Welcome Rains Cover County

April showers were delayed until May, but rain has finally fallen over the major portion of the county for the better part of a week.

Rains which began May 23 have mounted up to seven inches on Billy Carson's place. "I fixed water gaps for three straight days and thought on Saturday it was all done," Carson said Tuesday. He was in the process of trying to get back to the ranch to start on water gaps again.

Bob Bissett reported five inches since Friday, receiving 1.5 at his house Monday night and three inches further north.

"It's been great," Bissett said.

Demp Jones recorded almost .75 Monday night to increase his total since the first of last week to 6.75.

Jack Baggett Jr. received almost three inches at his place since Friday, and Jeffrey Sutton totaled 5.5 inches on the Pandale Highway through Monday night's rains.

Bob Childress registered approximately five inches in the last five days, and the Buddy Moore ranch recorded six inches since May 23.

Johnson Draw road was closed because of high water Monday night and remained closed Tuesday morning. No other roads were reported closed at that time.

Rainfall records kept by the Crockett County Water District office for May recorded .08 May 4, .51 May 6 and 7, .55 May 23, 1.00 May 26, 1.10 May 27, .88 May 29 until 7:30 a.m. May 30. The .88 was topped by another .65 in about an hour's time.

Donna Herring reported watching a tornado approximately seven miles away from her front porch last week after hearing a scanner report that DPS had spotted the funnel along the interstate.

A storm with damaging hail raked part of the county May 5, with a tornado touching down on the Erby Chandler place south of Ozona. Outbuildings and a gas storage tank were demolished.

David Bean was elected chairman of the Crockett County Appraisal Board at a meeting held May 18. Freddie Nicks is secretary of the board and additional members are Wade Richardson, A. O. Fields and new member Marcus Sims.

The appraisal board is appointed by the commissioners court and school board.

A separate appraisal review board is set up to hear taxpayer protests and will meet July 13. Notices of this meeting were sent to property owners if their tax rates went up or if they are new property owners.

Appraisal review board members are: Dick Kirby, Pon Seahorn, and Dan Pullen, who is newly appointed.

Commissioners Hire Pool Managers

Commissioners met in called session Tuesday, May 30, at 7:30 a.m. for the purpose of hiring swimming pool managers for the summer. At that time they voted to hire Sandra Perez to manage the South Pool and Elijo Martinez to manage the North Pool.

The appointment of managers had been on the agenda of a called meeting held on May 18.

The court also authorized purchase of lifeguard equipment, four rescue tubes and two rescue boards with head immobilizers.

Advertising for bids for a sheriff's department car was authorized. The purchase had been approved last month through the government purchasing agency, but no vehicles were available.

At the May 18 meeting, the court approved a request by Becky Childress for rental of a pool on May 21 for an 8th grade swimming party. The request was approved with the stipulation that there be lifeguards.

Primary Principal Hired

Members of the Ozona School Board, in a special meeting held Tuesday, May 23, approved the employment of Marilyn Luce as the new principal of Ozona Primary School. She is a 1981 graduate of Angelo State University and will receive her masters of education degree in school administration this summer from Angelo State University. She has 14 years of teaching experience and has taught seventh and eighth grade English language arts in Christoval for the past 13 years. She will take the place of Ozona Primary School principal Faith Ballard, who retired this year.

The members also accepted the resignation of Margaret Spiller, business teacher in Ozona High School, and Tom Humber, principal of Ozona Middle School. Mrs. Spiller will retire after serving 31 years in the teaching profession, 29 of which have been in Ozona schools.

During the special meeting, the school board also approved an order of election for a single-member District 1 school trustee run-off election to be held on Tuesday, June 13, due to a tie vote in the first election that was held on Saturday, May 6. Early voting will be June 1-2 and June 5-9 at the school administration building, and early voting hours will be from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day. On Saturday, June 13, voting will be from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the county courthouse. Leslie Wilson will be the early voting clerk, and Matilda Camarillo will be the presiding election judge.

Fierro Wins 50 Meter In Special Olympics

Luyita Fierro raced to a first place and a gold medal in the 50 meter dash May 24 at the state Special Olympics competition. Fierro's coach, James Cox, said the OHS graduate ran the distance in 8.1 seconds for his best time.

