Emerald House to be open

With contributions toward a fund for its completion beginning to come in, Emerald House, Ozona's oldest house, now in process of being restored, will be opened for public inspection of progress at an open house each Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 during the month of September.

The Crockett County Historical Commission, headed by Mrs. R. A. Harrell, a prime mover in the Emerald House project, announced plans for the financial campaign and open house at a recent meeting of its membership held for the first time in the partly restored house. Ladies who are members of the Commission will act as hostesses at the open house and the public is cordially invited to visit the structure and see the progress that has been made and to learn the general plan of restoring this bit of Crockett County history for the benefit of present and future generations and as a useful piece of the community.

It has been estimated that from $25,000 to $35,000 will be needed to complete the renovation, painting, papering, landscaping, etc. on the historic structure and a financial committee has been named, headed by Sandy Stokes, to receive contributions. A list of contributors will be published at completion of the campaign.

KMID-TV to change affiliate

KMID-TV Midland-Odessa has announced it will change its network affiliation September 6, at 8:00 p.m. from NBC to ABC. The station is seen locally on channel 2. The Monahans station, which Ozona cable subscribers view on channel 3, will change its affiliate from ABC to NBC.

Oscar Kost, local cable system manager, said the change would present no problem here in viewing either network. ABC will still be carried on WFAA-TV, channel 9 here, and NBC will still be the affiliate of KRBC-TV on channel 8.

County assured a discovery

An unidentified discovery was assured in Crockett County with the flowing of 200 barrels of oil in 24 hours at Holly Energy Inc., Midland, No. 1 Todd Ranch, in 12-10-GC&SF, 1 3/8-mile northwest of the Todd, Deep (Crinoidal and Ellenburger oil) field, separated by depleted producer and a 7,835-foot failure, and 19 miles northwest of Ozona.

Flow was on a 16-64-inch choke through perforations at 6,102-30 feet. Operator was waiting on potential test.

Drilled to 6,600 feet on a rescheduled 6,700-foot contract, it is plugged back to 6,151 feet.

The Todd Deep field produces from the Crinoidal at an average depth of 5,778 feet and the Ellenburger 6,232 feet.

Commissioners approve proposed budget for '83

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday and gave its o.k. to the proposed budget of $4,853,870 for the 1983 year. A public hearing on the budget will be held at 11 a.m. September 13, in the district courtroom. After the hearing the tax rates will be set by the court.

The first proposed budget submitted to the court at the regular meeting this month, amounted to $5,140,950, and would have required a 10% increase in taxes. The court found that unacceptable and asked that cuts be made in all departments.

In an unusual turn of events, Commissioner Jack Williams, who was the most vocal against an increase in the tax rate at the regular meeting, was not present Monday. And Commissioner B. W. Stuart, who was not present at the regular meeting, spoke out against the budget cuts Monday and said he felt the court would not be able to live with the budget. He was the only member of the court willing to increase taxes in order to fund the larger budget.

When the court convened, County Judge Johnny Jones told the members an agreement must be reached on the budget if they had to stay into the night.

County Auditor Dick Kirby presented the budget and told the court it was a working budget that would need the full cooperation of the court if it were to succeed, and they must work closely with the figures in every category. He said the hospital was the only unknown factor and if it lost as much money in 1983 as it has this year, the court would have to go to the bank this time next year in order to just keep it open.

Kirby said in order to use last year's tax rate, a cut of $300,000 from the first budget was required.

The cuts came in the form of salaries, the first budget provided for an across the board salary increase of 10%. This provision was cut to 7%. Chief deputies would have received $150 per month above the 10% in the first budget. Now they will receive $100 in addition to the 7% increase.

Personnel was cut at the road department, the ball parks, and the cemetery. Cuts also came in swimming pool repairs, equipment and travel.

Kirby reminded the court these cuts were not from last year's budget but from the first budget submitted.

Stuart inquired about several items, especially the $1200 allotted to the District Judge for sitting on the Juvenile Board. Stuart was strongly opposed to this addition to the District Judge's salary, since the board never meets in this county.

Stuart and Jesus Castro brought up the inefficiency in the parks department, but no formal action was taken. They pointed out the trees and grass were dying at the arena park for lack of water, also the deplorable condition of the restrooms in the courthouse.

County Clerk David Weant was not happy with the budget cuts in travel and equipment for his office, and brought up the moisture problem which is causing books and records to mildew. Weant claims the moisture is created by an air-conditioning unit which fails to dehumidify the air properly.

The rest of the court seemed to think the unit was not the cause, and that the moisture came from seepage from the hill directly behind. It was mentioned the problem from moisture had plagued the building for several years. Weant and Judge Jones exchanged a few words on the subject and the judge said he was against the purchase of a new air-conditioning system without proof it would solve the problem. No further action was taken on the matter after Weant asked members of the court to inspect the situation.

In other action, Judge

Jones read a letter from District Judge Troy Williams demanding the court remodel the courtroom, the restrooms and install an elevator. Also, he requested the ceiling in the courtroom be lowered and carpet installed to improve acoustics. This was the second or third request received by the court from Judge Williams and no action was taken.

Several members of the Historical Society met with the court to ask that the beautiful tin ceiling be retained. Judge Jones asked the group to make their feelings known to Judge Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Harrell met with the court in reference to the easement across their property requested for widening of highway 163. Mrs. Harrell said the money offered by the state for their ten acres will not cover the cost of laning, building fence and cattle guards and moving the ranch entrance, and that she and Mr. Harrell were embar-

School enrollment increases

Following the first day of school, enrollment figures were up 136 students in all schools and enrollment is expected to increase after Labor Day.

A total of 1080 students attended classes Monday, 944 of which had registered previously.

