The objective of all dedicated newspapers people should be to thoroughly analyze all situations, anticipate all problems prior to their occurrence, have answers for these problems, and move swiftly to solve these problems. However, when the deadline arrived and an ice storm was raging outside, it became difficult to remind myself that my objective was to get this column written. It was just more important to get the paper to bed and get on the icy road with it, so I have conveniently stolen some items with which this space will be filled.

Oscar Kost was cleaning out a tool box when he found an old newspaper clipping pointing up the similarities in the lives of President Lincoln and President Kennedy. We feel our readers will be interested in this amazing coincidence so we pass it on to you.

Both presidents were concerning themselves with Civil Rights.

Lincoln was elected in 1860 and Kennedy was elected in 1960.

Both were slain on a Friday in the presence of their wives.

Their successors, both of whom were named Johnson, were Southerners and had served in the United States Senate.

Andrew Johnson was born in 1808 and Lyndon B. Johnson was born in 1908.

The assassins, (or alleged assassins) John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839 and Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939.

Both slayers of Booth and Oswald (Watson Corbath and Jack Ruby) murdered the assassins before their trials.

Both presidents lost children through death while living in the White House.

Both presidents were shot in the head.

Kennedy's personal secretary was named Lincoln and Lincoln's secretary was named Kennedy.

Everyone is so weight conscious these days, the following should give dieters a few laughs. This was plagiarized from David Werst's column in the Big Lake Wildcat.

WEIGHT CONSCIOUS???

A Shared Prayer

Lord, my soul is ripped with riot,
Incited by my wicked diet!
"We are what we eat!" said the wise old man,
And Lord, if it's true, then I'm a garbage can.

I want to rise on Judgment Day,
that's plain,
But at my present weight, I'll need a crane.

So, grant me the strength that I may bear witness,
To the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

And at Oleo Margarine, I'll never mutter,
For the road to Hell is spread with butter,

And cream is cursed and cake
is awful,
And Satan is hiding in every waffle.

Beelzebub is a chocolate drop,
And Lucifer is a lollipop.

Give me this day my daily slice,
But cut it thin and toast it twice.
I pray each night with heavy prayers,
Deliver me from chocolate eclairs,
And when my days of trial are done,
And my war with malted milks
is won,

Let me stand so proud with the saints
in Heaven,

In a shining robe, size 6 or 7.
I can do it, Lord, if you'll show
to me,

The virtues of lettuce and celery.
If you'll teach me the evil of mayonnaise,

The sinfulness of hollandaise,
And crisp, fried chicken from the South,

Lord, if you love me--
Shut my mouth!

Brrrrr!!!

After a high of 70 degrees Monday, a rush of Arctic air hit Ozona Tuesday and the temperature dropped from 40 degrees at 8 a.m. to 28 degrees by 4 p.m.

The front brought sleet, snow and freezing rain, the first moisture of the new year. Travel was hazardous and numerous wrecks were reported on the highways in the county.

RETIREMENT CEREMONY-Joe Cough, Bill Baggett and Dick Kirby congratulate C.H. Sinclair on his retirement after 33 years with the Soil Conservation Service. Sinclair has served 16 years as district conservationist in the Ozona office.

Pipeline construction due for Crockett Co.

Measurements have been signed with Crockett County landowners and word has been received that construction will begin in McCamey January 13, on the All American Pipeline which will come through the county and be constructed to the Texas coastline.

Landowners in the Texas Hill Country area are staging protests against the route which the pipeline will take. All American Pipeline Co., a Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. subsidiary, proposes to build the 1,700-mile, 30-inch oil pipeline from California to Texas, through West Texas and the Hill Country at a cost of more than $880 million. California oil will be routed from that state to refineries on the Texas coast.

The pipeline has been constructed to near McCamey, and will be coming through Crockett County. Any re-routing the company might be forced to make will not affect the pipeline in this county.

The proposed pipeline, which will handle up to 400,000 barrels of oil per day from a California oilfield to the Gulf Coast, has drawn protest from landowners in the Hill Country and around San Antonio, who fear the pipeline might pollute the drinking water should it rupture.

The Edwards Aquifer includes Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Sterling, Coke, Upton, Reagan, Irion, Crockett, Schleicher, Menard, Sutton, Kimble, Val Verde and portions of Tom Green, Concho, McCulloch, Mason, Gillespie and Bandera counties. It is one of the most productive of the seven principal Texas aquifers.

Ozona water comes from the Edwards Aquifer as well as drinking water for San Antonio, Austin and San Marcos. The difference, according to Gene Perry, water district director, is the depth of the Aquifer. Ozona water comes from wells drilled to around or over 600 feet, while towns toward and in the Hill Country get water from around 100 feet.

According to a U.S. Department of Interior underground water report issued in 1985, wells tapping Edwards Aquifer commonly yield from 400 to 1,200 gallons of water per minute, and the capacities of wells in the aquifer operated by the City of San Antonio are among the largest in the world.

Perry, who is a landowner as well as a member of the Soil Conservation Committee, said the proposed pipeline has been studied very carefully on the local level and he is satisfied it will pose no threat to the Ozona water supply, although he feels the protesting landowners could have a legitimate complaint.

The route of the pipeline will travel four and one-half miles through the Perry Ranch. Perry said the company agreed to all regulations set forth and he feels it is an agreement Crockett County landowners can live with.

Candidates file for places on ballot

Candidates began filing for places on the primary ballots here Monday. Several county elected officials' terms expire this year as well as those at the district and state level. Three places will be coming up in the school board election.

Judge Brock Jones has filed for re-election as 112th District Judge, subject to the Democratic Primary in May, as has County and District Clerk Debbie Puckett. Other offices will be that of County Judge, Justice of the Peace, County Treasurer and commissioners in Precincts 2 and 4.

B.W. Stuart has filed for re-election in the Precinct 2 commissioner race. Action of state legislators has made some changes mandatory in elections. The filing fee has doubled, booths must be installed at the polling places, and pencils will give way to markers which are indelible. Deadline for candidate filing will be February 3.

The school board election will have three places to be filled. Members whose terms expire include Joe Cough, Cecil Buckner and George Ybarra. Hank Sellers submitted his letter of resignation from the board Monday, but no action will be taken until the regular board meeting this month. The board could appoint a member to Sellers' unexpired term or add another spot on the April ballot.

Sheep dog olympics set in four trials

The Winter Sheep Dog Olympics will get underway this month at four locations. Each trial will start at 10 a.m. The top dogs will run twice to determine the grand champion.

The second annual sheep dog trials will be held in Sanderson, Jan. 18, followed by the 10th annual classic to be held in Ozona, Jan. 19, and the second annual sheep dog trial in Sonora, Jan. 25, plus the final Jan. 26, at the first annual sheep dog trial in Del Rio.

