When it comes to justice, I am not sure where our nation's priorities lie. I am also concerned about civil rights or human rights. You would think when a person carelessly takes another person's life, he thereby forfeits any rights he might have. However, the U.S. Supreme Court seems to think otherwise. I am speaking of the execution stay for James David Autry.

The death penalty is supposed to be a law to protect society, and it should be society's right to enforce that law, the American Civil Liberties Union notwithstanding.

What really prompts this outburst is an interview granted the killer to the Houston Chronicle, wherein he complained about being prepared to die "an hour before his time." He has had many more chances to live than he gave his victim. At taxpayers' expense he has been tried, given an attorney, used up all his appeals, and fed and clothed since his crime in 1980. We know all about James David Autry, and the fact that he had a bad childhood in no way alters the public's opinion, indeed nor would it have altered the opinion of the jury who tried him.

What do we know about Shirley Drouet, his victim? Only that she was 43 years old, mother of five and worked at a convenience store in Port Arthur, and that James David Autry shot her between the eyes on the night of April 29, 1980, rather than pay her $2.70 for a six-pack of beer.

Autry is back on death row, thanks to the intervention of Supreme Court Justice Byron White. Shirley Drouet is still dead. There was no Supreme Court Justice to stand between Autry's bullet and her head. There has been no appeal by attorneys from the ACLU that her civil rights were violated.

The taking of life is murder, the ultimate theft. For all we don't know about the life of Shirley Drouet, surely her life was worth something. Every life has its worth and anything less than capital punishment for a murderer is an admission by society that life is something less than worthy.

It is not cruel and unusual punishment to execute killers. It is not simply to deter others from committing the same crime, only that no other punishment will suffice. How many other killers have been rehabilitated and turned loose on society only to kill again and again. Take the Lucas case which has been in the news the last few weeks. After serving 16 years for killing his mother, he was released to kill again, and he did. They do not yet know how many, but he has confessed to killing over a hundred women. This is why I favor capital punishment. It is protection for society against murder, and it's just as simple as that.

Those who oppose the death penalty obviously regard the lives of themselves and their loved ones as pieces of property, no more valuable than money or an automobile. It's just sick. The Civil Liberties Union and the Supreme Court have no right to deny society the protection of the death penalty.

School board updates policy--hears reviews

The regular monthly meeting of the Crockett County Board of Trustees was held Monday evening, October 10, in the Ozona Public Schools administration building. Board President Joe Couch called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m., and minutes of the September 13, regular meeting, and the September 21, special board meeting, were approved. Members then gave their approval of the Ozona Public Schools General Fund Account, as well as the Accounts Payable.

Superintendent Garland Davis presented a review of the September Budget Analysis Ledger and provided board members with information concerning the 1983-1984 school budget.

Board approval was given for an update in the Texas Association of School Boards Policy Reference Manual, and officials considered a reimbursement request for student transportation, as well as possible revisions in the Ozona K-8 Promotion and Retention Policy. The members also gave their approval to allow Mr. Davis to serve on the Texas Public School Professional Personnel Advisory Committee to the State Board of Education.

Mr. Davis gave the board a review of a Texas Education Agency audit report on average daily attendance, personnel, and sick leave through the 1981-82 school year, as well as other reports on average daily attendance for the first six weeks of school, bus transportation mileage, school housing, and fencing of a parking area for school buses.

Student enrollment for the first six weeks of school was 1,035 and the average daily attendance was 985.

Dudley book on WW II published and on sale

Jim Dudley's book, "A Journal of World War II," was published last week after some 20 years of research on the part of the author.

The 224-page tome is a chronicle of the years leading up to the war, the resulting conflict and the aftermath, both nationally and locally, and contains 69 full-page pictures of Ozona service men.

Readers who lived through the war years and those preceding it, will have memories renewed, and members of the younger generation will get a keen insight into what those years were all about, as the book gives an accurate account of events leading up to the war. Although the book is tuned to local as well as national events, Dudley gives a concise description of the history of the times.

The book is written in three parts. Part one, entitled Peace Time, takes the reader to the 1930's and brings him through December 7, 1941, when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. Part two, The Build-up, details the country's struggle during wartime, December, 1941 through December, 1943. Part three, the Final Assaults, pictures the war from January, 1944 to VJ day.

The books are for sale at $17 each and are available at Dudley's office. Only 300 books were printed and already several copies have been circulated.

Lions bow down to Colorado City Wolves

By Gary Davis

The Ozona Lions dropped their fourth game of the season to the Colorado City Wolves last Friday night in Lions Stadium by a score of 21-3. Although the statistics were very even, the Lions could not manage to penetrate the goal.

"We didn't play that poorly, but we gave up the big plays," said Ozona Coach Don Abbott. "We lack that quality that enables us to be a winner," said Abbott. Coach Abbott praised the efforts of senior Oscar Vargas; junior Frank Galan and sophomores David Adams and Arturo Gonzales, who played at middle linebacker for the first time and did an incredible job.

The Wolves scored once during the first, third and fourth quarters to accumulate their tally of 21 points. The Lion's only score came with 8 seconds remaining in the first half. Robert Flores booted the ball 25 yards for the 3 points.

