Bullock, incumbent comptroller of Public Accounts, has opposition from Robert Calvert. The winner will also face Republican opposition in November.

A hot race for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer has developed since the incumbent Warren G. Harding was indicted for official misconduct. He is opposed by Ann Richards, Lane Denton and John R. Cutright.

Reagan V. Brown faces opposition in the person of Jim Hightower in his bid for another term as Commissioner of Agriculture. This office also has drawn Republican opposition.

Pete Snelson who resigned as State Senator, 25th District, has three opponents for the Commissioner of General Land Office. They are Garry Mauro, the most formidable of the three, George Fore and Dan Kubiak.

Men fined in lamb death here

Four men were fined $1,000 each, given a year's probated sentence, ordered to pay $68 each for court costs and a $15 monthly probation fee and restitution for the animal, in court here last week.

After consulting with complaining witness, George Bunker, District Attorney Bill Mason and County Attorney Tom Cameron took pleas of Guilty from Osvaldo Deluna, Lopez V. Silva, Donacion R. Sosa and Hernandez DeHoyos.

The action came about due to theft of livestock which occurred on or about the 11th day of December, 1981, in Crockett County about 5 p.m., when Pleas Childress, Jr., reported he had met four subjects in a pickup truck with Texas license place HX 2566 and they appeared to have blood on their clothing. When Childress asked the men about the blood, they said they had just killed a rattlesnake.

Childress went on down the road and found the hide and head of a sheep that had recently been killed. He then contacted the Department of Public Safety and Game Warden, Raymond Davee, and gave a description of the vehicle.

As this vehicle had been seen before traveling along the back roads in Crockett County, adjoining counties were notified. Shortly thereafter, Deputy Don Kirk of the Pecos County Sheriff's Office advised that he had the vehicle in custody. Childress was taken to the scene by law enforcement officers and identified the four as being the men he had seen earlier. The four were arrested and charged with Theft and Trespass and transferred to the jurisdiction of Crockett County.

Both Mason and Cameron emphasized that the theft committed by the four defendants was punishable by a maximum fine of $5,000 and 10 years in the State Penitentiary at Huntsville, but a $4,000 fine in the aggregate, plus restitution was sufficient since there was only one animal involved. Both attorneys further advised all area ranchmen to report all instances where there are unexplained losses of livestock or other ranch assets.

BLUEBONNETS PEEK THROUGH A BED OF PEACE roses to give a spectacular effect in this flower bed at the home of Mrs. Viola Stanton. The crop of roses was abundant throughout Ozona, and no doubt contributed to many beautiful horticulture specimens at the annual Garden Club flower show Thursday. The rain failed to fade the blossoms and they were even more profuse after almost an inch of slow-falling rain.

MAKING LOVEY-DOVEY ON THE POTOMAC

By Edwin Feulner

Dear Reader:

If you like the United Nations, you're going to love the proposed United States Academy of Peace, a new goody two-shoes boondoggle that would have you believe a few courses in international hugging and kissing will turn even Yasser Arafat into a gentle little pussycat.

Now that you know where I stand (Let's just say I'm skeptical!), let me fill you in on the details.

Democratic Senators Edward M. Kennedy (MA), Patrick Leahy (VT), Howard Metzenbaum (OH), Paul Sarbanes (MD), Republican Lowell Weicker (CT), and more than 40 other Jane Fondas of the Senate have proposed that the United States government establish a United States Academy of Peace "as a visible symbol of the Nation's constant and historical purpose of promoting peace among nations."

The academy, they argue, will help re-establish the prominence of United States leadership in international peace and "will provide the nation with a balanced and cost-effective institution that will make the field of learning accessible and useful to scholars, analysts, policymakers, and decision makers in international affairs, conflicts, and war."

Though backers of the academy, in their official fact sheet, say that programs at the academy will be "at the graduate and postgraduate levels, although the academy may support undergraduate peace studies curricula in existing institutions," the same fact sheet, quoting generously from the Bible ("Nation shall not lift sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." Isaiah 2:4), also suggests a role for the academy in "early education" and says "The academy will serve persons from all sectors of American life."

Now I may not know everything, but I know that there aren't very many schoolchildren and blue-collar workers who are candidates for Ph.Ds in peace studies.

In other words, after you get past all of the sentimental and naive goo-goo, what Senator Kennedy and his colleagues have in mind is another elitist Washington institution that will provide jobs for out-of-work pacifists, Harvard lecturers, ex-Hippies, and others who believe (in their own words) that we have "neglected" peace-making knowledge and skills to the detriment of the nation's effectiveness."

Now don't take me wrong.

I have two small children and am no war monger. It's just that I'm skeptical about pouring an estimated $66 million over the next four years into a so-called 'peace learning' program that to this jaded soul sounds like nothing more than an expensive and glorified ground encounter session.

THE ISSUE OF ECONOMIC POLLUTION

Where do you stand on the idea of reforming the Clean Air Act to eliminate much of the unnecessary red tape and costly delay involved? Your representatives in Washington want to know.

Congress has been debating the Clean Air Act for almost a year. The Act was scheduled for Congressional reauthorization by September 30, 1981. The deadline came and went. Without action, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) continues to carry out the law as is.

Over 200 witnesses representing a variety of interests such as National Governors' Association, unions, state air pollution control officials and representatives of the business community testified in the House and Senate hearings on the Act last year. Much of the testimony reflects consensus on one point: the need for streamlining and simplification of the Act.

Congressmen on both sides of the aisle are supporting a bill to reform the Clean Air Act introduced by Congressman Thomas A.

We may soon see a healthier economy—and healthier air—if a bill to reform the Clean Air Act is passed.

Lukin (D-Ohio). That bill provides Congress with a reform vehicle for vital reform of the Clean Air Act early in the year. It is a common-sense proposal that will streamline and simplify the complex, confusing Act while maintaining steady progress toward the national goal of clean air.

It is a responsible, moderate proposal that should remove roadblocks to growth and hasten the day of new air quality gains.

It gives states more authority and flexibility to manage their own air pollution programs without undue interference from EPA.

It allows states "reasonable and appropriate" extensions of time to achieve national air quality standards so long as progress toward attainment is achieved. It eliminates much of the unnecessary red tape and costly delay involved in obtaining permits to construct new plants, while maintaining extra measures of protection for pristine regions such as wilderness and national park areas.

Many people are writing to their legislators telling them what they think of this bill. They are writing their Representatives at the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Lawmakers who are seeking re-election this year may find themselves spending a lot of time this summer in activities other than campaigning because Gov. Bill Clements is considering calling a special session to resolve the state property tax issue.

The Legislature virtually eliminated the state ad valorem tax in 1979 when it reduced the assessment rate to 0.001 percent.

However, Midwestern University—one of several institutions that received construction funds from that tax—has sued to have the tax restored.

The suit is scheduled to be heard in June and many observers say Midwestern has a good chance of winning.

So Clements may call a special session to have legislators deal with the issue before the Midwestern suit is heard.

A constitutional amendment is required to repeal the tax, and such an amendment, if approved by lawmakers, would have to be approved by voters in November. The Legislature could include provisions to forgive back taxes owed since 1979.

Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton are to meet soon to discuss the special session idea. Hobby already has supported repeal of the tax.

State officials have estimated that re-instatement of the property tax would generate several times the amount of revenue that was collected in the past because of recent laws requiring property taxes to be assessed on 100 percent valuation.

Martin Plea

Even if legislators do end up spending their summer in Austin, Longview Rep. Mike Martin won't be among them.

The Longview Republican, who was indicted on aggravated perjury charges for allegedly lying to a Travis County grand jury, has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge and resigned his post.

Martin, a one-term lawmaker who sponsored only one bill in the 1981 session, was accused of lying about the shooting incident in which he was wounded in the elbow.

Martin's cousin, Charles Goff, said he and Martin staged the shooting to gain political support.

The guilty plea was the result of a plea bargaining agreement that was concluded after jury selection had begun in Martin's trial.

Martin was fined $2,000 after pleading guilty to misdemeanor perjury and agreed to drop his bid for re-election.

Several Democrats and Republicans are vying for Martin's old seat, including the man that Martin defeated in 1980, former Rep. Jimmy Mankins of Kilgore.

