Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

Sunday is set aside for Mother's Day, and I can't think of a more appropriate observance. You never really appreciate your mother until you become one, it is often said. I don't know where that leaves the men and boys, but being a mother myself I can attest to the truth of that axiom.

There are only two things in your life you can kick around and they will stand by you and love you, and that's your mother and your dog.

Mothers are available on a 24-hour basis. When their children are small, they sleep with one eye open. The day-to-day drudgery of raising children is a pleasure to mothers, because they fondly look upon it as a labor of love. When their children grow up and leave home, they are plunged into a period of mourning which sometimes lasts for months.

Mothers are their children's willing slaves from the time of birth until about 18 years. They go through the terrible twos and the terrible teens. They dispense wisdom to their teenagers, hoping as it goes through one ear and out the other that some of it might sink in.

Mothers are easily manipulated. Especially by boys from age 5 and thereafter. Mothers tend to love their sons-in-law, their daughters-in-law, and just adore their grandchildren. However, hereafter to every mother's heart is her own off-spring and nine times out of ten she takes his or her side when the chips are down.

Mothers think their children are incapable of doing some of the things their friends' children do, and must be confronted with hard evidence before they are convinced otherwise, like seeing the deed done with their own eyes.

Mothers are the epitome of loyalty. When everyone else is down on you, your mother is always standing by. Your happiness is her happiness and I don't suppose mothers ever get over worrying about their children. Worry is very much a part of being a mother. When children are young, the mother worries about their health and well-being, and when they grow up and grow old even, the mother is still worrying about the same thing, if she is still around.

Mothers tend to look back on their child-rearing years as the most wonderful time in their lives. They forget every unpleasant that ever happened. The measles and mumps and the times their kids were simply horrible are all forgotten, and they think fondly of the perfect children they reared and are ever so proud of the finished product.

Do something nice for your mother Sunday. She deserves it. If you can do no more than tell her you love her, she will be delighted.

All the volunteers who assisted in the evacuation of flood victims here two weekends ago were heroes. Saving someone's life is a heroic deed. There were so many who did so much we are just not able to mention them all.

However, it was brought to my attention last week that a local physician actually waded out into flood swollen Johnson Draw in an attempt to rescue Wayne Wahl.

Dr. Don Carlisle was at the draw on First Street where officers were searching when he decided to get out into the water where he might find the deputy injured and needing help. Attempts to persuade him otherwise failed, and Deputy Gene Cooper went along with him.

