Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

I am determined to get this space filled this week. I've been lax of late due to figuring out new postal rules and trying to keep a log (required by the IRS) on the company vehicles. In fact, I've been so busy trying to comply with all these government and postal rules, I've hardly had time for anything else. I have written my epitaph, it shall read "She complied, under protest."

My daily log reads something like this: Destination - Post Office-6 tenths of a mile. Then I worry. Since I pick up my personal mail the same time I pick up my business mail, can this be called a business trip?

From home to the office is one mile. However, when I stop to pick up ad copy for the paper, how can that be counted as personal use of the vehicle?

If I run out to the Circle Bar to pick up an ad and have dinner while there, do I split the six miles between business and personal? I probably would have had dinner at home if I had not gone to pick up the ad.

When we take the paper to the printer, should we make another entry when we run out to visit the children or go for a snack?

This is driving me crazy. I don't think I'm alone in this matter either. From all reports Congress will repeal that law, but with my luck it will be late in the year after I've already filled out two or three hundred of these little books.

To keep our second-class permit with the postal service, we must follow regulations to the letter, and to save postage, we really have to do some dumb things. I guess you have noticed that postage has gone up.

To save money we must wrap and address each bundle of six or more papers to the same zip code and put them in a postal sack and then label the sack. Last week we had 25 sacks, where we had been having just a couple going to Midland. There were sacks hanging out of every side of the pickup when they went to the post office last week, most of which only had 6 papers.

We were furnished with a copy of the regulations, but even Willa and I disagreed on what they meant. Finally Charles Schneider came over and checked it all out with us, and I guess we are doing what is required. The whole thing borders on the ridiculous.

This is no reflection on the personnel at the local post office. They have been most helpful and we are most grateful. I can certainly understand the regulations and forms that come from the bureaucrats in Washington every day, my disposition would be worse than it is at present. I don't see how they ever get time to put the mail up.

That's it for this week. I must rush and get a new pen and my calculator. I'm on my way to take the paper to the printer. I can't do arithmetic without my calculator and I wore my new pen out this week.

Mitchell files for re-election to school board

Gary Buck Mitchell has authorized the Ozona Stockman to announce his candidacy for re-election to the Crockett County School Board.

Mitchell is a life long citizen of Crockett County and is presently involved in ranching. He is a graduate of Ozona High School and attended Texas Tech University.

Mitchell at present is serving on the board of directors of the Ozona Wool & Mohair Co., and serving as Vice President of the American Wool & Mohair Association. He is also a director of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers.

"The past three years I have enjoyed serving on the school board. I feel that we have made vast improvement to the school system with many more projects still needed.

Outstanding rancher award

Stanley Stribling, center, was awarded the 1984 outstanding conservation rancher award by the Crockett County Soil and Water Conservation District at the San Angelo Area Awards Banquet held at Angelo State University Thursday evening. Earl Acton presents the award while Gene Perry looks on. Both are directors of the local SCS.

Stribling named outstanding conservation rancher of year

Stanley Stribling has been chosen recipient of the 1984 outstanding conservation rancher award by the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District. The award was presented to Stan at the San Angelo Area Awards Banquet held at Angelo State University February 21.

Stan is in partnership with Bill Pfluger on this ranch but the Crockett District has worked primarily with Stan on what he calls the Pecos River Ranch.

The Pecos River Ranch consists of 7040 acres of native rangeland located in the southwest part of Crockett county adjoining the Pecos River. With the average annual rainfall being 10 to 12 inches per year and very unpredictable, Stan retains a great amount of flexibility in his stocking operation. Stan is a firm believer in proper stocking and proper grazing use and will move stock off the ranch if the grass is getting short or if extended dry periods persist.

Stan has participated in the Great Plains Conservation Program in the past and is currently participating in the mini-L.T.A. program. These programs have allowed Stan to do some much needed fencing and watering on the ranch. With the addition of these fences and watering facilities, Stan has initiated an 8 pasture-1 herd grazing system on 5400 acres of the ranch. The grazing distribution has improved tremendously since.

The quantity and quality of desirable forage on the Pecos River Ranch has increased not only through proper grazing use and better grazing distribution, but also through brush management. In past years, the flats adjoining the river have either been tree-dozed or chained and root-plowed. These areas were seeded to a mixture of adapted grasses, fenced off and have provided excellent grazing during times of dry conditions.

Wildlife and recreation play a major economic role in the operation of this ranch, as money received from hunting and fishing leases provide a major source of supplemental income. Stan has worked closely with a wildlife biologist and has tried to follow the recommendations made on deer and aquatic habitat management.

Having a good working understanding of range and ranch management and by wise use of available resources, the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District is proud to present this award to Stanley Stribling, the outstanding conservation rancher for 1984.

home here Friday and was rushed to San Angelo Community Hospital, suffering convulsions. As of Monday Michelle was in the Intensive Care Unit of the hospital fighting for her life with a blood infection and low white count. She was receiving doses of antibiotics and nutrients intravenously and her condition was listed as poor.

The Marshalls have lived in Ozona for about a year. He is employed with J. Cleo Thompson.

Mrs. Marshall (Mary) is a homemaker. They have one other child, a five-year-old daughter.

A fund for the tremendous medical expenses incurred by the Marshalls was started at Ozona Primary School. Children emptied piggy banks and brought nickels and dimes to help out. The generosity of the children prompted the adults of the community to assist also, and a fund has been set up at Crockett County National Bank. Anyone or any organization wishing to help out may drop by the bank and make a deposit. All assistance will be appreciated, no matter how large or small.

Cancer brings tragedy to young Ozona family

Tragedy struck an Ozona family recently when it was discovered their little six-year-old daughter was suffering from cancer.

