Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

It's been "fruit basket turn-over" with the staff around here this week, but that's pretty normal in the newspaper business. Betty Flores left us after two years and went to Saginaw, Michigan. We have Irma Ybarra filling her shoes. She's not as nervous this week as she was last week, so we think she will be coming along fine. Amy Beth Scoggins has been our summer intern this year, but she is leaving August 13, and will be getting ready to enter Baylor University in the fall. She has been a barrel of laughs all summer. Willa and I are still here, but pretty shopworn. Jan Cagle, one of our own, showed up Monday from Odessa, and has been a wonderful help the past couple of days. She trained for newspaper here at the Stockman and now teaches English at Permian High School.

I look back with nostalgia at all the kids we have trained, and can't think of a one who stayed with the newspaper. Poor pay and the constant deadline usually drives them to some other career. It's exciting and fun for awhile, but it wears thin over the years.

One thing is certain, there is never a dull moment around here, and we get cussed or praised every week without fail. I guess the praising is the part we like best. June is always a good month. We hear from all our subscribers and they almost always send a note along with their check.

We had a bit of a problem when last week's paper came out. Dr. Owensby called to say he used the hospital just as much now as he ever did and planned to continue this practice in the future. He took exception to our saying "the doctors do not use the hospital." We are truly sorry if we offended, but everytime we have heard this discussed by whatever hospital administrator, these same words are used. Dr. Owensby did say he did not admit patients if they did not want to be admitted, and certainly we cannot fault him for that. He wasn't angry, just wanted to set the record straight, and ended saying they read and enjoyed the paper every week and found nothing to complain about most of the time. We're glad to set the record straight.

We've been talking to Harry Sinclair, a former Midland oil operator, who is here to get support for a minimum security federal prison at Crockett Heights, the site of the old radar base. Sinclair says the facility would house white collar criminals, and would be a boost to the local economy by bringing in a large payroll. He says 30 to 40 persons would be employed at an average salary of from $18,000 to $20,000 annually each. He and his associates were here last night to speak with the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and then to Crockett Heights to talk to the homeowners there. We should have more information on this situation next week.

School district to hold budget hearing

As area school districts prepare to make adjustments in budgeting and enrollment areas, Crockett County CCSD is planning a tentative public budget hearing for Tuesday, August 26. The board will have one more workshop on the budget, according to School Superintendent Garland Davis, before that hearing.

Although Davis said he does not expect enrollment to drop drastically in the fall, he did say the board will be making budget increases and cuts, with "more cuts than increases." The superintendent said mandated salary increases will be made, but added that it would be premature to speculate about specific areas where cuts will be made.

Persons who wish to make suggestions or be heard by the board should have their names placed on the agenda several days prior to the public hearing, Davis said.

MISS OZONA RODEO Donna Jo Crawford who will be the reigning queen until this time next year. The queen was selected during activities Saturday night. Marty Acton assists.

House bill 72 increases local school budgets by $2.7 billion

In the two years since the legislature enacted HB 72, local school budgets have grown by $2.7 billion. This higher spending level has been funded as much by local property taxes as by record-setting increase in state taxes. Over the past two years, an added $1 billion in state aid was matched by a $1 billion increase in local school property taxes. Last year trustees in the 1,063 local school districts levied the largest school property tax increase in history--$551 million--for a total tax bill of $4.6 billion.

Locally, the Crockett County CSD's tax levy last year was increased by 8.1 percent for 1985-86 as compared to a 13.3 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The figures come from the latest issue of Bench Marks for 1986-87 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the Texas Research League, an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted last year called for spending $3,346 per student for current operations. Crockett County CSD's budget provided for $4,461.67 per student based on the 951 students in average daily attendance in 1984-85.

Four dollars in five were spent for

Failure to wear seat belts cause of deaths

Failure to wear seat belts may have been to blame for two fatalities and an injury in separate automobile accidents near Ozona Tuesday.

Javier Almance, 31, of Odessa, was killed in an accident 33 miles south of Ozona on Hwy 163, when he lost control of his car, causing it to leave the roadway on one side and then the other, skid sideways, and overturn twice, ejecting the driver. The vehicle, a 1982 Chevy 2-door, came to a rest upside down, leaving Almance dead at the scene. He was alone in the car at the time of the accident, which occurred at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

In a second automobile accident the same day, 24 year-old Robert Salazar of Texas City, a passenger in a 1984 Ford, was killed 1.9 miles west of Ozona on IH-10 in Crockett County. Salazar's wife, Cheryl Ferguson Salazar, 21, lost control of the car, causing it to run off the left side of the road, cross back over and overturn in the right eastbound lane.

salaries. Statewide, payroll expense averaged $2,705 per student, as compared to $3,313.43 in Crockett County CSD. Payroll expense is a combination of salary levels and staffing patterns.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Crockett County CSD in 1984-85 was $23,277. The average among all school districts in Texas was 23,281 per classroom teacher. While the legislature and local school trustees focused discussion on classroom teachers' salaries, statewide only two-fifths of the 1985 budget increase was used for that purpose.

In Crockett County CSD the average salary for administrators was $36,724, and $24,758 for other professional support employees (librarians, counselors, nurses, supervisors, etc.).

Taxpayers provided one teacher for 12.5 students in Crockett County CSD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher of 1 to 16.3. Because of small classes, especially at the high-school level, and abbreviated teaching schedules, many classes have more than the average number of students. HB 72 requires no more than 22 students in kindergarten, first, or second grade classes next year, but one-fourth of the districts obtained a waiver from that restriction last year.