The Lions had 158 yards rushing. Contributing to this total were David Delgado, junior, with 46 yards; Oscar Vargas, senior, with 44;

Johnny Rodriguez, senior, with 30; and Mark Vallejo, senior, with 22.

Delgado led the Lions in passing with 153 yards and Flores, who was named player of the week, led the team with 144 yards receiving.

The Lions who are 3-4, will be looking to even their season record against the Crane Golden Cranes in Crane Friday at 7:30 p.m. "We gave Crane their first loss last year....," said Abbott, "...and we're going to make every effort to hand them their first loss this year."

Gas & oil still big part of economy

The sale of crude oil and natural gas from Crockett County wells made an important contribution to the county's economy in 1982 and accounted for $338.6-million of the $41.1-billion wellhead value of Texas petroleum production last year.

In its annual survey of the economic impact of oil and gas industry operations in the significant producing counties of Texas, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reported that the county ranked 30th among Texas' 254 counties on the basis of value of its marketed petroleum production. Such production includes condensate and casinghead gas.

The county's wells produced 4.9-million barrels of crude oil, valued at $155.2-million, and 87.8-billion cubic feet of natural gas, valued at $183.4-million. Owners of royalty in the county received $42.3-million as their share of the output, the Association noted.

"The figures cited in this survey offer graphic evidence of the continuing importance of petroleum production to nearly every county in Texas, a situation which should continue indefinitely," said the Association's chairman, Joe C. Walter, Jr., Houston independent producer.

"There are a number of encouraging signs indicating that the oil and gas industry's protracted slowdown in activity is coming to an end. A general economic recovery in the United States and other industrialized countries will increase the demand for petroleum products, thereby stimulating geophysical and drilling activity here and abroad. The domestic petroleum industry stands ready to drill more wells as drilling projects become economically feasible," Walter said.

In addition to paying property taxes to cities, counties, and school districts, producers in the county supported state government through production tax payments estimated at $20.9-million, according to the Association survey. Crude oil taxes amounted to $7.1-million, while natural gas levies totalled $13.8-million.

Based on Texas Employment Commission figures, some 538 oil and gas industry employees in the county received wages of about $12.5-million in 1982.

In the search for new petroleum reserves in the county, oil and gas producers spent a reported $170.5-million in the drilling of 465 wells, including 19 wildcat, or exploratory, wells. This effort resulted in the completion of 155 oil wells and 229 gas wells, although some $20-million was lost in the drilling of 81 dry holes. As of April 1, 1983, there were 4,204 producing wells in the county; 2,290 oil and 1,914 gas.

Petroleum processing also contributed to the county economy, with 12 natural gasoline processing plants, having a total daily capacity of 211.2 cubic feet of natural gas.

Annual county pecan show set

The annual Crockett County Pecan Show will be held Monday, November 28, at the Civic Center in Ozona. Any pecan grower in the area may submit entries to the show. No entry limit per exhibitor is made, but participants are limited to one entry of each named variety they grow. The grower may enter as many seedlings, known hybrids or natives as he wishes. The exhibitor must be the grower.

A minimum of 45 pecans are necessary for each entry. This sample should represent the variety or individual seedling tree and be uniform in size and shell color. Mixed samples--more than one variety in an entry--are disqualified.

The grower may wish to select the heaviest pecans by weighing individual nuts. This will eliminate poorly filled pecans, but certainly isn't an entry requirement. A varietal entry may be composed of nuts from more than one tree. For example, if the grower has 10 Choctaw trees, each tree could contribute nuts to the grower's one Choctaw entry.

Nuts should be free of dust, dirt, and shuck remnants. They should not be buffed to the extent that shape or color is altered. Discolored shells and kernels may result from peeling pecans from the shucks too early. Pecans must be from the 1983 crop and are judged on the basis of size (number per pound), appearance, and shell color. Kernel quality is also important and is based on the percent kernel (as relative to shell), color, general appearance, texture, and taste.

Deer tags to be issued for county

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will issue special antlerless deer tags for Crockett County on Nov. 1, 1983 from 8:00 a.m.-12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. in the Crockett County Courthouse.

The special tags are required for any antlerless deer harvested in this county during the upcoming hunting season. To qualify for tags, a landowner must own or control acreage in Crockett County.

After the opening of the hunting season, tags will only be available through Regional Offices located in Rockport, San Angelo, Tyler, Waco and the State Office in Austin. Tags will not be issued by local department personnel.

Landowners or their agents are urged to pick up tags on the scheduled issuance dates.

RISING RED TIDE ENDANGERS THE WEST

By Edwin Feulner

The importance of seapower to Western security can't be over-estimated.

Some chilling statistics are contained in The Almanac of Seapower, 1983...

In his overview of the naval situation of the two superpowers, Hessman writes: "There are in the Soviet Northern Fleet some 600 ships..."

Lest anyone attribute the massive Soviet naval buildup to the Kremlin's desire to defend the Soviet heartland...

In the 1930's, notes Hessman, Winston Churchill was a voice crying in the wilderness warning of the growing threat posed by Nazi Germany's arms buildup...

Sadly, Hessman declares, "Today there are no Churchills or Vinsons on the horizon..."

The picture is not totally bleak, however, says Hessman. "British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, President Reagan and the other leaders of the Free World may not be of Churchillian stature..."