Education Proposals
A special task force on higher education has given formal approval to recommendations that would ultimately quadruple tuition rates for college students and reorganize the state's public colleges and universities into regional systems.

The Governor's Task Force on Higher Education has proposed doubling tuition in 1983 to bring the amount students pay up to 8 percent of the amount the state appropriates to meet operating expenses for each full-time student.

The rate would then go up by 2 percent each year until 16 percent of the appropriation for each full-time student.

Rates for out-of-state and foreign students would increase from 44 percent to 75 percent of that amount.

Texas students currently pay $4 per semester hour. Under the regional system proposal, the University of Texas and Texas A & M University systems would remain as they are, but all other public senior colleges and universities would be placed in systems covering West Texas, South Texas, the coastal region and North and East Texas.

The proposal is intended to reduce the number of governing boards running state schools, but at least one college president has said the plan would create more bureaucracy and damage the individuality of the separate institutions.

Job Market

Texas may not be the employment haven that the residents of many northern states think, an AFL-CIO official says.

Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard has warned Yankees that they shouldn't uproot and come to Texas looking for employment unless they have something definite lined up.

The Texas unemployment rate has risen recently from 4.7 to 5.7 percent, with some 420,000 workers laid off last year.

Hubbard urged union officials in other states to inform their members that "jobs are no longer available in Texas."

"We must recognize that unemployment has increased in Texas at a fast and rapid pace," Hubbard says.

Voter Turnout

Voters going to the polls May 1 may not have to face long lines if the predictions of one state official hold true.

Secretary of State David Dean has predicted that only 29 percent of the eligible voters in Texas will cast ballots in the GOP and Democratic primaries.

Dean expects 1.4 million voters to go to the polls. That's 500,000 fewer voters than turned out in the 1978 primaries.

Dean based his prediction on a sampling of absentee voting patterns in 50 counties containing 72 percent of the state's population.

Illegal Aliens

A University of Texas at Austin researcher has reported that as many as one of every five persons of "Mexican origin" in Texas are illegal aliens.

Dr. Frank D. Bean, a UT professor of sociology, told the Governor's Task Force of Undocumented Mexican Workers that between 600,000 and 900,000—or a median estimate of 750,000—illegal Mexican aliens were residing in Texas during 1980.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

April 16, 1982

Kitty Montgomery, Editor
Stockman
Ozona, Texas 76943

Governor Bill Clements and his wife, Rita, deserve an expression of appreciation from the people of Texas for their great effort and personal sacrifice to renovate the Governor's House to make it sound structurally and to reclaim the simple elegance of the 125 years ago era in which it was built.

Mrs. Clements planned and oversaw the decorating of the mansion and the acquisition of furniture and art work. We now have our Governor's House decorated and furnished in excellent Texas taste. It is a show place that the public can visit and be proud of. The $1 million of state funds plus $3.1 million in private contributions and art were vital factors in the renovation.

The Clements have spent most of his term as Governor living in an apartment away from the mansion which was no small sacrifice. They made the decision and plans for the renovation and gave leadership to the financing thereof when they initially moved to Austin and realized the condition of the mansion. They have spent endless hours of dreaming about, planning and working on this renovation.

Before he ran for Governor, Bill Clements had all the honors, prestige, business success and finances a man would reasonably need to satisfy his ego. He is not a politician by inclination, yet he has had the courage to spend his effort and money running for public office against seemingly insurmountable odds. I am confident this personal sacrifice was not made primarily for his political party, but was made because he believes in what he is doing and loves Texas and its people.

All of us Texans, whether or not we support you as Governor, Bill Clements, feel you and Mrs. Clements are entitled to a "thank you" for the time and effort you have exerted on behalf of our great State.

PBPA energy report

Oil production in Texas last year continued to decline, even with an increase in drilling activity. State production totaled 897 million barrels of oil in 1981, which was 34 million less than 1980.

The number one producing county in 1981 was Gaines County with 53 million 258 thousand barrels. Coming in a close second was Yoakum County with 53 million 218 thousand barrels. Yoakum was number one four consecutive years 1977-80. Other West Texas counties in the top ten included Pecos, third, with almost 52 million barrels, Ector, fourth, with 48 million, Hockley, sixth, with 41 million, Andrews, seventh, with 39.7 million, Scurry, eighth, with almost 35 million, and Crane, ninth, with 29 million barrels.

Pecos county was the leading gas producing county in Texas last year with 402 million MCF which was 59 million MCF less than 1980. Other Permian Basin counties included Winkler, third place, Ward, fourth, and Crane, fifth.

Texas produced 6 billion, 733 million cubic feet of gas during 1981 which was 264 million MCF less than 2 years ago.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Every spring, many new high school graduates ready to enter the job market find they do not have the training for available jobs. In fact, lack of skills in an increasingly technical world is one of the major reasons for high unemployment rates among young people.

But vocational education can provide a path around this barrier, and I am gratified at the progress Texas has made in these programs. In 1981, vocational education in Texas served nearly 900,000 persons, 75 percent more than in 1970. These training programs were offered in 950 school districts, 48 community college districts, and through the Texas State Institute System.

Participants learned occupational skills to use in business, industry, and homemaking. Additionally, career exploratory programs were offered for junior and senior high school students to help them understand where employment opportunities lie, and to help them make realistic career choices.

Most of the Texas vocational programs with which I am familiar are structured in close cooperation with local business and industry -- enabling young people to train for jobs that will be readily available in their areas. This cooperative relationship pays off in two ways -- putting young people to work and providing needed skilled labor to the local economy.

The results are gratifying. Some 28 percent of vocational education graduates pursue additional education and training. Of the 63 percent who make themselves immediately available for employment, seven of 10 find jobs in a career field related to their training.

The unemployment rate among vocational education graduates in 1981 was just over 7 percent -- one third the unemployment rate for other people and adults in the same age brackets.

The cost of these programs, compared to the benefits received, is small. Texas spent nearly $350 million on its vocational - technical programs in fiscal year 1981, for an overall average per pupil cost of $372.

But these statistics are less meaningful than the plight of the individual young person who looks at pages and pages of classified ads for jobs, and can't find a single one for which he qualifies.

Our world is becoming increasingly complex. We have developed technology which depends more and more on skilled labor. This trend will continue. In fact, it must if we are to improve our productivity enough to compete aggressively on the world market.

We cannot afford to waste our human resources. We must improve our ability to match willing workers with productive careers.

The federal government has a long history of support for local vocational programs. As with many other educational programs, the Administration proposes a new block grant program for vocational and adult education. This action is intended to reduce paperwork and administrative burdens, and make it possible for state and local governments to target money to the most pressing local needs.

In this way, we can continue the federal-local partnership which built these fine training programs, even though our budget crisis requires us to cut overall federal spending levels.

Finally I would encourage local districts and communities to look at the large return for each dollar spent in vocational education, and to make the necessary investment in the future of their young people and their economies.

A Sign of Spring . . .

Spring always seems to be a fact when fresh asparagus is plentiful. Since the season for this tender treat is short, enjoy it often. Here's one more idea.

Au Gratin Asparagus

- 2 lb. fresh asparagus
- 3 hard cooked eggs, sliced
- ¼ c. butter bread crumbs
- 1 (10½ oz.) can Condensed Mushroom Soup
- ¼ c. milk
- ½ c. grated Cheddar cheese

Break off butt end of asparagus to remove woody portion. Remove scales where sand may hide. Wash carefully and cook with small amount of water until barely tender, about 10 minutes. Drain and layer in 2½ quart casserole with egg and bread crumbs. Combine soup and milk. Pour over asparagus and top with cheese. Bake in 350°F. oven for 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serves 6.

Tips for Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Finally the rains did come our way last week along with several cold days for this late in the season. It all kept quite a few of our usual guests from attending our flower show, and they were missed, especially the Care Center patients and others afraid to get out.

Our show was one of the prettiest and most interesting that we have had the pleasure of presenting to the public. Our out-of-town judges always seem to enjoy coming to Ozona for the show and lunch at the Civic Center. They were:

Mrs. Melvin Burner, Mrs. Katherine Holly, Mrs. Lawrence Head and Mrs. M. H. Sibilsky from San Angelo; Mrs. H. B. Horn and Mrs. Douglas Newton from Del Rio, and Mrs. R. G. Flutsch from Menard.

