I've decided I'm getting too old for this job. In the beginning I made someone mad every week and now somebody is making me mad every week. I used to get a kick out of a good crusade, but lately I just don't want to "get involved." Seems easier to just look the other way. We get enough controversy from our letters to the editor column without my comments here. Even in news stories, we seem to get the blame.

As one staff member remarked, the last time we got a complaint about something in the paper, "people are funny, when they do something wrong and it gets in the paper, they never blame themselves for doing it, or the law for catching them, it's always the fault of the newspaper."

And, if something doesn't get in the paper, the wronged party is mad, or the victim, if you will. Quite often it doesn't get in the paper. Trying to get information from an official source in this town is like trying to build a snowman in hell and after a person has batted her head against a brick wall for ten years, she tends to get a little punchy.

Anyway, back to getting too old—I know I'm getting too old, because I remember when T-shirts didn't say anything, when you bought a 3c stamp to mail a letter, cars were always black with an occasional fancy one done in grey, a person didn't have someone else's name on the back of their pants and welfare was something personal. Those days Franklin Roosevelt was always President and Joe Louis the Champion. You could buy a hamburger for 15c and see a movie for a dime. And that was a long time ago, in anybody's book.

The race for the top farmer is heating up. Glenda Winkley brought a giant tomato in last week, she said Lloyd grew in their garden. He never came by for a picture, so we ate the tomato, it was getting over-ripe. Gene Fowler, brought some tomatoes by the house Sunday and told us Lloyd might have some bigger tomatoes, but his were a more perfect shape. We tested for taste, and they were all good. Gene, of course, still holds the title of Crockett County's number one farmer, due to his several hundred pounds of onion harvest awhile back. Hereberto Gutierrez got into the act with his green beans, which measured 25 inches in length, but we found them better to look at than eat. We are taking all entries and have the shutter cocked on the camera. We are going to give the title to the first one who brings in a 5-pound strawberry.

And not totally unbelievable when you consider people from California hitting a 170-pound mountain lion on I-10. You can grow anything and anything can grow in Texas, especially West Texas.

We are having a hot, dry July. I don't know why I pause to comment on this, since we have a hot, dry July every year. Guess the cool, rainy late spring made me think the cycle had changed or something. However, I am able to report the cycle had changed or something. How-

INTERESTING ART FORM takes shape as the new home of Dr. and Mrs. Steve Sessom goes up in Country Club Estates addition. The home was designed by Jack Meek, well-known San Angelo architect and is constructed of rock, rough cedar and glass. Finish date is late fall.

School board briefed on accounting procedures

The Crockett County School Board met July 13, in regular monthly session to hear school accountant Steve Kenley explain new procedures in school accounting mandated by the Texas Education Agency.

Kenley told the board it would be feasible and permissible if authority was given to sign salary checks for the school district to other than two board members and the county judge as has been the practice in the past. This action was also approved by the school auditors.

The board authorized Superintendent Foy Moody, Assistant Superintendent Garland E. Davis and Kenley to sign salary checks with two of the three men named to have their signatures on all salary checks. This action applies to salary checks only and not to maintenance checks.

Payment of certificate 2 to Davis Constructors, Inc. of San Antonio in the amount of $25,605.90 was approved for renovation and addition to the Administration Building. This amount covered work completed in the month of June. So far the slab has been poured and concrete block walls have been put up for the addition.

Resignations were accepted from two teacher-coaches and Pete Maldonado was hired as a teacher/coach and bus supervisor. A. J. Gholson, who taught English and coached, and Johnny Bradshaw, history teacher and coach, resigned.

Approval was given to the

Lara death due to strangulation

The death certificate filed here July 19, following the death of Gregorio Lara on July 4, indicates the cause of death to be strangulation. District Attorney Bill Mason said the death appears to be homicide and said Ernesto Vargas has been charged with murder in the case and is out on $10,000 bond.

Lara was dead on arrival at Crockett County Hospital during the early morning

ASU signs Ozona's Thompson

Angelo State University's new women's track coach Desire'e Caudill has announced the signing of four prospective track and field athletes, including three freshman and one transfer student, to letters of intent to attend ASU and run track for the Ramblles next season.

