Seeking new location.....

Court battling landfill problem

Time and money were key words Monday when commissioners heard a presentation on landfills by Gary Harris of Midland. Harris is a representative of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, the firm which compiled information on West Texas landfills submitted to EPA officials in Washington, D.C. last month by members of the Sparsely Populated Entities Coalition.

Harris told the court it must first decide whether it wants to be in the landfill business or wants to haul trash to a location outside the county. The permitting process for a new landfill will be lengthy and expensive, Harris advised.

Stanton is one of several West Texas communities Parkhill, Smith and Cooper has assisted with landfill projects. Cost of the Stanton landfill, which serves a community of approximately 2,500, was $800,000 from start to completion, Harris said.

Harris also cautioned commissioners about the cost of complying with regulations when closing a landfill. "It will cost a lot more when the (EPA) regulations come out to close your landfill than it will right now."

The Crockett County landfill is nearing capacity and will have to be closed in the near future.

"We'll have to seek a band-aid solution in the interim until we can get a permit (for a new landfill)," said Judge Kathryn Mayfield.

The band-aid solution could involve transporting trash as far away as San Angelo or Midland.

Greater transportation distances are being considered by some areas of the country. A group from Chicago has reportedly purchased property near Colorado City for a landfill. New York approached Fort Stockton two years ago regarding a landfill site, Harris said.

Commissioners will continue seeking possible locations for a new landfill for Crockett County.

Eddie Moore, Road Department supervisor, reported on fees charged in area towns when taps are made into sewer or water lines. Commissioners discussed various aspects of taps and street cuts and agreed that the county does not have adequate personnel to take on the job of making and repairing cuts.

Crockett County charges $25.00 for a permit to be paid to the Road Department for any tie-ins across a public road.

A program to improve the economic situation in the community will be discussed at the April 9 court meeting. Crockett County has been designated as possibly qualified for federal assistance under the amended Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965.

An average unemployment substantially above the national average for the past 24 months is the factor which could qualify the county as an economic development community, Judge Mayfield said.

Sutton files for re-election

Jeffrey Sutton has filed for re-election to the Crockett County School Board of Trustees.

Jeffrey feels that with his nine years of experience on the school board, he can serve for the continued improvement of education in the Ozona schools.

"Quality education is most important to our youth and to our community," says Sutton.

Jeffrey and his wife Carmen have lived in Ozona for 21 years. They have two children, Stefny, an 8th grader at OJHS, and Cody, a freshman at A&M University.

"Please remember to vote in the upcoming election for school board May 5," urges Sutton.

During his monthly report, Sheriff Jim Wilson told the court that his newest employee, Lyndon English, has completed Jailer's Certification School.

The Sheriff's Department received 301 calls for assistance in February. Fees of $95.00 were collected for serving 11 civil papers. Officers placed 29 persons in county jail.

Janet Hill told the court 370 meals were served in February through the Helping Hands Meals on Wheels program. Commodities were distributed to 77 families representing 163 people.

Civic and youth center director Garland Young reported that his board has agreed to allow approximately 250 National Guardsmen to spend the night at the center during the weekend of junior rodeo. The request for accommodations was made by Ozona Chamber of Commerce.

Crockett County Public Library is "right on track" according to Louise Ledoux, librarian. The library has reached its goal of 20,000 books. Two sets of encyclopedias and several reference books are among the newest additions to the shelves at CCPL.

In an annual report prepared for the Texas State Library by Mrs. Ledoux, she recorded a circulation of 18,551 (345 of these books were reference transactions) and 12,048 visits by library patrons in 1989.

A report of the March 8 hospital board meeting was read by Bill Boswell, administrator. Commissioners accepted a report written by Fire Chief Bob Falkner. Regular monthly reports were also received from Eddie Moore for the Road Department and Onecimo Ortiz, Parks Department supervisor.

