We are having our heat wave a little early this year. The high for the day Monday read 102 on the Ozona National Bank sign and we can attest to its accuracy. Tuesday it hit before 2 p.m. We expect it in July and August, but in May?

Having a Monday holiday has put us in the position of putting out a daily, for which we neither have the staff nor the inclination, so I will apologize in advance for this week's paper.

We made a mistake last week in reporting the county offices would be closed Monday. They are taking Friday for Memorial Day. County offices and the Ozona Stockman were the only businesses open in downtown Ozona Monday. It was so quiet someone could have shot a cannon down Ave E. and created no damage whatever.

We did our utmost to gather the news, but it was a lost cause and we are having the Monday holiday blues all week.

Proceeds from the Memorial Day activities at the Country Club were donated to the Care Center Auxiliary toward the purchase of a van for the residents. We were not able to get a report on the amount taken, but the bar alone should put them near the top. Cost of the van is $20,000. Members of the auxiliary had a concession stand with all kinds of goodies. I haven't even found out who won the goat, donated by Bob and Jeanette Bailey. I hope to goodness it wasn't me. My barbecue grill is the victim of afternoon sun and if it stays this hot all summer, it will not be used until fall.

We have had lots of comment on our "Ozona eyesore" picture and it has been suggested we do this each week. I don't know if we have enough eyesore spots to do this all summer but we will try. If I don't find a permanent weekly yard person, my yard is going to wind up being the "eyesore of the week."

The chamber reports no results from the fireworks poll conducted last week. Maybe it was too near the official Memorial Day holiday to think about the Fourth of July. However, if you wish to make a donation toward the fireworks fund, go by the chamber office and make your wishes known. Be sure to take your checkbook along.

We've had several calls about the petition to support the return of Dr. Fred Taylor to practice in Ozona. As far as we know, Dr. Taylor did not meet with the hospital board as scheduled, but the board sent him an application to apply for a position on the staff. We have no further news on the subject.

Another question which has come to us recently concerns the Cemetery Association. Mrs. Jack Baggett has resigned as chairman of the association. When the county took over the cemetery several months ago, it effectively eliminated the duties of the association and for all practical purposes made it an "in name only" organization. If you want to complain, I would suggest you call your commissioner or the head of the Parks Department. If you want to have something done on your cemetery lot, I would suggest you do it yourself or hire it done. I think the county clerk acts as secretary of the association and she might be able to help you, but I really don't think we have an association as such.

I hope this column has been as informative this week as it has been dull. Maybe it could use a new writer.

Social Security Rep. sets June visit

John Willis, representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his June visit to Ozona. He will be at the County Courthouse on Wednesday, June 19, between 2:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

Longtime educator and coach retires

Charles and Jane Womack were honored during commencement exercises for junior high students Thursday. He retires after serving in the Ozona school system for 34 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Womack, center, are flanked by Jeffrey Sutton from the school board and Superintendent Garland Davis.

Local priest to observe 25th anniversary

Father Richard L. Altenbaugh, who has been pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish here since the fall of 1983, will mark the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood at the end of this month. Celebrations are planned in Ozona and in two of Father Altenbaugh's former parishes, Marianna and Pensacola, Florida.

Father Altenbaugh is a priest of the Diocese of Pensacola-Tallahassee and is on loan to the Diocese of San Angelo.

The Ozona celebration will take place May 31 with a Mass at 7 p.m. The Mass will be followed by a reception in the parish hall. A dinner for clergy and guests will be held prior to the Mass.

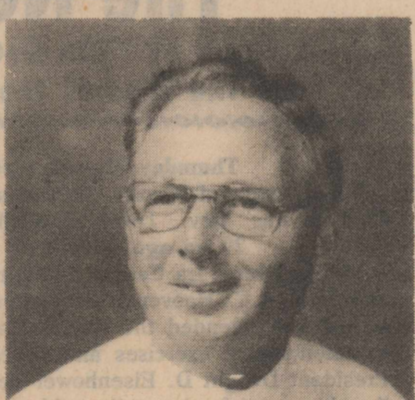

In Marianna, Florida, Father Altenbaugh will celebrate a Jubilee Mass on June 9 at St. Anne's Church. Later he will celebrate a solemn Jubilee Mass at Little Flower Church in Pensacola.