In the competition at Texas Memorial Stadium in Austin, Fierro also placed fourth in the softball throw with 22.54 meters.

"The softball throw as the closest competition I ever saw," said Cox. The seven contestants had throws ranging from 22 meters to 25 meters.

This is the fourth year for Fierro to compete in Special Olympics. He won the gold medal in both the 50 meter dash and the softball throw last year in Austin.

Ozona Chamber Represented At Scenic Route Meeting

Terrell County Chamber of Commerce representative Maggie Kerr and Rick Taylor, economic development coordinator for Terrell County, hosted a Memorial Day meeting with surrounding county representatives. Attending were: Justice of the Peace and Mrs. Don Pitts of Sheffield, Pecos County; Michael Levine, director of the Big Bend Region Minority and Small Business Development Center from Sul Ross State University at Alpine, Melinda Hokit and Katherine Foley representing Fort Lancaster in Crockett County and Sharon Farmer, manager of Ozona Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Kerr presented the group with the Trans Pecos Scenic Route to Big Bend map with Ozona highlighted as the I-10 exit area to the route. The route will take tourists off I-10 at Exit 343 to Fort Lancaster, then continue on Hwy. 290 to Sheffield.

The route turns south on Hwy. 349 to Dryden. From Dryden the traveler proceeds west on Hwy. 90 to Sanderson, then on to Marathon. This route is 155 miles long.

The major subject of the day was focused on the interest of the guests and their willingness to invest in the scenic route.

Children's Program At Public Library

Crockett County Public Library will hold a summer children's program every Monday in June and July. There will be two age groups. The 3 to 5 year olds will meet from 10 to 11 a.m. and the 6 to 12 year olds from 11 a.m. to noon.

Employee Hospitality Training May 31

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce will have its first employee hospitality training session co-sponsored by Pat and Debbie Hamilton at 2:30 on May 31, at the Hitchin' Post Restaurant. The Hamiltons will host the event and also do the training. The training session is open to all levels of employees and management level personnel.

Information will be directed toward the tourists who visit local businesses

"Your employee could be the only person a tourist has contact with while in Ozona," said chamber manager Sharon Farmer. "Your employee is responsible for giving that tourist a positive feeling about our area. This will in turn make for happy tourists and return visits."

Businesses are urged to make this meeting available to all employees. Additional training sessions will be set up to accommodate the schedules for those who cannot attend.

The hospitality training will be an ongoing session to take care of new employees.

Rick Taylor informed the group of the importance of the area working together to create a project that would help all involved. Tourists are going to Big Bend in great numbers, and the idea of getting them off the interstate and into the stores and motels appealed to everyone in attendance.

After a two hour meeting of exchanging ideas and presenting information on road signs, brochures and activities, the decision was made to print a master copy of the map and start circulating them to the tourists immediately.

Extension Connection

Texas Agricultural Extension Service

New Diets Vary For Diabetics

During the 1995-96 Extension Long-Range Planning process in Crockett County, diabetes in our county population was identified as a major concern that should be addressed through educational programs conducted by the Extension Service. We hope to have some on tap for this summer and fall, but in the meantime, it's important for diabetics to discuss the new dietary recommendations with their physicians, diabetes educators or registered dietitians at their hospitals.

What do we mean by new recommendations? Through the past decades since diabetes was first diagnosed, persons with diabetes have been given a variety of rules about what they can and cannot eat.

In the 1920's they were told to eat high fat, low carbohydrate in their diet. Then they were told to reduce fat and eat more complex carbohydrates, but to avoid any candy or sugar-containing products. Now the last word from the "experts" is that the diabetes diet is not that different from an ordinary, healthful diet or eating plan.

Recent research through the Diabetes Care and Communications Trial has emphasized the need to individualize care for persons with diabetes. This includes lifestyle changes such as increasing exercise, monitoring glucose, eating healthfully and drinking plenty of fluids. These lifestyle changes can prevent the onset of serious complications of the eyes, kidneys and nervous system.