Kaye Thompson, a sophomore transfer student from North Texas State University and a former Ozona High School standout distance runner, is among the signees. Thompson was a national Division I qualifier in cross country last year and was also a national qualifier last spring in the 3,200-meter relay. She will run at 3,000 and 5,000 meter distances for the Ramblles, according to Caudill.

The three freshmen prospects includes one West Texas area athlete, long jumper Carla Seldon from Abilene Cooper. Seldon also finished fifth in the Class SA 200-meter dash state championship and has a career best of 19-8 in the long jump.

The two other freshmen are Katie Salmon of Nocona and Autumn Jackson of Mabank. Slamon was a regional champion in the 100-meter hurdles and finished fourth in the Class A state meet. Johnson was a regional champion in the discus and finished fifth in the Class 3A state meet. Johnson will also throw the shot and javelin for the Ramblles.

hours of July 4. His body was brought from the rodeo arena park to the hospital in a pickup by persons who thought he could be helped. However, according to reports death came some time before he was taken to the emergency room at the hospital. The body was sent to San Antonio for autopsy and apparently the report was returned to officials Monday, but officials refused to discuss anything about the autopsy report or even that it had been received.

Rumors as to cause of death ran rife and were said to be everything from death from natural causes to murder. It was common knowledge the deceased and the man charged had an altercation, but reports differed on what took place and where. Law enforcement officials refused to give out any information on the case with the exception of saying they had obtained several statements from witnesses.

The District 112th Grand Jury which met here Thursday considered evidence in the case and will pursue the matter further when they meet again in August, according to Mason.

Judge Troy Williams convened the grand jury in the district courtroom Thursday. Members of the jury include Hank Sellers, foreman; Mrs. Nat Read, Matias Gutierrez, Jr., Joe Robert Valadez, Mrs. Jim Dudley, Hector DeHoyos Jr., Mrs. Fred Chandler, Jimmy Don House, Tomasa Ramos Galan, Cheryl Elizabeth Clayton, Mary Faye Robledo and Mrs. Vance Worthington.

Mason met with the jury and presented several matters pertaining to Crockett County, along with the Lara case. The grand jury returned three indictments, two against George Milton Rebeck. Each indictment being for theft of personal property over the value of $200. One was for theft of a child's saddle and the other for a Donohoe saddle, both of which were taken from the premises of Jim House here in Ozona, and both of which occurred some time during the night of June 4, 1982 Rebeck was captured by Mr. House on June 15, at approximately 1:04 a.m. when he had returned to the scene and was caught stealing a goat.

The other indictment returned by the grand jury was for theft by check. No name was given as the defendant has not been apprehended at this time.

The jury will meet again on August 2, at which time it will be reconvened to hear further evidence in the death of Lara. The investigation continues at this time.

Last week an eager group of teenagers attended a 3 day course on baby sitting. The list will be published in the paper and will be available at the Chamber of Commerce and Extension Office.

We continue to receive calls concerning the Cambridge Diet. The American Society of Bariatric Physicians warn that "very low calorie diets (including powdered instant mix formulas and premixed liquid preparations) pose a significant health hazard to dieters not under continuous and medical supervision by a physician knowledgeable in the metabolism and nutrition of such diets. Such supervision includes appropriate laboratory evaluation at regular intervals." Randall Lee, ASBP Executive Director, reports several hospitalizations of patients on the Cambridge Diet and that the Food and Drug Administration is investigating.

Controversial points of the Cambridge diet are that it provides only 75% of recommended protein intake; it has caused cardiac irregularities due to electrolyte imbalances; can be bought without a prescription but requires medical supervision; monotonous; and fails to establish healthy eating habits.

An alert about heating baby foods in the microwave has been recommended by the food specialists. Most varieties of baby foods can be heated in the microwave but there are some which should not. The following baby foods should not be heated in a microwave; plain meats and poultry, high meat dinners, egg yolks, meat and poultry sticks. There is a reminder on the label of these foods. Microwave heating of these products result in uneven heating that could cause them to explode.