We were delighted to have five members of the Sonora Garden Club as guests, and hope their visit will help them in staging their first flower show.

Because of the decline of flower quality during hot summer months, gardeners often lose interest in caring for their roses. But time spent in the rose garden during this season will pay big dividends later this year and in following years. Roses being heavy feeders, require applications of a balanced fertilizer throughout their growing season. Use about 1/4 cup of rose or 8-8-8 fertilizer per rose bush. Be sure the soil is moist at this time. Spread fertilizer over the surface, and work it into the top inch of soil, then water thoroughly. Repeat every six to eight weeks until late summer. Use a soaker hose to water plants to keep moisture off the leaves and discourages disease. Soak soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. A 2-inch layer of organic mulch will conserve moisture, reduce weed growth and protect the roots from excessive heat. Remove all spent flowers so that food and energy will not be wasted on useless seed production.

May-Above-ground crops - 5, 6, 7, 22, 25, 26.

Working wives, you are doing your husbands a "favor" in most cases. Recent studies on nearly 300 urban men ages 25-54 indicate that those with working wives seem to take life easier, in subtle ways, such as working fewer weekends and nights, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

24th Annual Garden Club Flower Show is big success

The 24th Annual Ozona Garden Club Flower Show was a big success in spite of all kinds of inclement weather. Most specimens had been gathered before the front came in last week bringing high winds and rain. In spite of the rain and cold weather, a large crowd turned out for the open hours from 4 p.m. until 6.

Mrs. Steve Kenley won the Creativity Award and Sweepstakes Award for having the most blue ribbons in the Design Division. Mrs. Tom Stokes won the Tri-color Award in the design division. Also in design, Mrs. Mike Ledoux won the Special Award for the best design in the Novice Class. Other blue ribbon winners in Design were Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. J. W. Howell, Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. Mike Ledoux.

In the Horticulture Division Mrs. Abe Morris won the Horticultural Excellence Award and Mrs. Allie Lock the Arboreal Award. Mrs. Lee Graves won an Award of Merit for her iris and Mrs. Kaleta Shepperson won Awards of Merit on her peony and her rose. Mrs. Shepperson also won the Sweepstakes Award in horticulture.

An Award of Appreciation was presented to Mrs. Jack

League hamburger supper

The Ozona Womens League members and families were treated to a hamburger supper at the rodeo park play grounds on Tuesday evening, April 13. Sandra Childress, Mary Helen Parks, and Jodie Sessom were hostesses for the evening. Also assisting with the grilling of the hamburgers were Pleas Childress, III, John Parks, and Steve Sessom.

An evening of fun and games was enjoyed by approximately 120. All who attended agreed that the park was a perfect place to hold this annual event because of the availability of "entertainment" for the younger set.

Brewer of the Myrtle Post Garden Club for her excellent collection of succulents. Mrs. Bill Mason was presented the Special Award given to an educational exhibit. Her fine exhibit was of named native plants. Mrs. Mason also won a blue ribbon on a collection of five named container plants.

Other blue ribbon winners in Horticulture were Mrs. Mike Couch, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Tom Conner, Mrs. Beecher Montgomery, Mrs. J. W. Howell, Mrs. Eusevio Longoria, Mrs. Allie Lock, Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs.

Remove hard-water film from glassware

Spotting or cloudy appearance of dishwasher-washed glassware is often caused by a combination of hard water and too little detergent--which can leave hard-water minerals to dry on the surface, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

She suggests using any of several methods to remove the film: Soak glassware about 15 minutes in undiluted white vinegar.

Wash glass in a basin of water using a generous amount of an automatic dishwasher detergent--and wear rubber gloves to protect your hands.

Use a commercially designed product according to instructions.

Use vinegar rinse in the dishwasher. Run a load of glassware through its normal cycle using detergent. Remove metal items from the dishwasher. Start the dishwasher again, but do not use detergent.

When the dishwasher comes to the main wash portion of its cycle, open it and pour one quart of white vinegar into the bottom. Close the door and let it complete its cycle.

On the other hand, hard-water film will gradually disappear when detergent is increased to compensate for hard-water minerals. Or you can simply use twice the recommended amount of dishwasher detergent for the initial film-removing wash to strip the film readily. To prevent hard-water

Erby Chandler, Mrs. Earl Berry, Mrs. Abe Morris, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. J. B. Miller, Mrs. Mike Ledoux, Mrs. J. S. Pierce V, and Mr. H. Gutierrez.

Junior Division participants were members of the Crockett County 4-H Club. Susan Kenley won Special Award for best entry and blue ribbons in both horticulture and design. Other participants were Sumner Shacklette, Randi Thompson, Shawna Newton, Kelly Williams, Martha Searcy and Sarah Pullen.

White-Stuart take golf championship

Marie White and Wanda Stuart won the Ladies Partnership golf tournament at the Ozona Country Club Saturday. Second in the championship flight were Nell Wester and Jimmy Jacoby. Wester and Stuart had low putts and Wester was nearest the pin on number 9.

First flight winners were Kay Braden and Jonesy Williams. Marilyn Cox and Dorothy Montgomery came in second. Monte Sanker and Mary Webster had low putts and Sherry Holt was nearest the pin on number 9.

Second flight winners were Carol Hensley and Joann Babbitt with Chesta Stuart and Janet Stuart, second. Low putts went to Barbara Wallace and Bobbie Fatout. C. Stuart was nearest the pin on number 9.

The golfers started the day with coffee and donuts and enjoyed a Dutch treat luncheon followed by awards for the winners.

Leaders and members of 4-H are staying busy with their 4-H projects. Spring 4-H projects include horticulture, (flower arranging), sewing, horse judging and grass judging.

New families that are moving to Ozona can enroll their children (ages 9-19) in the 4-H program at the County Extension Office.

National consumers week is April 26 to April 30. Regardless of how old we are, all of us are consumers. We all buy things. People that are good consumers can solve problems and make decisions in today's complex financial world.

A recent study of consumer education identified specific knowledge and skills for people to be effective consumers. People should:

Evaluate choices before making a purchase; question, analyze, and ask for redress on products that are not good; conserve resources; participate in governmental decisions.

Consumers who can make decisions about how they manage their money will naturally get more for their dollar in goods and services. People who set goals for themselves are often more successful than those who don't.

You can only spend what you take home. Know and write down your net income. Keep track of your spending. Do you really know what your money goes for?

In order for families to pay for basic needs like food, housing, and utilities, more and more families are developing budgets. Budgets can help you keep on track in spending your money.

AMERICAN LASAGNA
1 pound ground beef

6-ounce can tomato paste
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon oregano
8-ounce package lasagna noodles
12-ounce carton cottage cheese

1 small onion, chopped
2 1/2 cups tomatoes
3/4 teaspoon pepper
Sprinkle of sugar (if desired)

8-ounces Swiss or mozzarella cheese
Brown ground beef and onion. Add tomato paste, tomatoes, salt, pepper, oregano, and sugar. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Cook lasagna noodles (add a little cooking oil to keep them from sticking together). Then in an 11x7-inch baking pan, alternate layers of lasagna noodles, cheese, cottage cheese, and meat sauce. Bake for 20 to 30 minutes at 350°F. Let set 10 to 15 minutes, then cut and serve.

SWEET AND SOUR MEAT LOAF
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 cup bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, chopped
Combine the above. Form a loaf and bake at 350°F for 50 minutes.

8-ounce can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 cup sugar
Combine above ingredients in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pour over meat loaf and bake another 10 minutes.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

GIVING FURNITURE AS A GIFT

In recent years, more and more people have come to realize that almost any item that is for sale in a furniture store makes a wonderful practical and lasting gift for someone on any occasion at any time of the year.

It is hardly necessary to point out the advisability of giving something which will really be used and which can be enjoyed every day. But sometimes people are not aware of how nice a gift this can be.

Actually, a gift could be as small as an accessory or as big as a chair, end table or lamp, to name just a few.

We can make suggestions, and show you a large and varied selection of furniture and furnishings.

We invite you to come and talk it over with us. There's no obligation. We'll look forward to seeing you.