The new recommendations by the American Diabetes Association and the American Dietetic Association include:

*Looser rules that move away from any rigid single diabetes diet to a more individualized meal plan with reduced fat and increased complex carbohydrates.

*Sugar is no longer the villain if eaten within the context of a normal diet. Sucrose as well as other sugar sources such as fructose or honey should be less than 10 percent of total carbohydrate calories. Studies proved that sucrose had no more effect on increasing blood glucose levels than did fructose, so both fructose and sucrose are allowed in reasonable amounts.

*Monounsaturated fatty acids such as olive, peanut or canola oils have been shown to control blood sugar levels better than the other fats recommended by the conventional diabetes diet and also lower insulin and triglyceride levels.

The trick is to prevent weight gain by keeping one's total calorie intake the same while increasing consumption of monounsaturated fatty acids and limiting total fat.

This is particularly true for saturated fatty acids, since they are linked to coronary artery disease.

*Overweight persons with diabetes should still try to work toward a healthy weight to improve blood sugar control. It's important to take in fewer calories and start increasing your activities.

*Increase antioxidant nutrients such as vitamins E and C that help to neutralize cell-damaging free radicals and reduce the risk of diabetic complications. One way to do this is to eat at least "5 A Day" of fruits and vegetables.

If you have diabetes, talk to your physician about these new recommendations for eating more healthfully based on the latest research. Just remember, no single meal and or approach to eating exists. A registered dietitian can help with an individualized meal plan just for you.

You can also contact Tedra Ulmer, Crockett County Extension Agent, at 392-2721 to sign up for future diabetes programs that can help you better control your blood glucose levels and learn more about making necessary lifestyle changes to prevent complications. Information is also available by calling the USDA Consumer Nutrition Hot Line at 1-800-366-1655.

B. W. Stuart attended the San Antonio Missions oldtimers game earlier this month, but we haven't succeeded in getting in touch with him to hear the details. This is the 8th oldtimers game, and B. W. has made a number of them.

Stuart, a lifetime member of the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America, came to Ozona in 1935 to be a catcher for the Ozona Giants. Among those he played for during his baseball career were the Fort Worth, Texas Barnstorm team, the Cleveland Indians, the Ozona Giants of the Permian Basin League, the West Texas-New Mexico League, the Mountain State League in West Virginia, the Eastern League in Springfield, Mass. and the Army League in San Antonio while in the military.

He played against most of the major league teams in his career.

AARP Chapter
The Senior Side
By Betty Bullard

It's Memorial Day, Memorial (In Memory of).

If we take memorial to mean in memory of those gone on before us, it would probably be a pretty sad day for most of us. I'm sure us seniors have experienced major losses in our lives, parents, a mate, a child, a dear friend, loss of everything we cherish to flood, fire or tornado, a much loved pet, but if we dwell on our losses, we could dissolve into a bucket of tears, become bitter and depressed, retreat from the world, love no one, trust no one, and become so introverted that we are no good to ourselves or anyone else.

Everyone has good and bad memories, it's how we balance them out that makes the difference. Take for example when I was 13, I went hunting with my brothers; we found a baby polecat, (they told me it didn't stink), we chased it into a log. It was going to be my pet. I was the one to make a grab for it, but it got me first.

Grandpa wouldn't let me in the house. I had to take a cold bath in the back yard and sleep in the cellar.

My brothers still laugh at me for being so gullible. I guess that's what brothers are for, to keep sisters from thinking more highly of themselves than they should.

Or how about the time my brothers and I found a rattlesnake that grandpa had just killed. We skinned that snake and took the skin to grandpa to make a belt or handbag for our daddy. Daddy was so mad he spanked all of us. (He never did tell us why he got so mad.)

Or how about the time my grandpa told me to go get a willow switch to spank my brother with. I brought him a great big switch. Grandpa asked "Is this what you want me to use on him?" I said, "Yes," with enthusiasm, and he used the switch on me instead, the one and only time my grandpa ever laid a hand or switch on any of us kids.

My grandpa had a farm out on red river, by Electra, Texas. Every day about noon grandpa would start watching for the mail plane, our signal to go eat dinner. I never did figure out how, out of all the planes that flew over, he could always tell which one was the mail plane.