Father Altenbaugh is a native of Detroit, Mich., where he was born on November 12, 1934. As a teenager, he moved to Pensacola.

He entered St. Bernard High School in Alabama where he earned his high school diploma. He continued his education at St. Bernard Junior College, and completed his college degree at Mount St. Mary's Seminary in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

He studied for the priesthood at the same institution, and was ordained a priest on May 26, 1960 by the Most Reverend T. J. Toolan at Immaculate Conception Cathedral in Mobile, Alabama.

FR. ALTENBAUGH
Following his ordination, Father Altenbaugh was assigned as assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception Cathedral. Later he was appointed the assistant pastor of Little Flower Parish in Pensacola where he served from 1961 to 1966.

After a brief assignment in Birmingham where he served at St. Mark's Parish and also worked as Newman Chaplain at Birmingham Southern College in Birmingham, he returned to Little Flower Parish in Pensacola.

From 1968 to 1971 he was assigned to St. Madeleine Parish in High Springs, Florida where he served as administrator.

After studies at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. in 1972, he was assigned as pastor of St. Anne's Parish in Marianna, Florida, a position he held until 1983. He was also in charge of a number of missions during that time.

During those years he held many positions in the Diocese. He was chaplain of the Marianna Knights of Columbus, director of the Rural Life Ministry, chairman of the Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs Commission, a member of the commission for Charismatic Renewal, and chairman of the Rural Life Commission.

Since coming to the Diocese of San Angelo in the summer of 1983, he has been pastor of the Ozona parish where he has been very active in forming a local Knights of Columbus council.

Womacks honored upon retirement

Retiring Ozona Junior High Principal, Charles (Chick) R. Womack was honored Thursday, May 23, during eighth grade promotion exercises in the Ozona High School Auditorium. Speaking on behalf of the Ozona Board of Trustees, Superintendent Garland Davis presented Mr. Womack with a resolution of appreciation for 34 years of meritorious service to the district. Mr. Womack's wife, Jane, who has taught for 28 years in Ozona, and the couple were given a gift from the administration and faculty.

Mr. Womack came to Ozona in 1951 and served for seventeen years as a teacher-coach before moving into the principal's position. He will retire this year after having served an additional seventeen years in that role.

Upon retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Womack will move to Ft. Stockton, where they recently purchased a new home. Mr. Womack plans to devote most of his time to his yard and garden, while his wife hopes to obtain an elementary teaching position in the local school system. They have four children, all of whom have graduated from high school and are now pursuing careers or are in college.

Services held Thursday for Johnny Henderson

Funeral services for John W. (Johnny) Henderson III, 66, were held Thursday at 2 p.m. in Ozona United Methodist Church with Rev. Ken Harrison, pastor, officiating. Burial followed in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mr. Henderson died at 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 21, in Angelo Community Hospital in San Angelo. He was born March 28, 1919, the son of a pioneer ranching family. He was a lifetime resident of Ozona and graduated from Ozona High School. He attended Texas A&M University before entering the Army-Air Force and serving in the Pacific theater during World War II. He was a rancher. Survivors include his wife, Maxine Henderson of Ozona; two sons, Flint Henderson of San Antonio and Michael Henderson of New Braunfels; one sister, Dorothy Pierce of Ozona; a step-daughter, Sherry Berger of Irving and three grandchildren.

CCHC receives merit awards

The Crockett County Historical Commission has received the State of Texas Award of Merit for performing at least one significant historic preservation project during 1984. The certificate was presented at the Texas Historical Commission's (THC) 1985 Historic Preservation Conference in Fort Worth, May 3. The conference was attended by more than 300 delegates representing county historical commissions from around the state.

Crockett received the award for successfully repainting and restoring the Emerald House, the oldest house in Ozona. Crockett was one of eight counties winning the state honor.

In addition to the Award of Merit, two area persons were honored at the conference for volunteering 20 years of service to the county historical commission. Members receiving special awards were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Harrell.

Also, the Crockett County Museum in Ozona won honors for its "Veterans of Crockett County" exhibit, which seeks to honor county veterans by preserving their service records and photos. The museum received the Best Interpretive Exhibit award.

The THC sponsors these and other annual awards to encourage the work of local organizations and to increase public awareness of heritage preservation activities in Texas.

