Annual tournament to get underway Thursday

The 52nd Annual Ozona Basketball Tournament, which in years past has played host to up to 16 teams, will get underway Thursday with only eight teams entered in the three-day event. Participation dropped in 1977, when the tournament was moved from January to December, but had picked up to 12 teams last year. Several teams declined this year due to football play-offs.

Last year Crane won the championship, but will not be returning this year to defend the title. Sonora got the runner-up spot and will be on hand this year to try for the top spot. The host Lions won the consolation trophy last year, but will be shooting for the championship this weekend, with a very good chance of getting the crown. Other teams entered include Iraan, Eldorado, Llano, Junction, Marfa and Menard. All teams are well-matched and any one of them will give the Lions and Broncos a run for their money on the way to the play-offs Saturday.

The Tournament will be divided into four sessions, the first beginning at 4:30 Thursday afternoon, when the Menard Yellowjackets take on the Sonora Broncos for what should be an exciting opening tilt. At 6:30 p.m. the Junction Eagles take on the Marfa Short horns. The Lions will take on the Iraan Braves in the final game of the session, game time 7:30.

The second session commences at 1:30 Friday afternoon and will pit the Eldorado Eagles against the Llano Yellowjackets. At 3 o'clock the losers of the Junction-Marfa and Menard-Sonora games will play toward consolation, and at 4:30 the winners of these games will play toward the championship. Another consolation game is scheduled for 6 p.m. Friday, with the losers of the Iraan-Ozona and Eldorado-Llano games playing toward consolation. At 7:30 the winners of these two games will play.

Play gets underway Saturday at 4:30 with the consolation final. The third-place play-off is set for 6 p.m. and the championship game will begin at 7:30.

Presentation of trophies and awards will follow the final game and the all tournament team will be named.

Tickets at the gate will be $2 for adults and $1 for students for each session. All-tournament tickets will be sold in advance and may be purchased from any varsity basketball player at a reduced rate. Adult tickets will be $6 for the four sessions and students, $3. Fans planning to attend all sessions may wish to take advantage of the pre-tournament ticket sales.

Tournament records, set in 1967 through 1970 have yet to be broken. Bobby Cottle of Rocksprings holds the record for the most points and the most field goals. He scored 54 points and hit for 23 field goals in the 1967 tournament. David Gentry of Merton still holds the record for the most free throws with 14, in 1969. Hubble of Eldorado tied that record in 1971, but did not break it. Webb Williams of Comstock holds the record for the highest individual score in tournament play with 155, set in 1970.

The Lions are 3-1 on the season, losing only to their nemesis Ballinger last week in the Sonora tournament, where they went on to win the consolation trophy. Ballinger downed the Lions 63-60 in the first game of the tournament and went on to

Timely tips for holiday mailing

As Ozonans get ready for the Christmas season, some timely tips from Postmaster Floyd Hokit might be useful, especially in mailing packages out of town.

With the institution of mailing machines, string and twine for securing packages for mailing has become obsolete. They make the package become more apt to get caught and mangled in one of the machines, according to Hokit. The best way to mail a package is to pack it in a good sturdy box and use packing or filament tape to secure it, then use a marker to place the address and return address directly on the box, the postmaster added. Stick-on labels all too often come off before the package is delivered. Also, the post office warns against using wrapping paper, especially paper which has water-proof properties. Stamps too often will not stick, as well as stick-on labels.

Hokit also urged patrons to mail Christmas packages as soon as possible, and as early in the day as possible. Some overseas deadlines have already past. Some deadlines still to come include priority mail to armed forces in Europe and the Far East and first class letter mail, Dec. 10. This deadline also holds true for Air Mail letters and cards to the same places.

December 11, is the deadline for air parcels to the Caribbean and West Indies. December 13, is the final deadline for Christmas delivery. This takes in priority mail to armed forces in Alaska, Hawaii, the Caribbean and West Indies and Iceland, as well as first class letter mail to these areas.

GED Program may be offered

The board of directors of the Ozona Community Center has initiated plans to offer the G.E.D. program for those who wish to get a high school diploma, if enough interest is shown locally.

Those interested in joining the program need to call the Community Center within the next two weeks.

Also, all letters and cards to Alaska and Hawaii need to be mailed by this date.

Hokit again urged Ozona patrons to mail as early as possible. The nearer time comes to the holidays, the more hectic and heavy the mails become and the more likely packages and cards are to get damaged or lost in the rush.

County ambulance involved in wreck

The Crockett County ambulance was involved in an accident Monday while transferring a cardiac patient to St. John's Hospital in San Angelo. The patient was injured slightly in the collision, but the ambulance crew only sustained minor bruises.

The wreck occurred when a pickup pulled out between the police escort and the ambulance at an intersection on Sherwood Way. Quick thinking on the part of the ambulance driver, Raymond Maldonado, averted a broadside collision. As it happened, the ambulance struck the pickup on the left side above the back wheel. The driver of the pickup was not injured, but was issued a citation by the San Angelo Police Department.