One day my brother beat him to the punch; a plane flew over, my brother said, "There's the mail plane". Grandpa said, "No, that's not it". Dan asked, "How do you know?" I said, "Because it's a girl plane, stupid." My grandpa and my brothers howled and laughed at me all the way to the house.

I heard that tale over and over, everyone who heard it laughed, too. About 20 years later I realized what was so funny about it. I can't remember anyone ever telling me what I was supposed to have learned from these things, or why they stuck in my memory, or why I think of them with such pleasure.

When I was pregnant with my first child, and within a week of my due date, my grandpa took his own life. I was not allowed to attend his funeral or to see him at all. I never knew why he cared so little for life, as to take his own. He was the only active grandparent my brothers and I had; he was our mentor, our source of comfort. He taught us to hunt, fish, work, play; he taught us how to laugh. He was a veteran of the first World War. His name was Joe Sefcik. My memorial to my grandpa is to how he lived his life, not how he took it.

We in AARP are still living our lives as we so choose, still teaching, still being taught, still making memories for the little ones. Come join us, it's fun.

Keep Taking Your High Blood Pressure Medicine

Even if you feel great, don't stop taking your high blood pressure medication, says Dr. Venkata Ram, a hypertension expert at UT Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas.

Ram and others believe the results of a recent report linking calcium channel blockers - a widely-prescribed hypertension medication - to heart attacks are unfounded. For example, researchers say it's unclear if patients in that study took their medicine consistently or if they already had other illnesses such as heart disease.

For millions of patients who cannot control their high blood pressure by maintaining a balanced weight, avoiding salt, and exercising, long term medication is often necessary. The most important points for people with high blood pressure to remember are to follow your doctor's instructions and stay on your medication, Ram says.

May is National High Blood Pressure Month.

Sugarless Sweeteners Have Many Calories

Cakes, pies, candy, ice cream. We love sweets with a passion. Too bad it's curbed by a little voice taunting "Cavities! Weight gain! Apply directly to hips!"

So we dump artificial sweeteners in our coffee and tea, lunge for the nearest low-fat, high-fructose cookie, and boast about your healthy eating habits.

Alan J. Garber, MD, chief of the Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism section at The Methodist Hospital in Houston would disagree.

"If you absolutely have to have something sweet, have something made with real sugar," Garber says. "Small amounts of the real thing may be a better choice than using artificial sweeteners."

According to Garber, some "sugarless" sweeteners have as many calories as sugar. Some cause diarrhea, and others have been shown to cause cancer in animals.

"A small portion of your favorite sweet treat, consumed with a meal, is okay on occasion," Garber says. "Anything in excess can lead to sugar addiction, obesity and, for some individuals, adult-onset diabetes."

Sugar, as we know it, comes in many guises. The granular white stuff that we spoon from the sugar bowl is sucrose. The average American consumes 154 pounds of it per year, or roughly three pounds per week.

"That's far too much," Garber says. "It's part of an addictive cycle. When you eat sugar, it's quickly digested and burned, and it causes peaks and valleys in your energy level that leaves you craving more."

That's why he suggests eating your weekly sweets at mealtime. Sugar combined with fiber and other solid foods metabolizes more slowly and keeps your blood sugar more stable.

If you're already a sugarholic, how can you break your addiction?

"Go cold turkey," says Garber. "You'll feel lethargic for a couple of weeks, but you'll get over it. You may not even miss it."

Unfortunately, much of what we consume contains hidden sugar: products like ketchup, tonic water and antacids, not to mention loads of processed foods. Sweetened products may not list sugar, or sucrose on the label because they contain other forms of sugar. Fructose and dextrose, for example, or lactose.

"If you want to cut your sugar consumption, read labels and beware of words ending in 'ose', because that usually means hidden sugar," Garber says.

Even if the label says "sugar-free", watch out. "Sugar-free products may still contain some form of sugar alcohols, like sorbitol, mannitol and xylitol," Garber warns. "These sweeteners have as many or more calories as sucrose, so your ice cream may be as fattening as the real thing. And these sweeteners can cause diarrhea."