The Historic Preservation Conference is an annual reunion of Texans interested in preserving the historical treasures of their towns, counties, and state. County historical commissions play a major role in this preservation effort as official arms of county governments; these local groups also work closely with the THC, the state agency responsible for leading and coordinating heritage conservation programs.

The THC's educational and consulting programs include workshops, publications, and other services in the areas of preservation, restoration, archeology, downtown revitalization, and museology. The THC is also Texas' liaison office with federal agencies on projects involving preservation.

Rural health care plan presented

Facing a critical shortage of funds to keep the Crockett County Hospital in operation, the hospital board has been exploring new avenues of health care for Ozonans. They were advised of one solution at a called meeting of the board Thursday, when Dr. Bill Bass and Lee Sanders from Shannon Hospital in San Angelo met with them and presented a proposal for a rural health care plan.

The plan would transfer local hospital operations to Shannon Hospital trustees, and they would be responsible for keeping the hospital open on an emergency basis. Local physicians would still operate out of the hospital and in the event neither were available doctors from Shannon would be sent to cover for them. Illnesses and accident victims would be cared for in the emergency room locally and then transferred to San Angelo if hospital care was indicated. Patients being transferred would have their choice of what facility in San Angelo they wished to be sent, also under the doctor's care of their choice.

This plan would eliminate the tremendous expense of meeting medical requirements and still offer health care to Ozonans. The cost to the county would be one-fourth the present cost, according to one county official.

A question and answer period followed the presentation. No action was taken and there were no recommendations made by the board.

Board members present were Sandy Stokes, Fred Deaton, Orlando Vargas, Lloyd Winkley, Maria DeLaRosa and Alleane Jones.

Others attending the meeting were Hospital Administrator Don Hopkins, County Attorney Tom Cameron, County Auditor Dick Kirby, County Judge A. O. Fields, Dr. and Mrs. Don Carlisle, Dr. R. M. Owensby and Nursing Supervisor Ramona Turnley.

Childress named bank director

Bob Childress has been appointed a director of Texas Bank of San Angelo, it was recently announced by bank officials.

Childress is the owner of Bearing Service and Supply in San Angelo, and president of the Growers Group, a cooperative of ranchers in Argentina, Turkey, Australia, New Zealand, Africa and the United States. He is also first vice-chairman of the International Mohair Association and is president of the U.S. Angora Goat Futurity.

Texas Historical Commission Awards

went to the Crockett County Historical Commission for the Emerald House and the Crockett County Museum for "Best Interpretive Exhibit." Making the presentation is THC chairman Harry Golemon. Mrs. R. A. Harrell, former county chairman, and Mrs. P. L. Childress, current chairman accepted both awards.

HUNGRY FOR HEADLINES

By Edwin Feulner
Though America's liberal activists seem preoccupied with gutting foreign policy these days — the need to negotiate another arms control agreement the Soviets can violate; making the world safe for Nicaragua's Sandinistas; and promoting racial harmony in South Africa by destroying the few institutions in the country that actually have a beneficial influence — do not fret.

They also have discovered some very, very serious problems closer to home: hunger and homelessness.

To listen to them one would think the streets are teeming with millions of the unfortunate scrounging around in garbage cans for a meager scrap from some rich man's table. Calcutta USA.

A Harvard-based group calling itself the Physicians Task Force on Hunger, for example, has produced a "study" claiming that 20-million Americans — nearly one out of every ten — is living on the edge of starvation. Surprised? What would you expect? After all, a "Task Force on Hunger" would have to hang up its press releases if it couldn't locate a hunger epidemic.

And, of course, there's always blame to be passed around. So not surprisingly, the Physicians Task Force on Hunger concluded that "the recent and swift return of hunger to America can be traced in substantial measure to clear and conscious policies of the federal government." And whose policies are those? President Reagan's of course.

Beginning to get the drift?
The real irony in this story comes from the fact that these same politicized physicians participated in a similar study in 1977 which found that America's nutrition programs were a great success and that hunger and malnutrition weren't serious problems. Isn't it amazing that despite increased federal expenditures in those intervening years, America is suffering from what the doctors now call a "national health epidemic?"

There are Americans who suffer from hunger. It's a tragic fact of life. Just as there are "street people" and "shopping-bag ladies." But to put the number of hungry people at 20-million is political dishonesty at its worst.