The patient was transferred to a San Angelo Ambulance and taken to St. John's intensive care unit with Bobbie Phillips, R.N. in attendance. Maldonado was taken to Shannon Hospital Emergency Room, accompanied by T.K. O'Bryant EMT-SS1 in attendance. He was treated and released in satisfactory condition. The cardiac patient was listed in stable condition in the ICU late Monday.

Damage to the ambulance was thought minor, but it was towed to Mustang Chevrolet for inspection and repair.

Mohair producers to vote on referendum

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has scheduled a referendum Dec. 6-17 to allow mohair producers to decide whether to continue a market promotion and improvement program, according to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Rank said the proposed program is similar to one passed in 1971 except the new program would authorize larger deductions to be made from producer incentive payments.

If the referendum is approved by two-thirds of the producers voting or by two-thirds of the total volume of production represented in the referendum, mohair incentive deductions would increase from the 1971 rate of 1 1/2 cents per pound to a rate of up to 4 1/2 cents per pound, Rank said.

Deductions will be used by the Mohair Council of America to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for mohair and goats in domestic and foreign markets, as well as information programs for producers on production management and marketing improvement.

Ballots were distributed to producers by the County ASCS office December 6. Producers may either mail in the ballots or drop them off in person at the county office by the Dec. 17, deadline. To be eligible to vote, a person must have owned goats six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days in 1981. A cooperative may vote for its members, but if it does so, its members then are ineligible to vote for themselves.

CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE at Maxine's Flowers heralds the coming Christmas season. The annual event was held Saturday and a large crowd turned out to gift shop and see the newest things in Christmas decor.

U.N.'S DIRTY HANDS

By Edwin Feulner

Well, the dirt finally came out in the laundry. A recent report from the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA), which has been caring for Palestinian refugees since 1950, says its Sibilin Training Center near Beirut had been used for two years by the Palestine Liberation Organization to train hundreds of terrorist fighters.

That's quite an admission. Consider how it came to be. Six months ago, when an investigative report published by The Heritage Foundation charged that U.N.-operated refugee camps in war-torn Lebanon were used to stash PLO weapons and train PLO death squads, U.N. officials acted outraged. A couple of months later, when the truth of the allegations became more evident, U.N. officials acted surprised. And now, after the allegations have been investigated and publicly documented, UNRWA Commissioner General Olof Rydbeck of Sweden simply laments "it was a most regrettable thing" and "I am very concerned that it could happen."

You're darned right it's regrettable. The U.S. currently funds more than a third of the $181.6-million 1982 UNRWA budget.

The Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, moreover, specifically says that no U.S. contributions can be made to UNRWA unless agency officials take "all possible measures to assure that no part of the United States contribution shall be used to furnish assistance to any refugee who is receiving military training as a member of the so-called Palestine Liberation Army or any other guerrilla-type organization . . ."

Besides the illegal use of American funds, one must wonder how long the situation would have continued had the Israelis not stumbled across the weapons caches during their march through Southern Lebanon.

Considering the fact that UNRWA is supposed to oversee the refugee camps, one would think that a guerrilla warfare training program involving an estimated 781 "students" would be quite difficult to keep under cover. Ammunition and weapons, uniforms and even artillery pieces don't walk into refugee camps. Close-order military drills don't take place inside closets.

U.N. officials apparently tried their best to keep the whole messy affair under wraps. It wasn't until after U.S. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick threatened to withhold a pending $15-million U.S. payment to UNRWA that the findings were made public. Had Mrs. Kirkpatrick not made such an ultimatum, the facts would possibly never have been publicly known.