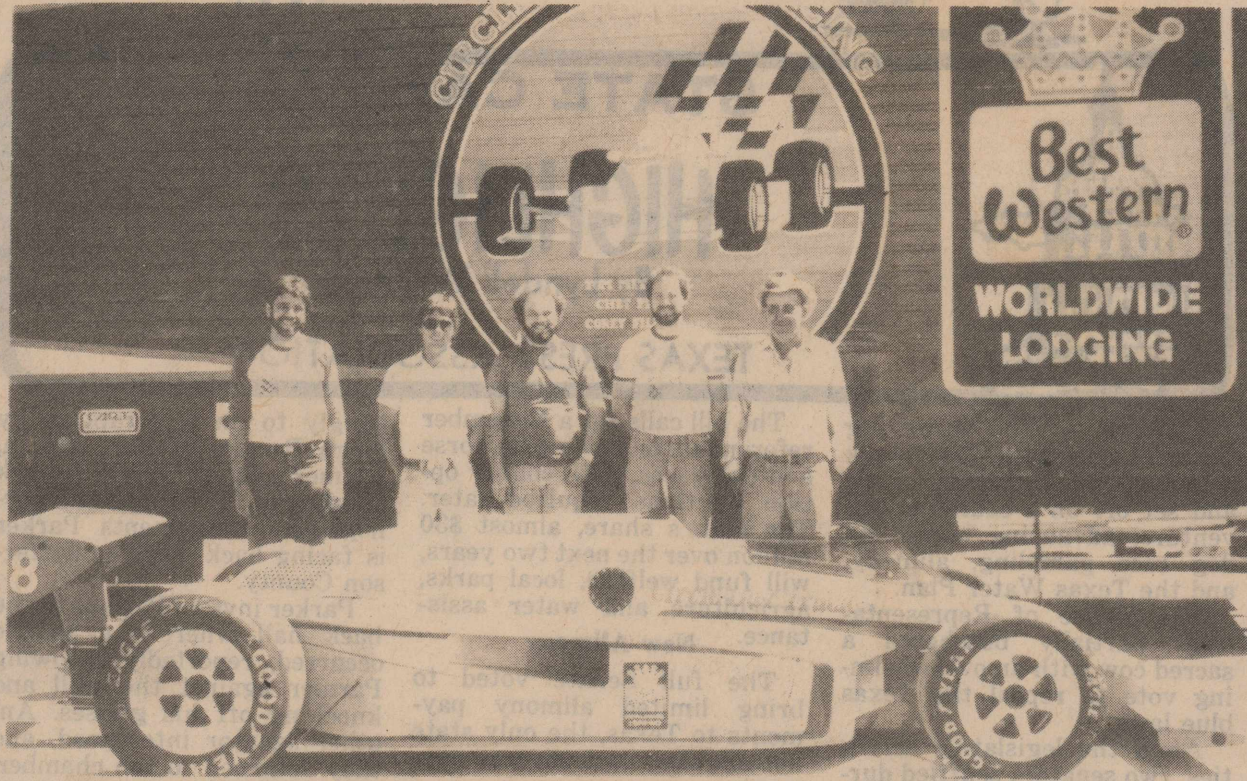

When they found the motorist clinging to a tree, they thought their search had ended. Although they failed to find Wahl alive, the flood victim owes his life directly to Dr. Carlisle. He administered first aid and got the man to the hospital, where he was in shock and his body temperature was dangerously low.

I understand the doctor earned a Silver Star in Korea for a similar act of heroism.

Cheerleaders chosen

Cheerleaders for the next school year were elected by vote of the student body at Ozona High School Friday.

Vicki Reagor was elected head cheerleader. Others are Bonnie Cameron, Zelda Munoz, Julie Reagor, Alma Gutierrez and Melissa Vallejo. Donna Sanchez and Sharon McCrohan were elected first and second alternates.

The Circle Bar Auto Racing crew is in Indianapolis preparing for the trials of the Indianapolis 500. This will be the third run for the group in the Memorial Day classic. Word was received here this week the new #38 is performing well on the track. Admiring the vehicle before taking off last week are driver Chet Phillip, Jeffrey Stuart, Corey Phillip, David Robinett and owner Tom Mitchell.

Off to the races

All Sports Banquet to feature speaker Stone

The Ozona Lions "All Sports Banquet" will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. The banquet will feature Ray Stone, speaking on the Dallas Cowboys.

Ray is now in his ninth year of producing Cowboys Football Report, a syndicated daily radio program airing in seven states, on more than 200 radio stations. Ray recently was the master of ceremonies for the Tom Landry dedication, an event that drew more than 3,000 to the McAllen Civic Center in the lower Rio Grande Valley. In 1969, Ray Stone & Associates was organized, moving the center stage of radio/television sports coverage. He will deliver a fast moving 45 minute presentation all about the Dallas Cowboys, the organization, the players and coaches, covering all the oddities and humorous stories that will keep you enjoying every minute of it.

All high school athletes who participated in all sports during the 1984-1985 school year will be recognized. A Fighting Heart Award will be given in every sport chosen by his or her teammates for the outstanding contribution made in that particular sport. His or her name will be added to a Fighting Heart Plaque in that sport with other names from the previous years who already have received the award.

Ray Stone will draw a winning ticket for the Dallas Cowboy football with signatures of present and past great players. The football is encased in a glass dome with a walnut base which has been on display at the Crockett County National Bank and the Ozona National Bank for 3 weeks. Tickets to be purchased for the drawing will continue to be sold for $1.00 each through this week and at the door prior to the "All Sports Banquet." This is a very nice conversation piece that anyone can proudly display in the home.

There are still a limited number of tickets for sale to the All Sports Banquet for $7.50 each at L&B Motors, High School principal's office and from Head Football Coach Jim Green. There will be no tickets sold at

WTU summer rates go into effect now

The price of electricity to residential and commercial customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will increase slightly this month as the company's summer rates go into effect.

The summer-winter rate differential for the two classes of customers was proposed by the Public Utility Commission of Texas staff during negotiations in WTU's rate case last fall.