Aspartame (Equal, NutraSweet) and saccharin (Sweet 'n Low) are probably the most well-known sugar substitutes. They're virtually calorie-free, but Garber finds problems with both.

"Aspartame, a combination of amino acids, is risky for seizure-prone individuals," he says. "It can also cause headaches. And saccharin is a coal-tar derivative. Do you really want to eat something made from coal tar?"

Saccharin has also been shown to cause cancer in laboratory animals, which you may have read in small print on the packets. Another sweetener, sucaryl, has already been taken off the market for the same reason.

Healthy-Looking Suntans Can Be Deadly

The incidence of melanoma - the most serious form of skin cancer - has increased 13-fold over the last 60 years. While we tend to associate dark suntans with good health, dermatologists expect to diagnose 34,100 new cases of melanoma this year and 7,200 people will die from it.

Melanoma can be cured if detected early. That's why dermatologists want people to regularly inspect their own moles for changes that may be a sign of cancer.

Remember A-B-C-D when examining moles, says Dr. Clay Cockrell, clinical associate professor of dermatology and pathology at UT Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. Look to see if the mole is asymmetric because both halves should be the same. The mole's border should be regularly scalloped; its color should be all the same; and its diameter should be smaller than a pencil eraser. If it's not, see a physician.

What Do You Mean, 'Don't Worry'?

By Dennis J. Prutow

Worry and anxiety. It gets us all. It takes a toll. We worry about clothes. What will I wear to the dance? What will I wear to the wedding? While we worry about having the latest fashion jeans, others in the world worry about having jeans, period. We are anxious about food, too. Diets about. Can I eat this or that? There is too much cholesterol. There are too many fat grams. Some folks would give the world and all for just a little bit of that fat and cholesterol. What about heartache and the future? It is the same. What will we do if the money runs out? Will the boss keep me on the job? Then there is the big "C" word, cancer. Am I nervous or what?

What is the answer to anxiety? Jesus says to us, "Do not be anxious then, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'With what shall we clothe ourselves?'" (Matthew 6:31). Wait a minute. Not much sympathy here.

Anxiety is a control issue. We sense we lack control. Tension rises. We fret. We cannot get control on our job, or in our home, or with our children. Ultimate control in life belongs to God. "Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added to you" (Matthew 6:33).

"Behold, the days come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the Words of the Lord:

Fix The Broken Welfare System And Give Children Hope For The Future

While unmarried teenage mothers will continue to qualify for food stamps, Medicaid and other programs that help their children, they will no longer receive cash benefits for having out-of-wedlock babies. In addition, no one can receive welfare benefits unless they cooperate in establishing paternity. Once fathers are identified, our bill will help states enforce child support. This bill will make sure dead-beat dads are the ones supporting their children, not the government.

In addition, welfare recipients should experience the dignity that comes with having a job and being self-reliant. Our bill requires work and limits the time people can receive cash benefits from the government. Able-bodied parents who receive Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits must work after two years, or even sooner if the state of Texas chooses. AFDC recipients will be expected to work at least 35 hours per week in real, private-sector jobs. With few exceptions, no one will receive AFDC for more than five years.

Some critics charge that our welfare reform plan is mean spirited and lacks compassion. I would argue just the opposite. Compassion is not a cash handout. Compassion is a job, independence, self-reliance, family responsibility and self esteem. Our welfare reform plan is a compassionate solution that will continue to provide a safety net for the truly needy in our society, while encouraging able-bodied adults to take responsibility for themselves and for their actions. This is the only way we can reverse this destructive, expensive cycle of government dependency and provide children with hope for a better future.

We have a profound problem in this country. Our welfare system is not working. Children are having children at an alarming rate. Parents are refusing to support and take care of their children. People are drifting through life without the experience of holding a job, owning a home or growing up in a stable family. Instead of providing a temporary safety net for families going through tough times, our big-government welfare system has become a hopeless trap for generations of men, women and children.

This week, welfare reform will be the subject of an intense and emotional debate in the U.S. House of Representatives. The poverty industry, composed of special-interest groups and opponents of reform, will say that Congress wants to starve children, freeze the elderly and leave people out on the streets. Don't believe everything you hear. The truth is that these big government bureaucrats have a vested interest in keeping the system the way it is. The rest of us recognize that for the sake of our children, welfare must be changed.