During the meeting, court members:

Voted to buy a new water tank for the small water truck used by the Road Department

Voted to advertise for a general worker for the Parks Department

Tabled until April development of rules for use of county owned livestock facilities

Rejected pickup bids pending issuance of corrected specifications

Voted to re-issue request for pickup bids

Voted to accept the International R. L. Anderson bid for a fire truck chassis

Voted to accept the Strain Brothers bid for paving rock

Drew names of Jo Ann Fenton and Helen Kenison to serve on grievance committee.

Local track meets Friday, Saturday

The running of the 38th Ozona Relays will be held Saturday, March 17, at Lion Stadium. Field events begin at 9 a.m. with the running prelims at 11 a.m.

Teams entered in the boys' division and junior varsity division will be Ozona, Sonora, Reagan County, Stanton and Iraan.

Teams in the girls' division are: Ozona, Sonora, Reagan County, Stanton, Iraan and McCamey.

Ozona High School won its own relays 22 times in the 38 year history of the meet. The last win for Ozona was in 1988. Sonora was overall winner in 1989.

Local athletes hold Ozona Relay records in seven events. Mark Vallejo set the 100m high hurdle record in 1983 with a time of 14.70. Vallejo also holds the record for the 300m intermediate hurdles, 39.21, set in 1982.

Another two-event record holder is Valdo Galindo. Galindo's 1986 100m dash time of 10.79 stands along with his time of 22.35 in the 200m dash, also in 1986.

A time of 2:00.28 in the 88m run set by Marcelo Hernandez in 1983 has yet to be beat in Ozona.

Larry Payne holds the record for the 400m dash with a time of 49.27 in 1982.

Gary Sutton established a record for the shot put in 1968 with 56' 1".

Citizens request contract revision at hospital board meeting

Several citizens attended the hospital board meeting March 8 to request a revised contract for Dr. Robert Owensby. All who wished to do so had opportunity to speak and question the board regarding the existing contract and a possible new contract.

The visitors were told that the board can't do anything until the contract comes back from commissioners court with instructions to renegotiate.

During the discussion period, Dr. Marcus Sims expressed concern that the public reads his contract amount and thinks his pay comes from tax dollars. "I was contacted to come here. I am generating money. I am not getting paid tax money," Sims said.

