Thompson expands use of compressed natural gas

Using compressed natural gas for fuel, an experiment which has been underway at the J. Cleo Thompson headquarters here for almost three years, expanded this summer.

The one vehicle already using CNG had operated very satisfactorily according to Jimmie Thompson, so much so that he decided to have 14 vehicles converted. A high pressure compressor, to 3,000 pounds, was installed near the J. Cleo Thompson office to accept gas processed at the Valero plant for use in these vehicles.

CNG is more economical, reduces dependence on foreign oil and is a cleaner burning fuel, Thompson said. Using a scale of one to 100 with one as the worst and 100 as least pollution, gasoline is from eight to 10, he explained. Propane rates about 52, diesel fuel about 34 and natural gas is 92, meaning that it is almost pure when properly burned. The cost is about 40 to 45 percent of what gasoline is, Thompson said.

The Thompson vehicles operate on both CNG and gasoline. Range while using CNG depends on storage capacity. The three tanks installed on his vehicles allow a range of approximately 275 miles before fill up.

Although facilities selling CNG are not plentiful, many have sprung up since August of 1990, Thompson said. He believes Austin possibly has the best facilities in the country. Almost all Railroad Commission vehicles and most state owned automobiles in the Austin area operate on "Relax and enjoy reliving the 100 year celebration and listen to the centennial musicians," invites Mrs. Childress.

CNG.

The Texas Legislature requires that all public transportation vehicles eventually be converted to optional fuel, and the larger the bus system, the quicker it will have to convert, he said.

Another example of CNG use includes the Garland Independent School District whose vehicles operate 100 percent on CNG.

The fuel is available in Fort Worth, Dallas, Amarillo and Austin in Texas and in Colorado Springs and Denver, CO. A contract has been let to build 24 of the stations in the Houston/Galveston area, also.

"We truly expect in the next few years that a number of CNG stations will be established," he said.

Wool promotion referendum ballots mailed

A wool referendum will be conducted Aug. 19 through Aug. 30. This referendum will determine whether producers approve of a new agreement to continue a market promotion and improvement program. The agreement is between the administrator, AMS and the American Sheep Industry Association Inc. Approval of this referendum will continue to authorize deductions from producer price support payments. These deductions would not exceed seven cents per pound of wool marketed and would not exceed thirty-five cents per hundredweight of unshorn lambs for 1991. For calendar years 1992 through 1995, the deductions may increase up to an additional one cent per pound of wool marketed and up to an additional five cents per hundredweight of unshorn lambs, per year.

Letter to the Editor

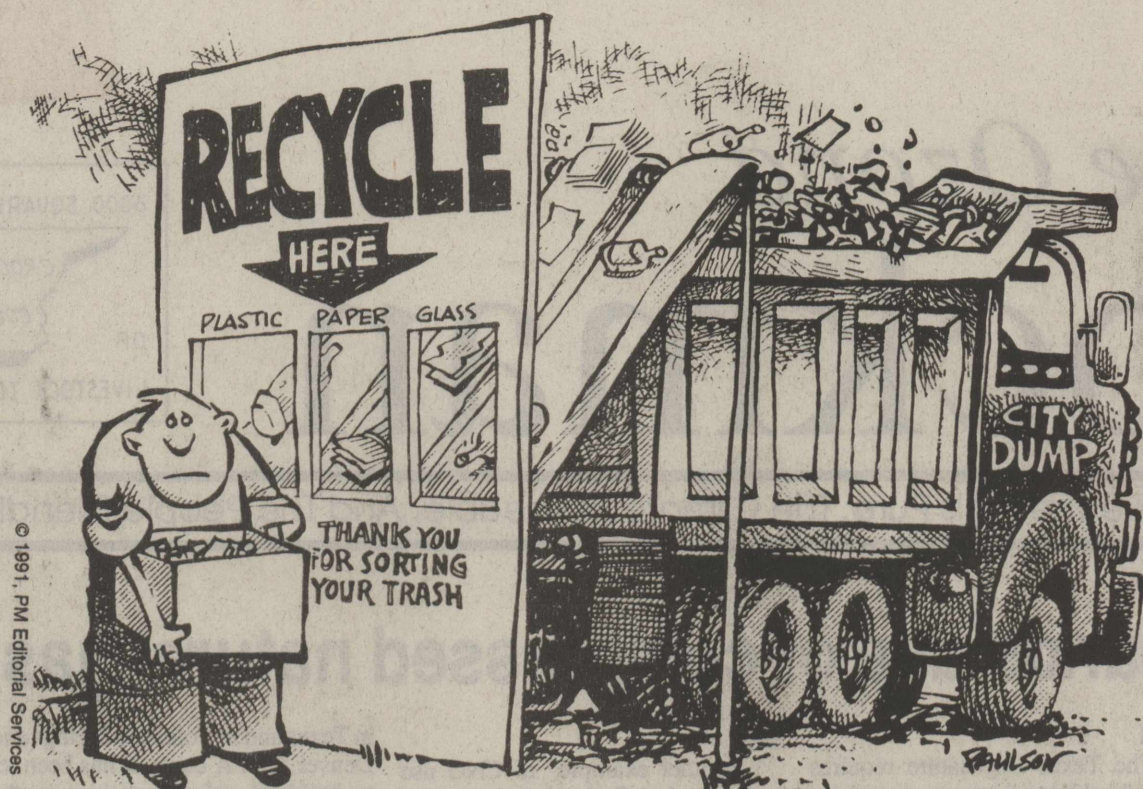

Dear Scotty and Linda,
Great job you and your staff did on the centennial issues. I really enjoyed every one and read every word. I had planned on being there - oldest living descendant of the J. W. Friend clan as well as I would have represented the 1923 graduating class. - medical complications and there's no way I could have made it. I hated to miss it. I'll never be around for another.

