Kitty's Korner

by
Kitty Montgomery

With the onset of summer peddlers on downtown streets become more frequent and on any given weekend you can buy anything from tomatoes to furniture. With all this comes the trappings of a carnival, complete with campers, trailers, etc. Earlier in the season, we had some sort of photography group parked in a trailer across from the courthouse for three days. I think official action was taken after someone noticed their sewage was running into the park.

Besides looking trashy and possibly causing a health problem, there is great danger from traffic. Trucks do not slow down when they hit downtown Ozona, and when traffic is double parked around the square the hazard becomes greater.

There is a move afoot by downtown merchants to ask the commissioners court to ban this practice and give them some private property to peddle on or some county property out of harm's way. I think it will be on the agenda at the next regular court meeting.

However, if they have to bar and lock the rodeo park to keep disturbances and vandalism down, there is very little hope they can do anything about the peddlers on the square.

With the big July Fourth holiday coming up, there will probably be plenty of fireworks and numerous injuries due to their use. We have a story this week about Texas law on fireworks. It might pay parents and over-age adolescents to read up on this and know the penalties for breaking the law. We would advise everyone to wait until Sunday night and enjoy the Chamber of Commerce fireworks display and just dispense with fooling with their own displays.

We've had more rain this year in June than I can ever remember. Maybe this, combined with the heat, has caused the unusually fast spread of the pecan tree webworm. I'm no expert on the subject, but it seems we just woke up one morning and webworms were all over trees, and even some shrubs. The most effective solution is burning them, if you can reach them. Spraying is also effective, but only if your neighbors spray too. It might be a good idea to get together with the neighbors on the block and have a block spraying party.

Be careful driving this weekend. I can't think of anything more boring than to become a holiday traffic statistic.

Mr. Ross buried in Sanderson

Funeral services for Rufus Joe Ross, 78, of Dryden, were held at graveside Saturday at 3 p.m. in Sanderson Cemetery.

Mr. Ross died at 9:55 a.m. Friday in Crockett County Hospital.

He was born Jan. 8, 1904 in Vance. He married Glenna Mae Godwin, June 18, 1930, in Lometa. She died in 1955. He was a retired rancher and a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include one son, Ben Ross and two grandchildren, all of Ozona, and one sister, Babe St. Clair.

PARK TO BE CLOSED due to vandalism. County employees installed the second gate to the rodeo arena park here Monday. The park will be closed and locked during the late evening and night hours in the future. This action was taken by the Crockett County Commissioners Court after numerous complaints from residents forced the action. Shorty Flanagan and Greg Fleming are putting up the iron pipe gate.

Fireworks and the law, as defined by Dist. Attorney

[The following article is a public service by the Ozona Stockman through the cooperation of Bill Mason, District Attorney of the 112th Judicial District. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of the county and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems.]

Needless to say, everyone wants to have a safe and happy Fourth of July. However, in the past the fun of exploding certain types of dangerous fireworks resulted in the tragedy of loss of a finger or loss of eyesight. In order to try and better protect the public the legislature has regulated the type of fireworks that can be sold at retail or possessed by individuals in the State of Texas.

For example, it is unlawful to offer for sale or to sell fireworks to children under 10 years old or to intoxicated or irresponsible persons. Further, it is illegal to explode or ignite fireworks within 600 feet of any church, hospital, asylum, public school and within 100 feet of where fireworks are stored, sold or offered for sale. It is also illegal to ignite or discharge fireworks within a car or to throw them from a car. Violations of the state fireworks law can result in a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than one year or both.

Persons selling or manufacturing fireworks are required to obtain a license from the State Fire Marshall. A license from the State Fire Marshall is also required for each public display of fireworks. No fireworks may be sold before June 24 or after July 4 during the July Fourth Holiday period. The State Fire Marshall is a division of the State Board of Insurance and, for licensing information, their Austin telephone number is (512)475-4203.

Permissible fireworks in the State of Texas are as follows:

1. Ten ball roman candles, not to exceed 20 grams;
2. Helicopter type rockets, not to exceed 20 grams;

3. Cylindrical fountains, not to exceed 75 grams with an inside tube diameter not to exceed 3/4 inch;
4. Cone fountains (volcanos), not to exceed 50 grams in weight;
5. Wheels, not to exceed 60 grams in weight, but there may be any number of drivers on any one wheel;
6. Illuminating torches and colored fire in any form, not to exceed 100 grams each;
7. Spraklers and dipped sticks, not to exceed 100 grams each;

8. Mines and shells of which the mortar is an integral part, except those designed to produce a noise, not to exceed 40 grams each;
9. Firecrackers and salutes which do not exceed 1 1/2 inches in length or 1/4 inch in diameter and do not exceed 2 grains each in weight;
10. Whistles without report, not to exceed 40 grams each in weight;
11. Skyrockets with sticks of not more than 20 grams each with a casing at least 2 7/8 inches and an overall length including the stick of not less than 15 inches.

These fireworks are required to be within the classification known as "ICC Class C Common Fireworks" and that certification is required to be on all shipping cases and on retail containers. Bottle rockets with sticks are not permissible fireworks.

In addition to the state law, your city or town may have enacted local ordinances prohibiting or imposing further regulations on fireworks. For example, local laws may regulate the noise and locations for exploding fireworks, or possibly ban the explosion of all fireworks within the city or town limits. Check with your prosecutor for possible local ordinances governing the legal use of fireworks.

Have a Happy Fourth of July-but above all, a safe one.

Court meeting controversial

Road Department Projects and Policy was the subject of an emergency meeting of the Crockett County Commissioners Court here Monday morning. The meeting, which should have been routine, became controversial when Crockett County Clerk David Weant was told his services would not be needed. The county clerk routinely takes minutes of court meetings.

