Longer deer season in '88

Texas Parks and Wildlife commission has authorized a longer season for white-tailed and mule deer as well as a number of other regulation changes for the 1988-89 hunting seasons.

The changes, adopted in a public hearing in Austin May 12, will go into effect Sept. 1.

In most of Texas, the white-tailed deer season will open on the first Saturday in November (Nov. 5), which is one week earlier than in the past, and close on the first Sunday in January (Jan. 1). In South Texas, one week is added to the end of the season. The dates are Nov. 12 - Jan. 8.

The commission also authorized lengthening of the mule deer season in both the Trans-Pecos and Panhandle regions, from nine to 16 days. Opening day in both regions will be the same as in the past, with the extra days added to the end of the season. The dates are Nov. 19-Dec. 4 in the Panhandle and Nov. 26-Dec. 11 in the Trans-Pecos.

The commission authorized a change in the requirement for retaining the head of antlerless deer with the carcass until it reaches the final destination. Certification from the landowner stating the sex of the deer will be sufficient to establish the animal's sex.

Several minor changes were made for turkey hunting. As in the past, the fall season for Rio Grande turkeys will run concurrently with the white-tailed deer season. The spring 1989 season will be basically unchanged, April 1-23 in most of the state and April 1-16 in East Texas counties where a season for hunting eastern turkeys is authorized.

Quail bag limits, which in the past have been set during August after summer counts are completed, will be 15 birds per day, 45 in possession statewide. The season will be Oct. 29, 1988, through Feb. 26, 1989. The chachalaca season was set concurrently with the quail season to increase hunter participation.

by Michael Glaze

Diplomas were awarded Friday night to 65 seniors during Ozona High School commencement exercises held in Lion Stadium.

After the Class of '88 entered the stadium to "Pomp and Circumstance," Melissa Vallejo gave the invocation followed by salutatorian Isabel Benitez's welcome.

"The end of our last year has finally arrived," said Benitez. "We will all go our separate ways. Tonight, though, let us enjoy the last few moments we have together as a class..."

"Graduation is not only the closing of a chapter, but the beginning of a new one in our lives," said Delma Fierro in her speech. "A Time to Remember." "The experience and knowledge that we have gained in school will help us prepare for the future."

Randi Thompson then presented "The Stars Are Ours."

"This is not the end of our education for each day will hold a new learning experience," she said. "Never believe that your goals are too high."

Crockett County eligible for relief feed program

The Crockett County Ascs Office was notified Tuesday that the county has been approved for drought assistance. Sign-up for the Emergency Feed Program will start on June 1, 1988.

Ranchers will need to know the amount of feed on hand. This program will not be retroactive; however, you could be paid for feed that is on hand as of June 1.

If you wish to enter this program, you need to go by the ASCS office as soon as possible in order to become eligible for feed on hand before June 1.

Producers will be paid by check from the ASCS office. You will be paid on 50 percent of the actual cost of the feed not to exceed five cents per pound.

"We will not be selling feed as with the last Emergency Feed Program.

Fatal I-10 accident results in acid spill

A Houston man was killed and his wife injured May 26 in a truck accident east of Ozona. Laura Gore, 40, was driver of the 1978 Kenworth truck tractor semi-trailer at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Gore, who was listed as serious but stable in a San Angelo Hospital at the week's end, stated that an unidentified vehicle pulled in front of her, forcing her off the road as she drove west on I-10.

The 1:41 a.m. accident happened 14 miles east of Ozona.

The truck ran off the right side of the road and traveled along the shoulder and bar ditch striking a guard rail for approximately 100 feet when the driver corrected to get back on the highway according to DPS Sergeant Glen Redmon.

At that point, the liquid load in the truck, 6000 gallons of acetic anhydride acid, a chemical used to manufacture aspirin, shifted, causing the tank trailer to overturn.

The vehicle traveled with the tractor in the traffic lane and the trailer along the guard rail until the trailer went into the overpass area, falling approximately 20 feet and dragging the tractor with it.

Both the driver and her husband, Garland Gore, 47, were ejected with Gore dead at the scene. County Judge Kathryn Mayfield conducted an inquest at the scene.

Volunteer firemen using air masks constructed dikes of soda ash brought in from Sonora and Rankin to prevent the spill from traveling through a culvert and possibly into pasture land.

The chemicals were picked up with a vacuum truck and taken away for disposal according to Fire Chief Dorris Haire.

Once it was possible to right the tank, the remaining chemicals were salvaged, Haire said.