Michelle Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Marshall, became ill around January 25, during school. Her first grade teacher, Becky Dillard, found the child in pain. She was rushed to a local physician, who found a mass in the stomach area and she was rushed to a San Angelo hospital and then to Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio where she underwent surgery, with a diagnosis of Embryonal Rhabdomyosarcoma. Surgeons in the San Antonio facility found extensive involvement of the stomach cavity, including the pancreas. They estimated the surgery took care of 98 percent of the malignancy, and recommended chemotherapy treatments to effect a cure.

Michelle was scheduled to take her treatments in San Angelo each week and then return to San Antonio for evaluation. However, after two treatments, Michelle became ill at her

Grand jury indicts 11

The 112th District Grand Jury was convened here this month by District Judge Brock Jones, Jr., and District Attorney J.W. Johnson presented the jury with enough evidence to get eleven indictments.

Indictments filed include an aggravated robbery count against Johnny Villarreal, Jr.; Sherry Ann Castoe and Darrell Eugene Castoe, one count each of possession of a controlled substance; Reynaldo Martinez was indicted for retaliation and terroristic threats against a peace officer.

A count of indecency with a child was returned against Simon Longoria and John Fierro, Jr. was indicted for burglary of a motor vehicle, as was Ricardo Rodriguez and Desidero Tijerina, Jr. Abel Rodriguez was also charged with burglary of a motor vehicle.

Armando Guerra Robledo had an aggravated assault count returned against him. Ronald Koerth was indicted for arson, intentionally starting a fire with the intent to damage and destroy a vehicle.

Those indicted will be tried in District Court as set on the docket.

In other District Court business, a pre-trial hearing will take place tomorrow morning in the contest of election case of Jesse Marley vs. Sostene DeHoyos. A retired judge from Crane will hear the case, Judge Spencer. The suit grew out of having more votes than ballots in the November election for commissioner, Precinct 1.

School board holds meeting

Most of the regular meeting of the Crockett County School Board held Feb. 20, was taken up with consideration of personnel evaluations and contracts, following a report from Ron Barbutti, architect for the Ozona Junior High Renovation Project.

After default by the company awarded the original contract, and negotiations by the bonding company, work was delayed but has been resumed. Barbutti reported the improvement program going well and projected a completion date of approximately four weeks.

The contracts of Superintendent Garland Davis and Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton were extended by one year, as were the contracts of Jim Payne, Bob Wallace, and Walter Spiller. Mr. Charles Womack, principal of Ozona Junior High School, will be retiring at the end of the 1984-85 school term.

The members also voted their approval for extending contracts to the following personnel: Jim Williams, high school counselor; Jim Green, head football coach; John Curry, head boys basketball coach; and Terri McColloch, head girls basketball coach.

The board accepted the resignation, effective at the end of this school year, of Mr. Dewey Lawhon, Ozona assistant band director, and they approved the employment of Mr. Mark Duncan as the school athletic trainer.

Superintendent Garland Davis presented the 1985-86 Ozona school calendar for board consideration, and it was approved as read. Mr. Davis explained that as a result of House Bill 246, all school districts in the state of Texas are now prohibited from beginning classes prior to September 1.

Therefore, a great degree of local discretion has been taken away from all of the districts in regard to preparing localized school calendars. The new calendar calls for Ozona teachers to begin inservice on Monday, August 26, and the first day of classes to be held on Tuesday, September 3. The last day for students will be May 29, 1986, and graduation exercises will be on May 30, 1986.

Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton presented the Ozona Textbook Committee's selections for new state-adopted textbooks in mathematics (grades 1-8), science (grades 1-6), introductory biology, Biology I, business data processing, and computer programming. The textbooks were approved as presented, and they will be delivered to the district in August.

The Ozona Board of Trustees also voted to call a school board election for Saturday, April 6, to elect two members to the local board. The terms of two current board members, Gary Buck Mitchell and Van Miller, will expire this year.

The meeting was adjourned after Superintendent Davis reported that Friday, March 15, will be the district's bad weather make-up day.

Search for woman produces no results

Local officers and firemen spent the better part of last week searching for a missing Sonora woman, without results.

Mrs. Philip (Nancy) Pohl, a fifth grade teacher in the Sonora school system, was last seen at her home Wednesday, February 20, in Sonora. She was discovered missing when local officers found a pickup wrecked and abandoned on Liveoak Rd. near the Pecos River in the west part of Crockett County.

A DPS check on the vehicle revealed the pickup was registered to a Philip Pohl of Sonora, also a teacher. Missing from the home was a pistol and holster, along with a sum of money amounting to around $100.

The pickup, which apparently hit a fence, was locked and the empty gun holster was found on the seat. Fearing the worst, an extensive search of the area was undertaken by the Department of Public Safety, Sheriff's Department, Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, U.S. Border Patrol personnel and even a DPS helicopter. The search was called off late Friday and there are still no clues as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Pohl.

An all-points bulletin has been issued to law enforcement personnel all over the state in an effort to locate the woman. She is described as being 5 feet, five inches tall; weight 105 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes. Her age was given as 41 years.

Anyone having any information that might help locate Mrs. Pohl is asked to contact Sheriff Bill Webster, Sonora, Sutton County. Mrs. Pohl left Sonora in the pickup some time Wednesday morning and the vehicle was found around 11 a.m. just off I-10. Apparently she traveled I-10 from Sonora to the point where the pickup was found.

Dental Health Month

was celebrated by the second graders at Ozona Primary School by a toothbrush decorating contest. Two winners were chosen from each room. They are shown here with their classroom teachers, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Cotton and Mrs. Lipsey, who presented the play "Oble's Toothache" in a puppet theater.

THE REAL AFTER-"MASH"

By Edwin Feulner

According to a disturbing report now circulating in the Pentagon, the United States would be able to treat just a small fraction of its battlefield casualties if a major conventional war broke out in Europe.

The report was penned by retired Maj. Gen. Henry Mohr, former chief of the U.S. Army Reserve.