And don't forget, when you want to give a unique, appreciated gift, we can be your gift headquarters in the months and years ahead. This is an idea that can help you when you need a gift, and we thought you might want to keep it in mind.

Fulfilling a central role in nature's system of child development is the nest.

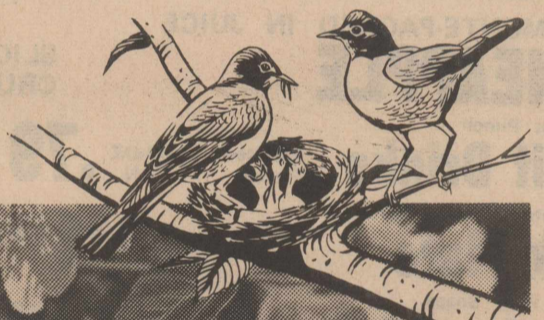

In our very complex human society mankind relies heavily on the nest. We call it the home.

Beware of the current tendency to think of the home as an institution. It's so easy to separate home, school, church... and their vital inter-related functions.

Rather think of the home as a nest... the shelter in which devoted parents provide the proper environment and the essential loving care to get youngsters ready for Life. Education and religious training should be rooted in that family experience.

Life in a nest is governed by instincts. Life in the home is the outgrowth of sound knowledge and sincere faith.

Fat--a source of nutrients

Fat is not all bad. To some it suggests excessive calories, obesity or heart disease. But it contains certain components which are important to human nutrition, says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a food and nutrition specialist.

Components of fat--called fatty acids by scientists--can be produced in the body, but one--linoleic acid--cannot, notes Cooksey.

Because linoleic acid isn't fabricated in our system, it is called an essential fatty acid or EFA. Therefore, we must get it from the foods we eat, she points out.

Metabolically, linoleic acid works with other nutrients to perform vital functions such as manufacturing prostaglandins, hormone-like substances thought of as chemical messengers.

These substances influence body functions such as reproduction, muscle activity, blood vessel constriction and nerve impulse transmission, she says.

An easy way to maintain a good intake of linoleic acid is to incorporate polyunsaturated fats into your diet, Cooksey advises.

A tablespoon of polyunsaturated vegetable oil in salads, margarine or other foods in a normal diet will satisfy an adult's daily requirement for the EFA, the specialist notes.

In addition, vegetable oil can be used in sauteing, browning meats, marinades, barbecue sauces and in oil and vinegar salad dressings, she suggests.

Beware of home improvement frauds, D. A. Mason warns

The following article is a public service by the Ozona Stockman through the cooperation of Bill Mason, District Attorney and The Prosecutor Council. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Crockett County and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems.

BEWARE OF HOME IMPROVEMENT FRAUDS

Whether it's repairing a leaky roof, putting on a new wing or contracting for a complete remodeling, the process of improving your home can be an economic nightmare to the unwary consumer. Though most of those in the home improvement business are honest, an alarming number use lies and deception to defraud millions of dollars from unsuspecting consumers every year.

WHAT YOU WANT DONE: It's your home--you're the boss! The contractor works for you. The kinds of improvements, large or small, must suit your needs, so plan ahead. Know what you want done. It's your decision, not his! BEWARE of door-to-door solicitors or the contractors who want to "sell" you improvements that you don't need or want for your home.

WHO DOES THE WORK: You're the boss; know whom you are hiring, demand references such as other jobs and local suppliers; give them a call. Check to see if the contractor is licensed or bonded. Know where to find him--address, phone, license number, etc. BEWARE of the contractor who is reluctant to talk to you about his business or his former customers.

WHAT PAPERS TO SIGN: It's your responsibility so make sure ALL promises are in writing: work to be done, quality of materials, total cost, completion time, etc. Take your time--you don't have to sign today. Know what you're signing: a mortgage? a loan contract? a promissory note? job contract? completion certificate? (This document means the job is finished, so never sign it until it is.) It's YOUR contract, so be sure it contains EVERYTHING YOU think is important. Read it and keep a copy of all papers. BEWARE of promises not in writing.

HOW YOU PAY: It can be cheaper to arrange your own financing--you don't have to take the contractor's deal--shop for your money. BEWARE of the contractor who wants big payments of money from you before work is begun. It's your decision; but you can say "no".

HOW TO CONTROL THE JOB: Check the quality of the work and materials AS THE JOB PROGRESSES. Make sure you're getting what you pay for and don't pay until you get it. BEWARE! If your contractor doesn't pay subcontractors or suppliers, they sometimes can foreclose on your home.

And finally, these warning signs:

- (1) If he comes door-to-door;
- (2) If he just happens to have material left over from a recent job;
- (3) If he tells you your job will be a "sample";
- (4) If he offers you discounts for finding him other customers;
- (5) If the price is too cheap;
- (6) If he wants to high pressure you into an immediate decision.

If you have questions, get the answers before you sign anything! If you have been a victim of home improvement fraud, or simply want more information on the subject, contact your local consumer protection agencies, the Better Business Bureau, or your local prosecutor.

This article is provided by Bill Mason, your District Attorney.

election

Bill Sims and W. B. Rubey will square off for the place vacated by Snelson, State Senator, in the Democratic Primary. The winner will face Ernest Angelo, the Republican, in November.

Several justices and judges places will appear on the ballot. The only one drawing interest locally is the place for Associate Justice, Court of Criminal Appeals, Dist. 8, Place 2. District Judge Larry Fuller of Monahans is running against Charles R. Schultze who was appointed to fill a vacancy and will be asking for his first elected term. Both men have campaigned in Ozona.

Most national, state, and district offices will appear with opposition in the general election. The Democratic Primary will tell the tale for local offices, the majority of which have no opposition in the Democratic Primary and will not be opposed in the general election.

When buying an older home--which usually means high maintenance, consider an inspection to check plumbing, heating, cooling, wiring, insulation and structural soundness.

The record speaks for itself. Since he has served as our State Treasurer, that office has earned more income on public funds than the combined total of all previous earnings in the history of Texas!

Let's Re-elect

Create Inside-Out Creamy Cupcakes

Join two great food concepts and create cupcakes that promise to make the simplest meal a real occasion. Thawed frozen whipped topping with real cream and packaged gingerbread mix answer today's interest in convenience and great taste. The center of each gingerbread cupcake holds a luscious dollop of whipped topping with real cream. How did it get there? A gentle scoop from cupcake center leaves room for whipped topping, which hides under the cupcake top when it's returned. Toasted gingerbread crumbs garnish the whipped topping "frosting." Serve the day they're made. Or store in the freezer and take out 5-10 minutes before serving. Count on these cupcakes as backup dessert from now on. Now that real cream can be enjoyed in convenient frozen whipped topping, you can also count on serving great-tasting topping round the clock.

INSIDE-OUT CREAMY CUPCAKES

- 1 package (14 oz.) gingerbread mix
- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1 container (8 oz.) whipped topping, thawed

Prepare gingerbread mix as directed on package, adding walnuts. Divide batter evenly into 12 paper baking cups set in muffin pans. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes, or until tops spring back when lightly touched. Remove from pan and cool on racks. Cut a 1-inch circle in center of each cupcake and remove. Gently scoop out center, reserving crumbs. Toast reserved crumbs at 350° for 10 minutes; cool. Fill each cupcake with about 1 tablespoon of the whipped topping. Replace tops. Frost tops of cupcakes with remaining whipped topping and sprinkle with toasted crumbs. Serve the day prepared or freeze 2 to 3 hours or overnight. Remove cupcakes from freezer 5 to 10 minutes before serving. Makes 12.

How to reduce estate taxes, topic for program

Crockett County ranchers wanting to learn how to reduce high estate taxes will be interested in several upcoming programs by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A two-day seminar is planned which will help farmers and ranchers learn how to reduce taxable estates and learn new methods for passing their operations to the next generation.

Called "How to Lower Your Estate Tax Burden," the seminar is scheduled for May 25-26, points out Billy Reagor, County Extension agent.

Recent estate tax law changes will have major impacts on farm and ranch holdings, says Reagor. Those who have already done considerable estate planning will need to take a fresh look at their estates under the new law.

Each seminar will begin with a discussion on estate taxes, including deductions, expenses and tax rates.