Weant called the meeting "illegal" and said any action taken was voidable. He said members of the court violated the law and were subject to fines from $100 to $500 and subject to jail terms of not more than six months. He said the minutes of the meeting could not be duly recorded and that action would be taken. He was in the process of drafting a letter to the Attorney General yesterday.

Judge Johnny Jones called the meeting an "executive session," to discuss various problems in the road department with employees and performance, claiming it was not open to the public and the clerk's services were not required. He denied any wrong-doing on the part of the court. He said Stuart was authorized to purchase a utility trailer for moving mowers around in the county and the court authorized bids for an implement trailer to move tractors and mowers at the road department.

Jones said after much discussion on personnel and performance of road department employees, it was decided to place hourly employees on the time clock method.

Present at the meeting besides Judge Jones were commissioners, B. W. Stuart, Jesus Castro and Sostenes DeHoyos.

Williams gets law degree

Stanley Williams of Selinsgrove, Pa. son of Mrs. Ben Williams and the late Mr. Williams, recently received his law degree from Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa.

He received his BA from Baylor University in Waco, his masters from University of Texas at Austin, where he also worked on his Ph.D.

He is working for a law firm in Selinsgrove, where he also served as county commissioner.

No clues in kidnap-theft

Officers had no clues early this week in the kidnap, car-theft involving two Ozona men, which occurred late last Tuesday night.

The incident occurred when Phillip Vargas and Johnny Villarreal met four men at Maness Texaco on Interstate 10, about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday. The men, three blacks and a white, were having car trouble and offered to pay the two Ozona men to take them to the Circle Bar Truck Stop.

The men got in Vargas' vehicle, a blue 1970 Ford Mustang, and when they neared Crockett Heights, about four miles east of Ozona, two men pulled guns and ordered Vargas to keep driving. About four miles east of the truck stop, Vargas and Villarreal were threatened and ordered out of the vehicle. The group then drove on toward Sonora. The Ozonans made their way back to the truck stop where they contacted the Crockett County Sheriff's Department and reported the incident.

The men were seen in Sonora later the same night buying gasoline. One man left the vehicle and headed west on foot, while the remaining three drove east, according to reports.

It was later learned the 1978 white Cutlass the men were driving when Vargas and Villarreal met them had been stolen from New Orleans, La. The car is in custody at Crawford Garage.

Annual tennis tournament held

Forty-three entries were received for the Annual Ozona Tennis Tournament held Saturday at the public tennis courts. Mike Bien, former tennis pro, directed the tournament this year.

Mike Penalar of Sonora won the boys singles and Clinton Moore of Big Lake was second.

Ronnie Schneider, former Ozona tennis star, now of Lamesa, won the mens singles with second place going to Nelson Payne of San Angelo.

First place in womens doubles went to Carolyn McKee and Gloria Garza, both of San Angelo. Paula Crouch and Peggy Bien, an Ozona pair came in second.

Playoffs for the womens singles and mens doubles will be played in San Angelo. All six players are San Angelo residents and after weather threatened Saturday afternoon, they asked to hold the playoffs Monday in San Angelo.

The mens doubles will be between Scott Barber and Arthur Young, and Ricky Garza and Nelson Payne. Carolyn McKee and Gloria Garza will play for the womens singles championship.

Trophies go to all first and second place winners.

THE WOOD CHIPPER IN ACTION-Crockett County's newest piece of equipment reduces tree limbs and leaves to powder and will be the answer to overcrowding at the dump ground, officials hope. Water district employees feed the machine which makes short work of shrub clippings and tree limbs in alleys all over town.

SOVIET SLAVE TRADE

By Edwin Feulner

Teeth shatter at the blow of a rifle butt as a prisoner is reminded not to "misbehave." Iron bars separate men from humanity and like a noose the barb-wire madness chokes the last bit of hope.

Welcome to the Vietnamese gulag, born of Communist "liberation," the ultimate reality of a utopian dream. This is life inside Vietnamese "re-education" camps.

Reports now filtering to the West indicate that Vietnamese workers are being used as slave laborers to build the Soviet Union's 3,000-mile Yamal gas pipeline.

Exile Doan Van Toai, author of The Vietnamese Gulag, reports that Hanoi sent 15,000 "invited workers" to Bulgaria last November.

How should America respond to this "sale of the proletariat"? Until now, the controversy over the Yamal pipeline has centered primarily on the threat of the Soviets using the gas to blackmail the West.

While Western bankers rush to finance the pipeline and European and American companies sell the Soviets the equipment to build it, it seems that those interests are not merely supporting an economic venture.

Can the West really speak out strongly about the Soviet bloc's human rights violations when dollars and cents seem to be the ultimate justification for dealing with the Soviets?

Free enterprise, like any other system of economics, can be used either morally or immorally. The business community and those in the political arena need to take a second look at our involvement in the construction of the Yamal pipeline.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Last week at the State Capitol, the state of the economy was a theme woven into various political fabrics: some state agencies are asking for more money, a telephone company requested for a record rate hike, Texas wants more federal dollars for alien education costs.

Whether right or wrong, the Democrats plan to hang the recession and high jobless rate around the necks of Reagan and other assorted Republicans. And right or wrong, the GOP is saying the recession was inherited and caused by liberal Democrats.

Complicating matters for state government candidates is the fact that Congress is expected to approve a new budget containing over $21 billion worth of new taxes and a $100 billion-plus deficit. Federal lawmakers of both parties may have to violate party dogma when they vote on this budget, which may lead to embarrassment of many folks down along the line.

State Agencies Budget requests from state agencies are expected to be increased and highly competitive, with some agencies asking for 100 percent hikes. Anticipated increases for some agencies are: Department of Human Resources, $500 million increase; State Health Department, $150 million; Texas Rehabilitation Commission, $92.8 million; Texas Department of Corrections, $638 million; Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has filed a $471.5 million rate hike, the largest proposed increase in state history, with the Public Utilities Commission. The increase would come mostly from residential rate increases, and also from local business service. Rates for service connections and directory assistance would also go up.