The average school district imposed a property tax at the rate of 76.3 cents per $100 of appraised value, which value averaged 89.2% of market value (selling price). The "true tax rate" was 68.1 cents (76.3 times 89.2%) statewide. Locally, the rate on market value in Crockett County CSD was $667. The tax on a house in this district that would sell for $80,000 would have been $329. If the homeowner were eligible for homestead exemptions, the tax would have been $210, and if owned by a person 65 years or older, the tax on an $80,000 house in this district would have averaged $169, or less if subject to a tax freeze.

Revenue lost from exemptions totaled $915 million, which was $135 million more than the previous year. To balance school budgets, the revenue loss from exemptions was imposed upon other taxpayers in the school district.

Local property taxes plus state aid was $5,125 per student in Crockett County CSD as compared to $3,299 statewide. The primary purpose of state aid is to equalize state and local tax resources among schools. In 1985-86 tax resources ranged from less than $2,500 per student in ten districts to more than $10,000 in 12 districts.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Like cooks making stew, several state officials moved last week to throw their own economic cures into the boiling caldron of a special session:

- Gov. Mark White called for budget cuts, even the abolishing of several state agencies which he would name later.
- Texas Banking Commissioner James Sexton started drafting a bill to allow out-of-state ownership of Texas banks, and
- Sponsors of the horseracing, dogracing and lottery bills called for the Legislature to consider those issues.

White, who sets the agenda, will probably widen the special call once it appears that the necessary budget cuts will be made.

Although Hobby is the only major figure publicly supporting a tax increase, that issue may also be added to the special call.

Forecast Questioned
The tax issue will surface once lawmakers determine how much revenue remains to be raised to avoid an estimated $3.5 billion deficit.

But as pressure built last week, some lawmakers questioned the accuracy of the deficit forecast made by Comptroller Bob Bullock. It was reported that a leaked interoffice memo revealed some of Bullock's top economists advised him the shortage was $700 million less, in their opinion.

Bullock staunchly defended his numbers. His final figure is a worst case scenario that could improve if Texas wins several court cases.

And, Bullock said, the state treasury could stay solvent until January's regular session by piecing together various state funds and delaying some large scheduled payments.

key Republican House members last week.

Mauro welcomed the surprise support from Reps. Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, and Randall Riley, R-Austin, who applauded Mauro's management of the Texas General Land Office as historically one of the best.

With the move, the two House Republicans backed away from GOP candidate M. D. Anderson, Jr., a dance hall owner from Seven Points, who is not related to the family of Houston cancer hospital fame.

White Opposed
And in a turn to the opposite direction, a Democratic state representative from Beaumont announced he will work against Mark White's reelection by asking minorities not to vote for White.

State Rep. Al Price said White has not appointed enough black regents at Lamar University despite numerous requests.

White's campaign office responded the governor has appointed more blacks to state boards and commissions than all past governors combined.

Price stopped short of endorsing White's opponent, Bill Clements.

Interstate Banking
The Eden Bank was closed last week by Banking Commissioner Sexton, the 13th Texas bank to fail this year because of bad oil and agriculture loans.

Sexton immediately renewed his plea for Texas to repeal its constitutional ban on interstate banking.

Some banks need outside capital, and branch banking should also be permitted to allow assumptions of liabilities of failed banks, he said.

Mauro Endorsed
Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, a Democrat, received endorsements from two

Letters to the Editor

July 29, 1986
Dear Sheriff Billy Mills,

While spending the night in your charming city of Ozona, I read your local paper since I am a journalist. As Christians, we could not help notice the bad economic times our brothers and sisters are having now. Please accept this money in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to help someone in need. I trust that the good people of Crockett County elected a Christian man as sheriff, therefore, you realize that you are accountable to God how to deal with it. We trust the Lord in you.

This money contains the message to the people of Crockett County that we, in Michigan, went through bad times too; but now they are over. We truly pray that yours will be over soon; just trust in the Lord by being patient and also be kind to one another. It will soon be over faster than you think.

My husband was laid off from Chrysler Corporation for four years. He delivered newspapers etc. until it was over. Finally he was hired back at a better job than what he ended with. So, trust in the Lord!

Hebrews 11:1-3 "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good testimony. By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible." (New King James Version)

Just remember that Jesus Christ is suffering with you and you are not alone.

Public Notices

RE: PRODUCER'S GAS COMPANY
§ GAS UTILITIES
§ DOCKET NO. 6124

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATE

TO THE HONORABLE RAILROAD COMMISSION OF TEXAS:
COMES NOW Producer's Gas
Company ("PGC"), an intrastate gas pipeline, and files its Statement of Intent to Change its Rate charged to Valero Industrial Gas Company ("Vigas") an intrastate gas pipeline, under its February 1, 1986 agreement with Producer's Gas Company (PGC contract number PG-250920-S-006)
and in support hereof states:

I. The current rate for gas delivered by PGC to Vigas under the contract is $1.18 per MMBtu.

II. The proposed rate for gas to be delivered by PGC to Vigas under the contract amendment dates June 26, 1986, is $1.25 per MMBtu and has been agreed to by Vigas. The proposed rate is a 6 percent increase over the existing rate. The June 26, 1986, contract amendment is attached hereto as Exhibit A and incorporated herein for all purposes.

III. PGC had gross revenues of approximately $406,732,526.00 during the twelve month period ending December, 1985. The proposed contract rate change will increase annual revenues to PGC by approximately $6,296,000. This represents a .0015 percent increase in total annual revenues of PGC.