The truck belonged to Matlack Trucking Company of Houston. The chemical cargo belonged to Celanese Corporation.

Highway Department honors six Crockett safe drivers

SAFETY AWARDS 1987

Six Crockett County employees of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation were recently recognized for a combined total of 77 years of operating vehicles without an accident.

At the awards program in San Angelo, Charlie W. Hutto was recognized for three years of safe driving, Leandro R. Flores Jr. and Emilio L. Gutierrez, five years each; Jimmy Tambunga, seven years; Ricardo M. Dominguez, 14 years; George C. Ybarra, 18 years; and Rosalio D. Longoria, 25 years.

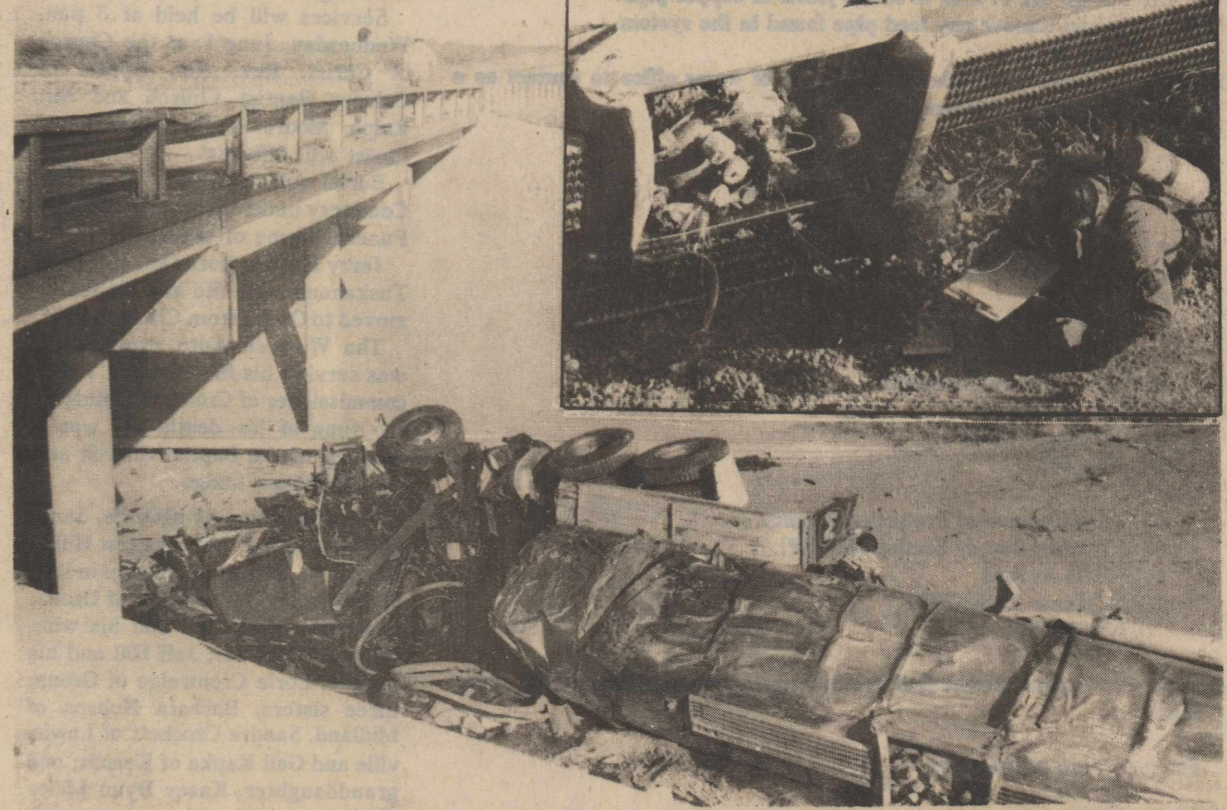

The department is dedicated to safety in all its operations. One way of emphasizing safety is to reward those individuals who normally operate state vehicles in the course of their daily work without being involved in accidents.

The department maintains records, and each year safe drivers are recognized. The years do not have to be continuous. Recently, District 7, which encompasses 17 counties in this area, recognized 242 drivers for their record of no accidents during 1987. These awards, which totaled 2407 years, ranged from one year to 34 years of safe driving.

Marc Yancey, deputy director of planning and policy from Austin, spoke to the group and stated that the administration in Austin was firmly behind the safety program. It is good management of the training and equipment provided by the department.