Basic estate planning devices, including wills, bypass trusts, gifts, disclaimers and property titles, will be explained in depth, and a special segment of the program will deal with fairness to beneficiaries.

Another discussion will center on estate planning tools for agriculture and will deal with corporations, partnerships and selling part of the business to heirs, notes the agent.

The second day of the program will be devoted to special estate tax rules for agriculture. These include special farm land valuation, deferred estate tax payment rules, life insurance, "flower" bonds and other property.

Seminar speakers will be Extension economists Dr. Wayne Hayenga of College Station, Dr. James Novak of Corpus Christi and Bob Kenning of San Angelo.

For more information about the seminars, contact your local county Extension office.

BAND CELEBRATION
By-Erika Lee

On Monday, April 19, the annual band banquet was given by the band parents. It was a fiesta style banquet with Mexican food being served by 7th and 8th grade band members.

The menu included enchiladas, beans, rice, tacos, tostadas, picante sauce, pralines and tea. Entertainment was provided by several members of the band in the form of a talent show.

Every year the John Philip Sousa award is presented to a senior band member. Mr. Payne presented this award to Felice Delgado. This award is chosen by Mr. Glaze for outstanding music achievement.

The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the 1981-82 Band Sweetheart and Band Beau. These were Jill Sanchez and Richard Garza who were elected by the members of the band.

Beware the quick and easy weight loss clinic

Beware the clinic that promises quick and easy weight loss. You may end up with a thin wallet, not a thin body. That's the message delivered by weight control specialists at Baylor College of Medicine in an editorial in the April 1982 issue of the Archive of Internal Medicine.

The specialists warn against enrolling in a commercial weight control program until you have checked its reputation carefully and discussed the program with your physician.

The editorial was based on an evaluation of commercial weight control clinics in the Houston area. The authors were Antonio M. Gotto, Jr., M.D., professor and chairman; John P. Foreyt, Ph.D., associate professor, and G. Ken Goodrick, Ph.D., research associate in Baylor's Department of Medicine.

Weight control programs are popular in the United States. Obesity has been linked to the development of heart disease. Our society values thinness. But many of the nation's one million people in weight control clinics each week are being led astray, the authors said.

"Physicians and behavioral scientists have failed to develop a treatment program which is effective and long-lasting for the majority of those treated," the authors said. "Since one can assume that the success rate of commercial clinics is no better than that of careful research studies, there is a need to inform the public to be selective in choosing a commercial clinic."

The three specialists found that advertising campaigns used by some commercial clinics are misleading. For example, many offer easy, quick and permanent weight loss.

"There's no easy and quick way to lose weight," Goodrick said. "And, what we know about the psychology and physiology of weight loss is that 80 to 90 percent of the people that lose weight are going to gain most or all of it back one year later."

The authors suggest that a clinic be selected that begins treatment with a complete examination of the physical and behavioral characteristics of the patient. For example, obesity is often caused by lack of exercise rather than by overeating. Therefore, exercise should be prescribed first for weight loss in many cases.

Some clinics have what Goodrick calls "strange diets."

"You may lose 30 pounds in four weeks, but since at least half of that loss is water weight, as soon as you go off that diet, that water comes back."

"Most of the clinics have a guarantee that involves treatment back; if you gain your weight back or fail to lose weight, you get to come back for free treatment," he said. "Very few people do that because if they fail once, they attribute failure to themselves and they say 'what's the use of trying it again, I've already failed.'" Goodrick added that many clinics offer treatments that have not been proven effective in helping people lose or keep weight off.

Even professional weight control clinics (such as those at medical schools or hospitals) have very little success, Goodrick said. He is a staff member in the Methodist Hospital's Diet Modification Clinic, which Foreyt directs. "What we're looking at is a situation that the American Medical Association pointed out last year in a statement, which was: 'in 1981 nobody has the answer to weight loss, psychologists don't have the answer, medical doctors don't have the answer.'"

But don't give up, the three authors say. Obese patients and their physicians should continue to look for a solution, whether it be a commercial or professional weight control program.

However, they said "the physician and patient should consider the likelihood of success, the cost of treatment and the quality of treatment offered before making a decision to utilize the services of a weight reduction clinic."

Safety seats save children's lives

The mother holding her small child in her lap in a moving auto gives the impression of caring about the youngster's safety. It's a mistaken impression.

In a 30 mph accident, the child can catapult forward with a force 30 times its own weight. That's equivalent to a fall from a three-story building.

If the mother is wearing a seat belt, this forward force can tear the child from the parent's arms and send the child into the windshield or dash. If the mother is not buckled up, she and the child will fly forward. The child likely will be crushed between the mother and the dash.

But serious and fatal injury to the child can be avoided in most auto accidents by using a crash-tested child safety seat, says the Texas Medical Association.

That's the object of a program called TOTS (Texas Occupant Traffic Safety), sponsored by the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, Texas Safety Association, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

Noting that more children die in automobile accidents than from any other single cause, the program encourages parents to consider these factors in selecting a child safety seat:

Is it crash-tested? Unless a seat belt indicates it has been crash-tested (or dynamically tested), it probably will not provide adequate protection.

Is it padded and free of sharp, hard edges? Will it fit your car seats and be held properly by the seat belts?

Will you use it correctly, even if the "directions seem tedious?"

Regarding the child's size, an infant carrier should be used beginning with the first ride home from the hospital until the baby can sit up alone. This device straps the child into a semi-reclining position facing the back of the car.

Teaching children about baby sitters

Do your children often resist staying with a babysitter? Parents can help by understanding why and taking definite steps to make resistance "not so necessary" in the child's mind, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Many children resist babysitting because they resist the child-like treatment they're pretty sure they'll get—today's more sophisticated children want to participate in adult affairs, Taylor says.

Of course, some children—as thought for many years—are afraid their parents won't return home, but that's not usually the case any more.

In helping children deal with these feelings, parents can take two definite steps: show children understanding and remind them that "rules of the house" still hold, Taylor says.

Give the child some responsibilities that focus on being a good host, which, in a way, he really is to his babysitter—let him prepare a snack for everyone, help a brother or sister get ready for bed, or read a story to the others and the babysitter, the specialist suggests.

Also, issue a written list of household rules—the do's and don'ts, so both sitter and children will know them, she adds.

Stay in touch with your babysitting arrangements as the years go by, too, Taylor advises. Some sitters respond differently to babies than to inquisitive five-year-olds, so you may want to change babysitters as children grow older.

Also, remember that different situations require different handling, she says.

For example, overnight care sometimes calls for a different babysitter. Some babysitters are more afraid of this kind of arrangement than the children they're caring for, so find a babysitter who feels comfortable with the job.

Learn to recognize babysitting problems or concerns. Children who are newly resistant to babysitting are signaling you about concerns or problems, Taylor notes.

When children—some as young as five or six—resent being left with a sitter, the problem is probably their desire to "be grown up."

One "sure-fire" way to meet this desire is the ability to control one's sitter.

Here are some behaviors that signal the problem of children trying to control a sitter:

They may want to play parent or employee, telling the sitter what to do and what not to do.

They may want to do things expressly forbidden by their parents.

They may want to be pals or peers with the sitter, especially if the sitter is a pre-teen.

To achieve these "wants" a child might try acting extremely helpful, cooperative and affectionate, the specialist says. Parents must then decide what behavior they will or will not allow.

Finally, remember that care for children is a responsibility that requires special attention from parents and sitters alike, Taylor says.

On the water WITH TOM MASTERS

A New Marine Power System

Until about a year ago there were only three ways you could power a boat, not counting rowing, paddling, and sailing.

1) You could have an inboard motor. That's an automobile-type motor with a drive shaft that extends through the hull into the water.

2) You could have an outboard motor, a lightweight two-cycle marvel that is bolted or clamped onto a cut-down transom. Or, 3) You could have a marriage of the inboard and the outboard—a stern drive. That's a four-cycle motor that sends its power through the transom to an outboard-style lower unit.

It's obvious entirely new kinds of power units don't appear on the market every year. So, it's significant that a fourth marine propulsion system has now been introduced. This one is called the OMC Sea Drive™ power system, and if boating's prognosticators are right, this invention by Outboard Marine Corporation will be one of the most significant developments in powerboating in many years.