IV. The proposed contract rate change does not constitute a "major change" as that term is defined in Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat. Ann. art. 1446e, § 5.08(b) (Vernon Supp. 1984). The base contract between the parties dated February 1, 1986, provides for monthly renegotiation of the price to be paid by Vigas. As a result of the competitive nature of gas markets, small negotiated monthly increases can be expected and should be implemented as expeditiously as possible to maintain continuity of service. PGC believes that the circumstances constitute good cause, and requests the Commission allow the proposed increase to take effect as of the date of filing of this Statement of Intent, prior to the end of the thirty-five (35) day period as provided in Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat. Ann. art. 1446(e) §5.08(a).

V. The proposed transaction is a pipeline-to-pipeline transaction between unaffiliated entities. Neither party had an unfair advantage during the negotiations as set forth in the affidavit of Lon P. Compton attached hereto as Exhibit B.

The proposed rate is therefore considered to be just and reasonable as provided in Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat. Ann. art 1446E, § 5.02(b), and should be approved by the regulatory authority. The proposed revised tariff sheet is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

VI. Notice of this proposed change is being given in accordance with the requirement of Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat.

Land Bank lowers rates

The Federal Land Bank of Texas lowered its variable interest rates as of August 1, to farmers and ranchers who finance with the bank.

Variable interest rates on farm and ranch loans will decrease to 11 percent and rural residence and farm-related business loans will decrease to 11.5 percent. According to Jack B. Smith Jr., president of the Federal Land Bank Association of Sonora, the reduction will save Texas farmers and ranchers almost $12.5 million in interest cost annually.

The Land Bank, which provides more than $2.5 billion in rural land financing, had been locked into an interest rate freeze for more than a year. The bank's board of directors first asked the Farm Credit Administration (FCA), its regulator in Washington, D.C., for an interest rate reduction in September 1985. The Texas board had asked for a 1 percent across-the-board decrease for the Federal Land Bank. However, FCA would not allow more than a one-half of one percent reduction at this time.

Smith noted that the Texas Land Bank was one of the first of 12 Federal Land Banks nationwide to get approval of an overall interest rate reduction. He added that district banks wanting to lower interest rates must meet certain criterion set up by FCA.

"We are pleased that FCA has approved our request," Smith said. "For some time now, we have been looking for ways to give our borrowers some relief on the cost of their operations. We will continue to ask our regulator for even lower rates for our borrowers."

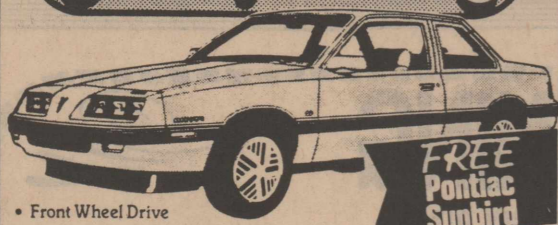

Smith said the Federal Land Bank of Texas will lower its rates even though the bank posted a loss for the first six months of the year.

"Because of aid required for other financially stressed Farm Credit Banks, our earnings dropped from a positive $12 million to a negative $17.2 million," Smith explained. "This was the result of a nationwide agreement that provides for capital infusion into system banks experiencing serious financial difficulties."

The Federal Land Bank of Texas and its 44 Federal Land Bank Associations provide credit to 30,000 of the state's farmers and ranchers.

Hot weather brings special lawn problems

Rub a dub laundry markers have arrived at THE OZONA STOCKMAN office, 99c each. 12-tfn

FIRST MANICURE-Kathy Duncan teaches Bonnie Martin the proper way to manicure her nails at the Grooming Clinic Tuesday morning, sponsored by the Extension Office.

Along with hot temperatures, the summer season in Texas may bring special lawn problems—drought, weeds, insects and disease.

These lawn problems can cause concerns for homeowners unless accurate diagnosis and proper treatment takes place before they become severe, points out Billy Reagar.

Dry spots, thin turf and weeds can result from improper watering, fertilizing and mowing practices. Follow recommended cultural practices before applying a chemical to correct lawn problems, the agent suggests.

Drought stress most often occurs in mid-summer and shows up as wilted, discolored turf. Adjust watering schedules to wet the soil to a depth of four to six inches, and water only when grass shows symptoms of moisture stress.

Also, raise mowing heights one-half inch to improve drought tolerance in mid-summer, Reagar adds.

Lack of nitrogen or iron often creates a lawn problem. Grass with a nitrogen deficiency may have a pale color and be heavily infested with weeds. A light application of a nitrogen fertilizer will improve the lawn's appearance.

Grass leaves that have yellow stripes parallel to the leaf margins may be deficient in iron. A foliar application of iron sulfate at six ounces per 1,000 square feet will usually solve this problem.

If a St. Augustine lawn has symptoms similar to nitrogen or iron deficiency but does not respond to applications of either material, suspect St. Augustine Decline (S.A.D.). Close examination of S.A.D. infected turf will show green and yellow blotches on the leaves. Continue good maintenance practices where this problem exists. Also, Floratam, Raleigh or Seville, new St. Augustine grass varieties resistant to S.A.D., may be sprigged into the infected area.

Leaf spot diseases are generally a problem when lawns are under stress and increase with high temperatures, drought, heavy shade and close mowing, points out the agent. While proper mowing and watering will reduce these problems, fungicides may be required to prevent serious damage.

Chinch bugs and white grubs feed heavily on lawns during mid-summer, and their damage resembles drought injury. If turf does not respond to applications of water, suspect these insects. Both pests damage St. Augustine grass, but only the white grub damages bermudagrass lawns.