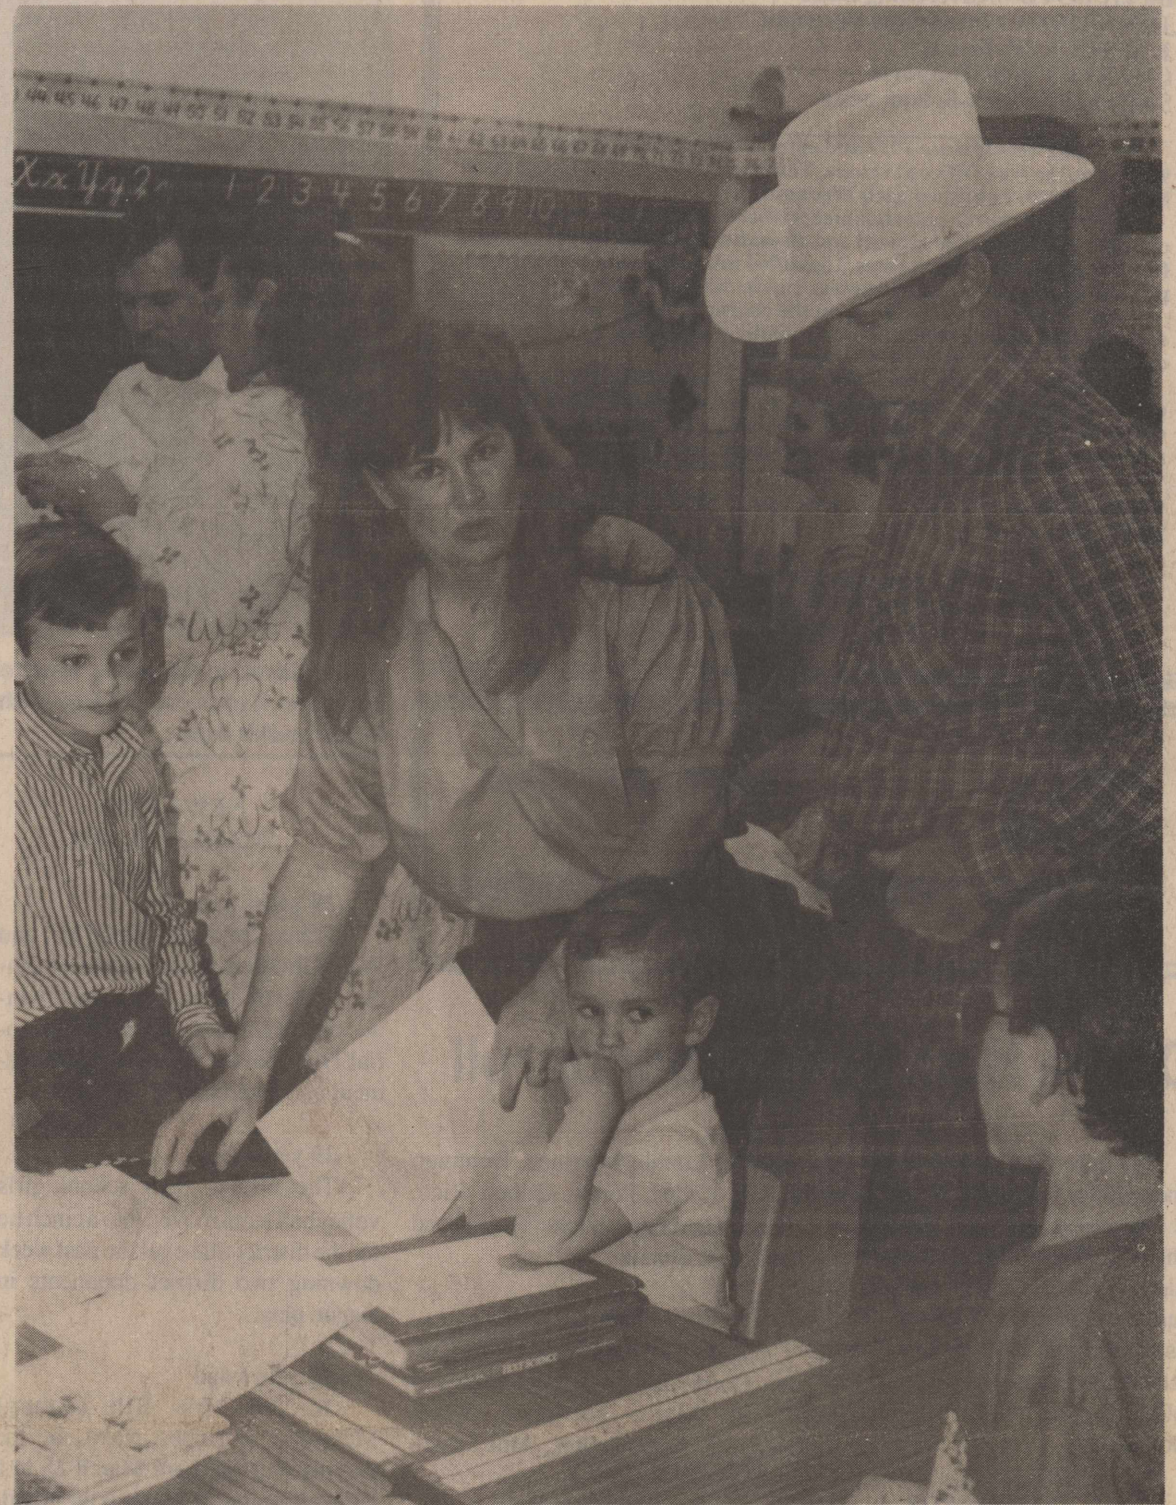

Board members voted to increase x-ray charges by 25 percent. On the average, the hospital charges 42 percent less than other small hospitals in the state said Bill Boswell, administrator.