A distinguished military man who completed basic training in Hawaii the day before the islands came under attack on December 7, 1941, and later participated as a young officer in the battle of New Guinea, the invasion at Lingayen Gulf, and the battle of Luzan in the Philippines, General Mohr has issued the U.S. military a somber warning: because of severe shortages of trained medical personnel, and no way to mobilize them rapidly in the event of an emergency, the U.S. could face an "insurmountable problem in a sudden crisis involving large numbers of casualties."

In his report, General Mohr cites numerous studies since 1978 that have pointed out serious deficiencies in the military services' medical staffs.

In 1981, for example, the then-acting assistant secretary of defense for health affairs determined that only one in ten wounded servicemen would receive necessary lifesaving care in a battlefield situation. Last year, the assistant secretary of defense for health affairs, Dr. William Mayer, gave a slightly more optimistic estimate, telling Congress that the U.S. armed forces would have sufficient medical capabilities to provide initial surgery for 20 percent of the casualties — still a dismal forecast.

A month later, Dr. Mayer reiterated his warning, saying that as a result of current medical shortages three-quarters of wounded American servicemen would not get the "lifesaving, stabilizing, hemorrhage-stopping surgical care" needed to survive.

It is perhaps natural that when money is in short supply, and peace at hand, Pentagon decision-makers place more emphasis on weapons and force structure than on x-ray equipment, heart-lung machines, and the people who know how to use them.

General Mohr says the Department of Defense needs to increase the number of medics and medical units assigned to the armed forces and should register all civilians with health-care training for possible rapid induction into the armed services in the event of a war.

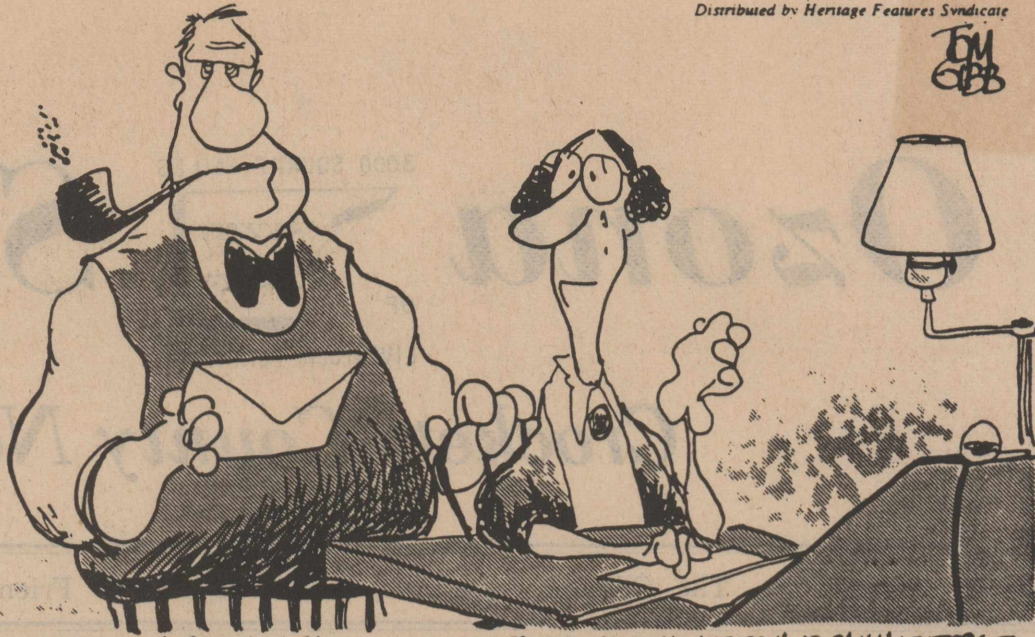

"The administration... should ask Congress to modify the Selective Service Act and to grant the federal government authority to draft medical specialists, including women," General Mohr says. "Registration, physical examinations, and qualification by skills are the minimum peacetime requirements to assure immediate accountability," he says.

Although the shortage of military medical personnel has been apparent for some time, "efforts to correct it have been painfully slow and inadequate," General Mohr says.

As a result, "the immediate picture — should hostilities break out — may be even more bleak than it appears," he says.

Perhaps watching the boys and girls of the 4077th MASH unit "cut-up" on TV each week has made us insensitive to the military's real medical needs. Let's hope not. Correcting this problem could be a life-and-death matter.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—When the Legislative leadership asked state agencies last year to prepare for a major belt-tightening, most responded with pleas for more aid, a reflection that budget realities had not yet sunk in.

That was never the case with State Comptroller Bob Bullock, the man constitutionally charged with keeping his finger on state government's economic pulse.

Last week, instead of asking for more money, Bullock returned $4.7 million to the Legislature, saying he had tightened his agency's belt and could "live without" the money. He has set the example for fiscal behavior that the budget leadership hoped other agency heads would display.

"It's a pleasure to be here," Bullock told the Senate Finance Committee last week. "I've come here to give you $4.7 million back. That is $4.7 million the Legislative Budget Board recommended for us which we can live without."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

There is no way that I can ever tell you how much I appreciate all that you and Evart did—such a tribute will be treasured always, especially knowing that it was also meant for the faithful Commission members and friends who made possible anything that I may have accomplished.

Kitty, I can't remember a single time when you were not more than generous with publicity. So many, many times there was front page coverage when I feel sure that there were other items that might as well have been there. Without such help little would have been accomplished. You are so good for Ozona!

Al has appointed Historical Commission members. He asks that I convene them and elect a new chairman. The old members and a few new ones make up the list. I will surely let you know as soon as we can meet.

People have been so generous with calls, copies of the article, etc. I truly feel humble and grateful.

Ask me—anytime I can help you.

Sincerely, Lucile I. Harrell

Overpayment of S.S. taxes refunded

A person who works for more than one employer during the course of a year may have more Social Security taxes withheld than are required by law, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently. "If this occurs," Upp said, "the person may claim a refund for the excess amount when he or she files an income tax return for that year; however, if the excess withholding occurs because an employer deducts too much in taxes, the person should ask the employer for a refund. "Earnings in excess of the maximum amount that counts for Social Security cannot be used in figuring the benefit rate."