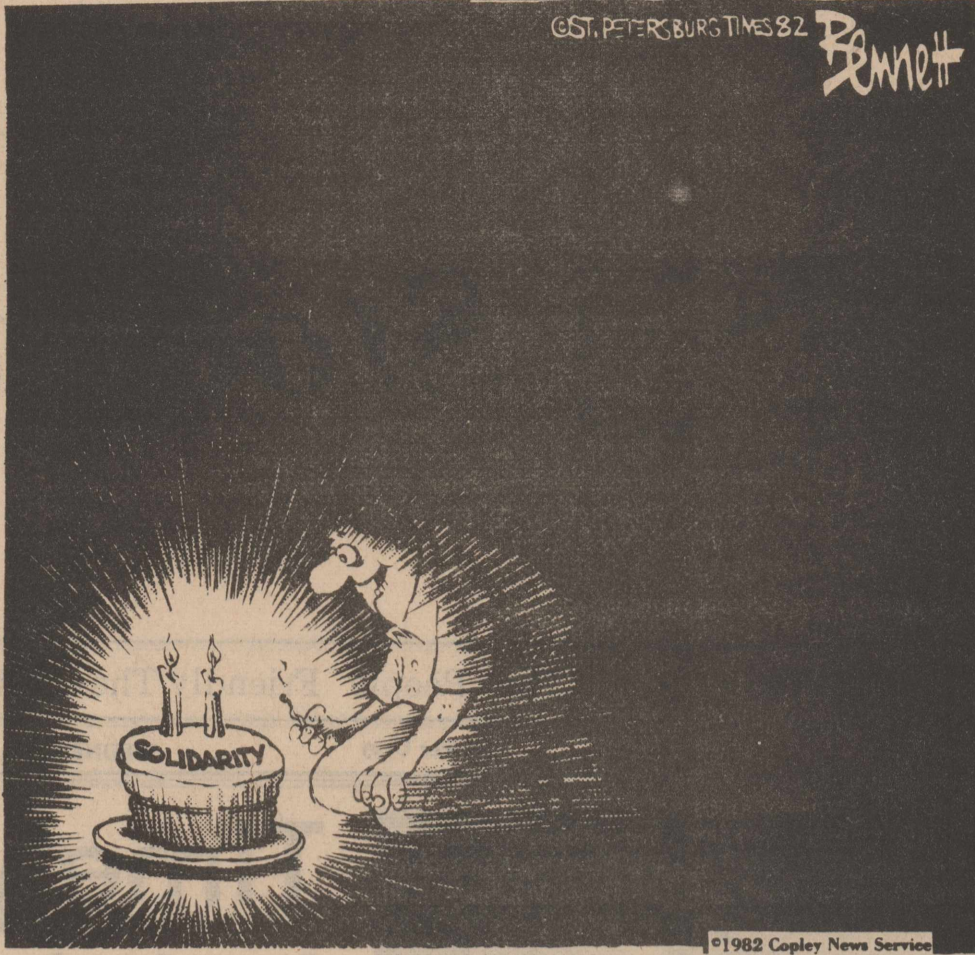

Stringent measures had better be taken to see that history doesn't repeat itself. So far, the training camp's "principal" has been suspended. The school's two chief instructors and two officials from UNRWA's Beirut office also face charges. And the agency's field director in Beirut, who, upon learning of the PLO training, insisted he knew nothing of it and retired to France.

Obviously, the refugee programs run by the U.N. are in need of careful monitoring. And what about the rest of the U.N.'s 15 or so agencies — UNESCO, UNCTAD and UNICEF? To whom are the contents of their coffers going?

When Mrs. Kirkpatrick called the U.S. ineffective at the U.N. last June, she was half-right and half-wrong — our financial contributions seem to be quite effective, our ability to influence events less so.

Fallacies & Facts

Fact: About half of the rubber on the road comes from new tires. Nearly all rubber on the road comes from truck tires and is caused by underinflation and tire abuse, not poor quality. The fact is that retread tires are a sensible, economical alternative to the high price of new tires — 50 to 70 percent of the cost of a new tire. Retreading is the way airlines, truckers, taxi companies, the military and millions of cost-conscious motorists reduce their tire expenses. Because of retreading, nearly 50 million tires will be recycled this year. That means more than one and one half billion pounds of rubber will not become part of our solid waste disposal problem.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Freshmen legislators attending orientation at the State Capitol last week heard House Speaker Bill Clayton warn them they might have to raise taxes to replace lost federal dollars. A nickel-per-gallon gasoline tax hike may be necessary to fund state highway construction and repair, he indicated.

Clayton said the Legislature should also grapple with emotional issues such as abortion, parimutuel betting and repeal of the blue laws. The four-term Speaker officially steps down in one month, the closing of one of the most powerful tenures in the Texas House. But Clayton will stay around to keep his eye on things. He is in the process of setting up an Austin-based consulting firm, and legislators are privately speculating about which special interest lobby accounts he will carry in the session which convenes on Jan. 11.

Clayton is thought by some members to be jockeying for a spot as consultant to the Texas Legislative Council, the legal arm of the Legislature. Clayton has always kept a strong grip on the Council, gaining a "big picture" of the logjam of bills to bolster his political brilliance.

Unemployment Tax
The recently retired chairman of the Texas Employment Commission said last week the Legislature did not raise taxes high enough this fall to bail out the unemployment tax levied on employers. The fund will face bankruptcy again this year unless the Legislature hikes the tax one more time, according to Nolan Ward, who stepped down from his TEC chair last week.

Ward said the $28 minimum tax now in effect should be raised to a minimum of $63 per employee. Otherwise, he said, Texas will find itself in a perpetual borrowing posture from the feds.

Campaign Totals
Outgoing Gov. Bill Clements set state campaign spending records, his campaign committee reported last week. His unsuccessful bid for another four years in office spent almost $13.3 million, the most ever spent by a Texan running statewide.

The winner, Atty. Gen. Mark White, spent $7.1 million. Both campaigns reported about $3 million in debts. White's campaign costs averaged at $2.96 for each of the 1.69 million votes he received; Clements received 1.47 million votes at a cost of about $9.17 each.

