Two Charged In Albers Death

A investigation into the death of Larry Albers led to the arrest of two people last week.

Tyrone Cornilus Parker, also known as Pete Parker, age 49, was arrested March 30 on a charge of murder. Parker was arrested at his trailer in Albers' Trailer Park at about 9:10 p.m.

Loretta C. Neumuller, also known as Susie Neumuller, age 52, was arrested the next day on a charge of capital murder. Ms. Neumuller was arrested about 2 p.m. at the Coates Street home she and Albers shared.

A charge of capital murder applies when a person is murdered during the course of another felony offense, such as kidnapping, burglary, robbery, sexual assault, arson or murder for remuneration.

Parker was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Jim Heame of March 30 and Neumuller on March 31. Bail was denied.

Hearne appointed Tom Davidson to represent Parker and Randall Stout to represent Neumuller. Stout is a former district judge. Both attorneys have offices in San Angelo.

Ms. Neumuller reported Albers missing on March 17.

Albers was found dead inside his car March 21. The car was discovered by state highway department employees in a ravine 30 miles south of Ozona on Hwy. 163.

Following an autopsy, the Bexar County medical examiner ruled the death a murder. Sheriff Jim Wilson said Albers was killed by blows to the head with a blunt instrument.

On March 22, Sheriff Wilson formed an investigative team made up of Crockett County deputies, Texas Rangers, state troopers, and investigators from the 112th District Attorney's office. The team worked around the clock until the arrests were made, Wilson said.

A team of forensic experts from the the Texas Department of Public Safety at Austin flew to Ozona March 31 to conduct a search of the residence Albers and Neumuller shared.

Evidence will be presented to the grand jury "probably in two to three weeks," Wilson said. "This will give us time to get back more information from lab tests."

Sheriff Wilson said Parker's murder charge will possibly be upgraded to capital murder when the grand jury meets. A new grand jury was selected April 4.

"As this is an ongoing criminal investigation, the facts and evidence of the case will not be discussed at this time," Wilson said.

Health Fair Set For April 14

The Crockett County Health Fair has been set for Thursday, April 14, at the civic center from noon to 6 p.m. The event, held annually since the 1970's, is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Crockett County Extension Home Economics Committee and the Crockett County Hospital.

Everyone in Crockett County is urged to take advantage of free health tests and programs which will be held at the fair. This year's fair will have cholesterol, glucose, blood pressure, eye exams, fitness, hearing and other tests for free, courtesy of such organizations as Crockett County Hospital, Shannon Medical Center, Community Hospital and Beltope.

Shannon will be bringing their new medical helicopter for a special session on "Safety First/Buckle Up!" and plans to land near the civic center so everyone can view the newest option in emergency services for Crockett County residents.

United Blood Services and Xi Sigma Omega sorority will also hold their spring blood drive from 12-6 at the civic center in conjunction with the Health Fair.

"This year's fair will be a little different than in the past," said County Extension Agent-Home Economics Tedra Ulmer, who coordinates the event along with Home Economics Committee's Health Fair Task Force-Veva Vargas, Joyce Young, Ampara Enriquez, Connie Jennings, Diane Schwertner and Peggy Dickerson.

Instead of just having booths with information, short 15-30 minute talks and demonstrations on health topics will be held throughout the day. Programs begin at 10 a.m. with the monthly meeting for the morning group in the Family Community Education Club and end with the evening FCE meeting and program at 7 p.m. This program will be on "Fighting the Female Fat Cell" and is open to anyone interested.

Other program topics during the day will feature diabetes, fitness, heart disease, stroke prevention and treatment, and nutrition. For a complete list of all programs, times and presenters, Crockett County residents can check the Health Fair article in the April 13 issue of The Stockman or watch for a flyer in their church bulletin on April 10. "The planning task force hopes you will come to the fair, stay for one or two programs, and take advantage of free testing in-between!" said Ulmer.

"We are also looking for volunteers to help provide refreshments and help with registration - particularly anyone who is bilingual," Ulmer noted. She also reminded everyone that the Thunderbird Rural Transportation van will be available for transportation to the health fair that day, with regular rates in effect.

For more information about the Health Fair or to volunteer, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs and activities such as the Health Fair, which are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability. If you require auxiliary aids, services or other accommodations for this event due to a disability, please contact Ulmer at 392-2721 to determine how reasonable accommodations can be made.

YELLOW CRIME SCENE - DO NOT ENTER tape encompassed the yard at the Larry Albers home at 616 Coates Street March 31. Members of a forensics team from the Texas Department of Public Safety at Austin came to Ozona to search the residence where Albers and his companion, Susie Neumuller, made their home before his death.

Soil And Water Conservation District Honors Miller And Shelton

The Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District recently honored Eugene Miller and Ray Shelton at a conservation awards banquet held in San Angelo. Eugene and Vickie Miller were honored as this year's Outstanding Conservation Rancher and Ray Shelton received the Conservation Wildlife Award. Earl Acton and Larry Williams, directors of the district, presented the honorees with the awards.

Eugene Miller ranches approximately 13,700 acres of rangeland in the southern portion of Crockett County. He has been a district cooperator with the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District for 41 years. Along with his wife, Vickie, Eugene has carried out an overall conservation program that stands out among the best.

He believes in a light to moderate stocking rate and tries to improve desirable forage stands. A combination of cattle, sheep and goats are used to get the most efficient utilization of existing forages. Adequate amounts of cover are always present to prevent soil erosion and to ensure vigor of grass stands.

Eugene has drilled wells, constructed several water storage facilities and troughs and installed miles and miles of livestock water pipelines to improve livestock grazing distribution. Several miles of crossfences have been constructed to facilitate his grazing program.