Willie Welsh, a distinguished dog handler and international judge from Ayrshire, Scotland, will be judging these four trials.

There is a small admission charge. Everyone is invited to load up the family and see the best sheep dogs in the country compete for the prizes.

The four trials are sanctioned by the Texas Sheep Dog Assn., and the United States Border Collie Handlers Assn. For more information contact Bob Childress, Ozona, or Ivan Weir, Sheffield.

Meals on Wheels to resume

Meals on Wheels for the elderly, will resume operations the first of February in the building Mrs. Glenn Sutton is remodeling for that purpose. A lease has been signed and equipment purchased, although remodeling is still underway.

The Helping Hands group has purchased the equipment at a cost of $2,600. They have a total of $1,500 on hand to pay for the equipment, and donations are being sought for the remainder.

Since no contract has been signed with any government or state agency, it will be necessary for each participant to pay $55 a month. This figures to about $2.50 per meal. For those who cannot afford to pay for the meals, sponsorships will be solicited.

Meals will be served beginning February 3, whether remodeling has been completed or not. Those wishing to participate or volunteer need to contact Rachel Hall, Kathy Reavis or Margaret Porras.

Traffic accidents result in deaths

Mike Wellman, 31, was killed Thursday afternoon in a traffic accident north of Big Lake on Hwy 137. The pickup truck he was driving struck the rear of a truck-tractor rig and burst into flames. He was pronounced dead at the scene by J. P. Pauline Stout of Big Lake.

Services were held Saturday at graveside in Cedar Hill Cemetery. He was born Dec. 9, 1954 in Olney, and had been a resident of Ozona most of his life. He was an employee of Tamarack Petroleum of Midland.

Survivors include his wife, Linda, of South Carolina; a daughter and two sons of Ozona; his mother, Peggy Crider of San Antonio; his father, Hank Wellman of Ozona; and two sisters, Leslie Wellman and Debra West, both of Ozona.

A fatality was chalked up in Crockett County Friday afternoon when a 45-year-old Sonora man was killed in a one-vehicle roll-over on Pandale Road, 8.6 miles south of I-10.

Donald James McKinnon was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Peace Justice Raymond Davee.

According to DPS reports the vehicle was traveling north when the driver lost control, hit a dirt embankment and rolled over several times, ejecting the driver. The car came to rest in a pasture where it caught fire and burned. The car and resulting grass fire was extinguished by the Ozona Fire Department.

Sinclair retires from Soil Conservation

C. H. Sinclair is retiring after 33 years of working for the Soil Conservation Service. He has served 16 years in the Ozona field office as district conservationist working with the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District to provide technical assistance to local ranchers.

Sinclair began his career with the SCS in the Bowie field office as a soil conservationist where he worked for 11 years. He was then transferred to the Gramh field office where he served as district conservationist for 6 years before he was transferred to Ozona in January of 1970.

Sinclair says he has enjoyed his time in the Ozona field office as much or more than any other field office he has served. He feels that the ranchers of Crockett County are above average in their range management and have applied a tremendous amount of rangeland conservation and hopes the trend of sound conservation will continue.

A replacement for Sinclair has not yet been named, but the position will be filled in the very near future.

Sinclair's plans after retirement include to eventually move back to his livestock farm near Mount Pleasant. The Crockett District Board has enjoyed working with Sinclair and wishes him and his wife all the best.

Bank tax benefits school and county

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday checks totaling $1.1 million were sent in a special allocation of the state franchise tax on banks to 245 cities, school districts and other special districts. Of this amount, $17,269.19 was sent to Crockett County and $24,980.52 to Crockett County School District.

Bullock said the special allocation reflected final adjustments of the new tax as it involved some 1,976 banks and 2,119 local taxing jurisdictions.

The first allocation from the new tax on banks was made in August, and checks totaling $61.6 million were sent to 1,996 local taxing units.

Most of the taxing units--1,715--were unaffected by the special allocation. Of the remaining jurisdictions affected, money was shifted from some taxing units and reallocated to others.

The Legislature in 1984 brought banks under the franchise tax for the first time and allocated receipts from the tax to cities, counties, school districts and other local taxing units where the banks are located.

Banks are taxed at the same rate as other Texas corporations. Previously, bank stocks were subject to local property taxes. The Legislature exempted the stocks from property taxes, substituting the new bank franchise tax. Collections are prorated among local taxing units based on their tax rates.

Commodities registration set

Registration for commodities will be held Thursday and Friday, Jan. 9-10, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the County Judge's office and from 4 until 8 p.m. in the Catholic Church Hall.

All persons who wish to receive the free food must register once a year. This is a requirement of the USDA. Those who have registered previously, must take this time to re-register.

Commodities will be distributed January 24.

'YES, YOU'LL BE RELIEVED TO KNOW I'VE DECIDED TO DROP OUT OF THIS RACE.'

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas government rebounded from the holiday lull and hit the ground running last week, energized by the arrival of the Sesquicentennial Celebration and—on the political front—the opening filing day for political offices.

Incumbents and challengers for state and county offices have until Feb. 3 to file for positions on party primary ballots.

From the looks of things, the toughest job awaiting the next Legislature is balancing the 1988-89 state budget, despite the '84 special session which passed the largest tax bill in history.

The impending drop in crude oil prices and loss of unknown amounts of federal funds will surely send legislators scratching again to cut more services or raise taxes again, or both.

State Treasurer Ann Richards warned that state spending in 1985 exceeded state income by about $907 million. Recently, the state shifted some $1 billion in interagency lending, at a cost of $36 million in lost revenues.

The Gramm-Rudman bill which Congress passed last month to reduce the federal deficit is sure to impact Texas by cutting federal dollars to the state budget, but no one can accurately pin down the amount.

The bill's sponsor, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, disputed some predictions the bill would cost Texas almost $305 million. He says his home state will come out a big winner in the free market.

But of importance to state budgets, one Washington report foresees Texas facing a 6.3 percent cut, or $43.6 million in federal funds in fiscal year '86, in the areas of highways, education, energy, urban development and revenue sharing.

The next year, the loss would soar to $305 million, but state experts are not swallowing that figure just yet. Needless to say, all eyes will be watching the impact which should hit just before the next regular session of the Legislature.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower doesn't like another recent piece of federal legislation: he called the new farm bill "a piece of trash" that will further depress crop prices.

In predicting increased farm bankruptcies, Hightower said the bill will do more harm than all the "combined tornadoes, freezes, hurricanes and other weather disasters of the last 50 years."

Hightower never has liked President Reagan, who signed it, and even though Texas Congressman Kika de la Garza wrote much of the bill, Hightower abhors the section which lowers federal price supports for major commodities to make them competitive on the world market.