Additional information about taxes and refunds may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service. Information about Social Security benefits can be obtained from the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Woodward Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Fiscal Warning At the same hearing, Bullock warned senators of a continuing fiscal crisis for Texas government that is just starting and "it will be worse in two years."

Bullock also told senators that even though he recently terminated 11 district offices and 149 employees, he expected to bring $34.5 million in added revenues to the state due to automation and pay raises for well-trained employees.

This recent action by Bullock provides a dramatic contrast between him and Gov. Mark White, whom Bullock once hoped to replace. White campaigned on a theme of "no new taxes," but once in office he promoted a record $4.6 billion tax increase. Bullock has forecast fiscal conservatism and tightened his own belt first as an example for others to follow.

Ruffled Feathers White, for his part, spent some time last week trying to make amends with state senators who felt left out of his appointments process.

Some feathers were ruffled because senators felt White did not consult with them enough in making his selections. After a meeting with Senate deans Oscar Mauzy and Chet Brooks, White agreed to hire a liaison between his office and the senate.

Name Withdrawn

Meanwhile, former State Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo told friends he withdrew his name from consideration for an appointment to the State Board of Insurance because he was tired of waiting on word from Mark White and decided he did not need the job.

Simpson was the highly respected chairman of the House Committee on Insurance and a conservative Democrat during his legislative tenure.

Mattox Trial

The felony commercial bribery trial of Jim Mattox closed its first week of testimony in which prosecutors attempted to establish that Mattox had indeed threatened to end the multi-million dollar bond business of a Houston law firm.

J. Wiley Caldwell, who heads the bond division of the Fulbright & Jaworski firm and was a top political fund raiser for Mattox in '82, was the chief witness who testified that Mattox "threatened war" over their lawyer's attempt to question Mattox's sister in an unrelated case.

Other witnesses testified they had no evidence that Mattox ever delayed approval of their bond issues during that period, until Thursday when Mattox's former bond chief told the Court Mattox had instructed him to hold the F&J bonds until further orders.

Other interesting highlights of the week included: —North Texas farmer Noel Cowling became the first announced candidate to challenge Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, and Amarillo state Sen. Bill Sarpalius confirmed he is seriously thinking of adding his name to the list.

Hightower responded "if you want to take me on, you better strap yourself to the saddle."

—Texas Monthly reporter Paul Burka, who writes the controversial "Ten Best/Ten Worst Legislators" column, has advised the Legislature to abolish the state's two black universities, Prairie View A&M and Texas Southern, saying the state could save $44 million.

—A survey conducted for the Texas Education Agency indicated that Texas school districts raised local property taxes an average 15 percent to help pay for the state's new massive school reforms last year.

—Another poll reflected that 75 percent of Texans approve of their local schools.

—H. Ross Perot, the Dallas billionaire who headed the education reform committee, suggested the creation of a new panel to overhaul higher education.

For starters, Perot would cut out "junk course like the history of rock and roll."

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

What to do in March-Poem

With rushing winds and gloomy skies the dark and stubborn winter dies; far off, unseen, spring faintly cries, bidding her earliest child arise: March!

As the weather warms and the garden blooms, March is an active month for the outdoor garden. To keep abreast of spring work it is necessary to plan carefully and, above all, to take advantage of every favorable opportunity the weather affords.

In March are laid some of the foundations for summer gardens, weeks, days and even hours frittered away at this time can never be regained. The results of this neglect will be increasingly evident as the season progresses.

Everything you do now in preparation for the coming flower show the last of April will more than repay you in fine exhibits for the show, and the public to enjoy when passing your home.

Its time to fertilize trees and shrubs because growth will begin soon if not before now.

If you are planning to plant tender new plants outside be careful to have coverage if a freeze is forecast. It might be wise to wait until Good Friday or after Easter.

If you intend to have glads, cannas, elephant ears and others this summer you will find these available now, but don't plant caladiums until the soil gets warmer in April.

Fertilize ground covers early this month before new growth begins. Plants such as English ivy, carpet bugleweed (Ajuga), Japanese star jasmine, and big blue lirope may be fed with the same fertilizer used for lawns-unless it contains a herbicide. Brush the foliage with a leaf rake to remove fertilizer particles, and water thoroughly. If the plants have grown too tall or have been damaged by freeze, trim them back to a height of 3 inches.

Mrs. Clayton is hostess for Beta Sigma Phi

Xi Sigma Omega of Beta Sigma Phi met February 25, in the home of Arlene Clayton.

Donna Sanders gave a report on the Queen of Hearts Ball that several couples attended. Vice President, Brenda Newton, reminded members of the deadline for state convention.

After further business, Arlene Clayton presented the program "The World Around Us: The Community" with guest speaker, Jo Davidson of the Women's Auxiliary.

Attending were, Arlene Clayton, Bobbie Fatout, Nancy Hale, Diane Myers, Brenda Newton, Tommie Pena-Alfaro, Debra Phillips, Jeannette Robinson, Donna Sanders, Donna Snyder, Barbara Wallace, and Jeanne Wellman.

Next meeting will be March 11, with Donna Snyder as hostess.

Evart White is in Methodist Hospital in Houston, recuperating from surgery performed Friday. He was in the intensive care unit of the hospital until Monday when he was moved to a private room.

Mrs. Black is speaker for Forum Federation Day program

The Ozona Woman's Forum met Feb. 19 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Phillips with Mrs. Worth Allen and Mrs. C.O. Spencer co-hosting the meeting.

Following the social hour, the president, Mrs. Huey Ingram, called the meeting to order. Important old and new business commitments were discussed.

The International Convention for Woman's Federated Club to be held in Houston, June 2-6 was announced and members were urged to attend this meeting.

Another announcement was made concerning the Arts and Crafts Show. This worthwhile community affair has been re-scheduled for March 19 at the Ozona Civic Center.