Hessman notes that the U.S./NATO response to the Soviet naval buildup "has not been commensurate to the threat."

As the budget battles continue to rage here in Washington, I hope some of our senators and congressmen take note of the growing Soviet threat...

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock told an Amarillo crowd last week to expect higher taxes coming out of the next legislative session.

When other politicians speak of the need to raise taxes, they are a bit suspect of trying to raise money to keep political promises to some group.

But when Bullock, the high tax collector for the state, says Texas government is running out of money, most people lend an interested and believing ear.

Bullock's bad news in a speech to the independent automobile dealers convention was that the oil market slump is healing slowly, at least in terms of the tax revenues that the oil industry contributes to the state.

In addition, Bullock said, the peso devaluation which wrecked economic havoc along the Rio Grande border is also causing a loss of sales tax revenues.

"When cities don't pay as much (sales tax), it counts in the Treasury."

"There has been a loss of sales revenue of up to 50 percent for example, in Laredo, and El Paso lost 38 percent," Bullock said.

Tax Hike Forecast

The oil and peso problems, together with the national recession, have created what Bullock calls "a Texas recession—unique to Texas."

He predicted the Legislature will raise taxes to boost support for the more than half of Texas school systems "which are substandard."

Which taxes will be raised? Bullock said he thinks changing some exemptions in the sales tax, increasing "sin" taxes (alcohol, tobacco) and gasoline taxes will temporarily raise "a considerable sum."

"I don't see any increases in oil and gas taxes because that industry has been hit so hard."

King Ranch Audit

If Texas government finds extra revenues anywhere, some quiet predictions are they will come out of General Land Office efforts.

Among other overhauling projects being conducted by Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is an audit of about 2,900 state properties to determine if the state is getting its share of money.

Last week Mauro said the 18,093 acres on the King Ranch in South Texas, may be "a problem lease."

Mauro's staff is looking to see whether the King Ranch has lived up to its responsibilities under the Relinquishment Act, and whether Exxon oil company has paid the state its full share of royalties.

Exxon has leased King Ranch oil and gas rights since 1933.

Gamble Paid Off

In those Depression years, the King Ranch family leased nearly a million acres, including the 18,000 acres of state tracts, to then Humble Oil and Refining Co. in exchange for a $3.5 million loan.

The lease was the largest for Humble at that time, and it paid off with over $100 million in oil and gas revenues.

at the Dallas selection, but the party committee decided Dallas would be the best place to showcase the differences between the two parties.

Mauro may try to attack the lease as invalid, as he did on Exxon-leased land in Duval County which brought the state $400 million.

Exxon says there is no basis to invalidate the lease.

"Mauro is the first land commissioner in 50 years who has seen something wrong with the lease," a spokesman said.

Democrats To Dallas

Republicans consider Dallas to be their town in Texas, but Texas Democrats will be coming to visit.

Following a spirited struggle, the party's executive committee voted to hold the 1984 state convention in Dallas—and only two weeks after the Republican National Convention will be held there.

Dallas city officials expect to take in $15 million from the Democratic convention alone, and $35 million from the GOP caucus.

Austin and Travis County Democrats were a bit rankled

at the Dallas selection, but the party committee decided Dallas would be the best place to showcase the differences between the two parties.

Gramm's Old Seat With controversial Congressman Phil Gramm running for the Senate, interest has picked up in the race to take his House seat.

The latest count has two new contenders from the small portion of Tarrant County which was pieced into the district last session.

One is state Sen. Hugh Parmer; another is oil man Marshall Brachman.

For the Republicans, state Rep. Ray Keller of Duncannon is considering a try.

Dan Kubiak, who finished second to Gramm in a 10-candidate special election last spring, has been quietly shopping for a house in the Bryan-College Station area.

Kubiak, who garnered 40 percent of the vote in losing to Gramm, is the frontrunner, and friends say he will make an official announcement soon.

A re-run of "The Ozona Story" as gleaned from the files of the "The Ozona Stockman"

Thursday, Oct. 21, 1954 Pvt. J. G. Hufsteler, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hufsteler of Ozona recently began eight weeks of Army basic training in the Anti-aircraft Artillery Replacement Training Center at Fort Bliss, Texas.

At a Chevrolet dealer meeting held in the Wooten Hotel in Abilene recently, J. W. North of the North Motor Co. was presented an attractive ebony and silver wall plaque in recognition of more than 25 continuous years as a Chevrolet dealer.

Soil conservation was the topic at the meeting of Ozona Woman's Forum with Bob Scott, district soil conservationist presenting the program. Also speaking was Mrs. J. S. Pierce, III who spoke on flood control possibilities for Ozona.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Abe Caruthers and Mrs. James Childress.

A powerful Ozona rally ran out of time last Friday night in Melvin and the Lions came out of a non-district clash with the Bulldogs on the short end of a 26 to 20 score.

With the new wiring system installed in the downtown park, the stage is all set for the annual P.T.A. Carnival which will be reeled off in a one-night stand next Monday night.

An Ozona product, Virgil Oden, returned last Saturday night to his home town to exhibit his handiwork, a well-directed cast of amateur actors who presented the play, "Arsenic and Old Lace" with professional quality before an appreciative Ozona audience.