The feisty commissioner's combative style caused him to catch a little political flak last week after he sent out a fund-raising invitation containing a profane word. His Republican opponent, Bill Powers, said Hightower should wash his mouth out with soap and apologize to all of Texas for using the phrase "Kick Ass Populism."

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro sent two of his staff to San Francisco on New Year's Eve so they could close a $50 million bond sale before midnight 1985 (California time) and after midnight (Texas time).

The maneuver allowed Mauro to continue the state's veterans' land and housing programs by avoiding political challenges to the bond sale.

Mauro also announced his office has agreed to lease 3.6 acres of state land to the Hilton Hotels in Houston for a minimum of $300,000 a year in new income to the Permanent School Fund.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said last week he won't sue some Baptist child-care homes near Corpus Christi because the home officials moved the kids to Missouri.

In the latest twist in the decades-old feud between the state and the homes founded by the late Lester Roloff, the ministers preferred to close and relocate the unlicensed homes rather than submit to state regulation.

They loaded some 150 boys and girls on seven buses after Sunday evening services and drove all night to a state with no licensing law.

In a parting shot flung over their shoulders, they vowed to return after defeating Mattox and his predecessor, Gov. Mark White, both Baptists. The church has lost appeals all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

• State Rep. Smith Gilley, D-Greenville, will not seek reelection after serving six terms. However, he expects to be back in politics after a few years.

• Keith Oakley, D-Terrell, is the newest member of the House, Oakley, 28, will serve out the unexpired term of Gordon (Doc) Arnold, who became legislative aide to Speaker Gib Lewis.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

SOCIAL INSECURITY

By Edwin Feulner

We are just entering the new year and already Uncle Sam is taking a bigger bite out of our paychecks.

Though Congress and the White House spent the Christmas season making Santa Claus-like noises about tax reform, "ho, ho, ho" the joke's on us. Because just like clockwork, on January 1 Social Security tax rates shot up again.

Now for every thousand dollars you earn, up to a maximum of $42,000, Uncle Sam will collect $143—$71.50 directly from your paycheck, and a like amount from the pocket of your employer (money that could be used to fatten your salary, increase your benefits, or to update plant and equipment, if it wasn't going to Washington).

On top of this, of course, are state and federal income taxes—which ironically are based on your gross income, not on the $857 that is left of that $1,000 after Social Security taxes are paid.

Just two years ago, the Social Security system was proclaimed "saved." The only thing that appears to have been saved, however, are some political careers. Despite the ever-escalating payroll taxes, the Social Security system is still headed for deep financial trouble. The Baby Boom Generation has started to grey. While there are plenty of Baby-Boomers around to finance the system today, when they retire twenty to twenty-five years from now, there won't be enough workers around to make good on the promises Congress has made. One former chief actuary of the Social Security Administration estimates that payroll taxes might theoretically have to climb to 40 percent under the present pay-as-you go funding system to honor the obligations to the current working generation. And you and I both know that isn't going to happen.

The alternatives are also clear: either some meaningful changes will be made in the system as we know it, or Social Security will go belly-up.

Washington, unfortunately, has a special knack of avoiding the obvious until the political heat is unbearable. And since most Americans are pretty much convinced Social Security is secure for the foreseeable future, Congress will stay as far away from the taboo subject as it can.

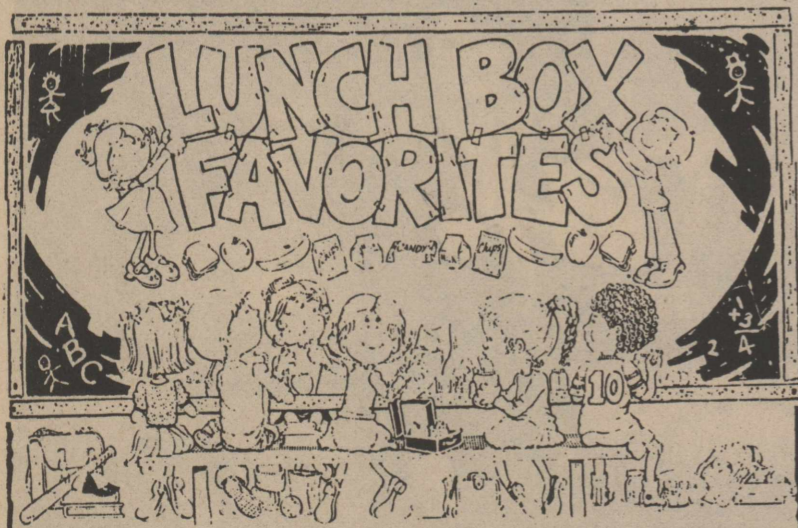

Yet, this might be precisely the time to tackle Social Security reform—now, when the next crisis seems far over the horizon. That is precisely the kind of debate that is now taking place in Great Britain, where the Thatcher government has made the state pension program the next target of its "privatization" initiative.

The British proposal calls for the gradual privatization of the State Earnings-Related Pensions Scheme (SERPS). Under the plan, employees and employers would be required by law to contribute to either a company-based or personal retirement plan, as the government program is gradually phased out. At the end of the lengthy transition period, everyone would still have a pension program—only they would be private-sector pension programs, which invariably pay a greater rate-of-return than government schemes, and contribute mightily to economic growth.

The Thatcher government's privatization plan already has run into organized opposition. But at least the British have shown the courage to start talking about the problem, while the Baby-Boom generation still has its own teeth.

Changing U.S. demographics will eventually overwhelm Social Security. If something isn't done to change the retirement system while we still have the time, the United States will face a budget crisis the likes of which it has never seen before.

The British experiment could point the way.

Public Notice

On August 20, 1985, Westar Transmission Company, a Division of Cranberry Pipeline Corporation, filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas a Statement of Intent to change its City Gate Rate. On December 12, 1985, Westar filed its First Supplemental Statement of Intent, and requested that sales to Energas Company for its Ozona distribution system be treated like other similar sales to Energas. These sales would be subject to the requested margin of $0.75 and would include Westar's weighed average cost of gas. This same rate applies to sales by Westar to Energas' West Texas System, Andrews Gas Company, Inc. and the City of White Deer.

The proposed change increases the cost of service component to $0.75 and alters the definition of weighted average cost of gas. The cumulative effect of the proposed change will increase the annual revenues of Westar by approximately $26,185,504 and is a "major change" as that term is defined in TEX. REV. CIV. STAT. ANN, art 1446e, Sec. 5.08. The proposed effective date is September 25, 1985. Further information or a copy of the Statement of Intent and supplement can be obtained from Westar at P. O. Box 90, Amarillo, Texas 79189 or from the Railroad Commission of Texas at P. O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711-2967.