Pope Sworn In
The new Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court joked briefly during swearing-in ceremonies last week, but his tenure may still face a grim challenge. Jack Pope, an Associate Justice from San Antonio, told Clements, "this may not be the most important appointment you ever made, but it's the most important one I've ever received."

Still uncertain is whether a 14-member group of senators will block Pope's confirmation in favor of an appointee by White. Pope's home senator, Glenn Kothmann, said last week he will not use senatorial courtesy to block Pope. The confirmation battle, should it come about, will provide strong drama for the opening days of the legislative session.

Agency Attacks Utility
The Texas Public Utility Commission, which came under election campaign attack for being too soft on utility companies, fired some salvos of its own last week, accusing a Houston utility company of gross mismanagement of funds.

The commission denied a Houston Lighting & Power Co. rate hike request, charging it has mismanaged the cost overrun-plagued South Texas Nuclear Project.

The commission chairman, in what some observers said was the strongest attack the agency has made against a utility, suggested HLP begin reform by changing its board of directors membership.

Short Takes
Other actions taken last week included:
—The Sunset Advisory Commission recommended the Legislature make no major changes in the state's Unemployment Trust Fund, the State Board of Insurance or the State Depository Board.
—Texas Atty. Gen. elect Jim Mattox said staff changes in his new office would come about gradually.
—Three black colleges—Wiley College at Marshall, Texas College at Tyler and Huston-Tillotson College at Austin—announced they are considering a merger to whip dwindling enrollments and financial pressures.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My mother died recently leaving a Will that named my oldest brother as executor. My brother maintains there is no need to probate the Will because we are not selling any of my mother's property. Are there any disadvantages in not probating a Will?

A: Eventually all estates including real estate will be subject to probate so title can be cleared for eventual resale. In addition, investments such as registered stocks cannot be sold or traded without probate. The sooner this is done, while heirs and witnesses are alive, the simpler and cheaper the process. Until probate is complete, assets remain in the wrong name while actually belonging to others, and tax and ownership questions can become confused and expensive.

Q: Can a person be sued for criticizing a public official without malicious intent?

A: Our legal system allows anyone to sue anyone else, whether or not the suits have merit. The real question is whether a public official bringing suit can recover a judgment against his critic.

In general, the rule is that a public official will recover only if he can show that the false criticisms or accusations charge him with conduct sufficient to cause his removal from office, or falsely accuse him of a crime. In addition, the public figure must prove

Debra Says

By Debra Price

As you know Christmas and the holiday season is just around the corner. Dian Calley, Home Economist with Energas will present a Christmas Program December 9, 12:00 noon, at the Civic Center. The cookbooks are free and feature new cake recipes.

Do you have your wardrobe planned for the upcoming holiday parties. The main influences for the holidays are a softer version of the prairie look and the sophisticated tuxedo look.

Holiday fashions include lots of ruffles and frills to the simple loose styles.

The elegance of taffeta has returned. This fabric will be showing up in solids, prints, and plaids. The number one item to up-date a wardrobe with will be something in taffeta.

Clothing costs are increasing along with everything else, but sewing your own clothes can be one way to save money.

Consumer Price Index figures show clothing to be increasing by 5 percent while most other items have been increasing by 10 percent. This makes clothing a good buy, but even a 5 percent increase can hinder your budget.

A dress, for example, can be made for about 30 percent of what it costs to buy one of comparable style and quality.

It has been forecast that nationwide interest in home sewing will increase. Companies that sell fabrics or notions have observed significant sales increases.

Many pattern companies have come out with patterns that are fast and easy to sew. Look for patterns that have few pattern pieces, clear instructions, and useful tips like special fitting ideas or special sewing techniques.

You may want to start out with something simple like a T-shirt, before you try a blouse. It is a good idea to sew shorts before attempting culottes or tailored slacks.

Other items that are fast and easy to make are lingerie, unpleated shirts, and dresses.

You may want to consider buying items that are more difficult to make. Involved patterns with special features may be too time-consuming.

Whether you make all your clothes or sew only to supplement your wardrobe, home sewing can save money on clothing costs.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the late November wintry blasts, our gardens grow cold and dormant now, and some plants may need protection for several months.

This will give you the time for winter time browsing through many good and interesting garden books. The high school library has a fine group that you will enjoy reading.

For those of you who have the space and proper growing conditions, many interior decorators are agreeing that living plant material should become a definite part of indoor decorations.

Poinsettias are arriving in flower shops now and seem to be very fresh and beautiful. When selecting them, consider maturity of the plant. Look for yellow pollen on the true flowers which are at the base of the colorful bracts. If flowers are green and red tipped and fresh looking, the bloom will hold longer than if pollen is covering the flower. They are generally offered for sale when pollen is just showing around the edges of the flowers.

Place the pot in a sunny location and water once or twice daily. Keep out of drafts and not exposed to too high or low temperatures.

