Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

We are well into the dog days of summer in spite of the fact that fall has begun, according to the calendar last Saturday. However, there seem to be no other signs that the last days of summer are departing. People tend to be crankier than usual and some get a little crazy during the dog days, but they are no match for birds. I really understand the term "bird brain" as I have had at least a dozen fly into my windows and commit suicide in the last week. It galls me to have to remove them from the porch. I was visited by a buzzard last Thursday afternoon after work. Thank goodness he only brushed the window and soared into the sky. It gave me a fright nevertheless. I started to get the shotgun out, but I can't see myself dragging a buzzard off the porch. Austin has a gathering of bats and Ozona seems to be the buzzard gathering site. I don't remember ever seeing so many buzzards circling the town and especially my house, but Evert White told me they did this every year preparatory to flying south. Hopefully the cold front that has been predicted for a couple of weeks will arrive and give them the incentive to be off.

League members are getting ready for the annual gift bazaar. The club project for this year is an Ozona directory. Members have been compiling it for weeks now and after it is printed and bound, it will make useful and attractive gifts for Ozonans.

Gymnastics classes will begin in Ozona Wednesday, Oct. 3. The classes will be taught by a professional and will be held each Wednesday at the county 4-H barn. An annual $9 insurance fee is required upon registration and the lessons will be $25 each month. There will be classes for all age groups. I plan to enroll in the over 50 class.

The reason you find this information in the column this week is because it barely got in before the deadline, like one minute before noon and was brought by someone who works here occasionally and should know better, but we could hardly turn her down. Try harder next time C.D.

While hunting dove a weekend awhile back, I spotted several on the ground. I didn't have my gun loaded, but nodded to my son, Jim, and pointed. Ever the sportsman, he informed me it was against his religion to shoot birds on the ground. I, on the other hand take them wherever I find them.

Judge Fields was in the office the next morning and told us the difference between a sportsman and a hunter. He said the sportsman and the hunter went out for the first hunt of the year, and when a dove settled on a fence post, the hunter blasted away. In surprise, the sportsman looked at the hunter and said "You don't shoot them on the wing?" "Oh yes," the hunter replied "on the wing, on the head or on the tail, any way I can hit them."

It is said that Monday is a hard way to spend one-seventh of your life. In my case it is Tuesday. Isn't it a shame all these problems didn't come up when I was 20 and knew everything?

Our monthly "Bits & Pieces" magazine had a story on faith this month. I would like to share it with you.

A letter written in a childish scrawl came to the post office addressed to "God". A postal employee, not knowing exactly what to do with the letter, opened it and read: "Dear God, my name is Jimmy. I am six years old. My father is dead and my mother is having a hard time raising me and my sister. Would you please send us $500?"

The postal employee was touched. He showed the letter to his fellow workers and all decided to kick in a few dollars each and send it to the family. They were able to raise $300.

A couple of weeks later they received a second letter. The boy thanked God, but ended-with this request: "Next time would you please deliver the money directly to our home? When you send it through the post office they deduct $200."

Ozona Lions suffer defeat

By Gary Davis

Reagan County's Terry Thompson scored on an 8-yard drive following an Ozona Lion fumble late in the first half to give the Owls a 14-7 Homecoming victory over the Lions in Big Lake.

The loss was Ozona's second in three attempts bringing their season record to 1-2 while Reagan County moves to 3-0 on the season.

The Lions will be on the road once again this Friday when they travel to Stanton. The non-district contest is slated for 8:00 p.m.

With 2:49 remaining in the first quarter, Ozona senior running back, David Delgado made the first score of the game. Delgado broke several tackles on a 59-yard scoring run, following a Reagan County punt. Senior place kicker, Ed Borrego, put the ball through the uprights to make the score 7-0 in favor of the Lions at the end of the first quarter.

Tim Thompson, running back for the Owls, dove into the endzone from 2 yards out to secure 6 points for his team. The extra point attempt was successful by Robert Sladivar, thus tying the score at 7. The score remained tied until late in the second period of play when Terry Thompson made the final score of the evening and Sladivar booted the extra point through the goalposts to ice the victory for the Owls.

Reagan County gained 192 yards on the ground, but could only manage 9 passing yards. Two passes were intercepted by Lion defenders, Harvey Fierro and Ed Borrego. Ozona accumulated 116 yards rushing and 31 passing yards. The Lions only earned 8 first downs, whereas the Owls made 14.

Ozona head coach, Jim Green attributed the Lion's loss to his team's inability to avoid penalties. "We managed to stop ourselves," said Green. "The opportunities were definitely there." The Lions failed to capitalize on three fumbles made by the Owls deep in Lion territory. Green said that he was pleased with his team. "We hit well and that thrilled me. Earlier I had said that they could hit and they proved me right," stated Green.

Delgado led the Lions in rushing with 70 yards. He was followed by Senior, Danny Moran-17 yards; Junior, Chuy Hernandez-14 yards; Sophomore, James Sanchez-10 yards; and Senior, Matt Gutierrez-2 yards. "James did a good job and Matt ran

Historical Commission plans to welcome Dr. Tunnel here

The Crockett County Historical Commission has made plans to welcome Dr. Curtis Tunnel, Executive Director of the Texas State Historical Commission, during his visit in Ozona October 7-8.

Plans include the dedication of an historical marker for the Emerald House restoration project, a buffet supper for members and spouses, and the regular meeting of the Crockett County Historical Society, at which time Dr. Tunnel will speak on the importance of preserving our heritage.

Also on the agenda is a meeting with the Crockett County Commissioners Court Oct. 8, and a tour of the newly restored school building which was awarded an historical marker some years ago.

Dr. Tunnel is no stranger to Ozona. As Texas State Archeologist at that time, it was he who was responsible for getting the necessary archeological work done at Fort Lancaster. This finally led to having the site designated a Texas State Historic Park, and to the preservation of Crockett County's only significant pre-Civil War historic site.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend the marker dedication at 7:00 p.m. Oct. 8, and the Historical Society meeting which will follow at 7:30.