Brush control has always played a big role in Eugene's operation. He believes it helps improve the carrying capacity of the land and increases the amount of moisture retained in the soil for use in growing desirable forages.

Eighty-five percent of the ranch has received some form of control. A large portion of this area has been treated two to three times. The brush control program truly began in 1948 with the purchase of a cleat track tractor and is ongoing. Aerial spraying and treedoing have been carried out to reduce competition for moisture. He has initiated a retreatment program by individual plant treatment to control regrowth of mesquite, juniper and pricklypear. Hand spraying and control by a Ford/New Holland compact loader mounted with a grubber are techniques which have been used with tremendous success.

Eugene's ability to improvise and to be flexible are some of his strong points. During some of the severe drought years, he reduced his livestock numbers drastically and began raising caged laying hens to offset the loss of ranching income. This took a tremendous amount of pressure off the rangeland and kept it from being severely overgrazed.

Eugene's dedication to the maintenance and improvement of range resources is quite evident. He is forever trying new ideas for improving his ranching operation and continuously sharing his thoughts with his peers.

Ray Shelton is game manager of the Perry Ranch in western Crockett County. When Ray initiated the wildlife management program back in 1982, many goals were set for the ranch. Reducing buck:doe ratios, improving antler growth, increasing body weight of deer and maintaining population levels of all other game birds and animals were at the top of Ray's list.

To accomplish the selective harvesting goals, all hunting activities are strictly monitored. Short term hunts catering to certain groups such as father and son teams and to young, first time hunters have been initiated.

Genetically inferior spike bucks and bucks with abnormal antler growth are harvested in Ray's operation to take these animals out of the gene pool. Doe hunts are scheduled each year to remove excessive numbers of does.

Ray has established annual deer surveys to monitor optimum deer populations and balance these with available forage conditions. Deer weights are recorded and ages are determined by evaluating tooth wear. Ray believes proper livestock grazing management is essential in carrying out a good overall game program and the Perry Ranch practices this philosophy.

The results of Ray's program have been excellent. Turkey populations have drastically increased in the last 12 years. Buck:doe ratios have been reduced from one to 20 to one to three. Average number of points increased from 5 to 8 1/2 on mature bucks. Average antler spreads have increased from 10 1/2 inches to slightly over 16 and field dressed body weights have increased from 89 pounds to 120 pounds.

Several outstanding bucks taken in the last two years have qualified for the Texas State record book, and one has made the cover of the Texas Sportsman magazine.

The Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District would like to congratulate Eugene and Vickie Miller and Ray Shelton for their accomplishments in the improvement and conservation of natural resources.

EUGENE AND VICKIE MILLER are honored as Outstanding Conservation Ranchers by the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District. Mr. Miller accepts congratulations and a plaque from director Earl Acton.

RAY SHELTON, Conservation Wildlife award winner, accepts a plaque and congratulations from director Earl Acton. Shelton is game manager of the Perry Ranch in western Crockett County.

WEEKLY REPORT

Congressman
Henry Bonilla

23rd District, Texas

1529 Longworth House Office Building Washington, D.C. 20515 202/225-4511

Criminal Must Do The Time When They Commit The Crime

While Congress debates a new crime bill, we need to keep in mind that the primary obligation of the government is to protect the lives and properties of its citizens. Government has not done this. Our neighborhoods and streets are out of control, and just getting worse and are heading for disaster. Our judicial system is so afraid of infringing on the rights of the criminal that it has completely forgotten about the victim. Too many liberal judges think crime is a sociological problem, and that the criminal should not be blamed.

According to the FBI, the rate of violent crime in the U.S. is the worst of any western-developed country. In the U.S., a murder occurs every 21 seconds, a rape every five minutes, a robbery every 46 seconds and an aggravated assault every 29 seconds. In fact, violent crime or property crime victimizes one in four U.S. households. All too often violent and repeat offenders such as rapists, murderers and child molesters are let loose on the streets only to once again commit a violent crime. It is an outrage as well as an injustice that our legal system allows this. The Department of Justice says the average sentence for violent offenders is eight years, but criminals usually serve only three years of this sentence. Just seven percent of criminals commit two-thirds of all violent crime. These are the repeat criminals that cause most of the crimes that occur in our country.

The point is: jail time reduces crime. We need to hold criminals responsible for their conduct instead of holding society responsible for crimes committed. Crime bills sound good but aren't worth anything unless they recognize the need to keep criminals away from civilized society. The federal government needs to help states deter criminals from future activity by building more prisons, having tougher judges and implementing mandatory sentencing. That's why I'm introducing an amendment to the Crime Bill. This amendment would keep hardened criminals BEHIND bars. Tents would serve to ease overcrowding by housing the not-so-violent offenders, including the elderly and handicapped. Instead of releasing violent offenders because of overcrowding in prisons, the less violent criminals could be placed in tents. If tents are good enough to house the men and women who defend our nation, then they are certainly fit for housing criminals.

Camp Jo Jan Van Earns ACA Accredited Camp Status

The American Camping Association (ACA) has announced that El Camino Girl Scout Council's Camp Jo Jan Van has been granted ACA Accredited Camp status for 1994. "An independent evaluation by camp experts is very important," emphasized Dr. Margery Scanlin, director of ACA's Standards program. By being ACA accredited, Camp Jo Jan Van demonstrates that they care about their campers and comply with the highest quality standards designed specifically for camps.

"ACA accreditation is very important to our camp," said Debbie Zabica, executive director for El Camino Girl Scout Council. "While the program is strictly voluntary, we owe it to our campers and parents to have the best operation that we possibly can. ACA accreditation demonstrates our commitment to quality camp programming."