One look at the data presented in the Hunger in America report tells why. The physicians did not actually find 20-million people hungry. The method for arriving at that number is as follows: they took the 1983 "poverty" count of some 35 million, subtracted the 20-million food stamp recipients, and got 15-million people below the poverty line who were not receiving food stamps. These people, they arbitrarily decided, were hungry by definition. Next, they did some finagling with survey data (some of which they describe as not necessarily reliable) to estimate how many people receiving food stamps might still be experiencing hunger. And hocus-pocus, they came up with 5-million more hungry people.

In the late 1970s, two out of five poor Americans received food stamp assistance and the doctors saw no hunger crisis. Today, two of five poor Americans receive food stamps and we are in the middle of a hunger epidemic.

If the Hunger in America report proved anything, it is not that we are suffering from a "national health epidemic," but that certain doctors are "hungry" for headlines.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers neared an accord on the state budget by giving conference committee approval to a new twist on motor vehicle inspections.

If approved by the full Legislature before adjournment at midnight, Memorial Day, inspection sticker prices will go up from $5.25 to $7.75, an increase of $2.50.

But Texans who buy a new car will have to pay $15, good for two years. This new twist is a result of lawmakers' efforts to find an extra $150 million to balance the budget by raising various state fees.

Also proposed was a $50 increase in the cost of filing a suit in state district court. Child support cases were exempted.

Hightower Wins One
Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has had tough going this session with budget writers cutting his outlays and limiting his staff, but last week his foes carried the battle against him too far. Hightower, perhaps riding on a sympathy backlash, finally won one in the Legislature.

When House Agriculture chairman Bob Saunders, D-LaGrange, moved to dilute Hightower's power to regulate pesticide use, particularly his protection of stoop laborers in the Rio Grande Valley, he found himself not only up against the Mexican-American Caucus, but enough handfuls of conservatives from both parties to warrant surrender.

He abandoned his proposal which was backed by chemical lobbyists and the Texas Farm Bureau, two groups which Hightower angered earlier with his new, stringent pesticide regulations.

Abortion Foes Defeated
Also abandoned last week was the attempt to pass stricter abortion regulations. Abortion foes L. B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, and Jan McKenna, R-Arlington, tried to build their measure into other legislation renewing the Texas Department of Health, but some key lawmakers threatened to filibuster.

The Speaker asked Kubiak and the others to retreat and avoid a confrontation that could lead to a special session this summer.

State Agency Axed
The Speaker called it right, too, as House members demonstrated when Bruce Gibson, D-Cleburne, and some other anti-abortion foes tried to revive the Texas Health Facilities Commission by tying it to abortion regulations.

The controversial commission regulates who can build and expand hospitals and nursing homes, but House members voted 97-49 to axe it.

Letters to the Editor

May 20, 1985

Dear Kitty,
Another year has rolled around. How fast they go! We still enjoy the Ozona news. My only way of keeping up with friends there. Enclosed is my check for renewal. Thank you,
Mrs. Calvin Douglas

Even some pro-life lawmakers voted to dismantle the commission, including McKenna. House and Senate leaders pronounced it dead for this session.

Mauro Big Winner
Land Commissioner Garry Mauro came out a big winner this session, when the governor signed new law giving him added land management authority, not only over public school lands, but all other state-owned lands as well.

Mauro will have added powers to trade low-revenue state land for property bringing more money to public schools. His new responsibilities call for him to assess and make "best use" recommendations for land owned by other state agencies.

Mauro, a Democrat, owes much of his success to a quiet bipartisan effort headed by the bill's Republican sponsor, state Sen. John Leedom of Dallas.

Vet Tracts Easier
Another approved bill gives the Veterans Land Board, also chaired by Mauro, the authority to make veteran loans on 5-acre tracts, much easier than the present 10-acre minimum requirement.

Urban sprawl and the decade's rising interest rates have made it difficult for veterans to find an available ten acres.

Presidential Primary
The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill moving the Texas presidential primary up two months from early May to March. Passed 90-56, all Republicans voted against the measure which is thought to provide Democrats with a more conservative candidate than the original proposal.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

It is almost unbelievable how quickly our country-side will green up after rain comes our way. Even gardens and yards show such an improvement, though they have been kept watered by city water through the winter and spring.