Newspapers are best communication media

Newspapers pack a solid wallop for Texas business and residential communities alike...far outdistancing all other forms of communication.

Results of Texas Consumer Survey 84, the largest and most comprehensive study ever conducted on readership, listening, viewing and shopping habits, heavily documents Texas newspaper superiority.

86.3 percent of Texans read a newspaper every week, with 80 percent reading their local community newspaper.

70.6 percent of Texas newspaper readers usually read local merchant ads, and 87.6 percent of the readers say that the ads in their local newspaper are important to them personally.

These are just three of the dozens of highlights revealed by the statewide study which was conducted by Consumer Data Service (CDS), of Oklahoma City.

The massive survey was under the supervision of Dr. Ernest Larkin, director of the Journalism Research Center, University of Oklahoma.

The study also provides in depth detail of the vast audience appeal of Texas newspapers. This portion of the data emphasized:

69.6 percent read at least five issues of their local daily, and 84.3 percent read every issue of their local weekly newspaper;

72.6 percent of local newspaper readers who responded to the survey are married;

Over 50 percent of the families subscribing to local newspapers comprise three or more people;

Husbands and wives in 53.3 percent of the Texas newspaper reading families both have jobs with combined incomes totaling more than $20,000;

64.19 percent of Texans who voted in the 1982-83 elections are newspaper readers, and 79.4 percent of Texas newspaper readers own their own homes.

Lyndell Williams, Executive Vice-President of the Texas Press Association (TPA) in Austin, after receiving the huge study report said this week:

"This survey not only confirms what major advertising retailers already know, but also provides undeniable proof of newspaper strength in all other areas as well."

He cited the high readership interest in local news as an example of "newspaper wallop for a better informed community and state." Williams pointed out the following additional facts that were revealed by the survey data:

Applications to register voters is brisk

Reports from the tax office this week indicate many new registrations of voters for the November election. A spokeswoman at the office reported many applications sent out to register new voters.

To be eligible to vote in the general election one must be registered by October 7. People may register by mailing a voter registration card postmarked before midnight Oct. 7, or by going to the Crockett County Tax Assessor-Collector's office before that date.

At present, the number of registered voters in Crockett County is 2,653.

Moran is contest winner for week

Winner of the weekly football contest for last week was Eleno Moran. Out of almost 50 entries, Moran was the clear winner, missing two.

Anyone may enter who wishes. Entry blanks may be found on the sports page, sponsored by local merchants. Entries must come from the page out of the Stockman and be in the mail or at the Stockman office before 5 p.m. each Friday.

82.8 percent of Texans read all local news in their newspapers;

70.3 percent read the special sections;

58.4 percent read the editorials, and

54.3 percent read the state news.

Williams also cited local merchant ads as the most thoroughly read advertising matter. Those figures read:

89 percent of Texas newspaper readers usually or at least sometimes read all local merchant advertising;

85.4 percent usually or sometimes read all grocery ads;

85.59 percent usually or sometimes read department store advertising.

The survey also outlined the strengths and weaknesses of direct mail along with radio and television. Direct mail advertising in Texas, much of it conducted by out-of-state firms, is usually read by 43.7 percent of the addresses, with only 31 percent of that number reading all of a single mailing.

Radio and television while being listened to by as much as 73 percent of Texas consumers and seen by at least that many people, nevertheless, must divide those numbers by dozens of stations and channels. And the most watched cable television channels of all don't even accept advertising.

John Taylor, Director of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Bureau (TNAB), explained that an analysis of the massive survey easily reveals numerous additional newspaper assets that may be overlooked at first glance.

Taylor explained: "Every Texas newspaper is a dues payer to its community and state, as

Halting hunting increases die-off in wildlife population

Land managers that stop hunting or curtail the harvest of deer during severe droughts increase the percentage of die-offs due to starvation and malnutrition. During droughts the best policy is "Business as Usual" as far as deer hunting is concerned.

Turkey and quail population are affected by reduced reproduction during droughts. Hot and dry conditions during breeding seasons will severely restrict the reproduction of ground nesting birds, however, even small remnant populations have the ability to bounce back with excellent reproduction when conditions become favorable during a breeding season.

Supplemental feeding of wildlife on a large scale is not feasible from an economic standpoint. Also, wildlife will not adapt quickly to supplemental feeds during emergency periods.

While heavy harvests early in the hunting season will not preclude a die-off later in the winter, it will reduce the severity of a die-off and provide a better carry over to the next spring.

Crockett County and the surrounding area is going into the third year of very dry range conditions and land managers are faced with decisions of how to manage their wildlife species.

Wildlife, especially large mammals like white-tailed deer, should be managed with the same principles applied to domestic livestock. When forage gets short, land managers reduce their domestic livestock numbers. Deer should be treated the same as domestic livestock, their numbers should be reduced. The only feasible way to reduce deer numbers is to harvest them by hunting.

A heavy harvest of deer early in the hunting season is desirable and necessary for several reasons. First, the deer will be in the best body condition early in the season and suitable for the dinner table. Second, deer harvested early will reduce the foraging pressure on the range plants, providing forage further into the winter months. Third, an early heavy harvest of a deer herd will reduce the severity of an impending die-off due to malnutrition.

But Mondale rolled up his sleeves and used his political savvy. And now, the pundits are saying something very different...

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN -- The Governor last week launched the major overhaul of the public school system by appointing a new membership of the State Board of Education.

But still unanswered is the question of whether another tax increase will be necessary to pay for those reforms and other items in Texas government.

While Gov. Mark White was naming his 15 appointees to replace the 27-member elected board that was dismantled under the reforms, Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock was predicting that state revenues will be at least $200 million short of what is needed to maintain services in 1986-87.