Ozona Primary enrollment jumped from 243 registered to 299 attending. The intermediate school enrolled 34 more students than had registered, and the junior high had an increase of 22 students. High school enrolled 24 more students than had registered.

Three dead in rash of wrecks

Three fatalities and numerous injuries resulted from a rash of automobile accidents in the county the past week. Two Cambodian men and an Ozona woman died in two separate accidents.

Thelitha Diane Morris, 17, died of massive injuries while enroute to a San Angelo Hospital early Monday morning. She was in a one vehicle accident 5.3 miles east of Ozona. Miss Morris was westbound in a pickup when she ran off the right side of the roadway on Hwy. 290. She pulled back onto the roadway, lost control and ran off the left side of the highway, overturning twice. She was thrown from the vehicle. The accident occurred at 8:05 a.m.

Dr. Wes Wallace, who is in charge of the emergency room at Breckenridge Hospital in Austin, was at the scene and accompanied the injured girl in the ambulance. Trooper Cliff Babbitt DPS was the investigating officer.

The two men died as a result of a pickup roll-over Friday morning at 8:15, on I-10 6.5 miles west of Ozona. The driver, Bun Hour Kheng, 56, of Santa Ana, Calif. was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace A. O. Fields. An occupant in the vehicle, Sambath Kheng, 20, of the same address, was treated at Crockett County Hospital and transferred to a San Angelo hospital where he died that afternoon.

Trooper Cliff Babbitt, DPS, investigated the accident and theorized the driver fell asleep. The vehicle was east bound, went off the road on the right side, veered back across the road and rolled over several times. Both men were thrown from the vehicle.

An Ozona woman suffered a broken ankle and numerous cuts and abrasions Monday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding ran off the highway and dropped off an embankment 13.6 miles east of Ozona on I-10, after a blow-out on a right front tire. Sharon Favela was taken to Crockett County Hospital by ambulance. Her husband, Baldo Favela, and the driver of the car was not seriously injured.

Karen Keilers and Susan Gunnels were involved in an automobile accident last Wednesday morning. The wreck occurred on Hwy. 163 in front of the old junior high building. Karen was driving a van, traveling south, when the Gunnels auto pulled into her lane and the head-on crash occurred. Ms. Gunnels and Miss Keilers were hospitalized. Mrs. Gunnels children who were in the car with her were not seriously injured.

Funeral Tuesday for wreck victim

Funeral services for Thelitha Diane Morris, 17, were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Calvary Baptist Church with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Miss Morris died Monday morning enroute to a San Angelo Hospital following an automobile accident. She was born January 13, 1965, in Ozona and was a member of Calvary Baptist Church.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Morris; two sisters, Theresa Certain and Donna Morris, all of Ozona; her grandfather, J. C. Harwood of Livingston; her grandmother, Bessie Barron and her great grandmother, Mary West, both of Ozona.

County benefits from oil and gas

The economy of Crockett County benefitted immensely last year from the gas and oil industry, according to a drilling and production report compiled for 1981 by Texas Mid-continent Oil and Gas Association.

A total of 756 workers were employed in the industry in 1981 with a total payroll of $13,011,794.

Crude oil production amounted to 4,816,396 barrels for a total value of $166,117,498. Natural gas wells in the county produced 104,431,114 MCF for a total value of $186,607,958, bringing the total value of oil and gas produced in the county for 1981 to $352,725,456.

Royalty payments to landowners in the county amounted to $44,090,862.

Production taxes to the State amounted to $7,641,405 for crude oil and $13,995,597 for natural gas for a total of $21,637,002 in state taxes.

Estimated drilling expenditures amounted to $120,250,040, of which $10,163,888 was for dry holes.

The 1981 drilling figures list 164 oil wells drilled, 215 gas wells and 56 dry holes, for a total of 435 for all wells drilled. Producing wells as of April 1, 1982 in Crockett County were 2138 oil wells and 1709 gas wells for a total of 3847.

ACCIDENTS TOPPED THE NEWS here this week. The rash of accidents began with this head on collision in front of the old junior high school building Wednesday morning and continued through the week. This car was in collision with a van and both vehicles were demolished, although the drivers were not seriously injured. However there were three fatalities in separate accidents following this one.

HOME ON THE RANGE

By Edwin Feulner

A home on the range, with the deer and the antelope playing on the horizon, is one of the most idyllic scenes in American folklore. But more often than not, that home on the range sits on federal land, and Uncle Sam isn't the most benign landlord.

A study by economist Catherine England reveals that the federal government owns nearly one-third of all land in the United States and is such a careless landlord it doesn't even know the value of its holdings. Says England, "92 percent of the public lands are listed on official government inventories at a value of zero since they were never actually purchased."

That's one of the reasons the feds hang on to surplus property like 17 beachfront acres in Waikiki, Hawaii, which if sold (which is what the government plans to do) could net the government at least $200 million.

England suggests selling off some of these excess holdings and earmarking the proceeds to retiring the national debt.

Interior Secretary James Watt also has proposed selling off certain federally owned lands. He feels the government could raise some $6 billion by decreasing its surplus holdings.

A good place to start would be federally owned rangelands. The Bureau of Land Management holds title to 174-million acres of rangeland, an area larger than New England and the Mid-Atlantic states combined.

In Locking Up the Range, (Pacific Institute for Public Policy Research, San Francisco, 1981), Dr. Gary Libecap argues that federal control of the range has, in fact, not only harmed the land, but has significantly contributed to the decline in American livestock production.

Dr. Libecap, an associate professor of economics at Texas A & M University, notes that the BLM itself admits that the lands it manages "are currently far below their production level."

Over the last hundred years, the BLM has fought to prevent private ownership of rangelands, fearing that ranchers would overgraze the land and neglect conservation in their desire to maximize short-term profits.