The OMC Sea Drive has a two-cycle powerhead, like the outboard motor. And it is expected to deliver the same kind of performance and fuel economy that boats get from the powerful, modern outboards.

But the OMC Sea Drive, unlike the outboard, will not require a tilting well. That's because it is attached to a special bracket that is mounted to the transom of an inboard-type boat. This creates more room in the boat, and the high transom provides more stern security in big seas than the cut-out outboard transom.

OMC Drive Systems, part of the OMC family, already has been selling a V-6, 2.6-liter version of the new power system, and will soon have a 2.5-liter model as well. These V-6 models are appropriate for boats from approximately 22 to 33 feet or so.

Controls and electrical connections are through a flexible, watertight conduit which also carries air to the engine from intakes on the gunwales. The powerhead is enclosed to protect the engine for continuous operation in following seas and when backing down on a fish.

Performance figures for the OMC Sea Drive are impressive.

A 28-foot Bertram sport fisherman with two prototype 2.6-liter units went 47 miles per hour. That was 12 miles an hour faster than an identical boat with twin 5-liter inboards. At cruising speed, about 32 mph, it had 34 percent more range than the five-liter inboards.

At last count more than 30 boat manufacturers had placed orders for this fourth power system.

Avid boating people will be watching to see if the OMC Sea Drive lives up to expectations. If it even comes close, it will be a winner.

Ozonan enters pageant

Annette Marie Richter, 4, will be Ozona's entry in the "Our Little Miss" pageant which will be held in San Angelo May 1.

The winner in her LaPette division, ages 4-6, will go on to compete in the state contest later this summer.

Annette Marie's sponsor for the contest is Small Fashions. She attends Ozona Day Care Center. Annette is from San Antonio. Her father, Will Richter, is in charge of the electrical work on the addition and remodeling of Ozona National Bank. Her mother, Karen Richter, is an employee of the Teacher Store.

Pam Young honored

Pam Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Young of Ozona was among students honored recently at the Southwest Texas State University's School of Applied Arts Awards Day.

The event was held in the L. B. Johnson Memorial Center Ballroom and was to honor outstanding students in Aerospace Studies, Agriculture, Criminal Justice, Home Economics, and Journalism.

Pam received the Outstanding Student Award in the Vocational Home Economics Teachers Association of Texas.

Pam is a 1977 graduate of Ozona High School and was recipient of the Minnie Wylie Henderson Home Economics Award.

Your Highway Safety

Tips From Experts At United Parcel Service

Braking is not the best action to take in a skid.

To help put you on the road to safety, you should be aware of the actions you can take to control a skid. There are a number of different types of skids and although there's no absolute way to handle each, here are several important things to remember:

- Do not use the brake until steering control is re-established.
- Do not use power.
- De-clutch if you are driving a gear shift car.
- Countersteer to correct for the skid. This means to turn your steering wheel in the direction of the skid—probably the most important corrective step you can learn.

Here are four examples of the kind of skids you may encounter and how you can help control them:

All Wheel Braking Skid. Occurs when you jam on the brakes too hard. Your car can slide unpredictably in any direction.

To control this skid, get off the brakes and let the tires re-establish rolling friction. This takes considerable restraint because the natural reaction is to brake violently when a car is in a pronounced skid.

Softball season is underway

The Ozona Men's Softball season got underway last week with double-headers on Monday and Tuesday. Wet grounds postponed the games set for Thursday but they will be made up in the future.

In Monday night's games the Sixers blew out the Mustangs 28-8 and the Outlaws held off a late rally to beat the Armadillos 16-9.

In Tuesday night's games the Wheels outscored the Stars by a count of 10-5 and the Pistons came from behind to defeat the Mustangs 9-8.

Art group workshop

The Charlotte Phillips Art Group sponsored an oil painting workshop this week conducted by artist Bill Zaner of Boerne.

Commencing Sunday afternoon with a sketching trip into the countryside south of town, the class has been conducted all day Monday, Tuesday and today at the Civic Center.

Improve profits in the cattle market

Major challenges and opportunities for improving profits in the cattle industry still lie in the area of marketing, as they have during the past decade, contends a Texas A&M University economist.

Dr. John A. Hopkin, Stiles professor of agricultural finance and head of Texas A&M's Agricultural Economics Department, says that production related issues are quite important but that cattlemen who have done well during the past 10 years "have not necessarily been the most efficient producers, but rather those who 'sold right' or 'bought right,' or did both."

"These cattlemen have gained an advantage by understanding forces affecting the market of their products and collecting and evaluating information concerning those markets. They use the pricing tools of forward contracting and futures markets, and they are aware of their costs," Hopkin says. "The name of the game is financial management and marketing," he adds.

He also emphasizes that they know when they can lock in a profit and are willing to do so rather than "be forever gambling on striking it big."

Hopkin says several options exist for cattlemen to improve their marketing.

Electronic marketing is now technically feasible and provides cattlemen the benefits of flexibility and the opportunity to reduce handling and transportation costs. The marketing system known as Cattlex, developed at Texas A&M, is about ready for commercial use, he says.

"Cattlemen can also organize into county or multi-county associations to sell their calves. When cattlemen band together to hold an annual calf sale, more buyers are attracted from wider areas to inspect and bid on calves which are sorted, classed and graded into relatively large uniform lots," Hopkin explains.

In organizing a sale of this type, producers become more aware of the marketing function and of what makes up quality, Hopkin adds.

Also, producers and buyers can take advantage of economies of size in buying and selling, and costs of assembling an adequate volume of calves for uniform classing can be reduced, he notes.

"This system should work well in areas like Central and East Texas where many smaller herds prevail," Hopkin says.

Addressing the issue of demand for beef, Hopkin says there are strong indications that some basic dimensions of demand for beef may be changing.

"Beef demand originates with consumers and is passed back through the marketing system to producers through continual negotiations of buyers and sellers at every stage. Demand for beef can be affected by consumer perceptions which influence their preferences, such as attitudes on health and diet. Also affecting demand for beef are the average level and distribution of per capita real income, which may mean a drop in purchasing power for many people," the economist says.

Take steps for energy conscious lawn care

Energy-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by energy requirements of lawn care," says Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Mowing, watering, fertilizing, controlling pests and disposing of leaf clippings are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months, watering the lawn and collecting and disposing of grass clippings place a heavy burden on cities for these services. Grass clippings account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in some cities during spring and early summer," notes Doble.

He offers several lawn maintenance practices to help homeowners reduce these energy demands.

Reducing fertilizer applications to maintenance levels—2 to 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year—will go a long way toward reducing energy demands. (That's 20 pounds of a fertilizer containing 10 percent nitrogen.) Applying only maintenance levels of nitrogen to lawns can reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high energy demands for lawn care," contends Doble.

Another lawn care practice to reduce energy demands is returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not composted, says the specialist.

Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy.

Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy-saving practice.

Doble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted, low-maintenance turfgrasses to reduce energy demands. Centipedegrass is ideally suited to East Texas while buffalograss is adapted to much of West and North Texas. Both of these grasses have low maintenance requirements, yet provide a satisfactory turf cover for lawns.

In some situations ground covers such as Asiatic jasmine, English ivy or Liriope can reduce maintenance requirements effectively without sacrificing the benefits of a plant cover. In heavily shaded areas and on steep

Ranchers members of food industry

Today's ranchers should view themselves as members of the food industry rather than "just being in the cattle business," a state livestock leader declared at Texas A&M University recently.

J.D. Sartwelle, longtime rancher and board chairman of Port City Stockyards at Sealy, said cattlemen are indeed a vital link in the food chain.

"We need to understand who our customers are today and their concerns for diet and health. Our U.S. meat team is playing in a different ballgame than it has in the past. Soon one-half our daily meals will be eaten outside the home. There are more working wives today and basically there is less time for food preparation," Sartwelle told enrollees at the annual Beef Cattle Short Course. It was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and other groups.

Citing some of the challenges ahead for the Texas cattle industry, Sartwelle stressed the need for more economy in beef production and more attention to promotion and marketing of the product.

This is a time when many ranchers must make a stern reassessment of their businesses if they are to survive during this period of bankruptcies, recession and unemployment, Sartwelle said.