Camp Jo Jan Van was founded in 1960 and is located in the beautiful Texas Hill Country near Barksdale. The camp is in operation from June 19 to July 16 and offers sessions lasting from one week to two weeks. For more information parents can contact El Camino Girl Scout Council in San Angelo at 915-655-8961 or 1-800-688-2845.

The American Camping Association is the only independent accrediting organization reviewing camp operations in the country. Their nationally-recognized standards program focuses primarily on the program quality and health and safety aspects of a camp's operation. The standards are continually reviewed, refined and updated.

The accreditation process is quite comprehensive and thorough. Currently ACA accreditation is held by 25 percent of day and resident camps.

At least once every three years, two or more trained camp professionals, not affiliated with the camp seeking accreditation, review the camp's operations and procedures while the camp is in session.

The American Camping Association, founded in 1910, is a 5,000-member, not-for-profit organization committed to the continuing values and benefits the camp experience offers. Its membership encompasses all segments of the camp movement including non-profit agencies, independent operations, religiously-affiliated organizations and public/municipal agencies.

Pandale Study Club Hears About Waste Dump

The Pandale Study Club met Saturday, March 26, in the Pandale Community Center. After a brief business meeting, Macey Collins spoke to members and guests about her family's recent involvement with the proposed location of a waste dump near their ranching property. There were lots of questions from the audience, and Macey responded with many facts and figures and warned everyone to be on the alert to new site proposals that might effect personal property.

Hostesses Elizabeth and Martha Gries served refreshments to 14 members and guests: Debra Rio Grande, Buster Deaton, Ty Everett, Emmitt Fleming, Shane McKinney, Monty Finch, LeAnne and Haley Higgins, Macey Collins and Aaryn Gries.

Is It Allergies, A Cold Or Sinus?

Spring is the sneezing season. Because it is also the time for grasses and trees to send forth their pollen, many people think they have allergies. But Dr. Richard Mabry, professor of otorhinolaryngology at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas, says that not all sneezers are allergic.

The first signs of a cold are the same as allergy symptoms: sneezing, congestion, watery eyes and runny nose. These may be followed by sore throat and thick nasal mucus, which may signal a sinus infection.

"True allergy does not cause a cold," Mabry said. "It may contribute to a sinus infection by blocking the normal mucus drainage of the sinuses." If nasal secretions are thick and colored, the problem is not an allergy but may be a cold. If a cold persists longer than a week, it probably is a sinus infection and needs a doctor's attention, Mabry said.

"Parents expect their children to attend accredited schools. They also deserve a camp experience that is reviewed and accredited by an expert, independent organization," stated Scanlin.

"I am the true vine and my Father is the husbandman. Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, He taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, He purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

"If a man abide not in me, He is cast forth as a branch and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.

"If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you.

Where Can Happiness Be Found?

By Wayne Woody
Harvest Time Christian Center

One of the rights of Americans is supposed to be the pursuit of happiness. There is no question that most Americans pursue happiness with a passion.

We see evidence of pursuing happiness everywhere. Entertainment centers are packed to capacity, vacation spots at home and abroad bustle with activity. Divorce courts are overflowing as people look for a new partner that may deliver the elusive ingredient called happiness. Many have been able to achieve much in material things, but have found out by experience what Solomon wrote so many years ago, "Whoever loves money never has money enough; whoever loves wealth is never satisfied with his income" (Ecc. 5:10). Solomon may have been the most wealthy man who ever lived. He pursued hard after happiness. We see him turn away from God and attempt to find happiness through his own pursuits. He gives us a glimpse of things he did to try and find happiness in Ecc. Chapter 2:

1. He turned to wine and women,
2. He built houses and planted vineyards,
3. He made yards, parks, and planted all kinds of fruit trees,
4. He purchased servants, flocks and herds,

5. He got an abundance of silver and gold, 6. He organized choirs and orchestras, 7. He got many beautiful women (concubines), but here are his own words about his pursuit of happiness: "...When I surveyed all my hands had done, and what I had toiled to achieve, everything was meaningless, a chasing after the wind." (Ecc. 2:11).

Solomon closes the small book of Ecclesiastes with these profound words, "...here is the conclusion of the whole matter: fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man" (Ecc. 12:13).

I believe the simple, little children's song has the correct answer to where we find true happiness, "Happiness is the Lord".

PRIMARY PUPPET WORKSHOP - Teachers, parents, and their children were busy making puppets Thursday, March 24, to enable their teachers to learn more about language through dramatics, poetry, and song.

Primary School Puppet Workshop Held

By Neal Ulmer

Fun and quality time spent with your child at school. How can this happen, you may ask yourself? Well, this was the case two weeks ago when the Ozona Primary School held a puppet workshop on Thursday, March 24, at 6 p.m.

Parents, friends and relatives, with some of the many children, came to make puppets for the children. This was a first time event in the Ozona Primary School and was overwhelmingly successful as more than 100 persons attended.

These puppets are to be used to teach children to expand and build language through dramatics, poetry, and song. With help, each child was allowed to make and take three puppets to keep at home.

The event was coordinated by Adrianna Cox, teacher of the 3-year-olds, with the help of kindergarten teachers Vicky Gonzales, Tommie Flores, Dena Porter and Kathy Reavis.

Mrs. Cox and the teachers expressed their thanks to the parents for sharing their many creative ideas. "It was great to see fathers there, also. We had a lot of fun," Mrs. Cox said. The teachers also expressed their appreciation to all who attended and hope they will make suggestions to make the next one even better.

If any person has any items the teachers could use for the next workshop, please contact one of the teachers.

A special thanks goes to Jamie, Ty and David Porter and Marty Martinez for volunteering to babysit.

Organ And Tissue Donor Awareness Week April 17-23

This year National Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week will be April 17 to April 23 according to Terry Adams, a local representative of The Living Bank.