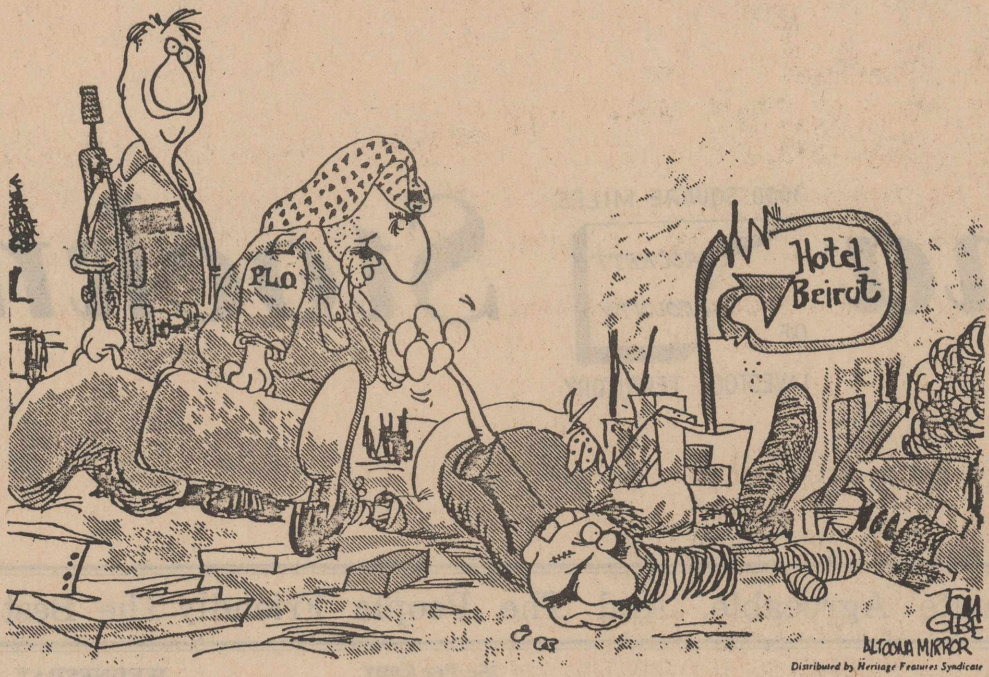

But Dr. Libecap suggests that the BLM's strategy for preserving the range has backfired. Since rangelands are held in common, with federal grazing privileges subject to restrictions and revocation, ranchers have an even greater incentive to overgraze. If the privilege may be gone tomorrow, why not make the most of it today, they reason.

While many ranches have "grazing rights" to federal lands, Libecap suggests that this "insecure tenure encourages overstocking, and discourages investments in improvements such as fences and wells."

The BLM has already made the typical bureaucratic explanation to the rangelands crisis. They blame it on an insufficient budget for enforcing BLM restrictions on land use. Their solution is boosting the BLM's budget.

But the results of the last hundred years of BLM management aren't promising. The government has been taking a bath in the grazing business, since the grazing fees it earns off rangelands amount to barely half of the government's costs to maintain them. As Dr. Steven Hanke, a senior economist with the President's Council of Economic Advisors, has observed, "These lands are liabilities for the federal government — not assets. Giving them away would put the federal budget, and hence the taxpayer, in a better position."

And selling them would be even better!

I THINK WE'RE ABOUT READY TO LEAVE... THANKS FOR THE HOSPITALITY... SURE HOPE WE DIDN'T INCONVENIENCE YOU.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The debate over the death penalty nearly ended and the state's new death by injection policy put into practice last week when a 26-year-old Houston man came within less than seven hours of being executed.

Charles Bass, who has been sentenced to die for the murder of a Houston city marshal, came closer to being put to death than any other condemned murder in Texas since the last execution here in 1964.

With a federal judge in Houston turning down a request by Bass' attorneys for a stay of execution, Gov. Bill Clements was set to fly home from a vacation in Taos, N.M., to be on hand to make a last-minute decision on a reprieve.

Both Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby were out of state, leaving Houston Sen. Walter Mengden, president pro tem of the Senate, in charge. But Clements said he did not want to put such a heavy burden on Mengden's shoulders.

However, before the governor's plane ever reached Taos to pick him up, a three-judge panel from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals granted the stay.

Attorney General Mark White—in what Clements' campaign staff described as a purely political action—went to two U.S. Supreme Court justices seeking to overturn that stay. White is Clements' Democratic opponent in this year's gubernatorial race.

However, the matter eventually was referred to the full court for later consideration.

The 5th Circuit Court action means that Bass cannot be executed for at least 30 days because of a state law that grants an automatic 30-day reprieve to any prisoner whose execution is not carried out on schedule.

Polls and Pals

How much credibility do voters give to so-called "latest poll results" released by candidates during campaigns?

A recent faux pas on the part of Republican Congressman and U.S. Senate candidate Jim Collins must have caused some perplexity among voters, and it surely made Gov. Bill Clements steaming mad.

Collins held a press conference last week to release a poll which he said showed him now only 10 percentage points behind incumbent U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen... but also revealed that his poll showed Clements trailing his opponent Mark White by four points.

The press corps perked up at that information, since Clements claims his own polls show him leading White comfortably.

Clements campaign staffers spent much of the week discrediting Collins' pollster, Arthur Finkelstein of New York.

Finkelstein, the chief pollster for the National Conservative Foundation (NCPAC), also came under fire from Bentsen himself last week. Bentsen wants the Federal Election Commission to investigate Finkelstein's relationship with NCPAC for alleged impropriety.

While NCPAC in the past has claimed credit for knocking off such liberals as U.S. Senators George McGovern, Frank Church and Birch Bayh, the East Coast group is viewed with suspicion by many Texans as an outsider group... and especially hated by Democrats. Republican arch-conservative Clements has avoided the NCPAC aid, but GOP lieutenant governor George Strake reportedly is using NCPAC help.

may well serve as a litmus revealing whether the Virginia-based NCPAC can bring its style of rough and tumble campaign tactics and survive in rough and tumble Texas politics.