For a fall blooming plant try some of the hardy asters (michaelmas daisies). These are usually placed to the back of the border because of their height. They won't all grow tall however. Some perform well in containers and give lots of autumn color. "Snowball" is ten inches high, white flowers with yellow centers. "Audrey" is a foot high mound of lavender blue. "Roman" spreads, although it is only eight inches high with rosy flowers. It does well in a low planter box. "Napsbury" is 18 inches tall, but can be controlled well enough to enjoy its blue flowers with orange centers.

If plants need repotting, this should be done earlier or in late winter. Remove plant from the container and shake the soil from the roots, then wash the roots to remove the residue. Gently pull apart the rhizomes that make up the crown so that each division has a few fronds and roots. There are many attractive varieties to select from.

Now is the time to prune azaleas and other spring flower shrubs if needed after bloom. Also climbing roses that bloom only in the spring. Cut out all dead and old cones.

A summer annual that is great for any hot, dry location is the moss rose. It is available in orange, pink, red, and white and is most effective when planted in masses of a single color. Broadcast seeds directly into the soil or set out nursery transplants 8 to 10 inches apart. Seedlings should come up within two weeks. For summer blooms sow more seed every six weeks.

Now that the spring bulbs foliage has started to die back, fertilize the beds with 5-10-10 at the rate of one-half cup per square yard or planted area. Now is a good time to move bulbs if necessary.

Watch for the unusual beauty of several blue vitex trees in our city.

Date with the world

"Gee, it's a big world—oceans to cross... mountains to climb... the call of exciting cities... the lure of Orient." All are waiting...

Like Jimmy, many of us once saw ourselves circling the globe and keeping our date with adventure. But somehow our big plans got pushed aside by the busy pressures of earning a living and raising a family.

Years pass and the dreams of the young change. Suddenly, there are new goals clamoring for our attention...

But a world of unique adventure is never far from our doorway—the world of truth, the world of the spirit, as revealed through the love and inspiring teachings of our Church and the Bible.

No, the world is not as big as it is to Jimmy, but for us there are new horizons, horizons of hope, faith and strength if we will seek them in the church of our choice each week.

Class of 1985

gets in line for graduation at Lion Stadium Friday night. Although clouds threatened and some rain fell, the ceremonies went off without any major problem and the fifty-seven graduates ended high school careers.

Urgent-help needed from community

The School has just completed resurfacing the track. The new surface will last several years if everyone will help take care of the facility.

The most important consideration is the use of lane one. All joggers and walkers are asked to use the other lanes to help prolong the first lane surface.

Signs will be posted to remind track users of this important notice.

For the public to have continued use of the track, this bulletin and the posted signs, must be observed.

Thank you for your help and consideration.

Seniors awarded -

Fifty-seven Ozona High School seniors collected diplomas and awards at commencement Friday night at Lion Stadium. Roving thunderstorms and some rain failed to dampen spirits or keep the crowd away.

Gary Davis topped the list of scholarships and awards, collecting three. He was awarded the Carr Scholarship from Angelo State University, the Charlotte Phillips art scholarship and received the Best Citizen Award, which is given annually by the Ozona Womans Forum.

Trujillo named to students' Who's Who Cynthia H. Trujillo, daughter of Mr. Felix Trujillo and student at Western Texas College, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by the Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges editorial staff.

She joins an elite group of students selected from institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Jeff Stuart attends Best Western class

Jeffrey Stuart, general manager of the Best Western Circle Bar Motel, in Ozona, recently attended an orientation seminar for Best Western owners and operators in Phoenix, Arizona.

The seminar was held at Best Western International Headquarters in Phoenix.

While in Phoenix, the new Best Westerners toured the chain's International Marketing and Reservations Center and attended sessions on Best Westernizing their properties. Subjects included quality control, the Best Western reservations system, public relations, advertising, marketing, wholesale supply and equipment purchasing, credit card procedures and insurance programs.

Executives and staff members from Best Western International Headquarters conducted the sessions and exchanged ideas and information with the attendees.

At each of the meetings heavy emphasis was placed on maintaining Best Western's outstanding reputation by providing travelers with friendly service, personal attention and clean, quality accommodations at a reasonable price.

Free travel guides are available at all Best Western properties.

With more than 3,100 properties in 30 countries, Best Western International is the world's largest lodging chain of independently owned and operated hotels, motor inns and resorts.

Marge St. Clair has her granddaughter, Dawn Pearston, of California, visiting her this week.