Texas and Its Emblems

The State Flag--The rich heritage of our state is reflected in our flag, first adopted by the Third Congress of the Republic on Jan. 25, 1839. It is the only flag of the United States that was once recognized by foreign governments as being the flag of a sovereign nation. The Texas flag consists of a single white star in a perpendicular field of blue, with two horizontal fields--white on top and red below. The nickname of Texas, "Lone Star State," is derived from our flag.

The State Seal--Also reflecting the symbolic Long Star is our official seal, "a star of five points, encircled by olive and live oak branches, and the words, 'The State of Texas, '"

The State Motto--Our state has officially adopted the motto, "Friendship", in recognition of the fact that our state's name stems from the word "tejas", a Caddo Indian word meaning "friends" or "allies".

The State Holidays--Our state observes two official state holidays: Independence Day, March 2; and San Jacinto Day, April 21. In addition, there are several special observances.

The State Flower, Bird, and Tree--In 1901 the Twenty-Seventh Legislature officially recognized the Bluebonnet as the state flower. Then in 1927 the Fourth Legislature proclaimed the Mockingbird to be the state bird. The Pecan Tree was also officially chosen to be the state tree, some say it was selected because Gov. James S. Hogg requested that one be planted at his grave.

Train children with fire drills

A home fire drill called "Get Out Fast" trains youngsters in the importance of a quick escape. Fire most often strikes at night while children are asleep, so the most important drill you can give them is to see how fast they can get out of the house and to a prearranged meeting place. First let them escape the simplest way; then make them go through obstacles, such as "smoke" and the "hot" door. Be sure they practice going out a window. Another critical drill, called "Call the Fire Engines," is to teach children how to call the fire department, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The State Song--"Texas, Our Texas," the official state song, was composed by William J. Marsh and Gladys Y. Wright of Fort Worth. It was adopted by the Legislature in 1929 as the result of a statewide contest. Many people think that "The Eyes of Texas" is the state song, but it is the official song of the University of Texas.

Lady Lions beat Ballinger in district game

By Amy Beth Scoggins
The Ozona Varsity Lady Lions captured a win 53 to 41 for their first game of district play against the Ballinger Bearcats on December 3 and the Junior Varsity Lady Lions suffered a loss to the JV Bearcats 49 to 35.

The Lady Lions led 33 to 24 at the end of the first half. Ozona remained in control throughout the rest of the game and went on to beat Ballinger.

Zelda Munoz provided 14 points followed by Julie Reagor with 12 points. Lydia Pena scored nine points. Vanessa Miller contributed six points while Vickie Reagor and Stacy Lay scored five points each. Also, providing two points was Janet Diaz.

The Lady Lions shot 65% from the free throw line sinking 15 of their 23 attempts.

"I thought we played much better," Coach Rhonda Yarborough stated. "We need the support of the community, and we hope to have good crowds at our district games."

The JV Lady Lions led the Bearcats at the end of the first half by a score of 14 to 12. Despite the efforts of the JV Lady Lions, they were unable to hold their lead and the Bearcats came out on top.

Regina Cervantez provided 13 points followed by Kriss Corley with eight. Cathy Moran and Stacy Winkley contributed five points each. Dottie Gonzales and Eileen Moran scored two points each.

The JV and Varsity Lady Lions will play their third game of the district season against Coahoma in Ozona Friday night, January 10.

THE EPPLEY SISTERS will appear at Templo Siloe, Ozona, on Thursday evening, January 9th at 7 p.m. They have been traveling in Gospel work for a number of years, and have worked all over the U.S.A. and Canada, and have had 4 major missions in Great Britain and Europe, and have also served in the West Indies, and in South America. To date, they have ministered in 28 different countries. The Sisters will play the following instruments--Chimes, Vibra-harp, Accordians, Piano and Organ. They will share from other lands, preach the Gospel, pray for the sick, etc. The public is invited.

Volunteer training seminar set

The Reagan County Memorial Hospital will be hosting a volunteer training seminar concerning domestic crises situations on the 23rd of January. The training session will include hotline phone crisis intervention, role playing, volunteer advocacy relating to public awareness, and resource referrals to appropriate agencies. The training session will be held at the hospital board room from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and is open to anyone from Crockett, Irion, and Reagan counties.

Anyone interested in attending this training session is asked to call Pat King at the Reagan County Memorial Hospital at 915-884-2561, or Frank Galindo III at the San Angelo Family Shelter at 915-655-5774. No registration fee is required, but interested parties are asked to call the Big Lake Hospital or the San Angelo Family Shelter so that accommodations can be made for the number of expected attendees.

Any questions regarding the volunteer training session should be directed to Pat King or Frank Galindo at the phone numbers listed.

Strength and fitness clinic scheduled for January 11

Ozona High School is sponsoring a strength and fitness clinic Saturday, January 11, in the high school auditorium. Conducting the clinic will be Dr. Greg Shepard, strength coach for the professional Utah Jazz basketball team.

In addition to being strength coach for the Jazz, Shepard is president of Bigger Faster Stronger, Inc. (BFS). This organization holds some 80 clinics per year across the nation.

Results of these clinics have been something just short of amazing. One miraculous achievement came with the Jazz's Mark Eaton. The Jazz signed Eaton although he had never started a high school nor a college game. Eaton graduated from U.C.L.A. having logged less than a minute of playing time his junior and senior years. In just two years of work with Shepard and B.F.S., Eaton came from a very weak 7 foot 4 inch, 285 pound question mark to the NBA's leading defensive rebounder and shot blocker and a runner-up in the defensive player-of-the-year award.

Shepard's program is beneficial to all age groups. Coach Green and the Ozona coaching staff hope that the youth and others of Ozona will take advantage of this clinic. Students from the 7th grade up will be eligible to attend. There is no charge for the Ozona students. Students from other schools have been invited to attend for a fee of $3.00. Adult admission is $5.00.

The clinic starts at 9:00 a.m. and runs until 4:30 p.m. Since there is only a 30-minute lunch break Green requests participants be prepared to eat at the school. Individuals may bring a sack lunch or purchase tea and a fajita from the Ozona Booster Club for $2.00.

The clinic will involve: Instructional Motivation, Goal Setting, Nutrition, Weight Lifting Techniques, Power Weight Training, Speedwork, Agility, Flexibility, Endurance.

Lectures by Shepard, films and demonstrations will make up the program. Since the audience does become involved everyone is asked to come in workout gear such as sweat-suits. The clinic is for both males and females. The Ozona coaching staff urges any student that plans to participate in any athletics to be in attendance and all students are invited. Coach Green hopes that many parents will join their youngsters in attendance so they can gain a concept of what their youngsters are learning. Coach Green anticipates 300 people attending and urges locals to be early for best seating.