Oden has been employed as director of the San Angelo Community Players, a dramatic group which numbers many drama graduates and experienced amateurs among its members.

New officers of the Ladies Golf Assn. were installed by retiring president Pauline Montgomery. They were Marge McMullan, new president; Marjory Ramsey, vice-president; Velma Marley, recording secretary-treasurer; and Wanda Stuart, reporter.

Mrs. Byron Stuart, Mrs. Max Schneemann, Jr. and Mrs. L.B.T. Sikes were hostesses to members and guests of the Wednesday Bridge Club at the House of Flowers.

Lin Hicks returned Tuesday night after twelve months duty with United States Armed Forces in Korea.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clegg and Mr. and Mrs. Nip Blackstone were hosts to the Night Game Club of the Woman's Forum Tuesday night at the Country Club.

Jointly held property must be included in the decedent's estate to the extent he owned that property. If, for instance, he owned a farm equally with his two sisters, one-third the value of the farm would be in the decedent's estate.

A simple Will—that is, one without a trust, might be probated without a lawyer. However, I would still advise you to have an attorney draw up the papers transferring joint property into the name of the surviving heir.

How confidential are a customer's financial statements made to banks? What are a loan officer's duties to protect this information?

In Texas the answer depends on whether the party requesting to see the information is a state or federal agency, a private citizen with a court order, another bank or credit institution, or someone who "just wants to know."

Both judge and jury in Texas are to make decisions in this state based on the standards set forth in the Family Code, not upon personal feelings about the men and women who are parties to the divorce.

The matter of child custody, for instance, is to be decided according to the "best interests of the child," not according to the gender of the parent or child. The debts and assets are to be divided "fairly and equitably"—and again without prejudice for husband or wife.

I have some probate questions. Must property jointly held by spouses be included in an estate inventory? What difficulty would a layman have in probating a simple will in which the surviving spouse is named the only inheritor?

A minor may file in the courts an action to have legal disabilities of minority removed. The application may be made by the parents or the managing conservator of the child any time before the 18th birthday. If the District Court finds the Case in order, it will rule to set aside the so-called disabilities, leaving the applicant an adult and responsible for his own actions.

Who in your opinion in the state of Texas generally gets the better deal in a divorce proceeding...the man or the woman?

Both judge and jury in Texas are to make decisions in this state based on the standards set forth in the Family Code, not upon personal feelings about the men and women who are parties to the divorce.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the most welcome rain in this area, our country side is already greening up, and what a difference it makes in our feelings and with smiles on many faces.

Some of you may want to grow flowering perennial seeds to be planted at this time. Those that do well here that receive full or partial sunlight include candy-tuft, yarrow, foxglove, hollyhock, four o'clocks, canterberry bells and Sweet William.

Start bringing house plants indoors before nighttime temperatures drop below 40 degrees. But before you do, check under the leaves and in leaf junctions for such pests as spider mites, whiteflies and aphids. Control any present by applying malathion according to label directions. Be sure to spray outdoors. Snails can be evacuated by soaking the pots in a tub of water for 10 or 15 minutes. Let the pots drain and dry before bringing the plants indoors.

If you want to preserve foliage for fall arrangements, look to such evergreens as Southern magnoia, hollies, photinia, pitasporum and Japanese yew. Cut fresh healthy branches and crush the ends of the stems with a hammer. Prepare a solution of 1 part glycerin and 3 parts water in a glass or ceramic container. Insert the stems to a depth of 4 to 6 inches. Let the branches stay in the solution until the leaves take on a brown leathery appearance.

Someone wanted to know how often their dracaena should be fertilized. Like most large houseplants they need to be fed twice a month during the summer and monthly during the rest of the year. Use a water-soluble houseplant fertilizer, such as 20-20-20 or 18-18-18, applying at the rate recommended on the label. Remember that on the week you fertilize your plant, this will replace the regular watering.

If you have an old oleander that has grown too large and looks rather scraggly and the flowering is over this fall, cut back to desired size. Cut stems at varying heights to encourage a full and graceful appearance. To keep growth within bounds, also root-prune the plant at this time. Do this by driving a spade deep into the soil 2 to 3 feet from the trunk, continuing until the plant is completely encircled.

Prune spring-flowering shrubs after blooming—climbing roses, forsythia, quince and Indian Hawthornes.

A plant exhibit was the program for the meeting with members displaying plants they have grown this year. There was also a beautiful array of horticulture specimens and arrangements designed by the members, making the young club proud of its accomplishments this far.

Extension office news

By-Rachel Hall

By now, many of you have heard about the exciting trips the Senior 4-H Club had at the Pecos River, this past Saturday. Twenty 4-Hers and leaders attended this all day campout. They learned how to cook on rocks, bake potatoes in mud, make spoons out of sotol and forks out of tree limbs. Sounds primitive but ask any 4-H member or leader who attended, it was a fun and learning trip. Lane and Sherry Scott, Bob and Ann Childress and Brock Jones headed up this campout.

The Progressive Extension Homemaker Club met Thursday, October 13 for the monthly club meeting. Ann McCartney presented the program on Volunteerism. Members were challenged to think of ways that they could assist with the local care center.

We all know the problem. Many teenagers and younger children are abusing alcohol and drugs daily. But can we ever stop the problem?