Mrs. Adams reminds that there are more than 33,000 Americans waiting for vital organ transplants. About one out of four of these men, women and children will not receive donor organs, in time, and will die.

The good news, according to the United Network for Organ Sharing, is that the number of individuals who donated at least one organ for transplant upon death increased by 7% during 1993. Over the previous five years, the number of organ donors had remained relatively constant while the waiting list had steadily increased.

Millions of organs and tissues continue to be buried every year, many of which could enhance or save lives. "Join The Living Bank's nationwide campaign which faces up to the present crisis in organ and tissue donorship and is designed to educate and motivate at the community level," urged Mrs. Adams. "We want to reach a point in the near future when no one will die or suffer for lack of a donor organ or tissue."

For additional information, you may call Mrs. Adams at 392-3928 after 6 p.m. or The Living Bank, America's organ and tissue donor registration and education association, at 1-800-528-2971.

It's A Girl!

Ray Gomez and Yolanda Hartnett would like to announce the birth of their daughter, Allison Rea. Allison arrived on March 12, 1994, at McKenna Hospital in New Braunfels. Weighing two pounds, five ounces, Allison is at Methodist Hospital in San Antonio.

Waiting to welcome her home are grandparents Hector and Lois Gomez of New Braunfels and Manuel and Sharon Hartnett of Ozona.

White rounded out the display.

As usual, students and teachers enjoyed viewing the excellent handiwork of some talented students. The exhibit was featured during the recent library open house during Texas Public Schools Week.

Also featured during the same time period was a display of manikins showcasing the handiwork of the cosmetology classes at Ozona High School. The manikins represented the work of Mary Castillo, Sandra Sanchez, Melissa Porras, and Emily Ramirez. These students are currently enrolled in the cosmetology program taught by Opal Mobbs. The manikins were exhibited in the career room of the high school library.

According to librarian Sherry

York, "Displays such as these allow us to view some of the multiple talents our students possess. They remind us, as well, that every day in many ways the teachers at Ozona High School are working to prepare our students to meet the future as productive members of society."

Don't Be Pressured By In-Home Sales

By Tedra Ulmer, County Extension Agent-Home Economics

The guy just did a super job of demonstrating his product in your living room - now he wants you to plunk down your hard-earned cash for his product. Door-to-door sales are alive and well in Texas, and consumers need to realize they have specific rights under Texas law regarding these types of sales.

First, what is a door-to-door sale? Such a sale happens when the solicitation involves the seller coming to your home - but not if the sale is made only over the phone - and involves a purchase of goods and services over $25, payable in cash or installments.

Don't be pushed into signing a contract or giving your money to a salesperson unless you're sure you want the product. Take time to think about it - and you should always do some comparison shopping and see how the purchase will fit into your budget. Remember, any time you get a "once in a lifetime" offer, you should be suspicious. As a matter of fact, before buying, always contact the local Better Business Bureau, which is listed in area phone books. Ask if they've had complaints about the company. Be suspicious of anyone who tries to sell by playing on your emotions, tells you they are giving you the lowest price, or runs down their competitors' products or services. Ask yourself how you'll get your money back if the salesperson doesn't deliver or the product is defective. And perhaps the most important thing to remember - if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is!

Some in-home sales involve consumer products that are simply priced way above the market; their sales pitch may involve claims that the product is so superior it's worth the money. But once you've signed the contract, you may have second thoughts about spending so much, or whether you really wanted the product. In that case, the "cooling off" period comes into effect.

Under Texas law, the door-to-door seller must:

*Give you a copy of the contract or receipt at the time of sale in the appropriate language. In other words, if you and the salesperson spoke Spanish when you made the purchase, the contract must be in Spanish.

*Give you a contract or receipt stating the date of the sale, name and address of the merchant and a statement to you of your right to cancel the contract. That's the three-day "cooling off" period I mentioned, and it means you have three days to cancel the sale. After proper cancellation, the seller has 10 days to refund your money and return any trade-in items.

*Provide you with a notice of cancellation form, with the address you should send a written cancellation notice.

*Restore your property to its original condition if the seller made any "improvements" to it, and you want it restored.

To cancel the sale and get a full refund, you must sign the form titled "Notice of Cancellation", date it, and mail it back to the seller before midnight of the third business day after the sale. Keep a copy - and it's always a good idea to send the form by Certified Mail, Return Receipt Requested.

If the salesperson didn't provide the cancellation form, you can still cancel the contract, and you have a little extra time because he violated the law by not doing so. But you must cancel in writing - a phone call isn't sufficient! Again, keep a copy of the contract and your letter notifying the seller of the cancellation, and send by certified mail.

When you cancel, the seller has 10 business days to refund your money and return any note you signed during the sale. They must notify you within 10 business days whether they intend to take the goods back or abandon them - and they can't make you mail or ship the goods back!

If within 20 days after cancellation you haven't heard from the seller, you may not be forced to return the goods at a later date, and you should not return goods to the seller until you've gotten either the money or your note back from them.

Finally, if you continue to have problems or the matter isn't resolved, the State Attorney General's Consumer Protection office. They're here to help you!

For more information on consumer rights and money management, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. We're here to help all citizens of Crockett County, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

I would like to thank everyone for their support in the March Democratic Primary.

Panhandle Mystery Writer Knocks 'Em Dead

by Tedra Ulmer

Ozonans who stayed at home to watch TV Friday, March 25, missed a unique experience, as D.R. Meredith-named one of the state's ten best mystery writers by Texas Almanac-entertained an appreciative audience of old and new fans gathered at ONB's Crockett Room. The event, sponsored by Friends of the Library, featured author Meredith as she read from several of her works and discussed the ins-and-outs of writing professionally.