Boswell reported that the new dietary rangehood has been accepted by the state. A letter of acceptance has been framed and placed in the kitchen for reference during annual licensure inspections.

Minor write-ups during the recent licensure inspection have been corrected, Boswell said.

Board members voted to allow G.E. Leasing to buy out the lease purchase contract on their two IVAC I.V. pumps in order to add one more IVAC pump to the hospital's equipment.

Also approved was the purchase of Progress noted in solving critical issues

Progress has been made in solving critical issues affecting Crockett County, according to County Extension Agents Billy Reagor and Tedra Ulmer.

The issues were identified by Crockett County citizens during 1986 planning for the four-year Long-Range Extension Program. "Since we will be meeting again next Monday, this seemed like an opportune time to let the county know what progress has been made toward meeting the goals set in 1986," said Ulmer.

Heading that list of critical issues was Water Quality and Conservation. The discussion group four years ago defined the problem was "to assure an adequate, safe water supply to support continued development of the county's resources."

Since 1987, Pleas L. Childress III and Jeff Sutton co-chaired a water task force. The group invited Senator Bill Sims and Sterling City attorney Drew Durham to speak at the annual Extension meeting in 1988, and they began work on the formation of an underground water control district. That district, now known as the Emerald Underground water Control District, was recently approved by the state legislature.

Another high priority was agricultural profitability. Educational programs and activities were planned and implemented to help ranchers increase profit and reduce risk—such as the Total Ranch Management course.

Parenting was one of the major issues identified in 1986. For the past several years, programs on teen pregnancy, self-esteem for young people, dealing with peer pressure and parenting classes have been included to meet the needs associated with this issue. The entrepreneurship classes conducted by Ulmer at the Junior High school are one example of the programming in this area.

This year marks the last year of the four-year plan, and the beginning of a new planning cycle. On Monday night, March 19, invited leaders from the community will meet at the Civic Center to determine major current issues and possible plans of action to work on those issues in the next four years.

Why rewrite the last plan? Some people, according to Reagor, might think the issues and problems facing Crockett county and its citizens remain the same.

However, says the agent, what goes on outside our county affects the way we live and work. Priorities may have changed in four years, or some former priority issues may have been taken care of through programs in the past.

The Extension agents urge all those invited to make an extra effort to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting and help them base Extension programs for the next four years on what the people of Crockett County want and need.

For more information, contact the Crockett County extension Office at 392-2721.

Jury hands down five indictments

A Crockett County Grand Jury handed down five indictments when it met March 8. An indictment means that nine of 12 grand jurors believe there is cause for a trial.

Indicted were: Oscar Lee Peacock, evading arrest with serious bodily injury to an officer, $30,000 bail

Jessie Borrego Rodriguez, possession of a controlled substance, $25,000

bail
George Henry Moran Jr., possession of a controlled substance, $25,000 bail

Raleigh Frank Ryman, burglary of a habitation, $10,000 bail Leslie Dean Russell aka Joshua Lee Hatfield, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, $20,000.

Trustee election filing deadline March 21

Persons interested in filing for a place on the ballot for the school trustee election have through March 21 to do so.

Board members whose terms are expiring are Jeffrey Sutton and Gary Vannoy. Both have filed for re-election.

Absentee voting by personal appearance begins April 16 at the office of Superintendent Garland Davis in the Main Building of the OHS campus. Mr. Davis' office is also the place to file for a place on the ballot.

April 5 is the last day to register to vote in the May 5 trustee election. Voter registration is conducted at the office of Tax Assessor Collector Tommy Stokes.

4-H camps offer new horizons

"Out of the ordinary" experiences are not uncommon at summer 4-H camp at the Texas 4-H Center in Brownwood. Camps are geared both to younger 4-H members and to teens (ages 13-19), and provide a wide variety of educational and recreational experiences.

For 4-H members across Texas, a fun-packed four day stay at the beautiful facility on Lake Brownwood has become an annual tradition. "Prime Time '90" features camps for ages 9-11, 12 to 14, or mixed ages from 9 to 14.