Insanity, DWI Soon after the jury found John Hinckley, Jr. innocent by reason of insanity in the attempt on Reagan's life, a Texas senator has announced he will introduce a law to amend the insanity plea in this state.

State Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said he believes the insanity plea is used too often to undermine the criminal justice system, and its use needs to be modified. He suggested several options are open to lawmakers, including adopting a verdict of "guilty but mentally ill," as used in four other states.

Another state senator is pushing for stiffer DWI penalties while the Department of Public Safety director is asking the Legislature to raise the legal drinking age back to 21. The director, Col. Jim Adams, also wants to amend other DWI related laws, perhaps barring open alcoholic beverage containers from vehicles.

State Sen. Bill Sarpalus, who authored the bill raising the legal age from 18 to 19, is also pushing for such stronger DWI penalties. The anti-DWI bandwagon is shaping a program which includes increased penalties and increased difficulty in avoiding penalties, and the movement appears to be gaining strength.

Democrats, Republicans The Democrats last week nominated State Dist. Judge Bill Kilgarlin of Houston for the Texas Supreme Court. He replaces Associate Justice James G. Denton, who died of a heart attack two weeks ago. There is no Republican candidate.

The Republican National Committee voted unanimously last week to select Dallas as the site of the 1984 GOP national convention. State party officials immediately promised the grandest convention ever.

Dallas, which gave the Reagan-Bush ticket its biggest majority of any major city in 1980, was also the first choice of the President.

Local community market concept being revived

The thought of obtaining fresh fruits and vegetables at a reasonable price appeals to most of our palates as well as our pocketbooks—especially now when making ends meet is somewhat more difficult than it used to be.

On the other hand, weekend gardeners who wind up with more produce than their families can use generally would rather see it go to a good cause than watch it spoil.

Both of these elements have brought a rejuvenation of the local community market concept, points out Gordon Powell, an economist in fruit and vegetable marketing.

"It's a perfect marketing match," notes Powell, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Both parties benefit if there are a large enough number of people and small producers in a particular area. The consumer pays for a good product and the producer finds an outlet for his surplus without going through a middleman."

Powell lists three major criteria for this type of market: produce growers who are interested in selling, an easily accessible facility, and consumers interested in buying fresh farm produce.

Backyard gardeners should grow a wide enough variety of product to provide a good selection for consumers, suggests the economist. Growers generally rent their own stalls at the market and choose their own price and quality control committees.

"In the summer, many people buy vegetables in hamper lots to use in home canning and freezing. Therefore, growers should have various quantities of fresh produce available," advises Powell. "In addition, homemade cakes, bread, cider and any other items may be sold."

To boost sales, growers need to use advertising effectively. More people can be made aware of the market with advertising spots on local television and radio stations and in newspapers.

One difficulty for a community in establishing a market is that it's sometimes hard to identify growers. Those who would be willing to participate are the small, weekend gardeners rather than the established, bigtime producers, notes the economist.

Time is another problem. Someone has to sit with the produce to sell it and this cuts into busy schedules.

"Economics and self-satisfying participation are the major thrusts behind the re-emergence of the community market concept," says Powell. "People enjoy having an alternative to merely accepting retail grocery prices. Plus there's the nostalgia trend. People seem to be going back to the old ways of doing things."

Community markets also have a social aspect. This enables people to get together and drink coffee and chat as well as carry on their business.

drome and it worked well for our early human ancestors, preparing them to run fast or fight hard in life-threatening situations. But these changes in the brain, nervous system, heart and muscles also impede certain mental abilities.

People under stress often become forgetful, irritable and find it hard to make simple decisions, said William Blocker, M.D., assistant professor of physical medicine. Ironically, the body's adaptation to stress, intended by nature to help people out of tough spots, can actually hinder them in dealing with modern problems that require a cool head rather than a hasty departure.

Continued stress is also dangerous to health, said Blocker, since it can stimulate the body to act as if constantly under siege. One result can be an increase in blood pressure, a risk factor in heart disease.

However, there are ways to control stress.

Silverman said stress management begins with good self-monitoring: being aware of feeling angry, tired, sad or anxious. Accepting feelings frees one to deal with them.

While there are countless ways to handle problems, methods have common elements of information gathering, evaluation and planning.

As one engages in this process, stressful situations in the past may be remembered. Past experiences can cushion people in a crisis, helping them to view the problem as solvable. But if an old memory is hurting instead of helping self-confidence, the person can learn to separate the past and present event.

Exercise and relaxation techniques can also help people handle emotions while performing life's necessary tasks.

DPS predicts 47 deaths July 4

The Department of Public Safety today estimated that as many as 47 persons could die in traffic accidents during this July 4th weekend unless drivers are exceptionally careful.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said the risk of traffic accidents will increase during the 78-hour holiday period as more drivers take to the streets and highways for the holiday.

"As in many weekend traffic accidents, alcohol, excessive speed, and failure to use seat belts are the major contributing factors in the traffic deaths," he said.

DPS statistics show that 63 persons were killed during the last 4th of July holiday and 25 of those fatalities resulted from accidents in which driving while intoxicated was a factor.

The DPS Operation Motorcycle counting period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, July 2, and continues through midnight Monday, July 5. The Department will tabulate city and highway traffic fatalities and release totals three times daily at 10 a.m., 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. The first report will be made at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 3.

When life hands you a lemon, make lemonade

When life hands you a lemon, make lemonade.

That is the basic lesson in learning to cope with stress, say specialists at Baylor College of Medicine.

The first step is to take personal charge of your response to routine aggravations such as deadlines and traffic jams, said Seth Silverman, M.D., assistant professor of psychiatry at Baylor.

As people learn to control their own reactions during stressful events, they gain a feeling of mastery that they can draw on during the next crisis.

Staying in control may be easier if people understand what causes some of the tendency to act irrational under pressure, said Silverman.