Mrs. Charles Black was the speaker for this annual Federation Day program. She received several profound articles in the depletion of our natural resources and urged members to band together locally, as well as on state wide and national levels to fight for preservation of all natural resources. She also emphasized that the Federated Woman of America can make a difference in this all important matter.

Those present were Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Charles Black, Mrs. J.D. Brown, Mrs. George Bunger, Mrs. P.L. Childress, Mrs. Mike Clayton, Mrs. Roger Dudley, Mrs. Fred Hagelstein, Mrs. Huey Ingram, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. L.D. Kirby, Mrs. Allie Lock, Mrs. Jess Marley, Mrs. J. McCartney, Mrs. J.B. Walker, Mrs. Bob Wallace, Ms. Bonnie Warth, and Mrs. Taylor Jones.

Mrs. Childress speaks to sorority on cancer research

The Alpha Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday, February 19, in the home of Marcy Williams. Hostesses were Becky Dillard, Karen Huffman and Marcy Williams.

Becky Childress, representing the American Cancer Society, presented the program. She gave members useful facts and information concerning the Cancer Society. Members learned how donations are used.

Mrs. Bunger hostess for C. C. Bridge

Mrs. George Bunger was hostess for the Country Club Bridge Club Thursday in the club room.

High score went to Mrs. Jake Short and second high to Mrs. Sherman Taylor. Mrs. Clay Adams won the bingo.

Others playing were Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Mrs. J. T. Dockery, Mrs. Joe Friend, Mrs. W. E. Friend, Mrs. Arthur Kyle, Mrs. J. J. Marley, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. Jack Williams.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB

In Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday at the Country Club, Mrs. Carl North and Mrs. Kirby Moore tied for the top spot with Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. Robert Cox.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. North and Mrs. Sidney Millsbaugh won high, and Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. George Bunger were second.

Mrs. Miller is hostess for Friday Bridge Club

Mrs. J. B. Miller was hostess for the Friday Bridge Club in her home.

High score went to Mrs. Sherman Taylor, guest high to Mrs. Arthur Kyle. Mrs. Eddie Arnold was low and Mrs. Oscar Kost won the bingo.

Fad diets discussed

Pat Walker's Figure Salon presents the second in a series of articles regarding current findings on various popular diets as reported in a recent issue of Consumer's Digest.

Dr. Paul Lachance, the first nutritionist for the U.S. space program, now professor of food science and nutrition at Rutgers University and his associate, Michelle C. Fisher, have research to show how 15 of the most popular diets can harm you and in some cases have caused death.

With so much publicity surrounding fad diets, Dr. Lachance feels it's important for you to know the health implications and facts on the nutrient value of these diets.

Diet-Drink Dangers. Although he doesn't include it in his charts, Dr. Lachance feels that the original Cambridge liquid diet presented potentially lethal problems. "The Cambridge plan contained only 400 calories for the entire day, which was a definite health risk," states Dr. Lachance. In late 1982, at the height of its popularity, the FDA recorded that six people died while on the Cambridge plan and 138 more reported feeling ill. Earlier liquid-protein diets, in 1976 and 1977, were associated with at least 58 deaths. "A diet that provides protein but insufficient calories leads to the protein being burned for fuel and the body cannibalizing its own protein," Dr. Lachance explains.

Weight-loss diets that consist of high-protein low-calorie drinks are supposed to induce quick weight loss while preserving the body's lean tissue. Unfortunately, lean tissue, which includes the heart, is not necessarily spared from this process, and cardiac irregularities can ensue.

But other diet drinks will always be entering from the wings, posing potential problems. One difficulty with diet drinks, points our nutritionist Lynn Perkins, is that "they don't help you learn to relate better to food and to improve your eating habits."

CHALLENGE

Frightening, isn't it? You see a picture like this and suddenly you feel you are standing at the edge of a chasm in the dark. You are confronted with the threat of the unknown, and you don't like it.

Why, you wonder? Why can't men live together in peace?

We all need the courage to face the future unafraid. We need to find and develop love, understanding and peace of mind. But to attain our goal, we need Faith. That help can be found in church or at your synagogue.

Brush Management on Texas Rangelands Can Increase Available Water Supply

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Expanding industry and a growing population in Texas are exerting increasing pressures on our limited water supplies. In 1984, adverse weather forced several major cities, including San Antonio, Austin and Corpus Christi, into water rationing.

Our rangeland watersheds provide water for most of the State's major metropolitan centers. Such major aquifers as the Trinity, Edwards-Trinity, Edwards, Carrizo-Wilcox, and Gulf Coast are recharged by rangeland. And about 60% of the surface flow in rivers comes from rangeland watersheds.

Cities such as Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Waco, Temple, Austin, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, and others are directly dependent on range watersheds for water supplies. All these regions are projected to have severe future water shortages.

Most of these rangelands are heavily infested with brush, according to range scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. More than a dozen major brush species that infest 82% of Texas rangelands use an estimated 38% of the average annual water budget of the State.

It has been estimated that about ten million acre feet of water could be saved annually by reducing brush density on rangelands. That's 3,258,510,000,000 gallons of water per year!

Brush competition with other plants for available water supplies also reduces forage yields, cuts livestock production, and increases soil erosion potential.

Intensive studies are needed to develop vegetation management systems that will result in more efficient water use in forage production and increased water yields for cities and towns.

Watershed management studies have been proposed, by range scientists with the Agricultural Experiment Station, to be conducted in the Edwards Plateau, Rio Grande Plains, and Rolling Plains regions. Water consumption rates will be determined for native brush and grass species to aid in estimating the impact of vegetation control on water-use efficiency and forage production.

Range management strategies will be tested to assess their influence on soil erosion and water yield and quality from range watersheds.

From this information, downstream impacts that result from different management strategies can be estimated. And management systems can be developed for rangeland regions where vegetation manipulation can result in favorable forage and water productions.