The welfare system hurts children. The current system encourages out-of-wedlock births, dependency and self-destructive behavior. Between 1965 and 1990, the percentage of children born out of wedlock skyrocketed from 7 percent to 32 percent. That is about one in three American children born today. In addition, children born out of wedlock are three times more likely to be on welfare when they grow up.

To reverse this trend of illegitimacy, we have proposed measures which will encourage personal responsibility.

We have thank you notes suitable for boy and girl graduates at The Stockman.

Record Benefits Increase Planned For Retired Texas Teachers

By Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock

Texas' retired teachers will receive the largest benefit increase in history as a result of a bill approved by the Texas Senate and House.

Retired teachers have dedicated their lives to Texas and to the children attending public schools. They couldn't be more worthy, the future of Texas has been in their hands. An increase in retirement benefits is the least that can be done to care for them just as they have cared for so many.

The teacher retirement bill will increase benefits for all 128,000 retired teachers in Texas with an average increase of $1,800 per year. The amount each retired teacher receives will depend on the salary earned as a teacher and the retirement year.

Teachers who retired in the 1960's will receive the largest increases, since those teachers are earning benefits that are below the federal poverty level.

For instance, a teacher who retired with 30 years of service in 1960 currently receives a retirement check of $580 per month. Under the bill approved by the Senate and the House, that amount will nearly double to $1,099 a month.

The Legislature also took another step to help Texas teachers by tightening management controls over the Teacher Retirement System.

A report by the Texas Sunset Commission last year discovered questionable investment practices by the agency that administers teacher retirement, costing retired teachers $1.8 billion in lost earning potential over the past decade.

The report also questioned high administrative costs for the system.

The bill approved by legislators will put the system under closer legislative oversight.

The changes in benefits for retired teachers and the management of the Teacher Retirement System were recommended by the Texas Sunset Commission, Comptroller John Sharp and legislative leaders.

The Teacher Retirement System remains healthy thanks to the faith of Texas teachers and the contributions they have made. Current legislative changes will make sure it stays that way for retired teachers, teachers teaching today and those who will teach young Texans tomorrow.

A meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 31, 7 p.m. at practice field behind D.P.S. for anyone interested in participating in the Womens' Softball League

Babies And Summer Sun Not Healthy Combination

First-time parents may find their "time in the sun" is limited in the summer months. "Babies - especially those under six months - and hot summer sun are not a healthy combination," said Dr. Jan Drutz, associate professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "Certainly, small infants can be taken outside during the day, but there are precautions parents should consider." Most doctors agree that children under six months should not be exposed to the sun for long periods, and never placed in the direct sunlight. On family outings, find a well-shaded spot and place the baby where it is coolest and where air moves freely. Sunscreens with a skin protection factor of at least 15 can help minimize the dangerous effects of ultraviolet radiation. Because infants under age six months may inconsistently absorb some sunscreen chemicals, Drutz recommends avoiding their use for this age group, or to consult a pediatrician before using sun protection preparations designed for infants. "In addition, it's not a good idea to take an infant to a sandy beach, or to a swimming pool area. Sunlight can reflect off the water or the sand, causing sunburn even when an umbrella is used," Drutz said. "For young babies, it's best to avoid the beach scene." Other summer tips for new parents include: "Dress the baby in light-colored clothing, never dark colors which tend to absorb heat more efficiently. "Keep a hat or bonnet handy, even when going outside for brief periods. A light blanket can help protect tender arms and legs, but be careful to avoid overheating. "If an outing is unavoidable, try not to go between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. when the sun is at its most intense. "Be especially careful if your child is fair-complected. Children with blonde hair and blue eyes, for example, are far more susceptible to sunburn. "Don't be fooled by cloudy days. A cloudy day still allows 60 to 80 percent of the sun's radiation to reach the skin. "For babies over six months, topical sunscreens can be used, but consult your physician as to the safest and most effective one. "Protect the eyes as well, since ultraviolet rays can cause eye damage. Sunglasses with elastic bands are available for infants. "Too much sun or heat can also cause heat rash. Avoid overdressing babies, and use cool baths and light medicated powder to reduce irritation. "New parents should be cautious, especially when taking small infants out in the sun," said Drutz. "Common sense and proper protection can make the summer a great deal more enjoyable for the whole family."