Stimulated by stressful cues in everyday life, an alarm system is turned on in the body. This automatic reaction to stress, switched on by hormones, is known as the "fight or flight" syn-

Debra Says

Silk fashions need special cleaning techniques to preserve the longlasting, hardwearing qualities.

Dry cleaning won't hurt any silk, but handwashing is better for some washable silk. Above all, read care labels and follow instructions.

Handwashing in warm water actually refreshes washable silk, rejuvenating a gum-like coating put on by the silk worm in the fiber stage.

Called "sericin," the coating is a natural sizing that dry cleaning does not destroy or refresh.

In handwashing, take special-care steps.

Hand wash in lukewarm water with mild soap. Rinse the garment and gently press out excess water in a towel. Do not wring or twist.

Smooth and straighten seams and air dry fabrics out of direct sunlight until slightly damp. While damp, press on wrong side with steam.

Careful handwashing will not harm solid silks, such as broadcloth, pongee and crepe de chine, but do not wash iridescents.

Since silk cannot be made colorfast, do not wash prints or very bright colors. Dry clean them instead.

Also, take stained garments to a professional dry cleaner.

Remove water spots or surface shines on washables by dunking the garment in warm water and then letting it dry.

To keep white silks white, occasionally put a drop or two of ammonia and hydrogen peroxide into warm sudsy water, and wash the garment in that.

To remove yellowing from a pale-color silk, add three tablespoons of white vinegar to cool water, and wash the garment in it.

To prevent unremovable perspiration and sticky deodorant stains, use dress shields.

GOOD SUGAR COOKIES
1 cup brown sugar; 1 cup white sugar; 1 cup shortening or margarine; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 eggs; 4 cups flour; 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 2 tablespoons vinegar.

Cream sugar and shortening; add eggs, salt, soda in vinegar and vanilla. Mix well. Add flour. Shape into balls, dip top side in sugar, flatten. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 350 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 8 dozen.

BROWNIES
2 cups sugar; 4 eggs; 1 cup butter, melted; 1/2 cup cocoa; 1 1/2 cups flour, sifted; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 cup pecans, chopped.

Add eggs to sugar one at a time, beating after each; mix in melted butter, cocoa, flour and vanilla. Pour mixture into 9x13 inch pan and sprinkle top with pecans pressing gently into dough. Bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees F. Cool and cut in squares.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

For sometime now perhaps you have noticed a dependable perennial growing along our highways that continues through the summer. As the colors of spring begin to fade, the common yarrow appears with the flat flower clusters floating in drifts above the feathery foliage.

Yarrow has been a favorite of gardeners for many years. It can be started from divisions or seeds in white, rosy pink, and yellow. The favorite place for yarrow is in the perennial border, and blends well with such companions as blazing star, phlox, bee balm, lambi ears, and columbine. Also it creates a handsome background in annual borders.

Perhaps most of all, yarrow is prized for cutting, both for fresh and dried arrangements. All types dry equally well. Just cut the blossoms when they are at their peak, and secure several stems together with string or rubber bands. Then hang them upside down in a cool, dry, dimly lit place, such as a garage or attic. They should be dry and ready to arrange in about three to four weeks.

Some of the most popular to choose from are:

Common Yarrow (Achillea Millefolium), most often seen along roadsides. Rose-colored selections of common yarrow names are Rubra, Rosea, Cerise, Queen, Rose Beauty, Fire King and Red Beauty.

Fern-leaf Yarrow (A filipendula)-This has magnificent yellow or gold blossoms. Recommended selections are coronation gold (deep gold), Moonshine (sulfur yellow) and Parker's Variety (gold).

Sneezewort Yarrow (Aptarmica)-Flowers are white. Popular selections are Angel's Breath and The Pearl.

Woolly Yarrow (A tomentosa)-Selections available are Aurea and Nana. This is the earliest bloomer of all which unfolds its bright-yellow flowers from late April through June. Unlike other yarrows this one is dwarf (6 inches tall) and spreading. It is ideal for use on a rock wall or as the foreground for a sunny border.

If growing yarrow from seeds, gardeners in our area should start them this month or next so the transplants will be ready to set out in the garden by September. These should begin blooming in the spring.

Avoid heavy soils and extremely wet situations. If provided with a sunny location and well-drained soil, yarrow is probably one of the easiest perennials to grow.

COUPLES GOLF

In couples golf play Tuesday at the Country Club, there was a tie for first place between the team of Rick and Darolyn Webster and Katy and Demp Jones and the team of Jeffrey Young, Sherry Webster, Jill and Randy Crawford.

The third place team was Monte and Jim Sanker and Jimmy and Pete Jacoby.

Nearest to the pin on number 9 were Billie Gene Baggett and Rick Webster.

FRIDAY BRIDGE

Mrs. Sherman Taylor entertained the Friday Club in her home last week.

High score went to Mrs. Sterling Baker and guest high to Mrs. Gene Williams. Mrs. O. D. West won the bingo.

Others playing were Mrs. Eddie Arnold, Mrs. Bailey Post, Mrs. J. B. Miller, Mrs. Evert White, Mrs. Roger Dudley, Mrs. Joe Couch, Mrs. J. J. Marley, Mrs. Bill Cooper and Mrs. Taylor.

cluded fifteen young people and seven sponsors.

The statue lady stands looking down at New York Harbor . . . at America! She is looking over a nation which has still not cast off dissension . . . a nation of soul-searching, of division . . . of all things that marked its revolutionary beginnings.

True, we are living in troubled times. But haven't times always been troubled? And since men and women are not saints, won't there always be problems and soul-searching and division?

But the important thing is that ultimately our unity has always transcended our differences . . . just as the unity of the Church has triumphed over even more difficult differences and division.

Our nation is over 200 years old. But it is merely a child compared to the age of the Church. In celebrating our nation's independence, isn't it a good time to turn to the Church and to everything for which it stands?