Good luck and my best to you and yours.
Pat F. Wood

Since sheep and goat raising are of primary importance to our area, I would like to use your paper as a means of communicating with my fellow producers. We recently experienced a referendum voted on by mohair producers which carried by a big majority, for which I am pleased and proud. There is a sheep and wool referendum which will be voted on during the period of Aug. 19th through Aug. 30th. I would also hope that this will be passed by a large majority. There are several reasons for this. I happen to be a Director, selected by my fellow producers, to serve on the Board of Directors of the American Sheep Industry Ass'n., the ASI as it is referred to. I see, perhaps more clearly than others, the importance of maintaining a strong, national sheep producer's organization to represent us on a national level. I don't think I have to point out the influence our incentive checks have on our ability to stay in business. With the ASI, and the work of a large number of dedicated sheep producers, we might not be receiving that incentive check in future years. We came very close to not getting the Wool Act renewed and we will be very closely watched by the opponents of its renewal to see how united we are in passing this referendum. A strong vote in favor of the referendum will convince them that we are united and that we see the need for continuing our promotion efforts for our products, wool and lamb. I think a lack of strong support for the referendum, by a close vote, would send a signal to those opponents that there is a lack of united effort and support for our industry. This could be critical for future renewals of the Wool Act.

I truly feel that the producers in Texas will show strong support for the referendum, but it is important that we do so in a big way because there are some states, primarily in the small, farm flock states, where there are large numbers of producers, but not large numbers of sheep, that the incentive payment is not that important to them. These folks might not be in favor of continuing the 'check-off', or they might not even bother to vote. We don't really know what might happen with them. So we need to pass our referendum with large numbers of voters in favor of it. So my main message to you is to please be sure and vote your ballots, hopefully, FOR the referendum. All producers who received an incentive check for the 1990 marketing year will be mailed a ballot. To qualify to vote in the referendum you have to have owned a sheep for 30 days during the 1990 marketing year, and the sheep must have been at least six months old before you disposed of him. If you don't receive a ballot in the mail, but meet these requirements, you can go to the ASCS office and request a ballot. If you have questions about the ballot, please contact your ASI Director nearest you or Pierce Miller of San Angelo, who serves as Secretary of ASI, or Pleas Childress III of Ozona, who serves on the executive Board, or

Scoggins, Reese nuptials held in Jacksonville

Amy Beth Scoggins became the bride of Matthew Bailey Reese on Saturday, Aug. 10, 1991, at seven o'clock in the evening at First United Methodist Church in Jacksonville.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Scoggins of Ozona, and Dr. and Mrs. Jimmie A. Reese of Jacksonville. The double ring, candlelight service was especially touching as the bridegroom's father joined his family's longtime friend, Dr. Jack Albright of Houston, in performing the wedding ceremony. The service was conducted before heart and fan candelabrum featuring votive candles and adorned with flowers in the bride's chosen colors of shades of mauve and ivory. Additional decorations included greenery and votive candles along the altar railing, and ivory satin pew bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight satin, featuring an open neckline edged in imported lace and a fitted basque bodice appliqued with lace and heavily beaded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The short puffed sleeves were adorned with beaded lace appliques and were accented with small candy box bows. The softly gathered full skirt was decorated at the back waist with a ruffled satin and lace bustle and featured a cathedral-length train enhanced with an inset of tiered satin ruffles and lace cutouts. A delicate waist-length tulle veil was arranged in a pouf and attached to the back brim of the bride's satin hat, which was accented with imported lace appliques, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her bouquet was an elegant combination of Nicole roses interspersed with mauve pixie carnations highlighted with Rosario Alstoemeras and enhanced with Springeri foliage.

For something old and borrowed, the bride wore a pearl bracelet which belonged to the bridegroom's late paternal grandmother. Something new was her wedding attire, and something blue was her garter. To complete the tradition, she wore a penny minted in the year of her birth in her shoe.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Julie Vargas of Austin, and the bride's maid of honor was Kim Lay of Grand Prairie. Bridesmaids were Starr Beall of Nacogdoches and Kerry Gipson of Tyler. They wore tea-length polished cotton dresses of a Victorian floral print in shades of mauve, blue, green and ivory on a black background, trimmed with deep mauve bows on the shirred sleeves. A large flat mauve bow and double of Garland, aunt of the bride, and soloist Dudley King of Tyler, who sang "Parent's Prayer" and "I Will Be Here". Guests enjoyed prelude and reception music performed by Mrs. Kuhn and her daughter, Darla Kuhn, also of Garland.