On November 2 and 9, PBS Stations will be nationally broadcasting The Chemical People, a two part series especially designed to bring concerned parents and citizens together and offer guidelines for helping young people. First Lady Nancy Reagan will be hosting this broadcast from 8:00-9:00 p.m. on PBS stations (locally KERA-Channel 13). Many national organizations are supporting this project. Some of these include: American Federation of Teachers, Boys Clubs of America, General Federation of Women's Clubs, International Chiefs of Police, National Association of Secondary School Principals, Lions International, and National 4-H Council.

Many towns are organizing town meetings to view the broadcast together. Following the broadcast, the local drug and alcohol situations will be revealed through panel discussions.

The Crockett County Family Living Committee recently met and strongly supports the project. Community leaders, club presidents or representatives, and anyone interested in drug and alcohol abuse are encouraged to attend a planning meeting for our community Wednesday, October 19, 8:00-9:00 p.m. at the Civic Center.

WHEN PRESSURE GETS TO YOU

How come in a world that operates largely by machine and computer there is so much PRESSURE on the individual?

Maybe the answer is that few individuals are as well adjusted as our machines, as soundly programmed as our computers. Human beings are always encountering the unexpected for which we are unprepared.

Religion in every age has helped men meet and overcome the pressures that beset them. The simple realization that God cares about us is the beginning of a new sense of our mission in the world. We are not alone. Life is partnership with Our Lord. His power empowers us. His peace calms our turmoil.

There's much more to successful living than enduring pressure. Discover that in regular worship.

Childhood and teen obesity is difficult to reverse

Obesity is so difficult to reverse that it is easier to prevent it in childhood and adolescence than to cure it, says nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt.

About 80 percent of overweight children become overweight adults, reports Hunt, a foods and nutrition specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service. At least 10 to 20 percent of adolescents are obese, notes the specialist.

Most researchers argue that obesity is usually the result of attitudes and behaviors which lead to overconsumption of food and under-activity. Because these attitudes and behaviors are difficult to change, between 75 and 95 percent of the people who lose weight will eventually regain it, says Hunt.

"Inherited metabolic factors, or differences in the way individuals use food energy, do have an impact on obesity. But that doesn't mean the children of overweight adults must necessarily become obese," says Hunt. "While it's clear that obesity is familial, the relative importance of genetics and family environment has not been determined."

According to Hunt, lack of participation in sports, games and other physical activities, dependence on the car and hours of sitting in front of a television are contributing factors in childhood and adolescent obesity. Parents sometimes consider childhood obesity to be harmless "baby fat," says Hunt, and then are surprised when the excess weight does not go away as the child enters adolescence.

A weight problem can easily grow during adolescence, since teenagers often overeat as a way of coping. The problems that face every adolescent may appear overpowering to them and they withdraw from social contact, become increasingly inactive, seek comfort in food and grow progressively fatter.

Diet clinics where teenagers are put on a reduced-calorie diet have about a 50% drop out rate. Behavior modification programs which include changing habits, nutrition education and exercise, have a higher success rate than traditional dieting.

But parent participation in weight-control programs with their teenagers are probably the best for long-term weight loss partly because parents learn how to support their teenagers and help them set realistic goals

Ozonans receive WTC honors

Four Ozona students have been elected to the Western Texas College Student Senate at Snyder for 1983-84.

Marcia Moran and Vicky Vargas were chosen sophomore representatives while Lydia Hayes and Cyndi Trujillo were named freshman representatives.

Miss Moran, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Moran, is a science major. Miss Vargas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blas Vargas and is majoring in elementary education. Miss Hayes has chosen an art major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Trazell Hayes. Miss Trujillo is the daughter of Evelyn Rodriguez and Felix Trujillo and she is majoring in journalism.

Impulse buying is costly habit—should be avoided

Impulse buying is a common and sometimes costly habit, says family resource management specialist Dr. Marjorie Smith.

"People who get down to the end of the month and don't know where their money went, or who frequently wonder why they bought certain things, may have been doing some impulse buying," says Smith, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

The first step in reducing impulse buying is to recognize the many temptations. For example, the attractive displays at the ends of aisles or near check-out counters may encourage last minute purchases, she explains.

Shopping from a list, whether it's for groceries, clothes or gifts, can be helpful in checking the impulse to buy, says the home economist. Even looking through catalogs at home may help prepare a shopper to go to the store with a specific purchase in mind.

Since groceries are a major purchase category, making sure all family members know how to shop for food wisely may reduce impulse spending, says Smith. With the large number of employed women, more husbands and teenagers buy the family groceries, yet may not have as many shopping skills, she notes.

In some cases shoppers can slow down the purchase process to give themselves time to think before taking action. Before buying, Smith suggests asking questions such as "When will I use this?" "Where will I store this?" or "For the same money, would I rather have something else?"

For a major purchase, a consumer can make it a rule to "sleep on it" before buying. A good offer should be just as good the next day.

Consumers should also be aware of their mood when they shop. "If you're tired, hungry or depressed, you may buy things that you don't really need," says Smith. You might be better off postponing a shopping trip until you have rested or eaten a meal.

Being in a hurry can also lead to poor purchase decisions to try to allot adequate time for shopping, she adds.