Bullock said state legislators won't be able to approve even a no-growth budget, if his estimates are correct. And if the Legislature wants to expand state services to make up for inflation and population increases, lawmakers will need to come up with an additional $1.7 billion.

Speaker of the House Gib Lewis and a key committee chairman, Stan Schlueter of Killeen, promptly vowed to fight any new tax increase in the coming session, explaining that taxpayers could not swallow another tax hike so soon after the record tax bill this summer.

The Governor has not indicated whether he would support another increase this spring.

Tax Hike Necessary?

The situation will become complicated if oil prices slump and reduce Texas production, or, as one lawmaker added, if the federal courts order more vast expenditures in the state prison or mental health systems.

If future revenues don't come in, then the Lone Star State, which has enjoyed budget surpluses for years, will have to indeed bite the bullet and face a second tax hike, because the rainy day money has already been spent, much of it on the education reforms enacted in the Governor's special session this summer.

Then and Now

Schlueter, whose Ways and Means Committee controls the gate for any tax bill, summed up the prospects this way:

"Last time we had an issue (public education reform) that the people believed in. It had the two ingredients, necessity and public support."

But the coming crunch, "the State may come up with the necessity, but you will not come up with political support."

Pressure on White

The prospects of advocating another tax increase, especially in the manner in which he led the charge for school reform, cannot be attractive to White, a Democrat, as he thinks about re-election.

For some months now the state has been plastered with billboards bought by the opposition party which remind passersby that White has reneged on one campaign pledge of "no more taxes."

Two tax hikes, one on the heels of another, could only double the amount of political flak that White would surely catch on the '86 campaign trail.

Even if taxes aren't raised again, it remains to be seen whether the new school reforms will be acceptable to the public - whether they will like what they have paid for.

Land Bids

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro released a list of 80 tracts of state land that have been authorized for resale to the highest bidder by the Veterans Land Board.

Mauro is offering terms of nine and one-quarter percent to veterans and 11 percent to non-veterans on a 30-year assumable fixed rate loan.

A public reading of the bids will be held Oct. 17 after the bids close at 10 a.m.

Short Takes

Senator John Tower says he will participate in, or perhaps lead, a filibuster to block passage of the Simpson-Mazzoli immigration bill.

State Sen. Bill Sarpolius plans to introduce legislation to raise the drinking age to 21.

Comptroller Bob Bullock says the tax bill passed during the special session covers parking meters, so cities will be required to collect and remit the tax.

The Department of Public Safety says Texas' crime rate dropped 3.7 percent for the first half of 1984.

Texas Democrats re-elected Bob Slagle of Sherman to a third term as party chairman.

New Board

With that thought no doubt in mind, White named a new state board with a strong business management background to make sure the reforms don't falter.

He also maintained minority representation on the new board, as he said he would try to do.

The new membership has three Hispanics, two blacks, and five women. Six members are businesspersons, four are educators, three are lawyers, one physician, one dentist. Only two are holdovers from the abolished elected bond.

Before the new board can take action, it must receive clearance from the U.S. Justice Department, which approves all election changes. Sometime in the next session, the appointees must be confirmed by the Texas Senate.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Though we have had only light showers here in Ozona they have given us the courage and urge to continue gardening chores.

In the fall well cared for roses have more perfect form, more free of wind and cold damage and deeper and richer in color. Trees put on their best show with the display of so many different varieties and colors in leaves before they fall.

Summer-growing bulbs that rest in winter that have not already died down naturally, should be encouraged to do so by gradually reducing the water supply and finally with holding it. Amaryllis, caladiums, tuberous begonias etc. Sweet peas planted in September may be expected to bloom from Christmas on.

Young plants of snapdragons, pansies, stock and calendulas may be planted now if not very hot and shave them lightly for several days.

If you want to fill in vacant spaces. You may move well-budded mums into pots. Do this in cloudy weather if possible, and soak plants the day before transplanting and again for several days. Stake if needed.

For best results, hedges of all kinds should receive their final trimming this month and next—never shear a plant unless you are planning a formal hedge.

If you are interested in growing dahlias there is an interesting article in the September Southern Living that will help you in cleansing the colors and kinds you may want for next year. They bloom their best in the Autumn. Before nighttime temperatures fall below 55 degrees and its time to bring in houseplants, give them a good evaluation. Often, ragged-looking plants need to be thrown away. Other plants may need spraying for insects and still others need repotting. Give them time to recover from repotting or spraying before being brought indoors.

Soak sweet peas in water 24 to 48 hours, prior to planting in well-prepared, well drained beds in full sun. They seem to thrive in our soil.

Vitamin supplements are taken by 40% of adults

Vitamin and mineral supplements are a popular—even if not always necessary—part of the American diet, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

A recent Gallup Poll shows that about 40 percent of the adult population uses vitamin or mineral supplements. Multivitamins lead the product sales, followed by Vitamin C, B vitamins and Vitamin E.

Food and Drug Administration (FDA) studies indicate that women are more frequent users of supplements than men in all age groups. Heaviest users are those over 65 years of age. While half of all users take only one supplement, about 11 percent take five or more different supplements daily.

One recent study of national health and nutrition suggests that this vitamin and mineral use is not related to actual need, except for iron supplementation in women of childbearing age. But vitamin use is influenced by advertising and promotions as well as individual health beliefs.

"The vast majority of people can get all the vitamins and minerals they

Baptist Young Women meet for bible study

The Baptist Young Women (BYW) of First Baptist Church met last Monday night in the home of Jeannine Henderson with Renee Schultz co-hosting.

Judy Adams led the bible study on Christian Growth.

Elizabeth Clark, president presided over the meeting. New officers include Mrs. Clark, president; Christi Matthews, secretary-treasurer; Judy Adams, bible study chairman; Rita Sigwing, mission support chairman; Linda Hamar, mission action chairman; Jeannine Henderson, social chairman.