Women in Ranching is topic for Round up

Del Rio, Tex.--Like her urban counterpart, today's ranch woman wears several hats. As business and society becomes increasingly complicated, her versatile expertise is more critical to survival of the ranch family than ever before. And the uniqueness--sometimes traumatic, always unusual--problems encountered in everyday ranch life require special understanding and attention.

"Women in Ranching," a special two-day concurrent session during the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR), will focus on topics important to ranch women and the ranch family. The IRR will be held August 10-12 in this festive border city.

Basic accounting and budgeting, micro-computers in the ranch home, savings and investment options for the 80's, ranch estate planning, and basic financial planning are some of the business-related topics to be highlighted.

Other topics important to ranch women include protecting women's economic interest in ranching, overcoming isolation on the ranch, the ranch versus the family, improving communications within the ranch family, plus an inspirational message, "Together We Can."

Speakers include State Representative Susan G. Mc-Bee, Nevada rancher Jeanne Edwards, West Texas rancher-writer Hallie Stillwell, family management specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and several other guest speakers.

Session chairman is Gloria Schwarzlose, Southwest Texas district director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Participants have the opportunity to attend simultaneous concurrent sessions in beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, meat goats, brush management and wildlife.

Thus far, over 100 ranching experts from 12 states

Veterans and G.I. home loans

Veterans selling properties obtained through Veterans Administration-guaranteed home loans remain legally liable for repayment of the full loan balance--with few exceptions--even though they no longer own the property, advises T.W. Myatt, Director, Houston VA Regional Office.

The exceptions: The VA-guaranteed loan is paid off in full at the time of the sale, the VA releases the veteran from liability in writing or the property is sold to another eligible veteran with sufficient GI loan entitlement.

In the latter case, Myatt stresses, the purchaser would have to agree to assume the loan balance and substitute his or her loan entitlement.

Unless those important precautions are taken, the veteran who obtained the GI loan would be obligated to repay the U.S. Government the amount paid the loan holder under the VA loan guarantee contract if the new purchaser defaults on monthly payments and the property is foreclosed.

Those interested in further information should telephone the Houston VA Regional Office toll free at 1-800-393-2200.

and three countries have confirmed to speak during the three-day event, one of the largest gatherings ever held in the Southwest. Last year's IRR attracted over 700 producers and industry leaders to the border area for five days of educational sessions and entertainment festivities.

IRR headline heynoters are Raymond D. Lett, executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary John Block; C. G. Scruggs, Progressive Farmer magazine vice-president and editor; Bob Bliss, cattle feeding division general manager of Friona Industries; John L. "Chip" Merrill, coordinator, Texas Christian University Ranch Management Training program; Terry D. Mitchell, Australian Department of Agriculture; Allan Savory, Savory Grazing Method Range Consultant, New Mexico; and Representative McBee.

Participants in the "Women in Ranching" sessions also have the opportunity to register for tours of progressively managed ranches in Southwest Texas (August 9) and Mexico (August 13). Tour registration must be completed by July 15 and a maximum of 200 persons can make either day-long tour.

Registration material and tour information can be obtained by writing to IRR, P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

All IRR participants will be the guests of the mayor of Ciudad Acuna for a "Mexican Fiesta" around the scenic town plaza before dining at any of several popular Mexican restaurants there. A country-western dance follows the August 11 traditional steak banquet. One less evening meal function is planned this year to allow visitors more free time to shop and visit the area.

The IRR is coordinated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Uvalde to provide ranchers the latest technology and idea exchange to make their management decisions more profitable.

Detail important in mens fashions

Attention to details is a man's secret to a well-dressed appearance, says Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Mens' fashions change in less obvious ways than women's fashions, but "know-how" concerning the important details is still just as crucial, the specialist says.

Garment designs and how well each garment relates to the others are two of those details.

Regardless of individual preferences in styling, certain proportions are pleasing, while others make the body look odd, the specialist explains.

For example, when jackets are more shaped and closer to the body, then be sure trouser legs also are narrow--to keep upper and lower portions of the body in balance.

When lapels are narrow, the best choice in ties and pant legs are narrow, too. Moderate lapels look best with moderately wide pant legs and ties.

Another example of balance is that between the lapel gorge and jacket closure. Gorge is the line where collar and lapel meet. If the gorge is high on the jacket, the top button on the jacket usually will be high, too. This calls for short points on the shirt collar and a moderately narrow tie.

A jacket with a low gorge and low closure calls for a shirt with moderate collar points and a moderate-width tie.

Also, pay attention to widths of waistbands, cuffs and belts. A wide waistband calls for a wide belt and wide cuffs, if any.

PBPA report

The Independent Petroleum Association of America is anticipating either the House and/or the U.S. Senate to pass bills that would increase taxes on the domestic oil and gas industry.

There are several proposals being discussed to help raise taxes between 20 and 23 billion dollars in 1983 and up to 105 billion by 1985. The Reagan Administration has proposed that intangible drilling costs, or IDC's be subject to the 15 percent minimum corporation tax. If approved, this would seriously reduce outside investment and could cut drilling by an additional thirty percent. Drilling has dropped 35 percent, or 1600 rigs, since January first of this year.

A number of other tax increases have been introduced. They include: a repeal of the so-called windfall profits tax reduction, the 30 percent "Crude Oil Profit Sharing Tax," repeal of the depletion allowance and expanding of IDC's. A BTU tax on all fuels, a fee on imported crude oil and products, and excise tax on both domestic and imported oil and an increase in the Federal Gasoline Tax.

Anyone interested in going to Washington or needing more information on these proposed tax changes, contact PBPA in Midland.

Chicken is still a bargain

What food can be purchased in the local supermarket for about 10 cents a pound more than it cost in 1954, almost 30 years ago?