Beall Hall adjacent to the church was the setting for the reception, where traditional cake, punch and coffee were served. Serving at the bride's table were Melody Burks and Sara West, both of Mineola, sisters of the bride, and Darla Kuhn of Garland, the bride's cousin. Beth Reese of Austin, sister of the bridegroom, and Allyson Beall of Jacksonville, his cousin, served at the bridegroom's table. Guestbook hostess was Alicia Burks, niece of the bride. In addition to the bride's book and quill pen, the registry table displayed a Victorian wedding sampler worked in counted cross stitch for the couple by the bride's mother. The bride's portrait was displayed beside the table. Serving as rice bag hostess was niece of the bride, Amy Burks, with Alexandra West and Alayna West, also nieces of the bride, assisting her.

After a wedding trip to Disney World in Florida, the couple will be at home in Tyler where the bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Texas at Tyler, is employed in the management program of Sears, Roebuck and Company, and the bride is a senior interdisciplinary studies major at the University of Texas at Tyler.

Friends from Ozona who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dews, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Storms, Mrs. Lowell Littleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lopez. The bride and bridegroom were surprised and delighted by the attendance of the bride's dear friend, Annalu Lopez Suddreth, formerly of Ozona, who now resides with her serviceman husband, Dave, in Ankara, Turkey.

"Fiesta" was the theme of a miscellaneous shower which was given in the bride's honor at the Crockett Room on June 8, at 7:30 p.m. Guests enjoyed a meal of traditional Mexican food and played Spanish Bingo after the gifts were opened. Decorations included a wedding cake pinata which served as the centerpiece on the buffet table. Hostesses were Alice Lopez, Gloria Moran, Frances Denman, Nina Martinez, Toni DeHoyos and Lupe Cervantez.

The bride was honored with a lingerie luncheon on June 9 at 11:30 a.m., also at the Crockett Room, which was beautifully decorated with floral tablecloths and fresh flowers. Guests were treated to a delicious buffet luncheon by hostesses Ann Shaw, Sandra Childress, Marolyn Bean, Tina Bean, Mae Lay and Lu Ingram.

At 3 in the afternoon on June 9, the First Baptist Church parlor was the setting for a gift tea honoring the bride. The parlor was decorated in shades of mauve with accents of black, and guests were served refreshments of Jubilee Jewels, mints, seasoned nuts, tea and coffee. Serving as hostesses were Teri Adams, Jewell Bailey, June Cameron, Lupe Cervantez, Marilyn Chalmers, Geniece Childress, Wanda Dews, Ruth Dorris, Arlene

Granddaughter of Ozonans named exec of Christian Youth Fellowship

Rebecca Nieri, daughter of Pedro and Donna Nieri of San Angelo and granddaughter of Buddy and Maggie Moore of Ozona, was recently installed as a regional executive of the Christian Youth Fellowship in the southwest region of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). The installation service was held in July during the Regional Youth Assembly which was held on the campus of Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth. As an executive officer she will serve on the Regional Youth Ministry council which is responsible for the development of youth programming for the Christian Church in the Southwest Region which includes the states of Texas and New Mexico. Earlier in the summer Rebecca was installed as a central area officer of the Christian Youth Fellowship. As one of the officers she will be responsible for the planning and implementation of the various activities including rallies and summer camp for high school youth in the central area of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Rebecca was chosen for these offices because of her special and unique gifts of leadership and her commitment to the church. She and her parents are members of the College Hills Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in San Angelo.

Ozona ladies return from Mexico City trip

Back from a trip to Mexico City are Elma Buckner, Nana Fierro, Cynthia Flores, Lupe Galvan, Juanita Garanzuay, Maria Hernandez, Lupe Martinez, Nina Martinez, Cecilia Longoria, Inez Ortiz, Beatrice Vasquez and Linda Kay Vasquez who went to visit the Basilica of Our Lady of Guadalupe. They enjoyed a bus ride from Laredo to Monterrey. From Monterrey they rode the train that took them to Mexico City. Along the way the ladies enjoyed the scenes of beautiful mountains.

While in Mexico City they stayed at the Howard Johnson Hotel which is across the street from the governor's palace. While eating breakfast in the terrace they got to see the soldiers marching. They toured the pyramids, Xochimilco Park and The Basilica of Our Lady of Guadalupe. They climbed to the serrito where they Lady of Guadalupe first appeared to the Indian Juan Diego. They visited the Garibaldi Park where there are dozens of Mariachio. They visited the Cathedral, which is the oldest cathedral in the American Continent, a couple of mercados and the governor's palace. A sightseeing tour took them by the homes of the President of Mexico, Mario Moreno, known as "Cantinflas", and The University of Mexico. They also visited the stadium which was built for the olympics in the form of a sombrero and the Chapultepec Park. Some of the ladies from the group also enjoyed a floor show featuring Daniela Romo.

The ladies said they really enjoyed the trip and plan to return someday.

¹³And make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.

Think About It!

By Ralph Moore

The Glass Ceiling

There is a level of the corporate ladder which very few women or minorities go beyond. It has been referred to as "the glass ceiling". Most corporate executives are white males, and, despite excellence in training and performance, women and minorities can only see through a certain level.