Walter McCullough, district engineer of San Angelo, encouraged the employees to "be safe 24 hours a day. We furnish the training and equipment, but it is your responsibility to operate it in a safe manner".

Garland Dole of Houston was killed in Crockett County May 26 when the Kenworth he and his wife drove overturned near the county line. Insert photo, Fire

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE AS REQUIRED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (EPA) UNDER PUBLIC LAW "FEDERAL SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT" of 1986

Water Customers of Ozona

Dear Mr. Customer:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has adopted requirements that all public water systems notify their customers about the health effects of lead exposure. THIS NOTIFICATION IS INTENDED TO EDUCATE AND INFORM CONSUMERS ON THIS ISSUE IN LIGHT OF THE FACT THAT YOUR DRINKING WATER MAY BE A POTENTIAL SOURCE OF LEAD EXPOSURE. THIS IS BEING DONE EVEN THOUGH YOUR WATER SYSTEM IS NOT IN VIOLATION OF THE CURRENT STANDARD. There are also other potential sources of lead contamination in the environment.

The following specific language is required by the EPA in this notice:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. THERE IS CURRENTLY A STANDARD OF 0.050 PARTS PER MILLION (PPM). THE CCWC&ID#1 DRINKING WATER LEAD LEVEL IS LESS THAN 0.020 (PPM). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

1. If your home or water system has lead pipes, or
2. If your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
 - If the home is less than five years old, or
 - If you have soft or acidic water, or
 - If water sits in the pipes for several hours

Ways to avoid potential lead exposure are to "flush" faucets before use and to use cold water for drinking and cooking. You may wish to have your home tap water tested for lead content by a competent laboratory. The CCWC&ID#1 can furnish address of a water lab to perform these tests for the public. You may also wish to check to see if lead pipes, solder, or flux were used in your home plumbing.

[a] Here are steps the water system is taking to mitigate lead content of the drinking water.

Discourage use of lead in solder joints in copper pipe
Locate and remove any lead pipe found in the system.

[b] Here are names and telephone number of water office to contact as a source of additional information.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-In a decision which shocked many and rocked Attorney General Jim Mattox, the Texas Supreme Court last week ruled 5-4 that Mattox cannot intervene on behalf of state agencies in electric rate cases before the Public Utility Commission.

Meanwhile the "other shoe" dropped in other political parlors: Governor Bill Clements heard 10 key House leaders tell him they do not have the 100 votes necessary to pass a school finance amendment in a summer special session.

Mattox asked that a Dallas grand jury be convened to consider indictments based on his probe of the SMU football scandal.

State Treasurer Ann Richards will become trustee of a controversial fund of private donations collected by the new Texas Department of Commerce and deposited in a non-bank account.

And, two issues getting hotter are the controversial firing of Southwest Texas State University President Bob Hardesty and the need for federal drought aid for 103 West Texas counties.

Mattox Rips High Court

Mattox, losing an issue very dear to his heart, ripped the court for siding with utilities and said the two Republicans should not participate in a new vote he will seek, if one is granted, because they were not seated when the case was heard.

The PUC brought the case against Mattox after he insisted on representing agency consumers in electric rate cases, even against the state, but the court's decision limits him to defending the state.

That, in itself, made Mattox angry, but the case is also fraught with partisan infighting as Republican appointees encroach on Democratic majorities on the court and the PUC.

The PUC will become more Republican after Clements replaces the chairman, who resigned last week.

Vote Count Short

Gov. Clements had considered a special session to pass the amendment and head off any chance that a Texas judge will rewrite school finance formulas with a court order.

Legislators meeting with the governor agreed with his concern, but advised him the amendment cannot muster the necessary two-thirds vote in the House.

On the Senate side, the vote is perhaps even shorter.

Lawmakers fear the consequences of a Texas judge emulating the federal judges whose court-ordered reforms have forced the Legislature to spend millions in the prison and mental health systems.

However, one member pointed out, the difference between Texas judges and federal judges is that state judges are elected, not appointed for life.

If state court orders hit voters too hard in the pocketbook, then voters at least can get a shot back at the ballot box.

Mattox Seeks Charges

Mattox thinks a grand jury should consider whether a central figure in the SMU football scandal has committed theft and misapplication of fiduciary responsibility.

His formal complaint suggesting criminal acts was turned over to the Dallas district attorney who can subpoena criminal witnesses. Sources reported the complaint points to possible stolen funds used by the SMU Mustang Club of sports boosters.