BOY TO VORDICKS

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vordick are the parents of a boy born at 12:05 p.m. on January 7, in Angelo Community Hospital in San Angelo.

The little boy weighed 7 lb. 2½ oz. and was 19" long. He has been named Tyson Wayne. He has one brother, Travis, 3½ yrs. old.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Trusting the New Year will bring you many of your last year resolutions fulfilled, and looking forward to another successful planting season for your gardening.

In tribute to the state's trees and forests, Texans observe Arbor Day on the third Friday of January each year (Jan. 17 this year). To observe Arbor Day, you need only plant a tree-one adapted to our area.

Winter is the time to make hardwood cuttings from trees and shrubs you may wish to propagate-pyracantha, poplar, pussy willow, deutzia, weigela, forsythia and others. Make cuttings about 4 inches long, and root them in a cold frame or pot in a mixture of equal parts perlite and peat moss.

To promote larger, longer lasting blooms on your crepe myrtle trees next summer, remove seed capsules from the end of branches while the plants are dormant. It is also a good time to prune off dead or weak wood, to pull weedy vines out of the plants, and prune to keep as a shrub rather than a tree.

Cut back pampas grass to within 6 inches of the ground now that winter cold has killed last year's foliage. If you wait until spring, you must take special care not to damage new growth. Left unpruned, your pampas grass will look ragged next year because of the dead foliage left on the plant.

When your Christmas cactus blooms start to wilt, remove the faded blooms. Discontinue feeding every two weeks after the blooms have faded-usually in mid January.

A fast-growing running rose that blooms throughout the summer is the Don Juan, Blaze, Climbing Crimson Glory, Etville de Hallande, three of the best older varieties.

Now that it is January, Mother Nature can show her fickle side this month, bringing warm and sunny weather one day, cold and rainy weather the next. On days when you can get out into the garden, there are some dormant season chores to take care of, such as pruning, spraying, and bare-root planting.

On days when you had rather just stay in doors, you can flip through seed catalogs and order spring and summer flower and vegetable seeds some companies give a discount on early orders.

Mrs. Bruce Dye honored with bridal shower

Mrs. Bruce Dye, formerly Miss Peggy Skains, was honored with a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Tommy Conner, Saturday afternoon. Co-hostesses included Mrs. T. R. Conner Sr., Mrs. Earl Acton, Mrs. Dempster Jones, Mrs. Fred Deaton, and Mrs. Eddie Wall.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. James Floyd and Mrs. L. E. Skains, and her great grandmother, Mrs. Joe Wall, of Sonora.

The groom's mother Mrs. Kenneth Dye and grandmother, Mrs. Melvin Beam from San Angelo, also attended.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

Winners in Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday afternoon at the Country Club were Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. John Childress, first, and Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Sherman Taylor, second.

In play Sunday afternoon, two teams tied for the top spot, Mrs. Byron Williams and Mrs. Childress tied with Mrs. Joe Clayton and Mrs. Adams.

Miss Burns and Mr. Kothman wed in Kerrville ceremony

Miss Dawn Burns became the bride of Mr. Kade Kothman of Alpine in a 4 p.m. ceremony at the Y. O. Hilton in Kerrville, Saturday, January 4. Officiating minister was Dennis McKinley of Western World Missions in Fort Worth.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Bill Kothman of Mason.

A western motif was used in decorations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a faded denim dress with floral Chintz and tapestry brocade trim. She wore a headpiece of ivory sweetheart roses and baby's breath and carried a single ivory rose with sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Serving her sister as maid-of-honor was Gay Burns. She wore a faded denim skirt and floral blouse with lace collar. Her hairpiece was designed of pink sweetheart roses. She carried a single pink rose.

Kenn Kothman, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The bridegroom is a graduate of Sanderson High School and Southwest Texas Junior College in Uvalde. He is presently attending Sul Ross University in Alpine, where he is a member of the Rodeo Team.

The bride is a graduate of Ozona High School and attended Texas Tech. She will attend Sul Ross in Alpine, where the couple will be at home until May.

Jana Harris named to Who's Who

Sixty Southwest Texas State University students have been selected for inclusion in the 1986 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Jana Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, a senior journalism major is among these.

Local nominating committees and the editors of the annual directory select outstanding students nationwide for inclusion in "Who's Who..." on the basis of their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

The SWT students will be listed in the directory along with students selected from more than 1,400 colleges and universities in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Lowell Littleton returned to his home here Saturday from a Houston hospital where he was treated for a heart problem. He was recuperating at midweek.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Jo Davidson

This has been a long holiday week since Christmas. Thursday the 26th was business as usual with beauty shop in the A.M. and Bible Study by Ted, music by Glenda Henderson during the afternoon.

Friday morning volunteers Annabelle and Dorothy played bingo with the residents and winners were Tomasa and Bertha. Saturday was a rest day and Sunday the Calvary Baptist Church provided our Church service. Monday a VCR tape on Christmas Gold music was shown by Jo Davidson. Tuesday Thelma James's Girl Scout troop took down our Christmas tree and got our living room back in order. Melissa Watson, Edna Alvera, Angie Marshall, Janet King and Kelly Porter were the gals in attendance. Wednesday was New Year's Day and the residents were treated to delicious homemade cupcakes made by Joanne Williamson.

Thursday our beauty shop was manned by volunteers Vivian, Clara, Jeanne and Alena Faye. That afternoon the Lutheran Church held Bible study led by Charles Huffman. Friday was bingo with volunteers Dorothy and Annabelle. Winners were Theo, Alice, Grace, Ola, Edna and Juana.

Friday afternoon a big celebration was held with the official presentation of the keys to our van from Gene Perry of Perry Motors to Elvira Caldwell. Afterward a party of punch and cookies were served by auxiliary members to honor Ann McCartney for her work as Activity Director the past nine years. We also introduced our new director who was hired this week. She is Joanne Marshall and we are very pleased to have her as our new leader. Thank you Ann for your dedication in the past and welcome Joanne to your new job for the future.

Most of all we thank all of you in Crockett County for making 1985 such a wonderful year for us. Our van is beautiful and we hope you all feel a part of being involved in our acquiring it. Wave at us, we'll be on the streets a lot.

Sesquicentennial committee to meet

The Crockett County Sesquicentennial Wagon Train Committee will hold a meeting Tuesday, January 14, at 7:00 p.m. at the High School Ag Shop Classroom.

All persons interested in forming a wagon train to leave Ozona in March and meet the Texas Wagon Train going through Barnhart are urged to attend.

EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

By Rachel Hall

One of your New Year's resolutions may have been to lose a few pounds or become more physically fit. If so, then an upcoming 12 week "Fit For Life" weight control series may be of interest to you.