Beginning with May billings, residential and commercial customers will be charged 3/4-cent more per kilowatt-hour. Residential base rates rise from 3.22 cents to 3.97 cents per KWh, while commercial base rates rise from 3.43 cents to 4.18 cents per KWh.

Coincidentally, there will be a fuel factor adjustment raising the cost of fuel from 3.14 cents per KWh to 3.5949 cents. This means that residential rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.36 cents per KWh to 7.5649 cents, and commercial rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.5 cents to 7.77 cents per KWh.

The new base rates and fuel cost factor will be effective for bills rendered during the month of May. The summer rates continue through October.

The seasonal rate differential has been used by many companies for many years. The main reason is that the cost of service is higher during the peak usage season, or summer months. Also, higher rates serve as an incentive for customers to conserve and trim the peak demand.

All-night party to honor senior class

The Youth Center Board and Teen Council will honor the 1985 Senior Class with an all night party following graduation exercises May 24. All high school students who are members of the youth center are welcome. High school students that are not members may purchase a two dollar membership at the door. Members having out-of-town high school guests here for graduation may bring their guests to the center.

Plans are under way for several types of activities including a dance, live broadcast and dance contest by KRCT, movies, games, ping pong and pool tournaments, and drawings for door prizes. Snacks and a Coke machine will be available during the party. Board members will conclude the party with a breakfast for the students.

Any individuals or merchants who are interested in donating food or door prizes, please contact Garland or Joyce Young.

These activities are being sponsored for the youth by the Civic Center Board in order to provide an after graduation celebration as an alternative to drug and/or alcohol parties. Your support with donations and encouragement for teenage participation will be appreciated.

THINGS YOU MAY SEE BY THE YEAR 2000...

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The surprising Texas Legislature last week departed its humdrum style and set off on a course of adventure, advancing horse and dog race gambling, alimony, and the Texas Water Plan.

The House of Representatives partially butchered a sacred cow with an overwhelming vote to repeal the Texas blue laws.

Amid the legislative activities, two senators scuffled during a filibuster, a House member went on trial for influence peddling, and rumors circulated that former Democratic congressman Kent Hance would jump political parties to run against Gov. Mark White.

All this from a Legislature some have called boring.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee approved a $6 increase in the Texas driver's license fee and to tax long distance phone calls within Texas, a measure that would bring more than $42 million to state coffers depleted by the dwindling price of domestic oil.

Parimutuel Gambling

The parimutuel gambling issue, pronounced dead a few weeks ago by the House leadership, was revived by a Senate committee which also approved greyhound racing for Texas.

The Senate version returns the compromises forged in '83 and omitted this session, leading to a stunning defeat in the House earlier this spring.

Letters to the Editor

April 29, 1985

Dear Kitty:

Due to a "break-down in communication," the meeting scheduled for last Thursday night on the Oil and Gas Industry had to be postponed. On behalf of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, I apologize for any inconvenience caused by our misunderstanding of what we thought was a "firm commitment" from the Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

In visiting with Ed Thompson, Executive Director of the PBPA, he is still very interested in establishing a firm date to come to Ozona and bring us an update on what's going on in the "oilpatch". We are presently considering a date in early June. Once this has been "firmed up", we will try once again to host this very important meeting.

Again, we apologize for any inconvenience that may have occurred due to the sudden cancellation of last Thursday's meeting. As always, the Chamber of Commerce appreciates all the support it receives from the business community and from others throughout Ozona and Crockett County.

Sincerely,
Stan Lambert
President

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE

Proposals are being accepted by the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District for construction of a band practice building to be located at the Junior High School Campus. Deadline for proposals is Tuesday, May 21, 1985, at 6:30 p.m. Proposals will be received, and information may be requested at the Superintendent's Office. 11-2tc

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Sonora Independent School District is accepting bids for an underground water system for the athletic complex. Specifications are available at the administration office at 807 So. Concho in Sonora. Bids will be awarded in May. The Sonora ISD reserves the right to reject any and all bids. 10-2tc

The bill calls for a November referendum on betting on horse and dog races, with county option elections required later. The state's share, almost $30 million over the next two years, will fund welfare, local parks, agriculture and water assistance.

New Alimony

The full Senate voted to bring limited alimony payments to Texas, the only state not allowing such divorce payments.