Another beautiful Christmas plant worth knowing is the Kalanchoe. They are bright showy flowers in clusters in shades of red, pink, salmon, orange or yellow with thick, green, waxy leaves. If bought in full bloom they should last for a month or more. When the flowers fade, clip them back. Give the plant as much sunshine as possible and enough water to keep soil constantly moist. With a little luck, you should get another flush of blooms by March, though not as spectacular as the first. Repeat for another blooming in December.

Rosemary, the Herb of Christmas—once part of the holiday season that blended its silvery fragrance with the holly and mistletoe, it seems to have been forgotten as a Christmas decoration. Potted plants make appropriate gifts and the sprigs of the herb give a special touch to gift wraps too. These plants, both upright and dwarf do well in Ozona as a specimen plant or hedge.

"I'll Be Glad To"

When they want an angel food cake for the church bazaar, Mrs. Turner is apt to be asked to bake it. She almost always responds to such requests with a simple, "I'll be glad to."

Copyright 1982 Keister Advertising Service
P. O. Box 8024, Charlottesville, Virginia 22906
Scriptures selected by The American Bible Society

If you ask people about Mrs. Turner, they will tell you that she is one of the happiest women in town. Yet not so long ago she was feeling pretty sorry for herself. Life seemed such a humdrum affair. As an accomplished musician, she had dreams of the concert stage, but marriage and children had changed all that. Somehow it didn't seem fair!

Then one day, a friend persuaded her to go to church. The sermon happened to be about the ingredients that make a full and happy life. The things the minister said struck home and, the next week, she found herself back in church again. Then several weeks later Mr. Turner went along, and next, the youngsters.

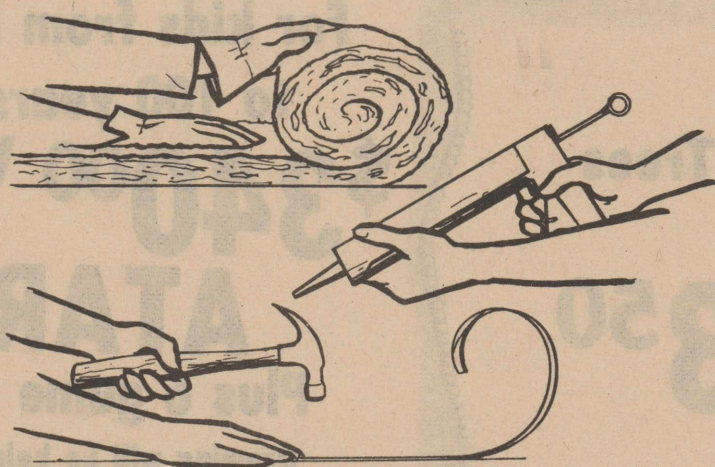

Now Mrs. Turner is still "just a housewife," but is she dissatisfied with her role? Look at her face and see for yourself! It took the Church to show her that she already possessed all the tools needed for fulfillment and happiness, if she would but use them. Now, she does!

WAYS TO GET NOTICED

By-Robbie Turnley

It's the same every year: All the attention is centered on a privileged few. But things can be different this year with these sure-fire ways to get noticed.

Carry the tuba to all your classes.

Rent a helicopter to land you in the school parking lot.

Arrive at school with a wheelchair. Race through the halls to your classes. Between classes sell rides down the stairs for 25c.

Spend the entire school day walking on your hands.

Wear six pairs of underwear to basketball practice.

Position flecks of parsley between your teeth and smile at everyone.

Hire bodyguards. Have them wear black suits and dark sunglasses and check out each room before you enter.

Wear a tux to all your classes.

Eat peanut butter and broccoli on bagel sandwiches.

Have a news team waiting when your mom drops you off.

SOPHOMORES FACE FIRST JOB

By-Karise Aycock

In their second year of OHS, sophomores are presented with their first real job, the running of the basketball concession stand. The purpose of this job is to raise money to present the rest of the school with the annual Christmas dance. The money left over goes to the class so that when the Sophomores are finally seniors, they will have the money to go on their class trip.

By the end of the busy, busy basketball season a sophomore has become a well seasoned concession worker. Most sophomores know how to make change for any size bill, work the popcorn machine, and make nachos and frito pies among other things.

Having these skills behind them, the sophomores are ready for their next step...becoming juniors and manning the football concession stands.

LIFE IN A LITTLE TOWN

An Editorial

By-Karise Aycock

Ever had the small town blues? If you've lived in Ozona, more than likely the answer is yes. Living in a small town has its advantages, but it also has its disadvantages.

Perhaps the biggest disadvantage is lack of things to do. For the adults of small towns there are clubs, bars, and social events to attend. For the teenagers there is nothing to do except ride around and usually get into all kinds of trouble.

Another disadvantage is that there is no way to keep secrets in a small town. For lack of better things to do, people talk. It's a natural thing to do. It's not natural what gets spread around.

Even though the small town seems to have some big disadvantages, there are some big advantages, also. Friends as children usually grow up to be friends as adults. Growing up in small town, sometimes makes one want their children to grow up there also. Therefore they marry and stay, or they leave, marry and return to the small town. It is the same way with their childhood friends.