Clements, Hubbard Feud

Clements and Texas labor leader Harry Hubbard let loose with their differences of opinion on the maquiladora program, on use of Mexican labor in U.S.-built assembly plants in Mexico.

Clements, endorsing this week's Dallas trade show on the program, said 34,000 new jobs could be created if Texas captures 25 percent of the maquiladora market.

Hubbard said organized labor was "violently opposed," due to the continuous loss of Texas jobs on the Rio Grande border.

Firing Protested

Faculty, students and San Marcos residents last week began organizing protests of the Hardesty firing.

Meanwhile, Gov. Clements dismissed assertions that he played a role in the ouster.

Asked about criticism of the firing by top state officials, Clements said: "These people apparently are big buddies of Mr. Hardesty. I am not. I don't know Mr. Hardesty."

"As far as the school is concerned, it's getting along fine. And if the regents deemed it necessary to replace the president, that's what they're there for."

Drought Aid Sought

The governor and agriculture commissioner called on the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to authorize emergency aid for 103 drought-stricken counties in the western third of Texas.

One official called it a "bipartisan drought."

Jerry Hill was born Oct. 4, 1934 in Tuskahoma, OK. He and his family moved to Ozona from Crane in 1971.

Sorority Sock Hop big success

The Tunes were Tops, the Chicks were Hip and the Guys were Cool Saturday night, May 21, at Ozona Country Club. The Beta Sigma Phi Sororities were Poppin' at the Sock Hop during the 50's Nostalgia Dance.

These 50's teens arrived with the girls wearing poodle skirts, pony-tails, bobby socks and cat-eye glasses. The guys' 50's uniforms consisted of greased-back hair, white T-shirts, blue jeans, white flashlight socks, loafers and sun glasses.

Tunes such as Rock Around the Clock, Starlight, Earth Angel, Twist and Shout, Splish-Splash I was Takin' a Bath were provided by the DJs, Rockin' Randy Hall and Jammin' Jim Adams. The jitter-bug, twist, stroll and a whole lot of slow dancing were going on.

The guests were greeted by hostesses Teri and Lori Williams and Helen Bean. As they signed in, they were warned that the parents of those leaving early would be notified. The sponsors were reading the kids the riot-act, no drinking, no swearing, no smooching and no dirty dancing when they were interrupted by a couple arriving on a motorcycle who were peelin' out in the parking lot.

After this disturbance, the games began. Roylan Sullivan and Vince Huffman won the Bubble Gum blowing contest. Best dressed was won by Marcie Williams in a 50's cheerleader outfit and Richard Berry as an Elvis look-alike.

Duane Childress won a whoopie cushion for the best dressed nerd, Alice Sawyer, Marcie Williams and Mike Williams won the hula contest.

The evening all in all was a huge success, although there is a rumor that the punch was spiked.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Scotty,

I'm writing this letter with one objective in mind. To get you to change your policy of editorial letters.

This is being written so that I will not be misunderstood and also because it could potentially be a very emotional issue.

What you and the Ozona Stockman have done is tantamount to censorship. Perhaps you haven't read the San Angelo Standard-Times recently. They had an election for police chief. Yet they printed letters both pro and con, for and against candidates. I lived in Abilene in 1978 when it went "wet". Letters for and against were printed in the Abilene Reporter-News. In short, you are hiding behind "election laws".

Recently you were furious that the local school told their employees not to talk to the press and cited the 1st Amendment. Yet when concerned citizens publicly voice their concerns about an issue you turn a deaf ear to them. What other public forum do we have than your newspaper? We turn to you for information, will you continue to shun those who endeavor to publicly speak for or against an issue?

Freedom of the press also carries responsibility. Responsibility to as fairly and objectively as possible report an issue. Yet not one word is allowed to show up in your paper.

The press has had a field day with T.V. evangelists. Clearly these people have done wrong. Yet what happens when the press is wrong? Who stands to proclaim their sins?

I know this will not appear in the paper even though it is not for or against the local liquor vote.

This is one person's opinion that "editorial" license has spilled over into "editorial censorship".

David McCarley

Dear David,

Thank you for your letter pointing out what you believe to be the obligation of The Stockman "to as fairly and objectively as possible report an issue". The issue to which you refer is the June 3 off-premises liquor election.

Your letter was written in response to our policy of abiding by state law regarding political advertising. i.e. "Political advertising is anything in favor of or in opposition to any candidate for public office or office of a political party, or any political party or the success of any public officer, or any measure submitted to a vote of the people. (Article 14.01 (R) Vernon's Texas Election Code)"

Our policy of abiding by, not hiding behind, this law was followed during the 1988 Democratic Primary and run-off, just as it has been continually during our almost 14 years of newspapering.