Comptroller Criticisms

And while Collins was slipping up, another Republican, comptroller candidate Mike Richards, was making even a bigger blunder.

Richards, a state senator from Houston, called a press conference to disclose allegations that incumbent Bob Bullock was using state employees in his re-election bid.

Richards released a tape recording he said proved that workers in the comptroller's office were searching out information on a computer system for Bullock's campaign.

The first-term legislator, however, must have forgotten to read the Texas Election Code prior to making the accusations because he later found himself in hot water for the methods he used to obtain the tape.

Richards' campaign workers, posing as employees of a computer consulting firm, called the comptroller's office and taped the conversations without revealing their true identities or that the call was being recorded.

Bullock criticized Richards as "sleazy," said he was "getting into a slime pit" and cried that the Republican's tactics amounted to entrapment.

Vote Tabulation

On further election issues, Secretary of State David Dean announced that his office definitely will be taking over the chore of adding up the votes this November from the Texas Election Bureau.

Dean praised the bureau for its work in tabulating election results since 1916, but said it was time for the state to assume that function.

The result, Dean said, will be "minimize the opportunity for election fraud" and "maximize the flow of election results" to the public and candidates.

The bureau, a consortium of news media, will continue to assist the secretary of state with the vote count.

Bell Rates

The Texas Municipal League has asked the Public Utility Commission to grant Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. less than half of the $471.5 million rate hike it has requested.

TML officials say that Bell is entitled to no more than $217.9 million. The league has proposed only a 15.5 percent rate of return for Bell stockholders, compared to 17.1 percent requested by the telephone company.

Bell asked for an almost identical increase last year, but only received about half that amount.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

August 23, 1982

Dear Kitty,

I have debated for some time, and come to the conclusion, that I need to answer the letter in your paper. I can not fully understand why the letter was not written before, when the city park, roadside park and various public places were put off limits and locked at night.

I was surprised and also disappointed at the adult people who signed the letter encouraging our youth. I fully believe our youths need a place to meet and enjoy each other's company but not abuse people's property. I fully believe 90% of them are of fine quality and character, and they get the blame for the other 10%, as the old saying goes a rotten apple can spoil the barrel. Now I would like to bring us up to date on all the happenings.

First, shopping center, beer cans, bottles, litter of all kinds, had to be picked up each day before the merchants opened for business. Second, loud music disturbed a motel across the street. Several times our law officers, have helped pick up some of this mess in the shopping center. The law suggested we needed a sign to stop these wild, loud parties, which we did.

Next it began at the Red Apple and it got completely out of hand. I had a man employed to pick up bottles, cans, boxes and trash five days a week and on Saturday and Sunday it fell my lot to clean up each morning. Several Sundays ago I personally picked up between 5 and 6 large boxes of bottles and junk. Also we had people drive up to the Hillcrest Motel at night and refused to stay because of all the loud music and noise. Furthermore our tourist customers at the Red Apple wanted to know what was taking place. Several weeks ago we had to start locking our back door, as kids were running in and out. It was impossible to keep a street light burning, as soon as one was put in, it was knocked out. The worst of all, sometime over three weeks ago, before dark, some tourist stopped for a room at the Hillcrest Motel. Two young men were using the bathroom in broad open daylight, making no attempt, to hide themselves. The tourist, called this to the manager's attention. It got so bad the ladies at the Red Apple were afraid to carry their trash to the barrels at closing time.

In noticing all the signatures, there seemed to be a number of adult parents signing the letter. One solution might be to have all these youngsters in their backyard or some vacant lot, close to their property, that way, they could supervise them. If I could be assured that at least four adult couples would meet with these youngsters each night, clean up their mess and shut it down by 10:00 o'clock, I would try to find a place, or I would be glad to donate monthly to some type of entertainment for them. I have spent all my life here, also my children and now my grandchildren. I love and appreciate Ozona. In all my travels I have never found a place I would trade it for. Last, one request, please in either calling or writing I would like to have your name, I would be glad to talk with anyone on these problems.

I have often wondered where these under-aged youngsters get the beer for their parties. It is terrible when you go to work and you find in your yard, in the street, and almost anywhere you look, beer bottles, cans and litter.

Several towns have what they call "crime prevention," made up of citizens of the town. Maybe we need such in Ozona, called the "Litter Prevention" made up of our citizens that want to see a cleaner Ozona.

One last thing, we have had windows broken, (one recently), locks broken at the Red Apple, food stolen, but our officers have caught over 50% of these. So you might think about this, it would be very embarrassing on you and also your parents, and could lead to a very serious situation. Think first because a lot of times, your friends will rat on you.

Signed, J.B. Miller

CHANGING ATTITUDES ABOUT DWI

Few things in this country have changed as much during the past few years as public attitudes on drunk drivers. It is a change we can all be thankful for.

Most of that change, in my opinion, can be attributed to the organization of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), and the attendant publicity and editorial support they have received from our newspapers. They have succeeded, where others have failed, in drawing attention to the tragedy that has claimed the lives of thousands of Texans.

It was not long ago, for instance, when some public officials who ought to lead by example were openly contemptuous of our laws against driving while drunk. Much of this problem started nine years ago when my opponent became Lt. Governor and helped pass the law reducing the legal drinking age from twenty-one to eighteen years of age. Now Mr.

Hobby, feeling the heat of irate parents and loved ones, and perhaps personal remorse, has said he favors tougher drunk driving laws—another switch from a previous position.

Political promises, however, are easily made. If a politician can't get excited about an issue of this magnitude in nine years, it seems unlikely that he would get excited and pursue corrective legislation in another four years.