Another advantage is the lack of big crime. It is a nice thought to be able to leave doors unlocked and not be worried that something is going to happen.

True, it is easy to get the small town blues, but in a small town, there is a feeling of togetherness and closeness that no big city can match. Whether it be friends lending a helping hand or backing the football team all the way, the small town blues can be conquered.

THE STUDENT CURSE

By-Gayla Bell

Many students are faced with the problem of the dreaded homework. This, they feel, is the last straw.

First, they come to school all day long and have to sit and listen to lectures on the various subjects they are taking. Then, they have homework in each of those classes. At the end of the day, that amounts to quite a bit of extra work. After school, there are extracurricular activities and some students have jobs. This, as a result, leaves very little time for homework. For students who do not care about homework, a little time is enough. They just throw it together and be done with it or they do not do it at all. But for the student who does care about his homework, he does not have enough time to do a good job on it and still participate in sports or hold a job.

On the other hand, teachers give homework because they feel that this is one of the best ways to help the students to better understand the subject they are teaching. It is said that a person can learn by repetition and that is actually what homework is. It repeats what the teacher is trying to get across to the students.

Our staff feels that this problem can be solved by using one's time wisely. By making good use of study halls and free time in class, a person can usually finish his or her work. This keeps them from having to take their work home. There will be no worry the next day when class time begins as to whether or not their homework is done.

Notes from the locker room-- Good diet means variety

By-Ross A. Alexander

Steve Sanchez may just be among the most talented young basketball players Ozona has ever produced. There's no telling how good he will be a year or two down the line.

Chuy Hernandez, a very versatile forward, who can shoot and play tough defense, showed his strong capabilities last week, teaming with Harvey, Blas and the rest of the freshmen gang in destroying the rest of the competition in Fort Stockton. The freshmen squad could be playing the best basketball in West Texas right now.

Good coaching can produce good ball games. Girls basketball can be exciting and would be taken more seriously if the basic structure of the team's on-court composition would be more realistic.

Gals like Sharon McCrohan, and Vanessa Miller with the superior ball handling capability they possess, can hardly be expected to do well down low, as frantic as girls' basketball tends to be in that region of the court.

Sharon is super-talented, and offensive-minded. She'd average 10-12 steals a game as a guard, and likely would be more comfortable and productive overall out front. Sharon, quite simply, can control a game's tempo and rhythm as a guard.

Vanessa, who can shoot as well as any kid under 16 in Crockett County, male or female, is wasted all hemmed up in the low post, corners and low pivot zones. She is a classic pure shooter, who can break a game wide open with both outside pops, and with her smooth, fluid drives to the hoop. Her passes, unlike those of most girls, are crisp and not the up-for-grabs variety that plagues others.

Lydia Pena is my idea of a great low post, hard rebounding basketball player who is not easily intimidated by the crush of inside play and who would be best suited for Sharon's present spot. Remember Ozona, Sharon as a guard could produce a championship Cubette season.

The female J.V. squad is loaded with terrific talent. Raedene is quite possibly the most versatile athlete on the floor, quick and always alert with an unquestioned leadership capability. Julie is extremely able, as is Kim and little spitfire Zelda. Dona will get stronger as the season progresses and opponents will have to look out for her, since she can put it up. But, Vanessa, who has more moves than Bayer's got aspirins, is assigned to a slot on the court which certainly takes away her natural and proficient frontal attack featuring a consistently accurate outside shot. As with Sharon, this kid is a born ball handler and game orchestrator. Its a shame that Ozona loses while these super talents go underutilized. Speaking of underutilized talent, I'm still waiting for Jana to take on the leadership function and lead the girls varsity unit out of the dull, little-or-no-defense attitude the team seems to have adopted. Jana is one of the best female athletes in Ozona, yet she seems to be consciously holding back for some reason. If Jana comes around, then watch for Jacinda and Marla and the gang to be ignited also. Irma could easily score 25 or 30 points a game but she mostly just passes it off to someone. Rita can play and it must be frustrating for her this season, since she waited with such eager anticipation for basketball season to commence.

Not to worry Rita. Vanessa and Melissa and Dona and Olga are coming soon, and then when they arrive, Ozona can prepare for another thrilling championship season.

Planning a good diet should mean eating a variety of foods in moderation, rather than a few foods in abundance, since no single food has all the nutrients needed for good health.

"The challenge is to select combinations of foods which will provide a nutritionally adequate diet," says Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A good diet should include selections from the four major food groups. Diets require meat, eggs and beans to provide protein, as well as iron, zinc, and B-complex vitamins. Also needed are fruit and vegetables for their vitamins, carbohydrates and fiber.

Dairy products contain calcium for bones and teeth, along with vitamins, protein, and essential fats. Breads and cereals provide carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, some protein, and considerable amounts of dietary fiber.