All Texans will benefit if the brush that has invaded our rangelands can be brought under control and appreciably diminished. Urban dwellers will benefit from more available water and an increased food supply.

Livestock growers on the improved rangeland watersheds will be able to produce more cattle, sheep, or goats from increased forage supplies and water.

And all of us will benefit in the long run from decreasing soil erosion and the resultant silting of our waterways.

Miss Hearne is First thunderstorm of season hits honor student at Howard College

Eighty-five Howard College students and 11 Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf students made the Howard County Junior College District Honors List for the 1984 Fall semester, announced Dr. Bob Riley, HCJCD President.

The purpose of the HCJCD Honors List is to commend those students who are enrolled for a minimum of 15 semester hours of solid subjects, and whose grade point average is 3.0 or above. The collegiate list is sub-divided into five divisions on the basis of grade points.

Honored at Howard College is Jo Anne Hearne of Ozona on the Cum Laude Ampla Et Magna Honor List. Students making Cum Laude Ampla have 57 or more grade points and no grade lower than B.

The first thunderstorm of the season shook Ozona Friday night and left an inch of rain, the first moisture for the month. A brief storm passed over around 9 p.m. but the heaviest rain and lightning hit around midnight. There were reports of tornados. One touched down at the Bob Childress ranch, damaging a barn.

Sunday is final day for Dr. Lanham at First Baptist

Sunday, March 3, will be the last Sunday for Dr. and Mrs. S. Nelson Lanham, Jr. with the First Baptist Church of Ozona. This will bring to a close a 12 year ministry with the church. During this time Dr. Lanham has served in many areas of community and denominational life. He served as president of the Rotary Club in 1975, was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and served as president of the Helping Hands for the Elderly, Inc. in its beginning stages. In denominational life he served as Moderator for the Castle Gap Baptist Association for 3 years, and as the secretary-treasurer of the Mexican Rural Work Committee, a part of the Baptist General Convention of Texas River Ministry.

Lions Club takes win in benefit game

Members of the Ozona Lions Club won the basketball game with the coaching staff Thursday night, with some partial officiating, according to one club member. The score was 41-40. An un-named source said the coaches managed to get an extra six seconds on the clock and could have gone out in front, but missed the basket. Superintendent Garland Davis won the free throw contest, and entertained the crowd by appearing in a rubber mask. However, this was soon discarded due to obstruction of vision. The Lions Club voted to donate the proceeds from the event to the Helping Hands for the Elderly.

Dental health month

The second graders of Ozona Primary School had a toothbrush decorating contest during Dental Health Month. Two winners were chosen from each room. Mr. Spiller presented the winners a "tooth" ribbon and a new toothbrush. The winners were: Gabriel Vasquez, Mary Castillo, Edith Zurita, Mathew Flores, Hiram Carrizales, Matt Wilmon, Dora Garcia, Ida Esquivel, Oscar Zurita, and Leigh Chandler. The second graders also saw the play "Obie's Toothache" presented by Mrs. Cotton, Miss Lipsey, and Mrs. Wallace.

School board election called for 2

Two places will be up for election for trustees on the Crockett County School Board April 6. The terms of Gary Buck Mitchell and Van Miller expire this year. Mitchell has filed for re-election. Those who wish to file for a spot on the ballot need to file with County Judge A.O. Fields by Thursday, March 7. Absentee voting will begin March 18 and continue through April 2, in the county clerk's office. The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at the courthouse.

Disaster loans available for Crockett Co.

Mr. Julio Perez, District Director of the local Small Business Administration office, announced last week the designation of additional counties eligible for federal assistance: Crockett, Menard, Schleicher, Victoria. These four counties are eligible for long-term federal assistance as the result of drought beginning January 1, 1984 and continuing through December 31, 1984. The interest rate for loans processed under this designation (#613801) is 4 percent for small business concerns without credit available elsewhere, and 10.5 percent for small agricultural cooperatives without credit elsewhere. Those eligible applicants seeking loan information may call our toll free number (800)442-7206 for assistance. The deadline for submission of applications under this designation is September 30, 1985.

Sheriff's Dept. turns in very busy week

Sheriff's Department personnel turned in a busy week last week. Besides assisting in a three-day search for a missing woman, they investigated a terroristic threat, quelled three family disturbances and two fights. Seven arrests were made during the week. A DWI was arrested Thursday. Two arrests were made Friday, one for burglary and one for assault. A male and female were arrested Saturday for possession of over four ounces of marijuana. One arrest was made Sunday for DWI and possession of marijuana.

Pizza: A Slice of Nutrition

Pizza has an undeserved reputation as "junk food." Yet, a quick nutritional analysis of fast-food, frozen, or homemade recipes indicate that pizza can be a nutritional part of a balanced diet.

Differences in pizza recipes can change the nutritional content. But in general, pizza contains substantial amounts of calcium, phosphorus, potassium, Vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, iron, and protein. The cheese provides protein, phosphorus, and calcium, while the crust contributes thiamin, niacin, iron and riboflavin. Vitamin A is in the cheese and tomato sauce.

Pizza's one significant limitation is its high sodium content. Both mozzarella cheese, tomato sauce, and sodium-containing seasonings increase sodium. A home recipe utilizing no-salt tomato sauce and a variety of herbs and spices can lower the sodium content.

Dieters might consider pizza occasionally, that is if one does not over indulge. One slice of cheese pizza is about 145 calories, which makes it an alternative to low-calorie lunches. Additional toppings, such as bell peppers, mushrooms, ground or sliced meats, and mushrooms add extra calories and nutrients.

Deep-Dish Pizza

- 1 pkg. dry yeast
- 1 1/2 cups warm water (105°-115°) divided
- 1 teaspoon salt
- About 4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 (15-oz.) can tomato sauce
- Chopped onion
- Ground Parmesan cheese
- Ground oregano
- 1 pound Italian sausage, cooked and cut into 1/4" slices

1 lb. shredded mozzarella cheese
Dissolve yeast in 1 cup water; add salt and enough flour to make a doughlike consistency. Add remaining 1/2 cup water; and more flour until dough is no longer sticky.