Others attending were Darolyn Webster, Chesta Stuart, Lis a Branch, Becky Dillard, Janet Rain, s, Debbie Arrott, Pat Willmon and Pat sy Hester.

needed by eating a well-balanced diet," Dr. Alice Hunt maintains. "If you are concerned about your nutrient intake, a physician or registered dietician can tell you whether you need a dietary supplement or not."

If you take vitamins and minerals without consulting a physician, be cautious. The FDA has only limited authority to regulate supplements, except for those intended for children under 12 or for pregnant or lactating women. The FDA is not allowed to limit the combination or number of vitamins, minerals or other ingredients in a supplement product.

Most supplement products are safe, since they contain modest amounts of vitamins and minerals which approximate the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA). However, higher potency products can be a cause for concern, she says.

For example, extremely high potency selenium products were recalled by the FDA this spring because they resulted in the loss of hair and other adverse effects.

Even when supplements are safe, they may not be everything they claim to be. Small, high-priced tablets of dried vegetables were sold last year with the claim that they were a substitute for vegetables for those interested in a healthful diet to prevent cancer. The FDA has since required that the claims be withdrawn.

"Before spending money on vitamin and mineral supplements, consumers really should know what they're taking and have a medically sound reason for adding it to their diet," emphasizes Hunt.

Hanging On

When you're a kid it's fun! You don't even know there's a law of gravity but you're defying it, you're proving to the world you're fearless.

Later in life the idea of HANGING ON has more serious connotations. The very expression reminds us that there are precarious times in life when one isn't sure how it will all turn out.

For centuries mankind has turned to religion for moral and spiritual strength and endurance. Faith helps us grasp firmly truths that provide a sound foundation for daily living. Trust helps us withstand the downward pull of discouragement, despair.

The hour or so we spend at worship during the week can make a difference in our daily life. Attend the church or synagogue of your choice.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Vacations are nice and we were privileged to see friends, two of our three children, one grandchild, six states, and sights like the Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, Las Vegas, an antique auto show, Glen Campbell and Ray Charles, Grand Canyon, Mesa Verde and the Cliff Dwellings, along with lots of pretty countryside.

Life went on as well as activities at the Care Center thanks to the likes of Dorothy Doll who assisted everyday. She directed two sewing programs, and assisted with the birthday party, bingo, ceramics and did general visitations.

Another helper was Jo Davidson who was in charge of the birthday party honoring Maude Pettit, Maggie Crawford, Pearl Morris, Bertha Miller, and Billie Whatley. Jo made the punch, Polly Eppler made the cake and Maxine's Flowers sent all our ladies a corsage. Doris Karr assisted Jo and Dorothy Doll with the serving. Dorothy and Edith Pettit brought Maude a Polly Parton cake and ice cream that was shared with everyone. Clara Byrd played the piano for the group. Reports were that it was a very nice, lively party.

Yet another thank you goes to Vivian Hughes who was our bingo caller on Tuesday and Friday while I was gone. Mrs. Bruce Mayfield, Mattie Cooper, Anna Bell Patrick, and Clara Byrd also assisted. Bingo volunteers this week included Dorothy Doll, Mattie Cooper, Amaldia Lumberas, Elsie Ramirez and Anna Bell Patrick.

Visiting bingo player from the hospital was Lucia Rios. Winners for the two weeks included: Maggie Crawford and Minnie Karr, El Chato dinners for two, first place winners Moriana Perez with a gift certificate from the Teacher Store, and Alice Ross with a gift certificate from Watson's Department Store. Second place winners were Minnie Karr and Tomas Ramos.

Ceramics were conducted by Doris Karr, Ruth Hester, and Dorothy Doll while I was gone and by Doris Karr and Ruth Hester this past week.

The beauty shop was manned by Lola Rios, Clara Byrd, and Vivian Hughes the first week and by Vivian and staff members this past week.

Ted Turnley brought Bible study the first week and Charles Huffman and his crew consisting of his wife Betty plus Ruby Olson, Marie Walker, Charlotte Trull and a friend, and Phyllis Harms and some of her children the second week.

The past weeks we have been privileged to have church services brought on Sunday afternoon by six members of the Catholic Church, twelve members of the Baptist church, twelve members of the Baptist church and seven members of the Church of Christ.

Last week Dorothy Doll and I visited with our sewing club ladies and gathered all our sewing articles we have made for Tiny Tots school. We will deliver them this week.

We had two films, one on Wednesday and one on Friday, loaned by Regional 15 Service Center's library, and we also had another lesson on break dancing brought by Dean Fierro, John Tijerina, Joe Jurado, J.J. Lozano, and John David Jurado. Thanks, boys.

Thursday afternoon Spanish Hour of Praise was conducted. This is led each week by Maria Vitela and a nice group of ladies.

Friday after bingo the Davidson family treated all residents who would and could go to the Circle Bar with a birthday dinner honoring Pearl Morris. Residents going included Paul Cavin, Juana Hernandez, Tomas Ramos, Alice Ross, Nina Mayfield, Pearl Morris, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Inez Biggs, Billie Whatley, Minnie Karr, Phil Schneemann, John Henderson and Nila Turnell. Cars were furnished by volunteers Jo Davidson, Glenda Henderson, and Muggs Stephenson. Other family members attending included Susie Jones, Lynn and Jill Jones, and Sadie Davidson. We also had three staff members and three sitters in attendance for a total of twenty-seven people who enjoyed this wonderful treat.

Dominoes were played several times the last two weeks.

Thanks this week goes to Pauline Drew for magazines and to Bonnie Warth for sending the Unity Magazine for one year.

Volunteers keep coming! Tired of being bored? Come join us as a volunteer.

Public needs to evaluate all nutritional information

You could become a victim of misinformation if you don't know much about diet and health, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

With an increasing amount of nutrition material in the media and health claims in advertisements, distinguishing sound from unsound information is difficult, says Marilyn Haggard.