Well, there are laws against discrimination so this poses problems for the government, especially the Labor and Justice Departments. In order to remove the glass ceiling, some discriminatory policies and practices must be resolved.

Since World War II days, women have been a growing force in the labor market. They have entered almost every occupation and profession with competent and qualified representatives. The glass slipper fit Cinderella's foot and she escaped the dungeon; more than likely women and minorities will go beyond the restrictions imposed by a transparent barrier.

It seems to me that there are more opportunities for women and minorities in the labor market than ever before, but then I'm not in their shoes. I'm sure it is quite disheartening to be as qualified or more than qualified than another and lose out due to gender or color. When that happens, it is wrong.

Any employee, based on sheer performance and ability, should be able to advance. Color, creed or sex should not keep people out of management in the corporate world or any other place. If it does, then discrimination is the reason.

No, I'm not advocating that women should be placed in a job just because they are women. The same holds true, I believe, for minorities. People seeking jobs or positions should be judged on their ability and their actions.

The greatest liberator of all times, Jesus the Christ, was an outspoken advocate for the oppressed. Many times the Lord elevated women to a place of honor and respect ignoring the traditions of the day. By the same token, the minorities were often praised because of their faith and devotion.

And His insistence that all be treated fairly paid dividends. Women were there at the crucial hour of crucifixion when the men were hiding. The Gentiles were instrumental in carrying the gospel to the far reaches of the earth. Their worth, in both examples, was determined by their ability and interest, not by their being women or minorities.

It is a shame that the glass ceiling exists. It is a commentary on our society that says we go by old rules rather than by rights. I imagine the glass ceiling will be cracked, broken open, and penetrated. Since the top can be seen, it can be reached - by anyone who continues to climb.

Think about it.

MAKE HALLWAYS INTERESTING AND USEFUL

One way to improve your home is to make better use of your hallways--and that means not only making hallways more functional, but more beautiful as well.

And, it's not difficult to do. The right furniture and furnishings can help turn hallways into a real asset.

Hallways represent an often overlooked bonus you can turn to for providing more space that you may need in your home, and an area where you can add decorator touches that will increase the overall beauty of your home.

Tables of the right size can be both useful and beautiful in hallways. They can serve many purposes there, including storage, display and convenience. You might even consider a desk in a hallway if you have no place for it in other rooms.

Beside being cold and bare, many hallways are also too dark, so an attractive lamp on the right table can add beauty and light.

It's the walls of a hallway that can really give you a chance to create some pretty decorating. Anything from useful mirrors and clocks to pictures and other wall decor can help your hallway--and your home.

For furnishing for any room, come in.

The Offense of the Cross

By Rev. Norvell Allen

If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me.

Know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God. — We must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God.

Whosoever believeth on Him shall not be ashamed. — Unto you therefore which believe He is precious, but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense.

God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. — I am crucified with Christ. They that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with affections and lusts.

If we suffer, we shall also reign with Him; if we deny Him, He also will deny us.

A Quick-View Guide to the Journey to Oz

By T. C. Tucker

One-third of a mile after Hye, State Highway 1 begins on the right. This is the road that bypasses the LBJ Ranch which is part of the LBJ State and National Historical Park, the entrance of which I pass some three miles later.

The park definitely has the works: a museum; a tour of LBJ's place and a view of Lady Bird's wildflowers; softball, swimming and tennis facilities; and buffalo, at least for part of the year. I spot six and one calf behind the tall, barbed wire fence. I think deer reside within as well.

Just a bit farther down the road, Stonewall reminds me that peach season is here as big, fat peaches sit in wicker baskets under the shade of vending stalls. Buy us, the peaches scream at passing tourists.

The town structures have a freshly-painted look.

Stonewall also reminds me that I'm entering Peach & Antique country. I must keep an eye out for flying 19th century dresser drawers.

"LITTERING IS UNLAWFUL," a blue sign tells me.

Grape Creek Vineyard and Winery is a fairly new operation. Right next to it is an equestrian training area.

Six-foot sunflowers alongside the road evoke sci-fi Day of the Triffids connotations.

FOR SALE: a two-story house with circus-stripe awnings.

About six miles east of Fredricksburg sits an Italian restaurant by the name of Pardi's.

Also in this tract: a sign announcing CAIN CITY that-a-way, to the south; a KOA (Kampground of America); and two picnic areas, one with a historical marker.

According to signs, I cross the Pedernales River twice, but referring to Roads, I discover that I only span the actual river once, while the other point is merely an extending, dead-end branch.

I overtake a truck pulling a trailer no bigger than my Ford Escort yet holding six or seven good-sized cows. One of them, pressed hard against the back rail, has its head twisted almost halfway around and looks dead. Is it?

If you follow that Cain City road (or one a couple miles farther west) and drive five or so miles, past Cain City, you'll come to Grapetown Community, which has a community hall and a cemetery and that's about all.

On down the road is an old but fairly well-to-do homestead accompanied by a descriptive historical marker of the place. Having stumbled on this marker, I am awed less by what it has to say and more by its presence. I gaze down the unmarked road and wonder how many historical markers wait along lonely roads such as this one.