The proposed law adds a new twist, alimony payments collected by men. Other provisions hold payments at $1500 a month and only in marriages which had lasted 10 years or more and where a hardship is proved.

Except in special cases, the court would presume that alimony could not be ordered for more than three years.

Blue Law Repeal

Finally, after years of trying, advocates of the Texas blue law repeal won a stunning victory in the House, a 102-40 decision to scrap the ban on selling certain merchandise on consecutive weekend days.

If the House version passes the Senate, the ban would continue only for car dealers.

Proponents argued that today's two-paycheck families needed Sunday shopping time as an alternative.

Filibuster, Scuffle

The Gulf shrimping industry won a Senate victory over bay shrimpers, despite a 20-hour filibuster by opponents that collapsed only just before dawn.

The bill tightening regulation of bay shrimpers will probably be known more for the tempers provoked by the filibuster around midnight.

When one of the filibustering senators, Carl Parker of Port Arthur, responded patronizingly to an interruption by Hugh Farmer of Fort Worth, Farmer reacted with a remark alluding to the cocaine and pornography indictments Parker is facing back home in Jefferson County.

Parker invited Farmer to the back hall where the scuffle occurred, reportedly throwing Farmer against the wall and knocking off his glasses. Another senator intervened, and they returned to the chamber, where Farmer apologized on the floor and to Parker personally.

Bribery Trial Set

The incident highlights the legal problems of the Port Arthur delegation, where both the state senator and representative face trial on unrelated charges.

Last week a jury was seated in the bribery trial of State Rep. Frank Collazo, who is accused of asking for a partnership in two area businesses in exchange for his promise to influence state boards.

The charge alleges Collazo in 1982 solicited partnerships in two businesses owned by former Beaumont legislator Chester Slay, in exchange for influencing the Texas Water Quality Board and the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Slay, in losing a water pollution lawsuit last year, said during that trial that Collazo had put pressure on the state boards to pursue the violations against Slay.

Texas Water Plan

The conference committee reported out its compromise bill on the Texas Water Plan, following assurances that Stacy Dam will be built in West Texas.

The added water from Stacy Dam is an incentive to West Texas legislators to approve coastal water protection.

Reports from Washington

When trade is not free or fair

Free trade is a two-way street. It requires trading partners who are committed to free and open trade with one another. This, unfortunately, is not the case in our trade relations with Japan.

From automobiles, to cameras, to rice, a wide assortment of Japanese products and commodities are sold here. However, Japanese markets are essentially closed to many of the goods we produce and, as a result of these stringently-enforced trade barriers, we are saddled with a burgeoning trade deficit with this major trading partner.

The Japanese portion of our nation's trade deficit has increased dramatically, from $10 billion in 1980 to over $37 billion more in goods and services in the United States than we sold in Japan. This year our trade deficit with Japan is projected to reach $42 billion.

Such an imbalance is wrong and, as far as I am concerned, swift changes are in order.

While our free market system is essentially open to foreign-made products, the Japanese have made it difficult if not impossible for businesses and producers to compete fairly on Japanese turf. As a result of Japanese efforts to protect domestic industries, American businesses are faced with innumerable bureaucratic roadblocks, including complicated and restrictive regulations as they try to do business in Japan. Certain items, including agricultural commodities, are subject to high tariff fees.

For example, the Japanese continue to restrict the import of high quality American beef. We did succeed, after long and arduous negotiations conducted last year, in gaining approval to gradually double our beef exports to Japan by 1988. The truth of the matter, however, is that American producers could export and market far more beef at a more reasonable price than the stringent quote imposed by the government of Japan allows.

This example represents just the tip of the iceberg. My frustration with Japanese protectionism reached a breaking point this year amid reports of less than adequate progress in negotiations to improve our access to Japanese telecommunications markets, coupled with the announcement by Japan that it would "limit" its annual auto shipments to 2.3 million units — an actual increase over levels in effect under the voluntary quota system of previous years.

The continued reluctance by Japan to significantly lower trade barriers and the acceleration of our merchandising trade deficit have led me to join with my equally frustrated colleagues in Congress urging the President to restrict Japanese imports unless they open their markets to us.