Activities include swimming, canoeing, shooting sports, high adventure, crafts, outdoor cookery, recreation and parties. College-age counselors and resource people conduct the educational sessions, which are supervised at all times by staff leaders and county Extension agents.

The total cost of the camp is $64, which includes all meals, lodging, refreshments and limited accident insurance coverage. A $10, non-refundable deposit is required, and all sessions are filled on a first-come, first-served basis—so register as soon as possible.

Registration forms are available by calling the Crockett County extension Office at 392-2721, or you can come by and pick one up at the office, located on the second floor of the Courthouse Annex.

A special-interest camp for teens only, "Spectra" has become the place to be during the first week in August. From August 5-10, 4-H'ers from across the state will concentrate on selected project instruction, along with healthy doses of food, fun and entertainment.

The 4-H'ers at Spectra will cultivate new visions of themselves, their goals and aspirations, and commit themselves to grow personally and professionally. "The Gala," culminates the event in a special evening of dress-up, dining and dancing.

Skills in 12 project areas are enhanced—from tennis and swimming to sailing and canoeing, to archery, computers, public speaking, entomology, recreation, meats identification, photography, agricultural enterprises and image and attire.

Total cost for this dynamic week is $120, which includes all instruction, resource fees, meals, lodging, refreshments and limited accident insurance.

There is a minimum and maximum number of participants for each project area—so 4-H members need to make a first and second choice when registering. A $20 non-refundable deposit is required. However, the deposits will be returned if session choices exceed maximum or do not meet minimum requirements.

Again, for more information, contact the Crockett county extension Office at 392-2721. Don't miss out this summer on the experience of a lifetime at the Texas 4-H Center.

Extension Connection

By Tedra Ulmer, County Extension Agent

"Experts" agree that communication skills are a vital part of strong families. But what are good communication skills and how do we develop them?

Communication skills are often confused with verbal skills—the ability to use language well. However, the two aren't really the same. Highly verbal families don't necessarily communicate better than less verbal ones—in fact, too much talking is often a barrier to good communication.

You see, the goal of good communication isn't necessarily agreement; it's really to have understanding.

When good communication happens in a family, the members are both expressing their own feelings, ideas, needs and wishes, and responding to the needs, ideas, wishes and feelings of others.

In other words, family members feel they're being heard; that it's okay to share private thoughts and feelings—and they have confidence in working together to find a solution.

For some families, good communication seems to come easily; but for most, it's the result of hard work. It's a skill we need to practice and have patience to learn.

And remember that good communication is both talking and listening. It also involves our body language—we have to show that we mean what we say—and understand what the other person is saying through gestures, facial expressions and other body language.

Even though the principles of good communication are pretty simple, using them in real life isn't always easy. However, families who work on their communication skills will probably find improvement in their families' ability to communicate and get along with each other. For more information on communicating with family members, be they children or older adults, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721—or come by the office, located on the second floor of the courthouse annex.

A Glimpse of Glory

Matthew 17:1-9

Charles Huffman, Pastor
Faith Lutheran Church, Ozona
Hope Lutheran Church, Sonora

As the coming of God's Son into the world is the high point of all history, so the Transfiguration of our Lord is the watershed in Jesus' life—standing between Christmas and Good Friday. Matthew is clear, as Mark and Luke are, to indicate the sequence of events that lead up to this spectacular scene. Jesus had asked His disciples: "Who do you say I am?", and received the answer: "The promised Christ, the Son of the living God!" (16:15-16). Then our Lord said He must go to Jerusalem, suffer much from the elders, ruling priests, and Bible scholars, be killed, and then rise on the 3rd day. Peter's disapproval of this prediction was as great a temptation to Jesus as that of "Satan" had been in the wilderness, and in response Christ said that not only He but also the disciples would have to deny themselves, take up their crosses, and come with Him. For from this mountain our Lord will begin that long and lonely journey up to Jerusalem and the Cross.