Gerber does not recommend heating any type of baby food in a microwave. But if a consumer wants to use her microwave she should follow this procedure: remove the cap from the jar before heating. Place the opened jar on a plate and put into oven. Start heating at the lowest level of heat and test frequently until the food reaches feeding temperature. Avoid overheating.

Miss Seahorn becomes bride of Mr. Johnson

Miss Ruth Rebecca Seahorn became the bride of Mr. Cecil Burton Johnson, Jr. in a traditional ceremony Saturday, July 17, at Ozona United Methodist Church with Rev. Wayne Boyce, pastor, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Ruth Seahorn and the late Williams Ponder Seahorn, Jr. of Ozona and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Burton Johnson of San Angelo.

The bride wore a silk chiffon gown with Queen Anne neckline trimmed in alencon lace and pearls. The full bishop sleeves were trimmed with the lace as was the chapel-length train. Her veil was caught with a Juliet cap of lace.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Williams Ponder Seahorn, III, of Ozona. Maid of honor was Miss Debbie Deaton of Ozona and matron of honor was Mrs. Ken Fry of San Angelo. Bridesmaids were Miss Melissa Hultquist of Victoria, Miss Terel Seahorn of Ozona and Jennifer Walker of Houston.

The attendants wore gowns of French voile in cornflower blue with matching balero jackets trimmed with tiny ruffles. The junior bridesmaids were of the same fabric in sky blue. Headpieces were matching colors in a crown of tiny flowers.

Best man was Alan Wilde of Wall. Ushers were Ken Fry, Royce Morrison, Mike Truitt, Steve Taylor, Hilliard Hicks, and Kirby Moore, all of San Angelo.

Groomsmen were Danny Wilde of Wall and Scott Hultquist of Houston. Candlelighters and ushers were Shawn Hultquist of Victoria and Will Seahorn of Ozona.

Votive candles in greenery covered the altar rail which was flanked with two candle trees entwined with greenery. The pews were decorated with greenery and votives.

Furnishing wedding music were Mrs. Billy Reagor, soloist, and Mrs. Bud Cox, organist.

Following a wedding trip to Knoxville, Tenn. and the World's Fair, the couple will be at home in San Angelo, where the bridegroom is self-employed. Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Ozona High School and Angelo State University. She is a teacher in the Veribest Independent School District. Her husband is a graduate of San Angelo Central High School and Tarleton State University.

Even though our country side is browning again, it is a pleasure to drive around our city to see the many beautifully colorful and well pruned landscaped yards.

After daisies flower, cut them back to a few inches from the ground, then mulch to control weeds and hold water. Fertilize at a rate of ¼ cup per 10 feet of bed with 5-10-10 or similar complete fertilizer. This will stimulate new growth and a second crop of flowers.

To help improve fall flowering roses, prune out all weak and misplaced canes this month. Withhold fertilizer this month. In August, return to monthly application of ¼ cup of 5-10-5 per plant.

Conditioning is the key to prolonging the freshness of cut flowers indoors. Always cut such flowers as roses, marigold, and zinnias early in the morning, and immediately plunge the stem into a container of warm water. Let them remain until water reaches room temperature, then recut the stems before arranging the flowers. Don't forget to replenish the water in the container everyday.

If our dry weather continues, you may need to slightly raise your mowing height. A height of 2½ to 3 inches is best for St. Augustine; for Bermuda and Zoysia, 1½ to 2 inches is recommended. You need to give your lawn 1 to 2 inches of water each rainless week during summer.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The survival of young ornamental trees depends on the care they receive during their first summer, and supplying adequate moisture is probably the most critical aspect. Construct a 4 to 6 inch-high ring of soil around the tree, making it 18" to 24 inches from the base of the trunk. Let a slow stream of water run into reservoir for several hours once each rainless week. Be careful not to over fertilize newly planted trees. A level tablespoon of 5-10-5 applied once a month is sufficient for a small specimen.