So I hope the Mothers Against Drunk Drivers will stick to their guns, and I hope they continue getting support from the people of our state. Their efforts to put an end to this carnage on our highways has my support, and I hope it has yours.

Of one thing we can be reasonably sure: Starting next year we will have a new Lt. Governor, and that will make it easier. If you have thoughts on this subject, please write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, 78705.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

The American Home Sewing Association has announced September as National Sewing Month. A class on Basic Machine Embroidery and Monograms will be September 9 at the Civic Center. The class will be taught by Mrs. Opal McCleary, from Dallas. You will want to watch for details in the coming weeks.

The two main areas of influence for fall and winter fashions for 1982-83 are Renaissance Influence of Old World Splendor and the rustic, rugged, natural look inspired by Country Western Prairie Styles. Silhouettes will range in variety from lots of frills to a bulky look without heavy weight to simpler loose styles.

The prairie influence is seen in bib blouses with puffed shoulders, yoked skirts, eyelet petticoats that show under gathered skirts. The suits are shaped, refined and predominately slim. The big-one-lean looks in suits has wide sleeved coats coming to a narrow finish over slim pants or shirts.

The drop-waist dress and the chemise with fullness gathered from the yoke are the dominant dress looks. Pants continue to offer numerous lengths for fall. Belts continue to be a popular accessory. Shoes will be all heights with important colors being dark leathers like wine, red, green, brown, navy, and cinnamon. Vests will be popular in the country as well as the Renaissance looks.

Fabrics design will include stained glass, mosaic, and all sizes of roses and Victorian-English style flowers. Knits are everywhere for fall. Mohair jacquards, tweed and brandknits are seen as well as cotton wool and rayon jersey knits.

In the country look a mix of cool and warm times range from the understated to the more vibrant. Heathy tones will be mixed with soft pastels and winter whites. Just think of nature when you think fall.

...nee Miss LaDawn Adcock

Miss Adcock becomes bride of Mr. Goff

La Dawn Denise Adcock became the bride of William Dallas Goff, of San Angelo, at 3:30 in the afternoon on Sunday, August 15. The wedding was held in the Ozona Church of Christ, with Ralph Anderson officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Adcock, Jr. are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Gene Goff, San Pablo, Calif., and the late Mrs. Gay Goff, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. White of San Angelo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon embroidery eyelet over satin. The bodice was adorned with lace and seed pearls surrounded the square neckline. The sleeves fitted to the elbows, and billowed. The skirt was three tiered with a chapel train. The hemline of the dress was enhanced with lace. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was gathered to a circlet of silk flowers, with each of the flowers centered with a cluster of seed pearls. The back of the circlet was accented with a pouf of the illusion.

Serving as matron-of-honor was Mrs. Mark Ham, of San Angelo. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jay Ferguson, San Angelo; Mrs. Curtis McDole and Miss Jan Watson, of Ozona.

Her attendants wore identical sleeveless gowns of pink and burgundy silk. They featured a V-neckline, and gathers in front. They carried nosegays of burgundy, pink and white roses and baby's breath.

Best man was David Goff, of San Antonio, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Donny Goff, of Balinger, Mark Ham of San Angelo, and Gary Adcock of Ozona. The groomsmen served as ushers.

Wesley Goff, of San Antonio, nephew of the bridegroom was ring bearer.

Presenting wedding music was Mrs. John Hignight, Curtis McDole, Ozona, and Mrs. Ellen Williams, of San Angelo, were soloists.

A reception followed the wedding at the Civic Center. Mrs. Goff is a 1979 graduate of Ozona High School and will graduate from Angelo State University in May with a degree in elementary education.

The bridegroom is a 1974 graduate of Lakeview High School in San Angelo. Mr. Goff will also graduate in May from Angelo State University with a music degree.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Though vacation time and summer relaxation is almost over, another two months of more or less dry, hot weather may still be in store, unless the usual pattern changes.

Summer prune when necessary-trees and shrubs that have produced an excessively heavy summer growth need pruning to thin out unnecessary branches and foliage. If you have evergreen shrubs or vines trained in topiary or espalier pattern, prune them at any time of the year, when you notice new growth that does not conform to the desired design. Give them the heaviest pruning in late spring, but light pruning during the growing season.

For rooting roses, select healthy, vigorous shoots to include four leaves and cut with a sharp knife. Remove the two lower leaves and stick the cuttings about half their length into the rooting mix. They will root better if soil is placed in a container that can be covered with plastic to reduce evaporation, and place in a shaded place. Rooting should take from 2 to 4 weeks.

One August task is to remove dead bloom stalks from day lilies. The best way to remove is to pull sharply on them and they will come up neatly from the crown.

All annuals continue to bloom, but many have lost their earlier luster. Removing old blooms will help put on new blooms. Now looking particularly good are the gloriosa daisies, perennial phlox, marigolds, various celosias, begonias, and sultana.

If your petunias have straggly stems and a scarcity of leaves and flowers, they need your attention for a second time blooming. Trim plants to reshape them, but avoid cutting back into the hard woody growth. Give them an application of complete fertilizer and water thoroughly.

If you grow pansies, the seed should be planted this month in moist soil.

When the fall and winter planting season begins, make a note of where trees could play a strong role in your garden, then you will be ready to buy the plants and get them out early.

Calling All Homemakers

Brought To You By Brown Furniture

In this column each week we bring you all kinds of decorating tips and this week we thought we'd bring you some ideas on the subject of screens. Did you ever think of all the uses of screens to make your home more beautiful? Here are a few.

Screens of many types make excellent room dividers, of course, but screens can have many other advantages, too.

A screen may be the answer as to how to decorate that blank wall.

A wallpaper screen in the same or contrasting pattern of the wallpaper used in a room may be used effectively as a headboard. Other types of screens may also be used for headboards.