"We must heed signals of the market situation and become objective in our outlook. Beef is still No. 1 in the supermarket, and we must continue to produce and provide this product in the way that consumers want it. We need to explore ways to increase sales of our food slopes, use these ground covers in place of grasses, suggests the specialist.

"It is possible to enjoy the luxury of an attractive lawn and landscape," contends Doble, "without excessive energy requirements. In fact, the net energy balance for a lawn can be in favor of energy conservation."

product, especially in the export market," the rancher said. New product development is another area to explore, he added.

A feature of the Beef Cattle Short Course was a presentation by Frank Connell of Thornton, president of the American Brahman Breeders Association, of a leather-bound copy of the new book, "American Brahman—A History of the American Brahman Breed," to Dr. H.O. Kunkel, A&M's dean of agriculture. The volume is to be placed in the Texas A&M University library.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
 DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

This third week in April began with Church services on Sunday afternoon sponsored by the First Baptist Church. Other religious services included the Thursday afternoon Bible study directed by the Faith Lutheran Church and the Spanish hour which followed, directed by Maria Vitela.

Dominoes were played on Monday and Saturday mornings. Monday afternoon we had reading and discussion.

Tuesday and Friday bingo winners included: Virginia Russell, El Chato Dinner for two, Maggie Crawford, gift certificate from The Teacher Store, Hilario Cortez, second place prize.

Tuesday afternoon we had a real treat when Mrs. W. R. Clegg and Mrs. James Childress brought us slides and a talk about their trip to China. Thanks!

Ceramics were enjoyed Wednesday morning, the ladies all went to the beauty shop Thursday morning, and Friday afternoon all residents were treated to a frosted drink by Clayton's Village Drug.

Friday morning Mrs. Charles Womack brought her classroom and shared the play "The Ugly Duckling". We are so happy they shared this with us. They were so cute!

We enjoyed the rain but were sorry we didn't get to go to the flower show on Thursday. Pretty weather will find us outside more and more though.

Special thanks goes to Mr. and Mrs. Shank Bloxom of Big Lake for their memorial and to the ladies of the Faith Lutheran Church for bath and beauty supplies.

We still need a volunteer

Making Texas work. For us.

There's only one proven leader in the race for State Senate. Republican Ernest Angelo.

As a former Mayor, Ernest Angelo has seen government first hand. He's made government work. Through sound, conservative management.

By applying the principles he learned while building his own business, Ernest Angelo cut red tape and increased productivity. To solve problems, not create them.

Ernest Angelo. As our Republican State Senator, he'll make Texas work. For us.

- Ernest Angelo and his wife Penny, a former public school teacher, have been married 23 years. They have four children — Helen, Tricia, Ernest, and Clifford — and are active members of St. Ann's Church.
- Ernest Angelo was appointed by the Governor to a seat on the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System. He also served as President of St. Ann's School Board.
- Ernest Angelo is active in the community. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Midland United Way, Boys Club, and Chamber of Commerce.

Shrimp curry in a hurry

It's oriental, it's exotic, it's easy! What could this describe? Nothing but "Shrimp Hurry Curry," of course.

This popular dish which includes the savory taste of shrimp and flavorful gusto of curry spice is brought to you by Annette Reddell Hegen, a seafood consumer education specialist.

Hegen is on the marine advisory staff, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Curry is a traditional spice used in dishes from India and other faraway places and is fast becoming popular in American foods, she notes.

For those unfamiliar with curry or those who have seen it prepared poorly, one rule for using curry shouldn't be kept a secret, the specialist says.

Here's the secret: use a "light hand" when adding curry powder--and follow a kitchen-tested recipe.

Using only a small amount will provide a desirable flavor and it won't mask the other seasonings and tastes.

Another point to remember for this recipe is to use fresh or frozen shrimp of good quality, Hegen advises.

Shrimp-like all fish and shellfish--should have a fresh, mild odor, she notes.

If it doesn't, it has been stored or transported incorrectly and should be avoided, the specialist warns.

"Shrimp Hurry Curry" also uses canned soup and a few other basic flavors to ensure a treat that is quick and easy to make, she explains.

Shrimp Curry
1 1/2 pounds raw, peeled and cleaned Texas shrimp, fresh or frozen

1 can (10 oz.) frozen or canned cream of shrimp soup
2 tablespoons margarine or butter

1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup sour cream

1 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Rice, toast points or patty shells for 6 portions.

Thaw frozen shrimp and soup. Melt margarine in a 10-inch fry pan. Add shrimp and cook over low heat for three to five minutes, stirring frequently. Add the soups and stir until thoroughly blended. Stir in cream, curry powder and parsley. Heat. Serve over hot, fluffy rice, toast points or in patty shells. Makes six servings.

Are you a member of a re-established family? A major difference exists between families reconstituted as a result of death and those re-established because of divorce. After death, the deceased parent is replaced to some extent. After divorce, the step-parent is more likely to add to the role of a biological parent.

Helping youths with careers worthwhile

Helping youth with career decisions--that's what the 4-H career exploration program sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is all about.

"The program was not developed to tell children what career is right for them, but to open doors so they are aware of various career possibilities," points out Preston Sides, Extension 4-H and youth specialist.

Career exploration is a three-step process in which parents can participate along with the child.

The first step is an awareness of jobs and work. Children are given the opportunity to study their community and types of available jobs. They also look at jobs in their school and local government.

In the second phase, teens find out more about salary, working hours, lifestyles and training required of jobs their community offers and jobs of interest to them. Students can evaluate their own personalities to see what types of jobs fit their lifestyle and interest, explains Sides.

Finally, 4-H'ers develop career interests. They are encouraged to participate in hobbies that will help them build skills. They put together resumes and look for part-time jobs. And they also have a chance to observe people on the job and many times to work alongside them.

"Shadowing" is a program where members spend time with such workers as bankers, dentists and factory workers. At each workplace or office, students are given a chance to try the work or to observe.

"While career exploration programs can help high schoolers make career choices, decisions actually start much earlier and are largely influenced by parents," notes Sides. "Parents begin to influence their children's career decisions from early in life. Parents are examples and models for children. How well parents get along at their job will give children a good or bad impression of work."

Three types of career decision-making patterns can emerge in a family setting, points out the specialist.

The first is child-centered. In this type, parents experience little or no involvement, and children make decisions with no guidance from parents.

In the second type, family-centered, the entire family becomes involved in the decision-making process. Children and parents contribute freely to discussions, and children gradually take responsibility for their own decisions.

The third type is parent-centered. Children conform to parental expectations, and parents make the final decision with little consideration for their children's point of view.

"Generally, families operating in a family-centered pattern are more likely to encourage self-confidence and independence," says Sides. "Children who feel they are a part of the decision-making process will be more willing to consider their parents' ideas when making choices."

Stretch in today's fashions

"Stretch" wovens are in this season since homeseamers need more "activewear" fabrics that perform well under stress, says Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

Stretch is no longer restricted to knits these days. In addition to the basic categories--denim, poplin and gabardines--polyester/ rayon linen has been made into stretch.

Stretch denim, for example, has been most successful in navy, but this spring lighter colors of blue team up with softer, more feminine look with gathers and flounces, Fonseca announces.

The coming trend, Fonseca foresees, is the increase in the blending of natural fibers with stretch.

Fiber-producing companies predict that in five years stretch will move into a wide variety of outerwear fabrics and will become the "volume fabric," the specialist notes.

These predictions will come true only if consumers are made aware of which fabrics are stretch and the benefits they provide, Fonseca continues.

In terms of cost of stretch fabrics, some price resistance has occurred, the specialist says.

However, fiber-producing companies are working to reduce cost and feel homeseamers will be convinced of the value they're getting in stretch fabrics once they try them.

Encourage career exploration at an early age. Children's hopes often are expressed in fantasy, especially during play. Encourage such actions.

Investigate new ideas by asking children what they would do if they could not do the first job they think of.

Be responsive when your child asks, "What do you think I should be when I grow up?" Point out talents the child has and suggest careers relating to these talents.

During middle years, help your child explore and develop skills needed for work.

Encourage your child to take up hobbies and other leisure activities that will help develop job skills.

Help your child understand how important school work will be later in a job search.

Take advantage of friends to introduce new careers to your child. Encourage youngsters to discuss jobs with teachers and guidance counselors.