Armed with a map like Roads, a search for all the backwood roads' historical markers would be an experience. Take away Roads and it would really be an experience! Imagine the title: 'Lost in Gillespie County.'

Entering Fredricksburg, I see the recently erected Fort Martin Scott Historic Site. The renovators have done a good job. Unfortunately, the town's waste water treatment facility sits right next door.

No one is to blame. The original builders of the fort had no idea that in the future the town of Fredricksburg would want to put their soiled water in the same field. Or for that matter, those responsible for the treatment facility probably had no inkling of the fort and/or its reinstatement. No big deal and no bad smell.

A truck on the right offers "Cantaloupes 2 for $1."

Regardless of the attraction of the nearby ranch, Fredricksburg has established its own identity with antiques galore and the German touch.

My favorite element are the churches. Built of the same stone many of the main street buildings sport, these structures dominate the part of town they occupy. Actual denominations blur but a Catholic church stands out because it seemed better lit than other Catholic churches I have visited.

Finished, the priest leaves, and I take a quick stint in his part of the confessional—I've always wondered what it is like to be on the other side. I sink in the padded mini-pew—definitely more comfortable than resting on one's knees.

I also find two cemeteries in town. One fits the graveyard image verbatim: stark, unbroken stretch of upright, inscribed stones and one tree—actually a thick, grey trunk with no limbs...and dead too. Forget about having a picnic here.

Several highways and roads pass through or terminate in Fredricksburg. This undoubtedly aids the tourism.

U.S. Highway 290 of course. State Highway 16, traveling from Llano to the north, keeps heading south after Fredricksburg until it reaches Kerrville.

U.S. Highway 87 enters Texas at Texline and passes through Dalhart, Amarillo, Lubbock, Big Spring and San Angelo, among others, before visiting Fredricksburg, and then on to San Antonio, Victoria and a romantic ending at Port Lavaca.

Two Farm or Ranch to Market roads find their destiny in Fredricksburg: 1637 originates somewhere near Willow City which lies in the northeastern corner of Gillespie County; and 965 branches off State Highway 16 about fifteen miles south of Llano and runs by Enchanted Rock before plunging into Fredricksburg.

In fact, 965 is the only road to the state park. And did you know Enchanted Rock has a triangulation station atop it?

Fredricksburg has even more: a National Guard Armory, the Admiral Nimitz Museum and Crockett Street.

(Final segment next week)

Gum Disease: Are You at Risk?

Gum disease, or periodontal disease, has been in the news a lot lately. However, most people are unclear about what this disease is and how a person can tell if he or she has it.

Periodontal disease is very common, in fact, three out of ever four adults have some form of this disease. Usually, it does not cause any pain and goes unnoticed. However, early detection and treatment are very important.

Gum disease is an infection of the gums that is caused by a film of bacteria, called plaque, that is attached to the crown and root surfaces of the teeth. This plaque produces toxins that irritate and inflame the gums. If not removed, these toxins will destroy gum tissue, causing the tissues to separate from the tooth and form deepened spaces, called pockets. The pockets can then hold more bacteria and toxins causing the gum to detach even further until the bone and other supporting tissues are destroyed.

THE WARNING SIGNS OF GUM DISEASE ARE:

1. bleeding during brushing or flossing
2. red, tender or swollen gums
3. persistent bad breath
4. gums that have pulled away from the teeth
5. pus between the gums and teeth
6. loose or separating teeth
7. a change in your bite
8. a change in the fit of your partial denture

To determine if you have gum disease, your dentist needs to do a complete examination. This examination includes a small instrument, called a periodontal probe, to measure the depth of the space between the tooth and gum. This charting of each tooth will determine whether you have periodontal pockets and their depth. Also x-rays may be necessary to check the bone supporting the teeth.

Dentistry can treat gum disease. I will explain the different treatments in my next article.

Senator Bill Sims files constitutional amendment for equal education opportunity AUSTIN—Senator Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, filed a Constitutional Amendment Aug. 8 that would provide for equal education opportunity. The amendment, Senate Joint Resolution 16 (S.J.R. 16), would provide local control of local Texas to all school districts.

"I filed this bill for the poorer school districts in the western part of my district. I believe that school districts should have local control of their money," Sims said.

The amendment proposes to provide for the redistribution of a portion of ad valorem taxes levied and collected by extremely wealthy "tax haven" school districts, which are districts with $1 million or more of property wealth per student that levy taxes at an abnormally low rate of $.50 or less per $100 of property valuation.

S.J.R. 16 also proposes to provide for legislative control of the methods by which state funds are distributed to school districts and by which school districts are formed. The courts would be restricted in their power to overturn a legislative decision regarding the system of or support for public education by adopting federal constitutional law which also preserves equal access to the courts.

"I think that this bill is fair and would help to give school districts relief from high local property taxes," Sims said.

Congressmen Smith accepting applications for service academies

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Lamar Smith announced that he is accepting applications for the four service academies and encourages all interested men and women to apply for the 1992 school year.

Students who want to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, NY; the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.; the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.; or the U.S. merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, NY, must receive a nomination before being appointed to the academy.

"The students I have the privilege of nominating are some of the most highly qualified in Texas," Smith said.