Chinch bugs and white grubs can be controlled with insecticides. Water the lawn thoroughly prior to applying an insecticide for chinch bug control, and follow with a light watering.

Reagar advises drenching the lawn after an insecticide is applied for grub control, since grubs feed in the soil. If you have a history of grubs in your lawn, now is the ideal time to treat your lawn.

WEDNESDAY MORNING LADIES GOLF

Blind bogey winners Wednesday, July 30, of the 9-hole golfers were Barbara Wallace and Jeannine Henderson. Low gross was Barbara Wallace and low putts, Jeannine Henderson.

Others playing were Glenda Henderson, Becky Dillard, Rita Sigwing, Jill Seahorn and Benny Gail Hunnicutt.

Here it is July 30 after getting back from a week in Ruidoso, N.M. I have never seen it so beautiful out there. They have had rain all spring which they don't usually have. My daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bryan, of Houston, had a great time playing golf. For me, I went over the city with them and eating out in so many interesting places. Even so, it's great to be home again.

It has been so dry here, keep your plants you want to love, well watered. Let me know if there is a problem you may have and I will try to help you.

Watering in the summer involves more than simply keeping all plants wet. A gardener has to learn to treat each plant as the individual that it is, with its own special moisture requirements. Most plants need to dry out a bit between waterings, for this allows the air to get to the soil, but watering should never be delayed to the point that plants wilt. Also, since more water is required during the hot time of the year, this means that additional nutrients may have to be applied to replenish those leached away. Now is the time to check your plants and make a note of the ones that take the least care and still stay attractive.

Even though we haven't had a good rain to better condition our soil, you may want to begin planning to have a good fall vegetable garden and many blooming flowers.

From now until blooming time give special attention to your chrysanthemums. For large exhibition mums, leave only four well developed canes that form at the axle of each leaf. Pinch others out leaving only two if extra large blossoms are wanted. Plants should be staked as they grow, in order to have straight stems. Go over plants regularly and pinch off all laterals as they form and while tender. When buds begin to form, which should be soon, give them a feeding of a balanced fertilizer or liquid manure water. Water well after each feeding

Where is your destiny ?

While you're getting comfortably settled and fastening your seatbelt the captain and his crew are busy with their checklist. While you're watching the movie they'll be studying instruments, monitoring radio signals, following charts. It's wonderful to relax, confident the people up front know what they're doing and where they are going.

In the excitement of welcoming the beginning of the New Year don't overlook the fact that YOU are the chap with the checklists and charts. We aren't passengers on this spinning globe. We are pilots and navigators and members of the crew — all responsible for reaching safely a destiny God has set for us.

Long before Kitty Hawk generations were finding in the Bible their checklists and charts. In its earliest days the world recognized Christianity as a new "plan for living" and called it the Way.

"Happy New Year" puts all the emphasis on take-off. Those up front who know what they're doing always say "Happy Landing."

MIKE CAPRON

Library features Capron art work this month

The Crockett County Public Library is proud to present the art of Mike Capron during the month of August. Mike Capron has his studio in Ft. Davis. After punching cows for the better part of 20 years, Mike has turned to full-time painting. He never went to art school but along the way has studied art and attended workshops with Jan Herring, Peter Hurd, Joe Beeler, and Charles Reid. He has illustrated the book, The Last Campfire by Barney Nelson as well as magazine articles for "The Western Horseman" and "Horse and Rider." Mike and his wife, Anne, have two children. Anne is the daughter of Elizabeth Perner Wilson, and the granddaughter of Paul and Lizzie Perner whose home was donated for the Crockett County Public Library.

Livestock producers support Rehab center with round up

More than 200 Texas livestock raisers are rounding up support for the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children. The annual event benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and San Angelo.

Livestock donated by ranchers are collected at designated points in each community and transported to the auction site, explains Jim Alexander of Abilene, general chairman. "The area chairman's role is to make a personal pledge, then ask friends and neighbors to join them in the annual CRCC drive."

Aubrey Stokes of San Angelo serves as general CRCC co-chairman. Area chairmen for Ozona are Mrs. Jack (Sandy) Baggett, Jr., and Brian May.

Sales of livestock are converted to dollars and the amount helps provide treatment for nearly 11,000 handicapped persons of all ages.

"It will take over $4.7 million for us to treat those we will serve in 1986," says Shelley V. Smith, president and executive director of WTRC. "At least 54 percent of that budget must come from donations and events such as the Cattlemen's Round-Up. The balance comes from contract and insurance payments as no federal funds are used in treatment."

WTRC personnel provide top quality care in physical, occupational and speech therapy, audiology, orthotics, psychology, education and social services, all without charge to patients except for hearing aids and braces.

Despite a sluggish economy and depressed agricultural markets, CRCC officials are optimistic ranchers will agree that this cause deserves their donations of stock or cash.

Scheduled dates for the Round-Up are Cattle Sale-Sept. 29, Abilene Auction; Horse Sale-Oct. 4, Abilene Auction; Coleman Sale-Oct. 8; Stephenville Sale-Oct. 8; Junction Sheep and Goat Sale-Oct. 13; San Saba Sale-Oct. 16; and Brownwood Sale-Nov. 3.

Public meetings to decide pipeline route

The Crockett County Courthouse will be the site of the first of a series of public meetings regarding a proposed pipeline to extend 450 miles from McCamey to Webster, Texas.