Meredith, known to friends and family as Doris, is a former teacher, librarian and bookstore owner who lives in Amarillo. Her mystery and historical novels are based in the Panhandle, and the authenticity she insists upon is only one of the reasons for her popularity with West Texas readers.

During the program, the author explained mysteries originally were "puzzle books" featuring "nice" murders. This changed with the advent of American "private eye" novelists like Raymond Chandler and Dashiell Hammett. According to Meredith, this group of writers moved the mystery from the drawing room to the streets, where it became rooted in real life.

"I don't tell the reader how many flies have settled on a pool of blood, but in my books you can see the damage violent crime does" to the victim, family and friends, Meredith said.

Meredith's character-driven mystery books feature two popular sleuths as main characters. One series features attorney John Lloyd Branson; the other, Sheriff Charles Timothy Matthews—who also happens to be an attorney. She eschews much of the technology used in today's real-life law enforcement to concentrate on legal procedure and the personalities involved in the crimes she writes about. Her husband, a prosecutor for Potter County, often advises her on procedure, and she notes, "A lot of judges and lawyers read these books, so I try not to make many mistakes."

The writer stated her conviction that the writer must play fair with the reader to make a mystery interesting and believable. "If you've just written a 275-page mystery, you can't wait until page 273 to introduce the villain," she said. Meredith also noted she writes a synopsis of a planned book as a proposal to her editor—but usually the end result is totally different from the storyline originally intended.

Research, research and more research is a hallmark of Meredith's writing. She mentioned Murder by Masquerade, which takes place on Amarillo's mean streets. In this edge-of-the-chair mystery centered around the search for a serial killer, she used material gathered from watching police surveillance tapes to detail a training program for pre-teen prostitutes and other less savory activities. "What I wrote was only one-tenth as bad as what I saw—I simply couldn't deal with it. But several people have commented that they didn't believe things were as bad as they were portrayed," Meredith said, shaking her head in disbelief.

Meredith combines a sharp wit and humor with a perfectionist's eye for detail. Many of the locations described in her book actually exist and are easily recognizable to the reader who's traveled there; however, most characters come from her own imagination. "Everyone in the Panhandle is sure they know who all the characters really are," she said.

During the evening, the writer fielded questions from eager fans, who particularly enjoyed tales about dealing with copy editors from the East—and even England. "Why are they riding horses?" one editor asked, wanting to know why hands on a 110 section ranch couldn't be called in by ringing a bell on the back porch of the ranch house. "They simply have no conception of the distances involved," she laughed.

It takes approximately one year of reading and making notes to write one of her historical novels—although much of this writing is based on her own travels, visits with patrons of her bookstore in Dumas, and stories she heard in her girlhood while visiting elderly neighbors in Eastern Oklahoma. Meredith's own grandmother lived in a dugout in Oklahoma while it was still a territory—just as her heroine, Mattie, does in the two historical novels she's completed, "A Time Too Late" and "The Reckoning".

How would Meredith react if a bad movie were made from one of her books? "Just fine if that check cleared," she laughed, adding she would probably never go to see the movie. In fact, Meredith hasn't listened to the audiotape versions of her books because they were cut to fit the six hours of tape. Meredith says as a mystery writer she has to take a stand—and a pervasive theme throughout her books is a disgust with the Federal Government's treatment of the west. "We're a dumping ground to be raped and denuded—our wishes are not to be considered," she told the group. "The blatant disregard of bureaucrats—the 'one size fits all' theory—sends me up the wall."

The Sheriff and the Home Front Murders is Meredith's next release, and is eagerly awaited by her fans. For current and soon-to-be fans, her books are available at the Crockett County Public Library and in area bookstores. According to librarian Louise Ledoux, "We will have signed copies of her books for sale at the library." Through the generosity of B. Dalton Books in San Angelo, the Crockett County Library will receive 10% of Meredith sales they make to assist with their expansion program.

For more information on Doris Meredith's books or for help finding the perfect mystery, readers can come by or call the Crockett County Public Library. Ledoux also reminds everyone that Friends of the Library can always use new members—and donations toward the expansion fund are greatly appreciated.

ICA Warns Of Dangerous Provisions In Easement Contracts

AUSTIN - The Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas is warning cattle raisers to pay close attention to the fine print when signing new easement contracts with rural electric cooperatives. Jim Selman, ICA first vice president, notes that many new contracts contain clauses or sections that could infringe on private property rights.

These new provisions are in response to requests from federal officials who have enlisted the aid of electric coops to gather archaeological, historical and biological information (particularly relating to endangered species). The coops are in a unique position to gather this data because their utility infrastructure covers a large portion of rural Texas, and because they have gained the trust of ranchers and farmers who rightly view the coops as being historically pro-agriculture.

Selman encourages his colleagues in the cattle and ranching business to protect themselves by reading proposed easement contracts carefully and cautiously, paying particularly close attention to any language that goes beyond the normal rights associated with electric construction or conveyance.

"Based on their good reputation, people won't look too hard at rural coop contracts," Selman says. "But the coops are being pressured to infringe on private property rights, and rural people need to alert themselves and look out for their own interests."

Billy Bob Low is an ICA board member who ranches near Gonzales. His family was asked to sign an easement contract to facilitate relocation of some power lines. The proposed contract contained a section that gave the electric coop the right to conduct "archaeological, historical, environmental or other studies" on the property covered by the easement. In addition, Low was concerned about a provision that authorized the coop to clear brush or other unwanted vegetation with chemical herbicides.

Low was worried that the blanket authorization for environmental, historical or archaeological studies could dramatically affect his property rights in the future, particularly if a significant cultural find was made on his land or an endangered species habitat was discovered. Similarly, Low was apprehensive about the possible negative impact on his cattle and land from the coop's unrestricted use of chemical herbicides within the easement area.