I have always supported free trade because I realize if we resort to protectionist measures, other countries would retaliate in kind. Furthermore, an equitable and reciprocal free trade system benefits all nations. However, it is vital that the fair and reciprocal part of the trade equation be enforced.

The Japanese must understand that we can no longer tolerate stonewalling or token efforts. Their trade barriers must come down.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

I'm sure all of you could hardly believe the terrible devastated state of our beautiful little city after the recent storm. It will take years perhaps to remove and replace many of your trees and shrubs, but with continued effort you will be surprised how quickly they may come back.

Usually May brings warmer weather in our area, so take advantage of the cool days to complete spring planting of summer annuals, bulbs and vegetables. After setting out plants, it is best to shade them for a few days while they become established. Especially they need this cover if very windy or hot. Uncover at night.

Watch for black spot and powdery mildew. These diseases are encouraged by wet foliage. When you water, be careful that the leaves of shrubs and plants dry before night, if water

Gift coffee honors Miss Couch Saturday

Miss Michelle Couch was honored with a gift coffee Saturday in the home of Mrs. Bill Mason. Mr. Mason furnished piano music during the coffee hours.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Brock Jones Jr., Mrs. Joe Bean, Mrs. George Bunger, Mrs. Tom Cameron, Mrs. Gene Lilly, Mrs. Bob Childress, Mrs. Buster Deaton, Mrs. Scott Harmon, Mrs. Eddie Hale, Mrs. Earl Acton, Mrs. John Hunnicutt, Mrs. Jess Marley, Miss Jana Lilly, Mrs. Frank McMullan Jr., Mrs. John Parks, Mrs. Billy Reagor, Mrs. Frank Reavis, Mrs. Lane Scott, Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton, Mrs. Wayne E. West, Mrs. Bill T. Williams, Mrs. Bobbie Acton, Mrs. Gary Buck Mitchell and Mrs. James Childress.

Spend some time now in your rose garden for big dividends later in the year and in following years. Roses, being heavy feeders, require regular application of balanced fertilizer throughout their growing season. One-fourth cup of 8-8-8 per rose bush should be sufficient. Be sure the soil is moist at the time. Spread the fertilizer over the surface, work into the top inch of soil and water thoroughly. Repeat every six to eight weeks until late summer. Use a soaker or other method to keep water off the leaves. Soak the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. A good mulch will protect the roots from extreme heat. Remove all spent flowers.

Divide and reset iris when blooming is over and before the weather gets so hot. You may want to wait until fall to reset. Do not cut back foliage unless resetting.

If you are interested in planting dahlias, May is the month to divide and plant the tubers in rich, loamy soil. Select a site that gets at least six hours of full sunlight each day and be sure the area is well drained. Caladiums can provide a colorful show for the summer garden. They can be planted along annual beds or along walks, terraces, and borders. They are also very striking because of the unusual nature of the foliage. Be sure they are kept moist.

Take a chance

There is a story about two men who took a chance—and one who didn't! Three trusted servants were left in charge of a small fortune. One began with five talents and earned five more. The second began with two talents and earned two more. But the third was afraid to take a chance. He took the single talent left in his care and buried it. All he earned was the wrath of his master.

The progress of our churches in nurturing the spiritual life of the community depends on the earnest, tireless efforts of people who put their talents to work. Worship is but one ingredient of religion—willingness is another.

Cultivate that spiritual gift the Bible calls zeal. When you're asked or challenged to do something for God, for your church, for your neighbors... take a chance. Bring your talents to the task!

Sign vandalism is dangerous

This is the beginning of a story about one of Texas' most costly and potentially dangerous problems, highway sign vandalism.

More than $695,000 was spent last year replacing and repairing vandalized signs across the state, and the potential for severe and often tragic accidents increases greatly as a result of a defaced or damaged sign.

"Thousands of signs are being replaced because of vandalism long before their normal life expectancy is reached," according to Milton M. Dietert, chief engineer of the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation's Safety and Maintenance Operations Division.

"Sign vandalism has been a major problem, not only because of the costs of replacing these signs but, more important, because a defaced or missing sign creates a very real traffic hazard," he said.

"In addition to defaced, mutilated or stolen signs, highway safety illumination is also a favorite target of vandals. The department spent more than $129,000 last year to replace vandalized lighting," Dietert said.