Learning something about nutrition is worthwhile, she says, since misinformation can aggravate or create health problems. Diseases like diabetes or cancer can worsen if you ignore medical diagnosis and treatment in favor of a "miracle victim cure."

Taking large amounts of vitamins in the mistaken notion that this will improve your health can also affect medical tests, says the nutritionist. In the case of diabetes, too much vitamin C can give a false positive or a false negative on some urine tests for diagnosis and management of the disease.

Fad weight-loss diets can even lead to disease, notes Haggard. For example, it's possible to starve to death on a macrobiotic brown rice diet.

Even if misinformation doesn't directly affect your health, it may cause you to waste money on unnecessary food, gadgets and vitamins. Or you may trade good food habits for poor ones and a balanced diet for an imbalanced one, she says.

"Consumers can best protect themselves by recognizing that a single diet or food can not cure health problems or guarantee weight control," says Haggard.

No scientific evidence shows that arthritis, cancer, heart disease and other chronic diseases are cured by eating specific foods, she explains. Instead, a balanced diet of meat, poultry, legumes and fish; dairy products; fruits and vegetables; and enriched or whole grain breads and cereals will provide all the nutrients anyone normally needs.

Also beware of personal testimonies and stories, says Haggard, since they are not scientific studies. When a person loses weight from eating a particular food, it does not mean the food caused the weight loss. The person may have done other things to change his life-style, such as increased exercise, that actually resulted in the weight loss.

Everyone gets tired and has occasional pains. Many causes could produce such universal symptoms. But if the cause is nutritional, it should be diagnosed by a physician who will prescribe medication if it's warranted.

Be skeptical, ask for evidence about diet or nutrition ideas and use your right to evaluate, cautions the nutritionist.

If you want to know whether a nutrition or diet book is reliable, check book reviews from the professional nutrition journals which can be found in many public libraries, she says. Or if you're in doubt about a nutrition claim, ask your physician, a registered dietician or your county Extension home economist.

Yours in Good Health

The expanded nature of dental practice has been achieved through years of painstaking scientific research. Dramatic declines in basic oral diseases like tooth decay have freed the profession to channel more time and effort into other oral health concerns. The result has been a revolution in dental science made possible through dentistry's long term emphasis on preventing disease before it occurs, as opposed to treating it after the damage is done. Prevention is the watch word of today's dental care.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Water use can be decreased if suggestions followed

About 75 percent of the water used in the home is used in the bathroom. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce lists the following ways that water use can be decreased and your water bill reduced without any great sacrifice:

Repairing leaky faucets can result in large water savings. A slow drip can waste as much as 170 gallons each day, or 5,000 gallons per month. Repairing a faucet which leaks a small drop can save you $10.00 or more per month on your water bill.

Your toilets may be leaking and need repairs and you may not know it. Add a few drops of food coloring in the storage reservoir. If the colored water moves into the toilet bowl between flushings, you will know you have a leak. Repairing a leaking toilet can result in a decrease in water use and a savings of several dollars a month on your water bill.

Using the toilet as a trash disposal for facial tissue and other trash results in many unnecessary flushes. Each time you dispose of trash in a trash basket instead of flushing the commode, you save 5 gallons or more of water. Three or four unnecessary flushes per day would result in a waste of 400 to 500 gallons of water per month.

Bathing in the shower instead of the bathtub will reduce water use by 5 to 10 gallons.

Shampooing your hair while taking a shower will require only a little more water than a normal shower and save the 10 to 20 gallons of water normally used in a separate shampoo.

Ponding water in the basin for handwashing or shaving instead of letting the faucet run will reduce water use for these activities by about half.

When brushing your teeth, turn the water faucet on only when you need to rinse your toothbrush, rinse your mouth or clean the sink rather than letting the water run continuously. This will decrease water use during this activity by almost two-thirds for most folks.

Ten to twelve percent of in-home water use takes place in the kitchen.

Running water from the tap until it is cool enough to drink is probably the easiest waste habit to break. This can be done by storing water for drinking in the refrigerator. If you have problems remembering, tie a colored ribbon on the faucet to remind you of the nice cool water in the refrigerator.

Wait until you have a full load of dishes before using your automatic dishwasher. Not only will you save water, but you will save expensive detergent and energy.

The washing machine constitutes from 12 to 14 percent of in-home water use. Automatic washing machines use 30 to 60 gallons per load, so it is important to wash full loads to obtain maximum benefits from your water, energy and detergent.

If you implement a good water conservation program in your home but still find your water consumption is high, you might have a water leak between your meter and the house.

It is easy to check. Turn off all faucets, indoors and out, and then check your water meter. If it continues to run, you have a leak and need to have it repaired.

Policy change announced by V.A. head

A recent policy change announced by VA Administrator, Harry N. Walters, will cap premium rates of National Service Life Insurance term policy holders at the age 70 rate.

As of September 1, 1984, any veteran renewing an active NSLI term insurance policy after age 70 will have the monthly premium permanently capped at $6.18 per $1000 of insurance. For those veterans who renewed their policies at age 71 or beyond, premiums will be rolled back to the age 70 rate effective September 1, 1984. The VA has over a million term policies now in effect and expects that 50,000 veterans will benefit from the premium cap in 1984.

Approximately one out of every three veterans who still carry their insurance initially chose the term plan in lieu of a permanent plan because it offers lower rates for younger veterans. However, the term insurance increases at each five-year renewal and, by the time a veteran policyholder is 70 and beyond, the costs are quite burdensome.

The VA is able to take this action, which involves no cost to the taxpayer, because of several factors:

Veterans are living longer and are paying premiums for a longer period of time than was expected when the rates were set in the 1940's, earnings from the reserves in the trust fund have been higher than expected, and dividends normally paid to policyholders whose premiums will now be capped can be used to cover additional costs which may result from freezing the rates at age 70.