And because the law (Article 14.06 (D) Vernon's Texas Election Code) says that a civil penalty is in order if political advertising is not charged for, we do ask payment for those things, pro or con, which classify under the law as political advertising. This policy is followed by many newspapers across the state.

The Stockman's first story about a petition to call for a liquor election appeared on March 30. A second story was published on April 6.

The petition was not presented to the commissioners' court until May 9. And not once during this 40 day period before the court called for an election did a single person present an opinion on the matter, pro or con, for publication in The Stockman.

A story has been published stating that the county would receive no sales tax benefits from off-premises consumption sales. An additional report from a called commissioners court meeting told of discussion by the court regarding sales locations should the measure pass.

Prior to this week's paper, two letters to the editor were received opposing the issue. Both were run as paid ads. One article received was not published, but has been rewritten and inserted as an ad this week.

Under the law and under a 14 year policy of this publisher, I can not give to one faction while charging another.

Thank you for your concern. Scotty

Crockett County Care Center News

by JoAnne Marshall

The first step in recycling old coffee cans into something attractive and useful was done in Monday's craft class. The cans were cleaned and painted with a background color. Various designs will be added to the cans next week. Residents using their painting talents were Tomasa Ramos, Consuelo Sarabia, Juana Hernandez and Moriama Perez.

Residents combined fun and exercise Monday afternoon when they participated in a wheelchair exercise routine and a game of ring toss. Rings were made by Jean Beardmore, Edna Wallace, Nellie Harp, Lucia Rios, Virginia Hoover, Moriama Perez, Lucy May Meinecke, Consuelo Sarabia, Elzy Bishop and Juana Hernandez.

Tuesday's bingo winners were: Alice Ross, Lucia Rios, Consuelo Sarabia, Elvira Pena, Harry Blatchford and Nellie Harp. Georgia Kirby and Lola Rios were the helpful volunteers.

Several of the residents enjoyed a relaxing and delicious lunch at El Chato's immediately following bingo. We would like to thank El Chato's for their generous donation, and the volunteers for their help during the outing. Volunteers were Jo Davidson and Lola Rios. A scenic tour around town was taken before returning to the care center.

Vases of all shapes and sizes were worked on in Wednesday morning's ceramic workshop. Ruthie Doris was the busy volunteer. Thank you, Ruthie. Residents attending the workshop were: Theo Burns, Hazel McDaniel, Moriama Perez, Tomasa Ramos, Consuelo Sarabia, Ethel Youngblood and Juana Hernandez.

Residents gathered on the front porch for a sunshine hour Wednesday afternoon. Bananas were served, and residents relaxed and enjoyed the cool breeze and fresh air. The resident cat, Sandy, joined us.

Thursday morning's beauty shop volunteers were: Joann Williamson, Lola Rios, Bobbi Light and Audrey Smith. Thank you, ladies, you did a splendid job.

Jim Gray of First Baptist Church conducted this week's mid-week Bible study. David McCarley led the singing. Jim also told the residents about his recent trip to Colorado. It sounded odd to hear of snow when our days have been so hot.

Thursday afternoon's Spanish Hour of Praise had a large number of visitors attending. Spanish speaking residents' spirits were really uplifted and the guitar music and the singing were delightful.

Preddy Funeral Home opens in Ozona

Tracey and Michael Preddy are pictured in the waiting area of their new business, Preddy Funeral Home, which opened this week.

One of Ozona's newest businesses, Preddy Funeral Home, opened this week. Located in the historic Crockett Hotel Building, the business is owned by Michael and Tracey Preddy.

The two story structure at the north end of the square was built about 1893. From its early days, the hotel boarded teachers, visiting athletic teams and business callers to the city. The building is a recorded Texas historic landmark.

Coleman services for Dee Davis

Dee W. Davis, 70, died at 2:15 p.m. Friday, May 27, in Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital in Coleman.

Services were held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Henderson Funeral Home Chapel with burial in Coleman City Cemetery.

Davis was born April 18, 1918, in Coleman County. He retired in 1980 from the Texas Animal Health Commission. He moved from Coleman in 1960 to Fort Stockton and returned to Coleman in 1987. He was Methodist and an Army Air Corps veteran of World War II.