The 17 county area of District 7, headquartered in San Angelo, has its share of sign vandalism, too. Some $26,000 was spent last fiscal year just to replace signs stolen or damaged.

Historical Commission gives awards

Mrs. P.L. Childress and Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Harrell attended the annual meeting of the Texas Historical Commission held in Fort Worth May 2-4.

The Crockett County Museum received the award for the best exhibit in museums with budgets under $25,000. This was for the veteran's exhibit in our museum which opened last Memorial Day and was up until December. The gold-lettered certificate was presented to Mrs. Childress at the annual banquet.

Crockett County also received a "Certificate of Merit for Outstanding Accomplishments in the Field of Historical Preservation." This was given for the restoration of the Emerald House and was presented to Mrs. Harrell.

Only a small percentage of the 254 counties in Texas receive such recognition each year from the Texas Historical Commission.

Dr. Curtis Tunnell, who has visited Ozona many times in the past, and helped with several historical projects, is Director of the Texas Historical Commission.

Rain dance draws crowd of 1,000

A crowd of around 1,000 persons from all over the area gathered at Crockett Heights Saturday night for Ozona's first Rain Dance. The tennis courts formed the dance floor and decorations of clouds and raindrops was the theme. Wool sacks were used on tables.

A delightful night with a cool breeze saw couples dancing to an excellent western band imported from Nashville, Bobby Jenkins and his band.

The seventy-two couples and individuals who hosted the affair plan to make it an annual event.

District Engineer D.R. Watson noted that less than ten percent of the cost to replace damaged signs can be attributed to accidents, but some 70 percent are the result of thefts, defacement or other vandalism. The remaining 20 percent are worn out in service.

Sign vandalism occurs year 'round, but the problem usually reaches its peak during the summer months, hunting season and election time, when political posters and stickers are often plastered on signs' faces or posts.

Monetary costs, which are borne by Texas taxpayers, are only one side of the story. There is another, more serious, side that needs to be told.

Not too long ago in East Texas, a multiple fatality occurred when two cars met at a highway intersection. One of the cars didn't stop for a stop sign--because the sign had been stolen only a short time before. The missing signs cost several human lives.

Texas law makes sign vandalism a crime, and persons apprehended can be fined up to $1,000 or imprisoned for up to two years, or both. But thieves and vandals operate clandestinely and are difficult to catch.

"There is another side to the story," said District Engineer D.R. Watson. "Every time a sign or light is stolen or damaged, it means the cost of replacement will have to be taken from money that would otherwise be used for highway repair. Obviously, for safety reasons replacement of such signs and devices must take priority."

"The vandal is first cousin to the litterbug," he noted, "but while the litterbug may be merely careless and irresponsible, the vandal is wantonly destructive." The message is clear: theft and damage to highway signs and lights is costly in terms of lives and dollars. Leave them alone--they are there to help protect all of us.

Older Texans month is designated

Governor Mark White has recognized the social, intellectual and economic contributions of Texans over 60 years of age by designating May as Older Texans Month.

White's official proclamation reads in part, "Our state's over two millions older Texans...demonstrate the values all Texans hold dear. Independence, pride, self-reliance, compassion, hard work and loving guidance are but a few of the attributes we have grown to expect from this important segment of our population."

"It is fitting and proper that we call attention to the 20th anniversary of the Texas Department on Aging by urging all older Texans to remain as active and independent as possible and to take note of the services available through the Older Americans Act."

White also proclaimed the week of May 12-18 as Senior Center Week in recognition of the nutrition, transportation, health, information, and recreational services offered at more than 400 senior activity centers in Texas. The Department on Aging is a major funding entity for most of these centers.

Cold winter has hurt Arizona Ash

Arizona ash trees are slow to leaf out and put forth growth this spring. These problems are evident in all parts of west Texas that received winter temperatures below -5° F. The winter hardness of this tree has become suspect. Arizona ash were also slow to begin growth after the record snowfalls of November 1980. That winter many trees split and splintered under the weight of the wet snow. Three out of the last five winters have severely damaged mature specimens of Arizona ash. This is unfortunate because the tree has been planted almost as widely as the fruitless mulberry. The fruitless mulberry, of course, did not suffer cold damage.