Moreno is Schreiner ambassador

Schreiner College announced its 1984-1985 list of Ambassadors. The Ambassadors organization is a prestigious group of 18 students who assist in recruiting new students, help at alumni functions and represent the student body at major college functions.

The 1984-1985 Ambassadors included Jesse Moreno of Ozona.

Other Ambassadors were Shandra Williams of McKinney, Dee Taylor of London, Mellisa Jackson, Wanda Kierce, Monica Hruschka, Jim Wood, all of Kerrville; A.J. Jones of Houston, Julie Johnson of San Antonio, Gary Tromm of Center Point, Patrick Dunn and Craig Smith, both of Houston; Ken Cruce of Ft. Worth, Merrill Wallace of Dallas, Anne Nowak, Houston; Larresia Crenshaw, Sunray; Carlyn Taylor, Poteet, and Trace Brooks of Abilene.

The group is selected each fall semester by a panel of college administrators.

Cable T.V. to be taxed October 2

The price of movies is going up on cable television. New tax laws that go into effect October 2 are going to make cable television more expensive.

Under a tax bill passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Mark White, cable television service is going to fall under the state sales of 4 1/8 percent.

A $50 per month cable television bill will now total $52.06. The total sales tax bill for Texans will differ, depending on whether their city has a local sales tax and an additional tax for mass transit. That local tax usually can amount to another two percent.

With such an added local sales taxes, the total bill on a $50 monthly TV bill would climb to $53.06.

That makes watching reruns of "Cassablanca" a little more expensive.

Humphrey Bogart always will stay behind in Cassablanca after Ingrid Bergman leaves, but every time Sam plays it again, it's going to cost a little more.

But cable television offers more than reruns, and those other presentations are taxable, too.

If a person orders a special feature, such as a specially televised concert or boxing match, the state sales tax applies to that also. These are televised events offered to viewers at additional cost.

And with football season upon us, special television presentations of college games through special sports networks could boost the cost of watching the games on your television set.

Growing horse industry in Texas generates billion dollars

Texas' horses, now estimated to total about a million head and valued at five hundred million dollars, generate approximately one billion dollars worth of economic activity each year, according to Dr. Gary Potter, leader of the extensive well-coordinated equine research program of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"All segments of the horse industry in Texas are growing at an average rate approaching 10 percent per year, as determined by increases in numbers of horses at events or activities in which those horses are used," says Potter, a professor of horse nutrition at Texas A&M University.

"It wasn't always this way; the growing interest and use in horses has occurred in the last two decades. The first half of this century saw horses and mules go into a real decline with mechanization of the state's agriculture.

"In 1920, the horse and mule population in Texas was 1,837,294 head. By 1959, when census of equines by USDA was discontinued, the population had declined to 237,615 head.

"The horse census was discontinued at that time 'due to the obsolescence of horses for farming purposes."

"However, the regrowth of interest in horses in the light breeds used for

Parents should aid children with school

Schools are not alone in teaching children. Parents have the responsibility to aid and assist their children.

"Making sure school work is regarded as important is one of the main ways parents can assist their children," says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist, Diane Welch.

"Ask about school work," she says.

"Listen to what the youngsters say. Respond to it with attention and care about what the youngsters are working on. That kind of support is probably the best a parent can do for youngsters at all grades in school."

Other tips for parents include: Control television viewing. If necessary, limit the hours children watch it and be aware of what they are watching.

Establish a specific study time at home and make it a quiet time. Provide an area that is suitable for the student to work. It can be any place, appropriate—the dining room table if there is room, a desk in the bedroom—as long as there is space and quiet for the student to work.

If the children are young, spend study time with them. Older students need to be working on their own skills, but still need the support of the parents.

Have books at home on school subjects and on other subjects. When possible have other learning activities such as games and projects so that what is being learned in school can be practiced at home too.

Look at the work the youngster brings home as well as at the homework. This gives parents direct contact into what is being taught so that they can help the students apply it at home.

Let teachers know when you are concerned about what is going on in the classroom. Visits with the teachers can be two-way sessions that not only help the teachers understand the students, but help the parents see what is going on in the classroom environment.

riding purposes was just beginning. Starting in the 60's there was a dramatic increase of number of horses and people participating in the horse industry.

"The American Quarter Horse Ass. (world's largest equine registry) registered 250,000 horses during the 23 years from 1940 to 1963. But the AQHA registered another 250,000 horses in just five years from 1963 to 1968, and by 1983 had registered over two million horses.

"Texas million head of horses are used by both adult and youth horsemen for a variety of purposes, including commercial horse breeding and production, competition in various sporting events such as racing, cutting contests, horse shows, rodeos, etc. and many other recreational activities.

"Texas is now the leading horse state and there is a viable horse organization in every county in Texas. Sales of produce from breeding herds amount to over fifty million dollars annually.

"More than five hundred million dollars each year is spent by Texas horsemen in maintenance and use of horses.

"Thus, when total value of horse inventory is included, the total economic activity generated by the horse industry is about one billion dollars, which contributes significantly to total economic activity in the state.

"Horses are still a vital part of the work force on many farms and ranches and contribute to the livelihood of many thousands of Texas people.

"They're also a favorite means of recreation for many others and their value is immeasurable in youth development programs.

"The size, scope and economic impact of the horse industry is in stark contrast to the research information that has been available to that industry, particularly in areas relating to production, management, marketing and use of horses.

"Professional horsemen have found only limited information available on which to base decisions regarding improvement in the quality and performance capabilities of horses.

"Considerable information is available relating to minimizing losses through control of diseases, but too little is known about technology required for production, preparation and use of top equine athletes.

"Horses have moved into the No. 2 spot in importance in the livestock industry in Texas, second only to beef cattle. In response, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has expanded research into more than two dozen areas, seeking answers to problems involving Texas horse herds.

"For example, horses have a long history of reproductive problems. Research shows that low-fertility can occur from a variety of causes, some of them interlocked or overlapping.