The "Fit For Life" series is research based and deals primarily with diet and exercise. Topics covered in the series include: measurement of initial, midpoint, and final body fat, flexibility, and cardiovascular fitness; controlling eating cues; snacking and eating binges; proper exercise methods; low calorie meals; nutrition myths; stress management; positive self-concept; slimming with appropriate clothes; eating out; and fad diets.

The "Fit For Life" Weight Control series is inexpensive, when compared to many commercial programs. Classes will be held once a week, for one hour. Specific times (morning, noon, or evening) are flexible. The series is not an exercise program, rather it concentrates on personalizing an individual's total diet and exercise plan. Classes will begin the first week of February.

There will be a $25.00 registration fee--$15.00 will be returned at the conclusion of the series. A physician's release is required. Call the County Extension Office at 2-2721 for a registration form and details.

Male and Female Dieting Differences
It's especially frustrating to go on a diet with your spouse only to discover that he or she is losing weight quickly while you're not.

Before the battle of the bulge turns into the battle of the sexes in your household, consider these facts about male and female weight loss:

Men can often lose weight faster because they have a larger proportion of muscle tissue which burns more calories than fat tissue.

Men tend to put on weight around the abdomen. Added weight in this area can influence the metabolism. So it's a type of weight that's easier to lose, but associated with higher medical risk.

Women tend to gain weight primarily in the lower body, where it exerts little influence on the metabolism. This weight is harder to get off, but medically less risky.

Women tend to eat a wider variety of foods, while men prefer to eat the same things over and over. Many men also gravitate toward heavier foods and bulk.

Women tend to look inward for the solution to problems such as emotional eating, but men tend to place the blame on outside factors like stress, time schedules or work.

Women are better than men at record-keeping, which is a key to understanding eating habits and learning how to change them. But men use exercise as a means to maintain their weight more frequently than women.

Men seem to have more confidence that they can effect change to achieve weight loss. And women are more likely to have tried more diets, lost weight, and then have gained it back.

Losing weight can be a cooperative rather than a competitive venture in any household. Men can learn about meal planning and balancing diets, while women can learn to incorporate exercise into their lives and have more confidence that they can actually lose weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Perry were in Arlington, Dec. 21, to attend graduation ceremonies at the University of Texas at Arlington, where their daughter, Pat Eason, received her Master's Degree in tax accounting.

Tom and Corie Lane were in Fort Davis over the weekend to attend a Halley's Comet party at McDonald Observatory. They viewed the comet and attended a slide show and lecture, spending the night at the Indian Lodge before returning home.

Ron and Doris Kruse stopped over in Ozona Sunday on their way from Reno, Nev. to Baytown, where they will begin a new job for Dresser, Inc.

Lions and Lady Lions in mid-season slump

By Amy Beth Scoggins

The Ozona Varsity Lions experienced a slump during the holidays with one win and three losses.

The Lions played the Greenwood Rangers Thursday night for their first game of the Reagan County Tournament. The Rangers slid by the Lions by a score of 37 to 35.

Steve Sanchez led in scoring with 11 points and Scott Denman followed with nine. Bret Thompson provided seven points. Harvey Fierro contributed four points while Brad Thompson and Mike Morrow scored two points each.

The Lions were eliminated by the Stanton Buffaloes on Friday night with a score of 66 to 47.

Fierro was high scorer with a total of 12 points. Sanchez and Morrow followed with ten points each. Hightower, Bret Thompson, and Brad Thompson contributed four points each. Lara scored two points while Isaias Flores provided one.

Also playing in the tournament were Roger Flores and Mark Marshall.

"We didn't have a good tournament," Coach John Curry said. "We seem to be having a mid-season slump, but we are working on some basics again and will be out of the slump by our next game."

The Fort Stockton Panthers defeated the Lions in a close game that went into over-time on December 28 by a score of 58 to 56.

Denman scored 17 points followed by Sanchez with ten points. Contributing eight points each were Hightower and Fierro. Morrow scored four points. Brad Thompson, Bret Thompson, Lara, and Marshall provided two points each.

The Lions squeezed by the Irion Co. Hornets on December 27 by a score of 58 to 57.

The Hornets led in the first quarter with a score of 15 to 13. The Hornets lead remained the same in the second quarter and the first half of play ended with Irion Co. ahead 31 to 29.

The third quarter ended in a tie at 43 to 43. The Lions edged past the Hornets in the fourth quarter to win the game.

Sanchez led in scoring with 32 points followed by Lara and Morrow with six points each. Providing four points each were Fierro and Denman. Hightower, Brad Thompson, and Marshall contributed two points each.

The Varsity Lions will play their first district game on Friday night in Davidson Memorial Gymnasium against the Coahoma Bulldogs.

The Varsity Lady Lions fell to defeat 52 to 43 against Irion Co. on December 27 and were upset by Fort Stockton 57 to 42 on December 28.

The Lady Lions led Fort Stockton at the end of the first quarter 15 to 12. The Pantherettes put 25 points on the board in the second quarter and moved ahead 37 to 28.

The third quarter came to an end with Fort Stockton ahead 49 to 34 and the Pantherettes played on to win the game.

Zelda Munoz and Julie Reagor provided nine points each while Stacy Lay scored seven. Contributing six points were Lydia Pena and Vanessa Miller. Sharon McCrohan scored four points followed by Vickie Reagor with three points.

Ozona played a close first quarter against Irion Co. with the quarter ending in a tie 9 to 9. The Hornets strengthened their lead in the second quarter and were ahead 27 to 28.

The Lady Lions began to put points on the board in the third quarter and shortened the Hornets lead to 37-33. The Hornets scored 15 points in the fourth quarter and allowed the Lady Lions to score only ten.

Reagor scored 15 points followed by Munoz with ten.

Contributing five points each were Vickie Reagor and Pena. Miller and Lay provided three points each. McCrohan also scored two points.

Letters to the Editor

January 6, 1986

Dear Kitty,

I found this bill among some things and I am sure it didn't get paid. I am terribly sorry and I thank you for continuing sending the Stockman to me anyway.

I'm sending a double payment for the past due payment and for next year's subscription. If the subscription has gone up, let me know how much I owe you.