Turn dough out on a floured surface, and knead gently 6-8 times; let dough rest 5 minutes. Press evenly into a 15x10x1" pan or into 2-9" cakepans.

Spread tomato sauce over dough; sprinkle with onion, Parmesan cheese, and oregano. Arrange sausage on top; sprinkle mozzarella cheese over all. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before cutting.

CROCKETT COUNTY CARE CENTER NEWS

By Ann McCartney
Director Of Activities & Social Care

Another week has passed, and next week it will be another month. While time goes flying on by, it makes one aware of how one should take time to count ones blessings.

Dominoes were played this week by Ola Mills, Jean Beardmore, Johnny Henderson and volunteer Tina Holmsley.

Ceramics class was held, this week only, on Monday afternoon. Residents participating included Johnny Henderson, Hilda Dysart, Billie Whatley, Ola Mills, Juana Hernandez and Moriamia Perez.

Tuesday after bingo, some of those certificates from El Chato's were cashed in by Billie Whatley, Minnie Karr, Juana Hernandez, Trinidad Alvarado, Inez Biggs, and Phil Schneemann. Volunteers who accompanied the group included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Karr and Inez Gutierrez. Many thanks again goes to El Chato's for this treat.

Bonnie Warth called bingo on Tuesday. Dorothy Doll was our only other outside volunteer. Jean Beardmore was winner of the El Chato dinner for two. Friday's bingo caller was Lelia Tambunga. Other volunteers included Elodia Zapata, Amalia Lumbreras, Dorothy, Sophie Tijerina, and Mattie Cooper who also popped our popcorn for us. Resident winners included Rebekah West, winner of a gift certificate from Westerman Drug, and Moriamia Perez, second place winner.

Wednesday morning Father Richard Altenbaugh conducted an Ash Wednesday service in the dayroom. Residents participating included Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramoz, Mauricio Hernandez, Moriamia Perez and Trinidad Alvarado.

Reading was also held on Wednesday. Billie Whatley and Ola Mills were the resident participants.

Wednesday afternoon Sara Hig-night came and gave a concert on the organ.

Wednesday night the Baptist G.A.'s visited our residents. Their leader, Judy Adams, is directing these girls in the worthwhile project of visiting the elderly. Girls participating included Tammy Mayfield, Candace Williams, Melissa Watson, Danette Robinson, Kim McBrier, and Mary Turnley.

Thanks this week goes to our own Dena Ramos for donating some Valentine table clothes, napkins, and decorations, to Alice Ross for donating bird feed, and to Betty Huffman for bringing two large dishes of cookies.

Five adult members of the Faith Lutheran church came on Thursday afternoon for Bible study. Eleven members of the Church of Christ came on Sunday afternoon for worship services. We thank both of these for their religious services of scriptures and songs.

The beauty shop was mamed this week by Vivian Hughes, Betty Bulard, and newcomer Dee McDonnell. Welcome aboard, Dee.

Friday afternoon Dorothy Doll and Sara Hignight helped our residents start a new project. They did the first steps toward making some new pillows for the living room.

Volunteers, keep coming!

Representative of Family Shelter to visit Ozona Mar. 14

The County Liaison from the Family Shelter will be in Ozona March 14, at the Courthouse from 10 to 3. No appointment is necessary, and all services are free and confidential. For more information, call 392-3892, or 655-5774, collect.

It is very important for a battered woman to realize that she is not to blame for domestic violence. There are conflicts and disagreements in every relationship. When we live with someone else there are always ups and downs. No one is perfect. We have bad moods, we argue, we nag, we make mistakes, we get on each other's nerves and annoy each other.

When you do things like this he could ignore it, he could leave, or he could talk to you about it. But he hits. That's his choice, his responsibility. You do not "deserve" to be battered, you are not to blame. And you are not alone—help is available.

Year-old heifers facing vaccination deadline

Many heifers born late last winter or early spring will be a year old soon and will be facing the deadline for brucellosis vaccination.

A new regulation on brucellosis vaccinations was adopted by the Texas Animal Health Commission last November, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The key part of the regulation focuses on the vaccination of heifers before they reach one year of age.

With heifers approaching this target date, producers must decide how such animals will be handled, says the agent. Their decision must be based on the provisions of the brucellosis vaccination regulation, which applies to 113 eastern, coastal and northern counties.

Heifer calves born after Jan. 1, 1984, which are between 4 and 12 months of age and acquired and used for breeding, grazing, dairying or confinement in a dry lot not under quarantine must be officially vaccinated according to the amended regulation.

Benefit bake sale held for Marshall child

Girl Scout Troop #91 held a benefit bake sale for little Michelle Marshall over the weekend. The girls reported good success with the sale.

Members of the troop are Amy and Kristie Gonzales, Melanie Tomlinson, Penny Ramirez, Tracy Ybarra, Whitney Vannoy, Bernice Fierro, Martha Mayfield, Belia Vasquez, Michelle Gonzales, Robbie Rodriguez, Bonnie Martin, Michelle Valero, Carmen Borrego and Dora Trujillo.

Leaders are Stella Ramirez, Lizzie Gonzales, Lizzie Ybarra, and Elma Ybarra. The troop sincerely thanks all those who supported the benefit.

Fifty-six enrolled in G.E.D. class

Adult enrollment in Ozona Public School's G.E.D. (Graduate Equivalency Diploma) class continues to zoom upward and, according to Kathy Grendahl, project director, response to the local program has been just simply tremendous. "These adults are interested, responsive, and enthusiastic about continuing their education, and I would like to publicly commend them for the job that they are doing!" she remarked.