"Poor nutrition, in itself, can cause low-fertility and it can increase susceptibility to a variety of diseases which lower fertility. Diseases horses are susceptible to, and they are many, even include venereal disease.

"Our research on reproduction in mares includes a variety of studies to determine what level of nutrition is best for the brood mare, before and after foaling; both artificial insemination and embryo transfer problems; and what factors affect rapid settling of a filly or mare, as well as speedy rebreeding after foaling.

"Factors affecting stallion reproductive performance, both natural and artificial insemination, are being researched in several different ways, including, for example the influence of blood protein on the motility and viability of equine spermatozoa.

"Aside from nutritional aspects of reproduction, we are studying: Nutritional and feeding management of the high-performing horse, skeletal development in growing horses fed high levels of energy and different mineral-caloric ratios, starch digestion in the equine fed at varying intervals, and N, N-Dimethyl glycine as a diet additive for exercising horses.

"Our research in the College of Veterinary Medicine on control of numerous diseases has been expanded to include non-infectious conditions, such as musculo-skeletal disorders, including colic.

"Other research includes best procedures for controlling internal and external parasites; newborn foal diseases; and embryo transplants and sexual preselection.

"This comprehensive research program was developed through the long-range planning procedures of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, with the active participation of the state's horse industry leaders.

"Research information results are disseminated soon after development by publishing in scientific journals and through the educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, including seminars, short courses, publications, new articles in print and electronic media, and other means.

"This cooperation of horse industry leaders with the Experiment Station insures that the Equine Research Program is targeted toward problems which limit productivity in the state's fast-growing horse industry," Potter concluded.

IRS suggests guidelines for tax shelter investments

Careful tax planners are thinking about next April's tax bill right now. It pays to be wise to the strict new penalties dealing with abusive tax shelters and avoid the promise of tremendous tax write-off ratios as the sole reason to invest.

The Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA) makes participation in abusive tax shelters more hazardous than ever, with penalties and interest approaching 50% when IRS disallows the claims.

IRS defines abusive tax shelters as marketing schemes that involve artificial transactions with little or no economic reality, frequently making use of unrealistic allocations, inflated appraisals, or losses in connection with nonrecourse loans.

Investing in an abusive tax shelter may be an expensive proposition when all of the consequences are considered, IRS noted. For example, the promoter generally charges a substantial fee. If the return is examined by the IRS and a tax deficiency is determined, the taxpayer will then be faced with pay-

Cowboy tickets taxed

The Dallas Cowboys have a new number in their line-up this year. The new number is 4 and 1/8th—that's 4 and 1/8th percent sales tax on the price of Cowboy tickets.

Sports tickets—along with tickets to most other entertainment and recreational events—come under the Texas sales tax for the first time ever starting October 2.

The so-called amusements sales tax is part of new tax laws signed by Governor Mark White.

If you are going to take in a game or two this year, be ready to pay this new tax of 92 cents on a $15 Cowboy ticket.

If you are a season ticket holder, however, you are all right. The new tax law exempts individuals who, in effect, already had contracted for a season's worth of touchdowns and helmet-bashing.

The new tax is actually a part of a tax on entertainment, and all other professional sports events in Texas will fall under the tax. College games are not subject to the tax, and neither are high school athletic or entertainment events.

So, if you happen to be a basketball fan and want to see the San Antonio Spurs, the Dallas Mavericks or the Houston Rockets, you will have to pay the same tax.

That goes for baseball, too, so be ready to cough up more for the Houston Astros or the Texas Rangers. But it doesn't stop there.

Are you planning to take the kids or grandkids to the Ice Capades or the circus? The new tax will be charged on those events, too.

For more information on this new tax, call State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office at 512/475-1931 or toll free at 1-800-252-5555.

ment of the tax, interest on the underpayment, plus the possible application of severe penalties for negligence or civil fraud. And, in the most aggravated situations, IRS may decide to prosecute the case for criminal tax violations.

Since there are many abusive tax shelters and more are developed daily by promoters, it is not possible to list all the factors a taxpayer should consider in determining whether an offering is an abusive tax shelter. However, one should ask the following questions, which might provide a clue to the abusive nature of the plan:

Do the promised tax benefits far outweigh the economic benefits?

Is this a transaction you would seriously consider, apart from the tax benefits, if you hoped to make a profit?

Do shelter assets really exist and are they insured for less than their purchase price?

Is there a nontax justification for the way profits and losses are allocated to partners?

Do the facts and supporting documents make economic sense? In that connection, are there sales and resales of the tax shelter property at ever increasing prices?

Does the investment plan involve a gimmick, device, or sham to hide the economic reality of the transaction?

Does the promoter offer to back-date documents after the close of the year and are you instructed to back-date checks covering your investment?

Is your debt a real debt or are you assured by the promoter that you will never have to pay it?

The watchword when evaluating investment prospectuses is that, if something sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Social Security sets visit for October

John Willis, representative of the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his October visit to Ozona. He will be at the County Courthouse on Wednesday, October 17, between 2:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

Any type of application for Social Security or Supplemental Security Income benefits can be handled by telephone. Your application can be more quickly processed if you will return all applications and requested documents promptly. The phone number for the San Angelo office is 949-3718.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miller returned Saturday, from a vacation to points of interest in Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, and California.

Survivor benefits payable

Social Security benefits can be paid to many survivors of workers who die after working long enough in work covered by Social Security, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

These survivors include the worker's unmarried children under 18, under 19 if a full-time high school student or over 18 if disabled before reaching 22; a parent caring for a child under 16 or disabled; who gets benefits; a widow or widower 60 or older, or 50 or over if severely disabled; and dependent parents 62 or older.

In addition, a surviving divorced wife or husband can generally get the same benefits as widow or widower if the marriage to the worker lasted 10 years or more.

A lump-sum payment of $255 can be made to the worker's eligible widow or widower, or, if none, to the worker's child entitled to benefits.