As a rule, most Americans consume more calories, fats, salt, and sugar than they need, according to Cooksey.

Deregulation of your telephone ...how will it affect you

Deregulation. What does it mean to the nation's telephone industry — and the customers it serves? All of the hows, whys and maybes are not determined, but here are answers to some often-asked questions.

Q. What is deregulation?

A. Simply, it's the process of removing state and federal controls from many services provided by the telecommunications industry. It means customers can select equipment and services in a competitive market without regulation by a regulatory commission.

Q. When does it happen?

A. Deregulation isn't new. Federal Communications Commission rulings over the past three decades have allowed some competition in terminal equipment (telephones, multi-line systems, etc.) and in long-distance services. But deregulation surfaced as a major public issue when the FCC mandated total deregulation of new terminal equipment, effective January 1, 1983.

Q. Why does the FCC want the telephone industry to be deregulated?

A. The FCC believes competitive markets are most efficient. Deregulation — and competition — will encourage new services and open more options to customers.

Actually, the FCC is but one of the driving forces behind deregulation. Congress, the Justice Department and the Reagan Administration (like others before it) all are eager to deregulate the American telephone business.

Q. What is GTE's position regarding deregulation?

A. GTE feels that deregulation ultimately will benefit all concerned. Competition is the American way and GTE expects to compete aggressively.

Q. Just what services will continue under regulation?

A. After January 1, the basic local and long-distance switching networks will continue to be regulated. So will all in-place equipment on customer premises. New equipment will be excluded from regulation, as will "enhanced" services, which combine basic service with computer processing to provide additional, different or restructured information.

Q. How does this affect customers?

A. The big change is in lease and purchase arrangements for telephones, multi-line systems and other equipment in a customer's home or business.

After January 1, existing customers may continue to lease their phones from General Telephone. In addition, they have the option of purchasing phones — either from General Telephone or another supplier.

New customers also will be able to buy phones anywhere they choose (including General Telephone). Cost of equipment purchased by customers will be determined by the marketplace — not regulatory commissions. Lease options also will be available to new customers, but again will be determined by the marketplace — not the regulators.

There's another important point. By definition, anyone who alters existing service will be classified as a new customer. People who move from one residence to another — even though both are served by General Telephone — would be considered new customers under deregulation guidelines.

Q. Will all customers be affected by deregulation?

A. No. The FCC's order applies only to single-line service. Customers on multi-party lines may continue to lease phones from General Telephone with all the traditional services. For a period after deregulation begins, party line customers may have some options that will not be available after January 1, 1983 to single-line customers.

Q. Will it affect the cost of telephone service?

A. Deregulation will have an impact on virtually every aspect of the telephone industry — including cost. It should result in lower prices for some services and higher prices for others. The net effect of deregulation — and the competition it creates — is that each product or service provided by General Telephone must pay its own way, without subsidies from other segments of the business.

For example, revenues from various optional services have traditionally subsidized the cost of providing basic local service. That ensured basic telephone service was affordable to nearly everyone. But competition will force prices to more closely reflect the true cost of any service. Local rates probably will rise; others may decrease. Either way, customers will be asked to pay for the cost of the services they use.

Q. So what are the benefits to the consumer?

A. With deregulation comes competition. With competition comes the suppliers' desire to provide customers with what they want, when they want it, resulting in many options, introduction of new technology and keeping costs at the lowest possible level.

Q. Won't there be a lot of people who will be unable to afford a telephone?

A. GTE expects to help customers meet increases in telephone rates by phasing in certain options for flat rate pricing, including Usage Sensitive Service (USS) which is a measured service.

This week in sports

By-Ross A. Alexander

Danny Sanchez, Armando Fierro, Will Seahorn and Oscar Payne have something in common. They are stars of the future, God willing. Yes, Scott Denman can dominate and Vargas can pass, shoot and break shots, and its true that Brett and Carl can do it all with great skill.

But Armando and Danny have such sweet skills that you almost have to see them in action to believe them. Will is the hungriest kid Ozona's got when it comes to spunky play and a winning, offensive mind-set. He has good moves to the hoop and is a threat to fire it up from almost any spot out to 20 feet.

Rene and Sean had quiet evenings offensively in the A vs. B team consolation round last week, but their defense was solid and consistent and vital. Rene should shoot more than he does, but Danny's game is a shooting game, so Rene plays the boards out of respect for Sanchez' style. The A vs. B team clash was fun to cover and served as a showcase of some of Ozona's pipeline personnel.

Zeke Martinez, whose level of desire and athletic prowess seems never diminished in the least, showed the way for the basketball Lions in tough competition last week. Zeke, who has been called one of Crockett County's all-time great athletes, scored 85 points in 4 games with 52 rebounds along the way. If Dan can get Massey into the act, Ozona will breeze past district opponents this season. Ballinger is the class of the field I'm told, and they barely got by 63-60. Don't ask what happened to Bob Reneau, but Ozona sure needed him to contribute. With Reneau contributing effectively, Ballinger probably would have been defeated. He seemed to bounce back against Lake View, but the big district teams are the ones we need big games from our big names. With Bob, Massey, Dan and the fantastic Mr. Martinez all contributing, Ozona will be awesome.