When we take time to be "alone" with Jesus—that personal time to listen to and meditate on His Word for us, when we see Him for WHO and WHAT He is, when He is transfigured in our lives thru faith, then we begin our own journey, of costly discipleship, up to the "new" Jerusalem. Although this divine glory was possessed by the son of God from eternity, for most of the 33 years that Jesus lived visibly in the world He emptied Himself of its use—masking His divine nature behind His human nature. Yet on this occasion the Father permitted His Son's divine glory to shine thru His human shell.

Also on this occasion Moses and Elijah step out of heaven to stand with Jesus on the mountain. Moses, whom God had used in the original Exodus to rescue His people from the physical slavery of Egypt, represented the law which he'd received at Mt. Sinai and presented to the Israelites. Elijah, representing the Old Testament Prophets, had been "very zealous" to defend that Word of the Covenant in an age of widespread unbelief among God's people. Moses and Elijah, representing the Old Testament Prophets, had been "very zealous" to defend that Word of the Covenant in an age of widespread unbelief among God's people. Moses and Elijah stand as a testimony that the Law and Prophets agree with the plan that Jesus would go to His death at Jerusalem. In his account, Luke tells us the topic of their conversation—that they were talking to Jesus about His "exodus", His "leaving this world, which was to happen at Jerusalem". So Moses and Elijah, having lived under the Law of Sinai, give evidence that they and the world, needed someone to pay for people's sins. This exodus will lead Jesus to the cross, where He will rescue people from slavery - to the guilt, power, and punishment of Sin.

Peter, who was anxious for the glorious Messiah to be unveiled but was offended at the suggestion of a suffering Christ, wanted to freeze this scene, to put such majesty on hold, and preserve this glorious moment. It wasn't the first time Peter had spoken when he should've been listening, and it wouldn't be the last—so he's interrupted by a bright cloud that surrounds them and a voice that says: "This is My Son whom I love and delight in. Listen to Him!" The bright cloud, which links the Transfiguration to a chain of important Old Testament events, indicates that God is moving His plan of salvation another significant step forward—one step closer to the Cross. The Father repeats the words He spoke at Jesus' Baptist, and adds: "Listen to Him!"—a quotation from Deuteronomy 18 that acknowledges Jesus as THE Prophet God had promised and Moses had looked forward to. Realizing that instead of paying attention to the Son of God—the "Word become flesh", they had been listening to others—notably the Jewish opinion that the promised Christ would appear as a Political leader who'd expel the Romans and restore the land of Israel to the glory of David's day - the disciples fall in silent repentance.

In our listening today we may be greatly influenced by the "opinions" of man—concerning the issues and problems we face in life and in the Church, instead of diligently searching the Scriptures and waiting for the Holy Spirit to reveal His divine truth. So God is here calling us back to that Word which "shall not pass away", saying "Listen to Him!"—to Him who is "The Way, The Truth, and The Life". And whatever else the Transfiguration may be, it is a story of a decision in our favor - in favor of all sinners. In this event we hear the first rumblings of the clouds of darkness that will surround Calvary, and just as Moses and Elijah step out of heaven onto this Mountain - so its just one step away for Jesus to enter there. But he decision is made, and we hear the results in verse 7: "But Jesus came and touched them, saying: 'Get up, and don't be afraid'. 'Christ invites them - and us, to stand - without fear, in the full and free forgiveness of the Father - which He will earn by His own suffering and death, as the sacrificial "Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Thanks be to God the Father, who in His infinite grace sent us His own beloved Son! Thanks be to Jesus the Son, who in His great love for us will take no shortcut - but return home by the way of the Cross!

In our mountain-top experience of the Transfiguration, God's Spirit again urges us - in the words of that spiritual song, to: "Turn your eyes upon Jesus, Look fully in His wonderful face; and the things of earth will grow strangely dim, In the light of His glory and grace". As Christ's disciples, we are called to deny ourselves, take up our crosses, and follow Him. May Almighty God empower us to make this journey - all the way from the glory of our meeting Jesus up to the glory that shines in radiant splendor around the throne in Heaven.