Calling All Homemakers
Brought To You By Brown Furniture
LOOK FOR STYLING AND VALUE
One way to make your home beautiful is to listen to an axiom that has always been true in interior decorating--and that axiom is, "furniture of good design doesn't go out of style".
If you buy furniture that's well-designed, you'll have something that not only looks nice now, but also looks good years from now.
Fortunately, furniture is one of those things that doesn't have to go out of style. The well-designed piece can serve you with beauty for as long as you have it.
Another thing to look for is furniture that is not only well-designed, but well-made, too. The furniture piece that is constructed right will pay for itself with years of use.
Thus, value is a big word in furniture today--and value includes furniture that looks good and lasts long.
But, of course, the trick is to find furniture that really has value. It's hard for the average person to know if a piece of furniture is well-constructed, and it's difficult for many people to assess the relative design of various pieces of furniture.
We can help you select merchandise that has good styling and good value. We want you to have furniture that you like today--and tomorrow.

I get queazy looking at this picture. I'm one of those people who can't stand heights.

Yet they tell me that among the men who build our skyscrapers "it's all in a day's work." Marvelous how humanity rises to every challenge! Someone is ready to answer every call!

God, who created us, is the source of man's courage and strength. Each of us faces challenges that require all the boldness and resourcefulness He has given.

When I worship and when I pray each day I don't ask God for the ability to do another man's job. I ask Him for whatever it takes to fulfill my own responsibilities. And I bring to Him earnestly the needs of my family--and of all men everywhere.

Feeding young horses important

Feeding young horses for maximum growth and sound skeletal structure is important, particularly when the horse is being developed for strenuous events such as racing, jumping, cutting, roping or polo.

"Major concerns of the horseman should be toward developing sound skeletal and muscular tissue," said Dr. Gary Potter, professor and horse program leader in the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University.

"Horsemen should not be concerned with trying to develop fat on young horses because they develop this on their own if they get enough feed," noted Potter, who also is on the research staff of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Some reports have indicated that young horses fed for maximum rates of growth and development are destined to become unsound late in life, but Potter explained that no conclusive scientific research supports this claim.

"The ultimate objective in the horse breeder's plan has to be considered in planning a rate of development expected in young growing horses," Potter said.

Ration formulation and feeding management should be designed for sound skeletal development, he said, because without adequate development, horses will never become desirable performance athletes.

Feeding improperly balanced diets is a common cause but is not the only cause of skeletal disorders in young horses.

"There are at least three factors frequently associated with skeletal problems in horses and other animals," Potter noted. "These are genetic predisposition which is associated with large mature size and rapid growth, nutrient imbalance in the total ration, and excessive forced exercise combined with confinement."

Any one of these factors or a combination may result in skeletal disorders.

And, Potter continued, the horseman should know that nutrient imbalances are as bad for a growing horse as nutrient deficiency.

Potter offered these feeding guidelines for successful management of young horses: feed some long roughage daily, feed individually in a trough that encourages chewing, and feed in individual feeders when horses are in a pasture.

Also important when feeding young horses is to thoroughly mix different feed ingredients, feed horses at a specific time each day, and watch the feed box for any indication that horses are sorting ingredients.

"One of the most important concepts in feeding horses for maximum growth and development with minimum digestive disorder is to feed horses by weight," Potter said. "Horses require their nutrients in a weight relationship to body weight and not a volume relationship.

If genetically sound horses are fed a well-balanced ration and exercised freely, there is little reason to be concerned about potential skeletal disorders, Potter emphasized. However, horsemen must be aware that there are horses with genetic defects leading to skeletal disorders and that feeding imbalanced rations can happen easily. Every precaution should be taken to avoid the various causes of abnormal skeletal development.

Meal in Minutes

Tips To Help You

The era of the working couple has dictated some drastic changes in the way we eat... with some delicious results.

A growing number of one- and two-member American households have discovered the wealth of convenience foods that make nutritious, appetizing meals in minutes. Another plus are today's appliances that help turn out such meals, often using less energy and keeping kitchens cooler. One example is the Toast-R-Oven™ toaster from General Electric that toasts, bakes, broils and top browns.

This delicious Tuna-Cheese Hero Melt makes for a quick, satisfying meal. Prepare ahead and refrigerate till mealtime. All you need is a crisp green salad to round out the menu.