It is important for survivors to apply for benefits as soon as possible after the worker's death. This is especially important for widows and widowers under 65 because benefits cannot generally be paid before the month of application.

When applying, survivors should have their own and the worker's Social Security cards or a record of the numbers, birth certificates for any eligible children, marriage certificate, proof of the worker's death, proof of age for the widow or widower, and Forms W-2 or self-employment tax returns for the past 2 years. Parents 62 or older will need to show they were dependent on the worker for their support.

For more information about Social Security survivor benefits or about other Social Security benefits, contact the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Criswells place in tournament

Jim Criswell and his son, John, left Ozona to enter the Permian Bass Club Tournament on Lake Amistad Sept. 15-16, and Jim ended up in ninth place and John got third place in the youth division.

After all weights were tallied, Jim had a total of 11.19 pounds and John had a total of 2.68 pounds, winning a Hummingbird Depth Finder and an Ambassador reel, respectively.

Jim hooked a 5.8 pound bass about fifteen minutes before the weigh-in began.

The following weekend they were fishing on Brady Lake when John landed his first fish on his new reel. The bass weighed in at 6.58 pounds and is presently being mounted at the taxidermy shop.

Cyndi Trujillo named editor of newspaper

Cyndi Trujillo of Ozona has been named editor of The Western Texan, the campus newspaper at Western Texas College.

Miss Trujillo, a sophomore journalism major, served as associate editor of The Western Texan in the 1984 spring semester. She is also a sophomore representative to the Student Senate and a member of Phi Theta Kappa, a national honor fraternity for students in junior and community colleges.

Library board plans purchases for library

In anticipation of the expansion and relocation of the Crockett County Public Library in the spring, the library board has begun planning for the purchase of reference books for the new library. Following is a list of some book titles which would be useful in the reference collection. Anyone who would like to contribute all or part of the cost of any of these books may do so by sending a check along with information regarding acknowledgments to Sherry York, Box 400, Ozona. You may also go by the high school library, call 392-2185, or contact any of the library board members. Board members are Sherry Scott, president; Sherry York, vice-president; Chesta Stuart, secretary.

Contributions may be made in memory of a deceased friend or relative, to honor a person or family, or to commemorate an important event. Books are fitting tributes to the people or events we wish to be remembered, for ideas in books live on. A bookplate with the name of the person honored and the name of the donor will be placed in each book. In the event that a title is selected by more than one person, the first request will be honored and later requests will be applied to other reference books.

Jeannene Booher is top N. Y. designer

Jeannene Booher, former Ozonan and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, has been a major New York dress designer for several years and since 1980 has been a full partner in the Maggy London dress company, one of the fittest firms on Seventh Avenue.

Larry Lefkowitz, vice president of the company, said of Ms. Booher, "There are very few real talents in this industry, but in our opinion, Jeannene Booher is one of them."

Booher had ample experience before helping solidify the Maggy London line. A graduate of the Parsons School of Design in New York, Ms. Booher expressed an interest in designing as early as eight years of age.

She became an assistant designer for Trigere in 1958 and worked for several well-known houses before becoming associated with the Diane Von Furstenberg organization in 1978.

With the release of Booher's first collection, which contained her signature dress, the Maggy London identity became firmly cemented in the minds of consumers. The firm now has seven apparel lines.

The Maggy London line is retailed here at the Teacher Store.

Marking the history of Texas began in 1936

Although there were early attempts to mark historic sites, the Texas historical marker program as we know it today actually began in 1936 with the Texas Centennial. During that year, a select committee of historians, in cooperation with citizens throughout the state, erected markers commemorating individuals, battles, missions, communities, and counties. The markers were of stone; some had incised lettering, while others had metal plates with raised lettering.

When the Texas Historical Survey Committee (now Texas Historical Commission) was created in 1953, it continued with the earlier marker program on a limited basis. A survey of historic structures in the state led to the establishment of the "medallion program" in 1962. The special round medallion, which bore a relief map logo of the state, was used to call attention to identified historic structures.

Shortly after the medallion program was initiated, it was evident the public wanted to know the history of the structures. So, supplemental plates were added to identify the historical background. Later, the medallion and plate became known as the building marker and were used to signify a structure as a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark.

In the 1960s the subject marker was developed to commemorate events, institutions, individuals, and sites.

Fabricated in metal (aluminum lettering on a black background), the subject markers soon became popular points of interest along the state's highways.

Today there are over 9,000 markers in the state, including the centennial markers, some private markers, building markers, and subject markers. They are located in each of the 254 counties of the state. County historical commissions work in cooperation with the Research and Markers Department of the THC to oversee the placement of new markers.

 the ball exceptionally well for us," said Green.

Starting quarterback, Harvey Fierro, threw the ball for all of Ozona's 31 yards to receivers: Lionel Munoz, who had 16 yards; Al Ramirez, who had 13 yards; Delgado, 2 yards.

Coach Green praised his defensive down lineman as well as the secondary. "Mario Arredondo had an outstanding game as did Harvey Fierro, Chuy Hernandez, Matt Gutierrez, and Ed Borrego," commented the coach. He continued to say that the Lions seemed to be in better physical condition than they have been in previous outings. "Our kids were still going strong in the 4th quarter and Big Lake was just getting it knocked out of them."

The Lions will certainly be looking for another win this week against the Stanton Buffaloes, who were defeated by Crane last week, 7-0.

Newspapers

 well as a major contributor to a better society. Texas newspapers, their publishers and staffs have spent lifetimes creating communities that justify the investment of millions of dollars by major retailers.

"Our newspapers represent major local payrolls and substantial taxpayers to the local, county and state governments. And in all cases, one newspaper and not more than two thoroughly dominates the markets which they serve.

"Texas newspapers represent quite a choice from the major direct mailers who often don't even pay state taxes, and the electronic media which must share its hour-by-hour audience with about 50 competitors."