Shoppers might also try some basic budgeting, says the specialist. For example, by establishing a spending plan for each pay period and sticking with it, they can better control their family finances.

If your budget can accommodate it, a workable spending plan should probably include an amount that can be spent just for fun, Smith says, since it is difficult to give up the impulse buying habit.

What is a root canal? I am asked this question over and over again and I can understand why. I will try to explain what it is, but in doing so I must discuss why it is necessary or the explanation will be meaningless.

A basic understanding of tooth anatomy is essential and I will start there. Our teeth are hollow, believe it or not, and in this hollow chamber inside our teeth we have tissue (nerves, blood vessels, etc.) just like in the rest of our body. This tissue sometimes dies and becomes infected or becomes infected and then dies. At any rate, the tissue becomes infiltrated with bacteria and it gets sick. This can happen directly by simply having a cavity that gets so deep that it finally gets into the hollow chamber and the bacteria causes the decay to infect the tissue. This is very unfortunate. It takes a long time for a cavity to get this deep and the problem could have been corrected simply long before it went this far.

Other ways the tissue gets infected is in an indirect manner. One example is teeth that have been traumatized in an accident. The tissue is damaged to the point that it degenerates and dies and bacteria that are sometimes in our blood stream infiltrate this dead tissue and it becomes necrotic.

The whole point is that when this tissue is infected it produces pain and/or swelling. The cause of the pain and/or swelling is the infected tissue inside the tooth, so if we can remove all of the infected tissue from inside the hollow chamber then the pain and/or swelling will go away. What I have just described is the first part of a root canal treatment. The second part of the root canal treatment is what makes the process permanent—in other words—keeps the hollow chamber (root canal) from becoming re-infected.

The second part of a root canal treatment is the root canal filling which is a little filling that goes all the way down to the end of the root and fills up and seals off the canal; therefore, the hollow chamber is filled in and you get to keep your tooth. In the past about all that could be done was to take the tooth out. Now we know that we can go inside the tooth, clean the tissue out of the hollow chamber and you get to keep the tooth!

When I have asked people what they knew about root canal treatment, they usually recall two things, it was painful and it cost a lot and took a long time. That is very unfortunate because it doesn't have to be that way. Accomplished properly, root canal treatment is not uncomfortable and in terms of cost, (financial, emotional, and health,) it is much less expensive and less time consuming than other alternatives.

Insomnia—it's nothing to lose sleep over--is joke

Insomnia, the joke goes, is nothing to lose sleep over. But many do, and for them it's no joke, says the Texas Medical Association.

The "average" person gets between seven and eight hours of sleep a night, but the amount can range between five and 10 hours, depending on individual need.

If a person commonly wakes up after five or six hours and cannot resume sleep, that may be all he needs. A less-than-average amount of sleep should do no harm as long as the person remains alert and energetic during waking hours.

That is not always the case, however. People who have trouble falling asleep often have trouble doing their work the next day. If this persists, professional help should be obtained.

For most people who have trouble falling asleep, however, these suggestions from the American Medical Association can be helpful:

Do not take work to bed with you. If you wish to read, make sure it is light reading without suspense and not about other people's problems.

Get some exercise during the day. This helps make the body tired enough to want sleep.

A warm bath, not a shower, before bedtime can be relaxing.

Strenuous exercise or something emotionally upsetting just before bedtime can keep a person awake, but satisfactory sexual intercourse tends to have a relaxing effect.

Make sure your bed is comfortable and that you are not too warm or too cool.

The old remedy of a glass of milk before bed also can help. That's because milk contains an amino acid that produces a relaxing effect.

Avoid drinks with caffeine in the late afternoon and evening.

If all else fails, get up and stay up until you become sleepy, rather than restlessly pitching and turning in bed. Then return to bed and try to sleep. Be sure to get up at the normal time and try to make it through the day. Take a short nap during the day only if it is necessary to keep going.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Antibiotic Use Can Impair Development of Immune System

By-Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

A growing array of antibiotics has been used for more than three decades to treat, and sometimes prevent, disease in animals and humans. But in recent years there has been increasing recognition that continued use of these potent drugs can create problems, according to Dr. Syed A. Naqi, microbiologist at Texas A&M University.

"Antibiotics have been shown to affect various immune functions in animals and humans," Naqi says, "but widespread therapeutic and subtherapeutic use is made of antibiotics in food-animal production, particularly commercial poultry.

"Also, humans having chronic bacterial and fungal infections and those receiving immuno-suppressive regimens also receive antibiotics for prolonged periods.

"While the beneficial effects of antibiotics under such situations have been widely acclaimed in the past, their effects on the immune system were largely ignored."

Therefore, scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in the department of veterinary microbiology and parasitology, College of Veterinary Medicine, Texas A&M University, made a study of the effect of antibiotics on the development of the immune system in chickens and turkeys.

"The objective of the first study," Naqi says, "was to define the effects of a specific antibiotic regimen on the development of the immune system in chickens. This antibiotic regimen included preincubation dipping of fertile eggs in gentamicin solution (500 parts per million), injection of chicks with the same antibiotic (0.2 mg/chick, subcutaneously) and inclusion of chlortetracycline in the diet (200 ppm)."