The Lions defeated Eldorado twice last week, 74-41 at home, then 73-58 later in Sonora with Zeke starring in both games.

This week, Ozona hosts an 8-team tournament. Initial tip-off for the tourney is slated for 4:30 Thursday afternoon, and it should be quite a show.

"It would be nice to see a large Ozona crowd come out and cheer for our guys," a Lion team official said recently.

The fans in the crowd, as recently shown during the championship football season, can be quite a factor in a winning performance. The Lions are 3-1 so far this season.

JEM Petroleum Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Shannon "B", 9,500-foot wildcat in crockett county and as a 1/2-mile south and slightly east outpost to the two-well Fusselman area, a 2 3/4-mile east and very slightly south outpost to the current lone lower Pennsylvanian oil producer and a one-mile south and slightly east outpost to the two-well upper Strawn oil area of the Escondido field, also as a 2 1/8-mile southeast outpost to the Ellenburger re-opener and lone producer from that pay and a 2 7/8-mile south-southeast outpost to the Pennsylvanian detrital oil opener and current lone producer from that pay in the Escondido, Northwest field and 22 miles southwest of Big Lake.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 35-1-GC&SF. Ground elevation is 2,574 feet.

The Ellenburger opener of the Escondido field, Conoco Inc., No. 1-7 J.M. Shannon, was finalized Nov. 21, 1964 for 318 barrels of 40.6 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 57-1, through a 7-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,216-35 feet.

Texas-grown Christmas trees available this year

For a real Texas Christmas this year, be sure your Christmas tree is a genuine Texas product. "About 100,000 Texas-grown Christmas trees should be available this year in retail lots and on a 'choose-and-cut' basis," says Dr. Mike Walterscheid, forester with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Sales of these trees should total $1.2 million to growers. Texas currently boasts about 3,200 acres of Christmas trees, mainly in eastern areas, with some 1,000 trees per acre. Also numerous stands of the trees are being grown in West Texas.

"Texas-grown Christmas trees offer a number of advantages," notes Walterscheid. "They are fresher, more fragrant and usually less expensive than those shipped in from other states."

More than five million Christmas trees are sold in Texas each year, imported mainly from northern and western states. So the growth potential of the Texas Christmas tree industry looks good, notes the forester.

Texas growers have planted about a million seedlings each of the past several years. Most of these are Virginia pines native to the Appalachian area of the southeastern U.S. Another species, the Afghan or Elderica pine, is now being grown in central, western and southern areas of Texas. The trees are generally ready to harvest in about four years.

While the availability of Texas-grown trees continues to increase, most shoppers will likely have to go to the larger cities in Texas or to smaller communities in eastern areas where most of them are grown," says Walterscheid.

"Choose-and-cut" operations—in which the shopper selects the tree he wants, cuts it himself and takes it home—are popular, says the forester, because this restores the old-fashioned idea of making the selection of a Christmas tree an outing the entire family can enjoy.

ONE BIG BUCK-The spread of the antlers on this trophy deer measured 30 inches and he field-dressed at 174 pounds. However, the two Crockett County men had to go to Culberson County to harvest the 13-point blacktail. Garland Young bagged the big buck on the Phillips ranch 45 miles northwest of Pecos, accompanied by Buddy Phillips.

Immunization clinic conducted here Thurs.

An Immunization Clinic conducted by the Texas Department of Region 4 Nurses was conducted Thursday in Ozona. 162 injections were given to 128 people. Lou Ingram, school nurse works with public nurses in conducting the clinic.

Nurses working at this month's clinic were Cheryl Kauffman, R.N. of Sonora, Dolores Ramirez, R.N., Jo Balleo, and Amalie Moore, L.V.N. of San Angelo.

Xi Sigma Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi donated money to buy balloons for the children attending the clinic. The group wanted to create better feelings for children getting shots. Judy Adams created varied reactions dressed in her bright yellow wig. Other were Arlene Clayton, Cindy Collins, and Nancy Hale.

Tennis workshop scheduled

John Newcombe's Tennis Ranch in New Braunfels will be offering to Texas Jr. High and High Schools their special workshop/training weekends. These weekends have proven extremely popular in the past five years because they provide students with an opportunity to drill and play at the Ranch with John Newcombe's tennis staff.

Students participating in these weekend programs are video taped and critiqued on their serve, groundstrokes, and volleys, and on leaving the Ranch should have full knowledge of the areas that they need to work on in their game.

Ozona students interested in attending the camp February 18-20 should contact Debbie Deaton at 392-3876 or Jeannine Perry at 392-2973 by this week if possible.

Cost per student is $75, and this price includes all accommodation and meals, court fees, night court fees, tennis program, and entertainment on Friday and Saturday night.