TUNA-CHEESE HERO MELT

- 1 3-1/2 ounce can tuna fish, drained
- 1/4 cup cubed muenster cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 to 2 tablespoons pickle relish
- 2 tablespoons Russian dressing
- 1 long Italian bread (8 or 10 inches) or 2 hero rolls (5 inches)

Combine tuna, cheese, onion, relish and dressing. Split bread or rolls horizontally and remove some of the soft centers. (Reserve for later use as bread crumbs.) Fill with tuna mixture. Press top and bottom together and wrap in foil. Place on oven pan of Toast-R-Oven toaster. Bake at 400 degrees F. (no preheating needed) for 15 to 20 minutes or until cheese melts and bread is crusty. Makes two sandwiches.

Round-up session to focus on goat meat production

Will meat goat consumption soon be rising in the U.S.? What is the export outlook? Will the international market substantially affect U.S. meat goat production?

These and other questions confronting the up and coming meat goat business will be covered in concurrent sessions during the International Ranchers Roundup August 10-12 in this progressive border city.

Production and marketing of meat goats in the U.S., Mexico and Australia will be discussed by experts from the respective countries. A representative from the Australian Department of Agriculture will be here to outline the production and management of meat goat operations.

Major topics due consideration include nutrition and supplementation, breeding and selection for meat production, managing for high kid survival, goat diseases and their treatment, import-export regulations, and outlining a practical flock health program.

Session chairman is Jerome Esquell, Edwards County Extension agent. Simultaneous translation for Spanish-speaking ranchers will be provided.

Producers will have the option of attending additional concurrent sessions in beef cattle, sheep and Angora goats, brush management, and wildlife. Spouses can attend these or a special session for female involved in the ranching operation, "Women in Ranching." These will be discussed by over 100 ranching experts from 12 states.

Ranchers have the opportunity to participate in tours of progressively managed ranches in Southwest Texas (August 9) and Mexico (August 13). Those who plan to make either of the tours must register by July 15 and tour capacity is 200 persons per tour. Also, those who participate in the Mexico tour must register for the entire IRR educational program. Registration material is available by writing to IRR, Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

Last year's IRR was the largest gathering of ranching experts ever assembled in the Southwest for such an activity, attracting some 700 producers and industry leaders to the border for five days of educational programs and entertainment festivities.

This year the mayor of Ciudad Acuna will host IRR participants with a genuine "Mexican Fiesta" around the downtown plaza. A country-western dance is scheduled the next night after the traditional steak banquet. More time is being made available after sessions so visitors can enjoy the entertainment and varied cuisines of the area.

Coordinated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists based at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, the IRR is designed to present ranchers with the latest technology and ideas from around the country and world to help make their management decisions economically productive.

S.S. rep. sets August visit

Garland Gregg, Social Security representative for the San Angelo Social Security office, has scheduled his August visit to Ozona. He will be at the County courthouse on Wednesday, August 18, 1982 from 2:00 - 3:30.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security administration may contact him at this time.

VOLUNTEER WORK

Thinking about doing some volunteer work? Consider contacting families of mentally retarded children, suggests Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Families with mentally retarded children often face constant stresses that other families may not experience, she says.

Two supports you can give are being aware of the need for occasional relief from the stresses and helping in the actual care of handicapped children, the specialist says.

Party honors couple

Miss Tammy Adams and Mr. Louis Bunger were honored with a poolside "Hour Shower" Monday, July 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Childress.

Approximately 60 guests looked on as the engaged couple opened gifts. Each guest had been given a certain hour of the day or night and asked to bring a gift, either practical, serious or gag, appropriate for that particular hour.

Hamburgers and homemade ice cream were served to guests around the pool by the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Childress III, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pfaff, and Mr. and Mrs. John Parks.

Mrs. Max Morris is in Allen, with her daughter, Diana, where they are awaiting the arrival of another Morris grandchild.

Check turf grass areas for newly hatched grubs

Now is the time to check turf grass areas for infestation of newly hatched white grubs. The adult beetles have been emerging from the soil in turf grass areas since the first week of June. Adult female beetles lay eggs for about 30 days. Eggs hatch in 3 to 4 weeks. The insect passes through 3 larval stages. Stages 1 and 2 require about 3 weeks for development. The 3rd stage is in the soil the rest of the year.