The answer, of course, is poultry. Ready-to-cook chicken sold at the back dock of processing plants in 1954 for about 37 cents per pound. Today the price is about 46 cents. And chicken in the supermarket was about 39 cents "on sale" in 1954. Today's "on special" chicken sells for about 49 cents per pound.

"This is a remarkably small price increase over the last 30 years," points out Dr. James H. Denton, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Why is this nutritious product being offered to the American consumer at such an attractive price?

"The main reason is the highly productive and efficient poultry industry," says Denton. "All phases of the poultry marketing industry, including genetics, nutrition, production, management, processing and distribution, have contributed to this phenomena."

Due to genetic improvements birds grow to be heavier in a shorter period of time than was previously possible. In addition, relative proportions of the breast, thigh and drumstick--the meaty portion of the chicken--have increased greatly due to improvements in commercial strains of broiler-fryers available today. All commercial broilers today are basically Cornish cross strains which are processed at seven weeks of age at a weight of 4 to 4½ pounds, notes the specialist.

Advances in poultry nutrition have led to a basic diet for chicken broilers composed mostly of corn and soybeans, 60 percent and 40 percent, respectively. This is supplemented with small amounts of other ingredients to insure a complete balance of amino acids, vitamins and minerals. In addition the energy, or caloric, content is closely monitored to achieve the maximum growth rate, good fleshing and uniformity of the entire flock.

As far as production and management factors are concerned, all birds are raised in confinement houses, feed intake is controlled and clean water is provided at all times. Environmental factors such as temperature and ventilation are monitored closely to insure bird comfort.

Poultry processing today is vastly different and greatly improved from the days when slaughtering and dressing was done using hand labor, says Denton. The slaughtering operation, including scalding to loosen feathers and picking to remove them, evisceration (removal of intestines), USDA inspection, washing and chilling is fully mechanized. This greatly improves operational efficiency and the cleanliness of the product, notes the specialist. Present processing systems insure a uniform wholesome product available the year round.

Modern packaging methods which use refrigeration to the maximum also have contributed to the poultry industry's success by almost eliminating economic losses due to spoilage. Chicken now is available in a variety of forms, including whole, cut-up, breast portions and leg quarters. In addition, a host of cooked products can be found in most supermarkets. "Even if the price of poultry was double what it was in 1954, the consumer would still come out the winner," contends Denton. "Considering price increases for most items since that time, especially cars, clothes and homes, poultry is 'a steal' today."

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Upham were in Jal, N.M. last week to attend his 15-year class reunion, the class of 1967.

How to check mail order merchandise

After you've considered the advantages and disadvantages of mail ordering your clothes, check on the reliability of the company and description of merchandise, suggests Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

Fonseca is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

If you aren't sure about the company, contact the Better Business Bureau, your local or state Consumer Protection Agency or the Federal Trade Commission, the specialist encourages.

These organizations are operated and funded by the federal government and are geared to protecting consumers, she says.

When paging through mail order catalogues, read the description of merchandise very carefully, Fonseca advises.

Don't rely on the picture to tell you everything. The garment may not be exactly as pictured, she adds.

To be on the safe side, order merchandise from reputable companies that have "satisfaction guaranteed" provision or money-back guarantee, the specialist suggests.

When ordering by mail, consumers should keep in mind a few guidelines, she says.

Print clearly or type all information on the order blank to assure proper delivery.

Include complete catalogue number, page numbers, description of item(s) and any other special information requested on the order form.

State clearly on the order form if you do not wish to receive substitute items.

Before ordering an item, check to see if it can be returned. On reduced items, refunds, credits or exchanges are not always allowed. In addition, personalized items cannot be returned in most cases. (Examples include monogram handbags, blouses or shirts).

Keep a copy of your order including date order was sent, copy of catalog page the ad was on, the company's guarantee statement and details about home trial of items.

When you receive the merchandise, examine it to make sure it isn't damaged, or something not ordered or incomplete. If it didn't arrive when you needed it (provided you ordered it in ample time for shipment), then be sure to notify the company immediately. Return the shipping label when you return the merchandise and state whether or not you want a refund or exchange if the original order can't be filled.

Use the United States Postal Service or insured parcel post to return the item, and get receipts.

April crude oil production

Texas crude oil production totaled 72,770,172 barrels in April, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent.

The figure compares with reported production totaling 74,997,266 barrels and April 1981 production of 74,163,737 barrels.

Texas oil production averaged 2,417,328 barrels daily in April, down from 2,419,267 barrels daily in March and down from 2,472,125 barrels daily in April 1981.

The April allowable totaled 95,511,051 barrels.

The preliminary April summary indicated Texas oil production was 23.81 percent under the allowable for the month.

Through the first four months of this year, Texas has produced 289,116,252 barrels of oil.

Screwworms are threatening

Screwworms are again threatening Texas' livestock, and ranchers and owners of household pets should be on the alert for possible new worm cases in Texas.

This warning comes from Dr. Cliff Hoelscher, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, following confirmation of nine screwworm cases recently in Mexico within a few miles of Del Rio and Comstock, in Val Verde County. Texas' last confirmed case was in May, 1981.

Livestock and pet owners located near Del Rio should increase their vigilance and regularly inspect their animals for wounds and screwworm cases. Since it is possible that fertile screwworm flies may have migrated northward into Texas, producers throughout the entire state should be on the lookout for possible screwworm cases, Hoelscher warns.

Samples of any suspicious worm cases should be collected and sent to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Sterile Screwworm Fly Laboratory, P.O. Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572. Postage-paid sample collection mailing kits may be obtained from county Extension agents, representatives of the Texas Animal Health Commission, local veterinarians and feed store operators.

Measures to control the outbreak in Mexico are already underway, with Dr. David Anderson, epidemiologist with the USDA in Mexico City, on site to direct the program.

A 50-by-80 mile area, reaching from east of Del Rio up past Dryden and across the Rio Grande over Rancho Santa Rosa (where the cases were confirmed in sheep), is being hot-spotted by several plane loads of sterile screwworm flies.