Nature gives man corn, but man must grind it; God gives man a will, but man must make the right choices.

Some people can talk Christianity by the yard, but they can't or won't walk it by the inch.

Worrying about smoking cigarettes can be beneficial - it takes your mind off lung cancer.

One of the main troubles with modern civilization is that we so often mistake respectability for character.

There are two reasons why some women won't wear last year's clothes - she doesn't want to and she can't.

College is a place presumed to mold character, and some of the characters turn out to be very moldy.

There should be just half as much horse sense behind the wheel as there is horsepower under the hood.

Communists may not know how to make "REDS" out of us, but they sure know how to put us in the red.

About the only thing people in every walk of life will agree about is that they are underpaid and overcharged.

Don't complain. The wheel that squeaks the loudest often gets replaced.

Man works like a zipper - better after a little "soft soap".

Computers will never replace human beings entirely. Someone has to complain about the errors.

Conceit is generally thought of as God's gift to little people.

The only time you should blow your horn is when you are in the band.

A person can save himself from many hard falls by refraining from jumping to conclusions.

Faith gives us the courage to face the present with confidence, and the future with expectancy.

one Gomco aspirator.

Plumbing contractors have inspected the hot water circulation problem under the care center. The board plans to ask the commissioners' court to request bids on the work.

A proposed bad debt policy was tabled until legally correct collection letters are obtained.

After discussing possible methods of operation for a medical education assistance program, board members agreed more information is needed.

Care center administrator Doris Hull explained the TILE payment program, a state reimbursement scale for Medicaid patients. She reminded the board of the Medicaid rule prohibiting nursing homes from charging private pay patients less than Medicaid patients.

Board members voted to increase care center private pay semi-private room fees from $35.62 per day to $37.00 and private pay private room fees from $55.36 to $57.00. The increases are effective March 1.

A financial report for the hospital indicated that 87 persons used the emergency room during February. There were 404 clinic visits in February with 767 recorded to date. This compares to 625 through February in the previous year.

Board members attending the meeting were: Armando Arredondo, Fred Deaton, Cecil Buckner, John Daniels and Concha Zapata. GTE Southwest Incorporated gives notice of its proposed tariff changes to CentraNet® service, which is a Central Office-based service that provides PBX-type features to multi-line business customers and is currently being offered in all company wire centers where such facilities exist to provide the service.

The Public Utility Commission of Texas approved a generic tariff for CentraNet® service up to 100 lines in Docket No. 7652. The proposed tariff revision would establish specific rates for CentraNet® service involving 101 to 400 lines. Other proposed revisions involve the rate applicable to changes, additions, or deletions to the data bases and a new rate is proposed for additional trunks.

The names of the three CentraNet® packages have changed from Standard, Premium, and Deluxe to CentraNet® 1000, CentraNet® 2000, and CentraNet® 3000, respectively. Direct Call Pickup has been added to the three CentraNet® packages while Multiple Call Park and Shared Speed Call 30 have been added to CentraNet® 2000, and Speed Call 30 and Call Forward Busy/No Answer Split have been added to CentraNet® 3000. The proposed rates are on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, and are available for public inspection at the offices of GTE Southwest Incorporated. These wild and evasive animals from India were brought to South Texas in the 1930s. Their meat is like beef to the taste. To the Editor
c/o The Ozona Stockman

Dear Editor:
I wrote a few months ago asking Mrs. Hartnett to open a day care again.

I tried Ozona Day Care but they do not accept infants. I have a 16 month old and my friend has a 3 month old child. How can mothers support themselves and stay off welfare if there is no one to care for their baby?

Surely we are not the only mothers out there that need to work or maybe just a couple of hours off.

If people would let her know they would support her, maybe Mrs Hartnett would reconsider. I know from experience that you could not ask for a better person to care for your child.

Thank you,
Debbie Allen

Dear Scotty,
While you've got your little calculator out, try putting a price on a human life. In the seven years I've worked at Crockett County Hospital I've seen many lives saved that otherwise couldn't have made it.