Why check turf grass for white grubs?

To determine if the turf grass is infested. For effective control of white grubs with insecticide treatments, treatments should be applied when the grubs are in stage 1 or 2 (less than 1/2 inch in body length) and are near the soil surface.

How do you check turf grass for white grubs? Take a shovel or sharp knife and cut a 1 square foot section of sod. Cut the sod to a depth of 4 inches. Remove the cut sod section and closely examine the roots and soil for small white grubs. Doing this in several places in the home lawn will enable you to determine the extent of the infestation, how many grubs are present and just how close they are to the soil surface. After examinations, soil and sod should be put back in place, pressed down and watered.

How many square foot sections of sod do you need to check in 1,000 square feet of turf grass?

Due to the bunching behavior of adult female beetles at time of egg laying, white grub infestations often are "clumped" in turf grass areas. Therefore, take an average of 2 to 4 samples per 1,000 square feet of turf grass. An insecticide treatment is justified when more than 4 grubs per square foot of sod are found. If the grubs are definitely grouped in areas in the lawn, direct treatment to infested areas only.

Insecticides suggested for control of white grubs in turf grass areas are: Diazinon R and Dursban R. Granular and spray formulations of the insecticides are available for homeowners use.

Check the label on the insecticide container for instructions on dosage rates, on mixing and applying the material. Apply treatment when grubworms are found within the top one inch of soil.

Microwave poultry fares well

Poultry cooked in a microwave oven measures up favorably with that cooked in an electric oven.

Nutrient retention and cooking yield were found to be quite good in cooking tests using chicken broiler-fryers, points out Dr. James H. Denton, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Fryers were cooked in a microwave at two rates (800 watts and 1600 watts) and were compared to those cooked in electric ovens at 250 and 400 degrees F.

Broiler halves cooked at 800 watts in the microwave and roasted at 250 and 400 degrees F. were similar in cooking yield, notes Denton. But those cooked at 1600 watts were more dry in appearance and had higher cooking losses.

Tests showed no difference in thiamin (a vitamin) content of broilers cooked in the microwave at 800 or 1600 watts. Broilers cooked at 400 degrees F. in a conventional oven retained more thiamin than broilers cooked at 250 degrees F.

However, thiamin retention was greater in broilers cooked in an internal temperature of 197 degrees F. in the microwave than those cooked to a temperature of 180 degrees F. in an electric oven. So it appears that nutrient retention in microwave cooked poultry is quite good, says Denton.

V.A. Work-Study program

Students enrolled full-time under the GI Bill in Houston may supplement their monthly Veterans Administration educational assistance by earning money under the Veteran Work-Study program.

Eligible veterans earn $3.35 an hour and may work up to 250 hours per term, advised Ted W. Myatt, Director, Houston VA Regional Office.

Work performed under the program is VA related and located at a school or VA facility in the area. Examples of such service might include processing of VA paperwork at schools or at a VA office, VA outreach services or services performed at a VA medical facility, Myatt said.

For applications and additional information, contact the Veterans Affairs Office on Campus, or the Houston VA Regional Office toll free at 1-800-392-2200.

MRS. GREGORY MARK DUNHAM
....Miss Sarita Fawn Pennington

Miss Pennington and Mr. Dunham are wed

Sarita Fawn Pennington became the bride of Gregory Mark Dunham in a July 10, ceremony in Ozona Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pennington and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunham.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an English net and lace gown with a victorian neckline and lace yoke trimmed with mushroom pleated ruffle. The bishop sleeves were of the net and lace. The skirt was softly gathered at the waist and trimmed with the lace. The hem and chapel-length train were bordered with the mushroom pleated lace ruffle. Her chapel length veil was attached to a Juliet cap of the lace.

She carried a bouquet of blue and ecru silk flowers atop a Bible.

Matron of honor was Peri Fenton, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Marty Elliott of Abilene, Jennifer Phillips of Breckenridge and Nicole Pennington of Houston. Debbie Elliott of Abilene and Mykanna Elliston of Graham were flower girls. Heather Pennington and Keely Dunham handed out rice bags.