After expressing his strong objections to these provisions, the coop agreed to remove them from the contract and the easement was granted without any infringement on Low's property rights.

"I told them I wouldn't sign the contract with those provisions," Low says, "and the coop took them out immediately without argument or fuss."

ICA supports a strong and healthy working relationship between electric cooperatives, which have done much to improve the quality of life in rural Texas, and the thousands of Texans who make their living through ranching and farming. However, ICA urges rural property owners to be wary of new easement contracts that contain potentially harmful sections and encourages its members to work with the coops to renegotiate the contracts so their rights are protected.

"We just need to pay attention to the fine print," Low says.

EPA Proposing To Prohibit Small Lead, Zinc Sinkers

AUSTIN - The Environmental Protection Agency is proposing a rule to curtail the use of small fishing sinkers made of lead or zinc in hopes it will prevent water bird, wildlife and human lead poisoning.

If the rule is finalized as proposed, it would prohibit all persons from manufacturing, processing, distributing (selling) and importing any fishing sinker containing lead or zinc (including brass) that is one-inch or smaller in diameter. This includes sinkers in any dimension, regardless of the type of shape (split shot and non-split shot would be prohibited by the rule). The manufacturing prohibition includes these kinds of sinkers made at home.

There will be a 60-day public comment period after the proposal is printed in the Federal Register (expected to be published during the week of March 7-11). Lead and zinc-containing jigs may be restricted in the final rule depending upon public comments. The EPA has not proposed to regulate lures but they may be restricted in the final rule. According to information provided by the EPA, Congress has required the agency to reduce human and environmental exposure to lead. This proposed rule is part of a broader federal strategy to reduce exposures to lead.

In 1993, the Environmental Defense Fund filed a civil lawsuit to require the EPA to address any problems caused by the introduction of lead fishing sinkers into the environment. This action followed a 1992 petition from the same group to EPA indicating that water birds were dying from ingestion of lead fishing sinkers.

EPA also is concerned about exposures from lead fumes or dust when melting or pouring lead to adults and children when lead fishing sinkers are made at home. Exposure to lead can produce learning disabilities and other problems in humans.

Once the final rule is approved, anglers may continue using lead and zinc-containing sinkers they currently own. The EPA does not have the authority under the Toxic Substances Control Act to prohibit the use of these sinkers, but the agency encourages anglers to switch over to less toxic sinkers.

The prohibition would not take effect until after the public has had 60 days to comment on the proposal and the final rule is published. The prohibitions would be phased in over a one- to two-year period.

To receive additional information and a copy of the proposed rule, contact the Toxic Substances Control Act Assistance Information Service at 202 554-1404. For information about human exposures to lead, contact the Lead Information Hotline at 1-800-LEADFYI (532-3394).

Comments on the proposal should be submitted no later than 60 days after publication in the Federal Register to TSCA Docket Receipt (Attention Docket Number 62134), Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics, Environmental Protection Agency, Room E-G99, 401 M St. SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Morris And White Place Second In Mason Tennis Tournament

By Neal Ulmer, Stockman sports-writer

The Ozona High School tennis teams traveled to Mason Friday and Saturday, April 1-2, and played well considering the competition. Twenty-seven teams competed in the Mason tennis tournament with schools participating from 2A to 5A class divisions.

Team points were not available but Mason took first place followed by 2 Taylor, 3 Fredericksburg, 4 Ozona, and 5 Austin Crockett.

In the boys' doubles division, the hot "on the court" duo of Ryan Morris and Mickey White won the second place plaque. In the duo's first match they defeated Ellers and Swanzey from Fredericksburg 6-1, 6-1. The next match saw the Ozona team defeating the Eldorado team of Fuentes and McCravy, 6-1, 6-1.

Competition started getting tougher for Morris and White when they met the team of McMillian and Nelson from Mason, but defeated them 6-4, 3-6, and 6-2. In the next match, this Ozona duo defeated the team of Isabell and Savage from Marble Falls by a score of 6-3, 6-1. Getting little rest between matches, the Ozona duo fell in the finals to the Mason team of Young and Ziriaz, 7-5, 6-3.

Spring Has Sprung, So Why Do I Feel So Blue?

Bulbs burst into bloom; birds are singing; and spring is in the air. But don't be surprised if your mood doesn't match the season. Researchers at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas say depression is very common in the spring. Dr. John Cain, assistant professor of psychiatry and a depression expert at UT Southwestern, says the very fact that people associate spring with happiness and renewal may make it an especially difficult season for people who are depressed. The positive personality of the season may even make it harder for a person to recognize his or her own problem with depression.

If you don't know why you're feeling down, your blue mood doesn't lift after a few days, your eating or sleeping habits change dramatically, or you have trouble getting out of bed to face the day, you may be suffering from clinical depression. It is treatable, and Cain recommends seeking professional help.

Lions Baseball Team Loses To Central JV

by Neal Ulmer, Stockman sports-writer

Tough luck befell Ozona's baseball team as they lost to San Angelo Central JV 17-2 in March 29 action in Ozona. The game was called after five innings due to the "ten run" rule.

Starting pitcher for the Lions and getting the loss was Chris Sanchez. He pitched three innings, allowing four earned runs, four walks and made two strikeouts.

Central JV started McMillian, a junior, who pitched the whole game. McMillian held Ozona batters to four hits and two runs.

Central got the first break and the first run. Lance Jamerson got things going; for Ozona with a base hit, later Pete Castaneda got a walk, but both men were left stranded on base.

Central picked up three runs with one run coming from a home run to give central a 4-0 lead in the second inning. Hitting the ball proved to be a problem for the Lions as they could not get anything going.