The class began Thursday, January 31, with an enrollment of 32 Ozona residents and has steadily increased to a present enrollment figure of 56 participants. The program has an 87% average attendance rate, and another instructor, Mr. Don Stark, has been hired to assist Mrs. Grendahl.

The G.E.D. class meets each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. in the Ozona Junior High Cafeteria.

[Bud and Margaret Coates]

"Shari Schreffler, a junior at Wills Point High School has been named to the Class AAA all-state volleyball team as a setter.

Schreffler, a District 10AAA first team elite selection, led Wills Point with 524 of the Tigers' 1,127 total sets. She also added 130 points and served on 109 points.

Schreffler also led the Tiger volleyball squad in blocks with 62, almost half of the team's total of 128.

Schreffler was also selected as District 10AAA's "Most Valuable Setter," helped lead the Tigers to a district crown. Her team won the crown with a 6-0 league record, and were eliminated in the bidistrict playoffs by Wylie."

Prevention is best cure.....

The majority of cancers could be prevented if only each person cared enough to practice healthier habits. Scientists say as many as 80 percent of all cancers are the result of lifestyle factors people can control but too often ignore.

Smoking, improper diets, excessive sunlight, some occupational hazards and assorted environmental agents all are implicated in many of the 100-plus malignant diseases called cancer. Combinations of these bad habits over long periods boost an individual's chances for cancer manifold.

Studies show smoking now causes more than 30 percent of all cancer deaths and costs nearly $30 billion in medical care in the United States alone.

"What a waste, particularly since we know how to prevent these and could do so for a fraction of what's being spent on treating them," laments Dr. David T. Carr, chief of pulmonary diseases at The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston.

Dr. Carr contends the epidemic of lung cancer "is the worst medical disaster we face today." Approximately 140,000 new cases are expected this year, making it the most prevalent type affecting men and women.

Only about 10 percent of lung cancer patients live for five years or longer after diagnosis, although several recent reports demonstrate improved survival for one particular type. Unfortunately, the bleak outlook for most lung cancer patients drags down the overall cure rate for all malignancies, Dr. Carr says.

Cigarette smoking and use of other tobacco products also contribute to cancers of the mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, pancreas and bladder. Smokers have higher rates of heart attacks, strokes and chronic lung ailments.

"Many people erroneously think it won't do any good for them to quit if they've been smoking for a long time. The fact is, regardless of how long someone has smoked, the risks for serious medical problems begin to decrease almost immediately after cessation," Dr. Carr says.

Getting smokers to stop is only part of the prevention story. The other half involves convincing young people not to ever start this deadly habit.

Adolescents and teens may not appreciate the dangers of developing cancer in later life, but they can understand that smoking causes a type of drug addiction, bad breath and yellow stains on hands and teeth. Research shows most smokers are

Cancer: The Good News

"hooked" after just three or four packs of cigarettes. In addition to the addictive factors, the nicotine is a powerful, poisonous stimulant which immediately affects the brain and central nervous system, then later slows digestion and reduces blood circulation.

The combination of smoking and heavy alcohol use or exposure to some occupational risks can increase greatly the chances of cancer.

The role of dietary factors has taken on increasing importance in recent years to the point where many medical specialists say 35 percent or more of all cancers appear to be related to what we eat.

"High-fat diets are associated with much greater risks for colon and breast cancers, in particular, while consuming more fiber-containing foods along with those rich in vitamins A and C appear to protect against certain cancers," explains Dr. Guy R. Newell, chairman of the Department of Cancer Prevention at M.D. Anderson.

The incidence of colon and rectal cancers is second only to lung cancers among all Americans. Breast cancer will affect almost one out of 10 women in the United States. Other risk factors associated with these common types include a family history of colorectal and breast cancers.

The National Academy of Sciences' National Research Council acknowledged the increasing importance of diet and cancer when it made these recommendations:

Reduce consumption of total fats to 30 percent or less of daily dietary intake by eating fewer fatty meats, whole-milk dairy products and butter.
Increase high-fiber foods like whole-grain cereals, bran products, sun-flower seeds and brown rice.

Eat plenty of vegetables and fruits with high vitamin A and C contents, such as dark green and deep yellow vegetables along with those in the cabbage family and citrus fruits like oranges and grapefruits.

Avoid virtually all salt-cured, smoked and salt-pickled foods like bacon, sausages, smoked fish and ham.

Practice moderation when drinking alcoholic beverages, especially if you smoke.

Studies are in progress in several medical centers to see if giving extra doses of some synthetic vitamins may boost protection against certain cancers. But Dr. Newell warns against anyone taking huge doses of vitamins because excessive vitamin A can cause liver damage and too much vitamin C may cause serious bone marrow changes.

Texans and others living in warm climates need to take special precautions against too much sun, including wearing protective clothing and hats during the hottest part of the day and using sunscreen or sun-blocking products while swimming or participating in other outdoor activities. The skin also should be protected from high winds and prolonged exposure to frost and snow. Individuals with fair complexions are most vulnerable to skin cancers.

Common sense habits help make skin cancer the easiest cancer to prevent. The vast majority of skin cancers are highly curable. One exception is malignant melanoma, a type of skin cancer that usually starts from a mole-like growth and can spread quickly. That's why any obvious change in warts or moles ought to be checked promptly to improve the chances for successful treatments.

People also should take steps to minimize contact with pesticides, chemicals in the workplace and unnecessary X-rays.

"Along with preaching the need for prevention, we must do better at educating everyone to listen and watch his or her own body. Heightened awareness that any abnormality—lumps, bumps, bleeding, a change in some function, and certainly unexplained pains—should be investigated as soon as possible.

"Unfortunately, many people still fear finding out they have cancer, yet most of these abnormal symptoms do not mean a malignancy. Getting the truth of what those signs indicate as quickly as possible is the best way to offer curative therapies," Dr. Newell emphasizes.

Timely tips on how to quit smoking and other prevention actions can be obtained by calling the Texas Cancer Information Service toll-free at 1-800-4-CANCER.