The attendants wore Coppen blue prairie dresses and carried a single ecru silk rose.

Best man was Mark Rheadasil of Dallas. Groomsmen were John Hutrya, Paul Rheadasil, and Phil Stortner, all of Dallas. Caleb Dunham of Topeka, Kans. was ringbearer.

Ushers were Shane Fenton, James Phillips of Breckenridge and Miles and Matt Miller of Sonora.

Musical selections were presented by a quartet composed of Tara Brubaker, Judy Baker, Clay Bednar and Gary Vannoy, accompanied by Paul Rheadasil on the guitar and Nancy Vannoy at the piano.

A reception followed in the Granny Miller Hall. Precia Miller of Sonora presided at the bride's register.

Following a trip to the west coast, the couple will be at home in Dallas where the bridegroom is a senior medical student at Southwestern University. He is a graduate of A&M. The bride has been a teacher at South Ward School in Breckenridge. She is a graduate of Abilene Christian University.

Effective-efficient ranch management

The difference between "effective" and "efficient" ranch management may seem razor thin at first glance. After all, both terms are normally used interchangeably.

However, being efficient isn't necessarily being effective, points out Dr. Larry White, Texas Agricultural Extension Service range specialist. By examining their financial statements and other such criteria, a rancher can quickly determine into which category he currently fits.

"The effective ranch manager makes the most of his time, energies, and available resources and has more positive results to show for it," White explains. "Efficiency is important but effectiveness is far more essential since it determines the priority of activities the rancher undertakes to maximize profit."

"Effective Ranch Management" is also the underlying theme of this year's International Ranchers Roundup (I.R.R.), the single largest assembly of industry experts in the Southwest. It will be held August 10-12 in Del Rio.

Over 100 ranching experts from Australia, Mexico and the U.S. will be sharing their expertise in effective ranching operations during the three days of clinics geared to helping ranchers improve and preserve their livelihood.

"Every rancher should examine their current situation," continues the I.R.R. coordinator. "Those ranchers who have doubts about which alternative actions to take concerning critical decisions that affect their future should seriously consider attending the International Ranchers Roundup."

White says interested persons can phone the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce (512-775-3551) for more details and motel reservations. All motel accommodations are being made through the Chamber office.

White, "is to offer as many educational opportunities as possible. It's advantageous for a rancher to bring his wife and ranch manager or foreman so they can combine their effectiveness by sitting in on several different talks in the various sessions."

White says there is a program especially designed for women involved in ranching operations.

Myrtle Post Garden has Monday meeting

The Myrtle Post Garden Club met in the fellowship hall of the Methodist Church Monday evening, July 19, with Mrs. Glen Sutton as hostess and Mrs. John Hignight assisting.

Each hostess made an arrangement for the meeting. Mrs. Hignight's was of daisies and Mrs. Sutton's of fresh vegetables. Both were very attractive.

The President, Mrs. Lee Graves, presided over the meeting asking for a report from Mrs. Jack Brewer on the progress of the plans for the flower show. After her report Mrs. Brewer presented each member with a flower show schedule.

Mrs. Sutton gave a report on the Litter Campaign project and proceeds from the bumper stickers were turned in.

Mrs. Graves reported on the District Convention plans and further discussion as to duties for the members. Several volunteered to help make name tags for the convention. Members voted to send a plant to the new mother in the group, Mrs. Mike Vordick.

After the meeting adjourned a program on "Preserved Beauty" was conducted by Mrs. Charles Williams, member of the Ozona Garden Club, an excellent arrangement teacher and an expert at preserving and arranging preserved plant material.

She first demonstrated the basic designs with explanations as she worked, then assisted the members with their own designs. The whole demonstration was very interesting and educational.

Other members present were: Mrs. Scottie Houston, Mrs. Hank Wellman, Mrs. Myrtle Post, Mrs. Grace Williams, Mrs. Polly Eppler, Mrs. Jim Dudley and Mrs. Phillip Smith.

CARD OF THANKS

My family and I would like to thank each of you for your many expressions of sympathy. Our mother has gone to heaven but we are thankful that she has not left us alone. We have wonderful, beautiful people like you to help us bear the burden of such great loss. May God Bless you, dear friends. We love you.