Antibiotic-treated chickens generally carried lower densities of immunoglobulin (Ig) bearing cells, than the respective controls, Naqi says. However, statistically significant differences were apparent only with respect to Ig cell populations in the cecal tonsils and the large intestine. The treated chickens also had significantly lower serum IgM levels at 28 days of age.

How antibiotics effected suppression of the Ig bearing cells in the tissues and the Ig levels in the serum is unknown. A plausible mechanism is through suppression of the intestinal microflora by the antibiotics and resulting lack of stimulation of the gut associated lymphoid (immune) tissues.

Another question that logically arises is whether or not the immunodeficiency seen in the antibiotic-treated birds is likely to compromise their ability to counter infectious diseases.

Although these studies did not involve evaluation of immune competence of the treated birds, previous studies have shown antibiotic treatment to result in lower antibody production to various antigens and compromise in phagocytosis (engulfment and destruction of foreign substances) and chemotaxis (migration of injury-repairing cells).

Additional studies with turkey poulters essentially confirmed the findings made with chickens, Naqi says.

"In food animals, antibiotics are used to reduce risk of infection and improve growth rate. If antibiotics are reducing infection risk on one hand and compromising host defenses on the other, the risk versus benefit situation should be carefully evaluated. This study is a step towards bringing about this awareness," Naqi concluded.

Hance legislation targets telephone costs

U. S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, has introduced legislation in the House of Representatives that would help stop massive telephone rate increases now expected to take effect in January.

The Hance measure, entitled the "Telephone Equity Act of 1983," repeals a Federal Communications Commission ruling on long-distance access charges that would have added more than $9 billion annually to telephone bills throughout the country by 1990. The charges would have translated into rate increases of nearly $8 each month for the next several years for each American home with a telephone.

The access charge to use long distance lines would be placed on monthly bills, even if the consumer did not make a long distance call.

In anticipation of the FCC ruling, telephone companies have requested rate increases of more than $8 billion from state regulatory commissions throughout the nation.

In Texas, Southwestern Bell originally asked for more than $2 billion in rate increases, but reduced that request in the past few weeks to $1.2 billion.

"The concept of universal, affordable telephone service was seriously threatened by the actions of the FCC," Hance said. "We needed to take steps to make sure everyone would still have access to phone service at prices that didn't cut some people out of the system. My bill will help maintain reasonable rates as well as protect the poor, the elderly and those in hard-to-reach rural areas from losing telephone service, either because of price or location."

In addition to dealing with the potential increase in consumer telephone bills, the Hance legislation creates a "Lifeline Service" which would guarantee service to those families unable to afford telephones.

"Everyone should have access to a telephone for emergency reasons," Hance said. "The 'Lifeline Service' will give the elderly, ill and low-income people the assurance that they will be able to contact emergency fire, police and ambulance services when they need them."

Hance believes his legislation will find favorable review from other Members of Congress and is hopeful for a quick resolution of problems now facing consumers because of telephone rate increases.

Miss Vargas elected WTC Cheerleader

NO PANIC, JUST PAT WALKER'S and ME! or...

How I lost 23 inches and now wear a size 4 instead of a 12.

Dear Pat Walker!

As a professional model keeping trim meant constant hard work, dieting and a regular consumption of pills. Also, as a professional nurse, I knew the health hazards and decided to stop taking the pills... and then the pounds started to accumulate.

After raising four children, reaching the magical age of 40 and gaining 37 pounds, panic set in. And Pat Walker's came to my rescue!

I was taught what combinations of foods to eat, when to eat them and how to stay in healthy good shape. I discovered an easy, peachful way to perfect my figure. Inches and pounds have gone away and it is exciting to know they won't come back because of the proven method at Pat Walker's.

Sandra Bowkay
San Angelo, Texas

WHATEVER your age or occupation you needn't panic to any degree. If your figure is out of shape just a little or a whole lot we can come to your rescue too. And you'll be the one who gains; you'll look better, feel better and you just might be impressed with your new attitudes... about a lot of things.

CALL TODAY for a strictly personal appointment for a free figure analysis and first session of easy, stress-free passive exercise. We'll outline your personal program, its duration and its cost based on a per session fee of just $5.00.

Sandra Shaw of the Brady Salon will be in Ozona at the Civic Center Thursday night Oct. 20th at 7 p.m. to share with the people of Ozona her many year's of working in a Pat Walker's Salon. Also, her experience of losing weight the Pat Walker way. If you come and bring a guest you will receive a weeks free treatment.

We will also introduce our Non-Surgical face lift by Jene.

Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Another busy week in October is behind us. It was a sad week too. On Monday we had a birthday party for Verna Talley, on Saturday we had to say our sad farewells. Her daughter, Alma Wilson, will be missed too, because she came so faithfully and so often. We hope she will come back.

Bingo winner of the El Chato dinner for two on Tuesday was Nina Mayfield. Friday's overall winner was Bertha Miller. Juana Hernandez won second and Ola Mills came in third. Volunteers included Veronica Tebbets, Elodia Zapata, Anna Yruegas, Dorothy Doll, Anna Bell Patrick, and Virginia Bishop.