You might consider using a screen depicting a pleasant outdoor scene in any room that is without a view.

Screens may be used to hide an air conditioner when not in use, or may be used in place of a kitchen door, or to cover up anything else you want to hide.

Decorative screens can be used effectively behind sofas to add a beautiful touch.

With the more wide-spread use of screens, there are naturally a wider variety of screens made today than ever before. Re-examine your home and you may find that the right screen in the right place will solve a problem for you. Come into Brown Furniture Today!

PUBLICATION GUIDELINES FOR WEDDINGS

Engagement announcements and pictures should be in this office not later than six weeks prior to the wedding. TAKE THE LONG VIEW

Who doesn't dream, sometimes? Who doesn't stand gazing into the future, picturing that new house, that graduation day, that wedding ceremony, that new car . . . the thousand and one dreams that man holds in his heart?

We realize that a worthwhile life must contain more than just material satisfactions. Without a confident frame of mind, our future will be nothing but tension and uncertainty. Where can we find this inner feeling of courage that will make things easier for us every hour of every day?

Millions of people find it in the Christian faith. The apostle Paul said that he was strengthened in everything he did by faith in Christ . . . and this truth is constantly being rediscovered by men and women urgently in need of something they can trust.

Faith is the key to peace of mind. With faith, you will be able to move mountains of frustration.

Starch blockers' safety questioned

It seemed like a dieter's fantasy come true. Take a special diet pill, eat heaping portions of your favorite starchy foods like potatoes or pasta, and gain no weight. Those have been the manufacturers' claims since "starch blockers" began appearing on the market last year. But this July, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration declared the products "unapproved new drugs" and told the more than 100 manufacturers and distributors to stop selling them.

The FDA said consumers had complained of nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and stomach pain after taking the non-prescription pills. The federal agency told the companies to provide information on how starch blockers are made and took steps to remove them from the marketplace until proven safe and effective.

The next day, at least nine of the companies filed lawsuits against the FDA to prevent it from classifying starch blockers as drugs. The FDA says the pills are drugs because they alter a function of the body.

Starch blockers, the subject of extensive television and print advertising this year, are the latest in a long line of diet pills claiming to control weight. But the Texas Medical Association says the only effective and lasting way to lose weight is through a controlled diet and regular exercise.

Starch blockers sell for $10 to $15 per bottle under such names as Calorase, Starch Block, Sta-Trim, Blok-Cal, Organic, Amyl-Lite, Nutri-

Conserving energy through landscaping

Attempting to control environmental factors outside the home is not a feasible answer to energy conservation, but certain landscaping practices can significantly change the climate in and around the home.

"By placing trees, shrubs, vines and landscape structures properly, the homeowner can reduce the energy required to keep homes and surrounding areas comfortable during winter and summer," says Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

And if landscaping is well done, homeowners receive the added benefits of beauty and increased real estate values, he notes.

Welch suggests using trees, windbreaks and vines to save energy.

"Trees planted on the south and west sides of a house can reduce inside temperatures up to eight degrees by shading the roof from the afternoon sun," he says.

Deciduous trees provide shade during the summer and also allow light and sun to penetrate through their bare branches in the winter to warm the home.

Welch cautions against planting the fastest growing tree available for several reasons. Trees that grow at a moderate rate usually live longer, are less likely to break in wind and ice storms and are often more resistant to insects and disease.

Besides using trees to shade roof areas, plants can be utilized to protect walls from heat and cold.

"Vines, shrubs and certain trees can insulate the wall against and also be highly effective in reducing noise and dust pollution," Welch adds.

For masonry walls, Welch suggests Boston Ivy and Virginia Creeper because their leaves intercept and absorb the sun's rays while allowing convection currents to carry the warm air up and away from the wall.

"These deciduous vines are most effective on southern and western masonry walls with a great deal of direct sun," Welch says, "and evergreen species such as English Ivy are better on sunless walls where their foliage can deflect winter winds and their stems provide an insulating effect."

Clinging vines are not suggested for wooden walls, he notes, since their stems and tendrils hold moisture and cause deterioration.

But the same cooling effect can be achieved on wooden walls by using twining vines, Welch says.

"Training twining vines such as wisteria, carolina jessamine and muscadine grapes on trellises placed near the walls and even on overhead structures over terraces can provide relief from the heat," he announces.

Dr. and Mrs. Don Carlisle had as houseguests over the weekend, Don Carlisle, Jr. and his wife, Lynn of Dallas.

Emerald House story brings back memories to Ozonan

The recent story of progress in restoration work on the Emerald House, Ozona's 'oldest' house, in The Stockman brought back pleasant girlhood memories for a former Ozona native. And this lady's roots are perhaps deeper than most in Ozona--she's the daughter of Crockett County's first county judge.

Beth Davidson Garver, youngest daughter of Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Davidson, now a resident of Mesquite, Texas, writes a charming note of nostalgia inspired by the very word "Emerald." The Davidson family owns the land on which the pioneer town was established and the little bit of history from the last century, being preserved in the form of one of the residences which housed a rugged pioneer family of the era, has brought "happy memories" to Beth, and her delightful letter has brought a grateful chorus from those of us concerned with the restoration work, not only for her deeply appreciated comments of encouragement but for her very substantial contribution in the form of a check toward the fund to complete the restoration work.

From Mesquite, Texas, Beth writes:

"I received The Stockman yesterday with your article about Emerald House. Very coincidentally, just a day or so before David had brought me The Times Herald with the enclosed article. (A piece by Bill Porterfield about ghost towns in Texas, titled 'Places on the Texas map that went kaput.' More about that.)