Soil Conservation effects everyone

Native rangeland is a natural resource that affects almost everyone, because it is a natural food source for our livestock. One of the ways to maintain or improve this natural food source is by initiating a planned grazing system.

The proper definition of a planned grazing system is as follows: a practice in which two or more grazing units are alternately rested and grazed in a planned sequence for a period of years, and rest

Dillos on top in mens softball

With the Ozona men's softball season two-thirds completed, the Dillos are on top of the standings with a 15-2 record.

Although the Dillos lost to the Outlaws in their last outing, they remain one game ahead of the slumping Pistons and two games in front of the charging outlaws.

The Pistons have a 13-3 record for the season while the Outlaws are 12 and 4. The Sixers are in fourth place with 10-8, followed by the Mustangs with 7-8, Ladd with 4-11, the Wheels, Stars and Cowboys with 3-12 each.

Dr. Don Carlisle, who has been away from his practice off and on for several months due to medical problems, returned to his office full time Monday. Both Doctor Carlisle and Mrs. Carlisle are gratified to be at home and back at work.

Soft, full look to make sewing easier

Fall '82's soft, full, feminine look for women's outerwear--coats, jackets--will make sewing these fashions at home easier for most, says Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

Tailoring requirements are not as critical this year, she adds.

This fall the emphasis is on diversity for outerwear.

There are many options in styling, fabrication and length.

"We'll see big sleeves, patch pockets, shawl collars, funnel necks and lots of blouson styles.

"Capes, ponchos and wrap coats are evidence of the looser construction, too," Fonseca says.

Lengths of outerwear for fall and winter will vary from seven-eighths to three-fourths to just below the hip for a blouson look.

Although the full, loose construction is significant for fall and winter, it isn't the only option in outerwear styling, Fonseca notes.

Tailored fashions--jackets and vests, for example, still play a major role in fashions for '82. Tailored fashions will hint of the looser look, too.

Classic styles endure, too--and they'll always be popular, the specialist predicts. These include tailored classics, city looks and car coats, mostly in knee length.

In sporty outer looks, there will be a strong influence from classic ski wear. Subtlety is important here--smaller piping and trimming. The mountaineering look is also big for fall.

In men's fashions--sewn by more and more men entering the homesewing trend--a two-tone pullover is the most popular item for fall '82.

How to curb health costs

Americans spent nearly $218 billion on personal health in 1980. This amount represented almost 10 percent of the gross national product.

Figures such as these have prompted increased concern over the rising cost of health care.

The Texas Medical Association says individuals also can help minimize health care costs by:

Having a family doctor. The physician will keep a permanent record of your medical history, which can prevent duplicating expensive and time-consuming tests. The family doctor also can advise you on preventing illness.

Not waiting too long before seeing a doctor. Some people try to cut costs by waiting until they are seriously ill. This approach defeats the purpose of preventive medicine and costs more in the long run.

Using a hospital emergency room only for emergencies. The emergency room is an expensive place to treat minor ailments. Try calling your personal physician first.

Using the telephone. A family doctor who has examined you regularly is familiar with your health history

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay Here's a story of a baseball batboy who became famous. In 1925 the New York Yankees had a batboy named Bill. One day Babe Ruth asked Bill to get some hot dogs. The kid obeyed. Ruth, who had a notorious appetite, ate all the hot dogs and later that day collapsed with severe stomach pains. He was rushed to the hospital. When the Yankee front office heard that the batboy had delivered the food to Ruth, they fired the batboy. He was downhearted because he loved baseball, but decided to turn to acting instead. He eventually wound up in Hollywood and became a movie star--and ironically in 1948, he played Babe Ruth in the movie, "The Babe Ruth Story". That batboy's name was William Bendix.

If you've wondered how the 3 TV networks could afford to give the National Football League a contract worth $2 billion, here's the answer. Last year a 30-second commercial on an NFL game cost a sponsor an average of $125,000. Multiply that by 233 (the number of games a year) and multiply that by 5 years (the length of the contract) and you'll see that the networks will take in almost $7 billion!