The meetings, sponsored by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management with the cooperation of the Texas State Attorney-General's office, have been scheduled in 10 Texas cities August 11-18 to receive public comment and input on the All-American Pipeline Company proposal to extend its crude oil transmission pipeline.

The first meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m., Monday, August 11, at the Joe C. Thompson Conference Center in Austin. A second meeting is set for 7 p.m., Monday, August 11, in Fredericksburg at the Gillespie County Courthouse. Other meetings are scheduled for Yoakum, San Antonio, Del Rio, Ozona, Brownwood, Temple, College Station and League City, Texas. Each location is in the vicinity of an area that might be affected by pipeline routing.

The public scoping meetings are a preliminary step to preparation of the Federal Environmental Impact Statement which will cover the applicant's proposal. At each of the 10 meetings, members of the general public will hear a description of the proposal and of the roles to be played by the Federal Bureau of Land Management and the State of Texas in preparing the EIS for public review prior to decision on a right-of-way grant.

The public will also have ample opportunity to comment and to offer suggestions as to what should be covered in the document, and what measures should be taken to reduce the severity of any anticipated harmful environmental effect. Several alternate routes will also be examined, one north and one south of the applicant's proposed route.

A third public scoping meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, August 12, 7 p.m., at the Yoakum National Bank in Yoakum, with others scheduled for the rest of that week, as follows: Wednesday, August 13, 7 p.m., the San Antonio Convention Center; Thursday, August 14, 7 p.m., the Dink Wardlaw Agricultural Complex, Del Rio.

The first meeting of the second week will be at 7 p.m., Monday, August 18, at the Crockett County Courthouse in Ozona, followed by a 7 p.m. meeting, Tuesday, August 19, at the City Council Chambers in Brownwood; Wednesday, August 20, 7 p.m., the Ponderosa Motor Inn in Temple; Thursday, August 21, 7 p.m., the Community Center in College Station; and, Friday, August 22, 7 p.m., at the City Council Chambers in League City, near Houston.

In 1983, the All American Pipeline Company originally proposed construction and operation of a 30-inch heated pipeline from a point near Santa Barbara, Calif., to McCamey, Tex., where the crude oil would be transferred to existing pipelines for transmission to the Texas Gulf Coast. The Federal EIS for that proposal was prepared by the Bureau of Land Management, published as final in January 1985, with a right-of-way grant issued to the applicant in May 1985.

The Company has since decided to construct and operate an extension of the original line, of which 1200 miles has already been constructed. The Bureau of Land Management will be preparing the supplement to the original EIS and it is preparation of that supplement which will be the subject of the scoping meetings.

Persons unable to attend any of the public meetings can submit written comments to California Desert District, Bureau of Land Management, Attention: All American EIS Scoping, 1695 Spruce St., Riverside, Ca. 92507. All information received will be considered in preparing the Federal environmental document.

FIELDS VISIT GREAT GRANDSON

Judge and Mrs. A. O. Fields were in Andrews last week to visit their newest great grandson, Charles Andrew Griffin.

Charles Andrew was born July 25, in Odessa, weighing 8 pounds and 5 ounces, to Greg and Becky Griffin of Goldsmith.

Grandparents are Johnny and Barbara Griffin of Andrews.

Persons wishing to make a donation to the Cattlemen's Round-Up should contact the area chairmen or call Smith at WTRC in Abilene, 915/692-1633.

In 1960 when the late Fort Chadbourne rancher Conda Wylie donated 20 steers to be sold to defray operational expenses of WTRC, it was the start of something big. Almost spontaneously this gathering of livestock for the fall sale was called "Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children."

WTRC opened in 1953 in Abilene and moved into its own building in 1955. The first San Angelo facility opened in 1977, and a new $2.5 million building in San Angelo was ready for patients in the fall of 1982.

A professional staff of more than 150 persons provides out-patient treatment for both acute and chronic conditions. WTRC's uniqueness is derived from the scope of its comprehensive rehabilitation services and its "no charge" policy.

Spider mites cause problem

Spider mites are tiny but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather, points out Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60-inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. They lay eggs on the underside of leaves, which hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year.

Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of an infested leaf. They feed by inserting their mouth-parts into the tissue and sucking juice from the plant. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins and then throughout the plant. The plant may also shed buds and small fruit. Spider mites can completely defoliate a plant if not controlled.

Control of spider mites is often difficult and requires from two to four applications of insecticide at five-day intervals. Plants should be checked frequently for spider mites since the pests can build up rapidly.

Insecticides registered for controlling spider mites in gardens are diazinon, kelthane, malathion, ethion and sulfur. However, avoid using sulphur on vine plants as severe plant change could occur.

Local officials attend meet in Austin

Debbi Puckett, District Clerk, and Teri Williams, Court Administrator attended a seminar on Trial Court Caseflow Management in Austin this past week. The Seminar was sponsored by the Office of Court Administration and the Texas Judicial Council. Judges, Clerks and Administrators from numerous counties throughout the state attended the seminar.

The purpose of the seminar was implementation of the Proposed Administrative Rules for Texas Trial Courts. These rules were completed by the Texas Supreme Courts and are subject to ratification by the Texas Legislature. The goal is the timely disposition of cases and implementation of a Delay Reduction Program.

The passage of these rules will make the courts responsible for the control of cases as they are filed until their disposition. Traditionally, attorneys and litigants have assumed this role.

Monitoring Systems, both manual and automated were discussed at the seminar.

Doc Watson retirement announced by DHT

D. R. "Doc" Watson, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) District Engineer for the 17 counties headquartered in San Angelo, has announced his retirement effective August 31, 1986.