Members of Congress may nominate students from their own Congressional Districts. Nominees must be between the ages of 17 and 21, unmarried and U.S. citizens. They also will be required to pass a physical aptitude test and medical exam.

To receive more information, interested students can write Stu McLennan, District Director, c/o Congressman Lamar Smith, 10010 San Pedro Ave., Suite 530, San Antonio, Texas 78216 or call Mr. McLennan at (512) 229-5880.

The course consists of four seminars held in a two-year period.

Professor J. H. Johnson, head of the Benz School, was the Lecturer, and also demonstrated the newest and latest in designs.

At each seminar, two flower show judges had been invited to serve as teaching assistants, lecturing and demonstrating to one of the groups. Joycelyn served as teaching assistant in the first seminar.

After completion of lectures and demonstrations, students reported to assigned lab spaces, where they received a container and chose plant material to be made into a floral design. The designs were all set up for judging, the judging score becoming a part of the final exam score.

Those successfully completing all four seminars will be awarded a pin and certificate and the designation of Design Consultant at the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. Fall meeting to be held in Tyler in October.

I-10 accident injures three

A one-vehicle rollover injured three travelers Monday afternoon west of Ozona. Mrs. Mary Shugert was the driver of a 1990 Chevrolet Astro van which overturned twice before landing upright in the 2:55 p.m. accident.

According to investigating officer Trooper Ben Macias, Mrs. Shugert reportedly took her eyes off the road as she reached between the seats. The vehicle left the road to the right, then skidded to the left as she overcorrected.

Mrs. Shugert and her daughter were treated at Crockett County Hospital for bruises. A granddaughter was treated for lacerations of the face and head.

Three Lubbock men and an Ozonan received minor injuries in a 2 a.m. accident north of Ozona on Hwy. 163 Aug. 11. Juan Rangel, driver of the 1988 Mercury Cougar, fell asleep, then awoke and steered hard to the left and struck a rock wall on the west side of the road.

Rangel, Robert Rangel and Danny Sotol were taken to Crockett County Hospital by ambulance. Jim Etheridge of Ozona was also a passenger in the car.

The accident was investigated by Trooper Macias.

Museum wildflower exhibit at CCNB

The southwest wildflower exhibit sponsored by Crockett County Museum has been moved to Crockett County National Bank. This traveling exhibit by artist Martha Bruce of California is leased from the John E. Conner Museum of Kingsville until Sept. 1.

The museum wants the community to enjoy these original watercolor paintings. The paintings are of special interest to artists.

Books of the wildflowers and notepaper of the flowers may be purchased at the museum. Anyone interested in buying a set of prints is asked to leave their name at the museum.

A note of interest to the people of Ozona is that the museum in Kingsville that produced this collection is the John E. Conner Museum. The museum was named for a distinguished history professor at Texas A&I University.

Mr. Conner taught history in Ozona for several years when the stone school was being built. His wife did a drawing of the school and handpainted an invitation to the formal opening of the school in 1912. Mr. Conner sent the local museum the original of the invitation. He was more than 100 years old at the time of his death two years ago in Kingsville.

Crockett County Public Library News

by Louise Ledoux

Crockett County Public Library has just acquired a very important book written by Attorney Bradley E. Smith. "Write Your Own Living Will" which tells how to create a simple, legal living will with no need to consult a lawyer. A living will is a declaration of your health care wishes. If you want to avoid anguish for your family and friends at a time when you cannot express your own wishes about medical treatment, you need a living will. This book explains why a living will is so important and provides easy, do-it-yourself forms that can be filled out in minutes. U.S. News and World Report says of Smith's book, "a living will can protect you and your family from the indignity, heartbreak, and financial devastation that your protracted death may mean." "For people who are worried that they may someday be kept alive in a vegetative condition against their wishes and at potentially enormous cost—a living will is essential, say lawyers, doctors and others who counsel individuals and their families on patients' rights. While individual lawyers can also help with a living will, some of them say it probably isn't necessary to spend the money, since the forms are designed to be used without legal assistance." — from The Wall Street Journal. "living will statutes vary, so it's a good idea to sign a directive that complies with the law in your state. You don't need a lawyer for this," says Business Week. In 1976, the hearts of all Americans were touched when we learned that the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan, a young woman with persistent vegetative state, could not remove their daughter's respirator and let her die naturally. To do what they were sure Karen would want, the Quinlans had to overcome an expensive, draining, prolonged, and uncertain fight in the courts. The Quinlan case was the first right to die case and made us realize that medical technology could produce a previously unknown hell between the life we enjoy and the death we anticipate. In 1990, the recent "right-to-die" case decided by the United States Supreme Court (Cruzan v. State of Missouri, in which the family of Nancy Cruzan, a thirty-two-year-old woman in a persistent vegetative state, wished to remove life support) suggested that living wills are valuable tools to assist Judges in making difficult rulings on artificially prolonging life. Even more recently, in November 1990, the U.S. congress enacted the Patient Self-Determination Act, which will, by 1992, require hospitals, health maintenance organizations (HMOs), nursing facilities, and home health care providers to advise patients of their rights to make health care decisions in advance with advance directives such as living wills.