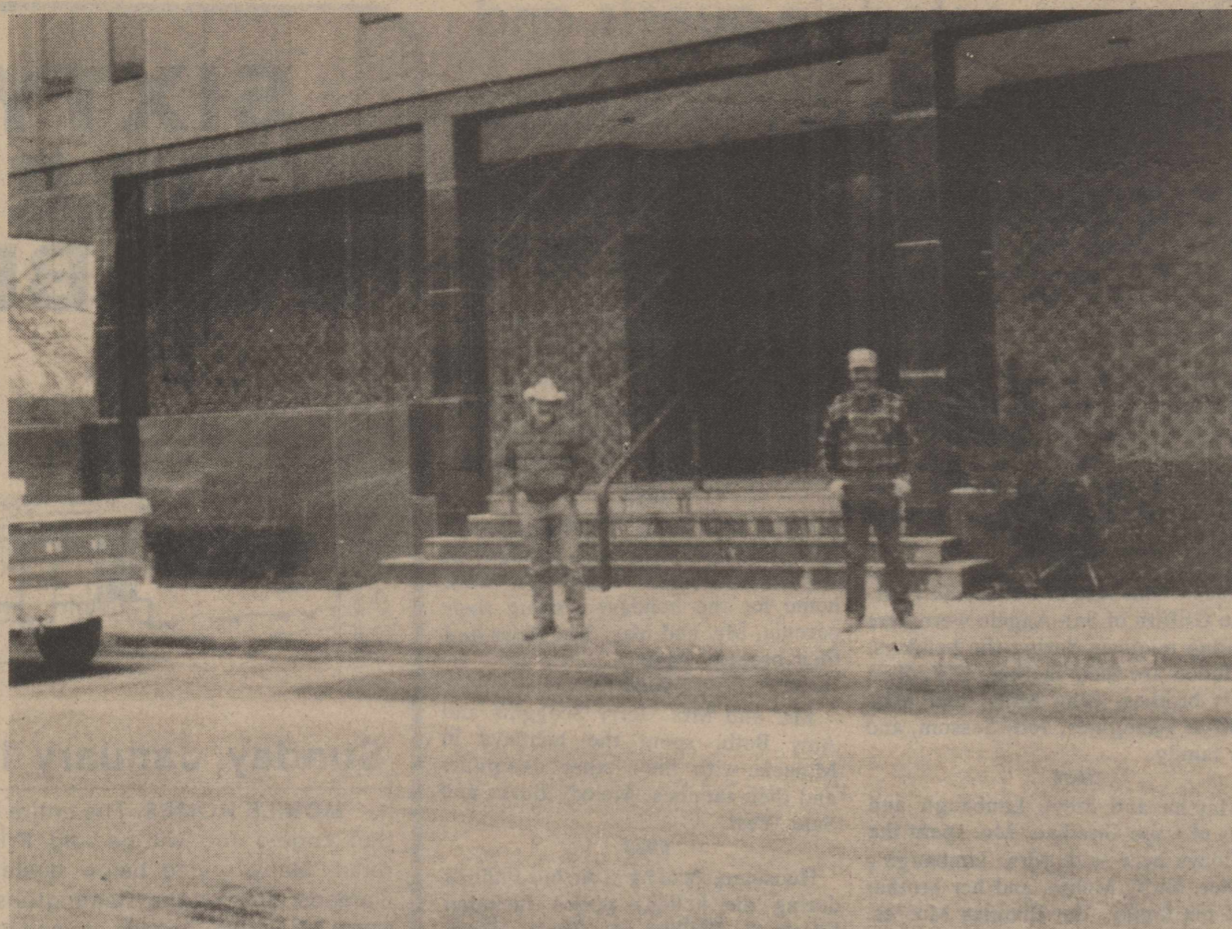

I really enjoy the Stockman as it is my link to Ozona. I've been gone from there 3 years now, but I still read about people I know, every week.

Thanks again for continuing my subscription.

Sincerely,
Tara Brubaker

and 9 beginning at 8:00 a.m. and all lambs, goats, and steers must be in the barn by 6:00 p.m. on January 9.

The judging will begin on Friday, January 10 at 6:30 p.m. with the Commercial Angora Doe Kids and followed by the First Year Feeder Classes.

Activities on Saturday, January 11, begin at 8:00 a.m. with the steer show followed by the regular lamb show. A barbecue will be served by 4-H Parents and Leaders Assn. This association will also have a concession stand on Friday afternoon and Saturday. The presentation of awards will be at 1:30 followed by the premium sale at 2:00 p.m.

Ken Cook, District Extension Director from San Angelo, will judge the steers and lambs. Hayden Haby from Uvalde, will judge the commercial angora goat show and Alan McWilliams, County Extension Agent from Crane, will judge showmanship and first year feeder award.

Classes to be judged on Friday will be Commercial Angora Doe Kids, Champion Angora Doe Kid, Pair of Doe Kids, First Year Feeder-light weight crosses, and First Year Feeder-heavy weight crosses.

Saturday classes will begin at 8:00 a.m. with steers, light weight fine-wool lambs, middle light fine-wool lambs, middle heavy fine-wool lambs, heavy fine-wool lambs, champion and reserve fine-wool lambs, light crossbred lambs, middle light crossbred lambs, middle heavy crossbred lambs, heavy crossbred lambs, champion and reserve crossbred lambs, high school showmanship, Jr. High showmanship, and elementary showmanship.

The public is cordially invited to come out to the heated show barn to watch the youth of Crockett County exhibit their livestock and enjoy the noon barbecue and concession stand. Barbecue tickets will be $4.00 per plate with carryouts available.

Deadline looms for incentive apps.

January 31, 1986 is the final day for producers to sign up for their 1985 Wool and Mohair incentive payments. The following information is needed to complete the application:

Number of head shorn, Shearing date (month and year), Unshorn lamb purchases, and Freight from ranch to wool house.

To ensure timely incentive payments the application must be filed by the 31st of January. The support price for 1985 shorn wool is $1.73 per pound and $4.65 per pound for mohair. Producers can expect to receive incentive payments sometime around April 11, 1986.

YOU MAY BE LOSING ENERGY DOLLARS OUT YOUR CHIMNEY!