Doc's long and distinguished engineering career with the Department began in June 1950 upon his graduation from the University of Texas. From 1950 to 1973 he worked in the Paris District beginning as an instrumentman in Clarksville and being promoted thru various positions to District Construction Engineer. In October 1973 Doc was appointed District Engineer in San Angelo which comprised 13 counties. In February 1982 the Del Rio District was consolidated and the San Angelo District was expanded to 17 counties making it the largest District in the State.

While attending the University of Texas Doc was elected to membership in Chi Epsilon, Honorary Civil Engineering Fraternity and Tau Beta Pi, Honorary Engineering Fraternity.

Green County United Way Board of Directors for 4 years. He has been active in the Downtown Lions Club. Doc and his wife Kitty are active members of the First Baptist Church.

Social Security covers earnings

The earnings of household workers who are paid cash wages of at least $50 during a 3-month calendar quarter are covered under Social Security, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

In such cases, Upp said, the employer is responsible for deducting Social Security taxes from the workers' wages and for paying an equal amount. As an alternative, the employer may pay the full amount of Social Security taxes due.

These taxes are paid to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The taxes should be sent to IRS together with a report of total wages paid. The appropriate form for making this report may be obtained at any IRS office.

Since the amount of a Social Security benefit is based on covered earnings over a period of years, failure to report earnings for Social Security purposes may result in lower benefits or even in no benefits at the time the worker retires or becomes disabled or dies.

THE KEY TO LOWER COOLING BILLS

...YOUR THERMOSTAT!

RAISE YOUR THERMOSTAT SETTING TO LOWER YOUR COOLING BILLS

You can lower your cooling bill up to 50% by raising the temperature in your home from 72° to 78°. West Texas Utilities recommends that you set your thermostat at 78° or higher for efficient summer cooling. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help the higher thermostat settings feel more comfortable.

Also, check the filter in your air conditioning system regularly. A dirty filter could keep your system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

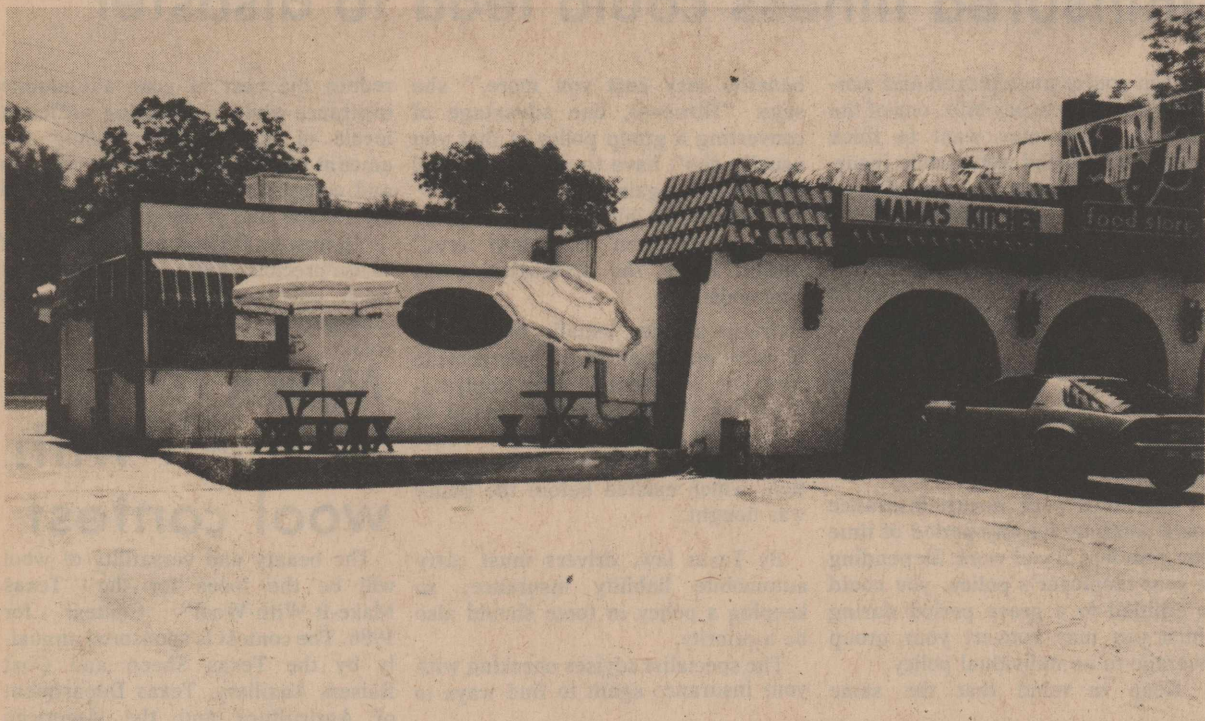

For more conservation tips on summer cooling, call your local WTU office.

The possibility of arson is being investigated by the Sheriff's Office in a small fire set Monday night in a grassy area near the VFW on Hwy 290.

The sheriff's office reported that officials have spoken to a 22 year-old witness in connection with the incident and are currently working to determine whether the fire was set accidentally or as an arson.

A fire department spokesperson said that fire was one of four call-outs received by the department this past week. Two of the incidents involved automobile accidents which resulted in fatalities Tuesday night, July 29.

A fourth call, a small grass fire 25 miles east of Ozona on the Dempster Jones ranch resulted in damage to about a half-acre of land after fire broke out when men were welding on a cattle guard.