From The Library

The 1994-95 school year was a busy one for librarians and library aides in the Ozona Public Schools. Ozona Primary School checked out a total of 3,968 books and library materials. Total circulation at Ozona Intermediate School was 18,876. At Ozona Middle School the library checked a total of 6,797. Final total at Ozona High School was 3,663. Grand total for the four school libraries was 27,304 for the 1994-95 school year. In addition to the day-to-day business of checking books in and out, lots of behind-the-scenes work was taking place. Ozona Primary School started a new reading program through the library. It is called the "Read With Me" reading program. Parent involvement is the main idea behind this program. Parents get to come in with their child to check out books with cassettes, and either read to them or with them or listen to the cassettes together. In the 1994-95 school year two book fairs were held at Ozona Primary School. All profits went into their library fund. Book fairs were held at the primary, intermediate and middle schools. Book fairs give students and parents opportunities to buy books at reasonable prices for home libraries. Studies on reading and academic success have consistently shown that children from homes where parents read and provide reading materials for their children make better grades and achieve higher levels of education. For the coming school year, library aide Simplicia Cervantez hopes to have cassette players and cassettes with books that the students can listen to during library time. Primary school is also looking forward to having computers in the library. They have one at this time and another one has been ordered. The children will be excited, since they have never had computers in their library. Strides were made in implementation of the long-term automation plan for the libraries of Ozona Public Schools. Librarian Donnie York continued work on retrospective conversion at Ozona Intermediate School. Materials and equipment were purchased through Chapter Two funds to begin automation of the circulation system at Ozona Middle School. The Accelerated Reader program to encourage student reading was available on computers at the intermediate, middle and high schools. Numerous students checked out library books, took tests, and won rewards for reading. Library plans for next year include continuing the Accelerated Reader program, completion of retrospective conversion at Ozona Intermediate School, and starting the process of barcoding of books at Ozona Middle School. Library aides this year included Simplicia Cervantez (primary school), Kathy Hall (intermediate) and Irene Gonzales (middle school). These three ladies deserve recognition for their contribution to the education of Ozona students through their work in the school libraries. As the librarians and library aides finished the 1994-95 school year, they were already planning ahead for the 1995-96 school year, which will be starting in August. They will be working to encourage student reading, to support the schools' curriculum, to plan with teachers, to facilitate the instructional process, and in general to contribute to the education of all the students in Ozona Public Schools. Intermediate library aide Kathy Hall will be moving to Kerens, where her husband Keith will be coaching next year. The library aide position at intermediate will be filled by Kay Vargas. Librarian Donnie York will be coordinating the various stages of library automation at the intermediate and middle schools and will work on processing new books and library materials for the primary, intermediate and middle school libraries.

Brochure Offers Nutrition And Physical Activity Tips For Youth

Adopting a healthful lifestyle doesn't have to mean giving up favorite foods and working out for three hours every day - it's a matter of making choices. No matter what your age, learning to balance a variety of foods in moderate portions and becoming more physically active are the essential elements to looking and feeling your best. To help kids between the ages of 9 and 19 understand the importance of combining nutrition and physical activity, the International Food Information Council, The American Dietetic Association and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports have developed a new brochure, "10 Tips to Healthy Eating and Physical Activity for You".

Based on the original IFIC/ADA brochure, "10 Tips to Healthy Eating", this brochure outlines the basic principles of nutrition - balance, variety and moderation - while suggesting simple steps to help kids increase their physical activities. The tips are easy to remember and practical, and can fit into the lifestyle of kids of any age. "10 Tips to Healthy Eating and Physical Activity for You" also highlights the Food Guide Pyramid and Physical Activity Pyramid, with recommendations for improving physical endurance and strength. To order one free copy of "10 Tips to Healthy Eating and Physical Activity for You", send a self-addressed, stamped business-sized envelope to 10 Tips for You, P. O. Box 1144, Rockville, MD 20854.