"As far back as I can remember (Dad bought the ranch in 1914 and mother inherited the 'Emerald Divide' country as her portion of Grandfather Friend's estate.) I can remember 'Emerald pasture', 'Emerald Divide', 'Emerald Well' as part of our life. As a kid I liked to go with Charlie (her brother) and the ranch hands when they had to 'pull rods.' Very young I was allowed to drive the old Model T strip down-back and forth for the rod work.

"Emerald was extremely sulphur and the men's clothes and hands were as black as soot when the job was done. --Also, I remember as a very young little girl, my mother, who loved flowers, and I used to go out after the Spring rains (when we were lucky enough to get them) - the low places were great expanses of solid blooms, ground flocks, buttercup, daisies, nigger-heads, Indian paint brush, many others. Some years after we had had a lot of dust storms earlier, we would find new varieties who's seed had blown in from Oklahoma, Sonora etc.

"Those are happy memories. I am so pleased with those of you who are working to save the heritage of Crockett County, which has always been and always will be a very special part of my life. Thank you.

"Enclosed is my contribution to be used in your good work. Much love. Beth D. Garver."

Bill Porterfield, in his very nifty article on ghost towns, referred to Emerald in the closing paragraph of his article. It was a list of towns which 'look like ghost towns ought to and which have descriptive names.' Among these he names Duster in Comanche County, Dugout in McCullough, Dry Valley, Salt Creek, Mustang and Steal Easy.

"If those names just mentioned are colorful and prophetic, there are other ghost town names which ring with an optimism that somehow fell flat. I'm thinking of Silver City in Coryell County, Emerald in Crockett, Fairland in Burnet, Garden City in Glasscock. Then you stumble across a ghost of a place called Gasoline, out in Briscoe, and you know it can't be all that old not with a name like that. And you're right. It dates back to 1915, which is no time at all in the annals of places that went kaput."

Cane pole fishing still a favorite

Many folks turn their nose up at anyone who uses a cane pole to fish but fishing in and around trees and dense brush with a short line and a cane pole has added many nice bass to the stringer when nothing else would work, says Dr. James T. Davis, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The most important thing in a fishing outfit is not the rod. It may make fishing easier, safer or more fun but it is mostly for these things and not to catch more fish. The reel is simply a device for holding the line until such time as the fisherman is ready for it. Lures or bait are important but they can be changed out to meet the situation. The line is also important, but as long as it holds the fish and not be too easily seen, it will work. This leaves the most important thing, the hook.

Hooks come in a variety of sizes and styles. Choose a hook size based on the size fish you want to catch, Davis suggests. If a hook is too big, the fish cannot get it into its mouth. If it is too small, it will not hold the fish. The "eagle-claw" type hook is probably the favorite of most fishermen. The major advantage of this type is that the point is turned into the body of the hook. This means that the pull on the hook is toward the line of travel as the fish is pulled in. Additionally, one with an off-set design tends to make the hook hold to the jaw better than a hook with a straight shank.

In selecting the line, one of the best guidelines is to buy the smallest line that will hold the biggest fish you expect to catch, Davis says. For sunfish or crappie, a three to five pound test is quite adequate. For bass, a 10-pound test line and for catfish, a 25-pound test line seems to be more desirable. Monofilament is about the most common line available but if left in the sun, monofilament line will deteriorate rapidly. This could mean lost fish on the next trip.

The fishing pole can be anything from a willow limb to a cane pole or a modern fiberglass special. Any of these work and it is doubtful if the fish knows the difference. One of the best rules of thumb for fishermen is to select a pole between 2 and 3 times their height. More length than this will be hard to handle and less will not give the desired "reach". The line should be fastened about two-thirds of the way up the pole, away from the large end (which you will hold in your hand). Then, fasten the line about every eight inches along the pole to the tip. If too large a fish for the small tip of the pole is caught, the fish may break off a portion of the pole but with the additional ties, loss of the fish may be prevented. After fastening the line to the end of the pole, measure the line so it equals the length of the pole plus one-half the fisherman's height. Then, fasten on the hook. A swivel or snap swivel is an added expense but they may keep the line from becoming frayed or kinked.

Weights may be added to the line when fishing in a strong current or wind. The major purpose of a weight is to make the bait sink faster. Floats or bobbers are also sometimes added to signal the fisherman that a fish had taken the bait. It may also be used to regulate the depth of the bait in the water without having to hold the pole steady all of the time.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Volunteers! How delighted we are that they have chosen to share their life with the residents of our home. Residents need the warmth of human friendship and understanding. They need a special assurance of individual worth, of dignity, of acceptance. Volunteers supply these needs. It is a proven fact that our residents are happier when our volunteers are around.

Because volunteers are so very important to our residents, once a year our staff and our residents' families have a special "thank you" celebration for all our volunteers. This year we were served a delicious barbecue supper by yet another volunteer group, the V.F.W. of Ozona. Resident's families assisting include: Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander of Big Lake, Ofelia Enriquez, Lupe Martinez, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Reed, Leila Tambara, and Sophie Tijerina. Friends who helped included Maria Vitela, Peggy Knox, Karyn Eppler, Mrs. Jamie Knox, Mrs. J. D. Kilgore, Mrs. Don Kilgore, Alma James, Dorothy Doll, Barbara and Duwayne Davee, Mrs. E. C. Alford, and Monnie Boyd. Also assisting as well as receiving certificates for being this summer's candy striper girls were: Julie Reagor and Shelly Rumley. Other Candy Striper girls receiving certificates were Pam Miles and Kim Williams.

Another very special group receiving certificates were our residents who are also volunteers. These included Louise McWilliams, Maude Pettit, Frances Borrego, Ola Mills, Leona Harris, and Carol Reed.

As well as our barbecue supper held last Thursday, we also had music by the Knox Band. Special thanks goes to Jamie Knox, Don Kilgore, J.D. Kilgore, Larry Petron and Mrs. Ollie Suduth.