Surviving dependents should apply

Surviving dependents of a deceased worker should apply for Social Security benefits as soon as possible following a worker's death, Franklin H. Upp, social security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

Applying promptly will allow benefits to start in the shortest possible time, Upp said. In addition, some benefits cannot be paid for more than 1 month before the month of application.

Social security benefits can be paid to these survivors: Unmarried children under 18, or 18-19 if full-time secondary school students. Unmarried children over 18 who were disabled before 22 and remain disabled. A surviving widow or widower of any age caring for a child under 16 or disabled who gets benefits. Widow or widower 50-60. Dependent parents 62 or over.

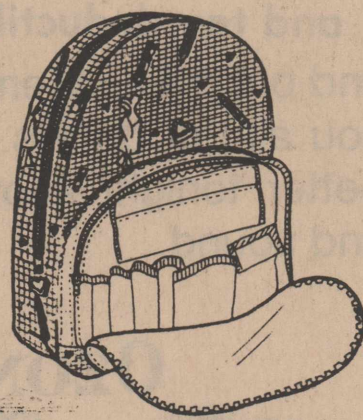

Benefits can also be paid to a surviving divorced spouse if she or he was married to the deceased worker 10 years or more. Grandchildren can get benefits on a grandparent's record under certain circumstances.

Before any benefits can be paid, the worker must have had credit for a certain amount of work covered by Social Security. In 1986, the amount ranges from 1 1/2 to 8 3/4 years depending on the age of the worker at death.

86 and going strong

Vera Baker, longtime beautician in Ozona, still enjoys working after 52 years as a beauty operator.

Senior operator has fun time

Vera Baker is without a doubt the senior "hair fixer" in Ozona. Into her fifty-second year as a beautician, she still gives the same personal service to all her patrons. At age 86, she walks a mile each morning, and spends the rest of the day in her shop at her home.

Vera says it has been a "fun time," and she has enjoyed her profession. She especially gives credit to her patrons, which she says are "the cream of the crop."

Many of the youngsters who were sent to Miss Vera by their mothers for their first eye-brow pluck are now sending their own children.

Vera finished beauty school in 1934 in Fort Worth. She has seen the business evolve from the old heat waves to the present cold waves. She remembers the days of the croonol wave well. She has been through all the hairstyles of the past fifty years while keeping up with the latest styles.

When Vera finished school and came back to Ozona, she worked for Pat Brown in the old hotel. Mrs. Brown went to California to visit her husband, Beeler, who was in service there and Vera was in charge. She and her young daughter, Joan, often slept at the shop at night. When Mrs. Brown returned, she sold the shop to Mrs. Tot Grimmer. Vera lost her job in 1939.

However, the people of Ozona came to her rescue and before long she was in business in the back of what is now the back of the Poco Taco. Dr. Tandy had offices in the front of the building. She took her clientele with her. Some time later she had a shop in the back of what is now the Stockman building.

Friends and acquaintances were supportive and she was urged to buy her own equipment and put in her own shop. She called the wholesale beauty supply house and worked out a way to purchase equipment. Another room, just for the shop, was built onto her house where she still opens up every day. Things were going well, the equipment was paid for and the future looked rosy. Then the flood of 1954 came. Water stood 36 inches in the shop part of the house, and the house itself was washed eight inches off its foundation. Getting back to normal was a monumental chore, but it was the same for everybody and with help from the Red Cross and Salvation Army, the town was soon back to normal, and Vera was doing business as usual at the same old stall.

She is a rabid Dallas Cowboy fan and up until the last few years, she drove back and forth to Dallas, where her daughter, Jean and Eddie Bower live, along with her and her family, Joan and Charles Martin with their four children. She has kept a lively interest in life and says "retirement" is a dirty word to her. She really believes that her work and activity have kept her healthy and well and she intends to keep on keeping on. Now she drives to San Angelo and catches a plane to Dallas, where she tries to see a couple of Cowboy games during the season and spend some time with her children and grandchildren.

Uninsured illness could lead to disaster

When you're unemployed and worrying about how to pay bills, one of the last things you may want to think about is health and automobile insurance. But it should be one of your major concerns, says a family economics expert.

"Without insurance, a major illness or accident could lead to financial disaster for your family," cautions Dr. Marjorie Marman.

The best time to check on insurance coverage is before you become unemployed, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

Find out if your health insurance would continue for any period of time after your last day of work. Depending on your employer's policy, you could be entitled to a grace period during which you may convert your group coverage to an individual policy.

"Keep in mind that the same benefits may cost you more," she says. "However, one advantage of converting a group policy is that you usually don't have to pass a physical examination again."

Another possible option is to investigate an "interim" or "short term" policy, notes the Extension home economist.

These policies usually require no physical examination and can provide coverage immediately after applying. Coverage is for a limited period of time, such as 60 to 90 days. These policies typically do not cover conditions which existed before the policy was bought.

By Texas law, drivers must carry automobile liability insurance, so keeping a policy in force should also be a priority.

The specialist advises checking with your insurance agent to find ways to reduce the cost of your automobile insurance while maintaining sufficient levels of coverage. Increasing the amount of your deductible on collision and comprehensive insurance should reduce the cost of the premium.

"It may be difficult to bring yourself to use precious dollars from savings or other assets, but health and auto insurance are important," says Marman.