To assist in overwhelming fly populations, specially-treated pellets called SWASS (Screwworm Adult Suppression System) also are being dispersed by planes. The pellets attract and destroy naturally occurring populations of potential screwworms, Hoelscher explains.

Dr. and Mrs. Joel Huff and daughters, Melissa and Abigail, of Lederach, Pa. are here for a three-week visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Huff and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Childress. Dr. Huff is a research chemist with Merck, Sharp and Dohme in West Point, Pa.

Do family affairs affect work output? Conditions that affect the stability of American families do have an impact on family members' work productivity.

Legislator would eliminate insanity as murder defense

Hill Country Representative, Gerald Geistweidt, of Mason announced that he plans to introduce legislation in the next session of the Texas Legislature which would eliminate insanity as a defense in murder trials.

Geistweidt said, "When a man like John Hinckley can shoot the President of the United States on network television and escape a jail term because of an insanity defense, then the time has come to change the law. I think the public is sick and tired of the rights of criminals receiving priority over the rights of the innocent victim."

Geistweidt noted that Texans were stunned two years ago by another controversial example of the use of the insanity defense. In February of 1980, a Wichita Falls woman saw the movie, The Exorcist. After viewing the film, she returned to her home and cut out her four-year-old daughter's heart with a butcher knife. The mother was found to be insane and committed to a mental hospital.

"What is really incredible is that only two years later the hospital released the woman because they felt she was no longer dangerous," Geistweidt said.

Geistweidt cited a similar incident which occurred in Alaska. A man in Alaska killed an Eskimo because "the sound of the Eskimo's voice irritated him." The defendant was found to be insane and committed to a mental hospital. A short time later he was released on a parole-type arrangement. Within the first week of his release, he killed four young girls.

"These cases and numerous others are examples of poor public policy. There is no reason why defendants should not be treated if mentally ill. But I also believe that the public should be protected against abuse of the insanity plea."

Geistweidt explained that while he has not yet worked out all of the details of the legislation, he has been studying an Idaho law as a model for his legislation. That law, which will go into effect on July 1, bars insanity as a defense in any criminal trial. Although the law bars a plea of innocent by reason of insanity, it does require the judge to hold a hearing on the defendant's mental health at the time of sentencing, and psychiatric treatment could be ordered as part of the sentence as well as a jail term. Geistweidt concluded by saying that these provisions appear to provide adequate protection for the accused.

Drownings can be prevented

Many drownings which occur close to the shore can be prevented by quick action, even if the rescuer has no lifesaving training, according to TSA's Vice President for Home and Leisure Activities, Nelson Mueller.

"This Fourth of July weekend, while many families are enjoying water-sports, drownings can be prevented by action of those on the shore," said Nelson Mueller, Safety and Health Administrator for ALCOA in Rockdale.

"Persons on the shore can help swimmers in trouble by providing them with flotation devices," Mueller said. "It only takes 12 pounds of buoyancy to hold a 180 pound person's head out of water," he added.

"When you see someone in trouble you can throw him or her your coffee thermos because it adds buoyancy which could save a life," Mueller said. Other items likely to be near in a Fourth of July outing like a closed fishing tackle box or an ice chest can also be used to save a life. And, of course, a pair of long pants inflated and tied off at the legs and waist can also provide lifesaving buoyancy.

These lifesaving tips come from the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in Texas as a reminder that those on the shore need not stand idly by while a swimmer or boater drowns close to shore.

PHONE NEWS TO THE STOCKMAN.

More importantly, however, they should also provide more protection for society.

When fermenting a pickled product, use a crockware pot or a plastic bucket which is intended for food, cautions Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Never use a garbage or other plastic bucket not intended for food use.

Microwave-convection oven choices in purchasing

Examine the many aspects of today's new microwave-convection oven combinations on the market before making a buying decision, says Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Microwave-convection ovens are getting a lot of attention right now, as, ideally, they combine the speed and efficiency of microwave cooking with the browning and crisping qualities of the convection oven, she says.

These ovens have both power levels and temperature settings.

Some will heat up to 450 degrees F., while others will heat no higher than 300 degrees F.

Convection cooking allows food to be cooked at lower temperatures than you would normally need for conventional cooking.

Combination ovens look very much like microwave ovens, except they're larger and they must be vented for release of hot air. This requires substantial counter space, Rhoades points out.

Check the inside cavity in each case to see that it's large enough to cook your largest items, such as large roasts, turkeys and other bulky items.

Most combination ovens cost more than microwaves and may cost as much as both a microwave and a convection oven, so be sure to compare costs among different models and then weigh the choices carefully, the specialist advises.

Consider your needs versus the cost, too.

Today's new combination ovens cook by alternating back and forth between microwave cooking and convection cooking during the cooking process, or they cook first with one mode and then with the other.

Each oven's operating instructions and recipe booklet will explain how the appliance works and which cooking method or combination is recommended.

Some brands of combination ovens have temperature probes which allow you to check the internal temperature of foods, and they may even cut the oven off when the desired temperature is reached.

When possible, attend a cooking demonstration of the brands you're considering. As with microwave ovens, some brands cook better than others, Rhoades says.

Check to see that foods cook uniformly. A turntable that rotates food helps distribute microwaves more evenly.

Also, check to see if foods on all shelves cook evenly—as well as bulky foods. Food near the hot-air source may brown faster than other foods.

Cooking with microwave or convection is usually faster than conventional cooking unless food quantities are large, Rhoades notes.

When the oven is a combination model, cooking is slower than straight microwave, but it's still usually faster than conventional cooking.

Speed depends on the quantity and density (bulk) of the foods.

Ask about cookware as you consider oven choices, Rhoades suggests.

Cookware designed for microwaves can be used in combination ovens, but some ovens will not allow metal containers.