When helping children toward a decision, encourage them to look at all aspects of a particular career. Examine how the career fits their skills and long-term goals and the employment outlook for particular jobs.

County gets money's worth in weight

County people can count on getting their money's worth in weight through the year if the products are weighed on local scales or gas pumps. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

In the county there are 128 weighing devices of different types, ranging from 83 fuel pumps to 33 supermarket scales.

"Our department regularly checks the commercial scales in the county and has found that they conform to our previous surveys across the state. Of those that were above or below tolerance, not many scales were off by significant amounts. Also, as many were giving the customer too much of the product as were giving too little. Because of frequent checks, scales are not out of calibration very long," Brown said.

"Business owners are glad to see us come in because as often as not, they have been losing money if their scales were not accurate," Brown said.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has inspectors assigned to every county. They are trained to check all different types of scales from those for medicines in a pharmacy to those for livestock and grain.

The inspectors also spot check packaged goods, such as cereals and crackers, to make certain that the weight stated on the label is accurate. If on the average the weights of the packages are below the amount stated on the label, the shipment is put on a Stop-Sale order. The store owner then either returns the items to the processor or as is the case very often, gives them to charitable organizations. Meat packaged in the supermarket as well as processor packs are also checked by Department inspectors.

Credit life insurance unnecessary

Attention debtors, you don't have to accept "credit life insurance" on a loan from your creditor, no matter if it's a bank, automobile dealer or retailer, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

Help available to find doctors

Although most communities have a good supply of medical doctors, some places in Texas have a shortage, particularly of family physicians.

The Texas Medical Association is sponsoring a program in San Antonio during TMA's annual convention in an effort to match the town seeking a doctor with a doctor seeking a town.

The Practice Opportunity Matching Center will be open from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, May 7, in Salons E and F of the downtown San Antonio Marriott Hotel.

The center will operate as an information center and referral service. Listings of available doctors and professional opportunities will be posted there. Physicians can meet representatives from communities, clinics, hospitals and private medical practices. Participants then can arrange for further discussions elsewhere.

TMA developed the matching center in 1980 and has operated it each year during the association's convention.

Other TMA efforts designed to match community needs with available physicians include the distribution of bulletins listing available doctors and communities in need, presentations to new doctors about establishing a practice in Texas, and support of legislation to increase the number of family practice and primary care residency training programs in Texas hospitals.

TASTY TRIO: PORK, ORANGES, RICE

Take advantage of good buys on pork, the juiciness of flavorful oranges, and the economy of always-in-season rice to create this tasty main dish for your family.

PORK TENDERLOIN WITH ORANGE SAUCE

- 1 pork tenderloin (about 1-1/2 pounds)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 1/3 cup dry white wine
- 3 oranges
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Season tenderloin with salt and pepper. In an oven-proof skillet saute meat in butter until brown on all sides. Push to one side; add onions and cook until tender. Pour wine and juice from 2 oranges over meat. Stir in sugar and bay leaf. Cover and bake at 350° for 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Peel remaining orange and section. Cut peel in very thin strips. Boil in a small amount of water until tender and drain. Remove meat from pan; discard bay leaf. Mix cornstarch with a tablespoon of water. Add to liquid in skillet. Cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Add peel; slice meat. Place on platter of fluffy rice. Pour sauce over meat. Garnish with orange sections. Makes 6 servings.

Good reasons for brush control

Brush control for the sake of brush control is a losing proposition.

"While there are many good reasons for controlling or managing brush, one of the main ones should be to grow more grass and other desirable forage," points out Dr. Jake Landers of San Angelo, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

If a rancher doesn't manage his land so that he'll have an abundance of good forage to replace undesirable brush, the land will soon return to its original state with more brush than before.

"Once brush is controlled, a rancher needs to be ready to manage the land to encourage grass production," emphasizes Landers. "This means resting the land from grazing during the first growing season following treatment so that grasses can improve in vigor and produce seeds and seedlings as become established."

Desirable grasses are often found in the edge of a cluster of brush or a clump of pricklypear where they are protected from excessive grazing. If that protection is removed by tree dozing, chaining and root plowing, those grasses need time to recover, notes the range specialist.

"Increasing the stocking rate immediately after controlling brush is the most destructive thing that can be done for range improvement," emphasizes Landers. "It almost guarantees the return of a brush, pricklypear or weed problem."

Landers recommends at least a 90-day deferment during the growing season following brush work. He also points out that deferment before brush work may increase vigor and seed production of desirable grasses to speed up range recovery.

If rangeland lacks desirable grasses to start with, then it's important to seed adapted species following brush control, adds the range specialist. He suggests consulting a range conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service for help in identifying grasses and in planning a seeding program.

As far as actual brush control is concerned, Landers emphasizes that a combination of treatments is often necessary and that treatment must be continuous. "If there is anything that we've learned about brush control in the past 100 years, it's that we have to keep at it," he says. "There is no effective 'single treatment' for long-term brush control."

The range specialist points out that some combinations of brush control may result in a greater brush problem after the treatment than before. An example is to mechanically control mesquite and mixed brush with pricklypear, lotebush, whitebrush, prickly ash or persimmon in the understorey. Pricklypear is usually scattered by most mechanical treatments, and the other species resprout from roots left in the soil, often creating a thicker stand than before treatment.

Renting bulls, pro and con

In Texas, renting a bull to settle cows is an alternative to owning one, though cattlemen need to consider numerous factors before making a decision either way.

Several factors exist favoring bull leasing for the producer, according to Dr. Ashley C. Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

These include the tax deductible rental charge, less investment capital needed, and less annual expense in feeding and caring for the bull.

"An important factor for smaller producers is that renting gives them a chance to use a better quality bull than they often could afford to own," says Lovell. "Also, by using a different bull each year, producers can keep heifers from each calf crop, and there is limited bull death risk."

The economist states that acquiring a herd bull has short- and long-term consequences, and these must be weighed and individually considered before deciding whether to rent or own.

Long-term satisfaction to cow-calf producers from choosing bulls is measured by the performance of the progeny through future generations, he says. Bull costs per calf and pounds of beef weaned per cow are the short-term consequences from the bull selection that may determine if the producer can stay in business long enough to realize any long-term benefits.

Notify VA of address changes

Persons receiving monthly Veterans Administration compensation, pension or schooling benefits should notify the VA promptly of any change in dependency status, advises Ted W. Myatt, Director of the Houston VA Regional Office.

"A change in dependency status can have an effect on the rate of benefits payable," Myatt said. "In the case of a loss in dependency, prompt action can usually help avoid an overpayment from being created."

Claimants may notify the VA in writing or telephone the Houston VA Regional Office. Check your local telephone directory for the toll free number.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By Jerry Lay
Here's an oddity. The biggest paid attendance for any baseball game in history was not for a World Series game or even a regular season game but for an exhibition game! The all-time baseball attendance record of 93,103 was set at an exhibition game between the Dodgers and Yankees in the Los Angeles Coliseum in 1959, honoring Roy Campanella. No other baseball game has ever topped that, before or since.

A friend of ours claims that not one sports fan in 100 can name the horses who won the last 2 Kentucky Derbys and that's surprising because every year everybody closely follows the Derby. But for some reason, people seem to forget the winner soon after the race. If you want to try this on your friends, here are the winners of the last 2 Kentucky Derbys: Pleasant Colony and Genuine Risk.

What's the farthest anyone has ever been able to hit a golf ball in a pro golf tournament? The longest official drive of all-time was made by Craig Wood in the 1933 British open. Wood hit the ball 430 yards for the record that still stands.

"I'm planning for my golden years, by starting an IRA today!"
You, too, can plan for your retirement years by setting up an Individual Retirement Account. Under the new tax laws, every wage-earner can establish an IRA and shelter up to $2000 of income per year! That means if you and your spouse both work, you can deduct up to $4000 from your income for the current year for tax purposes ($2250 if only one is employed). Both the principal and interest in your IRA are tax-deferred until you begin withdrawing your funds. Remember: Federal law requires a substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Your prospects for a secure retirement will be brighter when you plan ahead with an IRA. We can help by offering a high rate of return on your investment. And you get the added protection of FDIC insured safety.