Survivors include one daughter, Denise Powell of Azle; five sisters, Alma Wester and Wanda McDorman, both of Abilene, Willa Faye Pauley of Talpa, Juanita Mills of Ozona and Charlene Mobley of Midland; three brothers, Clinton Davis of Many, LA, Prescon Davis of Coleman and Tom Davis of San Angelo.

We weren't really trying to make Peggy Phillips have two birthdays this year when we announced one last month. She will actually be another year sweeter on June 5. Birthday greetings go to Kirby Moore on June 6.

R. J. Everett is home from San Angelo hospital where he had a brief stay following an auto accident last weekend.

The bottom floor has been remodeled to include a front waiting area, office, divided viewing room, casket display room and preparation room.

Mauve carpet throughout and upholstered couches and chairs in combinations of greens, blues and mauve, and silk plants decorate the various rooms.

"From the beginning I've wanted to own my own business," said Preddy. He started working for the late Bud Janes of Janes Funeral Home while a senior at Ozona High School. Later, Preddy studied at the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science (now known as Dallas Institute of Mortuary Service) for 12 months, then passed his state board examination. The required 12 month apprenticeship before licensing was served at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home in Odessa.

Preddy was employed in Ozona by Sizemore Funeral Home and then worked for Grimes Funeral Home in Kerrville two years before returning to Ozona in 1987.

Michael and Tracey Preddy are both graduates of Ozona High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Knox. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Preddy.

Michael and Tracey are the parents of two children, Chuck, 9, and Allison, 6.

Mrs. Maurice Black's daughter and son-in-law Dixie and Jackie Glasscock spent Sunday with her in Ozona.

How wise are we?

"Your choice is your personal decision - don't let others make it for you." I agree but the same political ad in which this statement appears, tells you in large capitals - Vote yes!

Thank you for deciding to read this article. I don't want you to vote against the liquor issue because I'm against it - but I also don't want you to vote for it because those "few" who stand to gain from it are strongly promoting it. Please, do what is "best" for our community and what is "right" in the eyes of God.

The Bible says, "wine is a mocker, intoxicating drink arouses brawling, and whoever is led astray by it is not wise." We must decide "how wise are we?" If we vote the liquor issue in, will every kid who dies because someone had a belly full of beer "mock us"? If we vote it in, will we see more "brawling" - fights and family disturbances? Whatever the outcome, we will make a statement to the young people of our community. What do you want that statement to be?

Everyone seems to agree that drunkenness is a problem. There is, however, disagreement as to whether drinking itself is a problem. Of course, no one has ever gotten drunk that didn't first drink but somehow many people rationalize this away. Think about this - if "you" drink too much, it's a personal problem; if "someone in your family" drinks too much, it's a family problem; if "any one" drinks too much and gets in a car, it's a social problem.

The issue before us now is the sale of all alcoholic beverages for off premises consumption. Those in favor of this issue are promoting it as "no big deal" - it's just off premises consumption. I am asked to believe that "drunkenness IS wrong; that drinking may be wrong; but selling it is O.K." Somehow I'm having a hard time with this, and it is more than just a matter of Christian conviction.

Some seem to think that the time is right. Times are hard! The economy is down. Our county and our school district are experiencing budgetary short falls. "Hey, why not take advantage of the increased revenue - they will buy it anyway so we might as well get the benefit." How much revenue is this actually going to generate? I haven't heard anyone say. I have heard other communities that have voted "wet" say that it didn't produce the revenue they expected. I have also been told by law enforcement officials that statistics indicate increased crime, public intoxication, and other related incidents in communities that go "wet"; and these statistics have a price tag that eat up any revenue benefit. The last time I renewed the license plates for my car I noticed a $5.00 "Road and Bridge" tax that counties can collect but Crockett County does not. If we need money, let's all kick in a little this way.

"I'm told "The kids get it [that is booze] already so this won't affect them." Is that right? When I was a kid growing up in Odessa, we would find someone old enough "to buy it", give them an extra buck, and wait around the corner for our forbidden cargo to be delivered. If it hadn't been available locally, it would have been harder to find someone to drive to Midland to get it. Again, statistics indicate that when a community goes "wet", it puts more booze in the hands of the kids!

When I moved to Ozona three years ago, we were pleased to find the community "dry". People we met here were also proud of that fact. What has changed? If our community was better off then without the sale of booze, does the current condition of the economy change that now? Crockett County produces a lot of wool but I hope we don't let some special interest group "pull it over our eyes."

Some say, "It will help our economy." Others say, "It will hurt our community." But what does God say? He says, "Whoever is led astray by it is not wise." How wise are we? We'll find out on June 3.