We have to have two doctors, it's too much for one doctor to handle night after night and day after day.

If we have to subsidize to keep them, then let's do it now. This is an emergency that can't wait 'til the next budget meeting.

Also, let's not lose sight of the fact that the doctors generate most, if not all, of their salaries. The doctor sees the patient, the patient pays the hospital and the hospital pays the doctor out of the money he generates. Very little county money is involved. This frees the doctors to practice medicine without the hassle and worry of billing, collecting, insurance filing and other clerical headaches.

We have a winning combination right now, two excellent doctors who pay their own way. Why mess it up with politics and buck-passing! We have everything to lose if this situation is not settled immediately and fairly.

Sincerely,
Nancy P. Whitehead, RN

Tag ends

by Scotty Moore

The countryside is beginning to green up and blossom as a result of the much needed rainfall received the past two weeks. The rain has been spotted across the county, but we will take whatever we can get.

As an added note to the hornet's nest that I stirred up in the Tag column last week, are we certain that putting the doctors under contract is really fair to both? What is going to happen when one doesn't make the $8,500 mark and the other does? They way I understand it, they get the guarantee regardless of how much work or money they bring in. That sounds like it could get lopsided in a hurry, as far as feelings are concerned. Just a thought--

The 1990 running of the Ozona track meet (high school and junior high) is this weekend, and there are a lot of good athletes not only in Ozona but in neighboring communities that will be competing. If you are looking for something to do and have never attended a track and field meet, you have really missed something in your life. These kids put forth a tremendous competitive effort, and your attendance makes it all worthwhile. See you there!

Ozona's homeowned and operated Dairy Queen opened March 6 just hours after the arrival of tables and seating. The DQ, located on the north access road of I-10, is employing 26 people with more to be hired according to Jane Richardson who manages the business with her husband Wade.

A full Dairy Queen menu including burgers, fish and chicken sandwiches, steak fingers, chicken strips and Mexican food is available. The store features an attractive ice cream bar and coffee bar.

Yogurt will be added to the Ozona DQ menu May 1. Diners will soon be able to purchase a Delite meal consisting of wheat bun, grilled chicken breast, yogurt sundae and Diet Coke.

The Richardsons plan to add breakfast to the menu this summer, possibly as early as June 1.

The dining area of the Dairy Queen was decorated by Jane for Crockett County. Photographs, old and new, decorate the walls courtesy local photographers and the Crockett County Museum.

Arrow-shaped rods, made especially for the Ozona store by a blacksmith, support curtains with a southwest influence.

The store accepts reservations for parties and other groups, Mrs. Richardson said.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week. The DQ will remain open later after school or other community functions.

Re-enactment events set at Ft. McKavett

A lone bugle calling reveille across the win-swept parade ground at Ft. McKavett State Historical Park on March 24 will begin a day in the life of a Texas frontier army post, according to Wilson E. Dolman, director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Parks Division.

On Saturday, March 24, the public is invited to attend informal re-enactment programs complete with demonstrations of historic guns, buffalo skinners telling tall tales, and the jingling of cavalry riding gear during parade drills.

Admission to the park and the program is free. Fort Concho's 16th infantry with their mule team and buckboard wagon will be featured as will Dixon's Skinners, a group of Amarillo historians who have researched and now authentically portray buffalo hunters and skinners of the 1870s. Other featured groups include the Fourth Cavalry (Memorial) from Lubbock and Fort Davis National Historic Site interpreters and volunteers.

Dressed in period uniforms and clothing, the re-enactors perform cavalry exercises on the parade ground, explain the economic importance of the buffalo and demonstrate buffalo guns, quarter their horses in the style of the frontier soldiers and give informal talks to interested visitors.

The program will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday morning and continue until 5 p.m. with a one hour lunch break at noon. Ft. McKavett is located in Menard County, 23 miles west of Menard on FM 864, and 40 miles northwest of Junction off FM 1674.