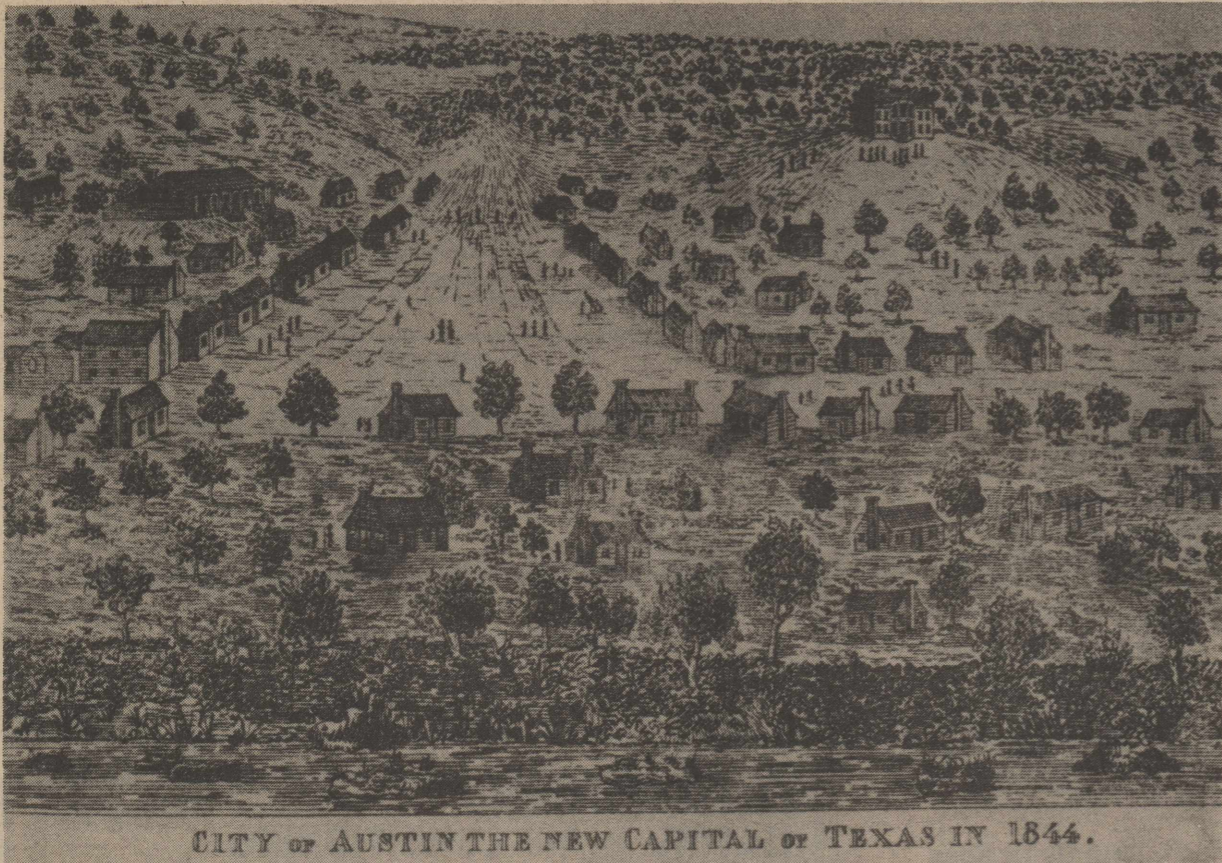

Close Your Fireplace Damper When You're Not Using It.

Many people leave their fireplace damper open all year long, so it's always ready when they want to build a fire. An open damper lets winter heat and summer air conditioning escape through your chimney. As conditioned air rises out of your home, your electric bill rises, too. So, be sure to close the damper in your fireplace when you're not using it.

A glass fireplace cover can also help you save energy and money this winter. With your damper closed and with an airtight glass screen in front of your fireplace when it's not in use, you can help prevent ENERGY DOLLARS from escaping through your chimney.

CITY OF AUSTIN THE NEW CAPITAL OF TEXAS IN 1844.

12-day journey reveals much about Texas, the new republic

First of the Sesquicentennial series
By Arlene Battista

Like many other Americans, the Reverend A. B. Lawrence from New Orleans is talking of moving to Texas, the Republic which won its freedom from Mexico almost four years ago. "I want to write a book to furnish useful information to the thousand flocking towards the new and rising young star of the West," he tells a gentleman friend named Stille, a publisher from Philadelphia. On these closing days of 1839 the two begin a 12-day journey through portions of the new Republic. Like most emigrants arriving by steamboat, Lawrence and Stille begin their journey in Galveston, the largest city in Texas with a population of 3,000. The city contains many stores, six hotels, one Presbyterian church and two schools; many other buildings are in progress.

While strolling through the city, Lawrence stops to chat with a gentleman who has lived in Galveston for some time. "Four years ago nought was seen but one unbroken beach," he tells the preacher, who concludes that, "judging from the past, we may soon expect to see this infant city become a large and popular port."

From Galveston, the course of most emigrants is by steamboat up Galveston Bay to the San Jacinto River. Some distance up appears the mouth of its principal tributary, Buffalo Bayou, which leads to Houston, the Republic's second largest city with a population of 2,000. Just this year the seat of government of the Republic moved from Houston to Austin—a city Lawrence is most anxious to visit, as no visual description of the place currently exists.

The new year, 1840, has arrived and the travellers are anxious to move West. On January 1 at 9 a.m. they mount their horses and by dusk they're well into the rolling, undulating countryside. "The elevated prairies seen on this day exceed anything we've before witnessed!" the preacher exclaims to a planter from Tennessee, with whom they're resting for the night.

Farmers have every inducement to move here, agrees the planter. Crops grow better than those grown with pride in Tennessee, he says, telling of a sweet potato he grew that weighed over eight pounds. The next several days take the men through Washington-on-the-Brazos, La Grange, Bastrop and other towns; all settlers concur that crops grow easily in this rich soil.

For the settlers, luxuries are few and the move can be trying, but most worries and fears center around hostile Indians. Some tell of lost family members or of being driven from their homes; others are lucky and live in friendly lands. The Texas Army is making great progress in driving Indians from both their accustomed haunts and the dwellings of white men, so while some are skeptical, many are confident the raids will soon end.

On January 12 at about 2 p.m. Lawrence and Stille finally come in sight of the city of Austin, population estimated at 1,000. Congress Avenue passes through the contemplated city, with temporary accommodations erected at its sides and two houses of Congress already built. Further down are hotels and stores, evidently the center of town. Two sites have already been selected as places for temples of worship to the Most High.

Several Indians are scattered through town, said to be from the friendly Tonkawa and Lipan tribes. "They seem to be visiting for purposes of trade," Lawrence says, noting the packs of buffalo and other skins they carry on their horses.

While in Austin, Lawrence begins to draft a book, A History of Texas. "The city of Austin exhibits a delightful variety and perhaps unexampled symmetry of parts," he writes. "...In no other new city can so many elements of beauty, salubrity and elegance, be found united."

This "Journey Through Texas" is a Sesquicentennial Project of the University of Houston-University Park Office of Media Relations. This piece is based on material housed in the Special Collections Department of the university's M. D. Anderson Library.

A WORD TO THE WISE FROM POOR RICHARD'S ALMANAC
Well done is better than well said.
Remember Poor Richard's advice? We think it's as sound today as it was in the eighteenth century.
Our reputation is the best reason for bringing your banking to us.

Since 1905-through two World Wars and a Great Depression we have now progressed with the community.
Just as important we want to grow into the future serving your financial needs. Try us
Pioneering Strength . . . Progressive Spirit
Old-fashioned virtues like service & savings, the convenience of tomorrow's bank today.