We have so far received one nice donation to our S.O.S. for our curtain fund. We have received memorials in memory of Dub Stokes, Verna Talley and John Meyer, brother of Pat Cain. Other donations included money for beauty shop supplies from Sue Linthicum; baby oil from the Lutheran Church; a Spanish tape of songs from Monty Boyd; Avon samples from Wanda Halford; three afgans from Pat Wood; flowers from the Doyle Lovell family, and shampoo, creme rinse, lotion & cookies from the BYW group of the First Baptist Church.

Tuesday afternoon Maggie Zimmerman gave our ladies a demonstration on wall decorations using her home interior products. Thank you, Maggie, for some new ideas.

Wednesday morning's ceramics were led by Ruth Hester and Elodia Zapata. Residents participating included Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Bertha Miller, Ola Mills, Inez Biggs, Billie Whatley and Moriana Perez.

Wednesday afternoon it was once again time to cook. Peanut butter cookies were made by some residents while several other residents observed the operation and everyone enjoyed eating them. The ingredients were furnished by the family of Inez Biggs. Dorothy Doll assisted with the mixing process.

Thursday morning's beauty shop was manned by Arlene Clayton, Lola Rios, and Eglantine Estrado. Bible study in the afternoon was given by Charles Huffman. This was followed by Spanish Hour of Praise led by Maria Vitela, Paulita Leal, Felipa Munoz, Maria Torres, Jose R. Rodriguez, Mariana Hernandez and Richard Altenbaugh.

Friday afternoon residents Ola Mills and Billie Whatley assisted volunteers Tina Moran, Betty Bullard and Dorothy Doll with our ceramic bazaar. If you missed our sale, we still have some pieces left, including some real bargains.

Sunday church services were brought by Rev. Nelson Lanham of the First Baptist Church. His sermon and his songs on his guitar were well received by our residents.

Monday's activities included dominoes.

Some new clothes and jewelry were being sported around by our residents on Monday. It seems some of our staff members went to a garage sale over weekend.

Next Monday will be our first Ladies Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary meeting of the new year. We do hope all interested volunteers will be in attendance.

First Baptist to hold revival

The First Baptist Church will begin a five day revival Sunday with the theme, Victory In Jesus. Jimmy Smith, missionary from the River Ministry, will be the evangelist, and Greg Stahl, Minister of Music at Southland Baptist Church, San Angelo, will be leading the music.

There are some special days and events planned. There is a men's prayer breakfast Saturday at 8 a.m. at Charlie's Place. All men are urged to attend. After the worship service Sunday night a fellowship is planned for the Sunday School faculty and their families.

Monday is Church Loyalty Night. All members of the church are urged to make a special effort to be present that night.

Tuesday night will be the Youth Night, with a Youth Joy Explosion following the service in the youth parlor.

Wednesday night is Sunday School Night. All the children's choirs will sing that night.

Thursday night is Children's Night. There will be a corny dog supper for all children first through sixth grades at 6:00 p.m.

The week will close with a Sunday School emphasis "Great Day In The Morning" at 9:45 a.m., Sunday. There is a goal set of 260 people.

Transportation will be provided for any of these services or events by calling 392-5830 or 392-2734. Everyone is invited to attend.

Fast food lacking in some food values

Twenty years ago, about one of every seven dollars spent eating out went to fast-food restaurants. Today, the ratio is two of every five dollars.

Because the public has turned increasingly to fast foods, concerns over nutrition have been raised. As with most issues, this one has two sides, says the Texas Medical Association.

On the positive side, most fast-food items contain significant amounts of certain nutrients. In general, most provide protein, carbohydrates, fat, and various vitamins and minerals.

On the other hand, fast foods can supply more calories than needed from one meal. Sodium, fat, and sugar levels are often too high, and levels of vitamins A and C too low. Nutrition experts also note that most fast-food restaurants provide few vegetables, fruits, and whole grains. Some of these establishments have responded with salad bars and more variety in their selections.

A recent analysis of 11 fast-food chains to determine how much their food contributes to the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances provided these general findings:

Fast-food meals contained from 900 to 1,800 calories, meaning 33 to 66 percent of the total daily calories recommended for young men and 45 to 90 percent needed for women.

The sodium content of many meals ran from 1,000 to 2,515 milligrams. A safe and adequate daily range is from 1,100 to 3,000 milligrams. Two slices of one chain's medium-size pizza would provide 800 to 1,500 milligrams of sodium, depending on the toppings ordered and crust thickness. One chain's popular seven-ounce hamburger contained about 1,000 milligrams of sodium, while another chain's burger had 800 milligrams.

Fat in some fast foods provided an average of 51 percent of the calories consumed. Experts say fat should contribute no more than 35 percent of a person's calories. Fat content is affected by the way foods are prepared (frying, broiling, grilling), cooking tempera-

College courses are doubtful

After several inquiries about the extension courses to be held in Sonora, some checking was done Monday. So far the Sonora group trying to arrange for the classes has had little luck.

The most recent negotiations have been with Texas Tech University in Lubbock. These were not faring well until Senator Bill Sims intervened. Now, the matter is on the agenda for a deans' meeting coming up at the university.

Several Ozonans indicated an interest in the classes when forms were offered some months ago. The original plan was to set up classes in Sonora, for students in Ozona, Sonora, Eldorado, and the surrounding area.

We will keep the public informed on developments, but at this time chances for the courses look bleak.