Mr. Smith's book, "Write Your Own Living Will", examines every aspect of this critical, emotional issue. He defines terms, gives heart-breaking examples of the need for each person to make their health care wishes known, and provides state by state examples of forms to use in making your own living will. Be sure to consult your doctor, lawyer and family before making this important step. But, don't delay because we never know what tomorrow may bring.

Ozonans complete leadership course

Two Ozona women, Lara Sue Baggett and Shelley Conner, recently completed training in the Family Community Leadership program. The program, known as FCL, is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Crockett County National Bank generously provided the registration costs for the two, who will now begin "paying back" their training by presenting programs for the people of the county.

The training was completed in three sessions, including one overnight session at Howard College in Big Spring. Baggett and Conner both received continuing education credits for their participation from Howard College and from Odessa College, where the second session was held. Accompanied by County Extension Agent-Home Economics Tetra Ulmer, who was also participating in the training and who presented one of the sessions, the two women learned communication techniques, conflict management, time management, stress management, teaching others, public affairs education, and other topics.

To schedule a program for your organization, club or classroom, contact either Lara Sue Baggett, Shelley Conner or Tetra Ulmer. They can be reached through the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

New House Bill 70 allows ticketed drivers to clean the slate

Beginning Sept. 1, 1991 House Bill 70 will allow a Texas driver to take a Texas Education Agency State certified 8-hour driving safety course every year to dismiss most moving traffic tickets.

In 1981 it became mandatory for judges to allow a ticketed driver to take a driving safety course every two years. Since then traffic deaths on Texas highways have decreased by more than 50%.

By allowing a ticketed driver to take the 8-hour course every year the Texas Legislature hopes to reduce driving related deaths even further.

Visiting

Birthday greetings go to Cody Gotcher who turns three on Aug. 24. Cody is the son of Wyane and Virginia Gotcher of Ozona. Have a good one, Cody.

Arriving in the U. S. this week were the Shane Tomlinson family of Nuremburg, Germany. The family's trip to Ozona will be delayed due to a loss of luggage. The children spoke excitedly about their big plane ride and of seeing cousins again. The Tomlinsons will be stationed at Fort Sill, OK, for the next three to five years.

Birthday greetings to Curtis Keith on Aug. 25. Happy birthday, Curtis.

Anniversary wishes go to Shane and Peri Fenton Aug. 22. Have a great day, you two.

Visiting in Ozona this week were Jap and Annette Vargas. Both former residents of Ozona, the two now reside in Austin. While here they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rodriguez and family and Mr. and Mrs. Evarado Vargas.

Birthday greetings go to Savannah Wright whose special day was Aug. 17.

Visiting with George and Ruth Hester this week are Terry and Patti Racher. Patti will leave for Houston to continue medical treatment while Terry returns to work in the mission field in Taiwan. Have a safe trip, you two, and return soon.

Aug. 19 was a special day for Jeff and Laura Owens as they celebrated 68 years of marriage. Congratulations. We hope you enjoyed your day to the fullest.

Visiting in Ozona this week were Jack and Nancy Adkins of New York, NY. The couple talked of being from the "Big Apple" for some interesting facts. Jack says on an easy traffic day you could drive through the state, but he soon found out this was not true in Texas. Crime is a headliner in the daily paper there, but not so in Texas. Jack, an investor for a brokerage firm, and Nancy, a secretary for an insurance agency, found life in Ozona so serene they wish to return soon. Their parting message to Ozona's friendly people, "count your blessings of your lovely town; all is not so nice elsewhere".

Birthday wishes for a super day go to Betty Munsell Aug. 25. Have a super day, Betty.

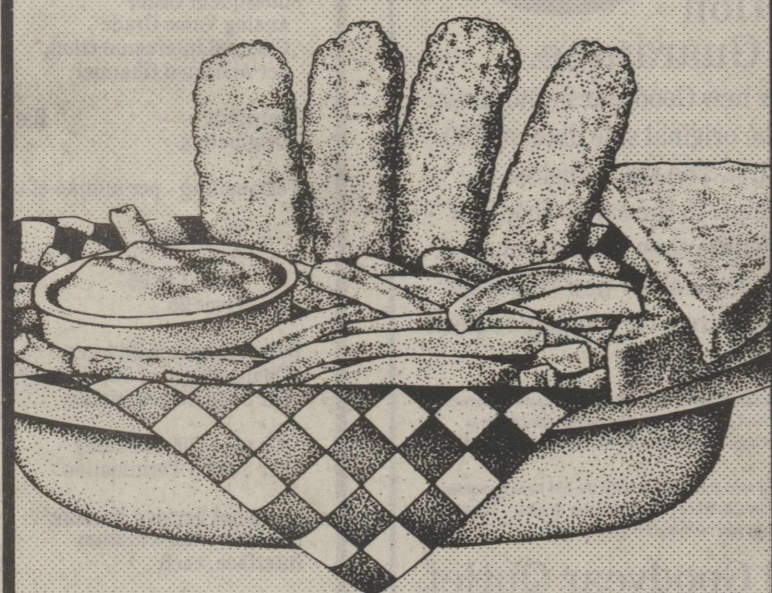

Stanton Seth Najar of Dallas was here last week to visit his grandparents, Stanley and Mary Najar, Uncle Rodney Najar and Aunt Micha Najar.