Be aware that cookware does get hot when convection heat is part of the cooking process—unlike microwave cooking—so be sure to have a hot pad handy to remove food from the oven.

Your combination oven will need cleaning. Clean it as soon as it cools so food residue doesn't build up on the interior surface.

Don't crash on the 4th of July

"There's no such thing as a motor vehicle accident," an officer of the Texas Safety Association stated recently.

James R. Halverson, TSA Vice President for Traffic, said drivers don't experience auto accidents; instead they are in crashes or collisions. "Driver attitude is of great importance in preventing crashes, especially over a heavy traffic weekend like July 4," Halverson, a 3-M Company Account Executive in Austin said. "Texas drivers can reduce the number of collisions they are involved in by driving defensively," he added.

The Texas Safety Association actively promotes traffic safety and driver improvement through the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course, the DDC. Last year in Texas more than 230,000 persons took the eight hour course.

"When driving, anticipate what the other driver will do and always have an escape route," Halverson said. He also noted one of the basic lessons of the DDC which is to complete one crash-free auto trip at a time.

"This means to make each trip in your car a safe trip, one with no crashes," he said. "We believe most crashes and collisions can be eliminated by defensive driving."

Be sure your Fourth of July weekend is crash-free. Drive defensively, buckle-up and drive the posted speed limit.

Home sweet home true for elderly

"Home, sweet, home" is still true for older adults—especially when home is a living environment with the older person in mind, says Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In their homes, older adults need safety, convenience, minimal upkeep and features that promote a feeling of independence, she says.

From the Texas Medical Society

Traffic fatality reports over the July 4 weekend generally overshadow another category of accidents—fireworks.

Fourth of July and Christmas holidays are when most of the estimated 6,000 to 7,000 fireworks injuries occur in the United States each year, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. About 20 percent of these are eye injuries, caused primarily by firecrackers and bottle rockets.

In Texas last year, fireworks caused 72 reported eye injuries, 48 of which involved bottle rockets, notes Dr. Richard D. Cunningham, an ophthalmologist at Scott and White Clinic in Temple.

"Again this year, a number of Texans will be subjected to potentially blinding injuries from fireworks because of our ignorance or indifference to the hazards posed by these devices," Cunningham writes in the June issue of Texas Medicine, journal of the Texas Medical Association. "Nearly all blinding injuries could be prevented if all participants would use protective eyewear."

Last year, bottle rockets caused nine of the 12 reported cases of fireworks blindness in Texas and 11 instances of partial but permanent vision loss, the physician says.

Although many states through legislation have sharply curbed or banned fireworks except for religious, cultural or public display, Texas has not. Cunningham notes that Class C "common" fireworks remain legal in Texas under federal law. These include firecrackers not more than an inch and a half long, sparklers, fountains, roman candles and bottle rockets. "Local ordinances are not uniform and are often poorly enforced," he explains.

Organizations including the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Fire Protection Agency have encouraged enactment of strict regulations regarding the use of fireworks.

"These injuries are unnecessary and preventable," Cunningham says. "As citizens we should urge strengthening of state and local fireworks regulations and encourage better enforcement of enacted laws."

RRC to proceed with UPS hearing

The Railroad Commission this week directed its Transportation Division to begin hearings on the application of United Parcel Service for authority to transport packages from point to point within Texas. Specific dates for the hearings have not yet been set.

The Commission took no action on several motions filed at a pre-hearing conference February 25, and re-stated in oral arguments before the Commission May 3, by truck and bus companies which are protesting the UPS application. One of the motions concerned whether or not the Commission has the authority to grant the certificate UPS requests. Protesting companies also asked the Commission to rule on the admissibility of some types of evidence that may be presented at the hearing and whether or not testimony of witnesses must be written and filed in advance of their appearance.

The Commission's Transportation Division had originally planned to begin the UPS hearings May 11. They were postponed after parties in the case asked to present oral arguments to the Railroad Commissioners on the prehearing motions.

United Parcel Service will be the first to present evidence when the hearings start. Earlier, UPS told the Commission it would need eight weeks to present the testimony of some witnesses.

The first two weeks of testimony will be given in Austin by UPS personnel and public witnesses who live in the area. The hearings will then move to Dallas where the remaining testimony on behalf of the UPS application will be heard. UPS said that Dallas transportation facilities and accommodations make it the most convenient location for many of the witnesses scheduled to testify. Truck and bus companies who oppose the UPS application will present their evidence following UPS.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

FACTS
and FACTS!

For many, the word "homemaker" conjures up the image of a domesticated woman, anchored to her apron strings in the safe harbor of household responsibility. In today's world, that image is just not valid.

Equal partnership in the home is increasingly becoming a reality. More and more men and women from all walks of life are sharing the rewards—and the responsibilities—of making a home. Homemaking is more than cooking and sewing. It's learning how to maintain a family budget, how to deal with the outside world, how to establish family goals and how to create a happy home. Homemaker—it's a role that sooner or later, we all must learn how to fill, in order to successfully manage our lives. I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By Jerry Lay

Here's an oddity...in the 10 seasons from 1949 through 1958, the New York Yankees won the pennant 9 times--and the only time they didn't win the pennant in that span (1954), they won more games (103) than in any of the other years!... Strange, but true.

What's the record for a pitcher striking out the most batters in a row in big league baseball history?...The all-time record is held by Tom Seaver who, on Aug. 20, 1970, struck out the last batter in the 6th inning and then struck out every batter in the 7th, 8th and 9th innings for 10 straight strike outs, setting a record that's never been topped in the majors.

In the history of the Olympics, has the U.S. or Russia won the most medals?...Answer is the U.S....The U.S. has won 1,512 medals in all the Summer Olympics, and 108 in Winter Olympics for a total of 1,620... Russia has won 889 in Summer Olympics and 140 in Winter Olympics for a total of 1,029... Britain has won the 3rd-most Olympic medals of all-time and France is 4th.