The Cats picked up five runs on three base hits to increase their score to 9-0 after the end of three complete innings, as the bases were loaded several times. Again the game was going in Central's direction after they picked up four more runs on two hits and two Ozona fielding errors. After four complete innings, the score was

Central 13, Ozona 0.

In the top of the fifth inning, Central continued their domination by getting four more runs after the bases were loaded twice on three hits and three Ozona errors.

Joe Esparza received a walk and got a stolen base in the bottom of the fifth inning. Then Jeremy Castro was walked, and a few minutes later Lance Jamerson got a base hit, loading the bases. A fielder's choice drove in a run and in another few minutes Castro scored on a wild pitch.

Lance Jamerson was Ozona's only hot hitter for the day as he went two for three and received two runs batted in. Coach Rod Schneider said, "Chris Sanchez pitched a pretty good game but nobody was behind him." Schneider also commented that 15 Central JV members have been practicing baseball since last September.

Ozona had their share of problems, committing 13 errors and allowing eight runs. There were several good plays on throw outs at the bases but consistency seemed to be lacking on this day.

The Lion baseball team will be traveling to Alpine to play in a two day tournament starting at 10 a.m. on Friday, April 9.

Ozona High School Baseball Team To Participate In Alpine Bucks Classic

America's national pastime is alive and well in the Alps of Texas, and area families can experience it together April 7, 8 and 9. Alpine High School is hosting its Third Annual Alpine Bucks Baseball Classic at "the world's most beautiful ball park," Kokeriot Field. Texas teams coming in to participate in this tournament include Ozona, Presidio, Fabens, Big Lake, San Elizario, Marfa, Van Horn and the hosts, Alpine.

An old fashioned family weekend is the message the Alpine Buck Boosters are spreading across West Texas. Little leaguers, beleaguered executives, harried mothers, and senior citizens will cherish the relaxed atmosphere of this field opened in 1947 at a cost of $1.25 million. The park and the Alpine baseball tradition inspired a nine page story in Sports Illustrated and discussed the field and its semipro, major league, sophomore league, high school, college, pony league, and little league teams. Kokeriot Field is unique with its 10-foot-high fence of native red stone, manager's bungalow behind third base and spectacular view of the Davis Mountains. It also has 1,200 wooden chairs, Spanish tile roof, and wrought-iron lantern inlaid with baseball designs.

Cubs And Cubettes Win Sonora Track Meet

Camp Opportunities Abound Through 4-H

Summer fun and learning combined await youth from ages 8-18 this summer in 4-H camps of all kinds. The traditional summer camp at Brownwood, plus special-interest water and space camps, make any summer a true learning experience.

District VI holds State Water Camp in Monahans each year, and Crockett County is fortunate to have two expense-paid scholarships for lucky senior 4-H members from the Crockett County Water District #1 and the Emerald Underground Water District. Young people who have attended this camp say it is an outstanding experience, and the July 17-22 time frame makes it a neat mid summer break.

Registration for Water Camp is due May 16th, so anyone interested needs to contact the County Extension Office for details as soon as possible.

Another unique opportunity is the 4-H Missions in Space National Aerospace Summit. This is a program developed in partnership with the U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama to provide opportunities for young people to participate in the camp programs through 4-H. It's a Sunday-Friday experience in October that offers participants a chance to "train like astronauts" and includes simulated shuttle missions, rocket building and launching, experiments, and much more.

Applicants must be 14 or older before the session applied for. They must have experience as a leader in working with others in aerospace or science and technology in general. Scholarships are available for a tuition waiver for the camp, and anyone interested must submit an application form, 500 word essay, letter from your County Extension Agent, and two other letters of recommendation.

Applications must be postmarked by May 2, 1994. Selection of recipients and alternates will be announced by June 1, and recipients must register and make plans by August 1 to attend the October session.

Closer to home is the Texas 4-H Center, site of both Prime Time and SpecTra summer camps. The basic goals of both camps are to improve leadership skills, enhance 4-H project work, and build self-esteem and self-image.

Prime Time participants are between ages 9 and 13 (certain ages can attend certain camp dates), and SpecTra participants must be no younger than 14 and no older than 18 on July 31, 1994.

Activities in Prime Time camps include swimming, canoeing, shooting sports, new games and initiatives, crafts, outdoor cooking, recreation and parties. College-age counselors and program assistants conduct the educational sessions. Staff leaders and County Extension Agents will be there to supervise 4-H'ers at all times, and a nurse is on location and on call 24 hours a day.

Total cost for the 3-day event (age-based camps run from July 17-30) is $78, which includes three daily meals and a snack, lodging, refreshments and limited accident insurance coverage. Dorms are modern and air-conditioned, and house 13 persons each. To register, pick up a form from the County Extension Office. A $20 deposit must be sent in with registration, and this deposit is non-refundable/non-transferable. Applications must be in the county office prior to April 25th, 1994.

SpecTra '94 offers project enhancement, leadership development, self-image enrichment, and career exploration in ten separate project areas. Each participant can attend one area, and registrations for each area are taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The areas for this year's camp are Creative Leadership, Field and Stream, Advanced Computers, Entomology, Public Speaking, Recreation, Video Production, Canoeing and Sailing, Agricultural Enterprises, and Nutrition, Health and Well-Being. Each features five hours of training per day to enable participants to develop new insights, expand appreciation of their chosen area, and develop materials and skills to educate others about these topics.

The special culmination of the week is the "Gala", the ultimate in entertainment and fun. Cost for SpecTra is $143. An advance non-refundable/non-transferable deposit of $30 is required with all applications. Deposits will, however, be refunded if the project areas chosen are already full or do not make. The balance of $113 will be due by June 24 and is non-refundable; however, it is transferable if you find a substitute to take your place and the substitute's name and information is turned in by that date.