This was our first barbecue and the V.F.W. surely did a fine job! We really do thank you, Sonny Bailey and all your helpers!

Other activities for our residents went on as usual. Sunday afternoon church services were led by the Baptist Church. Tuesday afternoon residents made a batch of no-bake cookies to be served at our volunteer supper.

Wednesday morning Dorothy Doll helped with ceramics. Residents participating included: Juana Hernandez, Frances Borrego, Tomasa Ramos, Ola Mills, Jessie Deaton, and Verna Talley.

Wednesday afternoon Dorothy Doll gave a demonstration on rice paper craft while residents enjoyed Sunshine Hour refreshments furnished by Dorothy Montgomery and Bernice Jones.

Thursday morning beauty shop was manned by Bonnie Warth, Mary Lou, Donna and Jana Lilly.

Thursday afternoon Bible Study was brought by Charles Huffman. Charlotte Trull played the piano and Betty Huffman, Kelly Castro, Marie Walker and Consuelo Smith helped with singing.

This was followed by Spanish hour led by Maria Vitela and assisted by Nenta Porras, Paulita Leal, Carmen Vargas, Ofelia Enriquez, and Maria Delgado. Residents attending included Tomasa Ramos, Juanita Hernandez, Jesus Hernandez, Frances Borrego, Hilario Cortez, and Moraima Perez.

Weekly bingo winner of El Chato's dinner for two was Nila Turnell. First place winner of the gift certificate from Watson's Dept. Store was Bertha Miller. Ola Mills won second, Grace Cotter was runner-up with Louise McWilliams winning the special-of-the-day award. Volunteers helping included Ofelia Enriquez, Sophie Tijerina, Alice Ross, Karyne Eppler, and Anna Bell Patrick.

Friday afternoon a group of ladies met for reading in the Day Room.

Saturday afternoon Anna Yruegas arranged for Rebecca Martinez and Sylvia San Miguel to come and serve snowcones to our residents. This was a new experience for our residents, many of whom had not eaten a snow cone in years. Nice going, Anna!

Leona Harris played the piano for us this week. Winnie Harvey brought us three new pillows and nylon pan scrubbers. The Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W. of Big Lake sent us 10 more bottles of White Minx. Vera Baker donated a pair of brown men's house shoes, and Ozona's Woman's League hung new curtains in room 206.

Our volunteers are honored for services given July through June yearly. It is obvious that these groups will be high on the list come recognition time next year. Wouldn't you like to join our list? Think volunteer!

The average baby doubles his original weight at about 5 months of age.

Natural helper ability

Is it possible to develop the ability to be a "natural helper?"

Some people are easier to turn to than others for advice and understanding when the going gets tough, according to Mrs. Judith L. Warren, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. These "natural helpers" are easier to confide in because they have a genuine concern and an innate understanding for other people, Warren said.

Natural helpers are not paid workers or recognized volunteers, but the support and advice they offer can be worth a great deal to someone with a problem.

"Older people in a community assume this role frequently," Warren said. "They have firm convictions and tend to view things in an historical and general context. In addition, they are more relaxed in their approach to a given situation."

Older natural helpers are good listeners and sounding boards. They may help by performing household chores or providing transportation. They are also likely to offer information about the situation or problem based on past experience.

Everyone may not be able to become a "natural helper," but if you are genuinely concerned for others, you may be able to develop that concern into a new role for yourself, Warren said.

Recognize your helpful characteristics and develop them by becoming conscious of other people's needs. Learn to adapt your "helping style" to the situation. Listen when someone needs to talk. Give advice when someone needs direction.

Remain flexible and relaxed and remember that every situation is unique. What might have worked for one person is not necessarily the answer for another, Warren said. Be willing to take action when the situation calls for action, and perhaps being a "natural helper" will become a rewarding new role for you!

PBP& energy report

It's no secret that the rig count is down in the Permian Basin and nationwide compared to a year ago at this time. However, the count over the past nine weeks has stabilized in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. The count has fluctuated between 275 and 300 and with interest rates and production costs coming down and the end of the year rolling around, we are hopeful that the drilling activity will start back up soon. Ten years ago the rig count was 145 for the year and never went over 200 the seven years before 1972.

This week we wanted to examine the federal budget briefly and give you a general idea of why we have a 1.2 trillion dollar debt, a 100 billion dollar deficit, high interest rates and high inflation.

The entire federal budget was 230 billion dollars in 1972. This year it's 725 billion...an increase of more than 300 percent in only ten years. Also, the budget has gone up more than 600 percent since 1965 when it was only 118 billion dollars. In 1983, the American taxpayer will pay 155 billion dollars for interest alone on the national debt. That's just three billion dollars less than the whole budget was in 1965.

We pointed these things out in our energy report because it's obvious that federal spending must be reduced or the oil and gas industry can be sure of more taxes from Washington. But, what's more important, the future of this country could very well depend on reducing spending to balance the budget.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Here's a surprising fact. No team that's had the rushing champion in the National Football League has ever made it to the Super Bowl that season. For example, George Rogers of New Orleans won the league rushing title in 1981 but New Orleans didn't make it to the Super Bowl. And so it has gone in every year in Super Bowl history.

Here's an amazing fact that shows the tremendous change Babe Ruth caused in baseball. Did you know that before Ruth, nobody in the American League had ever hit more than 16 home runs in one season. Ruth changed the game forever when he hit 54 in 1920.

Here's an incredible oddity. In only 2 years in history have the Philadelphia Phillies won a World Series game, and in only 2 years in history has a filly won the Kentucky Derby--and both happened in the same 2 years! The Phillies won World Series games only in 1915 and 1980. And the only times a filly ever won the Kentucky Derby were 1915 (when Regret won) and 1980 (when Genuine Risk won).