Card of Thanks

The Ozona Community Center Board of Directors and staff wish to thank the Dan Bean Memorial Roping Committee, Marolyn and Joe Bean, Ed and Laurie Hale, the Dare to Care members, Francis Curry and members of all Ozona's churches who contributed time, effort, money and supplies to the painting, carpeting and cleaning of the center. The continued prayers and support of this community is deeply appreciated.

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on 08-07-91. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	23,690	23,690
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	4,738	4,738
Average taxable value	18,952	18,952
Tax rate	.615	.68 (proposed)
Tax	116.55	128.87 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 12.32 or 11 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $.065 per $100 of taxable value or 11 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Get the most from your ranch

Are you a successful rancher? Are you getting all out of the ranch you would like? Does the ranch support you or do you support the ranch?

Due to unique ranch resources, personal goals, experiences and environmental conditions, ranching is many things to many people. What works on one ranch may not work for the ranch across the road. Many successful ranchers have developed goals, plans for meeting those goals, evaluation procedures for each alternative, and ways to monitor progress. The Total Ranch Management program, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, incorporates that process to teach an approach for managing ranch resources.

The next Total Ranch Management workshop is Sept. 10-13 and 17-20 at Towle Memorial Park in Snyder. This is the first workshop offered in the Texas South Plains.

"The workshop has been extremely successful," said Dr. Tom Troxel, extension livestock specialists and TRM instructor.

"Ranchers who have participated have made management changes that were positive steps in achieving ranch goals. They now feel that they are in control of their ranch rather than the ranch being in control of them," Troxel said.

TRM emphasizes goal achievement through selection of enterprises and day-to-day activities. A case ranch example is used to illustrate this process and its application.

The TRM approach teaches ranchers how to manage and use resources for best total ranch benefits; determine the best alternatives, enterprises and technological tools for achieving ranch goals; organize the ranch for effective management; and evaluate management decisions to reduce risk and increase their chance of success.

"This course forces its participants to set some real goals," said Preston Faris, Sutton County Extension Agent, who has seen more than 20 ranchers in his county go through the course.

"It opens their eyes to the necessity of making ranching a business." The workshop consists of eight days of instruction and includes two field trips.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service honored the TRM team with the 1990 Unit Award for Superior Service. This is the highest award given by the extension service.

Registration is limited to 30 participants to allow one-on-one assistance. Registration for the first participant from a ranch is $300; each additional ranch participant attending the same workshop pays $150.

Further information is available from the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, (512) 278-9151; Mike Morrow, Scurry County extension agent, (915) 573-5423; Lee Howard, Garza County extension agent, (806) 495-2050.

THE "NO EXCUSES" TIRE GUARANTEE

Nobody else has anything like it. Only Goodyear Certified Auto Service locations can offer you guaranteed satisfaction on quality Goodyear tires, or your money back. This proves the confidence my outlet has in the quality of the tires we sell. You like them, or we'll buy them back. With no excuses.

Customer Satisfaction "No Excuses" Tire Guarantee.
If you are not satisfied with your new Goodyear brand tires, return them within 30 days of the original sale date, or 500 miles of use, whichever comes first. The tires must be returned, along with the sales receipt, to the same Goodyear Certified Auto Service location where they were purchased. The tires will be replaced with comparable* new Goodyear brand tires, and installed free of charge. Or you may request your money to be refunded.

* A "comparable" new Goodyear tire may be either the same line of tire, or the same basic construction and quality which may feature a different sidewall or tread configuration. If a higher priced tire is accepted as a replacement, the difference in price plus applicable sales tax will be an additional charge to the customer.
 If you keep your old tires, Goodyear will remount and refit your vehicle with the old tires (provided they are road-worthy). If the old tires were disposed of by the Store (see the waiver release), other tires will have to be purchased by the customer. However, they will be installed at no charge.

Public Notice

On July 22, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for approval of two new optional services, Exchange Connection Service and Customer Alerting Enablement. Exchange Connection Service will permit a customer of the Telephone Company to provide voice messaging service, telephone answering service, or other services to itself or to patrons of the customer. Customer Alerting Enablement will permit residence and business lines to receive an alerting tone (intermittent dial tone) transmitted by an Exchange Connection Service customer. The proposed effective date for this offering is September 23, and will be available statewide where facilities permit.

The calling party's telephone number and other originating network call information will be delivered to the Exchange Connection Service customer when the calling number and the called number are served by the same switch. Additionally, the caller's telephone number and other originating network call information may be recorded and stored by the Exchange Connection Service customer. Customers may be able to identify the caller before the call is answered. All Exchange Connection Service customers will be required to sign a non-disclosure agreement prior to being provided service. In the agreement the customer agrees not to disclose the calling party's telephone number unless the customer has written permission from the calling party.

The Telephone Company estimates these new services will increase its annual revenues during the first year by approximately $1.2 million. Providers of voice messaging service and telephone answering services and their subscribers are the types of customers likely to be affected by approval of these services.

Exchange Connection Service is provided to customers in two parts: Local Serving Arrangement, which provides access to the exchange network; and Optional Service Features.