For more information on summer and other 4-H activities, come by or call the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs such as 4-H which are sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Leadership Training Offered For Adults

Since the Family Community Leadership (FCL) program began in 1987 in Texas, it has successfully taught leadership skills to thousands of Texas citizens, enabling them to assume leadership roles in their families and communities. The program, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is open to persons of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or handicap.

With volunteer-taught lessons, the mission of FCL is to "empower women and men of diverse cultures and family structures from across the state to develop their ability to advocate, educate and lead." The program's success is demonstrated by graduates who have taken on elected positions in organizations or local public offices, such as school boards, town councils or various commissions. All have benefited from the personal growth and increased confidence that come from learning new skills.

Comments from two graduates express why FCL in Texas continues to be a viable program for leadership development. Minnie Martinez, FCL volunteer from Matagorda County says, "Being part of the FCL program has increased my leadership skills many times over. I am confident enough now to accept leadership positions in other organizations. And I am able to take an active part in board meetings by fully participating with input, by asking questions, giving ideas and solutions. Before FCL training, that was not possible for me. FCL has certainly strengthened my leadership abilities."

Ricky Morales, 1991 FCL graduate from Winkler County, says "I took the FCL course because I wanted to gain more leadership skills and confidence for working with the public. I want to encourage other Hispanic citizens to take the course to gain skills and confidence that will enable them to get involved in their community. FCL has helped me gain knowledge about resources and information on issues and problems. I have more background knowledge on these and I feel competent to speak out more." Morales continued, "I ran for a city council seat in 1991 and made a good showing, gained a lot of helpful experience and will probably run again in the future."

FCL sessions will again be taught in this area, beginning May 19th and 20th in Big Spring at Howard College, continuing with a session on June 20th in Odessa, and concluding with a session July 11th in Kermit. Crockett County Extension Agent-Home Economics Tedra Ulmer will be teaching the July 11th session on "Listen and Lobby."

FCL members who complete the training give 96 hours in payback time--either through speaking to other groups, teaching lessons, working on community issues or other activities that benefit the community. Cost to attend all sessions is $40 and covers all supplies, room cost for May 19, lunch for two sessions, and refreshments. Registration fees and applications are due in the Crockett County Extension Office by April 25th. Registration is transferable, but not refundable.

For more information on FCL and what you can gain, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721 or come by the office, located on the second floor of the courthouse annex.

TPWC Sets Hunting Dates

AUSTIN - In addition to approving wildlife regulations during its March 24 meeting, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission also set hunting dates for most game animals. Some, including mourning and white-winged doves and migratory waterfowl, will be decided later in the year. Archery season for deer and turkeys will be Oct. 1-31.

The general gun season for deer and turkeys is scheduled for Nov. 5 - Jan. 1 in most of the state, Nov. 12 - Jan. 8 in parts of South Texas and Nov. 12 - Jan. 15 in 14 counties of South Texas. The late South Texas doe season will be Jan. 14-29 in those counties whose regular season ends Jan. 8 and Jan. 16-29 in the other 14 South Texas counties. In Hunt County, the deer season is Nov. 5-13; in four Panhandle counties, Hartley, Oldham, Moore and Potter, it is set for Nov. 19 - Dec. 4.

The new antlerless muzzleloader only season for whitetails will be Jan. 7-15.

The Panhandle mule deer season will run Nov. 19 - Dec. 4. It is set for Nov. 26 - Dec. 11 in the Trans-Pecos.

Rio Grande turkeys may be hunted in the spring from April 8 - May 14, 1995, in the newly established north zone, and April 1 - May 7, 1995, in the south zone. The south zone is generally the South Texas brush country counties south of Brackettville and San Antonio and west of Goliad and Port Lavaca. Red River County has the only Eastern turkey spring season and it is scheduled for April 17 - 30.

The statewide quail season will be Oct. 29 - Feb. 26, as will the chachalaca and coastal pheasant seasons. Panhandle pheasants may be hunted Dec. 10-25.

Other seasons include: Javelina, Oct. 1 - Feb. 26; Squirrel, Oct. 1 - Jan. 15 and May 1 - 31, 1995; aoudad sheep in eight Panhandle counties, Nov. 5 - Jan. 15; prairie chickens, Oct. 15-16; and antelope, Oct. 1-9. Alligators may be hunted Sept. 10-30. There is no closed season on rabbits.

Bag limits for these species will remain the same as last year, except for those counties where deer regulations changed, the statewide provision to take four turkeys and the increase in the pheasant bag from two to three daily.

Before hunting next fall, check the county listing for pertinent dates, bag limits and information. To ask questions, call TPWD at 1-800-792-1112 or 512 389-4800.

Public Notice

On February 22, 1994, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company ("Southwestern Bell" or "Company") filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("Commission") to restructure the Company's Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of its Switched Access Service. This matter has been assigned to Docket No. 12784. The tariff sheets in Southwestern Bell's application, if approved, will bring the Company's intrastate Access Service Tariff into structural parity with the Company's interstate Tariff No. 73 for Local Transport. Southwestern Bell's companion interstate tariff became effective on January 1, 1994.

The transport rate elements provide for the transmission facilities between the customer's premises and the end office switch(es) where the customer's traffic is switched to originate or terminate the customer's communications.

Southwestern Bell proposes to implement the revised tariffs on a revenue neutral basis. Although the proposed tariff changes will affect all customers subscribing to Switched Access Service, the Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of Southwestern Bell's Switched Access Service is primarily for interexchange carriers. If approved, this application will result in an increase in Southwestern Bell's revenues of approximately $1682.00 during the first year. Southwestern Bell proposes that the changes be effective on December 1, 1994.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is May 6, 1994.