Most mature ash trees partially recovered from the 1980 snow during the summer of 1981. The summer droughts of 1982 and 1983 really didn't help their recovery, but a large number of ash survived and prospered in spite of the situation with proper irrigation. The extended cold period beginning with Christmas Eve of 1983 weakened ash trees. Not many people detected it, but the ash foliage last summer just wasn't as luxuriant and full as it should have been. The 10°F last winter was the final straw for many trees. It killed large amounts of cambial tissue, that is the growth tissue, of limbs above ground and some roots below ground. As is the case with many tree problems, the events and circumstances responsible for the problem have been occurring over a period of time.

It would be a serious mistake to severely prune the trees now. It would be advantageous to wait and see just how much of the tree is alive and eventually leaf out. In the meantime patience will pay off. This is not to say that the trees should be neglected. They should be fertilized now. Use one pound of 21-0-0 (ammonium sulfate) per inch trunk diameter of the tree. Scatter the fertilizer at the dripline of the tree and water it in thoroughly. Exceeding this recommended rate, making the fertilizer application too near the trunk or failure to supply sufficient quantities of water at the dripline for deep irrigation during this summer will compound the already severe problems of the tree.

During the months of July and August all of the dead wood should be removed from the trees. Stressed trees with dead wood in them are prime targets for borers, notably the red-headed ash borer. Dr. Charles Allen, Extension Entomologist, recommends spraying the trunks and scaffold limbs of Arizona ash if adult long-horned beetles are observed in June and July. Dursban, Lindane and Borezol are effective controls. Hose end sprayers do a good job of applying these chemicals.

It is not possible at this time to know exactly how much of individual trees will be alive during the next few months. We may lose significant portions of trees and even entire mature trees.

In the event that replanting is necessary, choose your next shade tree with care. Arizona ash are very large trees at maturity and may not be the best choice for all the landscape situations they have previously been used for. Redbud, showy golden rain tree, Chinese pistache, lace bark elm, cedar elm, Texas red oak, live oak, honey locust, desert willow, soapberry and pecan are alternatives. Shade tree selection should be based on the mature height and spread of the tree, the site the tree is to occupy, the appearance and structural habitat of the tree and the amount of litter produced by the tree.

Every shade tree, including Arizona ash and the alternatives listed above, has some undesirable characteristics. It becomes a matter of personal choice as to which tree best fits the homeowner's selection of priorities.

Glaucoma hides well because it works silently. For the most part, it provides no cosmetic signs of distress. But once discovered, it must be watched carefully and controlled with drugs or by surgery.

Glaucoma is silent pressure that builds up within the eye, threatening that complex mechanism's ability to function. The pressure that builds up is from an excess of aqueous humor—a liquid that circulates in the eye, providing nourishment to the tissues. For several reasons, that circulation system may become impaired, and the fluid has nowhere to go or drains too slowly. The increased pressure within the eye also puts a crimp on the blood supply to the optic nerve, which is the nerve of vision. Without the necessary supply of blood, the optic nerve becomes damaged, resulting in a loss in the field of vision for the victim. If the damage continues, the optic nerve, which sends impulses to the brain, dies and blindness results.

Glaucoma is one of the leading causes of blindness in this country. It need not be. The disease can be contained if diagnosed and treated soon enough. Early detection sometimes means looking back on the family genes (for some glaucoma is hereditary), observing the 40th birthday (glaucoma occurs most frequently—but not only—in individuals over that age), and of course having the eyes tested for aqueous humor pressure. Other signs of glaucoma may be loss of peripheral, or side, vision and delayed ability to adjust to semi-darkness or low light levels.

The most common form of the disease is called open angle or chronic simple glaucoma. Usually inherited, it results from the failure of the eye to drain the aqueous humor fast enough. It most often affects both eyes, and generally can be controlled by drugs.

Ozona schools first G.E.D. class ends

Thursday, January 31-Thursday, May 2. Between these two dates is a success story of 64 Ozona residents who attended Ozona Public Schools' first G.E.D. (Graduate Equivalency Diploma) class.

January 31, 32 Ozona adults registered for the class, and after that, interest and enrollment took off like a skyrocket. In fact the attendance grew so rapidly that Ms. Kathy Grendahl, program director, could not handle all of the individual requests for assistance, and Don Stark was hired to assist her in the job.