Make it yourself with wool contest

The beauty and versatility of wool will be the focus for the "Texas Make-It-With-Wool" Contest for 1986. The contest is sponsored annually by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Auxiliary, Texas Department of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council. Purpose of the annual contest is to encourage the use of wool in sewing, knitting and crocheting fashionable garments. It also offers young experts the opportunity to compete for prizes and win recognition. District competition is held in 8 areas of Texas during September and October. State competition will be Saturday, October 18 at the State Fair of Texas. Anyone may enter. Categories for competition are determined by age and include Pre-teen, ages 10-13; Junior, ages 14-16; Senior, ages 17-21; and Adults over 21. The District III Contest will be October 11 at Sunset Mall in San Angelo. For more information, call the County Extension Office, 392-2721. Entries must be submitted two weeks prior to competition.

Fish die of oxygen depletion

During the hot, dry summer, farm fish ponds often suffer from oxygen depletion, and the result is fish die-off.

Oxygen depletion can result from a combination of factors, some which cannot be controlled by the pondowner, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. One of these is the weather. Hot, still and cloudy conditions do little to generate oxygen production in farm pond. In fact, this condition can cause die-offs of oxygen-producing phytoplankton which may further increase oxygen debt. In addition, cold heavy rain can cause a pond to turn over, which further increases oxygen demand and the likelihood of a depletion.

A pondowner can do several things to lessen the likelihood of an oxygen depletion, says Reagor. One is to maintain fish populations below 1,000 pounds per surface acre. This can be a problem for pondowners managing intensively for catfish in small ponds. Weed control in the spring rather than summer will also help reduce oxygen depletion. If weed control treatments are necessary, make spot treatments to prevent too much plant decomposition at one time.

If oxygen depletion is an immediate concern, the oxygen level can be increased by pumping water from near the surface and spraying it back over the pond. Another option is to back a boat and trailer into the water and use the outboard motor to circulate the water.

Remember, these corrective techniques are treatments and really do little to solve the real problem. If the cause of an oxygen depletion is manmade, take appropriate corrective action.

Hot, dry weather lies ahead, and oxygen depletion problems will only increase. Proper management now may prevent dead fish later on.

Pertussis is serious illness

Pertussis, more commonly known as whooping cough, is still a serious illness in the United States. In Texas, the number of cases jumped more than 400 percent from 1984 to 1985. Because of this, it is essential that infants be immunized against this disease. These and other facts on childhood immunizations appear in the March issue of Texas Medicine.

Writing in the official journal of the Texas Medical Association, Dr. Phillip A. Brunell, San Antonio, states that the risks and benefits should be weighed carefully. "It would be prudent to defer immunization of children who had a personal history of seizures." However, he adds that the risk of contracting the disease and the reason for not immunizing should be reexamined. "If continued observation reveals that the child has had no further seizures or that the risk of exposure outweighs the risk of post-immunization seizure, the child should be immunized," according to the author. He adds that immunization of these children against pertussis, even after the first year of life, is worthwhile since the disease can be serious in older infants and children. In addition, exposure may occur in school according to Dr. Brunell, who is professor and division head, department of pediatrics, infectious diseases, The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

On chicken pox, he writes that because the death rate is relatively low in normal children, there is some reluctance to use the chicken pox vaccine in these children. The author notes that children with leukemia may suffer severe illness if they develop chicken pox, and the death rate may be as high as 7 percent. He recommends a special serum (called vzig) be given to children whose ability to fight infection is poor and to certain newborns who are exposed to this disease. It also should be considered for adults who have not had the disease. The cost of this special serum for an adult is approximately $350.

Hepatitis B is readily transmitted from infected mothers to their infants, writes Dr. Brunell. Therefore, it is essential these mothers be identified prior to delivery and plan for their child to be immunized at birth.

Because approximately two-thirds of all cases of hemophilus influenzae type b (Hib) occur in children under 18 months of age, this disease is a major concern of doctors who treat children. Hib is the most common cause of meningitis-the infection or inflammation of the tissue covering the brain and spinal cord. According to Dr. Brunell, "new vaccines to prevent Hib infections are soon to be licensed."

One vaccine has been shown to protect children 24 months of age or older. Routine immunization of this vaccine at two years is recommended. The author adds that protection of children exposed in day care centers is essential because they are at increased risk of infection.

Because of the important role immunizations play in protecting children and adults from disease, Dr. Brunell recommends continuous review of current vaccination recommendations as new information becomes available.

Restrict intake of sodium says T.M.A.

Although sodium is vital to good health and nutrition, most people consume more of it than they need. And the Texas Medical Association says restricting your intake of this mineral element often requires more than just cutting back on table salt.

Salt, the common name for sodium chloride, is the largest single contributor of sodium to the human diet, but only one of many sources of sodium in food. This list also includes baking soda (sodium bicarbonate), baking powder (sodium pyrophosphate), monosodium glutamate and sodium saccharin.

Sodium is so prevalent that most people get more than enough from the food and water they consume without adding salt. Sodium is in most processed foods and is present in water, either because it occurs naturally or is added by the use of softeners in some community water systems.

The people most concerned are those on sodium-restricted diets for treatment of various heart, liver and kidney ailments, or for hypertension (high blood pressure). More than 19 million adults in the United States have hypertension and over 18 million are borderline hypertensive.

Physicians often recommend that their patients with hypertension and those with a family history of the disorder restrict their sodium intake. Healthy people who are not thought to be at particular risk of developing hypertension can undoubtedly handle moderate amounts of dietary sodium without harm.

Amounts up to about 4,800 milligrams of sodium a day may be considered moderate, although the body's actual need for sodium is usually much less. The Food Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences has established 1,100 to 3,300 milligrams of sodium a day as a "safe and adequate" range of intake.