The class held its last meeting last Thursday, and now the members are busy preparing to take tests in writing, social studies, science, reading, and/or mathematics. The tests will be given May 27-30 by Jim Williams, high school counselor, and the cost of each test will be $4.00 per subject.

Individuals interested in taking any of these tests should contact Williams by Friday, May 24. Another graduate equivalency diploma class will be organized this fall.

Bands to hold annual Spring concert Mon.

The Ozona Junior High 6th and 7th grade beginning band will open the show. They will be followed by the 8th grade band and the Ozona High School Lion Band.

The program will feature a wide variety of music including light classics, pop, and rock.

O.H.S. girl's golf team entered in regional meet

The Ozona girl's golf team entered the State Regional Tournament at Mission Country Club in Odessa on April 29 and 30. Sixteen teams were entered from the U.I.L. Region I. The region covers a large area of Texas. There were schools from as far north as Dalhart, east to Decatur and south to Lampasas. The Ozona Varsity finished in the middle of the pack, 8th out of the 16 teams. The Junior Varsity finished in the 16th spot, however considering they were the only J.V. team in the meet and a team made up of freshmen, they did a good job.

The varsity team had a rough first day with a 458 total but came back and played much better the second day with a team total of 432 for an 890 score. The girls from Alpine won the meet with 782 team total. Slaton was second with 828. These two will advance to Austin next week for the state meet.

The medalist for the meet was Marina Jackson of Kermit with a two-day total of 184. Ozona had one girl in the top ten medalists, sophomore Jennifer Probst. She played very consistent golf for the two days, 99-98 (197) to finish in sixth place out of 81 contestants at the tournament. Junior Kim Williams finished in the 18th spot with 113-106 (219). Senior Kim Bishop had a good second day to finish 24th with 121-104 (225). The other varsity girls were Junior Melody Stark 126-127 (253) and Senior Susan Scott 123-126 (249).

The J.V. scores were Randi Thompson 265, Tanna Bixby 284, Trebie West 242, Loretta Ledbetter 238, and Tonya Carter 258. Of the ten girls to qualify there will be 8 of them back for next year so Ozona should be back in the thick of things next spring.

The girls had a good spring with two tournament wins, Ozona and Junction, and two fourth place finishes at Ft. Stockton and Iraan. Both Kim Williams and Jennifer Probst have battled, not only each other, but have been in the running for medalist titles at most of the meets, each having won a first and a second during the year. The golfing program would like to say goodbye and good luck to the teams two seniors, Kim Bishop and Susan Scott.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Ann McCartney
Director of Activities & Social Care

Our Monday started quite differently this week as Ann, our leader, is sunning and funning on her cruise vacation to the Caribbean. We all miss her but know she is enjoying a well deserved vacation.

We thank Clara Byrd for her happy piano music Monday afternoon and Tuesday and Tuesday to Girl Scout Troop 172 who showed us their tumbling exercises. Thanks to Ami Sewell, Amy Easterwood, Patricia Hartnett, Marandy Keith, Terrie Willman, Patricia Maldonado, Haley Carson and Sabrina Easterwood. Nikki Dunn is their leader. Wednesday morning we had ceramics with the help of Marie Pierson. That afternoon we enjoyed a book review given by Ken Harrison, our Methodist pastor. Nina Mayfield, Hilda Dy-sart, Inez Biggs, Pearl Morris, Ola Mills, Phil Schneemann and Dorothy Doll were among those attending.

Dorothy also read the Ozona Stockman to the group. Ninfa Cervantez played the piano again for a delightful afternoon.

Thursday was our regular beauty shop day and Spanish Hour of Praise with Maria Vitela and Bible Study with Charles Huffman. We thank all these people for their help and interest. Marilyn Chalmers also played piano music for us.

Friday was Bingo day and our winners for the week-Tuesday morning and Friday-were Rebecah West, Moriana Perez and Bertha Miller. Our helpers were much needed and appreciated. Friday afternoon we had sunshine hour on the porch with refreshments served by Dorothy Doll, Glenda Henderson and Carrol Hutchings.

Saturday we lost one of our residents with the death of Billie Whately. We will all miss her greatly. Sunday afternoon church services were held by Ken Harrison of the United Methodist Church.

To all the people who have helped during Ann's vacation our many thanks.
